Candidates debate wide range of student concerns

By KATIE MURPHY

Last night the four teams running for student body president and vice-president highlighted their platforms and fielded questions on a debate in the LaFortune Ballroom.

In alphabetical order the candidates were Brian Corbett and Karen Dullay, Brian Coughlin and Maria Capua, David Hungeling and Matt Orsagh, and Erin King and Deliz Lefort.

Questions ranged from those of personal qualifications to specific policy making and lobbying methods the candidates would use with the administration.

In response to a question regarding the most important issue on their platform, presidential candidate Brian Corbett and running mate Karen Dullay named the need for a proposal which would utilize the LaFortune Room (formerly Theodore's) for entertainment, food and drink. "Our important concern on campus is student life," said Corbett. "The LaFortune Ballroom is a completely waste resource. LaFortune, specifically Theodore's, was built to be lit up at nighttimes."

Presidential candidate Brian Coughlin and running mate Maria Capua named their Req Sheet as their most important proposal.

"We figure that this is one piece of paper that can make such a difference in people's lives," said Coughlin. "There's a plan in progress already."

The Req Sheet would list the class projects that were previously taken as well as the requirements that still need to be fulfilled. Coughlin and Capua suggested that this sheet be sent through campus mail before DART begins so that students do not have to face long lines with their advisors.

The main aim of presidential candidate David Hungeling and running mate Matt Orsagh is to dissolve student government and use its budget to fund a Grateful Dead concert. They also want to provide students with free football tickets.

"We want to improve the entertainment aspect of student life," said Hungeling. "We have taken what most people have thought of as a joke and changed it into a campus-wide, grass-roots social movement."

Presidential candidate Erin King and running mate Deliz Lefort named the expanded meal plan as their most important proposal.

"With the meal account, you can choose to eat in LaFortune or the dining halls," said King. "We're providing an option."

A number of students asked questions which centered on the connection between the candidates' campaign promises and current Student Government activities.

Corbett and Dullay plan to extend two ideas from current student government projects. The Student Review will be based on this year's Guide, and the I.M.P.R.O.V.E. program will build on the Job Network, two projects organized by Frank Flynn and Niki Wellmann, the current student body president and vice-president.

"We want to build on those ideas," said Corbett. "They just need to be refined... and made more accessible to the student community."

Capua and Corbett want to expand the Job Network across the nation and also add alumni mentors to the current resources. The Student Review would circulate faculty interest and would be based solely on student evaluations.

They also plan to offer students access to individual counseling for anyone who has tested positive for HIV or AIDS. "Our efforts are to provide a basis for University decision making and to address its responsibility to educate the community, the document includes confidentiality policies, guidelines for individual and University responsibilities and employment procedures applicable to those who have tested positive for HIV or AIDS," said Rocca.

"The Guidelines cite the importance of the role of education and in stopping the spread of the disease, and refers to a variety of educational tools to be implemented by the University, including written materials, personal counseling, occasional audio-visual presentations, and a hot line established by the University Health Services to answer questions and address concerns of the community."

Through the exception of the hot line, all of the programs have implemented.

The Guideline also advocated the appointment of a University official or committee whose duties included remaining current on the issues of AIDS, serving as a community resource, overseeing educational programming, and serving as an advisor regarding a student or employee with AIDS or HIV.

Those fell under the responsibility of the director of University Health Services, a position Carole Seager occupied until a taking a similar job at Clemson University last month. During her nine years as director, Seager was instrumental in developing the two student AIDS awareness groups, SWAT and AIDS Aware.

She helped coordinate speakers on campus and design presentations for assistant recreation, resident assistants (R.A.) and residents.

In fact, at the beginning of each school year as a part of assistant recreation and R.A. orientation, Seager ran a two-hour session educating participants with a "behavioral focus" on the disease, she said.

She has also organized presentations for dorm residents by request basis. (Her successor will continue these)

By SARAH DORAN

Recognizing that AIDS and HIV education should be a top priority at any university, various administrators at Notre Dame think that the University's informational programs are well suited to provide this service to its students.

But when asked to evaluate the programs Notre Dame offers in comparison to other schools, officials cite student apathy and low program turnout.

"There is just a great reluctance on the part of students to go away from the reality of AIDS," said Dr. James Mortality, lead physician of the University Health Center. "It is not an excuse for not doing it, just not doing it."

But the relative lack of AIDS educational programs available at other schools does not cause some administration members not to face the disease high priority.

"AIDS is not a serious problem in terms of distribution," said Father Peter Rocca, assistant president of student affairs.

Un-campus opportunities offered by the Student Health Center include sporadic lectures, dormitory presentations, and literature about the disease. Mortality said. Two student-run groups, Students With AIDS Training (SWAT) and the AIDS Aware, also offer AIDS education.

Confidential testing is available at the Health Center, as access to individual counseling for anyone who has tested positive for HIV, he said.

But University counseling services do not offer AIDS or HIV-related sessions on-campus, only serve as a liaison for South Bend area groups that do. Mortality cites a lack of need. "There is no demand by the students," he said. "There is no need for any educational tools that are left out of the University's educational programs any less informative or effective."

"We don't have to be a player in terms of distribution of information, he said. "There is no need for any educational techniques to involve changing the policy of the Catholic Church or the administration."

By focusing on birth control as a preventive measure, Notre Dame's programs strive to be informative.

"Our efforts are to provide a basis for University decision making and to address its responsibility to educate the community, the document includes confidentiality policies, guidelines for individual and University responsibilities and employment procedures applicable to those who have tested positive for HIV or AIDS," said Rocca.

The Guidelines cite the importance of the role of education and in stopping the spread of the disease, and refers to a variety of educational tools to be implemented by the University, including written materials, personal counseling, occasional audio-visual presentations, and a hot line established by the University Health Services to answer questions and address concerns of the community.

Through the exception of the hot line, all of the programs have implemented.

The Guidelines also advocated the appointment of a University official or committee whose duties included remaining current on the issues of AIDS, serving as a community resource, overseeing educational programming, and serving as an advisor regarding a student or employee with AIDS or HIV.

Those fell under the responsibility of the director of University Health Services, a position Carole Seager occupied until a taking a similar job at Clemson University last month. During her nine years as director, Seager was instrumental in developing the two student AIDS awareness groups, SWAT and AIDS Aware.

She helped coordinate speakers on campus and design presentations for assistant recreation, resident assistants (R.A.) and residents.

In fact, at the beginning of each school year as a part of assistant recreation and R.A. orientation, Seager ran a two-hour session educating participants with a "behavioral focus" on the disease, she said.

She has also organized presentations for dorm residents by request basis. (Her successor will continue these)
Youth is a state of mind. Now what?

I woke up yesterday morning after my 21st birthday. It noted there were a few minor exceptions. In that mean, this time I didn't sleep until 3 p.m. I made it to class with time to spare. I took notes like a madwoman. I tackled the problems facing contemporary society with graceful intelligence. It was amazing. It was just like the morning after my 21st birthday. Turning 21 is a celebration, a rite of passage, with graceful intelligence. The Observer. This is not to say I did not celebrate or that I didn't enjoy myself. It was just...different.

And the end result is the stark realization that somewhere along the line, sometime when you were a child and that the exciting, albeit bizarre becomes immature? After all, when you were 9 you wanted to be an adult. And vacation periods. The birth of the world's oldest and best known market indicator from the kitchen at the Georgia Dome, site of Sunday's All this has happened despite repeated warnings from many analysts that the market was over-priced, based on the standard yardsticks like price-earnings ratios and dividend yields. At least until very recently, the strength in stocks and commodities is one of what many people considered sluggish and disappointing economic expansion in the aftermath of the 1990-91 recession. Wall Street's contrary bulls have taken their inspiration from two interlinked developments — reduced inflationary pressures and a prolonged decline of interest rates to their lowest levels in a generation. Whatever the economy is doing at the moment, President a little hoarse

President Clinton has several factors working against him as he tries to regain his voice — his job, the weather, even his personality, doctors say. The president, slipping soothing tea along the way, suffered a back to back-battles on Tuesday, getting hoarse more as the day wore on. "I'm doing slightly worse," he acknowledged during the second "My good news is, you get a shorter speech." Clinton, plagued by chronic voice problems, has been troubled by this latest round of hoarseness ever since his 65-minute State of the Union speech on Jan. 25. Laryngitis is not unusual among people who use their voices a lot. Rest is the usual prescription, and that's just what Dr. Connie Mariano, a Navy physician, recommended for Clinton.

Father involved in twins' deaths

The father of 14-month-old twins has been indicted for murder charges in their carbon-monoxide deaths, allegedly to collect on their life insurance policies. The father of 14-month-old twins has been indicted for murder charges in their carbon-monoxide deaths, allegedly to collect on their life insurance policies. The father of 14-month-old twins has been indicted for murder charges in their carbon-monoxide deaths, allegedly to collect on their life insurance policies.

INDIANA Weather

The father of 14-month-old twins has been indicted for murder charges in their carbon-monoxide deaths, allegedly to collect on their life insurance policies. The father of 14-month-old twins has been indicted for murder charges in their carbon-monoxide deaths, allegedly to collect on their life insurance policies. The father of 14-month-old twins has been indicted for murder charges in their carbon-monoxide deaths, allegedly to collect on their life insurance policies.
Student lecture series part of 150th celebration
By PATTI CARSON

To continue the Sesquicentennial celebration, a Student Board of Governance Lecture Series is planned for this semester, according to Vice-President for Academic Affairs Lynn O'Donnell at last night's Board of Governance (BOG) meeting.

Seung Megan Dalsaso will give her talk entitled "The World is My Classroom" on Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. in Stapleton Lounge. And Marla Zielonka will speak on Mar. 22 at 7 p.m. in Stapleton about why she came to Saint Mary's College and how it has changed her.

Emma Assenga, a Saint Mary's student from Tanzania, will speak of her experience abroad on Apr. 19 at 7 p.m in Stapleton Lounge. Ann Marie Mary's student from Tanzania, abroad on Apr. 19 at 7 p.m. in HPC.

HPC sponsors Building Peace Conference
By JOSLIN WARREN

The Hall Presidents Council is sponsoring the Building Peace Conference on Feb. 26 and encourages participation in the event to strengthen interaction among students, according to Council Co-Chairman Chris Canzoniero.

"We would really like to encourage students to get involved in this project," said Canzoniero. "It's important to build unity among the students." The Building Peace Conference is a one-day conference in which graduate and undergraduate students can discuss a paper, project, or some other work in progress involving peace with their peers. It is meant to emphasize student interaction and dialogue.

In other Council news, the university is starting the Council Line, a help line that students can call Monday through Thursday from 4 p.m. to 12 a.m. if they have a specific problem. Topics include friendship building and coping with stress.

Badin Hall is putting on an Aerobathon at Stepan Center on Saturday, Feb. 9. Admission is $3 for as many one-hour classes as you want to take. The Women's Volleyball team and the Men and Women's Soccer teams will host some of the sessions.

Last year they raised $4000 and this year the money raised from the event will be donated to the Maru Fox Scholarship Fund.

Divorce increases lonliness of life
By W. HUDSON GILES

"Loneliness is a condition of life, and divorce intensifies it," was the underlying theme of Brother James Greteman's lecture last night on divorce and its effects upon a family. There are three primary stages associated with the divorce process: the death of the relationship, the period of mourning and the emotional steps back, according to Greteman.

There is a great deal of sensitivity felt by divorce participants that can be remedied through a three-step recovery process, according to Greteman.

The first step is to break the pattern of negative surrounding. The second deals with physical attributes. Greteman suggested eating guidelines, moderate exercise, and supplementary activities to fill time voids. The final step involves time for recovery.

"Let your heart heal," Greteman said. "It takes time."

Greteman went on to say that a certain degree of non-excessive blaming as well as forgiving is important in redeeming personal stature. "Forgiveness heals wounds," he said. "Blame keeps them open."

Honor is also an important variable that often helps in holding back tears, Greteman said. To compliment his three-step process, Greteman added three sub-steps which aid in coping with the traumatic experience of divorce.

Continuity, he said, allows for sufficient time for repetition and repair. Stabilized means the correct environment to support bonding. Finally, mutuality reinforces interaction between two people, he stated.

Everyone needs a "safe place" where they can feel comfortable and make it possible to deal with their emotions in a coherent manner, Greteman said. He advised that getting involved in a vicious circle with the estranged spouse is detrimental to overall recovery because no progress is made. "Change your mental thinking" was the advice he offered to parents involved in a divorce.

The normal person's thinking about the personal divorce process, though, is anywhere from four to five years. This time is instrumental in showing people that divorce is not the end of the world, according to Greteman.

"People who have gone through broken relationships are some of the happiest people I know," he said. Greteman is the author of many books dealing with marriage, relationships, and divorce. He is a certified clinical social worker and hypnotherapist and has been giving workshops on divorce for 8 years.

"People going through broken relationships should be gentle with themselves," he said. He closed the lecture with a proverb relating to someone who has trouble accepting a divorce. "He who walks around all day with a loose rock in his shoe has a loose rock in his head."
Bayh strengthens ties with President Clinton

Associated Press

After watching the Super Bowl with President Clinton and raising a record $2 million at a Democratic Governors' Association dinner, Gov. Evan Bayh planned to spend Tuesday night in the White House.

The giddy governor didn't even care if he got a bed after a highly successful trip to the nation's capital.

"I'd sleep on the floor if that's all they had," Bayh gushed Monday night after presiding over the largest Democratic Governors' Association fund-raising dinner ever.

About 1,400 people, including Clinton and most of his Cabinet members, turned out for the $1,500-a-plate affair.

The attendance and the $2 million raised both were new marks for the event. Proceeds will be used to elect Democratic governors.

Even after five years in office, Bayh, 38, still is the youngest governor in the United States. "Was I ever that young?" Clinton wondered as Bayh introduced him at Monday's dinner.

Bayh is the new president of the association, a title Clinton held when he was Arkansas' top executive.

Welfare reforms encourage governors

By JOHN KING

WASHINGTON

Governors concluded their winter meeting Tuesday encouraged by pledges from President Clinton and congressional leaders that federal welfare reform will leave states free to continue radical welfare-to-work experiments.

“Our top priority ought to be to stay out of your way” on welfare reform, Senate Republican leader Bob Dole told the National Governors Association.

“We will learn what to do from the states,” Senate Finance Committee Chairman Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., told the governors. “You teach us and we will pass the bill.”

Over the course of their four-day meeting, the governors sought financial relief from the federal government in a host of areas they said were its responsibilities, from paying the medical, school and prison costs of illegal immigrants to funding the costs of environmental cleanups ordered by Washington.

They also adopted a bipartisan framework on health care reform that required significant compromises by both Democrats and Republicans and offered it as a framework for congressional negotiations.

At the closing session Tuesday, Moynihan, Dole and Clinton all promised the governors to model federal welfare reform on the successes of state experiments, incorporating a time limit on benefits while pushing recipients into jobs.

“We need to have a system that says anybody who can work and support themselves and their families must do so, in the private sector where possible, with a community service job if that’s the only work available, to make welfare a second chance, not a way of life,” Clinton said.

Neither he nor the congressional leaders offered any specifics on what the federal overhaul would look like.

At a roundtable discussion of state efforts, governors of both parties said states need leeway to decide when to cut off benefits, and what training should be required before recipients are forced to work.

“The innovative, energetic change and reform takes place out in the states,” said Republican John Engler of Michigan.

During the discussion, the governors swapped stories about what worked in their states. Delaware's Thomas Carper, a Republican, said an aggressive effort to identify fathers had increased the paternity determination rate among his state's welfare cases to 75 percent, well above the 50 percent national average.

GOP Gov. William Weld of Massachusetts his state has improved its child support enforcement using "10 Most Wanted" posters of deadbeat dads.
SMC unveils quilt squares

By CLAUDIA TUDISCO
News Writer

Saint Mary's will unveil its Sesquicentennial Quilt, entailing hundreds of quilt squares prepared by those in the Saint Mary's community, at the Cashen-Leighton Library in September 1994. In the development of this year's calendar, the Sesquicentennial Subcommittee on Cultural Events felt that a quilt of this magnitude would be an appropriate idea in order to commemorate Saint Mary's past 150 years. This unique aspect of asking anyone involved in the Saint Mary's community to come forth and share of themselves in their quilt square will make this an even more personal and treasured collection.

The committee is encouraging Alumni, current students, Sisters, faculty, administration and staff to come forth and share their creativity. One does not have to be proficient in needlework or quilting in order to take part in this activity. Certain guidelines for preparation of each square must be met. Each square should be of medium weight cotton with a total of 13.1/4 inches, 12 inch square with a total of 13 1/4 cotton with a total of 13 1/4.

By RITA BEAMISH
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

China took "some positive but limited steps" on human rights last year, but still engaged in torture, arbitrary detentions, forced confessions and extra judicial killings, the State Department said today.

As a deadline approaches for President Clinton to decide on renewing China's low-tariff access to U.S. markets, the State Department's annual human rights report concluded:

"Fundamental human rights provided for in the Chinese constitution frequently are ignored in practice, and challenges to the Communist Party's political authority are often dealt with harshly and arbitrarily."

China was not alone — the report found respect for human dignity and worth to be lacking in countries spread across the world. Also among the worst offenders were Iran, North Korea, Burma, China, Cuba, Turkey, Egypt and Indonesia — countries that allow torture and executions.

"The world falls far short of the ideals of human freedom and dignity," Secretary of State Warren Christopher said today.

The report chronicles killings, torture, rape and arbitrary detention "committed all too often against those who sought political freedom or against those for reasons of ethnic origin, race, gender or faith," Christopher said in a draft speech prepared for Friday before leaders of human rights organizations.

China is receiving special scrutiny because Clinton has set improvements in human rights as a condition of renewing China's most-favored-nation trade status in June. U.S. officials have repeatedly stressed in recent weeks that steps taken by China so far do not meet the criteria set by Clinton.

In 1993, the report said, China took "some positive but limited steps," including release of prominent political prisoners. But "perhaps thousands" of prisoners remain in detention, it says.

China has taken a few more steps this year that are not reflected in the 1993 report. Those moves — release of more prisoners, opening of discussions with the Red Cross for inspection of prison conditions and agreeing to allow U.S. officials to verify that prison laborers are not producing goods for export — were expected to be included in State Department testimony to Congress today.

But new reports of religious persecution, with new arrests of priests and bishops, have come even as China took those steps.

In its worldwide report, the State Department singled out the rights of women for special attention, citing the prevalence of marital rape, the African practice of female genital mutilation, sexual violence and forced prostitution, as well as gender discrimination in voting, marriage, travel and child custody.

"That female life is not valued as much as male life is apparent in countries such as China where it is reported that more female fetuses than male fetuses are aborted," the report said.

Armed conflict in the former Yugoslavia — where "the carnage continues" — and elsewhere where gave rise to significant human rights abuses as well as civilian deaths and refugee flows, the report said.

New import laws provoke riots against Korean police

By JIM ABRAMS
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

The Senate prodded the administration Tuesday to take a more aggressive stance toward North Korea by seeking international trade sanctions and deploying Patriot missile batteries in South Korea.

In a non-binding voice vote, the Senate also said the United States should go ahead with joint military exercises with South Korea to show its strong commitment to the South's defense.

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., author of the bill, said North Korean leaders are intimidat­ ing the United States by "forcing us through a dangerous highwire act with the North Korean nuclear threat.

"The administration has made it very clear that more is needed," said Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., "wise statesmanship dictates that you don't leap to that confrontational stage with a country like North Korea before you have made clear that all the other efforts and avenues have been explored.

The amendment says the United States should seek international consensus to isolate North Korea economically until it halts its nuclear weapons flows, the report said.

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., author of the bill, said North Korean leaders are intimidat­ing the United States with its nuclear... weapons designs because of a "failure of nerve" on the part of the administration.

"We have served up enough carrots to North Korea," he said. "The time has come to show them the stick.

The "sense of Congress" statement is an amendment to the State Department authorization bill. The Senate was closing out more than a week of debate on the bill, which authorizes more than $12 billion in spending for the State Department and related agencies in 1994 and 1995. The House passed a simi­ lar version last summer.

Senate Democrats accepted McCain's amendment but re­ jected his premise that the Clinton administration has been weak in its response to the North Korean nuclear threat.

"The administration has made it very clear that more is needed," said Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., "wise statesmanship dictates that you don't leap to... confrontation stage with a country like North Korea before you have made clear that all the other efforts and avenues have been explored." The amendment says the United States should seek international consensus to isolate North Korea economically until it halts its nuclear weapons flows, the report said.

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., author of the bill, said North Korean leaders are intimidat­ing the United States with its nuclear... weapons designs because of a "failure of nerve" on the part of the administration.

"We have served up enough carrots to North Korea," he said. "The time has come to show them the stick.

The "sense of Congress" statement is an amendment to the State Department authorization bill. The Senate was closing out more than a week of debate on the bill, which authorizes more than $12 billion in spending for the State Department and related agencies in 1994 and 1995. The House passed a simi­ lar version last summer.

Senate Democrats accepted McCain's amendment but re­ jected his premise that the Clinton administration has been weak in its response to the North Korean nuclear threat.

"The administration has made it very clear that more is needed," said Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., "wise statesmanship dictates that you don't leap to... confrontation stage with a country like North Korea before you have made clear that all the other efforts and avenues have been explored." The amendment says the United States should seek international consensus to isolate North Korea economically until it halts its nuclear weapons flows, the report said.

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., author of the bill, said North Korean leaders are intimidat­ing the United States with its nuclear... weapons designs because of a "failure of nerve" on the part of the administration.

"We have served up enough carrots to North Korea," he said. "The time has come to show them the stick.
Debates

continued from page 1

gram and increased study space.

"We brainstormed ideas with people around the campus... and all we need is the go ahead," said Capua.

"There are some things that need to be changed, according to Coughlin. "We may not have the great, lofty, revolutionary goals, but these are goals that are going to make a difference."

Hungeling and Orsagh plan to discontinue all current student government projects.

"We're going to stop (their activities)," said Hungeling. "We think students want to spend their money on fun."

In the event that the Grateful Dead may not be able to come, Hungeling suggests a campus bus trip to the Rosemont Horizon in Chicago or another auditorium. If the University refused to provide students with free football tickets, Hungeling proposes that the student body boycott a game and tailgate in the parking lot with big screen TVs.

"Let NBC stare at our empty seats. We are willing to do whatever it takes," said Hungeling.

King and Lefort plan to offer The Loop, a shuttle from D-2 to the Bookstore and the Rock, a Car Co-op, bundle drop-off from St. Michael's Laundry to students dorms, and a mandatory prejudice reduction workshop for freshman.

"These are little things that we're going to accomplish in a big way. Student safety and convenience is going to equal student satisfaction," said Lefort.

After their opening statements, the candidates answered questions from Notre Dame's media and the audience. Each media organization directed two specific questions to the ticket of their choice. The floor was opened up to general question from the audience in the third round, which was followed by closing statements.

The election will be held Monday, Feb. 7. If one ticket has not received over 50 percent of the votes cast, a runoff between the two highest tickets will be held Wednesday, Feb. 9.

A required prejudice reduction workshop for all freshman was proposed in the student body debates last night by the Erin King/Deliz Lefort ticket.

ISO

International Festival

Saturday, February 5th
8:00 p.m.
Washington Hall

Admission:
Students $3.00 General Admission $5.00
Tickets available at LaFortune Information Desk, at the door, and in ISO affairs office on the 2nd floor of LaFortune.
Enjoy an evening with us.
An evening full of dances, songs and acts from all over the globe.

SUMMER SERVICE PROJECTS

*Information Meeting

February 2
6:30 - 7:00 pm
Center for Social Concerns

APPLICATION DEADLINE
February 11

$1500.00 SCHOLARSHIP
(ND students only)

Eight weeks of service work during the summer

In cities of ND Alumni Clubs across the US
Come and find out what SSPs are all about

Senior Class

Free Pizza
Tonight at Alumni-Senior Club
7:30 PM
Mullins resigns from Federal Reserve

Plans to enter the private business world

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

David W. Mullins, Jr., today announced his resignation as vice chairman and member of the Federal Reserve Board.

Mullins' resignation, effective Feb. 14, provides President Clinton with his second opportunity to appoint a Fed governor. Wayne D. Angell is resigning later this month and is expected to be succeeded by economically George Perry of the Brookings Institution.

Mullins, 47, said he plans to enter private business.

"Since most of the financial and economic problems, which have been the focus of my professional energies in recent years, have been essentially resolved, I feel now is the appropriate time to turn to new and different challenges," he said in a statement.

Mullins' resignation came a day after Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, served notice on Congress and the nation that the Fed was poised to increase interest rates.

Greenspan said it was only a matter of time before the institution would move to contrive the monetary supply. He said the aim would be to avoid the mistakes of past Fed chiefs who waited too long before tightening up on credit and thus tempted the nation to get into a recession.

Mullins was sworn in a board member on May 21, 1990, and as vice chairman on July 24, 1991. Before joining the Fed, he was assistant secretary of the treasury for international finance from 1988 to 1990 and played a major role in developing the savings and loan bailout.

He plans to be a come a partner in Long-Term Capital Management, L.P., a recently established investment management firm specializing in the development and application of sophisticated financial technology on a global basis. The firm is headquartered in Greenwich, Conn.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angell and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angell and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angell and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angel and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angel and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angel and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:

"I wish my two departing colleagues well in their future endeavors. Only those of us who have had the privilege of working with David Mullins and Wayne Angell on a day-to-day basis can fully appreciate the contributions they have made to the success of the Federal Reserve system during their terms of service. They will be missed in an understatement. They have been close personal friends and trusted colleagues."

Angel, a Kansas banker, farmer and university professor, has not announced his plans. He leaves Fed Office Feb. 9.

Successors to Angel and Mullins require Senate confirmation.

Both Mullins and Angel have said they will not attend the Thursday-Friday meeting of the Fed's Open Market Committee.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan said in a statement:...
Americans must stop killing innocent civilians and uphold the laws of war. The factions in Mogadishu that backed Karim Ahmed Ali, secretary-general of the Somali National Alliance, opened fire on a street jammed with hundreds of civilians waiting for free food. One of those killed was identified as one of Somalia's many tribal leaders, Sabriye Alale, a U.N. official said Tuesday.

In addition to the deaths, at least 24 Somalis were wounded Monday when Marines escorting two American diplomats opened fire on a street jammed with hundreds of civilians waiting for free food.

Out of those killed was identified as one of Somalia's many tribal leaders, Sabriye Alale, a U.N. official said Tuesday.

Aidid had been negotiating with other factions in Mogadishu for several weeks, and he was not available to comment on the shooting after the shooting proved useful in his fight to retain control of the U.N. peacekeeping force of 25,000 soldiers.

Aidid became a hero to many Somalis last year by escaping a U.N. manhunt after his militia killed dozens of American and Pakistani soldiers.

U.N. officials later lifted an arrest warrant for Aidid and began negotiating with him again, but he still wants all U.N. troops to withdraw.

Many people fear Somalia's factions will begin fighting again for control of this war-torn nation once American troops, the backbone of the U.N. force, withdraw next month with their howitzers, helicopters and other heavy weapons.

Violence was reported early Tuesday in Baidoa, a city 150 miles northwest of Mogadishu where many relief agencies work.

Unidentified assailants opened fire on a patrol of U.N. soldiers from India, wounding one of them in the hip, Maj. Chris Budge, a U.N. military spokesman, told reporters.

At 6:30 a.m., a bomb exploded between two Baidoa buildings being rented by the U.N. Children's Fund and World Vision relief agencies, said a UNICEF official, Carl Howorth.

Shrapnel blew holes in the walls of both buildings and slightly wounded one World Vision staff member, he said.

The Seattle-based World Vision agency, however, said in a statement that the relief worker, whom it identified as staff member Tomio Marunaka, was wounded seriously. It said he was in critical but stable condition at the Baidoa U.N. hospital.

Representatives of non-governmental aid organizations in Baidoa met Tuesday to discuss the situation.

U.N. officials said Tuesday that an agreement on beginning Palestinian self-rule in the occupied territories could be signed in several weeks.

Some commentators expressed rosy predictions Monday that a deal was close on autonomy for the Gaza Strip and the West Bank town of Jericho.

But in a step that could ease Israeli concerns, Foreign Minister Shimon Peres said Monday that a signing was imminent.

But many Somalis remain calm and hopeful for their future, with rosy predictions Monday that there was progress in the talks, "We did not reach total agreement," Peres said in Geneva that he had requested a week's delay to consult with other leaders in the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"I hope we will reach agreement but I don't want to commit myself to the day or week," Peres said in Washington, where he went to brief Secretary of State Warren Christopher on his talks with Arafat.

M. Naderi
The Dead is cool, but vote Corbett

It’s ironic how politics at Notre Dame seem to mirror those on a cosmic level. At last night’s debate, we had the status quo ticket, the re-baked candidates, and just for good measure, we had an odd blend of Jerry Brown and Ross Perot. Brian Corbett and Karen DuBay indicated that student government will bring much-needed change. Both proved to have ample knowledge of the structure and limitations of the organization, as well as an awareness of ideas that have already been implemented. And Erin King and Dietz Lefort seemed to believe helping students is well-researched and timely proposals. They pledge to increase faculty accountability. And an idea to make DART more complex seems counterproductive.

Although The Observer endorses the re-baked ticket - presented a series of ideas that have been tried before. Both Corbett and DuBay indicated that student government will bring much-needed change. Both proved to have ample knowledge of the structure and limitations of the organization, as well as an awareness of ideas that have already been implemented. And Erin King and Dietz Lefort seemed to believe helping students is well-researched and timely proposals. They pledge to increase faculty accountability. And an idea to make DART more complex seems counterproductive.

The retirement of Brother Edward Corbett, along with the Reverend Father Edward Soris (the first post-master in 1850), have staffed this faculty exclusively for over 100 years of its 150 year history. The first layman was hired around 1940 and this trend was continued as Brothers retired or sought ministry elsewhere. I hope that the present and future employees of the Notre Dame Post Office will continue the legacy left by those departed. Brothers as ambassadors of dedication and good will to the Notre Dame Community. I’m sure that the Brothers’ many friends will respond as worthy prepare ourselves to meet the challenges facing us as we enter the 21st century.

Viscount Corderley (1772-1834), the English poet, philosopher, and critic said: "To meet, to know, to love and then to part, is the sad tale of many a human heart."
Cavanaugh's conversion recalls memories of dorm traditions

Last semester's howls of rage from some Notre Dame students walked their dates down the quad to protest the arrival of non-Catholic students, and other Notre Dame students who had already arrived for the new term. Among the protests was the public hanging of effigies, which included the prominent theologian Daniel Maguire. Maguire, who has been the subject of much controversy in the past, was suspended from teaching for a short time after a series of complaints were filed against him. Maguire, who is known for his critical views on the Catholic Church, has been a source of contention for some time. His suspension was seen as a blow to his reputation and his ongoing efforts to bring about change within the Church. However, the protests and suspensions highlight the tension between tradition and change in the Church, and the ongoing debates about the role of theologians and their work. Maguire's suspension was seen as an attempt to silence his voice and to maintain the status quo within the Church. But his work and ideas continue to be a source of inspiration and challenge for those who seek to bring about change and reform within the Church. Maguire's suspension was just one of many recent events that have brought the tensions within the Church into sharp relief. The ongoing debates about the role of theologians and the Church's relationship to the world continue to be a source of contention and conflict. The future of the Church depends on how these debates are resolved and how the Church responds to the changing world around it.
Three cheers for the cheesy television tunes

I believe it was Bruce Springsteen who said that there's "57 channels and nothing on." For one of us that consider it a blessing to have two working outlets, let alone cable, the Boss is probably right on target. It's more like "We only get three channels and there's nothing worth watching anyway?"

OK, now I know all you die-hard TV addicts will jump down my throat. But for anyone that has seen the Keenan Revue, you have to admit that TV just isn't what it used to be.

Of course, there is no need to say that the Reverb wasn't great and all I did was listen to the theme songs in between. But it's really sad to admit that you know every word to all those cheesy tunes, and even worse to realize that you can't stop yourself from belting them out (much to the dismay of the people next to me).

Let's give it some serious thought. Will the "Roses" ever elicit huge cheers and a lovingly off-key audience participation sing-along? Hardly. That's one of the main problems with TV today - you just can't sing along. Sure, we all do air guitar to the "90210" theme song.

Cheesy songs were undoubtedly the backbone of the Reverb. If you think about it, the only shows were stupid, and if you tried to air them today, there'd be a 29-way tie for last place in the ratings. But out of the four, I admit that they never watched "Silver Spoons," never got caught up in "The Facts of Life," and never did much to appreciate Seinfeld's annoying little neck.

Shows like the ones we loved growing up just wouldn't cut it today. But really, today's shows are just polished, improved versions of the old - minus the cheesy tunes, and even worse to realize that you know every word to all those theme from the 80's. I almost hate to admit it, but last weekend, I watched a TV movie in which Ricky - oops, I mean Rick Schroeder - he's a man now - played a young single father. And instead of a dog, I wanted a pet Mortimer Sahl.

Today, there'd be a 29-way tie for last place in the ratings. If you think about it, minus the cheesy tunes. If you think about it, today, there'd be a 29-way tie for last place in the ratings. But really, today's shows just aren't what it used to be. Sure, there are a few exceptions. Captain M. M. Adams has seen the Keenan Revue, you have to admit that TV just isn't what it used to be. And a lovingly off-key audience participation sing-along. Hardly. It's one of the main problems with TV today - you just can't sing along. Sure, we all do air guitar to the "90210" theme song.

By MATT CARBONE

We live in a modern world with modern problems. Oftentimes, it seems as if the teachings of the church are sound, but can serve as no more than guidelines for living in this modern world.

It is this kind of attitude which the "Talk of the Nation," a ten part series on the relevance of the Ten Commandments in today's world, addresses.

For the next several weeks, "Talk of the Nation," a daily news call-in show on National Public Radio (heard locally on 88.1 FM WVPE) is spotlighting one Commandment each Monday, from 3-4 p.m.

The series will be hosted by veteran journalist Ray Suarez. Suarez opens each edition of "Talk" with a monologue that sets the tone for the show.

Each week, a different guest, related in some way to the Commandment being discussed, prepares and reads an opening essay about that Commandment.

"We want to spark a dynamic discussion of what the Commandments mean to the average citizen," said series producer Miriam Reinhart.

"Does it matter that my kid is curing? Should I honor the Sunday Sabbath and not go to work, despite the fact that I desperately need the money? These are the kinds of questions we hope to explore.

The discussion, however, will not be reserved to learned theological scholars.

"This will not be a series on religion," said "Talk" director Sean Collins. "It's an opportunity to use each of the Commandments as a jumping-off point from which listeners - and our guests - can discuss how they live their lives.

"For the most part, we're not having theologians as our guests," said Marcus Rosenbaum, "Talk"'s senior producer. "Instead, we're having people whose daily work ties in with the Commandment they're discussing."

The speaker for the First Commandment: I am the Lord thy god. Thou shalt have no other gods before me was Peter Carruthers, a theoretical physicist. "Most scientific scholars will not steal be addressed by Robert Heilbronner, an economist on March 7th. "There can be something heroic or defiant in disobeying the other commandments — even murder can be justified by self-defense — but theft, stealing is simply contemptible...theft violates out basic mandate.

NPR's "Talk of the Nation" series examines commandments

"Talk of the Nation" airs on 88.1 FM WVPE Public Radio
Exceeding Expectations

It's a big decision, choosing where to begin your career. There are many reasons to join Deloitte & Touche—our clients, our dedication to quality, our professional development opportunities, our people. People who enjoy what they do. Our mission is simple: to consistently exceed the expectations of our clients and our people.

With 15,800 people in more than 100 offices in the United States, and through our global organization, Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu International, we offer clients worldwide an outstanding and diverse portfolio of services. For you, this means unlimited opportunities to grow, professionally and personally. So why not join a firm that will exceed your expectations?

Congratulations to the following students from the Class of '94 who will be joining Deloitte & Touche:

Andrea Alexander  Mark Engel  Ashley Kocevar  Ed Neufj
Carlos Apacible  Thomas Fleming  Angie Kolbas  Dana O'Leary
Mark Bangasser  Karen Gondin  Michelle Manning  Jon Oldeyk
Kevin Carrigan  Masahiko Hira  James Martin  Maria Ortega
Joseph Clausen  Ivan Hofmann  Amy Mikko  Denise Pauin
Nancy Davis  Brian Kelly  Brian Murray  Michael Reissler
Jean Einkoeth

The above professionals are joining our offices in Atlanta, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Houston, Indianapolis, Orange County, Costa Mesa, Parsippany, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Jose and Seattle.

Deloitte & Touche

Accounting, Tax, and Consulting Services

We Listen. We Deliver.
Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu International

Deloitte & Touche is an equal opportunity firm. We recruit, employ, train, compensate, and promote without regard to race, creed, color, national origin, age, sex, veteran status, or irrelevant handicap.
Sprewell an unlikely All-Star
Sprewell impresses in Iowa

Associated Press

NEW YORK — While Latrell Sprewell wasn’t among the 100 players listed on the NBA All-Star ballot, it won’t stop him from running away with the fan vote.

The Golden State Warriors’ guard was one of the unanimous All-Star reserves — chosen by both the eastern and Western conferences — chosen Tuesday by the fans.

Along with Sprewell, selected as substitutes for the Western Conference were Portland’s Clyde Drexler and the Los Angeles Clippers and Cliff Robinson of Portland, center David Robinson of San Antonio, and guards Kevin Johnson of Phoenix and John Stockton of Utah.

The East’s reserves will be forwards Horace Grant of Chicago and Patrick Ewing of New York and Alonzo Mourning of Charlotte, and guards John Stockton of Utah, Kevin McCaw of Cleveland and John Starks of New York.

Sprewell, for the West will be forwards Charles Barkley and Shawn Kemp, center Hakeem Olajuwon, and guards Clyde Drexler and Mitch Richmond.

Clippers and Cliff Robinson of Portland, center David Robinson of San Antonio, and guards Kevin Johnson of Phoenix and John Stockton of Utah.

The East’s reserves will be forwards Horace Grant of Chicago and Patrick Ewing of New York and Alonzo Mourning of Charlotte, and guards John Stockton of Utah, Kevin McCaw of Cleveland and John Starks of New York.

Sprewell, for the West will be forwards Charles Barkley and Shawn Kemp, center Hakeem Olajuwon, and guards Clyde Drexler and Mitch Richmond.

New York — Sprewell was a standout on the All-Star ballot, but it won’t stop him from running away with the fan vote.

The Golden State Warriors’ guard was one of the unanimous All-Star reserves — chosen by both the eastern and Western conferences — chosen Tuesday by the fans.

Along with Sprewell, selected as substitutes for the Western Conference were Portland’s Clyde Drexler and the Los Angeles Clippers and Cliff Robinson of Portland, center David Robinson of San Antonio, and guards Kevin Johnson of Phoenix and John Stockton of Utah.

The East’s reserves will be forwards Horace Grant of Chicago and Patrick Ewing of New York and Alonzo Mourning of Charlotte, and guards John Stockton of Utah, Kevin McCaw of Cleveland and John Starks of New York.

Sprewell, for the West will be forwards Charles Barkley and Shawn Kemp, center Hakeem Olajuwon, and guards Clyde Drexler and Mitch Richmond.

Clippers and Cliff Robinson of Portland, center David Robinson of San Antonio, and guards Kevin Johnson of Phoenix and John Stockton of Utah.
Syracuse shocks No. 5 UConn; Michigan tips Purdue

Syracuse scored nine straight points, five by Moten, to take the lead for good 61-55 with 15:19 remaining.

No. 6 Arkansas 89, Vanderbilt 76
Roger Crawford and Scotty Thurman scored three baskets each during a 19-0 run that helped sixth-ranked Arkansas beat Vanderbilt 89-76 Tuesday night.

The victory moved the Razorbacks (15-2, 6-2 SEC) into a tie for first in the Western Division of the Southeastern Conference.

Frank Seckar's fourth 3-pointer in six attempts cut the Commodores lead to 46-43 before the Vanderbilt threes. The Commodores (10-7, 3-5) suffered four turnovers during the five-minute period.

Thurman hit a 3-pointer with 15:10 left and then a one-hander from the baseline. Crawford got a basket inside after a pump fake. Crawford followed with a 3-pointer and then a stuff after a steal by Thurman. That put Arkansas up 58-43.

Dillard's basket-high pass produced a dunk by Corliss Williamson and Thurman made another 3-pointer. A fancy-dan pass by Elmer Martin set up a layup by Corey Beck at 10:43 to make it 65-43. Billy McCaffrey's two free throws broke the string 10 seconds later.

The Commodores closed to 84-70 on Seckar's 4-point play with three minutes left. But Williamson, who led Arkansas with 24 points, made a layup to head off the Vanderbilt threat. Crawford had 16, Howard 13 and Thurman 10 for Arkansas. Ronnie McMahon led Vanderbilt with 26. McCaffrey had 17 and Seckar added 16.

Arkansas started 8-0 but Vanderbilt hit three by Seckar's third 3-pointer. The Commodores had an opportunity to take the first lead but Dillard came up with a loose ball and Dan Hall was nubbed for goaltending. Dillard followed with a 3-pointer.

No. 13 Michigan 93, Purdue 84-45
Jawann Howard put back an offensive rebound basket by Ray Jackson, gave Purdue its last lead at 62-61 with 1:34 to go.

And after Rose missed a jumper, the Boilermakers missed an opportunity to add to the lead when Linc Darnell missed a 3-point attempt and Michigan grabbed the rebound to make it 65-45. Howard had 17 and Seckar added 16.

Arkansas started 8-0 but Vanderbilt hit three by Seckar's third 3-pointer. The Commodores had an opportunity to take the first lead but Dillard came up with a loose ball and Dan Hall was nubbed for goaltending. Dillard followed with a 3-pointer.

No. 13 Michigan 63, No. 8 Purdue 62
Jawann Howard put back an offensive rebound with 21.1 seconds left and Purdue missed three shots in the final seconds as the 13th-ranked Wolverines overcame an 11-point deficit to defeat the Boilermakers 63-62 Tuesday night.

The Wolverines (14-4, 6-2 Big Ten) overcame a 36-point performance by Glenn Robinson to win a battle for first place in the Big Ten.

Purdue (17-3, 5-3) took its biggest lead of the night at 33-
Cincinnati hires coach, may fill staff with Irish assistant

Associated Press

CINCINNATI

Joe Pascale, who coached outside linebackers for eight years with the St. Louis Cardinals, has joined the Cincinnati Bengals as linebackers coach, the Bengals said Tuesday.

The Bengals now have only one position to fill on their staff — defensive line coach. Joe Wessel, 32, the secondary coach at Notre Dame, is a candidate for that job, The Cincinnati Post reported.

Linebackers coach Mike Haluchak and defensive line coach Bob Karmelowicz resigned from the Bengals after defensive coordinator Ron Lynn quit following the 1993 season. The Bengals have hired former Washington Redskins assistant coach Larry Peccialesi as defensive coordinator.

Pascale, 47, has spent 26 years as a coach, including in college, in the Canadian Football League and with the United States Football League. He lost his job in Phoenix when owner Bill Bidwill fired head coach Joe Bugel and the coaching staff.

Bengals support two-point play

Associated Press

CINCINNATI

The Cincinnati Bengals, who were the NFL's lowest-scoring team last season, would support an experiment with a college-style two-point conversion, general manager Mike Brown said.

"It would help make a dull play an interesting play, at least on occasion," said Brown, a member of the NFL's Competition Committee which shapes league rules. "And coaches today are more inclined to accept it. The colleges have had it for a long time and have learned how to use it. A lot of our coaches have college experience, so it (changing the rule) doesn't create quite the anxiety that it used to."

The committee will make proposals, and the owners are to vote on them in March.

Bengals coach Dave Shula said he would favor a two-point conversion.

"I think it would add excitement to the game. But it's tough to get people in charge," said Shula, who never has coached at the college level.

Other proposals that could be submitted to owners include allowing receivers to run routes virtually unpinned.

Now, defenders can bump receivers within five yards of the line of scrimmage. A new rule could give an advantage to receivers by reducing that five-yard zone, or eliminating it altogether.

Brown said he thinks defensive backs have been getting away with contact as they cover receivers down the field.

"It's intentionally incidental contact," he said. "And it's not just at the end, it's en route. It keeps the receiver from breaking clear."

Shula, a former receivers coach, said: "I think what happens now is they really don't enforce the rule that's in place. I don't think there's too much bumping going on."

Among the other rules changes owners may be asked to consider are pushing the defensive line a yard off the line of scrimmage; weighting field goal attempts, whereas longer ones could count more than short ones; increasing number of timeouts; and putting a headset into the quarterback's helmet.

All of the ideas are designed to increase scoring in a league that has taken criticism because of an increase in field goal kicking and a decrease in overall scoring.

The Bengals scored 187 points last season, the fewest in the NFL and the fewest in franchise history.

Cowboys assistant hired by Redskins

By MATT VANCEY

Associated Press

ASHBURN, Va.
The Washington Redskins turned to an old nemesis Tuesday, reaching into the staff of the Dallas Cowboys for offensive coordinator Norv Turner to rescue their free fall from Super Bowl stardom just two years ago.

Two days after helping guide the Cowboys to their second straight Super Bowl title, Turner met with Redskins owner Jack Kent Cooke about succeeding Richie Petitbon as Washington's new coach.

Neither the Redskins nor Turner would say the deal was set, but Cooke was all smiles after the meeting and there was every indication Turner was set to come aboard.

"Things are going good," Turner said before touring the team's practice facility. "I'm ready to go."

The Redskins and Turner had hoped to wrap up the transition four weeks ago during the Cowboys' break between the regular season and the playoffs. And most of the contract details were negotiated before NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue stepped in and invoked a league rule that prevents job interviews with coaching candidates until after their last game of the season.

"Norv had a window of about two or three days and they had about a day and a half of communications before the league called," Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said last week. "There's a $500,000 fine, so it's not in the best interest of either side to talk about it."

But even well before then, Cooke had looked upon Turner as the only candidate who was perfect for the Redskins.

"I don't think there's too much bumping going on."

The deeper they looked the more they found that Turner is almost a clone of Gibbs, which is perfect for the Redskins.

The hiring would come nearly a month after the 81-year-old billionaire owner fired Jerry Jones said last week.

"I think what happened now is they really don't enforce the rule that's in place. I don't think there's too much bumping going on."

Among the other rules changes owners may be asked to consider are pushing the
All-Star trio leads Chicago to its ninth win in last ten

Associated Press

Except for the first five minutes, the Chicago Bulls played a nearly perfect basketball game. So well, in fact, that forwards Charles Oakley, Scotty Pippen and center Dennis Rodman scored 30, 28 and 25 points and sent the Denver Nuggets packing 118-98 Tuesday night and ending the Nuggets’ four-game winning streak.

The Bulls, winning for the ninth straight time in their last 10 games and for the 26th time in the last 31, shot 59 percent to Denver’s 40 percent. Chicago had just six turnovers compared to Denver’s 18. The Bulls’ aggressive defense produced 15 steals compared to just five by Denver.

"It’s one of the best road games we’ve played all year," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said. "We didn’t play the tempo. The third quarter told the story. We outscored them and played like we wanted to. Hopefully, this will set up some momentum.

Pippen, averaging 29.7 points over the last three games, said after the Bulls’ slow start, "I wanted to get my offense going, so that would help the team get going. I’ve been playing like this the last three or four games, usually getting 20 by the half. We are playing so well together that it makes it tough to score on us and defend.

Knicks 114, Celtics 97

Patrick Ewing had 23 points and 12 rebounds in double figures Tuesday night as New York beat Boston, ending the Celtics’ season-high seven-game winning streak.

New York, which won its fifth straight, held Boston to 20 points in the first quarter, 22 in the second and 14 in the third. The Knicks were ahead 49-36 by the time the fourth quarter began.

Chicago Tribune

Thursday, February 2, 1994

"Recently Remodeled Apartments at Very Affordable Rates"

Call for Representation

$3.75 ALL SHOWS BEFORE PREMIERE

SPRING BREAK

ALL THE WAY WITH ROBERT DE NIRO

Mardi Gras Peace

LONE STAR

2000

CALL 232-8256 FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL
PORTLAND, Ore. — Jeff Gilloly pleaded guilty to racketeering Tuesday and struck a deal with prosecutors to testify that his ex-wife, Tonya Harding, gave the OK for the assault on Nancy Kerrigan.

Under the deal, Gilloly will be exempt from any other charges, including those that may grow out of a grand jury investigation. He agreed to serve 24 months in prison and pay a $100,000 fine.

Gilloly's lawyer, Ron Hoevet, said his client hoped Harding would also admit her role in the attack to discuss how to prevent Kerrigan from competing in the U.S. Figure Skating Championships in Detroit.

"If after the meeting, while driving toward home, Tonya approved the plan that had been discussed and gave the OK for the assault on Nancy Kerrigan. The final decision to strike her was hers," Hoevet said.

Hoevet was asked what words Gilloly said Harding used to approve the plan, and he said, "As I understand the quote, it's 'OK, let's go for it,' or 'OK, let's do it.'"

"But what can you do? You just have to swallow the pill and go on. I'm just going to wait till I get to the NHL and prove myself there."

Then again, coach Tim Taylor might go with Dunham when the Lillehammer Games begin next week.

In court, a somber Gilloly spoke quietly and responded to Malinoham County Circuit Judge Donald Londer with short answers. He said he understood the charge against him.

"What is your plea?" Londer asked.

"Guilty," Gilloly said, nodding his head slightly.

In a later statement to reporters, Hoevet said Gilloly attended a Dec. 28 meeting with the three other men charged in the attack to discuss how to prevent Kerrigan from competing in the U.S. Figure Skating Championships in Detroit.

Hoevet said he didn't learn until days after returning to Portland Jan. 10 that people close to her were involved in the Jan. 6 assault on Kerrigan. Harding has not been charged.

In court, a somber Gilloly spoke quietly and responded to Malinoham County Circuit Judge Donald Londer with short answers. He said he understood the charge against him.

"What is your plea?" Londer asked.

"Guilty," Gilloly said, nodding his head slightly.

In a later statement to reporters, Hoevet said Gilloly attended a Dec. 28 meeting with the three other men charged in the attack to discuss how to prevent Kerrigan from competing in the U.S. Figure Skating Championships in Detroit.

Harding, who is training for the Winter Olympics that begin next week in Norway, issued a statement Tuesday again denying her involvement in the plot.

"Jeff has a message for Tonya — he hopes that she will now do what he has done and move quickly to resolve the charges that will surely be brought against her," Hoevet said.

"Denial is no longer plausible," Hoevet said. "The truth about this bizarre crime has now been revealed."

Harding, who is training for the Winter Olympics that begin next week in Norway, issued a statement Tuesday again denying her involvement in the plot. He agreed to serve 24 months in prison and pay a $100,000 fine.

Gilloly's lawyer, Ron Hoevet, said his client hoped Harding would also admit her role in the attack to discuss how to prevent Kerrigan from competing in the U.S. Figure Skating Championships in Detroit.

"If after the meeting, while driving toward home, Tonya approved the plan that had been discussed and gave the OK for the assault on Nancy Kerrigan. The final decision to strike her was hers," Hoevet said.

Hoevet was asked what words Gilloly said Harding used to approve the plan, and he said, "As I understand the quote, it's 'OK, let's go for it,' or 'OK, let's do it.'"

"But what can you do? You just have to swallow the pill and go on. I'm just going to wait till I get to the NHL and prove myself there."

Then again, coach Tim Taylor might go with Dunham when the Lillehammer Games begin next week.

The competition between Dunham and his former Maine roommates, Garth Snow, is too close to call.

"I'm playing to be the best goaltender," said Taylor, whose squad meets Norway's Olympic team Thursday. "I want to make sure I've got the goaltender who's ready to win and can play if I lose. If I have two goalies in that situation, that's better."
SMC swimming pushes Chicago

By CHERYL GILLILAND

The Saint Mary's swim team gave the University of Chicago all they could handle in Saturday's meet before falling by a score of 118-116.

Coach Greg Hanson felt that the disappointing results took away from an outstanding performance by the Bells.

"We were getting beat on Saturday," said Hanson. "In terms of progression, improvement, there is no way we could swim any better."

He noted that the University of Chicago swam better than he expected in certain areas.

Sophomore Jennifer Mitchell also swam her season best time in the 100 meter freestyle event.

"I have improved dramatically in the last few weeks," commented Hanson. "She is really coming into shape for us."

Sophomore Ann Zielonka dropped her time by seven seconds in the 500 meter medley to finish third.

Katie Gibbs and Mary Ruschmeier also had outstanding performances in Saturday's meet.

Gibbs, a sophomore, improved seven seconds in the 200 meter IM, while freshman Ruschmeier swam her season best in the 500 freestyle by dropping 15 seconds off of her previous time.

"I felt better because I dropped a lot of time in the SMC," commented Ruschmeier. "I hope our success continues in Saturday's meet."

Janson was very disappointed that the Bells' tremendous effort resulted in a two-point loss, yet he was pleased with their performance and improvement from previous meets.

"We couldn't be in a better position at this point in the season," he noted. "Even losing by two was a victory."

WEDNESDAY

discover the treasures of the world for only a buck and a quarter or chill out the American way

for just a buck

SOUTH BEND RECORD & CD COLLECTOR'S SHOW

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 6
10 A.M.-5 P.M.
ADMISSION $3

AT: THE HOLIDAY INN (UNIVERSITY)
515 DIXEWAY NORTH
US 31 - 33 NORTH
$1 OFF ADMISSION WITH THIS AD

BUY • SELL • TRADE
MUSIC COLLECTIBLES FROM THE
50'S • 60'S • 70'S • 80'S • 90'S
LP's - CD's - 45's - 12 inch singles - imports posters - magazines - books - concert photos - videos shirts - jackets - caps - patches - and much more

FOR DEALER INFO CALL BLAIN AT (616) 375-2776
DOOR PRIZES
SOUNDS UNLIMITED PRODUCTION
DEFINING THE DESIGNATED DRIVER

Designate is an action verb that Webster defines "to indicate and set apart for a specific purpose, office, or duty." This is a strong word that conveys a sense of trust from one person to another. This trust among friends is unfortunately too often violated. The designated driver is often misused as someone who drives home since he is the least impaired person. The designated driver must be someone who will completely refrain from alcohol use. Even one drink can be one too many.

Why it's important to have a TRUE non-drinking designated driver:

Impaired driving remains a leading cause of death for teenagers and young adults. Despite positive statistics that indicate a decrease in impaired driving among youth in the last decade, many are still alarmed that one in three drivers under 21 drinks and drives. Although these numbers are down, the statistics remain a cause for concern.

With so many young people drinking and driving, it's important to designate a driver who will never drink and drive. A designated driver is someone who will never drive after drinking alcohol, no matter how much or how little they consumed. This person is trusted with the responsibility of getting everyone home safely.

If you're interested in being on the staff, please call 631-7471.

REMEMBER . . .

Zero = Zero Alcohol. Especially if you are under 21, DRIVING, chemically dependent, on certain medications, or pregnant.

One = One drink per hour, which sets the pace for moderate drinking.

AND

Three = No more than three drinks per day, and never daily.

Enjoy writing? Like to shoot photos? Love layouts?

Then you should become part of The Observer!

If you're interested in being on the staff, please call 631-7471.

Just a fraction of our time watching movies could help bring many happy endings.

It's so easy to help your community, when you think about it. Millions of people have helped make five percent of their incomes and diets possible. Here are some ways you can make a difference:

1. Volunteer
2. Donate
3. Support local businesses

Enjoy writing? Like to shoot photos? Love layouts?

Then you should become part of The Observer!

If you’re interested in being on the staff, please call 631-7471.

The Observer • TODAY

Spelunker

Wednesday, February 2, 1994

Page 19

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

28 It can provide a moving experience — "La Douce" 44 Be annoyed
29 Root in wood — The Iron Tower 45 Utah's state flower
30 A Pre-Columbian Mexican 46 The name of a history 37 Days of celebration
31 Man of the Senate 47 Pursued
32 The Devil's attorney 48 Pursued
33 Father of Enos 49 Kind of joint between boards
34 Baby's cry 50 Father of Enos 50 Kind of joint between boards
35 Nail biter 51-noire
36 Choker 52 Rake
37 Days of celebration 53 Arrived
38 Roof projection 54 Tatar chief
39 Hammer head 55 Pre-Columbian Mexican
40 Kind of sweater — Nah, I'm kidding! 56 Father of Enos
41 Road shoulder 57 Tennis champ
42 Kind of sweater — Nah, I'm kidding! 58 African emeque
43 Kind of sweater — Nah, I'm kidding! 59 Knights of the kitchen or usher
44 Fanciful, popular cuisine 60 Old Russian assembly
45 Railroad meeting 61 Race to a base, perhaps
46 5000 (75¢ each minute)

DOWN

1 Date with an M.D. 49 To indicate and set apart for a specific purpose, office, or duty.
2 Heavy Army 50 Please, to 48-Across
3 Verve 51 No drinking designated driver.
4 View from Port Jefferson 52 Single
5 Hosted a roast 53 "You...
6 Big parties 54 Survey data
7 Midwest gust 55 Survey data
8 Alternative to a plane? 56 Baseball practice
9 Kind of leaf or dinner 57 Baseball practice
10 Kind of leaf or dinner 58 Baseball practice
11 Yes 59 Baseball practice
12 City in Ukraine 60 Baseball practice
13 Hans Christian Andersen, e.g. 61 The Devil's attorney
14 Italy 62 "You...
15 1934 chemistry Nobelist 63 The Devil's attorney
16 Hedonistic units 64 "You...
17 Holiday paper 65 "You...
18 The Tin Man 66 "You...
19 Toy 67 "You...
20 "You... 68 "You...
21 Tenor 69 "You...
22 "You... 70 "You...
23 "You... 71 "You...
24 "You... 72 "You...
25 "You... 73 "You...
26 "You... 74 "You...
27 "You... 75 "You...
28 "You... 76 "You...
29 "You... 77 "You...
30 "You... 78 "You...
31 "You... 79 "You...
32 "You... 80 "You...
33 "You... 81 "You...
34 "You... 82 "You...
35 "You... 83 "You...
36 "You... 84 "You...
37 "You... 85 "You...
38 "You... 86 "You...
39 "You... 87 "You...
40 "You... 88 "You...
41 "You... 89 "You...
42 "You... 90 "You...
43 "You... 91 "You...
44 "You... 92 "You...
45 "You... 93 "You...
46 "You... 94 "You...
47 "You... 95 "You...
48 "You... 96 "You...
49 "You... 97 "You...
50 "You... 98 "You...
51 "You... 99 "You...
52 "You... 100 "You...
Men's volleyball hosts Anderson

By G.R. NELSON
Assistant Sports Editor

The undefeated Notre Dame men's volleyball team faces Anderson University tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Thunderpit at the Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center.

The Irish (4-0) played Anderson in the preseason and defeated them easily. Nonetheless, they are not taking Anderson for granted. "It doesn't matter who we play," said outside hitter and club vice-president Matt Strottman. "We still have to play our game and make plays."

"This game is important," added outside hitter Tom Kovats. "Because we need to keep improving for the meat of our schedule."

While both Strottman and Kovats are off to strong starts for the Irish squad, they both recognize that there is always room for improvement. While the offense—led by the spikes of Brian Ceponis, Strottman, and Kovats—and a strong team-passing game has clicked all year, the defense needs to step up a notch.

The defense has not had to face a strong offensive opponent in their last two victories, both three-game routs. However, the defense must improve its blocking game for future opponents. Also of importance is the fact that this will be Ceponis' first game back after suffering a mild knee sprain. The addition of Ceponis to an already relaxed and confident volleyball team does not bode well for future Irish opponents.

However, the Irish will most certainly need him healthy for the difficult University of Michigan tournament this Saturday. The fun and easy part of the schedule is nearly over, and the Irish need to be prepared when it does end.

I punched Todd Tomlinson in third grade after he stole some golf balls from my garage.

L ast week, as I strolled past the hockey rink in the J.A.C.C., I noticed an open door to the right filled with activity. I caught a whiff of dirty old tube socks, and saw a large pack of mad dogs beating lifeless bags with all of their might.

The next thing that caught my eye were dozens of posters featuring "Nappy" Napolitano and his legendary quote, "Strong bodies fight so that weak bodies may be nourished."

Right then and there, only one thought came to my mind. "It's the eye of the tiger, it's the thrill of the fight, rising up to the challenge of our rivals," I began to sing under my breath. My voice became louder as I picked up the permission forms, and before I was out of the little gym I had hit a full sprint for Cavanaugh Hall,ailing fists at trees and telling every passer-by that I was doing something special.

I was going to join Bengal Bouts. "Just be careful," my mom said.

No Mom, like I'm going to walk into a fist fight before playing Punchout on Nintendo. How could I lose? "That's fine with me, but I don't think you've ever thrown a punch before," my dad commented.

Actually, Dad, don't you remember? I punched Todd Tomlinson in third grade after he stole some golf balls from our garage. But even if I have never thrown a punch before, the trainers and captains will teach me everything I need to know anyway.

Besides, I've knocked out Mike Tyson before playing Punchout on Nintendo. How could I lose?

The Observer is conducting a contest to find the best name for Mike. Possible suggestions should be given to the sports desk at The Observer office, third floor LaFortune. Phone entries will also be accepted at 631-4543. A winner will be announced prior to the quarterfinal bouts.

NAME THE NORBUT Contest

Tough Loss
The Saint Mary's swim team falls to the University of Chicago by just two points.

Men's Main Men
Two former University of Maine stars battle for the starting nod at goalie for the U.S. Olympic team.

No Ordinary Jones
Temple star Eddie Jones scores 30 points to lead the Owls over Rutgers.

see page 18
see page 17
see page 14