Women's Week to open with actress' solo show

By BERNADETTE PAMPUCH
News Writer

Boston-based actress Robin Lane brings six of America's First Ladies to the stage tonight at 8 p.m. in Dalloway's to open Women's Week. Lane brings six of America's first ladies to the stage tonight as part of a celebration of Women's Week.

"I chose these women mostly for (the) theatrical as well as historical contrasts," Lane said. "I have worked as an actress in personal battles with anorexia and bulimia, with such notable women for (the) theatrical as well as historical contrasts," Lane said. "I have worked as an actress in personal battles with anorexia and bulimia, with such notable women.

"It was an education that would offer me and other women the opportunity to become leaders in society, in the workplace, in the community and in the Church," she said. When discussing her reasons for attending Saint Mary's, Lane brought up her parents. "I am a product of a Catholic family, she said. "I have worked as an actress in personal battles with anorexia and bulimia, with such notable women.

The challenge of doing (a) solo performance. I knew colleges and organizations did this sort of thing if it was educational and interesting." The contrast in the roles, ranging from the nearly obscure Julia Tyler to the ever-popular Jackie Kennedy comes both from Lane's desire to utilize her artistic talents and to challenge, as she did, to come major vehicles for women's issues. "However, the massively organized movements requiring extensive and essential relief work helped them develop skills that they used in further movements."

"The women first congregated at sewing societies in their churches as well as privately sponsored quilting bees, according to Hedges. "Taken by the anti-slavery movement, women extended their religious commitment into a new area," she said. The quilters used special designs such as the "underground railroad" and the more incisive depiction of names and slogans in the squares themselves to reinforce their messages, Hedges said.

"Not only did quilts symbolize political and social resistance but also economic struggle for women of the 19th century," they also proved to be effective tools in the anti-slavery movement. Civil War relief, temperance and suffrage activities, she said. Not only did quilts symbolize political and social resistance but also economic struggle for women of the 19th century, they also proved to be effective tools in the anti-slavery movement. Civil War relief, temperance and suffrage activities, she said.

"These women gave over $25 million for war relief," Hedges said. "We are studying women's roles in history. The strong female networks created through quilting became major vehicles for women of the 19th century to move into the public arena." The quilters used special designs such as the "underground railroad" and the more incisive depiction of names and slogans in the squares themselves to reinforce their messages, Hedges said. "Not only did quilts symbolize political and social resistance but also economic struggle for women of the 19th century," they also proved to be effective tools in the anti-slavery movement. Civil War relief, temperance and suffrage activities, she said. Not only did quilts symbolize political and social resistance but also economic struggle for women of the 19th century, they also proved to be effective tools in the anti-slavery movement. Civil War relief, temperance and suffrage activities, she said.

"Not only did quilts symbolize political and social resistance but also economic struggle for women of the 19th century," they also proved to be effective tools in the anti-slavery movement. Civil War relief, temperance and suffrage activities, she said. Not only did quilts symbolize political and social resistance but also economic struggle for women of the 19th century, they also proved to be effective tools in the anti-slavery movement. Civil War relief, temperance and suffrage activities, she said.
Alternative music's identity crisis

A funny thing happened to alternative music on the way to the Top Forty. It ceased to be "alternative," and became "mainstream." And the problem isn't so much that alternative music has no idea how to handle this new level of popularity. Alternative music is having an identity crisis. What's worse, the vanguards of alternative music are dealing with it in the worst possible way.

There seem to be two schools of thought to bridge the gap from CBGB's to the Giant's Stadium. Both are angry and spiteful, and both are surprisingly narrow minded and short sighted, coming from a place that used to be so visionary.

DENVER is musical history. I guess its now trendy to deny that you are popular, or assert spiteful, and both are surprisingly narrow if they sold a few albums?...like.

TODAY'S STAFF

News
Katie Crumh "Vance" Story Shanna Katie Young
Michael O'Hara
Nate Buckley
Goeh Dehmann
Marc Carbon
Viewpoint
Tanya Kryszczak
Graphics
La Lab Tech
Brenda Renag
Illustrations
Sean Farnan

The Observer (USPS 950-2400) is published Monday through Friday except during spring and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the All-Republican press. re:news.

Goldberg will host this year's Oscars

BEVERLY HILLS

Whoopi Goldberg, already an Oscar winner, will host this year's Academy Awards show. "I'm thrilled about my date with Oscar," the actress said in a statement. "Get to be watching to winning to hosting in one lifetime is major." The 66th annual awards show will be held March 21 at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center. Billy Crystal turned down an invitation to emcee the show for a fifth year, saying he wanted a break. "Whoopi Goldberg has all the qualities of a great Oscar host," said the show's producer, Gilbert Cates. "She is a major movie star with millions of fans, and she is also one of the funniest, most talented performers working today." Ms. Goldberg, 44, won an Oscar for best supporting actress in 1991 for her role as a plucky medium in the year-ender "Ghost." Her recent films include "The Color Purple," "Clara's Heart," "Sister Act" and its sequel "Sister Act 2: Back In the Habit."

Songwriter claims Jackson stole his song

DENVER

Michael Jackson isn't expected when a trial begins Monday to hear a local songwriter's claim the pop superstar pirated the hit song "Dangerous." Jackson's lawyer, however, has put a boycott on his schedule. "His lawyer will be there, along with Crystal Carlier, who says she wrote her Dangerous" nine years ago. "He augmented the lyrics, he took the chorus, the hook, from my song, and that's it," Carlier said. "I don't understand sharing credits, but I got hurt completely out of the picture." Jackson and his lawyer have refused to comment on the case. The U.S. District Court trial will decide Carter's copyright infringement claim. If she prevails, there will be a second trial to determine damages. Carter hopes to win at least $40 million. Last month, a Los Angeles jury ruled Jackson didn't steal the songs "Thriller," "The Girl is Mine " and "We Are The World" from two former childhood neighbors in Indiana. Later, Jackson settled a lawsuit alleging he molested a teenage boy.

INDIANA Weather

Monday, Feb. 7

The Accu-weather forecast for daytime conditions and high temperatures

NATIONAL Weather

The Accu-weather forecast for rain, Monday, Feb. 7

Line separates high temperature zones for the day
Lucas, Riley fill board openings
By ELIZABETH REGAN
Saint Mary's News Editor

Sophomore John Lucas was appointed Managing Editor and sophomore Joseph Riley will take over as Business Manager for the 1994-95 Observer Central Board, Jacob Peters, in- chief-elect announced Sunday.

Lucas, who will succeed Kevin Kirkman, has served as Associate News Editor since the fall of 1993. The St. Edward's Hall resident, has an English major from Arlington Heights, Illinois.

"I'm excited about the opportu- nity to work with Jake Peters and next year's general board," Lucas said. "Next year should bring changes that will make The Observer a better newspaper.

"The managing editor is ulti- mately responsible for the edi- torial content and daily produc- tion of the newspaper. Riley, a Dillon Hall resident, is from Erie, Pennsylvania and is a Finance/Computer Applications major. Riley was previ- ously the circulation manager at The Observer.

"I look forward to this new position at The Observer," Riley said. "I look forward to the challenge and moving up at the same time.

The Business Manager over- sees the operations board and maintains the financial budget of the newspaper.

Lucas and Riley will begin serving their new positions immediately after spring break.

----

CLUB COLUMN
February 7, 1994

Any club wishing to place an entry in the Club Column must do so by 4:00 p.m. Thursday each week. All entries will appear in the following Monday edition of The Observer. Please drop off entries at the Club Coordination Council office in room 206 Lafortune.

1. IMPORTANT—The Club Coordination Council would like to remind all Presidents of graduate and undergraduate clubs to check their mailboxes on the second floor of LaFortune across from the Student Government Office.

2. TOASTMASTERS will be holding an informal meeting Tuesday, February 8th at 7 p.m. in room 222 Hayes-Healy. All are welcome.

3. STUDENT ADVOCATES FOR INCLUSIVE MINISTRY will be holding a meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the P.E. chapel. We will be planning a retreat, prayer services and forums. All are welcome.

Questions? Call Anne LeFleur at 273-6531.

----

Irish Info
WEEK OF FEBRUARY 7, 1994

DEBATES CONTINUE...

The final preliminary round of Ice- berg Debates will be held at 9 p.m. on Tuesday, February 7. Stanford, Sorin, Dillon, Breen-Phillips, and Pangborn will host the debate on the topic "Resolved: that gun buy-back programs, through which guns are exchanged for money, toys, tickets, or Charleston, brings changes that will make more remanufacturing. All are welcome.

Questions? Call Anne LeFleur at 273-6531.

----

VOTE MONDAY, FEB. 7

Student Body elec- tions will be held on Mon- day, February 7. The candidates are, in alphabetical or- der, Brian Coughlin and Maria Capus, Bryan Corbett and Karen Dailey, David Hungeling and Matt Orsagh, and Erin King and Deitz Lafortune. All potential candidates should attend.

----

FEBRUARY 7, 1994

Aftershocks continue; damage estimates climb
By GEORGE ESPER

HANOI, Vietnam

Four days after the United States lifted the 19-year trade embargo against Vietnam, Hanoi is turning over on Mon- day more remains of what are thought to be missing American servicemen.

U.S. officials will announce the number of remains re- turned after a ceremony at Noi Bai International Airport.

President Clinton had made lifting the embargo contingent on Hanoi's cooperation in the fullest possible accounting of Americans missing in action from the Vietnam War.

U.S. veterans groups and families of MIAs had strongly opposed the end of the em- bargo, saying the United States would lose its leverage in forcing Vietnam to cooperate in ac- counting for the 2,238 Ameri- can MIAs.

But the United States with- held arms credits, the biggest of which is the restoration of diplomatic ties, broken when Communist North Vietnam de- feated U.S.-backed South Viet- nam in April 1975.

The United States also did not immediately grant Vietnam the "most favored nation" trade status, which would lower tar-iffs on Vietnamese imports to the United States and make them more competitive in the American market.

Beloit, Wis.

"I woke me up. I knew it was a four," said one of the thousands of people after the deadly January quake. "I became a devotee of estimating ground motion magnitudes." I can sleep through the three, but the fours get my attention.

There have been more than 3,300 aftershocks to the Jan. 3, 1994, earthquake in California and injured more than 9,000. Damage estimates range up to $30 billion.

The quake was original mea- sured at a magnitude of 6.6, but could be revised to 6.8, the National Earthquake Information Center said.

Vietnam is now pushing for diplomatic recognition. Just af- ter Clinton announced the end of the economic sanctions. Deputy Foreign Minister Le Mai pledged Vietnam would con- tinue cooperating in trying to remanufacturing.

Lt. Col John Cray, the U.S. Army officer who heads the MIA office in Hanoi, said the lifting of the embargo would help his mission.

"I believe that the Viet- namese cooperation is at a peak right now," he said.

Vietnam and the United States States together major search operation Feb. 26. in volving more than 100 Ameri- can specialists.
Speaker continued from page 1 discussed the challenges that an education at a women's precincts: "It demands involvement, commitment, sacrifice, caring — something in our hearts and souls," she said. "During this conference we have committed ourselves to the goal of superior Catholic education for women. We believe in the principles, we have defined our dream, and set our vision, and hopefully, significantly pushed the boundaries."

Disorders continued from page 1 today's society," Black said. An eating disorder refers to a person's distorted, self-destructive way of thinking, feeling and behaving around food and is both a problem and a symptom of a problem, according to Mascotte.

"People with eating disorders have a message and you can't solve their problem by treating the disorder alone. Even from the extensive research that has been done on eating disorders, you can never tell what the underlying cause is for each specific case."

"The person facing with the problem must be encouraged to sort out their own puzzle to find the cause, whether it be self-esteem or something more serious such as an event that happened in the past," Mascotte said.

Anorexia nervosa is a serious disorder which often starts with distress and becomes self-starvation with loss of as much as 25 percent or more of body fat, according to a brochure from the Development Center. The person denies being thin, even when anorexic. Some anorexic sufferers, unable to control their hunger, turn to the habit of self-induced vomiting, purging or abuse of laxatives.

Week continued from page 1

- Women's Health Fair in Le Mans lobby on Tuesday. Sponsored by Memorial Hospital, the fair will address women's issues and offer glucose and breast exams as well as a massage therapist. Wednesday night at 9 p.m. is the debut of "Caffee Tawk" with Miss Indiana, Jeni Collins. The show is important because "we (want) to promote and acknowledge the importance of women's college education in our society. (This week) is a service to the students who attend these colleges.

Any full-time undergraduate or graduate student at Notre Dame or Saint Mary's is encouraged to apply. Please submit a three page statement of intent with a résumé to Jake Peters by Thursday, Feb. 10 at 5 p.m. For questions about the application process or for more information about any position, call The Observer at 631-5323.

The Observer • CAMPUS NEWS
Monday, February 7, 1994

---

The Controller is responsible for generating new ideas and campaigns for advertisers. The marketing director will oversee one assistant and will work closely with the Ad Design Manager and account executives. Applicants should have solid Macintosh experience and strong self-motivation.
Boutros-Ghali asks for airstrikes

By TONY SMITH
Associated Press

SARAJEVO U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali asked NATO on Sunday to approve air strikes on mortar positions around Sarajevo, one day after the deadliest attack on the city in the 22-month siege by Bosnian Serbs.

The death toll from Saturday's shelling of a busy marketplace rose to 68, while three U.S. cargo planes arrived to evacuate victims of the massacre.

The Bosnian government declared a day of mourning, and residents railed at a world they say should be stopping the fighting rather than mopping up after it.

A senior U.N. official in New York, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Boutros-Ghali sent a letter Sunday night to NATO Secretary-General Javier Solana urging air strikes.

In comments over the weekend, the 16-member alliance demonstrated it was not in full agreement about the wisdom of increased involvement in Bosnia's war, which has killed more than 200,000 Muslims, Serbs and Croats.

Some nations, notably Britain and Canada, have been reluctant to call in planes for fear of spreading the war and of serving with the Muslim-led Bosnia's government and Bosnian Serbs on a cease-fire and monitoring of weapons around Sarajevo.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization voted in August to provide air strikes on Serb troop positions around Sarajevo if the United Nations requested them. NATO leaders toughened their stance at a summit last month, but had been waiting for Boutros-Ghali's request.

There was no immediate word on when the NATO Council would meet.

NATO sources in Brussels, Belgium, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Sunday it was unlikely NATO would turn down a request from Boutros-Ghali to approve air strikes.

Speaking to European defense officials in Munich, Germany, Perry asked, "If air strikes are Act One of a new melodrama, what is Act Two, Act Three and the conclusion?"

But Belgium's foreign minister urged air strikes be launched. France demanded NATO set a deadline for the Serbs to lift their siege orface military action. French officials said the NATO ambassadors probably would meet in Brussels, Belgium, within 48 hours to discuss the ultimatum.

The United Nations' top civilian official for the former Yugoslavia, Yasushi Akashi, said he had been unable to reach agreement in talks Sunday with Bosnia's government and Bosnian Serbs on a cease-fire and monitoring of weapons around Sarajevo.

Clinton hopes violence pushes factions to peace

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press

WASHINGTON President Clinton ruled out any immediate air strikes in Bosnia in retaliation for shellings that claimed at least 68 lives, but said Sunday he hoped "the shock of these deaths" might spur new peace overtures.

Saturday's carnage in a crowded market in Sarajevo is "terrible and outrageous" and "obviously, it seems highly likely that the Serbs are responsible," the president said.

The United Nations should speed up its efforts to pinpoint the blame, Clinton told reporters.

But he called on members of Congress to tone down their rhetoric in calling for air strikes, explaining that some European allies remain hesitant because they have troops on the ground who could be targeted for reprisals if air strikes take place. France, England and Canada are among the nations with ground troops in Bosnia as part of the U.N. humanitarian effort.

Canada, and to a lesser extent England, are concerned about proceeding with air strikes, said an administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"That does not mean it won't happen," Clinton said of air strikes.

But he said the United States does not have the authority to order the strikes on its own.

"We are working at the highest level" with U.S. allies on the air strike question, Madeleine Albright, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, told CNN after Clinton spoke.

Clinton's remarks followed an emergency meeting at the White House of most of his national security team. Defense Secretary William Perry was on his way back from Germany and was to talk to Clinton by phone on returning to the United States.

With Clinton out of town — he left for Houston Sunday — his national security team was to hold another meeting on Bosnia on Monday.

Clinton also said he favors — and always has — a lifting of the United Nations arms embargo so that the Muslim-led government of Bosnia can be armed to help defend itself.

"I think the United States position on the arms embargo is only reinforced by the kind of thing that happened yesterday," he said.

Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole said a decision by Clinton to order air strikes would have "strong bipartisan support" in Congress.

"I think it would certainly send a strong message to Belgrade," Dole told NBC-TV.

Press here for a great data processing career.

The right time. The right place.
State Farm is hiring now.

If you're a senior with a data processing, computer science or math background, there may be a very special career opportunity waiting for you in one of the largest corporate data processing facilities in the country.

There are actuarial and auditing jobs open, too.

Blue chip. Green light. State Farm is one of America's leading insurance companies. Through innovative marketing and a proud service tradition it has become one of America's leading financial services companies. Through the right time. The right place.

State Farm is hiring now.

You'll work with state-of-the-art data processing equipment. You'll go as far and as fast as you can.

You couldn't have a more solid base to build a career on. Contact your campus Placement Director about State Farm today.

Or write Daryl Watson, Assistant Director, Home Office Personnel Relations, One State Farm Plaza, Bloomington, Ill. 61710.
NASA again unsuccessful in deployment of satellite

By MARCIA DUNN
Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - For the second day in a row, NASA failed to release a science satellite from space shuttle Discovery on Sunday and tried to salvage what little it could from the experiment.

Ground controllers raced against the clock to try to resolve the latest satellite problem: a malfunctioning guidance system. NASA said Monday would be its last opportunity to deploy the Wake Shield Facility, one of the primary purposes of the shuttle mission.

"We have not lost hope," Mission Control assured Discovery's astronauts just before they went to bed.

The Wake Shield was supposed to fly free of the shuttle for two days so scientists could try to grow semiconductor films in the ultra-clean wake created by the saucer-shaped craft. There would be time for only one day of free flight if deployed Monday.

As Discovery whizzed around Earth with the Wake Shield propped on the end of the shuttle crane, Mission Control struggled to pin-point the problem with the satellite's horizon sensor. The infrared sensor is supposed to help guide the satellite when it flies.

Alex Ignatiev, the project's chief researcher, said managers had gone out of their way to install a guidance system with a strong track record. Similar systems have flown on 50 other spacecraft without error, he said.

The crew was disappointed after two days of failure, especially astronaut Ronald Sega, who had spent years working on the Wake Shield. Cosmonaut Sergei Krikalev, the first Russian to fly on a U.S. shuttle, had trained for more than a year to retrieve the satellite with Discovery's robot arm.

High technology

Holy Cross Hall residents Mary Ann Livovich and Julie Kerr use a computer to help them study Spanish.
Awareness

Associated Press

JERUSALEM

Palestinians were jubilant at the prospect of better lives when moves toward self-rule were announced. Not quite five months later, they're again eager to attack Israeli targets and challenge PLO leader Yasser Arafat.

The bitter mood in the Israeli-occupied territories turned blacker Sunday when bickering between Israeli politicians and top generals threatened further delays in achieving Palestinian autonomy.

"Peace is not a theory, it's something that ordinary people need to touch," said Raji Sourani, a lawyer who heads the Gaza Center for Rights and Law.

There have been some changes since the accord between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organization was signed in Washington on Sept. 13, 1993.

Palestinians could openly raise their flag, an act that used to draw Israeli gunfire. Over 700 Palestinians have been released from Israeli jails and a few streets sealed with barbed wire to prevent stone-throwing have been opened.

But under the original plan, the Israeli army was to start withdrawing from the Gaza Strip and the West Bank area around Jericho on Dec. 13 and finish withdrawing by April 13. Palestinians were to police the streets and civilian authorities were to assume responsibility for taxation, housing and utilities.

There are no deadlines now.

Instead, the process is in Israeli hands. In Cairo, PLO spokesman Saeed Kamal said Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres would meet with a PLO delegation Monday. He said Arafat would arrive Tuesday for talks with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, but would not say if Arafat and Peres would meet.

Already, Israeli officials have noticed a sharp shift in Palestinian attitudes.

"The Palestinian population woke up," an officer responsible for undercover operations told the weekly Al Hamshar. He could not be identified due to army regulations.

"They thought they would experience a new reality. They know this is not true. So they are resuming the intifadeh," he added, using the Arabic word for the uprising against the Israeli occupation that started in 1987.

The numbers tell why. Since the agreement was signed, 62 Palestinians have died in clashes with Israelis, including six children under the age of 16. In the same period 20 Israeli soldiers and civilians have been killed.

Thousands of Palestinians remain behind bars, some for acts like raising the flag that are no longer illegal. Arrests continue. Over 50,000 Arabs and Jews in the Gaza Strip as a security measure to try to minimize attacks, and more work permits are being confiscated at random.

Israel subjects entire neighborhoods to power cuts if some residents don't pay bills. Land confiscation has risen sharply, and house demolitions or disruptive searches continue.

Israeli officials have said that the number of Israeli troops in the occupied lands is at one of its highest levels ever. The Israeli human rights group B'Tselem has noted a marked rise in the use of undercover operations.

Arafat receiving pressure from all sides of peace issue

TUNIS, Tunisia

Senior PLO leaders are urging Yasser Arafat not to meet with Israel's foreign minister, as a way to pressure the Jewish state into greater flexibility over delayed Palestinian self-rule, sources said Sunday.

But Egypt and the United States are pushing the PLO chairman to go ahead with the meeting in Cairo, Egypt, the sources at the Palestine Liberation Organization's headquarters in Tunis said.

In Cairo, Saeed Kamal, the PLO's ambassador to Egypt, said Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres would meet with a PLO delegation Monday. He said Arafat would arrive in Cairo on Tuesday for talks with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, but he would not say if a meeting was scheduled with Peres.

Arafat will follow what is happening ... and will decide during his meeting with President Mubarak the direction of negotiations," Kamal said.

Peres confirmed Sunday that he planned to go to Cairo on Monday and said he expected to meet with Arafat on Tuesday. Peres said Saturday that he did not foresee an agreement being completed this week.

Arafat and Peres had been expected to make another personal attempt to work out the final details of an agreement on limited Palestinian self-rule in the Gaza Strip and the West Bank town of Jericho.

But Israeli withdrawal from those areas has been delayed by bickering over security matters, economic coordination and Palestinian civil administration.

The Israelis have said three key security issues are unresolved: control of border crossings to Egypt, security for Jewish settlements in the autonomous zones and the size of the Jericho area.

Yasser Abed-Rabbbo, a PLO executive committee member, said Arafat would make up his mind on the Cairo meeting after talking with senior aides late Sunday.

Most of Arafat's aides urged him not to meet with Peres personally until Israel was willing to make more concessions, said PLO insiders, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

They said Abed-Rabbbo and Mahmoud Abbas, who signed the September accord with Peres in Washington, were among those advising Arafat to stay away.

That's what we're all about.

Interested?

Multicultural Executive Council is now accepting applications for the 1994-95 school year

Applications can be picked up in the Student Activities Office. Deadline: February 18

by SALAH NASKRAWI
Associated Press

ROSES

1895 New

Valentine Specials 3' + up

Open on Valentine's Day
Seating 5 - 9
Make Your Reservations Now!

WHAT KIND OF FONDUE DO WE OFFER?

Cheese-Fondue-Scallops
shellfish
vegetable-
flaming chocolate

THE FONDUE PARLOR

Open 9 a.m. - 2 a.m.

317-255-7726

1000 S. 2nd Street
Downtown Des Moines

Perishes March 15 on the-

All You Can Eat Fondue

Tues. Thurs. 4-7 p.m.

Fondue Night

Fri. & Sat. Serving 5-10 p.m.

Make Your Reservations Now!
Budget officials defend cuts in $1 trillion plan

By ALAN FRAM
Associated Press

WASHINGTON
Liberal Democrats and lobbyists from free riders on Clinton for last summer's enactment of his $1.5 trillion budget say the administration officials defended the $1 trillion blueprint on the one hand, and said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," the program's "They're talking about how this is going to become what we call 'negotiable items.'"

"They're talking about how this is going to become what we call 'negotiable items.'"

Seniors, Come on Down... to Senior Bar for a chance to win these fabulous prizes!

1. A trip to Mardi Gras—includes plane, hotel, and spending money.
2. Senior Formal package—includes second city, ticket, hotel, and spending money.
3. Four movie passes
4. Dinner for four at Macri's
5. Brunch for two at Tippecanoe

...and many other prizes including Rocco's C.J.'s, and others.

Join Bob and his Beauties on Wednesday, Feb. 9 at Senior Bar. The cost is $1.00 per raffle ticket. The games will begin at 11:00 p.m.
Campuses

Michigan State

The recent attempted sexual assault on a Notre Dame student at the Grotto has left many students with questions and concerns.

Students at the University of Michigan are known for their safety measures, which include the SafeWalk program. This program provides police officers to escort students to their dorms, places officers in selected areas, and try to decrease the amount of crime in certain locations.

Ohio State University

The university's security department has made some recent changes to improve campus safety. They have increased the number of security officers, added surveillance cameras, and implemented stricter background checks for employees.

National Collegiate Crime Data

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Robberies</th>
<th>Burglaries</th>
<th>Aggravated Assault</th>
<th>Murders</th>
<th>Motor Vehicle Thefts</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1991</td>
<td>4325</td>
<td>21478</td>
<td>4529</td>
<td>27</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1992</td>
<td>3141</td>
<td>7350</td>
<td>1759</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1993</td>
<td>5148</td>
<td>11510</td>
<td>2233</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Campus Police Keep a Watchful Eye

By TONY POTTINGER

The recent attempted sexual assault on a Notre Dame student at the Grotto has left many students with questions and concerns about safety at Notre Dame.

"We hope people will see incidents like this as a reason to take appropriate actions to protect themselves," said Phil Johnson, assistant director of campus security. "Notre Dame is going to be safe not because of what Notre Dame security does, but because of how the community chooses to live." The Notre Dame Police Department, a fully authorized police department, is involved in a myriad of activities daily to keep the campus secure. This includes monitoring the entry of motor vehicles onto campus at the two checkpoints.

"Of all security issues, parking and access to campus is the one that tears at the relationship between us and students," said Johnson.

According to Johnson, restricting cars on campus and ensuring safety of students and the drivers themselves, particularly on weekends when individuals more likely to have been drinking.

"Officially, students are not permitted to drive on campus. Exceptions are made of course when students are carrying heavy loads in their cars, for example," Johnson said.

Many students would argue that having to walk from the student lots in the dark, especially in light of last week's incident, poses a security threat itself. Johnson responded, "We don't want anyone to be put at risk by the actions of our officers. That is why SafeWalk is available.

Assistant Director of Campus Security, Phil Johnson, monitors campus crime activity.

Security increases measures at Duke and Ohio State

Duke: University spends $300,000 per year on their Safe Watch program. Officers and students provide walking and van escorts on campus, including to and from parking lots. Parking lots are monitored by a camera surveillance system and a PA system that detects sounds disturbances, such as breaking glass.

Dorm access requires card entry, restricting the entry of non-residents. University employees also require special identification to enter dorms. In order to prevent break-ins, academic buildings are equipped with special alarms that sound if doors are propped open for more than 45 seconds. In 1993, there were 71 cases of assault, 977 cases of larceny, and 19 cases of motor vehicle theft.

Ohio State University: A Crime Watch Escort Service is provided from 12-1 a.m. during weekdays, and from 1-2 a.m. on weekends.

University police are not responsible for protection of the student parking lots. Dorms are secured at all times and must be opened either with keys or identification. In 1993, there were 71 cases of assault, 1355 cases of larceny, and 33 cases of motor vehicle theft.

Briefs

Dayton Fraternity Runs for Charity

The Sigma Nu Fraternity at the University of Dayton ran a 350-mile, 12-day race between Dayton and Cincinnati and back in freezing temperatures to raise $16,000 for the Cyclic Fibrosis Foundation. About 30 members took turns running one mile each, carrying a basketball in the relay race that was presented at a game between Dayton and Xavier University.

Students Indicted for False Loans

After forging signatures and authorization codes on student loan applications to receive almost $50,000 in illegally-obtained student loans, fifteen past and present students at Prairie View A&M University in Texas have been indicted.

Professors Warn of 'Strange' Classes

With controversy arising from a policy at the University of Iowa that forced professors to warn students before showing sexually explicit material in class, the administration revised its policy to state that students must be warned about "unusual or unexpected class presentations or materials." Reaction has varied among staff.

VA Tech Sued for Sex Discrimination

Claiming that the sports policy at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University violates sex-discrimination laws for schools receiving federal aid, twelve female students have filed suit to add women's, field hockey, lacrosse, and softball as varsity sports to the school's athletic program. Virginia Tech, which just added a women's varsity soccer team last year, has proposed a "gender-equity" plan for sports to increase female participation in varsity sports over the next five years.

Information from the Chronicle of Higher Education
ND/SMC provide family support

Dear Editor:

On December 19, I became statistic: I collapsed at home and when I came to my senses, I found myself in the hospital listening to a brain surgeon tell me that I had a brain tumor. I soon learned that each year 20,000 Americans are diagnosed with primary brain tumors, making for a surprising burden for our country. The Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s community has been the best company of all as my wife and I faced some urgent decisions. We could not count all of the cards, phone calls and flowers that we have received from students, colleagues and friends at ND/SMC.

While I can not teach this semester, I can tell you that I miss the classroom dearly. I can also tell you that the surgery went very well, and that the good days far outnumber the bad. I am building up my energy for the arrival of our first child in March, and for a return to the classroom next fall. Rosie and I would like to express our gratitude to all of you for your thoughts and prayers; it’s a lot easier to bounce back when there are so many people holding the net.

PAUL MCDOWELL
Assistant Professional Specialist and Concurrent Lecturer in French

DOONESBURY

ND/SMC provide family support

Dear Editor:

On December 19, I became statistic: I collapsed at home and when I came to my senses, I found myself in the hospital listening to a brain surgeon tell me that I had a brain tumor. I soon learned that each year 20,000 Americans are diagnosed with primary brain tumors, making for a surprising burden for our country. The Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s community has been the best company of all as my wife and I faced some urgent decisions. We could not count all of the cards, phone calls and flowers that we have received from students, colleagues and friends at ND/SMC.

While I can not teach this semester, I can tell you that I miss the classroom dearly. I can also tell you that the surgery went very well, and that the good days far outnumber the bad. I am building up my energy for the arrival of our first child in March, and for a return to the classroom next fall. Rosie and I would like to express our gratitude to all of you for your thoughts and prayers; it’s a lot easier to bounce back when there are so many people holding the net.

PAUL MCDOWELL
Assistant Professional Specialist and Concurrent Lecturer in French

DOONESBURY
Like a good neighbor, program helps acclimate Hispanic families to Michiana

El Buen Vecino

By TANYA KRYWARUCZENKO
Assistant Accent Editor

In this day and age when the world can seem so cold and unfeeling to newcomers to the area, a new program in South Bend now lends a helping hand.

El Buen Vecino is a newly-formed, non-profit center "that assists families to become self-sufficient," said Sara Haber, executive director of El Buen Vecino.

"We educate their minds and prepare them for jobs after graduating from the program." The program, headquartered in downtown South Bend, serves the entire Michiana area.

El Buen Vecino mainly serves Hispanic families, but also helps others, according to Jim Hogan, director of Edutra, a tutoring program which is among the services that El Buen Vecino offers.

El Buen Vecino, originally Haber's idea, was chartered in Nov., 1992, according to Hogan.

"El Buen Vecino is very young," said Hogan. "It's only a year old, which is such a short life for a non-profit organization. It's now just getting on its feet."

Hogan explained that the Notre Dame community has been a tremendous source of help for the program.

"They've contributed many, many hours," he said. Among the groups lending aid to the fledgling program are the Center for Social Concerns and the Community Alliance to Serve Hispanics (CASH).

"What the University hopes to do with this program is to bridge the gap between the Notre Dame community and the South Bend community," said Hogan.

El Buen Vecino has a variety of different programs to fit many different needs.

The main program that the Notre Dame students participate in is Edutra, a tutoring program wherein students go to a family's home and help to improve their English speaking skills.

"This is an interesting program because normally students go to classes, but here we take the classes to the students," he said.

Senior Patricia Villarreal is one of the participants in the tutoring program.

"Last semester we mainly worked with the family on speaking English," said Villarreal.

"They can speak English well, but they need help with the pronunciation."

Villarreal explained that not only do the tutors help the families with the English language, but they also help with other practical things which might arise.

"I worked with the father of the family who was trying to get a driver's license," said Villarreal.

"I brought a driver's manual, which we went over together. I helped him identify the different traffic signs."

Villarreal said that the program is extremely rewarding.

"I can tell that when we get [to their house] everyone is waiting for us, because they are looking out of the windows—I know they are really happy to see us," she said.

"I really like the interaction we have with the family," she said. "We go there to teach them, but we also have conversations with them."

Villarreal added that many of the tutors can relate to their tutees because they have similar cultural backgrounds.

"Whenever we leave there, we leave feeling happy," explained Villarreal.

"You're glad that you went because you feel so good you helped someone and they appreciated it."

Hogan said that student participation has increased over the past year.

Although students are mainly involved with the tutoring program, Hogan said there are many other programs that El Buen Vecino offers that eventually may need student help.

One of these programs is La Huerta, La Huerta, meaning "the garden" in Spanish, is a vegetable garden that members of El Buen Vecino have planted in the area, said Hogan. "They plant seeds, take care of the land, and harvest it."

"Not only do they work the fields themselves, but at the same time they grow their own food," said Hogan.

"It saves them money and they get their own produce. It's a wonderful program."

In the future, El Buen Vecino may also need more student interpreters to assist Hispanic families and help out with a variety of organizations, Hogan said.

"We need hard-driven people who want to experience working in a non-profit (organization) and who want to learn and really make a difference."

"Right now we are at the end of the first stage, in which we're getting the organization going," said Hogan.

"We need hard-driven people who want to experience working in a non-profit and who want to learn and really make a difference."

The second stage involves actually volunteering in the various programs that El Buen Vecino offers.

"If students are interested in participating in these programs, the best thing they could do would be to talk to an organization they're involved with and drum up support there first, and then as a whole organization contact El Buen Vecino," said Hogan.

Anyone interested in helping with El Buen Vecino should contact Hogan at 634-1148.
You Are Invited to Attend

“Winning in the Value-Conscious ’90s”

A Procter & Gamble Presentation on the Key to Creating and Leveraging Consumer Value

Featuring

Mike Milligan
Senior Vice President

New Date: Tuesday, February 15
5:30 p.m.
Center for Continuing Education Auditorium

Rescheduled from January 20, due to inclement weather.
We apologize for any inconvenience.

Reception immediately following.
Food and beverages will be served.
Dress is casual.
Students from all majors welcome.

Meet P&G managers from:
• Finance
• Sales
• Management Systems
• Product Development
• Product Supply
• Brand Management

Procter & Gamble
Morgan leads women's hoop over Loyola

By DYLAN BAMMER
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's basketball team survived a rocky first half to defeat the University of Loyola Ramblers Saturday afternoon in a Midwestern Conference opener matchup.

The win, the third straight for the Irish, enabled Notre Dame to move 3-1 in the MHC with an overall record of 14-5. The loss was the fourth straight for Loyola, who fell to 1 to 6 in the MHC and 5-14 overall.

The Irish came out aggressive early on and jumped out to a 7-0 lead just minutes into the game. Loyola quickly shifted over to Loyola's side, however, and a 12-4 run enabled the home team to gain a 12-11 edge just under six minutes into the game.

The first half saw nine lead changes, as both teams jockeyed for the first half advantage. After taking the lead back from the Irish from the 30-28 on senior guard Stacy Kundinger, who led the team at halftime with 13 points and six rebounds in the first half. Stacy Kundinger's three pointer keyeed Loyola's 7-4 run at the end of the half, also poured in nine points in the second half.

Much of the first half offense for the Irish came from freshman forward Katryna Galther, who led the team at halftime with 13 points and three blocked shots. Sophomore Carey Moore contributed three points, only five minutes of play, while senior point guard Kara Leary contributed three points and two steals.

The second half was all Notre Dame - or at least all Beth Morgan. The freshman guard rebounded from a 2-9 first half shooting performance to lead the team with 19 second half points, of which 10 came of the first 5:30. Morgan finished with 23 points to lead all scorers, and her early output in the second half helped key a 37-11 halftime lead.

The Irish, who outscored the Ramblers 49-29 in the second half, went ahead to stay after Carey Poole's 7-3 run to give them a 37-32 advantage. After taking the lead back early in the second half, also poured in nine points in the second half.

Morgan, who continued to lead the Irish in scoring in just her first college basketball, spoke humbly of her second half heroics.

"When the half ended, I wanted to come out and pick up my defense, and let to take care of the game. The only way I knew how to do that was to go fullcourt pressure, and that's what you need to do in order to win a game."

The next test for the Irish will come on Monday, February 7, as the Irish travel to Butler in hopes of avenging a 65-62 loss suffered at home on January 22.

Morgan's had their largest lead of the game when Tookie Jones, who finished the game with 17 points in 32 minutes, hit a jumper to put the Irish up 79-73 with just over three minutes remaining. The Ramblers went on a 8-0 run to close the gap to within 10 points, but the Irish went on a five second spree, including five of their six conference games.

While Irish coach Muffet McGraw would have liked to see a better first half game from her team, she was happy with the outcome of the game.

"I thought we played very well in the second half," McGraw said. "(Loyola) is a better team than their statistics indicate. We played well in the second half, and we did what we had to do defensively. Leitina (DiCicco) was great offensively and defensively, and Morgan was great in the second half."

Bowen finished the game with 13 points and a team-high seven rebounds and four steals. Morgan, who continued to lead the Irish in scoring in just her first college basketball, spoke humbly of her second half heroics.

"I'm just glad we got a win today. We have a tough game tomorrow with Arkansas."

The women's volleyball team received a large dose of humility this Saturday at the University of Michigan Tournament. While the team's match record remains at 7-0, they now have an overall record of 14-5. The Irish played four different teams two games each.

They opened with a convincing 11-9, 6-0 victory over Michigan St. in that game. Inside hitter Miron Stratton led a well balanced attack. The "first game we came out ready to play," said Stratton. "The second game, we just broke down."

Michigan St. bounced back in the second game with an 11-7 victory. The Irish were then defeated by both Illinois St. 8-11, 6-11, and Illinois St. 8-11, 7-11. The team did eventually defeat Northwestern in the second game, 5-1, but fell in the second game, 11-9. Overall, it was a disappointing day for the team. "Besides a few players we did not play well," said captain Cari Ceponis. "But maybe we needed this reality check."

While the weekend results were disappointing two key players, Tom Benenger and Pam Smith did not play. "We still have some good players," said Ceponis. "But maybe we needed this reality check."

The next test for the Irish will come on Monday, February 7, as the Irish travel to Butler in hopes of avenging a 65-62 loss suffered at home on January 22.

By G.N. RIEL
Sports Writer

The men's volleyball team received a large dose of humility this Saturday at the University of Michigan Tournament. While the team's match record remains at 7-0, they now have an overall record of 14-5. The Irish played four different teams two games each.

They opened with a convincing 11-9, 6-0 victory over Michigan St. in that game. Inside hitter Miron Stratton led a well balanced attack. The "first game we came out ready to play," said Stratton. "The second game, we just broke down."

Michigan St. bounced back in the second game with an 11-7 victory. The Irish were then defeated by both Illinois St. 8-11, 6-11, and Illinois St. 8-11, 7-11. The team did eventually defeat Northwestern in the second game, 5-1, but fell in the second game, 11-9. Overall, it was a disappointing day for the team. "Besides a few players we did not play well," said captain Cari Ceponis. "But maybe we needed this reality check."

While the weekend results were disappointing two key players, Tom Benenger and Pam Smith did not play. "We still have some good players," said Ceponis. "But maybe we needed this reality check."

The next test for the Irish will come on Monday, February 7, as the Irish travel to Butler in hopes of avenging a 65-62 loss suffered at home on January 22.
Monty Williams was screaming. With 30 seconds remaining in Notre Dame's 79-63 upset win over the Bruins, the senior forward grabbed the rebound off of a UCLA miss, dribbled the length of the court, and threw home the final two of his game-high 28 points.

Williams then stood on the baseline, his hands in the air, screaming at the Irish student section.

He celebrated his dunk and the finest performance of the season for the Irish. And possibly the most satisfying win in William's career.

"A friend of mine in California called and told me they thought it was an easy win (for UCLA), like a bye," said Williams.

It should have been an easy win for the Bruins but Williams' performance proved otherwise.

In the first half he led the Irish with 16, scoring six of that seven points in the second half.

They shot a woeful 20-for-63 from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range. Leading from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range. Leading from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range. Leading from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range.

"Monty Williams gives them a chance to win on any night," said UCLA coach Jim Harrick. "He's a great athlete."

Much had been made of the Williams-Ed O'Bannon matchup coming into the game, but the UCLA All-American paled in comparison. He finished with nine rebounds but only 14 points. Defensively he stayed away from Williams in the second half, guarding Irish forward Pete Miller during one stretch.

In the first half I don't think his guys were giving him much help on me," said Williams. "It was also hard because the crowd was on him."

O'Bannon and Williams played together at the Team USA tryouts this summer. If O'Bannon wasn't impressed with him then, Saturday's performance surely left a lasting impression.

In the locker room after the game a dependent O'Bannon answered a few questions about the game but more about Williams.

"He's a great player. He got a lot of shots and made the easy shots," said the 6-8 forward. "He's a great athlete and he took it to the hole all day."

"Nothing he or Notre Dame did surprised us. They just kept it up the whole game."

For most of the game the two forwards were exchanging glances and words, but not at the end.

At the end O'Bannon was quiet. Williams was screaming.

With 30 seconds remaining in Notre Dame's 79-63 upset win over the Bruins, the senior forward grabbed the rebound off of a UCLA miss, dribbled the length of the court, and threw home the final two of his game-high 28 points.

Monty Williams was screaming. With 30 seconds remaining in Notre Dame's 79-63 upset win over the Bruins, the senior forward grabbed the rebound off of a UCLA miss, dribbled the length of the court, and threw home the final two of his game-high 28 points.

Williams then stood on the baseline, his hands in the air, screaming at the Irish student section.

He celebrated his dunk and the finest performance of the season for the Irish. And possibly the most satisfying win in William's career.

"A friend of mine in California called and told me they thought it was an easy win (for UCLA), like a bye," said Williams.

It should have been an easy win for the Bruins but Williams' performance proved otherwise.

In the first half he led the Irish with 16, scoring six of that seven points in the second half.

They shot a woeful 20-for-63 from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range. Leading from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range. Leading from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range. Leading from the field, including 8-for-16 from three-point range.

"Monty Williams gives them a chance to win on any night," said UCLA coach Jim Harrick. "He's a great athlete."

Much had been made of the Williams-Ed O'Bannon matchup coming into the game, but the UCLA All-American paled in comparison. He finished with nine rebounds but only 14 points. Defensively he stayed away from Williams in the second half, guarding Irish forward Pete Miller during one stretch.

In the first half I don't think his guys were giving him much help on me," said Williams. "It was also hard because the crowd was on him."

O'Bannon and Williams played together at the Team USA tryouts this summer. If O'Bannon wasn't impressed with him then, Saturday's performance surely left a lasting impression.

In the locker room after the game a dependent O'Bannon answered a few questions about the game but more about Williams.

"He's a great player. He got a lot of shots and made the easy shots," said the 6-8 forward. "He's a great athlete and he took it to the hole all day."

"Nothing he or Notre Dame did surprised us. They just kept it up the whole game."

For most of the game the two forwards were exchanging glances and words, but not at the end.

At the end O'Bannon was quiet. Williams was screaming.
Georgia
continued from page 20
looked like the Irish might let another one slip away. But Georgia couldn’t finish the comeback it started.
"Down the stretch we did what we had to do to get back into the game," Georgia coach Hugh Durham said. "We did the one thing we really had to do (five-second call) and then to not execute was really disappointing." Notre Dame reversed a five-point halftime lead and took control of the game in the second half, leading by as much as 11.
"It was great to see our kids wipe out a five-point lead and take over," MacLeod said.
That has been the difference for the Irish lately. Getting leads is one thing, holding them is another.
Notre Dame is finally learning how to do both.
They did it Sunday against a typically balanced Georgia team. Bernard Davis led the Bulldogs with 23 points, Dałuż Brown contributed 18 and Carlos Strong added 12.
But Notre Dame had four players in double figures, including Joe Ross’ 10 points, the first double-figure game of his career.
"They were warriors today," MacLeod said.
It was definitely a battle for the Irish, and the warriors wouldn’t let the dwell on Saturday’s win over UCLA.
"It’s a credit to them that they came off a real emotional win over UCLA and played the way they did," Durham said.
It’s implications are not as great anymore, with Saturday’s game didn’t mean anything to any conference.
But it still matters. Notre Dame-UCLA remains.
Now if somebody would just open the book...

Kelly continued from page 20
1980. It was Paxson who provided the link to the past Saturday, calling point guard Lamarr Justice to congratulate him on his performance. A small gesture, but one that indicates what this rivalry means to the people who helped build it.
It’s implications are not as great anymore, with UCLA more concerned about its conference schedule and Notre Dame struggling to keep its head above water.
But it still matters to the people who play the game.
Times have changed in college basketball, but Notre Dame-UCLA remains.
Saturday’s game didn’t mean anything to any conference. It probably won’t dent Notre Dame’s NCAA Tournament seed, nor will it drastically improve Notre Dame’s chances for post season play.
But it mattered. Notre Dame-UCLA will always matter.
The players may not have realized it, but they woke up the ghosts and wrote their own chapter in this history of this series.
Now if somebody would just open the book.

Senior Formal News
Senior Formal Tickets are on Sale TODAY from 6–9 p.m. at Thodore’s in LaFortune.

Bids for the dance are $65.00. Also, don’t miss the chance to buy tickets for Second City ($12.00 per person) and Champagne glasses ($5.00 each).

"Don’t forget your bid forms."
Belle hoop drops fourth straight

By KIMBERLY BERO
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's basketball team dropped their fourth straight loss Saturday in Angels Athletics Facility, losing to Carroll College 82-64.
The Belles, now 4-11 on the year, began their last regular season meet. It was no problem for the Belles, but Lake Forest proved to be a much more even match overall.
The Belles were led by senior Anne Malahy, who poured in 26 points, including six three-point shots.

Lake Forest too strong for Saint Mary's swimmers

By MARY GOOD
Saint Mary's Sports Editor

The Saint Mary's swim team lost 62-47 to Lake Forest College but beat the Illinois Institute of Technology 75-33 in a meet which marked their last regular season meet.
The Belles faced a new challenge Saturday as they prepared for their taper where they will be Romance the yard pool they are generally placed fourth and won we placed second and third. They just won a couple more than we did," Belles coach Jansson said.

"In the events we won we generally placed fourth and third," Belles coach Jansson said. "In events Lake Forest won we placed second and third. They just won a couple more than we did."
The Belles faced a new challenge Saturday as they competed in a meet that they had not attended before.

"In some events the swimmers could end up swimming a whole length further than they are used to," said Jansson. The entire team swam well although not as well as last Saturday against the University of Chicago.

"Meets like the University of Chicago are hard to duplicate on a regular basis," Jansson said. The divers that traveled to Lake Forest Saturday performed especially well.

Freshman Megan McHugh did 24 points better on the one meter board than in any other meet this season. Freshman Angela Mills did nine points better than any of her previous performances.

"The divers have had an opportunity to compete more in the past few weeks, and coupled with their performance in practice they have made significant improvement this season," Jansson said.

Freshman swimmer Shannon Kelleher also had her best meet of the season. "In the 8000 meter freestyle, Shannon did not swim her fastest, but as far as stroke and turns go it was one of her better swims," Jansson said. "The 400 meter was probably her best swim of the year. She paced the race well and swam the way I've been trying to get her to all year."

The theme of the season-consistency and improvement. "We will be resting in the hopes that our energy is at a peak level when the Liberal Arts Invitational. We will be resting in the hopes that our energy is at a peak level when the Liberal Arts Invitational."

The Pioneers continued to dominate the game, with sophomore Deanna Demuri leading the attack. Demuri, who is ranked nationally in both shooting and scoring percentages, scored 13 points and added three assists.

The Belles bounced back by their passion for the second half, cutting the Carroll lead to two. The Pioneers went on a rally, increasing the lead to 11 in the final three minutes of the game. This run was due mainly to shooting from the field and a stifling defense that dominated the Belles.

The Belles were led by senior Anne Malahy, who poured in 26 points, including six three-point shots. Sophomore Jennie Taubenheim, a stalwart forward for the Belles, finished the game with 25 points and 11 rebounds.

"This game was a grave disappointment for us. It was our worst game since Christmas, and we only succeeded in making Carroll College look good," Wood said.

The Belles will be in action again this Wednesday when they host Calvin College. "We've got a lot of work to do," added Wood. "I just hope this isn't an indicator of what we come to in the rest of the season."
By TIM SHERMAN
Sports Writer

Working hard and playing good hockey for two periods may be enough for some of the top teams in the CCHA. Right now, Notre Dame is not there yet.

In both games this weekend against the visiting Redskins of Miami (OH), the Irish allowed an early lead. The Irish fought back with intensity, but it was not enough.

Friday’s tilt saw the Irish drop a heartbreaking 3-2 decision in the final minute, while Saturday’s effort resulted in a 6-5 setback. The Irish dropped to 8-17-4, 6-13-4 in the CCHA.

The burial was quick, too. In the second half of the game, Notre Dame did just about everything right, said Coach George Gwozdecky. "To their credit, they fought back."

After taking a loose puck at the redline, he skated in and beat Notre Dame netminder Kevin DeSchenkmaill to make it 6-5.

One period, however, is all the Irish needed. "We buried the ugly in reverse order," commented Schafer. "We have to be proud of our efforts, but it was too little, too late."

Name the Norbut Contest
Call The Observer sports desk at 631-4543
with your suggestions

Madame Bovary
Tuesday 9:00
Cushing

Savings Worth Studying

All shows at Cushing.
Tickets $1 per film
Reception to follow.

NOTRE DAME APARTMENTS

"Newly Remodeled Apartments at Very Affordable Rates"

- Spacious 2-Bedroom Apartments
- New Appliances, Cabinets, and Carpets
- Entry Security
- Laundry Facility Available
- 4 Blocks From Notre Dame Campus
- Professional Management Team
- Skilled Maintenance Crew
- Private Off-Street Parking for Tenants
- Several Units Available for Immediate Occupancy

Now Taking Applications For ‘94-’95 School Year
For More Information Call
232-8256
Meyo Invitational ruled a success by Irish, participants

By DOMINIC AMOROSA
Sports Writer

At the same time the Notre Dame basketball team was playing one of its best games of the season at the Joyce Center against UCLA, the Irish men's and women's track and field team were competing in one of its biggest meets of the season, the prestigious Meyo Invitational.

The nationally acclaimed meet attracted more than 20 teams and various invited individual talents to Loftus Center for a Saturday afternoon of indoor track and field. "I was real pleased with the meet," said Irish head coach and meet director Joe Plane. "There were a lot of outstanding events." Other coaches were just as impressed with the quality of the event. "From the ground up, the facilities, officials, conduct and quality of the competition, this is one of the best meets in the country," commented Tulane head coach Danny Thiel. "This is a well-kept secret in college track and field, because you can get it done here. There is a competitive atmosphere along with friendly people." "Notre Dame has an aura about it for the people on the outside. The incentive was there for our kids to perform and we did well."

The highlight of the meet was the annual Meyo Mile. Three athletes ran sub-4 minute miles. The feature event featured a pair of University of Michigan world class milers, freshman Kevin Sullivan and sophomore Scott McDonald. Sullivan led the way with a time of 3:58.00. Second place finisher Dave Wittman of Nike Texas ran 3:59.28, followed by McDonald at 3:59.40.

The two Michigan stars hail from Canada, and both ran their personal best times. They were equally impressed with the quality of competition during the meet. "It was excellent competition," explained McDonald. "They stacked the mile with some older guys and the whole field pushed us." "It's a step below international competition, but there are so many guys running fast this year that NCAAs will be a fight to the end," echoed Sullivan.

Other outstanding events for the Irish men included the 3,000 meters, high jump, 800, the pole vault and men's sprints. Overall, ten different Notre Dame athletes qualified for the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America (IC4A) meet in March.

Notre Dame dominated the 3,000 by placing four runners in the top six. Senior captain Mike McWilliams led the way with a qualifying time of 8:21. Juniors Nate Ruder and J.R. Melora finished second and fourth respectively to qualify for the IC4A's. Freshman Matt Allof placed a respectable sixth. In the high jump, senior Todd Herman placed third with a jump of seven and one-half, that qualified him for the IC4A's for the fourth straight year. Junior Brian Headrick qualified by jumping six-nine. "I wasn't real pleased with my jumps," commented Herman. "So one jumped very well. I need to rest my knee and hopefully things will improve."

The pole vault featured Irish qualifiers Dan Gerrity and Dan Grenough. Gerrity, a freshman placed eighth, while Grenough finished tenth. The main highlights for the Irish came in the sprints. Freshman football standout Randy Kinder set a Meyo Track and school record in the 200 (21.59) and qualified for the IC4A's in that event along with the 55 meters. Other qualifiers for Notre Dame included freshman Anthony Swiney in the 55m (6.48), and junior Joe Royer in the 800 (1:52.88). "I am real pleased with the way our guys ran," said Plane. "We competed very well and I saw a lot of good things."

"I've always been impressed with Joe's programs," complimented Thiel. "His team is very strong. They have people everywhere, from the distance events to the sprints, through the jumpers. It's one of the best well-rounded track programs in the country."

On the women's side, the meet was just as successful. The 55m hurdles and 400 were Notre Dame's best events.

Irish junior Lisa Junck set a school record in the hurdles with a time of 7.96 seconds. Classmate Monica Cox finished fifth in a time of 8.41. Sophomore Erica Peterson finished third in the 400 with a time of 56.28. "There were a lot of good performances," commented Plane. "We had no real major surprises. We can always do better."

The Bengal Bouts are coming... Check The Observer for full coverage

NEW DAIRY QUEEN BRAZIER
18173 St. Rd. 23
Near Martin's Shopping Plaza
Part-time positions available
Call 271-1102

You can send your "special someone" a Valentine message on VALENTINES DAY FOR $20.00

The ad would be this size and must be submitted by 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 10 to the advertising department for The Observer (3rd floor LaFortune)

For further information, call 631-6900

21st Annual Summer Program
ND—SMC
Students

LONDON
May 18 – June 17
Travel in Ireland, Scotland and France

ROME
June 12 – July 11
Travel in France, Germany, and Switzerland

Courses offered in
BIOLOGY, BUSINESS & ECONOMICS, HISTORY, ITALIAN, LITERATURE, PHOTOGRAPHY, SOCIOLOGY

INFORMATIONAL MEETING—February 8
6:30 pm Carroll Hall
• Free Pizza •
Past students and faculty participants will be present.
For information call Prof. Black
298-4469 or 272-3720

Representatives from Deloitte & Touche's Detroit Management Consulting Office will be on campus to discuss career opportunities in consulting. All interested students are encouraged to attend.

Who: First & Second Year MBA's
When: Monday - February 7th @ 7:00 PM
Where: Morris Inn - ND Room
Interviews are scheduled for: Tuesday, Feb. 23rd

Tell that special someone how much you care for only $10.

Flowers will be delivered on Feb 13.

All proceeds benefit the Tara Deutsch Scholarship fund.

Deloitte & Touche
Management Consulting

MBA Recruiting Presentation

PW Carnation Sale
All this week in the Dining Halls

Call 271-1102
Check The Observer for full coverage

The Observer • TRACK page 18

Monday, February 7, 1994

Tell that special someone how much you care for only $10.

Flowers will be delivered on Feb 13.

All proceeds benefit the Tara Deutsch Scholarship fund.

Deloitte & Touche
Management Consulting

MBA Recruiting Presentation

Representatives from Deloitte & Touche's Detroit Management Consulting Office will be on campus to discuss career opportunities in consulting. All interested students are encouraged to attend.

Who: First & Second Year MBA's
When: Monday - February 7th @ 7:00 PM
Where: Morris Inn - ND Room

Interviews are scheduled for: Tuesday, Feb. 23rd
FEEL SPELUNKER

Monday, February 7, 1994

CROSSWORD

14 New York City landmark
15 Chou
18 Oklahoma City landmark
23 Sans verve
22 Hectored
21 Lord Nelson site
20 Atop
17 Printed material
16 Interview
15 Goes (for)
14 Beach, Fla.
13 Baseball union boss
12 Movie star
11 Goes (for)
10 It's a...
9 Name for a...?
8 Union
7 Nighttime noise
6 Belgian river
48 Like
45 Top Realtor
44 Baseball player
43 Modern-day caretaker
42 TV listing
41 Birthright
40 Beam
39 Nighttime noise
38 Splits quickly
37 Raison d'
36 Aits in Aries
35 1982 Bond villain
34 Ex-steelworkers
33 Aits in Aries
32 Fly like Lindbergh
31 Acts in Aries
30 Megastore head
29 Take the
28 Take at
27 Lawyer Roy M.
26 Actress
25 Take the
24 Potato preparer
23 Tree trunks
22 Feeds a furnace
21 Electrical switch
20 Part of an
19 Priest's spacer
18 Printer's spacer
17 Tree trunks
16 Take the plunge
15 Lawyer Roy M. and others
14 Number
13 Tree trunks
12 Pinhead
11 Actress
10 Duke
9 Actor
8 Baseball union boss
7 Actor
6 Actor
5 Actor
4 Actor
3 Actor
2 Actor
1 Actor

DOWN

20 Take away
19 Take at
18 Take at
17 Print head
16 Bridge of... (Euclid's proposition)
15 Take at
14 Print head
13 Print head
12 Print head
11 Print head
10 Print head
9 Print head
8 Print head
7 Print head
6 Print head
5 Print head
4 Print head
3 Print head
2 Print head
1 Print head

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

1-AT
2-OP
3-HUCK
4-LO
5-UP
6-THE
7-YOU
8-TO
9-ER
10-RE
11-ON
12-TH
13-OH
14-LA
15-RE
16-DE
17-US
18-NA
19-TO
20-CA
21-RE
22-TH
23-LO
24-UP
25-DO
26-ON
27-AH
28-RE
29-TH
30-TO
31-RE
32-TH
33-LO
34-UP
35-DO
36-ON
37-AH
38-RE
39-TH
40-TO
41-RE
42-TH
43-LO
44-UP
45-DO
46-ON
47-AH
48-RE
49-TH
50-TO
51-RE
52-TH
53-LO
54-UP
55-DO
56-ON
57-AH
58-RE
59-TH
60-TO
61-RE
62-TH
63-LO
64-UP
65-DO
66-ON
67-AH
68-RE
69-TH
70-TO
71-RE
72-TH
73-LO
74-UP
75-DO
76-ON
77-AH
78-RE
79-TH
80-TO
81-RE
82-TH
83-LO
84-UP
85-DO
86-ON
87-AH
88-RE
89-TH
90-TO
91-RE
92-TH
93-LO
94-UP
95-DO
96-ON
97-AH
98-RE
99-TH
100-TO
Puzzle by Joel Simon
Notre Dame laughs last in 79-63 upset

By JASON KELLY
Associate Sports Editor

It will forever be known as the Tavares two-step. Tavares. McMahon. Williams shuffled to center court when Saturday's 79-63 upset of No. 4 UCLA was secure. It was a dance of equal parts relief, revery and ridicule.

"It was a moment we hadn't had a chance to feel in a long time," said Williams, who scored 28 points, grabbed nine rebounds and dished out six assists. "When (UCLA) came out before the game, they were laughing and giggling and making fun of us. They weren't taking the game seriously." Williams took the opportunity to throw some of that laughter back at the Braggin' Bruins, but this game meant more to Notre Dame than bragging rights. It meant the right to be respected.

Near-misses against Duke and Providence made some waves, but Saturday the Irish finally made a splash. "It's a great victory for Notre Dame," Williams said. "It was on national television and it was a chance for us to show people that the basketball program is on the rise again."

Tired from travel and emotionally spent from a Thursday night tussle with arch-rival USC, the Bruins weren't exactly at full strength.

"We needed another day after an unbelievably emotional game against Southern Cal," UCLA coach Jim Harrick said. "But that's no excuse, you have to come to play everyday."

After falling behind 7-2, the focused and fresh-legged Irish

Irish celebrate with win over Bulldogs

By JASON KELLY
Associate Sports Editor

Airplane food has a way of dousing any good celebration.
The Notre Dame men's basketball team was on a plane to Atlanta just hours after defeating UCLA with memories of that game lingering like the turkey butt.

"We wanted to stay home and celebrate," Irish forward Monny Williams said. "But Coach (John) MacLeod let us know that even though you beat a top-ranked team, you can't lose the next one."

So it was on to Atlanta with rubber legs and plastic peanuts.

And Notre Dame didn't lose the next one. Behind Ryan Hoover's career-high 32 points, the Irish held off a late Georgia rally for an 88-85 win.

Hoover was 10-for-10 from the free throw line, including six in the final 31 seconds, to set a new school record with 40 consecutive free throws made.

But more importantly Notre Dame won its third game in a row, making clutch plays down the stretch to find some new offensive assets.

"We are finally making a surge," Irish coach John MacLeod said. "That's pleasing to see. We have character and character endures. Character can't be chased away, it keeps coming back.

Williams scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and Billy Taylor had his best game in two years, scoring 13.

"We needed Billy to come up big," MacLeod said. "And Billy more than delivered."

That's no excuse, you have to come to play everyday."

But that static cling to the past seemed lost on everyone, particularly Saturday's participants.

"It's a dance of equal parts relief, revery and ridicule.

See GEORGIA / page 15

Lack of knowledge adds to the history

They say that those who don't know history are destined to repeat it.

If they taught American history the way they teach basketball history at UCLA and Notre Dame, we'd still be fighting the Civil War.

Saturday the Bruins and the Irish proved their ignorance of this storied series, adding another upset to the pile.

It happened 20 years ago after Notre Dame's most celebrated victory over UCLA, a 71-70 thriller that snapped the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak.

And it was the fifth time in 23 years that a UCLA team ranked in the top five has lost at the Joyce Center.

Notre Dame tried to awaken the memories, replaying Dick Enberg's call of the final minutes of the 1974 game.

But that/static cling to the past seemed lost on everyone, particularly Saturday's participants.

"The 1974 game could have been 400 years ago as far as these guys knew," said Bruins coach Jim Harrick, the latest heir to college basketball's most glorious history. "It meant nothing whatsoever."

None of the players in Saturday's game were more than two years old when Dwight Clay's shot shook college basketball.

Their memories of that afternoon are as fuzzy as Clay's afro.

"We knew a little bit about it and we heard that pre-recorded message (Enberg's broadcast) before the game," this year's hero Monty Williams said. "But the guys that played in that game couldn't help us today."

Yet Saturday's game stirred memories of those guys and all the guys who have been a part of this series.

- Austin Carr's 46 points that handed the Bruins their only loss in their 1971 national championship season.
- Clay's jump shot that snapped the longest winning streak in college basketball history.
- John Paxson's four free throws in the final five seconds that clinched a Notre Dame win in

see page 17

Inside SPORTS

Slapped

Jamei Ling and the Notre Dame hockey team dropped a pair of games to Miami (OH). see page 17

Morgan's Magic

Coach Muffet McGraw (right) and the women's basketball team won thanks to a second-half surge by freshman Beth Morgan. see page 16

Mayo Invite

Mike McWilliams and the Irish fared well in the prestigious meet at the Loftus complex. see page 18