The creation of a Disabled Persons Office would move Notre Dame "one step further" in the modern age, said Fr. Tim Scully to Junior Alex Montoya university in a report concerning disabled students on campus.

Scully, associate provost at the University, was presented with a report in September of this year on the difficulties faced by disabled people on campus. The report, made by then Campus Improvements Coordinator Gary Gleich and Montoya, who is disabled, detailed problem areas throughout the campus.

According to Montoya, Scully, and Montoya, who is disabled, Commissioner for jury duty in New York when she was walking in the elevator. She testified that a reason because it did not stop her from reaching out to other people— and the second was relevant is because it did not stop her from reaching out and telling them about it. The man said she was mistaken. The May graduate of the Notre Dame Law school is charged with leaving the scene of an accident and fleeing the scene.

The May graduate of the Notre Dame Law school is charged with leaving the scene of an accident and fleeing the scene.

The development of Notre Dame Law school from an old-time Catholic college to the university it is today was described by Professor Philip Gleenon during a lecture entitled "Notre Dame's Development as a University: An Historical Perspective." The Notre Dame's development has occurred in five distinct stages, according to Professor Gleeson, of Notre Dame's history. The development of Notre Dame began as a combination of secondary and college education— fewer than ten percent of the students "took a degree" during the early years of the University, said Gleeson.

During the second period, the "perenniation of the University idea" took hold. The University increased its curricula, and the high school and the University gradually began to separate, according to Gleeson.

The third period of the University was the "new generation," according to Gleeson. The secondary school was dropped and the college school became into being.

Deans were appointed to the colleges, the Academic Council was created, and the religious character of Notre Dame was pursued more self-consciously in academics, said Gleeson. Father Zahn held the first million dollar fund-raising drive which was used to build up the faculty, Gleason added.

"Notre Dame took its place in the great post war boom of education," according to Gleason. Father Hesburgh was president during this fourth period of development which proved to be a time of great transition for the University.

"On one hand the Catholic revival mental was still strong, but on the other, there were themes of self-criticism," said Gleeson.

The final stage, 1972 to today, has been concerned with the problem of the Catholic identity.

Law School Professor John Robinson, whose lecture followed Gleason's, further addressed the development of American Catholic education. There are "five great "American" qualities" that contribute to today's American Catholic culture, said Robinson. Among these are the conflict between assimilation with American culture, and separation from that culture. The more educated, Gleason explained, are "easily accessible.

In examining any type of personal relationship there are ten different criteria the relationship should meet to qualify as a true relationship according to Ellen Gootblatt, in a lecture at Saint Mary's last night. As a guide to the 10 commandments of relationships, she discussed differences between men and women.

According to Gootblatt, the most common question that she gets from women is: why doesn't he love me as much as I want him to say?

"Men speak a completely different language than women," she said. "Women have a tendency of expecting to hear what they exactly want to hear. She said that there are many different ways that men show affection, but women don't exactly seem to comprehend in the same way.

"Men show affection in different ways than women," she said. "Women don't exactly seem to comprehend in the same way. Her advice for women is to be in a relationship, she said. "Women must be the one to reach out and tell them about it.'

Gootblatt shared her ten commandments of relationships.

The first commandment was about "Reaching out." The second commandment was about "Becoming known." The third commandment was about "Exposing your vulnerability."

"Make yourself known," Gootblatt said. "Never be afraid to tell some-one that a reason because it did not stop her from reaching out to other people— and the second was relevant is because it did not stop her from reaching out and telling them about it. The man said she was mistaken. The May graduate of the Notre Dame Law school is charged with leaving the scene of an accident and fleeing the scene.

The May graduate of the Notre Dame Law school is charged with leaving the scene of an accident and fleeing the scene.

The May graduate of the Notre Dame Law school is charged with leaving the scene of an accident and fleeing the scene.
Thirsty? Have some more pretzels

I am writing this column because of the existence of a very grave issue on the Notre Dame campus, an issue of vast proportions, an issue so enormous that it could well be the downfall of the University. It is now no longer being overlooked. Although the majority of us may deny it, its menacing aura still remains. Whether you like it or not, my friends and neighbors, the Notre Dame guzzles alcohol like a Muscle car guzzles petrol. Ever since my freshman year, I have always known what conspired behind closed doors between a man and his case of Cervena, but it wasn't until recently that I have come to realize the extent to which it occurs. It's my duty to pass this wisdom on to all who will listen—to open the eyes of the student body to the perils of excessive consumption of alcoholic beverages. So here it goes.

Reasons why Notre Dame should limit its alcohol consumption:

1) It's a waste of water to visit the restroom ten times an hour.
2) Your daddy would want you to do your homework.
3) Your mommy would want you to practice your piano.
4) Your//# would want you to start your car.
5) Your family would want you to talk to the family.
6) Your family would want you to take a shower.
7) Your family would want you to brush your teeth.
8) Your family would want you to go to bed.
9) Your family would want you to check your car.
10) It's a waste of time to wash your car.

Marine commits suicide

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C.
A Marine drill instructor climbed onto a swimming pool diving board and put a rifle to his chin, then shot himself to death in front of dozens of recruits. Recruits and other drill instructors had urged Sgt. Richard E. Smith Jr. to get down from the 5-foot platform. Smith, 24, of Sarasota, Fla., checked out the M-16 rifle from the recruiter's armory before shooting himself Monday.

Floods caused by torrential rains set off an explosion of fire and smoke today at a government-run oil depot in southern Egypt. More than 50 people were killed and dozens injured. Flood waters collapsed a bridge at the depot onto pipelines, causing an explosion that ignited petroleum leaking from the open, underground tank at the depot told the Associated Press on condition of anonymity. Flood waters carried the burning petroleum to the neighboring village of Dermanska, where the town's 4,000 residents were evacuated within minutes, we had gathered. Not far from the town we had to leave because of the smell. At least 30 people were killed and another 28 in flooding elsewhere in Assiut province, an Interior Ministry statement said. Dozens were reported injured in the fire and flooding.

Marine commits suicide

DURUNKA, Egypt

A Marine drill instructor climbed onto a swimming pool diving board and put a rifle to his chin, then shot himself to death in front of dozens of recruits. Recruits and other drill instructors had urged Sgt. Richard E. Smith Jr. to get down from the 5-foot platform. Smith, 24, of Sarasota, Fla., checked out the M-16 rifle from the recruiter's armory before shooting himself Monday. Maj. Carol McBride said. He was given the rifle because he said he needed to clean it after using it on a firing range, McBride said. Investigators are trying to determine how he got the ammunition and why he killed himself. He had been on active duty for about 20 months. At least 59 recruits said they saw the shooting.

Astronomers find new galaxy

NEW YORK
Astronomers have discovered a galaxy virtually in their own back yard, hidden behind the fuzzy streak the ancient Greeks dubbed the Milky Way. The galaxy is about 10 million light-years away in the direction of the constellations Cassiopeia and Perseus. Ofer Lahav of the Institute of Astronomy at Cambridge University in England. With astronomers spending so much effort looking at the far reaches of the universe, "it's kind of remarkable that still there is a big galaxy like this one hidden just behind our own Milky Way," Lahav said.

Lahav and colleagues report in Thursday's issue of the journal Nature that they detected the galaxy by its radio-wave emissions. Lahav and_dw first estimate of the mass of the Milky Way galaxy, which includes Earth.

Clinton signs Antitrust Bill

WASHINGTON
President Clinton signed a bill Wednesday permitting federal antitrust agencies to work with their foreign counterparts to protect American businesses from price-fixing and other anti-competitive practices. The new law lets the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission work with foreign agencies to exchange investigative information and evidence about companies and people in their jurisdictions. "Until now, U.S. antitrust enforcement agencies have often found vital evidence to be out of reach abroad," Clinton said in a statement. He said the new law would lower prices for American consumers and help the United States enforce its antitrust laws against foreign and international firms participating in the U.S. market.

Caruso leaves "NYFD Blue"

NEW YORK
"NYFD Blue" fans, you can kiss David Caruso, the actor who plays Detective John Kelly — departed the precinct house of the ABC show for the last time Tuesday. Caruso has a five-year salary dispute with his producers. But Kelly wasn't killed off, as some fans had feared. "That was never in our thoughts," said the show's creator, Steven Bochco. "That would be too cheesy." Instead, Kelly quit the force after being transferred to a detective's desk under pressure from the Internal Affairs Bureau. The detective had been accused of shielding his ex-girlfriend during her trial for the murder of a monster. Don't shed too many tears for Caruso, though. His next job — the movie "Jade" — reportedly pays $2 million.
Critics dispute IQ theory

By RICK HAMPSHON
Associated Press

NEW YORK

Even as we rubbish the nullified triumphs of Francis Galton, IQ 75, along come a couple of social scientists with a cruel prediction: In the new America, intelligence rules — inherited intelligence.

"Success and failure in the American economy," argues Charles Murray and Richard Herrnstein, "are increasingly a matter of the genes that people inherit."

Their new book is "The Bell Curve: Intelligence and Class Mobility," seven appendices and three pounds and 852 pages, and rarely has social science - the facts on ethnic and race differences in intelligence and class - been so outraged by the book as Murray and Herrnstein insist cannot be explained by test bias or environmental factors such as poor education or nutrition. They foresee a society split into a wealthy, high-IQ underclass. The former will be largely white, they say, the latter largely minority.

But Murray, a conservative policy analyst, and Herrnstein, a Harvard psychologist who died recently, caution readers that "it is possible to face all the facts on ethnic and race differences in intelligence and not run screaming from the room." Possible but not likely, to judge from the clamor the book has provoked. The Times of London says Murray and Herrnstein have written "the year's most reviled publication" and "touched a match to America's most explosive issue."

The Washington Times says they've driven "a rhetorical car bomb into the middle of the public square."

President Clinton himself — who has praised Murray's previous work — was said to be outraged by "The Bell Curve."

Herrnstein, it's not alone. Salim Muwaklit, senior editor of In These Times magazine, summarized its message this way: "Black Americans have failures in their genes."

Writing in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Times, Elijah Liebmann, a manager, described sales as "brick times five."

"We're in a neighborhood with a lot of psychologists and educators, so this is the kind of book people feel they have to read, whether their reaction is to like or to positive," she said.

The book made the covers of Newsweek and The New Republic scheduled an essay by Murray and Herrnstein on race and intelligence, the staff revolted. So the editors printed a 19 rebuttals, creating a debate that took up 29 of the 54 pages in the Oct. 31 issue.

But "The Bell Curve" wasn't making any impression on talk radio, possibly because the radio stations weren't tuned in.

"There's been surprisingly little reaction from listeners," said Gordon Liddy, the Watergate figure who hosts a syndicated program. "It's just Murray only saying that intelligence rules. So what's the big deal?!"

For all the hype surrounding his book, Murray himself was in no danger of overexposure. There was no book tour, and reporters were asked not to name the Maryland town where he lives for fear of death threats. The Washington Post critic said he did not want to talk anymore about "the media frenzy."

The Atlanta Journal and Constitution compared Murray to what the Greeks called a "parasiot," a professional flat-terer who was welcomed to the dining rooms of the rich in return for lavishing praise on his hosts.

It all recalled a Victorian dirty book scandal. While "The Bell Curve" wasn't banned in Boston, it was banned there in a Global edition — a full two months before publication.

None of which has hurt sales.

At Shakespear & Co., a bookshop on Manhattan's traditionally liberal upper West Side, "The Bell Curve" was No. 4 in nonfiction sales and featured in a window display. Ruth Liebmann, a manager, described sales as "brick times five."

"It's not a luxury of thought and can not sustain life, Goldberg said. "Cities and campuses represent a social contract, and their buildings must be in agreement on how to represent that contract," he said.

Goldberger also addressed the conflict between spending money on luxurious items and giving money to the needy. "Art is a luxury of thought and can not sustain life because it requires not basic needs. It can not sustain life because it is sustained on how to represent that contract," he claimed.

Goldberger maintained that luxury is more an investment in the long term, whereas charity is aimed only at the short term. The curbing of design and quality contributes to long term social loss, leaving all impoverished, he claimed.

Goldberger cited Notre Dame's own Golden Dome as an example of a structure that significantly contributes to the character of the institution to which it belongs.

"It was designed with the intention of organizing public power on the University. It is a physical symbol, a logo in stone," he said.

Architecture is, above all, an act of agreement on how culture and is central to a university's mission, he added.

The Observer + NEWS

The Notre Dame College of Business presents CAREER DAY 1994

Get a head start on your future!

November 7, 1994
2nd floor LaFortune
10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

IBM - Baxter - Merrill Lynch - Leo Burnett - Arthur Andersen -NBD Bank - Andersen Consulting - E & J Gallo Winery

The Observer News Department

We are looking for energetic, motivated people to help cover campus news and events. We currently have openings in several positions, including:

Associate News Editor
Assistant News Editor
News Copy Editor
Business Editor

If interested, please submit a short personal statement noting your experience to News Editor Dave Tyler by Thursday, November 3. Call Dave at 1-5323 with any questions.
Rita

continued from page 1

accident, as well. Fox and four friends were returning to campus after being unable to get a cab at a Grape Road eatery. It was the second time this week that Charles plans to call an Indiana University professor who spec- ializes in optics as a witness later this week.

Rita's defense has maintained throughout the trial that he is innocent. Asher has asserted that the dark, rainy, foggy conditions limited the ability of Rita's passengers to see anything of the accident reports, police photos, and his examination of the cracked windshield of Rita's car.

The passenger in Rita's front seat testified he saw nothing. "The driver's eye would go right to that area on a right turn," Olson testified. Rita's passengers said he made at least three right turns after the crash. A county police accident investigator took the stand and told the court that Rita's car could not have struck Mara Fox, without leaving the pavement, even if Fox was walking on the shoulder of Douglas road.

Sergeant David Hoffman said the metal portion of Rita's car that extends in front and to the side of the tire could have hit her without the tires ever leaving the road. Investigators believe Fox was struck by the right front corner of Rita's Honda.

Hoffman said he could not pinpoint exactly where Fox was walking along Douglas that night, but maintained that she was most likely walking off the pavement as her companions have testified. Hoffman's best estimate of the area where the victim was hit ranged from four inches on the pavement, to eighteen off on the right shoulder. Officers found a pool of blood underneath Fox's body, two feet from the edge of the road.

The South Bend Tribune contributed to this report.

Special Rate

$34.95

(1 to 4 persons + tax)

 $1.00 OFF **

each

Buffet Breakfast
with this ad!

Reservations 1-800-821-0136

Phone: 407-656-3333

11100 W. Colonial Drive • Exit 267 off Florida Turnpike

West Orlando, Ocoee, Florida 34761

Located 10 miles from the Citrus Bowl

300 room Hotel with

Lounger, Restaurant

Tennis &

Volleyball Courts

The Observer • NEWS

Thursday, November 3, 1994
IMAGINE YOUR IDEA ON THE BACKS OF 40,000 IRISH FANS
PLUS FREE BOOKS FOR THE SPRING DESIGN THE SHIRT '95

ENTER YOUR CHOICE OF ORIGINAL ARTWORK TO
THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE, 315 LAFOURTE.

ENTRIES MUST NOT EXCEED 12" X 15"
LATEST CONSIDERATION DATE IS NOV. 21, 1994

SKETCH MUST INCORPORATE A THEME

EXAMPLES DISPLAYED IN THE EAST HALFWAY OF THE HUDDLE INCLUDE:
- 1990 NOTRE DAME LANDMARKS
- 1991 150 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE
- 1992 THE TRADITION CONTINUES

AND THE TWO MOST POPULAR EVER:
- 1993 ONWARD TO VICTORY
- 1994 WAKE UP THE ECHOES

* SPRING SEMESTER TEXTBOOKS PAID BY ND BOOKSTORE
* ANY SELECTED ENTRY BECOMES PROPERTY OF "THE SHIRT."
* APPLICANT MUST STATE IN WRITING THAT SUBMITTED ARTWORK IS THEIR OWN ORIGINAL WORK.
The Observer • NEWS
Thursday, November 3, 1994

Reason for deadly crash still unknown

By NANCY ARMOUR
Associated Press

ROSELAWN, Ind. —
Whatever happened to make American Eagle Flight 4184 plunge from the sky apparently happened too fast for the pilots to call for help. "There was no distress signal sent from the plane and no indication from the conversation between the tower and the aircraft that the aircraft was in any trouble," Jim Hall, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said Wednesday.

NBC News, however, reported that the cockpit voice recorder indicates that alarm was sent from the plane and no indication from the conversation between the tower and the flight records would be released by Thursday.

The last thing that air traffic controllers heard from the pilot was "thank you" after he was told to remain in a holding pattern at 9,000 feet for 10 minutes. The plane had been in a holding pattern at 10,000 feet for 32 minutes.

Report

continued from page 1

Student guides to help walk visually disabled students to classes and a campus guide were additionally proposed. "The solutions detailed here are concrete and necessary measures that can be taken immediately and are designed to assist all current and future disabled students on campus," Montoya added.

Girzadas said in the report.

"They have performed resource offices of universities throughout the nation offer resource offices of some type to disabled students and physical adaptations to improve their mobility," he said.

Fr. Scully hopes to have the office open by the end of this year, although a definite time frame has not been named, Montoya said.

"If we found a thumb, that's at least some­thing to start with," Pilot Wayne Alford said. "If we had a hand, that's more to work with." Investigators brought the first remains of victims to a temporary morgue set up at a National Guard armory, said Newton County Coroner Dr. David Dennis. Remains believed to be those of one of the pilots were found, searchers said.

Speculation on what caused the crash focused on high wind and turbulence and sometimes from controllers about turbulence and icing. But the advisories are not unusual, said Mitch Grundman, a pilot for 30 years and chief flight instructor for Purdue University.

"We had 70 mph winds on the way up, but that's not uncommon," Grundman said. "But it was a tele­phone call from the tower to call for help.

Whatever happened to make the cockpit voice recorder indicate that alarm was sent from the plane was never found, searchers said.

"If we had a hand, that's more to work with." Investigators brought the first remains of victims to a temporary morgue set up at a National Guard armory, said Newton County Coroner Dr. David Dennis. Remains believed to be those of one of the pilots were found, searchers said.

Speculation on what caused the crash focused on high wind and turbulence and sometimes from controllers about turbulence and icing. But the advisories are not unusual, said Mitch Grundman, a pilot for 30 years and chief flight instructor for Purdue University.

"We had 70 mph winds on the way up, but that's not uncommon," Grundman said. "But it was a telephone call from the tower to call for help."

"If we had a hand, that's more to work with." Investigators brought the first remains of victims to a temporary morgue set up at a National Guard armory, said Newton County Coroner Dr. David Dennis. Remains believed to be those of one of the pilots were found, searchers said.

Speculation on what caused the crash focused on high wind and turbulence and sometimes from controllers about turbulence and icing. But the advisories are not unusual, said Mitch Grundman, a pilot for 30 years and chief flight instructor for Purdue University.

"We had 70 mph winds on the way up, but that's not uncommon," Grundman said. "But it was a telephone call from the tower to call for help."
Helicopter crashes killing all passengers

By HECTOR ZACARIAS ZAGOYA
Associated Press

COZUMEL, Mexico
Authorities searched today for the bodies of three American tourists who disappeared when a helicopter plunged into the sea, apparently because of a mechanical failure. Ten other Americans and the pilot were killed.

The helicopter, carrying a pilot and 13 tourists, was one of two Bell 212s flying back to a cruise ship from Mexico’s Yucatan Peninsula when it went down Tuesday afternoon in the Caribbean, police said. The other helicopter landed safely.

Brian Wilson, a volunteer for the U.S. Consulate involved in the search, said the helicopter reported mechanical failure shortly before it plunged into the 12-mile-wide channel separating Cozumel island from the Yucatan.

There was no evidence of a fierce storm as initially reported by authorities, he said.

The bodies of the Mexican pilot and 10 of the passengers were recovered quickly by boats from a nearby naval base and taken to a Cozumel morgue, but three passengers had not been found by today. Wilson said they were presumed dead.

The helicopters, rented by a local travel agency, had taken the tourists on a daylong excursion from the ship to see Mayan Indian ruins.

“As they were flying back from a day at the ruins, the helicopter radared the control tower at approximately 2:30 p.m. saying it had mechanical failure. Shortly after that, the helicopter plummeted into the ocean,” Wilson told The Associated Press.

He said the bodies that had been recovered were still being identified and names would be released after families were notified. Only the pilot has been identified so far, he said.
Backlash against immigrants continues in US

By SALLY BUZBEE
Associated Press

LOS ANGELES

It's a classic American story of a family pulling itself up by the bootstraps from poverty into the middle class. Dad worked a series of back-breaking jobs before finding a better one at a car factory. He married a woman from home. Three sons grew up in the suburbs, going on to college as breaking jobs before finding a better one at a car factory. He believes, families like his are the ones they came illegally. "The fear of a bad economy was there," says Ramirez, whose husband was born here of second-generation immigrants, of undocumented immigrants from Cuba.

"There's no experience necessary. Just come ready to have a good time at this event sponsored by the Ballroom Dance Club!"

Questions? Call Joe Cattalo at 634-1763.

Join the members of the Ballroom Dance Club on November 3 as they learn the basics of dancing.

For only $3.00, you and your friends can join in the fun at the Stepan Center from 7:00 - 8:30 PM.

Free Movies! Student activities present an evening of:

Dinosaurs
8:00 PM The Land Before Time and genies,
9:15 PM Aladdin dwarfs and meanies,
10:45 PM Snow White virtue, vice
12:15 AM An American Tale and friendly mice.

The LaFortune Ballroom Friday, November 4th.

FREE TOPCORN!

FREE SOFT DRINKS!
I often wonder about IQ tests. The thinking is the cause of some controversy now, with the authors of the recent book The Bell Curve having decided that African-Americans are a good 15 points lower on the great chain of being right, then. The questions are: 1) If you are a boy, about a Korean tot who actually took the test, and had to put out.; 2) a hot roommate; d) a willingness to read, when I masochism occurs; 3) an illegal growth hormone; g) bitchin'; h) a saxophone. 4) Of the following, which is a severe alcoholic? a) Dr. Dre; b) Dr. Seuss (Theodore Geisel); c) Dr. J (Julius Erving); d) Dr. Kevorkian. 5) Essay question: In 100 words or less, answer the following question posed by Professor Charles Rice of the Law School: "If someone, conscious of self-awareness is the criterion for humanity, where does that leave the severely retarded infant and the vegetative octogenarian?" Explain your answer. Extra Credit: Write an essay on "vegetative octogenarians" I have known or "severely retarded infants: good places to leave them." Intelligence Tests are a) by morons for morons; b) a masonic conspiracy; c) by evil guys in lab coats for grant money; d) an accurate way of predicting social and fiscal success; e) covered with an attractive sheen of mucus which attracts likely plankton forms, which are then ingested; f) a valuable addition to Catholic learning in a world sadly given over to transient secular values; g) bitchin'; h) the stand-up-and-cheer social science hit of the season; i) a savage, nightmare journey into the dark heart of the American Dream; j) a kind of parasitic flatworm or ascociliate; k) scented with a faint tang of urine; l) available at fine stores everywhere; m) embalmed; n) an excellent substitute for grades; o) an illegal growth hormone. Don't forget—send your responses to joshua.a.ozersky@nd.edu. Results will appear in next week's column. Josh Ozersky is a graduate student in history.
The tyranny of thinness: Preventing the ravages of anorexia and bulimia

Donna Shalala

A former college classmate of mine says she’s lost 100 pounds in her life, and I thought, how could someone say that? Her problem is, she regains every pound she loses. This woman constantly is realizing some new fad—like the rotating column diet, or the liquid diet. Losing weight fills her with shame and guilt—and drives her to stop eating. It’s a desperate, endless cycle. But it isn’t necessary to live this way, and I believe it isn’t meant to be any symptom of our bodies. The consequences of continuing this malnourishment can be life-threatening. By neglecting nutritional needs such as calcium and iron, obsessive dieting makes it impossible for one to have the energy to cope with stress as osteoporosis and anemia later in life.

Continuous dieting is also associated with dangerous and severe eating disorders. Anorexia nervosa, a refusal to eat leading to extreme weight loss, can cause yellow skin, loss of menstruation, excess body hair, gastrointestinal problems, irreversible osteoporosis—and it can be fatal. Bulimia, a cycle of binge eating and purging through vomiting, using laxa- tives or inducing vomiting, can damage teeth and cause stomach lesions or tears in the esophagus. Those who use drugs to induce vomiting or frequent bowel movements can actually suffer heart failure or permanent damage to their intestines.

Fortunately, as public awareness increases, more people with bulimia and anorexia nervosa are seeking help from health care professionals. Research shows that early treatment improves one’s chances of recovery.

The road of life often takes us by turns. Whether the turns are easy as the ABCs or hard as a community to re- treat from, we may not have done them on purpose. One’s past mistakes are the road. We have reflected long and hard as a community to find our path to conversion. We have acknowledged that we must be beautiful above all, to cite a message to women worldwide. Fortunately, women are learning to reject these false messages and are striving instead to be healthy, strong, outspoken, and competent.

Do you know what the community does to intramural soccer, take long walks, or become a Big Sister to a child? Do they worry about the shape or weight of a community or both? How could anyone say we are called to be our best selves? How could anyone say that we were reaL The demands he placed on his body were heavy. He felt that his body was an instrument for his work. He needed his body for his conversion in life. His commitment to the process of change in life are his body. This is the temple of the Holy Spirit, and acknowledged to his body, this temple of the Holy Spirit, and acknowledged as God’s temple to be a temple of the Holy Spirit. His proclamation, “When Heaven and Earth Changed Places, she reveals the dilemmas the Vietnam War has caused for Vietnamese and Americans. The recognition of pain caused by individuals, groups and nations toward one another has challenged her to identify a resolution through visits and exchanges of her foundation.

What is a mistake? A mistake is between oops and out of context. What was the last one you saw? Was it yours? The sign of relationship in Christ is a community working on mistakes—everyone’s. When you or your community makes a mistake, the way to continue your journey of conversion is to acknowledge, to befriend and to change. The best mistake leads to conversion. Do you know your ARCS?

M.J. Griffin, O.S.F., is the rec- tor of Howard Hall. Our Turn is a weekly, rotating column, and the way in which we reveal to ourselves and others our need to change. They make us think. They make us in many different directions, physically, mentally, emotionally, and spiritually. Have you seen those road signs where a group of people have written them, or in groups—schools, churches, local prisons, parent groups—organizations of all types have taken on these projects of service. What does their work represent? If we did not litter our highways, we would not need these groups. Who among us has not thrown a piece of paper out the window at some time or been caught by the police for littering? By acknowledging the environmental needs of other that a road is clean and well maintained for others, we declare that we will do what we can to keep our highways clean and safe for others. We are called to be our best selves, to live out our lives in a way that is pleasing to the Lord. This is the road to conversion.

Donna Shalala is Secretary of Health and Human Services.

Mistakes show the need for change, conversion

What was your best mistake ever? What? Best mistake, you say. How could someone say best mistake? Those two do not belong together. All your best mistakes are the ones which you have shared with others. Have you ever made a mistake? Do you think anyone knows any of your mistakes? The mistakes we make may not have wanted to do that or thought much about it. For example, did you ever put something in your paper present! This is what I call the tyranny of thinness obsession. The road of life often takes us by turns. Whether the turns are easy as the ABCs or hard as a community to retreat from, we may not have done them on purpose. One’s past mistakes are the road. We have reflected long and hard as a community to find our path to conversion. We have acknowledged that we must be beautiful above all, to cite a message to women worldwide. Fortunately, women are learning to reject these false messages and are striving instead to be healthy, strong, outspoken, and competent.

When you or your community makes a mistake, the way to continue your journey of conversion is to acknowledge, to befriend and to change. The best mistake leads to conversion. Do you know your ARCS? What is a mistake? A mistake is between oops and out of context. What was the last one you saw? Was it yours? The sign of relationship in Christ is a community working on mistakes—everyone’s. When you or your community makes a mistake, the way to continue your journey of conversion is to acknowledge, to befriend and to change. The best mistake leads to conversion. Do you know your ARCS?
The Mighty Mighty Bosstones question the answers

Joe Gittleman reveals his idea of a party in an exclusive interview

By ROB ADAMS
Music Column

I first heard of The Mighty Mighty Bosstones on some commercial about five years ago; it was probably for beer. Although they were playing in some club and the atmosphere was absolutely amazing. People were jumping around, dancing everywhere, singing, and wearing a whole lot of plaid.

I remember being attracted to the sound and vibe that they were emulating through the campus radio’s first and last moments.

But its excitement was so foreign to me that I concluded they could not be a real band—must have been hired to act for the commercial.

I discovered just how wrong I was a couple years later when I noticed they had released their second album and continued to tour non-stop. These days they have a new album out, their fourth, and they are on an American tour. Yesterday, in a phone conversation with Joe Gittleman ("the bass fiddler"), he and I talked about touring Notre Dame, MTV, and a host of other "Bosstonian" things.

I have never been to a Bosstone show—So I'm a Bosstone virgin. Yeah. I guess you could call it that?" He begins to describe the experience of a Mighty Mighty Bosstones show. You really can't, though. It's just too much going on. I'd encourage anyone to come to our shows because everyone seems to have such a good time. I wouldn't want to try to describe it and possibly alienate you or someone else from coming when I know they've had a really good time.

How has the approach to this tour with Voodoo Glowskulls and Total Chaos been different? It isn't really. With you guys being the main attraction, how do you prepare for these shows?

"We've been the main band for most of our tours now, so we're used to that. I guess the most important approach is to lock our doors when we go on-stage so that the other bands won't steal all our beer.

How did you select those two opening acts?

Those two bands are really interesting and we like them. We wanted to give the fans some old school punk because we know that most people who come to Bosstones shows like old school punk. Diversity is always good.

The new album features a lot of social commentary, how did this awareness arise among the members of the band?

"Well, there's never a time when we just sit around and talk about what we're going to sing about on an album. Dicky writes all the lyrics. I agree that there's a lot of social commentary on this new one. Dicky's a big fan of Notre Dame, actually (he laughs)." Really? I didn't know that. Yeah, he loves the Fighting Irish and all that—so you guys do.

My personal favorite song on the new album is "Hell of a Hat". Thanks a lot. I wrote that song. Yeah, I love the way it's all smooth during the verses and explodes into the chorus. How did the flavor for this come to join the lyrics? I don't know. It just seemed cool to me. It's not too different from our normal formula with its mixture of ska and metal, but it's got a reggae and swing vibe in the background that I like.

Question the Answers: what I believe to be your most diverse compilation of sound ever; in what do you attribute the variety of music? I guess we're just getting older and wiser. Did having four producers on the album affect it? Yeah, well that probably did a lot. You know we recorded this album while touring, so it would've been hard to stay with one producer for the whole thing.

What do you see as the future of ska music? It's on the uprising for sure. With The Specials back on tour and doing a great job, ska is just amazing music which is growing all the time. I think it is going to be recognized by record companies as a viable, marketable product; I love it.

What of today's bands do you enjoy listening to? I like Green Day. F--- it, I admit, I watch a lot of MTV and like a lot of that crap.

If the Bosstones were a specific drink, what would they be? Joel Cola with a splash of Jack Daniels.

The Mighty Mighty Bosstones: Question the Answers...Unpredictability

Unpredictability has always been one of The Mighty Mighty Bosstones' strengths, but never before has it been this relentless. From the low bass and planter's hat of "In the Name of the Father," the new album's upbeat intro, "Somebody's got to fall on its head," the tongue-in-cheek melody of "Kinder Words," the Frank Sinatra/Mr. Hyde impression on "Hell of a Hat," to the speed metal to vaudeville jackbox metamorphosis on the 1994 version of "Dogs and Chaplains," The Bosstones prove to be most effective when they deliver it unpredictably.

One of the overall unpredictable results of the new album is its lyrics about current societal topics, such as crack, gun control, television, and blue collar apathy are combined with the songs which talk about going out and having a good time. It's definitely a pleasant surprise.

Although most ska music spends a lot of time buried in hazy lyrics, The Bosstones' inflex of ska certainly never dies.

With Dicky Barrett's raspy and iron lung vocals, thick guitar riffs and a raw and timely horn section, and the almost-mercilessly unspoken changes of pace, The Mighty Mighty Bosstones make the most of their eight-man outfit.

Acoustic Cafe displays raw campus talent

By BEVIN KOVALIK
Assistant Arts Editor

Music fills the air and people sit at curvy round tables sipping coffee and soda as they laugh and converse, anticipating the night's entertainment. No, this wasn't probably for beer. It was probably for beer.

The committee for the annual Sophomore Literary Festival has arranged for free campus entertainment called the Acoustic Cafe, which consists of a variety of things so there will be a more diverse composition of talent," said Amanda Digirolamo, SUB Acoustic Cafe coordinator.

Digirolamo has tried to steer Acoustic Cafe away from the weekly headline campuses who act in order to achieve more diversity and to appear less exclusive.

"We want people to participate and not to feel like they have to be in a band, or simply perform musical talents," she added. "There is a lot of undiscovered talent on this campus, and people should not feel intimidated." Digirolamo has worked on involving Irish Arten, the campus comedy group, to perform at Acoustic Cafe and give courage to all the budding seminaries at Notre Dame.

The committee for the annual Sophomore Literary Festival will begin doing some literary readings to preview some of the authors who will appear at the festival in November. Hopefully, this will encourage more poetry readings and short story readings of student writings.

One participant at Acoustic Cafe slams his guitar to entertain the audience. Variety of entertainment, including comedy acts and poetry readings.

Acoustic Cafe how offers a wide ten works or favorite forms of entertainment, according to Digirolamo. "We would really like to see a bunch of campus creativity mesh into a lit night for everyone at Acoustic Cafe," she added.

Contrary to popular belief, the Acoustic Cafe line-up each Thursday is not completely planned. "Absolutely anyone can sign up before each show around 8 p.m. on the board in the Huddle area, and basically anything goes," Digirolamo urged.

"Acoustic Cafe has the potential to be really good because there is a lot of talent out there," she said. "It's as good as the students want to make it."

"Acoustic Cafe begins each Thursday at 9 p.m., and runs until around Midnight. The event is free and gourmet coffee is also offered on the premises."

"We have also introduced the classic paper table cloths on the tables so everything can draw and doodle with crayons and markers, and most importantly, we're trying to listen," Digirolamo said.

Although SUB sponsors Acoustic Cafe, the committee is open to change and improvement. If you want to help strengthen this form of free campus entertainment call the SUB office at 631-7757.

Thursday, November 3, 1994
IH continued from page 20

won't be enough for his successful sophomore season for Zahn, Hammond conceded as much. "It's a combination of Coach to Watch." Although it wasn't noticeable on the field, Hammond admits that he felt some pressure to maintain playing at a high level.

"I did feel pressure to perform this season," he said. "I expected a lot from myself, and it ended up bothering me and the team. It was pretty frustrating at times.

In addition to playing the most difficult position on the field, Hammond also serves as the offensive coordinator for Off Campus. This double-duty caused problems for the Crime offense early in the season.

"It was difficult adjusting to calling plays and playing both at the same time," said Hammond. "Personally, I haven't put up the numbers I wanted this year. The offense has a lot to prove going into the playoffs."

In what Hammond calls a 'disappointing year,' he helped lead the Crime to a 3-1 record and the No. 3 seed in the NCAA playoffs if the Off Campus offense improves any more, then a November offensive surge will be necessary to defend their championship.

In addition to starting for Hammond, McNeill has helped coach the playoff bound Siegfried Slammers. McNeill's players, most notably the Slammers' captains, is quick to point out Hammond's role in helping Siegfried capture the No. 1 seed in the playoffs.

"He has helped out so much," said McNeill. "He knows the game so well. He has worked with this team before at that point in the game."

Whether it is his solid fundamentals and textbook throwing motion, or his strong understanding of the game, Hammond and the 0-3 Crime offense struggle into even the toughest defenses.

"Busy" is the word McNeill uses to describe his brother this year. After missing her junior year to study abroad, McNeill certainly does get attention this season. She and the Slammers have already gotten their hopes首都 quickly risen inasmuch as McNeill has been the leader of the high powered Siegfried offense all year long.

Despite the appearance, things have not been too many roses and peaks for the Slammers this year. Just like Hammond, she won't play off this to the title in 1992 only added the pressure put on McNeill and the Slammer offense.

"There were definitely high expectations this year," said McNeill. "We lost a lot of seniors after my sophomore year, and last year was wrong king of a rebuilding season. There was a lot expected of me, and I've been pretty much playing the other way around on the team."

Hammond has had the opportunity to coach McNeill this season, and he has been impressed with the talent of the senior in the starting quarterback.

"There aren't too many weaknesses in her game," said Hammond. "She has incredible talent and has developed the ability to improve her game. The player is there. She makes good decisions no matter what the situation is."

Siegfried has been paired with quarterback B. P. (3-3 mark in the regular season) in the first round of the playoffs, and the acknowledge- edges that the Slammers will have to play with the pressure no matter who is on the field.

"We are a strong team with an excellent quarterback," said McNeill. "But how well we do in the playoffs will depend on how well we play as a team."

Both Hammond and McNeill give a great amount of credit to their teammates for their success this year. Both players have managed to return to the high level of play that characterized their missing their entire junior years. However, the two Slammers are a lot older and they are more likely to continue with the same success as an important Interhall football title.

Indeed, the similarities are striking.

Classifieds

NOTICES

Network Golf is a new Multi-Level Marketing company which offer valued/in gold products and D. Musical values of an existing potential of an exciting NUL oppor- tunities to contact Jim or Martha, Network Golf Independent Distributor, and N.D. 273-9552

USED BOOKS & CLIPS'NOTES Pandora's Books 233-2542 NO 99%-55% off most books, Sun 9-3 Soft cool store HANDCRAFTED GIFTS around the world. GLOBE, BEAR, FLORIDA, Student Center, Nov. 10 & 11, 5pm-8pm.

LOST & FOUND

FOUND: womans two lost that acciden- tally fell off someone's dry cleaning. They were found around two weeks ago in front of Costco. Call 313-930 for more information.

WANTED

1 Merchandising Photographers at Jos Linxi X. Shell, $500 TIO
STUDENT TRAVEL SALES! Sunrises is selling ambi- tious sales reps to promote beach trips for Spring Break 95! Earn cash and check out exotic beaches! Share a lease with your friends! 1-800-SUNRISE.

ACTORS ACTORS ACTORS for the St. Eri's Jekyll Island show on Apr. 11th. "THE NIGHT OF JILL'S 15th Birthday!" Auditions will be held Thursday, Nov. 3rd and 2nd at 6th. City's Chapel on the Green 2pm. All ages welcome.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING.. Earn up to $1500 a week sailing on Cruise Ships or Cruise/Ship Tours. Come join the "Cruise Ship/Line" as a stew/ent. Mexico, the Caribbean, etc. Seasonal and Full-Time positions available. No experience nec- essary. For more information call 1-205-634-0480 ext. C58041

SPORTS

Parker sets defensive touchdown record

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. After wrangling through stacks of records, the NFL confirmed Wednesday that Minnesota Vikings safety John Parker was the first defensive player to score a touchdown in three straight games.

Parker returned an interception 41 yards for a TD against Tampa Bay on Sunday, a huddle 23 yards against Green Bay on Nov. 25, and an interception 4 yards against the New York Giants on Oct. 18.

A low-key player, Parker reluctantly accepted the situation he received this week. He credits defensive coordinator Buddy Ryan for turning turnover touchdowns on Sundays.

"We've never been around a team that's been this good," Parker said.

Parker played in the secondary as well as on special teams and returned punts when they were at Arizona State.

Many scouts believed Parker was too small, Alan reiterating their senior years, but a knee injury cost Parker most of that sea- son. He is getting his first chance to start in the NFL after five injury-plagued seasons. He wants to make it four in a row when Nov. 18th visits the Metrodome on Sunday.
Soccer chances, but has been unlucky at times. "We've had chances against others," Berticelli explained. "But, as in the past, we couldn't finish." They lost 2-1. "We didn't have their now top scorer. They're number one in their division and finished very strong. They are a dangerous team. "We just have to go out and play. It's not going to be as easy as last time."

"I'm prepared to walk away from the game today if I have to and not look back," said Dawson, who met with the media at Joe Robbie Stadium to promote his book, "Hawk." "If someone's interested then I'll sit down and make a decision." Dawson, 40, was declared a free agent after the Boston Red Sox refused to offer him salary arbitration. He played just 75 games because of chronic knee pain, batting .240 with 16 home runs and 48 RBIs in 292 at-bats. Dawson, a Miami native and resident, is the only player other than Willie Mays to accumulate 2,000 hits, 300 home runs and 300 stolen bases. He says he needs another operation on his left knee, albeit a minor one. "My doctor said I'm 90 years old from my thighs down," Dawson said. "I don't want to get knee surgery unless I know it's for baseball or my post-baseball days."

Dawson has reason to be satisfied with a career that earned him eight All-Star berths, eight Gold Gloves, the National League MVP award in 1987 and Rookie of the Year in 1977. "My career for the most part has been fairly consistent and productive," said Dawson, a lifetime .280 hitter with 2,700 hits and 428 homers. Baseball talks to resume next week

By RONALD BLUM Associated Press

NEW YORK Baseball players and owners, who have met at the bargaining table just four times since the strike began in August, probably will resume talks next week in New York.

Three sources, one from management and two on the players' side, said Wednesday that mediator W.J. Usery was prepared to bring the sides back together.

The sources on the players' side, also speaking on the condition they not be identified, said they understood meetings would be held Wednesday through Friday.

The management source, also not wishing to be identified, said he understood next Thursday was the most likely date for the resumed sessions. Some members of the owners' bargaining committee will be at marketing meetings in Phoenix earlier next week.

Union head Donald Fehr and management negotiator Richard Ravitch said they not be identified, said they understood next Thursday was the most likely date for the resumed sessions. Some members of the owners' bargaining committee could not be reached.

There have been just four negotiating sessions since the strike began Aug. 12 as the players one since owners voted Sept. 14 to cancel the World Series.

Usery was appointed by the Clinton administration as a special mediator on Oct. 14, and held a joint meeting in Washington five days later to set ground rules.

He met twice last week with union officials in New York, then met with them again Monday. On Tuesday, he went to Milwaukee to meet with acting commissioner Bud Selig, and Thursday he is scheduled to meet in Washington with the owners' bargaining committee.

That's right. The event you've all been waiting for is finally here. You've seen the ads. You've had the Blow Pops. Now see the event!

WHERE: LAFORTUNE BALLROOM
TIME: 8:00 PM
If you don't come, you're a BIG WEEenie!!

Brought to you by: STUENT UNION BOARD

Fall Festival '94
The Northeast Neighborhood Rejuvenation Project
Saturday, November 5th
Fall Festival is a one-day service project to show Notre Dame’s support for the South Bend Community.

Students and residents will work together to beautify the Northeast Neighborhood by planting flowers and cleaning the interiors and exteriors of local homes.

The project will be followed by a block party for all volunteers.

If you are interested in being a part of Fall Festival '94, sign up in the dining halls, the CSC, or the LaFortune Information Desk.

Any Questions, please call Karen DuBay at 271-8992.

SEINES '94
Nationally Known Poet Maria Assunta Warner, CSC
A Pictorial Biography by Marie Assunta Warner, CSC
Educator of Women Past President of Saint Mary's College Notre Dame, Indiana Founder of the First School of Theology for Women in the United States Nationally Known Poet and Author

MADELEVA
Sister Mary Madeleva Wolff, CSC

The Observer • SPORTS
Thursday, November 3, 1994

Soccer continued from page 20

"I'm prepared to walk away from the game today if I have to and not look back," said Dawson, who met with the media at Joe Robbie Stadium to promote his book, "Hawk." "If someone's interested then I'll sit down and make a decision."

Dawson, 40, was declared a free agent after the Boston Red Sox refused to offer him salary arbitration. He played just 75 games because of chronic knee pain, batting .240 with 16 home runs and 48 RBIs in 292 at-bats. Dawson, a Miami native and resident, is the only player other than Willie Mays to accumulate 2,000 hits, 300 home runs and 300 stolen bases. He says he needs another operation on his left knee, albeit a minor one. "My doctor said I'm 90 years old from my thighs down," Dawson said. "I don't want to get knee surgery unless I know it's for baseball or my post-baseball days."

Dawson has reason to be satisfied with a career that earned him eight All-Star berths, eight Gold Gloves, the National League MVP award in 1987 and Rookie of the Year in 1977. "My career for the most part has been fairly consistent and productive," said Dawson, a lifetime .280 hitter with 2,700 hits and 428 homers. Baseball talks to resume next week

By RONALD BLUM Associated Press

NEW YORK Baseball players and owners, who have met at the bargaining table just four times since the strike began in August, probably will resume talks next week in New York.

Three sources, one from management and two on the players' side, said Wednesday that mediator W.J. Usery was prepared to bring the sides back together.

The sources on the players' side, also speaking on the condition they not be identified, said they understood meetings would be held Wednesday through Friday.

The management source, also not wishing to be identified, said he understood next Thursday was the most likely date for the resumed sessions. Some members of the owners' bargaining committee will be at marketing meetings in Phoenix earlier next week.

Union head Donald Fehr and management negotiator Richard Ravitch said they not be identified, said they understood next Thursday was the most likely date for the resumed sessions. Some members of the owners' bargaining committee could not be reached.

There have been just four negotiating sessions since the strike began Aug. 12 as the players one since owners voted Sept. 14 to cancel the World Series.

Usery was appointed by the Clinton administration as a special mediator on Oct. 14, and held a joint meeting in Washington five days later to set ground rules.

He met twice last week with union officials in New York, then met with them again Monday. On Tuesday, he went to Milwaukee to meet with acting commissioner Bud Selig, and Thursday he is scheduled to meet in Washington with the owners' bargaining committee.

That's right. The event you've all been waiting for is finally here. You've seen the ads. You've had the Blow Pops. Now see the event!

WHERE: LAFORTUNE BALLROOM
TIME: 8:00 PM
If you don't come, you're a BIG WEEenie!!

Brought to you by: STUENT UNION BOARD
Robinson upset over "greedy" image

Associated Press

MILWAUKEE

The agent for Glenn Robinson, saying the Milwaukee Bucks are portraying his client as a "greedy little black athlete," is angered with the club for going public with his Mercedes Benz struck a utility pole.

In a statement released Tuesday by the Mavericks, Tarpley said he lent his car to an unidentified friend, who abandoned the wrecked car at the scene of the early Saturday morning accident but later called police.

"I just thank God no one was hurt," said Tarpley, reissued by the NBA this season after being expelled for drug violations. "That's the important thing. I notified Keith Grant (club's director of player personnel) as soon as I found out. That's all there is to it."

Police confirmed the account.

"The car was discovered about 4 a.m. after we got two anonymous calls that a car had been wrecked," police spokesman Ed Spencer said. "We don't know who was behind the wheel."

Police said the car slammed into a utility pole on a street near the Dallas Tollway. The impact apparently sent the car flying for some distance, police said.

Club spokesman Kevin Sullivan said the name of Tarpley's friend wasn't released to preserve the person's privacy. Tarpley said he spent Friday night at a hotel.

Both of Tarpley's knees have been sore, and coach Dick Motta said the 7-footer probably will begin the season on the injured list. He was held out of both Mavericks practices on Saturday and an exhibition game Sunday against the Indiana Pacers.

Tarpley was scheduled to undergo a magnetic resonance imaging test on his left knee.

Tarpley denies being in wreck

Dallas Mavericks center Roy Tarpley said he wasn't involved in an accident in which his Mercedes Benz struck a utility pole.

In a statement released Tuesday by the Mavericks, Tarpley said he lent his car to an unidentified friend, who abandoned the wrecked car at the scene of the early Saturday morning accident but later called police.

"I just thank God no one was hurt," said Tarpley, reissued by the NBA this season after being expelled for drug violations. "That's the important thing. I notified Keith Grant (club's director of player personnel) as soon as I found out. That's all there is to it."

Police confirmed the account.

"The car was discovered about 4 a.m. after we got two anonymous calls that a car had been wrecked," police spokesman Ed Spencer said. "We don't know who was behind the wheel."

Police said the car slammed into a utility pole on a street near the Dallas Tollway. The impact apparently sent the car flying for some distance, police said.

Club spokesman Kevin Sullivan said the name of Tarpley's friend wasn't released to preserve the person's privacy. Tarpley said he spent Friday night at a hotel.

Both of Tarpley's knees have been sore, and coach Dick Motta said the 7-footer probably will begin the season on the injured list. He was held out of both Mavericks practices on Saturday and an exhibition game Sunday against the Indiana Pacers.

Tarpley was scheduled to undergo a magnetic resonance imaging test on his left knee.

urbaN PLOUNGE

URBAN PLUNGE REGISTRATION DEADLINE MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11

Registration/Information Available At:

ND: Center for Social Concerns
Campus Ministry:
Badly Hall, Hasbrouck Library
Dorm Representatives

SMC: Multicultural Office
Campus Ministry
Justice Education

H: Office

What is the Urban Plunge???

- program available to all ND/SMC/ACE students
- 44 hour immersion into inner city life
- 1st week in January (3rd - 10th)
- in one of 40 different cities nationwide
- opportunity to experience conditions of poverty, injustice, and equity existing in our cities
- chance to survey available programs
- participants receive 1 theology credit

Information meeting November 3rd (Wed) 6:30-7:00PM

ACE Alliance for Catholic Education

WINTER COMIN'? HEAD SOUTH WITH ACE!

Be a teacher and discover:

- Professional teacher training
- Community life
- Spiritual development

Informational meeting:

Wednesday, November 9th, 7:00 pm in the LaFortune Ballroom. Any Questions? Call Sean McGraw at 631-7052.
Academic problems lead to suspension

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press

CINCINNATI

Xavier University freshmen basketball players Andre Smith and Brien Hanley have been suspended from the team indefinitely because of academic problems.

"When they right their academic ships, then they will return to the fold," Xavier coach Skip Prosser said Tuesday. "The bottom line is we're here to educate the kids. They need some time to make sure they're doing the job in the classroom.

Tom Eisner, Xavier sports information director, said Wednesday night that the school was "not using the term 'suspension.'

"Skip Prosser is giving them both time off to concentrate on academics," Eisner said.

Hanley, a 6-foot-3 guard, is from Jeffersonville, Ind. Smith, a 6-foot-6 forward from Akron, is one of only four Xavier scholar-ship players taller than 6-4 who isn't injured.

The suspensions leave Xavier's Musketeers with nine scholarship players for prac-tice. That includes senior swingman Pete Sears, who re-turned last week after being sidelined because of arthro-scopic knee surgery.

Junior forward Kevin Carr is expected to miss the season because of a knee injury. Freshman forward Terrance Payne is still unable to practice because of a knee injury, although Prosser hopes to have him available in a week or two.

With his roster shrinking, Prosser has had to add three walk-on players: Mark Smydra, a 6-foot-8 senior forward; Don Carpentier, a 6-foot-5 freshman forward; and Brian Rasmussen, a 6-foot-1 freshman guard.

Xavier plays in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference.

Rodman suspended for conduct

In San Antonio, San Antonio Spurs forward Dennis Rodman was suspended for three games without pay Wednesday and could face a stiffer penalty later if his con-duct doesn't improve.

"I hope he gets the message," Spurs manager Gregg Popovich said. "I hope he returns to the squad wanting to be a full par-ticipant, because we do respect what he can do.

"If (after the suspension) his conduct continues the way it has, unfortunately, we would probably have to look at a more serious suspension to get our message across."

The team announced Rodman's suspension Tuesday, one day after he was ejected from the Spurs' final exhibition game. Spurs officials said the suspension resulted from a se-ries of preseason problems with Rodman, who led the team in rebounding last season but also received more technical fouls — 34 — than any other player.

"Dennis has to realize he's not going to win the battle — fighting the NBA, fighting the officials, fighting (Popovich), fighting me," said Spurs coach Bob Hill.

The NBA consulted with the Spurs in setting the length of the suspension.

"The best way to deal with Dennis is (for him) to know we very much want him to suc-cede, and we'd like to see him succeed in the NBA complying with our rules," NBA commis­sioner David Stern said.

The Spurs, who have a new coach and general manager this season, said they simply want Rodman to be a part of the team. Last season under former coach John Lucas, the flamboyant player with the ever-changing hair color and collection of tattoos was allowed to skip practices and shootaround activities.

"This is no way is an attack on Dennis, but rather a reac­tion to the continuous, flagrant disregard for the terms of his uniform player contract and the Spurs team rules," Popovich said.

Rodman hasn't commented publicly on the suspension. But on Tuesday, after a KNAT-TV crew pursed Rodman in his white Ford Bronco and caught him up with him at a restaurant, he sounded confident the dispute would be resolved.

"It's no big deal. We'll work it out," he told the television re­porter.

Hill said he and Popovich planned to meet with Rodman Wednesday at Rodman's re­quest. Hill said he did not know what Rodman wanted to dis­cuss.

"When a player wants to talk to you, I think you have the obligation to go meet with him so that's what we're going to do," Hill said. "We're trying. We're trying."

The Spurs open their season Friday against Golden State. Rodman also will miss the next two games against New Jersey and Utah.

CAMPUS MINISTRY...

A SHINING PEARL OF GREAT PRICE

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press

Depression, which visited Jean on several occasions, continued to be a factor she tried to face up to, with the assistance of medical personnel, family and friends. In the end, it proved stronger than collective efforts to combat it.

For Jean, the grace of deep faith expressed itself in a life of truly loving service.

For the past four years, until September, Jean served as the Campus Minister in the Village, serving 132 families from over 25 countries and their 150 children. The job description for this position was originally to assist with liturgies. Today it is a full-time ministry which includes Bible study, organizing activities for the children (parties at Halloween, Christmas and Easter, and summer games and excursions), careful attention to new families and to newborn members of the Village, providing information about social and economic resources available to people living on a graduate stipend, teaching English as a second language, hosting daily "time out" periods for harried mothers, and editing a monthly newsletter among many other activities.

Jean gave herself fully to all these endeavors. She expanded the scope of her ministry and simply loved her work. She always had time for people, and worried more about other people and their concerns than about her own.
Arkansas Sports

Associated Press

FORT SMITH, Ark.

Two University of Arkansas athletic trainers will plead guilty to federal drug charges and the athletic department will pay a $100,000 penalty to close a probe into the illegal distribution of pain-killers.

Prosecutors said Wednesday that head trainer Dean Weber and trainer David England will plead guilty to one misdemeanor count each of refusing to make and keep records of how the athletic department handled federal controlled substances among each other and athletes.

They will be sentenced in federal court on the misdemeanor counts, with each facing a penalty of up to a year in jail and a $25,000 civil fine.

Athletic department spokesman Bill Rodgers said neither Weber nor England would comment. The men couldn’t be reached by telephone.

Prosecutors said Dr. John Park, who worked for an orthopedic clinic that helped train Arkansas athletes, will pay a $75,000 civil penalty. Prosecutors said he, too, didn’t keep records of drug distribution.

“The audit conducted by the Arkansas State Police revealed that 9,727 dosage units were unaccounted for by appropriate records,” the U.S. attorney’s office said.

The Drug Enforcement Administration will prohibit Park from dispensing prescriptions for two years.

Woody Woodell, a Fayetteville pharmacist who sold drugs in bulk to Park, wasn’t charged. Prosecutors said his pharmacy required Park to sign for the drugs in accordance with federal guidelines.

Nelson finally gets a true center, Owens for Seikaly

Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif.

The Golden State Warriors acquired center Rony Seikaly from the Miami Heat for forward Billy Owens and one other player in a trade Wednesday, just two days before the opening of the NBA season.

At 6-foot-11 1/2, Seikaly is the type of center long sought after by Warriors coach Don Nelson, who can now move Chris Webber, a contract holdout, back to power forward.

Seikaly said he jumped at the chance to join a team he considers a contender.

“To say the least, I’m ecstatic about my move to Golden State,” Seikaly said. “I’m extremely, extremely happy. I couldn’t ask for a better situation. I’ll be with a team that has a chance to win the championship.”

The Heat also received the rights to 6-foot-6 guard Predrag Danilovic, the Warriors’ second round pick in the 1992 draft.

“While it is hard to part company with Billy Owens, one of the most versatile players I have ever coached and a wonderful person, plus Predrag Danilovic, a talented young prospect, we simply could not pass on the opportunity to acquire an established center like Rony Seikaly,” Nelson said.

Seikaly, who missed most of the preseason with tendinitis in his left knee, said he’s participated in full practices the last two days and foresees no serious problems.

For Owens, the timing of the trade was familiar. As a rookie, he was dealt to the Warriors from Sacramento on Nov. 1, 1991, the night that NBA season started. In three years with Golden State, he averaged 15 points, 7.9 rebounds and 3.5 assists per game.

“Billy Owens is one of the top three players in the league,” Heat partner Billy Cunningham said in a statement. “He’s one of those special players who makes his teammates better.”

Owens will be out for about two weeks after straining his hamstrings in an exhibition game.

Like Owens, Seikaly played at Syracuse before being the ninth player selected in the 1988 draft, the Heat’s first. He has averaged 15.4 points, 10.4 rebounds and 1.4 blocks in six years with Miami.

Danilovic currently plays for Bucuresti Bologna in the Italian League and “is one of the top three players in Europe,” Cunningham said.

Also Wednesday, the Heat placed guard-forward Keith Askins on the injured list with tendinitis of his left achilles and released forward-center Alec Kessler to bring the roster to 13 players.

Kessler averaged 5.2 points and 3.6 rebounds in his three years with the Heat.

Women’s Pairings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Owens</td>
<td>15.2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Cunningham</td>
<td>18.8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SPEAKER: FR. RICO HERNANDEZ

NOVEMBER 5, 1994

STEPHAN CENTER

7 PM
Recycle The Observer

★★★★
Excellent.
— James Riberio, Daily News

"A startlingly detailed picture of spiritual chaos. Does full justice to the obscenity of child abuse."
— Peter Appleby, The New Yorker

"Part Topical Muckraker, Part Eternal Gothic. An unholy alliance between church & state."
— William F. Goldsmith, NY Post

"A Haunting, Riveting Experience for adventurous, mature filmgoers."
— John Ansonoff, Moviery

"A Dickensian Tale of Horror, skin-crawling sexual terror."
— David Anstis, Moviery

By MICHAEL A. GIARRUSSO
Associated Press

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — Joe Paterno's distaste of the polls started in the late 1960s, when two straight Penn State teams went undefeated and won the Orange Bowl without being declared national champions. It happened again in 1973, and now Paterno refuses to discuss the polls until the season is over.

"I may obviously be affected by the fact that there have only been six or seven undefeated, untied teams at the end of the bowl season that have not been selected national champion. Three of those are Penn State teams," Paterno said.

Paterno is a little off on the numbers. In years that The Associated Press released a poll after the bowl games, 1965 and 1968-present, 15 teams have had an unblemished record and not been ranked No. 1 by the media. But most of those teams were not considered legitimate title contenders because they played weak schedules.

Arizona State played in the Western Athletic Conference and ended up in small bowl games in 1970 and 1975. The Huskies finished No. 1 in the coaches' poll in 1991, so the three Penn State teams were the only squads to go undefeated, win a New Year's bowl and not win at least a share of the national title.

"That's probably got some influence on why I think we ought to have a playoff," Paterno said.

Paterno's 1968 and 1969 teams went a combined 22-0. Both teams finished second in the media poll, behind Ohio State and Texas, respectively. The coaches made Penn State third in 1968 and second in 1969.

The 1973 team, featuring Heisman winner John Cappelletti, finished 12-0 with another Orange Bowl victory and ended up fifth in both polls. History could repeat itself this year, as Penn State (7-0) is No. 2 in the AP poll. Penn State is No. 1 in the USA Today-CNN coaches' poll, but by the slimmest of margins over Nebraska (9-0), which displaced the Nittany Lions in the AP poll after defeating previously No. 2 Colorado 24-7 Saturday.

None of Penn State's opponents this season are ranked in the top 15 by the AP, and neither are any of the teams that could face the Nittany Lions in the Rose Bowl.

THE ST. EDWARD’S HALL PLAYERS

Announce open auditions for their production of Ayn Rand’s "Night of January 16th"

Auditions will be held on Thursday November 3rd in the chapel on the 2nd floor of St. Edward’s Hall.

All are Welcome
Heisman trophy race still undecided

By RICK WARNER
Associated Press

One week, it's Steve McNair. The next, it's Rashan Salaam. A week later, it's Ki-Jana Carter and Kerry Collins being mentioned as Heisman Trophy favorites.

With five weeks to go, the Heisman race is as wide open as any in recent memory.

"I've never seen a year where the leader changes from week to week like this," said Heisman voter Mark Blaudschun of the Boston Globe. "Usually, by this time of year, it's down to one or two guys. But right now, you have four or five who could win it."

At the moment, the top four candidates appear to be Salaam, Carter, McNair and Collins.

Colorado's Salaam is leading the nation in rushing, scoring and all-purpose yards. Penn State's Carter is averaging an amazing 7.7 yards per carry and his teammate, Collins, is on pace to shatter the NCAA record for passing efficiency. McNair, quarterback for Division I-AA Akron State, has already broken NCAA career-marks for passing and total yards.

A straw poll taken by the Denver Post this week showed Salaam holding a slim lead over Carter and McNair. But most agree that the Heisman, which will be awarded Dec. 10, is still up for grabs.

"It's like a buffet," said voter Ivan Maisel of Newday. "There's a lot of good choices to pick from."

If he were voting today, Maisel said he would pick Salaam. The junior is averaging 174 rushing yards per game and has scored 19 touchdowns—five more than anyone else.

"Some people were disappointed by his performance against Nebraska on Saturday, but I wasn't," Maisel said. "It's a measure of how good he is that they were disappointed he only gained 134 yards."

ESPN analyst Lee Corso is tutoring Carter, who ran for 137 yards and scored four TDs against Ohio State on Saturday.

"He's averaging 7.7 yards per carry on the No. 1 team (in the coaches' poll)," Corso said. "I saw him gain 165 yards against Michigan with a dislocated thumb. He's the toughest, most aggressive runner in college football."

Beano Cook, Corso's colleague at ESPN, is backing Collins in the Heisman campaign. Collins has a 70 percent completion percentage and a passing efficiency rating of 194.75, far above Jim McMahon's Division I-A record of 176.9.

"He doesn't make any mistakes," Cook said, "and he led Penn State on the most important drive of the year against Michigan. If they win the national championship, that will be the drive everyone remembers.

"Some think the two Penn State players will split the Eastern vote, which could prevent either from winning the Heisman. Cook disagrees."

"In 1945, Army teammates Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis finished 1-2," he said. "If they're both good enough, it doesn't matter."

McNair has posted astounding numbers this season, passing for 3,454 yards and 36 touchdowns, and running for 795 yards and nine TDS. He is now the all-time passing leader in I-AA and the career yardage leader for all division.

However, some voters view his stats with skepticism because he plays against weaker opposition.

"You can't compare I-A with I-AA," Corso said. "It's like comparing the major leagues and minor leagues in baseball." Cook said McNair could win the Heisman if all the other candidates falter.

"It's like somebody from Idaho or Montana becoming president," he said. "It's a longshot, but it could happen."

NFC

Realignment is dead, San Francisco gets Super Bowl 1999

By MIKE NADEL
Associated Press

ROSEMONT, Ill. - Carter was thrilled. Jacksonville less so. San Francisco was happy, Miami wasn't.

By the time two days of NFL meetings ended Wednesday, Jacksonville was in the NFC West for next season, fellow expansion franchise Jacksonville was in the AFC Central and San Francisco was chosen over Miami in competition for the 1999 Super Bowl.

"Us and Atlanta is a natural rivalry already ... and New Orleans will be good, too," Carolina owner Jerry Richardson said. "This is perfect for us. This is where we wanted to be."

Jacksonville owner Wayne Weaver also would have welcomed placement into that division, but television considerations precluded putting the Jaguars in the AFC with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Their second choice was the AFC East, setting up an instant rivalry with the Miami Dolphins. That became impossible when league realignment proposals failed.

When realignment didn't grab 21 of 28 "yes" votes, he simply had to slot the expansion teams into the divisions that currently have four teams, thereby creating six five-team groups.

Still, Tagliabue didn't sound disappointed.

"We've got a 4 1/2 billion-dollar television contract, we've got ratings up 34 percent on NBC with the current alignment," he said. "I'm not going to say, 'My god, if we don't realign we won't be playing like baseball.'

"I think we have a great league with a great product and many great rivalries. When you have something that's working well, you really have to make sure before you start changing something ... on a leap of faith."

Financial Aid Mini-Conference

November 4, 1994
121 Law Building
12:15 - 4:30 p.m.

"How to Graduate from Law School and Be Financially Solvent"

1:30
Patricia Leonard
Assoc. Dean, ND Law

2:45
Suzanne Curley
Law Access

3:30
Gene Pilawski
Assoc. Director of Financial Aid

4:15
Kathleen Blum
Career Services, ND Law

"Credit/Debt Management & Repayment"

"Forms, Forms, and More Forms"

"How Law Schools Make Financial Aid Decisions"

Sponsored by the Prelaw Society

"Placement Trends in the '90s: Can I Afford to Be In Debt?"
MEN’S SOCCER

MCC gives Irish new life

By THOMAS SCHLIDT

Xavier provides first challenge for Irish

At the beginning of the season the Notre Dame men’s soccer team set three very important goals for themselves. Win the Midwestern Collegiate Conference tournament, get to the NCAA tournament and reach the Final Four of that tournament.

Because the Irish have not played up to the preseason expectations, and finished the season at a disappointing 8-9-2, many feel that they have failed to meet their goals.

Yet, their goals are well within reach. Though seeded low, the Irish have qualified for their conference tournament, and with their level talent, they have a good shot at winning it. By winning the tournament Irish can qualify for the NCAA tournament, but that is for another day.

First, the Irish are going to have to prepare themselves for conference play, and that means relearning the basics.

“We are stressing the little things,” coach Mike Berticelli explained. “Every game can be the last game. We have to avoid mistakes. The team that does will win.”

Just playing a mistake free game will not propel the Irish to the NCAAs, they still need some improvement in the offense. They need someone to step up and take the pressure off leading scorer Tim Oates and the Irish defense. Now, with the increased intensity of the tournament, this need is even greater.

“People have to step up and score goals,” Berticelli said. “Teams recognize Oates as the scorer, and mark him tightly.”

In the last game, against Cal State Fullerton, Chris Dean stepped up and scored the initial goal of the game. Yet, Dean is a defender, and the Irish need the midfield and the forward Maurice Zeinhart have a good shot at winning. The Irish offensive has had

see SOCCER / page 13

INTERHALL FOOTBALL

Women’s Basketball

The Irish have been selected by a poll of coaches and media as the pre-season favorite to win the Midwestern Collegiate Conference.

If I ever need a brain transplant, I want one from a sportswriter, because I’ll know it’s never been used.

Joe Paterno, Penn State football coach

SPORTS

Thursday, November 3, 1994