New policy gets mixed opinions

By CAROLINE BLUM

In a place they've historically sat, smoked, and socialized, many Saint Mary's students were greeted not with ashtrays but pink table cloths last Sunday when they entered the Dining Hall for the first time.

The tens informed students of a new policy, one of three described in the new student handbook, prohibiting smoking anywhere in the Dining Hall.

"The new rule is annoying," senior and Residence Hall Association (HHA) Dining Hall representative Karen Murphy commented. "I've been sitting in the (former) smoking section for three years now. My friends and I used to move in the evening to study and smoke. We used to sit and talk after dinner for an hour while we smoked. But now, we just sit and talk after dinner about how we used to be able to smoke.

As part of her position on HHA, Murphy witnessed the entire making of the policy. She explained that the process began from a student-generated meeting that was held to determine student opinion on the issue. Flyers announcing the meeting were posted, wearing statistics about lung cancer and second-hand smoke.

"The whole flyer was geared toward a non-smoker," Murphy said.

Community offers many volunteer opportunities

By BERNADETTE PAMPUCI

Epilepsy, which in various forms affects more than three million Americans, is highly treatable. The Michigan-based Epilepsy Education Association is one area organization dedicated not only to bringing a message of education and treatment to the public, but in finding volunteers to help support their cause.

"Epilepsy is one of the oldest problems in mankind and one of the least recognized," said Bob Sherk, president of the association. "Research is fast-developing, much-needed, but funding is for research.

Projects that the Epilepsy Education Association are working on right now include a newsletter in the fall and an opportunity in the spring for a surgeon to come to the area and speak with medical professionals about epilepsy.

Student volunteers from Notre Dame and Saint Mary's are welcome to help with the organization in a variety of capacities, especially with projects involving public relations and writing. The next general board meeting will take place at the law offices of Barnett and Thornburg on the sixth floor of the First Source Bank Building, 100 N. Michigan, at 7:30 on September 12. Sherk emphasized that volunteers are invited to attend.

Interested volunteers should call the Epilepsy Education Association at 273-4050.

ND re-christens campus roads

Observer Staff Report

With the construction of new roads on campus come the designation of new road names. Such is the case for the drive leading from Notre Dame Avenue past the new dorms and around the campus along the lakes to the east gate. That road has been named Holy Cross Drive, in honor of the University's founding religious community.

Other campus roads that were named or renamed include the following:

• The road from Holy Cross Drive past Corby Hall to the Hammes Notre Dame

Live and in concert...

The Charlie Daniels Band performed this weekend at a rally for American Bikers Aimed Toward Education (ABATE).
INSIDE COLUMN

Labor Day? Today? Who would have known?

What's wrong with this picture? Look at yourself.

You're probably sitting in a dining hall between classes. The Observer spread out on one side next to your food-laden tray, folded by friends, you read the paper and discuss this morning's classes and those of the afternoon.

This is — and I bet few of you realized this — today is Labor Day. Today is the day when lazy government employees and workers in general keep the offices locked and add an extra day to the start of the school year.

Most of the college students here in the sixties, there were no classes on Labor Day. However, this statement is also true for the shore town of Nahant, Massachusetts, where the Thunderbirds middle school (New Jersey), this weekend is marked with barbecues, cook-outs, trips to the beach, and afternoons spent in the boat on the river. Here Labor Day is spent in class.

Perhaps the best argument for getting Labor Day off is the weather in South Bend. Last year, the nice weather lasted an unusually long time into the fall, and we returned again in spring until the middle of May when finals were finished. Autumn is the best season in Michiana, and it's just cruel to look outside on a day such as today (writing this yesterday, I'm assuming it's at least partly sunny today) to see how green the leaves are. After the drizzle of May, we're stuck in a classroom reading an Emerson or Thoreau on nature. I ask you again: What's wrong with this picture?

TODAY'S STAFF

Dan Cichalski  Assistant Artistic Editor

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Infamous South Carolina lake claims seven more victims

It passed between the memorial markers and knocked over a young tree planted in the Smiths' memory as it plowed into a lake. The tree had grown so tall that the leaves were gathering at the water's edge and stretching like green fingers.

A family and friends visiting the spot where Susan Smith drowned her two little boys in a small, quiet lake in South Carolina were shocked when their vehicle rolled into John D. Long Lake. Three adults and four children drowned.

Five of the victims were from one family — parents and three children.

"It's like it's haunted or something. It keeps taking lives," Tommy Vinson, 46, said Sunday as he stood beside the lake where his three- year-old and 14-month-old girls were killed.

The accident happened late Saturday. State police worked through the night to find the bodies in the water near the boat ramp where Ms. Smith killed her children.

The group of 10 had driven out to the lakes and parked next to the lake on Saturday next to their Chevrolet Subaru's headlight's shining on two memorials to the Smiths boys, 3-year-old Michael and 14-month-old Krissy. Sheriff Howard Wells told WSPA-TV.

Five of the group had gotten out of the vehicle when it started to roll toward the water with four children and an adult inside, said Mike Willis, a spokesman for the state Natural Resources Department.

Pressure builds against Iraq

U.S. military forces around the world were poised to move Sunday as the White House warned Saddam Hussein he must surrender in a 48-hour deadline that would thrust the United States into a war in Iraq.

"It's time to take advantage of the situation," President Bush said.

The Air Force was assembling a "air expeditionary force" of up to 24 fighter planes that could be deployed to the Middle East. U.S. military forces in the region include the airbase commanded by U.S. Colonel with almost 80 aircraft, in the Persian Gulf, and the carrier battle group led by the USS Enterprise, now on a port visit in Greece. Shortly after their defeat in the Gulf War, Saddam's forces moved into northern Iraq to crush a Kurdish rebellion, sending 2 million Kurds into exile in Turkey and Iran. The United States, Britain and France then established the safe haven and a no-fly zone for Iraqi planes in northern Iraq.

TWA crash investigation continues

SULLIVAN, N.Y.

The FBI knows more about what blew apart TWA Flight 800 but it has divulged only its suspicion that a terrorist bomb caused the crash. But the FBI is still hunting for answers.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said.

"This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this.

Hurricane Edouard pounds East Coast

VACATIONERS fled the beaches of Cape Cod, and its neighboring islands on Sunday as Hurricane Edouard barreled toward the area. The Met, out-of-town plans for Labor Day parades and picnics. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration released a hurricane watch for the entire area of interest is known

WASHINGTON

The Department of State and the U.S. military ordered the evacuation of all Americans in Iraq, the U.S. embassy in Baghdad, and the entire property of the American Community of Baghdad. "We closed up as if for the war," the embassy said.

On the East Coast, school does not start for the kiddies until after Labor Day because they were playing through a lot of scenarios," he said. "This is not that I'm telling the public, but I know a lot more than I am telling," "James Kallstrom said.

On Monday, August 30, the U.S. military ordered the safe haven and a no-fly zone for Iraqi planes in northern Iraq. "We don't want to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," a State Department spokesman said.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said. "This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," Kallstrom said.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said.

"This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," Kallstrom said.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said.

"This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," Kallstrom said.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said.

"This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," Kallstrom said.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said.

"This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," Kallstrom said.

"We're following every lead," FBI spokesman Stephen Sosik said.

"This is a very, very complex investigation," he said in a phone interview.

"We have, among other things, a terrorist plant in New York City that was being investigated in the past by the New York Police Department. We're not going to say when or where or what, but we will respond and we will respond with consequences to this," Kallstrom said.
Mesa-Gaido exhibit debuts in Moreau

By LORI ALLEN
Saint Mary's News Editor

The Moreau Art galleries at Saint Mary's College kicked off the season Friday with an exhibit, "Upon the Arrival of My Family/ A La Llegada de Mi Familia: Sculpture Installation by Elizabeth Mesa-Gaido." The opening reception was followed by a gallery talk by Mesa-Gaido on her work.

Mesa-Gaido discussed her background during the talk, and how her work is the result of her own experiences belonging to two different cultures, Cuban and American.

"The body of my work deals with my family's experiences immigrating to America from Cuba in the 1960's, and the effects it left on them as well as on the first generation born here," said Mesa-Gaido.

Mesa-Gaido uses various sculptural images, forms, and sound in order to create an environment which focuses on one's questioning identity and cultural history.

She uses boat forms as both literal and symbolic. These boats have been used frequently in literature as metaphors for change or beginning again, said Mesa-Gaido. Her father left Cuba in a boat, therefore the boat can be seen symbolically as a pod or a seed," she explained.

Structural spaces and root-like forms are also presented in Mesa-Gaido's work in order to address metaphorically change and the physical and psychological ties to culture, history or a country.

Mesa-Gaido includes dirt in her work, which can be seen as relating to the burial process, a moving onward and a leaving behind. Leaves and plant cuttings are indications of roots being severed, yet growing again elsewhere. "Seeds represent a new beginning as well, and new metal 'portrays what it is like to have to give up your past and have a dominant culture looming above you," said Mesa-Gaido.

"I believe that it is important for me to display my artwork at Saint Mary's because the more people who have the opportunity to see it, the more I am given the chance to portray my culture and address immigration," said Mesa-Gaido.

"Immigration is a tricky subject. Most people have immigrated from somewhere at some time or another, and now it is being capitalized," she added.

"Displaying Mesa-Gaido's art is an excellent chance for students to take in different kinds of art and to view different cultures as well as deal with the metaphors of change, such as the boat," said Johnson Bowles, director of Moreau Galleries.

The exhibit will continue through Sept. 29. Hours for the Moreau Galleries are Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to noon; and Sunday, 1 to 3 p.m. The exhibits are free and open to the public.

Course content wins prestige

The University of Notre Dame has received a $19,000 award from the John Templeton Foundation for offering outstanding courses on the relationship between science and religion.

Notre Dame was honored for "Science and Religion" courses offered at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. The courses are taught by J. Matthew Ashley, assistant professor of theology, and Steven Crain, adjunct assistant professor of psychology.

Ashey studied physics at St. Louis University before attending Weston School of Theology and the University of Chicago, where he received master's and doctoral degrees in 1988 and 1993, respectively. He worked at the Vatican Observatory before coming to Notre Dame, where he also teaches courses in liberation theology.

Crain studied physics and engineering at Stanford University before attending Fuller Theological Seminary and Notre Dame, from which he received master's and doctoral degrees in 1990 and 1993, respectively.

He teaches theology at both Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College, and he authored an article entitled "Divine Action in a World of Choice," forthcoming in the journal Faith and Philosophy.

Notre Dame was among 100 institutions worldwide cited by the 1996 Templeton Science and Religion Course Program. According to program officials, the content and curricula of award-winning courses varied, but "winning courses must emphasize current developments in the field and give equal weight to both scientific and religious perspectives."

The Science and Religion Program is one of more than 40 similar activities of the Templeton Foundation, established in 1987 by international investment banker Sir John Templeton to encourage the pursuit of scientific and religious knowledge. Templeton received an honorary degree from Notre Dame during the University's 1996 commencement exercises in May.

Notre Dame - Vanderbilt

Tickets Available 1-800-852-7771

NOTRE DAME ST. MARY'S EQUESTRIAN CLUB
Organizational Meeting

Date Thursday September 5, 1996
Location Hesburgh Library Auditorium
Time 7:00 PM
Beginners -- Intermediate -- Expert
All are welcome
Bring Checkbook, and Health Insurance Info
We Need Riders to Be champions of the Region and the Nation!!!

Attention SENIORS interested in the Rhodes and Marshall Scholarships

Professor Walter F. Pratt, Jr. will have a final meeting to inform you of deadline dates and the application process on Tuesday, September 3, 1996

7:00 p.m.
101 Law School

If you are unable to attend this meeting, a sheet of information may be obtained in 102-B O'Shaughnessy Hall after the meeting date.
Rochester
continued from page 1
Bookstore is called Corby Drive.
• The drive behind the Main Building is known as Sronn Court, in honor of the University's founder.
• Old Juniper Road, which extends from the Snite Museum to Douglas Road, is called St. Joseph's Drive.
The road connecting St. Joseph's Drive with the area adjacent to Cavanagh and Washington Halls is LaFortune Student Center is named Cavanagh Drive.
• The semicircular road around Notre Dame Stadium is known as Moose Kruse Circle, in honor of the University's longtime athletic director.
The name changes were announced by the University in June.

Saint Mary's Road, beginning opposite the Grotto and running to U.S. 31, will retain its name, as will Old Rome Road between U.S. 31 and the Notre Dame Security Police on campus.

Because of the new stretch of pavement in front of new dorms, the main security gate has moved south to Holy Cross Drive and Notre Dame Avenue, from its prior location near the tan and Alumni Hall.

A pedestrian mall has replaced the section of Dorr Road that previously ran from the Rockne Memorial to the main gate. That mall was created to link the special green areas of Kough and O'Neil halls, and next fall, McGlinn and Welsh Halls - the rest of the campus.

Notre Dame Avenue continues to extend to the circle at its northern end, but access to the campus by car is no longer available at that point. Holy Cross Drive provides the only route along and around campus.

In addition, improvements were made to Notre Dame Avenue, specifically new sidewalks, surfaces, sidewalks, curbing, and new street and sidewalk lighting.

The ceremonial row of trees along the avenue were restored.

More than 400 new trees were planted along the avenue and on South Quad to replace dead and seriously diseased trees that were removed throughout the winter. The new trees include varieties of maple, the operational trees such as crab apples.

The summer's work was the first phase of a restoration project. Two phases, scheduled for next summer, will include improvements to the landscaping on God Quad, as well as additional new tree plantings.

South Quad
continued from page 1
Bar
continued from page 1

ted during a contest at the club last semester. Suggestions for a new name were submitted to the club for an unspecified prize.

Cassidy said the decision whether on whether the change was not definite, although an advertisement ran in The Observer last week with the new name listed and Alumni-Senior Club in parentheses immediately after.

For many students, the changes mean not only more social space but the loss of some social space. "It's gone, smokers often wait until the smoker's lunch as a smoking area was discussed. The option failed, however, because the wedge is often used for catering and student government meeting purposes.

The ceremonial row of trees along the avenue were restored.

More than 400 new trees were planted along the avenue and on South Quad to replace dead and seriously diseased trees that were removed throughout the winter. The new trees include varieties of maple, the operational trees such as crab apples.

The summer's work was the first phase of a restoration project. Two phases, scheduled for next summer, will include improvements to the landscaping on God Quad, as well as additional new tree plantings.

Welcome Back Summer Service Project and NYSP Students
Special thanks to 191 students who worked with programs including homeless shelter, AIDS homes, programs for disadvantaged children and teens, handicapped adults...name a few. Your projects were appreciated from coast to coast (+ Puerto Rico and Dominican Republic) and Notre Dame campus.

You are wonderful ambassadors of the University of Notre Dame!
Movin' on up...to a deluxe apartment off campus

Helpful tips from off-campus senior to Administration

As is the case with about half the members of my class, I am no longer a resident of the Notre Dame campus. Given that the four-year residence hall community lies at the foundation of the modern Notre Dame experience, the mass exodus of upperclassmen to the apartment complexes that grace the Notre Dame campus is a challenging and increasingly important issue. Whereas I’ve decided to put my money where my mouth has been and leave the dorms, I’d like to go ahead and offer a sort of “report from the front” of off-campus living.

Notre Dame has been for generations a residential and practically self-contained campus. During my own freshman year, the South Bend or Mishawaka were at best a monthly affair and I have many friends who still don’t have any idea of the geographic layout of the surrounding community. But now we are not members of an island, and the trend in recent years for an ever greater percentage of the junior and senior classes to seek non-University housing shows no sign of abating. The simple reality of the situation here at ND is that moving off campus is gradually becoming the normal and expected course of action for seniors.

Given this, the University is faced with two clear paths: A) make the necessary adjustments—most notably introducing the option of co-ed living for juniors and seniors—to the current residence hall system or B) accept and make provisions for the transformation of Notre Dame from a purely residential campus into one in which the majority of upperclassmen are housed in off-campus residences.

I have, along with many other students and faculty, argued at length for almost the entirety of the senior class as part of the residential campus community.

Needless to say, I find this to be an unfortunate and short-sighted decision, but to continue to editorialize against it seems pointless—almost the journalistic equivalent of beating my head against the cinder block wall of an ND dorm room. So I’d like to try to shift this debate away from co-residentiality and disciplinary reform and onto the more pragmatic subject of how our University can better accommodate and cooperate with its ever-growing off campus population. For example, the streets that surround the campus are poorly lighted, narrow and often lack sidewalks. Since members of the University community—both faculty, staff and O.C. students—are the primary users of this infrastructure ND should lobby for and possibly fund their improvement.

Cooperation between the South Bend Police Department and the Notre Dame Security Police already exists but must be improved as student residences become more and more scattered throughout the area around campus. By way of example, the University of Chicago operates the world’s second largest private police force (behind only, I’m told, the Pope’s Swiss Guard) which works intimately with the Chicago PD to insure the security of UC’s perimeter and of its off-campus students. Go to any intersection in Hyde Park and see how long it takes before a UC police cruiser glides by—I’d like to see the same sort of ND police presence along our campus borders and in areas frequented by students.

South Bend’s public transportation system does not adequately serve the needs of the Notre Dame community, either on or off campus. The University should offer to help fund new bus routes that would allow easier access to and from campus. Given the harsh nature of this region’s climate, such a move is almost inevitable.

Off-campus students are now required to park in the immediate south of the JACC. I realize that parking is already at a premium at Notre Dame, but this seems an unreasonably distant lot to be exiled to. The construction of a multi-level parking garage that could serve the needs of all those affected by the current parking crunch—faculty, staff and students alike—should be undertaken as a practical priority. These are just a few humble suggestions as to how ND might better serve its off campus population. I’m sure I’ll come up with a few more as the year goes on.

---

Cracking Down on Drug Dealers

The University needs to remember that those of us who have chosen to leave the dorms in favor of a more realistic and adult lifestyle are still members of this community. At a minimum, we’re still paying a lot of money for our educations and it’s simply good business to take care of your customers.

---

Winter of My Discontent

Christopher Kratovil a senior living off campus this semester. He can be reached on email at Kratovil.1@nd.edu.
Welcome back, Days fans! We're absolutely positive you were all glued to your television screens throughout the summer, and tuned in for your daily doses of Salem's finest. But just in case you did run out of Elmer's, we'll give you the lowdown on the events of Summer '96.

The first half of the summer saw the schemes of Sami and Lucas exposed by a determined Victor. Bo and Katie spent the summer madly in love, again... until Franco appeared on the scene. John reclaimed Marlena, and set new opening-week records. Another record it is... and one conspicuously absent from the lineup that we have been following. "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which debuted in the first weekend, is managed to be the most forgettable movie event of Summer '96. I, too, was underwhelmed by the black and white section of "The Greatest Days of Our Lives," which was supposedly a miniseries. In my case both, you tell me.

Focus on the movie event that we may have missed. "The First Monday in May" starring Helen Hunt (she didn't blow me away), Sigourney (she didn't blow me away), and Vanessa Redgrave (she didn't blow me away) included Brian Smith and Jeff Goldblum talking science, rather than the good excuse to blow things up. This time, however, it was a case of "The Disaster in a Factory" which was more like a Destruct in Five Minutes. This time, however, it was a case of "True to the Dimera Tradition." It was a case of "True to the Dimera Tradition."

The confrontation threw Carrie back into Capt. Gideon Austin's arms, while setting Kate and Lucas at odds with each other. In the "I can do it faster than Judge Wagner" custody battle which ensued, Sami won the cherished soap opera right to neglect her child. (By the way, who takes care of Belle, Brady, Abby, and Sean D., anyway?) Sami then took Will and moved into a rundown apartment in yet another attempt to win Austin's love through his pity. She didn't do it.

Kate was so overwhelmed with joy over the reunion of Carrie and Austin that she temporarily forgot her own twisted troubles, involving a bedridden Victor and a seriously delusional Vivian. The love triangle woes continued as Marlena discovered Kristen's attempts to destroy John's charm with that charming little laddie, Victor. Will Marlena threatening to tell John everything, Kristen joined forces with Stefano in an elaborate kidnap plot. Whisked away to Paris in a classic Disney fantasy-land setting, the couple was held hostage in an exchange for our freedom. We're sure that Stefano, being an upstanding man of his word, would have kept his end of the bargain if given the chance. But the buck then turned to Stefano's "we have to do it faster than halfway around the world" friends, who with Rachel's help, found the Parisian hideout.

An extravagant masquerade trial followed as John was sentenced to die one more time. This time, however, it was death by guillotine. Vivian and Ivan popped in for a surprise visit, and Ivan happened to witness the proceedings. In the course of the trial, Stefano escaped with Marlena, but was followed by the ever-Ready John. Rachel reclaimed Marlena while Rachel confided Stefano at gunpoint. In a self-sacrificing act, Stefano shot Stefano in exchange for our freedom. We're sure that Stefano, being an upstanding man of his word, would have kept his end of the bargain if given the chance. But the buck then turned to Stefano's "we have to do it faster than halfway around the world" friends, who with Rachel's help, found the Parisian hideout.

A whirlwind of premarital bliss, Carrie and Austin decided to conveniently join the rest of the cast in Paris. By being the dedicated journalists we've been convinced Days to pay for OUR tickets to Paris, too. Rumor has it that money's not the only thing out there in Salem. Queen Penelope Celeste jumped on the Paris bandwagon so she could tell Carrie about her vision of Austin marrying another woman. Convinced that DOOM was in their future, Carrie talked Austin into running away to a remote country inn that they couldn't be found until their marriage license was acquired.

Mother Teresa Marlena promised Kristen that she wouldn't tell John about Kristen's scheming until after the baby was born. Fortunately, Kristen's attempts to steal John's attention from Marlena led to a denial of blood, Kristen threatened her doctor in order to keep the secret from John. The Day's smutty doctor, however, put a wrench in that plan, simply saying, "John, you can't refrain from sexual relations until after the birth. That'll make it hard to pass the pregnancy test again, won't it?" We've gotten a glimpse of the future, and it seems like things won't be so easy for John if he can't refrain from sexual relations. Maybe the last movie event of the summer could be likened to "Strip-tease." And we mean all of her - or at least at Catching this fall. Surprised? I still am. Maybe the administration just likes Burt Reynolds.

There you go - the summer events summary. We hope you enjoyed this group that will be. Happy viewing!
Panthers pounce in premiere; Johnson's debut a success in Miami

Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — When you're throwing a coming-out party for the NFL's newest stadium, it helps to invite one of the league's worst defenses.

Kerry Collins threw for 198 yards and two touchdowns Sunday as the Carolina Panthers open Ericsson Stadium with a 32-10 victory over Atlanta — the highest-scoring day in the franchise's 17-game history. John Kasay added five field goals.

Collins, the 32-year-old 29th-ranked quarterback as a rookie last season, was solid in an unexpectable Sunday, completing 17 of 31 passes. But that was good enough against a Falcons unit that was the worst in the league in 1995. They finished the past two years ranked 29th in overall defense.

Collins kicked field goals from 32, 53, 38 and 42 yards and Carolina used almost constant blitzing to help Jeff George and the NFL's only run-and-shoot offense. The Panthers sacked George seven times and frequently fumbled him from the pocket. Collared by the crowd to its feet at the Panthers' new facility in downtown Charlotte.

The Panthers, who played their 15th season in Clemson, S.C., sold 72,685 tickets for their inaugural regular-season contest in Ericsson Stadium. There were 3,163 no-shows.

George wound up with 215 yards and 16-35 passing. He had 107 of those yards in the first half, when the Panthers built a 14-7 lead. Morton Andersen, in his 15th season, said he tried not to let his mended shoulder come down, "but he played the ball pretty good."

Once the Panthers answered with Andersen's first goal, both teams ran out of field goals. Andersen, in his 15th season, tied George's seven sacks.

Carolina set the tone immediately by taking the opening kick and going 64 yards in eight plays. Halfback Tshimanga Biakabutuka, Carolina's first-round draft choice, had 23 of his 69 yards rushing on the drive. Collins, who completed all four of his passes on the drive, led Mark Carrier on a short crossing pattern for a 12-yard score.

The Falcons answered with Andersen's first goal, but the Panthers answered.

Collins directed a 65-yard drive late in the half by completing four of five passes for 45 yards. He found tight end Wesley Walls alone in the left corner of the end zone for a 1-yard TD that made it 20-6, capping the highest-scoring half in the Panthers' brief history.

JOHNSON'S DEBUT A SUCCESS IN MIAMI

Associated Press

MIA MIAMI Dolphins	Jimmy Johnson said the Miami Dolphins would succeed this season by running the ball and relying on rookies.

So far he's right.

The Dolphins were both good and lucky Sunday in the first game under their new coach, dominating time of possession and scoring twice on fumble recoveries to beat the New England Patriots 24-10.

Several of Johnson's rookilies had big days. Karim Abdul-Jabbar rushed for 115 yards in 26 carries, fullback Stanley Pitts caught six passes and blocked well, and middle linebacker Zach Thomas had nine tackles and a sack.

But the biggest Dolphins debut was made by Johnson, coaching his first game since leading the Dallas Cowboys to the 1994 Super Bowl title.

"It was a good way to start," Johnson said. "I got a little ner­vous Saturday night and today. Every time I turned on the TV I would read the paper, everybody was picking New England. Nobody was picking Miami. It was a little different feeling." For New England, the loss followed encouraging victories in the final three preseason games.

"We were the unbeatable Patriots," linebacker Chris Slade said. "Now we're the bad Patriots."

The opener drew a sellout crowd of 71,542. Former coach Don Shula declined to attend, making it the first Miami game he has missed since 1969.

Johnson is injuries tight end Stanley Hill and receiver Scott Miller scored when they recovered fumbles to go for six.

The loss spoiled the NFL coaching debut of Vince Tobin, 35, said of his defense against the Patriots. "Now we're the bad Patriots."

The drawer a sellout crowd of 71,542. Former coach Don Shula declined to attend, making it the first Miami game he has missed since 1969.

Johnson is injuries tight end Stanley Hill and receiver Scott Miller scored when they recovered fumbles to go for six.

The loss spoiled the NFL coaching debut of Vince Tobin, 35, said of his defense against the Patriots. "Now we're the bad Patriots."

The drawer a sellout crowd of 71,542. Former coach Don Shula declined to attend, making it the first Miami game he has missed since 1969.

Johnson is injuries tight end Stanley Hill and receiver Scott Miller scored when they recovered fumbles to go for six.

The loss spoiled the NFL coaching debut of Vince Tobin, 35, said of his defense against the Patriots. "Now we're the bad Patriots."

The drawer a sellout crowd of 71,542. Former coach Don Shula declined to attend, making it the first Miami game he has missed since 1969.
Welcome Back Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Students

BECOME A CATHOLIC
Sacred Heart Parish
University of Notre Dame

Offers
R.C.I.A. with:
* Parish setting on ND campus
* Wednesday evening sessions
* Alternative to Campus Ministry RCA

Call Chris Miller at 631-7508

Ravens' debut a smash

Jaguars surprise, Eagles eke by Redskins 17-14

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press

Baltimore

Even the brilliant Johnny Unitas couldn't have done what journeyman Vinny Testaverde did as the NFL returned to Baltimore on Sunday.

Testaverde ran 9 yards for one touchdown and scrambled 12 yards to set up the winning score as the Baltimore Ravens began life outside Cleveland with a 19-14 win over the Oakland Raiders, the team that opened the NFL's franchise
free agency era.

Sam's

The win by the Ravens was the crowning moment of a day of celebration welcoming the NFL back to Baltimore 13 seas-tons after the Colts left for Indianapolis. The crowd was ercous all day, and at one point, the stadium's fourth quarter, ref-cree Darrel Hamer had to improve the people running the public address system to stop playing music while the Raiders were huddling.

But until Testaverde guided an 82-yard, eight-play drive that led to Earnest Byner's 1-yard touchdown run with 13 seconds left, there was little to cheer about for the Municipal Stadium crowd of 64,124,
the largest in Baltimore football history.

In fact, the loudest noise was reserved for Units, the brilliant but relatively immobile quarterback who led the Colts in the glory years of the '50s and '60s. He was introduced as a "special mystery guest" after three dozen former Colts had run onto the field.

For most of the game, the Baltimore offense was stymied by an Oakland defense that sacked Testaverde three times and had him under constant pressure, mostly by Antwone Smith, Pat Swilling and Audry Bruce.

After Testaverde scrambled in for the first touchdown in Ravens' history at the end of an 85-yard drive, the Ravens offense largely shut down.

Billy Joe Hobert, subbing for the injured Jeff Hostetler, completed TD passes of 7 and 16 yards to Tim Brown to give
Oakland a 14-7 halftime lead

Jacksonville 24

Pittsburgh 9

Pittsburgh coach Bill Cowher had a gut feeling about starting Jim Miller at quarterback. It looked more like a bad guess against the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Mark Brunell ran a conservative but efficient offense
Sunday, throwing two touchdown passes and completing eight of 13 passes on thirddown situations, leading Jaguars to a 24-9 victory over the Steelers.

The Jaguars put the game away with a touchdown pass from Brunell to Kevin Hardy, the No. 2 pick in the draft, stepped in front of Mike Tomlin for an interception. James Stewart scored on a 1-yard run for a 24-9 lead with 4:49 remaining.

Miller, a third-year pro who had played in the past, won the quarterback derby over Kevin Stallworth and 11-year veteran Tomczak. Miller completed only three passes longer than 10 yards against three-third-down situations, he completed only one pass - an 8-yarder to Stewart.

He finished 9-for-17 for 83 yards.

Stewart wasn't effective, either. The Jaguars recovered two of his four runs after he,
and missed badly on his two pass attempts.

Philadelphia 17

Washington 14

Rodney Peete, overcoming a grumpy knee and three turnovers that kept it close,
used his full arsenal of offensive weapons against the Washington Redskins.

Peete, playing with a brace on the sprained left knee he injured two weeks ago, threw for 269 yards and two touchdowns in the Philadelphia
Eagles' 17-14 victory Sunday, their eighth consecutive win over their NFC East rivals.

The backfield and Peete slowed by injury, the Eagles
(1-0) were expected to drive the ball at the Redskins' untested defensive line. Instead, Peete (20-for-34) picked the secondary apart in the first half, completing passes to nine dif-
f erent receivers who were left wide open.

The Observer • SPORTS

Ravens' debut a smash

Jaguars surprise, Eagles eke by Redskins 17-14

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press
Hole-in-one for Woods
Associated Press

Tiger Woods, playing in his first PGA Tour event as a professional, knocked one in the hole Sunday in the final round of the Greater Milwaukee Open. Woods selected a 6-iron on the 188-yard, par-3 14th. Woods wiped his hat and handed it to live playing partner Joe Daley as the crowd, lining the hole from tee to green, went wild.

Woods pulled the ball out of the hole to whistles and cheers and threw it into the crowd.

The hole-in-one gave Woods his second eagle of the day and he finished under-par through 14 holes.

The 20-year-old U.S. Amateur Amateur's champion marked a turnaround from Saturday's third round, when he shot a 2-over-par 73 to bring in the second-highest score of the day.

Jackson emerges as Buckeyes' new QB
Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio Ohio State football coach John Cooper has decided junior Stanley Jackson will be his starting quarterback in this week's opener.

Jackson saw limited action last year as the No. 2 signal-caller behind Bob Hoyer, who was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles.

In eight games, Jackson completed 16 of 22 passes for 202 yards and two touchdowns.

"Stan has had a good fall camp and has earned the starting job," Cooper said.

"He now has a much better understanding of what it takes to be the No. 1 quarterback and what we expect of him in terms of running this team. I am confident that he is ready." Jackson, 6-foot-1, 203-pounds from Patterson, N.J., beat out sophomore Joe Germano, who was redshirted last year.

Mark Garcia had arthroscopic surgery on his left knee on Aug. 20 and will miss the entire season.

Ohio State opens its season Saturday at home against Rice.

Sampras sails
By STEVE WILSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK Wherever Pete Sampras goes, Mark Philippoussis follows, stalking him with menacing serves, threatening to grab a Grand Slam title himself one day and usurp the No. 1 spot.

On Sunday at the U.S. Open, they blew past their opponents to set up Sampras vs. Philippoussis IV, a sequel with the handle as if it were a baseball bat.

"We try to hit the ball with the handle as if it were a baseball bat. Pioline fould-tipped the ball and lost the set.

Sampras and Philippoussis have played three times in Grand Slam events in the past year: Sampras won here a year ago in a tough, four-setter; Philippoussis blew him in straight sets on the grass at Wimbledon.

"Some guys are always in your quarter or half. He's one of them," Sampras said. "He's dangerous. He's got a big game. He proved that in Australia. Got back at him at Wimbledon."

Sampras sails
By STEVE WILSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK Wherever Pete Sampras goes, Mark Philippoussis follows, stalking him with menacing serves, threatening to grab a Grand Slam title himself one day and usurp the No. 1 spot.

On Sunday at the U.S. Open, they blew past their opponents to set up Sampras vs. Philippoussis IV, a sequel with the handle as if it were a baseball bat.

"We try to hit the ball with the handle as if it were a baseball bat. Pioline fould-tipped the ball and lost the set.

Sampras and Philippoussis have played three times in Grand Slam events in the past year: Sampras won here a year ago in a tough, four-setter; Philippoussis blew him in straight sets on the grass at Wimbledon. The next meeting will be Tuesday.

"Some guys are always in your quarter or half. He's one of them," Sampras said. "He's dangerous. He's got a big game. He proved that in Australia. Got back at him at Wimbledon."

Soccer

continued from page 12

the first game, playing on the road at a small field, there were some real positives.

The biggest positives for the coach were the shutout for the defense, and the fact that it was an away win.

Senior midfielder Chris Mathis also acknowledged the importance of the conference road victory.

"We had no Big East road wins last year," explained Mathis. "We need to win those games (this year)."

Mathis and fellow midfielder Tony Capasso took the early initiative in Saturday's matchup. Mathis, the left midfielder, recorded the first Irish goal for the second straight year on a cross from Capasso.

The play developed when Capasso stole the ball from one of the Friars in midfield. After executing a wall pass with junior Bill Savarino, Capasso delivered what Berticelli called "a great ball" to the foot of Mathis, who beat Providence goalkeeper Daniel Fries with a strong shot to the near side of the goal. The score came 14:48 into the game.

"We really started well," commented Mathis. "We could have walked away with a much larger margin.

Capasso in Saturday's play. "For the first twenty minutes we were all over them," said Capasso.

A few minutes after the goal was scored, the Irish appeared to let up on the pressure. The remainder of the first half was the only period of time during which Providence was able to gain any level of momentum.

In the second half, the midfielders and defenders slammed the door on the Friars. Providence managed just one shot on goal in the second half and was outshot 11-5 in the contest.

"In the second half we came out strong," said Mathis. "We kept them at bay and they never really had a big chance."

The defensive performance of the team can be credited somewhat to the play of fresh- men defenders Alan Woods and Matt McNew, with the veter­an leadership of senior defender Brian Engesser.

Mathis commended his younger teammates.

"Alan Woods is a tremen­dous talent," said Mathis, "and Matt McNew did very well. His height helps us out a lot."

In summarizing his thoughts on the game Berticelli stated, "Certainly this was a very big win for us. Every conference game is critical."

The coach stressed the fact, however, that the season is still young.

"We will continue to show improvement," said Berticelli, "but we're going to make mis­takes. If you can survive mis­takes and still win, it bodes well for the future, when hope­fully you can eliminate those mistakes."

The Irish will look for that continued improvement against regional rival Northwestern in the home opener. The game is tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. on Alumni Field.

Celebrate a friend's birthday with a special Observer ad

For more info, call RecSports at 1-800-

Friday:
Open 2:00 pm
(Free Munchies)

Saturday:
Open 8:00 pm - 3:00 am
Stomper Bob
HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Your desire to be adventurous will soar. Devise more attention to your mate or you want romance to be mutually satisfying. Your drive and independence will make you successful in almost any profession. Creativity and profits are intertwined. Offer a service to one so that you provide. The family will expand early in 1997. Welcome a newcomer with a heart. Adulthood of all types enjoy highly favorable influences.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DAY: tracey great Emmy Co-Owner action Keena Reeves, singer Rosalind Ashford, defense attorney Robert Shapiro.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A family get together that includes a few friends or neighbors will prove especially fun. Share the preparations and clean-up chores. Those driving to a park or picnic ground should get an early start.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A barbecue or softball game helps bridge a generation gap. Eat and exercise is moderation. Romance may seek you out this week. Show your confident, businesslike side.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Make this a happy day for children. Fun family activities will end their summer on an upbeat note. Certain household chores can no longer be postponed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A parent will be impressed by your status maintaining. Proper food and advance for a buffet supper. Colorful plates and place settings are fun for outdoor dining. A light lunch July 24 will put your best foot forward today. A romantic relationship will deepen in time. Be considerate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A company picnic will be the topic you are on your best behavior. Wear a light summer suit and go easy if alcohol is served. Share in the clean-up chores without wanting to be asked.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Water sports may hold special interest today. Do not swim alone. A light lunch at a beach or pool, take along something to read. A telephone call to join in today's activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accept or extend a last-minute invitation. A small gathering will be more fun than a large one. A new comer's overtures may draw closer together. A "labor-free" weekend awaits.

PIECES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): A large family barbecue should bring welcome news. Prepare early to avoid traffic snarls. A telephonic call to join in today's activities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A barbecue or softball game helps bridge a generation gap. Eat and exercise is moderation. Romance may seek you out this week. Show your confident, businesslike side.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Make this a happy day for children. Fun family activities will end their summer on an upbeat note. Certain household chores can no longer be postponed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A parent will be impressed by your status maintaining. Proper food and advance for a buffet supper. Colorful plates and place settings are fun for outdoor dining. A light lunch July 24 will put your best foot forward today. A romantic relationship will deepen in time. Be considerate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A company picnic will be the topic you are on your best behavior. Wear a light summer suit and go easy if alcohol is served. Share in the clean-up chores without wanting to be asked.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Water sports may hold special interest today. Do not swim alone. A light lunch at a beach or pool, take along something to read. A telephone call to join in today's activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accept or extend a last-minute invitation. A small gathering will be more fun than a large one. A new comer's overtures may draw closer together. A "labor-free" weekend awaits.

PIECES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): A large family barbecue should bring welcome news. Prepare early to avoid traffic snarls. A telephonic call to join in today's activities.

Answer to previous puzzle:

ACROSS
1. Texas shrine
2. Better half
3. Knife
4. Start of a message on a 50-Axis
5. Narrow wood piece
6. Antarctic
7. Frozen
8. Heart, e.g.
9. Color ingredients
10. Perspire
11. Quit a relationship
12. Barber's motion
13. With
14. A comparison of potatoes
15. Magic trick
16. Perfumed
17. Knacks
18. Visitor to Kubla Khan
19. Male and others: Abbri
20. Recapture
21. Take off the topper
22. Plus and ten, e.g.
23. Lincoln's
24. Has an
25. Caddie's offering
26. Stadium cheers
27. Carrier to Tel.
28. Coffee, in slang
29. "How sweet
30. Barbie's brea
31. Lots
32. Exchanges
33. Aviator Post
34. City on the Ruhr
35. "I am the head"
36. Group of bees
37. Watchers over
38. Norway's capital
39. Salt capital
40. Steak
41. Country Chad
42. Chili
43. Steak
44. Country Chad
45. Tire
46. Exchanges
47. Avatar Post
48. City on the Ruhr
49. "I am the head"
50. Group of bees
51. Watches over

DOWN
6. Orange waste
7. Cooking fat
8. More logical
9. "Auld Lang
10. Principle of (electricity)
11. Make
12. Barber's motion
13. Desert stream
14. With
15. Comparison of potatoes
16. Magic trick
17. Perfumed
18. Knacks
19. Visitor to Kubla Khan
20. Male and others: Abbri
21. Recapture
22. Take off the topper
23. Plus and ten, e.g.
24. Lincoln's
25. Has an
26. Caddie's offering
27. Stadium cheers
28. Carrier to Tel.
29. Coffee, in slang
30. "How sweet
31. Lots
32. Exchanges
33. Aviator Post
34. City on the Ruhr
35. "I am the head"
36. Group of bees
37. Watchers over

Solutions:

ACROSS
1. Texas shrine
2. Better half
3. Knife
4. Start of a message on a 50-Axis
5. Narrow wood piece
6. Antarctic
7. Frozen
8. Heart, e.g.
9. Color ingredients
10. Perspire
11. Quit a relationship
12. Barber's motion
13. With
14. A comparison of potatoes
15. Magic trick
16. Perfumed
17. Knacks
18. Visitor to Kubla Khan
19. Male and others: Abbri
20. Recapture
21. Take off the topper
22. Plus and ten, e.g.
23. Lincoln's
24. Has an
25. Caddie's offering
26. Stadium cheers
27. Carrier to Tel.
28. Coffee, in slang
29. "How sweet
30. Barbie's brea
31. Lots
32. Exchanges
33. Aviator Post
34. City on the Ruhr
35. "I am the head"
36. Group of bees
37. Watchers over

DOWN
6. Orange waste
7. Cooking fat
8. More logical
9. "Auld Lang
10. Principle of (electricity)
11. Make
12. Barber's motion
13. Desert stream
14. With
15. Comparison of potatoes
16. Magic trick
17. Perfumed
18. Knacks
19. Visitor to Kubla Khan
20. Male and others: Abbri
21. Recapture
22. Take off the topper
23. Plus and ten, e.g.
24. Lincoln's
25. Has an
26. Caddie's offering
27. Stadium cheers
28. Carrier to Tel.
29. Coffee, in slang
30. "How sweet
31. Lots
32. Exchanges
33. Aviator Post
34. City on the Ruhr
35. "I am the head"
36. Group of bees
37. Watchers over

Solutions:
Shamrock roll

Jaime Lee handles first test as setter

By JOE CAVATO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame volleyball team had a productive weekend as they cruised through the Shamrock classic without losing a game. The sixth ranked Irish gut three matches under their belts before this Wednesday's challenge when the second ranked Stanford Cardinal visit the jACC.

The experience was much needed as junior Jaime Lee saw her first action at setter in match play. Carey May, the usual setter, was forced to watch from the sidelines with a dislocated shoulder. Lee racked up 102 assists as the Irish swept through the tournament field of Central Florida, South Carolina 15-8, 15-4, 15-8, and Toledo 15-9, 15-7, 15-9. The tournament MVP added 15 digs, six kills, four blocks, and four aces as she grew more confident at the key setter position.

"I think Lee did a great job and made good choices," head coach Debbie Brown praised. "She doesn't make spectacular plays but she is just very solid, which is what we need at setter." "I felt a little nervous because I have not played setter before," Lee expressed after Friday's match. "But, we have practiced enough so I felt confident. Also, our hitters are so good that I don't have to be perfect, I can just put it up there and they will take care of it.

Lee's teammates also grew more comfortable with the new setter. "She played great and is working really hard. You never know what is going to happen so we needed a backup setter," senior captain and all-tournament selection Jenny Birkner evaluated.

Freshman middle blocker Mary Leffers, also an all-tournament selection, marveled at what Lee has been able to do. "Jaime is doing an incredible job. I don't think any other player on the team could do what she has done. She has also had to deal with a lot of pressure because the setter is the core of the team."

During Friday's match against Central Florida, the Irish suffered another setback. Senior Kristina Ervin, Lee's replacement at outside hitter, sustained a "moderate ankle sprain" and is out for an indefinite period of time.

Senior Jennifer Briggs was thrown into the starting rotation and filled in nicely as she totaled twelve kills in her two starts on Saturday.

"Of course we are going to miss Brigg's hitting," Birkner evaluated. "She is a great player. She is the one who usually carried the offensive load, but we have a lot of pressure on Jaime right now. We have to be ready to make the quick change."

Midfielder Konstantin Koloskov fought through Friar defenders in the 1-0 victory.

Providence provides first road win of Big East season

By BRIAN REINTHALER
Sports Writer

Any coach will tell you that it is important for his or her team to get off to a strong start. But never has that statement been more true than it is this year for coach Mike Berticelli and the men's soccer team. Heading into last Saturday's season opener at Providence, the Irish could not afford to drop their first game to a team ranked last once again in this year's preseason poll.

Some teams might have felt a great deal of pressure in such a situation, especially following a season in which many felt that the squad had underachieved. However, the Blue and Gold rose to the occasion with a 1-0 victory and dominated a much improved Friar team throughout the contest.

"Overall, it's a very good start for us," said Berticelli. "We felt that for sure, this is going to be a good season for us."

Jenny Birkner contributed to the defense with timely digs.

Football
at Vanderbilt, September 5, 7:30 p.m.

Women's Soccer
vs. Wisconsin, September 6, 7:30 p.m.

Men's Soccer
vs. Northwestern, September 3, 7:30 p.m.
Volleyball
vs. Stanford, September 4, 7:00 p.m.
SMC Soccer
vs. Manchester, September 3

Tiger Woods wows with ace

Ravens make history

Jimmy Johnson returns to Miami

Tiger Woods wows with ace

Ravens make history

Jimmy Johnson returns to Miami

Tiger Woods wows with ace

Ravens make history

Jimmy Johnson returns to Miami

Tiger Woods wows with ace

Ravens make history

Jimmy Johnson returns to Miami