By RANJAN ROY
Assistant Photo Writer

CALCUTTA, India

Barefoot paupers, movie stars and government leaders wept and prayed beside Mother Teresa's body Sunday, paying their respects to a woman who embraced both the poor and the powerful.

The Nobel laureate and nun lay in state at one of Calcutta's oldest and largest Catholic churches, in a fashionable neighborhood that contrasted with the slums where she toiled during life.

"Mother Teresa, we will always love you," read a handwritten poster hanging from the neck of one grieving child.

Mother Teresa, who died of a heart attack Friday night, lay under a glass case on a platform draped in the white and blue colors of her Missionaries of Charity order, her hands folded across her chest.

Mourners, including barefoot paupers, government leaders, a former beauty queen and an Indian musician, filed quickly through the church, stopping for just a few moments before the body.

The University of Notre Dame honored Mother Teresa in 1993 with its Notre Dame Award for humanitarian service, presented annually to persons "within and without the Catholic Church, citizens of every nation, whose religious faith has quickened learning, whose learning has endangered deeds, and whose deeds give witness to God's Kingdom among us."

Mother Teresa's funeral Saturday will be held in the 10,000-seat stadium where Pope John Paul II addressed the faithful during his 1986 visit to India, a spokesman for Calcula Archbishop Henry d'Souza, and without the Catholic Church, citizens of every nation, whose religious faith has quickened learning, whose learning has endangered deeds, and whose deeds give witness to God's Kingdom among us."

Prime Minister I.K. Gujral, who visited St. Thomas Church where Mother Teresa's body lies Sunday, said that just as India had Mohandas Gandhi to lead the fight against poverty, summer, and injustice in the first half of the century, so it had Mother Teresa to carry on that fight in the latter half.

Gujral has called for a state funeral, meaning Mother Teresa will be given the full military honors normally reserved for heads of state. That also makes it likely that presidents and prime ministers from around the world will attend.

Mother Teresa, who died on Friday from a heart attack at the age of 87, received the Notre Dame Award for humanitarian service in 1993.

McGlinn Hall impresses dedication attendees

Observer Staff Report

Two weeks after its first generation of residents moved in, McGlinn Hall was dedicated in a ceremony last Friday with McGlinn family members, their guests and hall residents in attendance.

"I'm so impressed and proud of everyone's participation," said Sister Kathy Haas, rector of everyone's participation," said Father Edward Malloy, a University alumnus, who oversaw the construction of McGlinn Hall, the University's two-year-old residence hall.

Malloy offered a blessing of the building and prayed beside Mother Teresa's body Sunday, paying their respects to a woman who embraced both the poor and the powerful.

The Nobel laureate and nun lay in state at one of Calcutta's oldest and largest Catholic churches, in a fashionable neighborhood that contrasted with the slums where she toiled during life.

"Mother Teresa, we will always love you," read a handwritten poster hanging from the neck of one grieving child.

Mother Teresa, who died of a heart attack Friday night, lay under a glass case on a platform draped in the white and blue colors of her Missionaries of Charity order, her hands folded across her chest.

Mourners, including barefoot paupers, government leaders, a former beauty queen and an Indian musician, filed quickly through the church, stopping for just a few moments before the body.

The University of Notre Dame honored Mother Teresa in 1993 with its Notre Dame Award for humanitarian service, presented annually to persons "within and without the Catholic Church, citizens of every nation, whose religious faith has quickened learning, whose learning has endangered deeds, and whose deeds give witness to God's Kingdom among us."

Mother Teresa's funeral Saturday will be held in the 10,000-seat stadium where Pope John Paul II addressed the faithful during his 1986 visit to India, a spokesman for Calcula Archbishop Henry d'Souza, and without the Catholic Church, citizens of every nation, whose religious faith has quickened learning, whose learning has endangered deeds, and whose deeds give witness to God's Kingdom among us."

Prime Minister I.K. Gujral, who visited St. Thomas Church where Mother Teresa's body lies Sunday, said that just as India had Mohandas Gandhi to lead the fight against poverty, summer, and injustice in the first half of the century, so it had Mother Teresa to carry on that fight in the latter half.

Gujral has called for a state funeral, meaning Mother Teresa will be given the full military honors normally reserved for heads of state. That also makes it likely that presidents and prime ministers from around the world will attend.

Father Ambrose, said Sunday, Members of the Missionaries of Charity said Mother Teresa would be buried in the courtyard of the order's headquarters, on the edge of a Calcutta slum.

By RANJAN ROY

Associated Press Writer

McGlinn Hall impresses dedication attendees

Observer Staff Report

Two weeks after its first generation of residents moved in, McGlinn Hall was dedicated in a ceremony last Friday with McGlinn family members, their guests and hall residents in attendance.

"I'm so impressed and proud of everyone's participation," said Sister Kathy Haas, rector of McGlinn. The celebration began with Mass in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart, with several Notre Dame graduates of the McGlinn family participating. Homilist Father Edward Malloy emphasized the responsibility of hall residents to develop new traditions and to celebrate the institution of another Notre Dame community dedicated to the service of God.

Following the Mass, guests proceeded to the hall, where University President Father Edward Malloy offered a blessing of the building and its present and future staff and residents.

The guests, including University officers and administrators, then toured the building with student guides.

"I'm really impressed with the way the women of McGlinn have fixed up their rooms. The guests are really intrigued. Many other dorms don't have quite as impressive a set-up," Malloy said.

After the tours, guests and residents posed for a group photo in front of the building. A reception on the hall's lawn followed, and residents were given the chance to mingle with the McGlinn family.

"They were the greatest people. They were really receptive, and it was cool to see how much they appreciated how much we appreciate them," McGlinn co-president Siobhan O'Brien said.

Benefactor Terry McGlinn spoke to many of the hall's residents, commenting on the great tradition of the University. He noted that he understands that traditions must be upheld but that change can be beneficial.

"I think it's wonderful... Everyone wants to see progress without change, but I think this is a great change," he said.

McGlinn, a University alumnus, established McGlinn Capital, a small investment management firm in 1969. Today it is a fully-owned subsidiary of Corrêdores Financial Corporation, a $48 billion bank holding company.

He was elected in 1994 to the Notre Dame Board of Trustees where he provides financial insight as vice president of the finance and endowment committee.

Prior to that position, he served for 13 years on the Advisory Council for the College of Business Administration.

In addition to underwriting the construction of McGlinn Hall, the McGlinns were among the five principle benefactors of the University's two-year-old College of Business Administration complex.

Research for this story was compiled by Ann Marie Mastinelli. Michelle Krupa contributed to this report.

See MOTHER / page 6
The the Qover and gay and lesbian student rights has been a prominent issue at Notre Dame for years. This is one of the reasons that the Student Senate and Campus Life Council we have been focusing on this issue confronting this university. Our goal is to work together to ensure that all students are treated with dignity and respect.

For more information on the issue of inclusion, please contact the Office of Student Life at 574-631-2000.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

TODAY'S STAFF

- News
  - Sarah Fein
  - Sean Smith
  - Brandan Williams

- Sports
  - Kevin Kirby
  - Sarah Hiltz

- Viewpoint
  - Colleen Gaughen

- Accent
  - Jon Wils

The Observer (ISSN 1931-3400) is published Monday through Friday during most semesters and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Israel arrests 100 Palestinians for last week's bombing

Israel has arrested 100 Palestinians in response to a deadly bombing last week that was claimed by the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO). Those arrested are being held by Israeli authorities, who said they were questioned for their role in the attack.

Pavarroni helps Moscowitz celebrate

With fireworks, prayer and Lucy Pavarroni, Moscow celebrated three days of festivities Sunday commemorating its 850th anniversary. As on the previous two days, millions of people gathered in the streets for the city's great festival. The three days of festivities included a parade through the city, a firework show and a cultural event.

New surgery treats heart disease

LINCOLN PARK, Mich.

A woman crippled by heart disease feels like running for the first time in 10 years. Dr. Linda Pavarroni, a rheumatologist, performed a minimally invasive procedure to improve her circulation and allow her to run.

Sinn Fein leader visits prisoners

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.

An Irish republican leader visited three escapees from a Belfast prison awaiting extradition to England before attending a rally to build support for peace talks scheduled for this week. Martin McGuinness — chief negotiator for Sinn Fein, the political wing of the Irish Republican Army — was among the men. Saturday all self-proclaimed Irish nationalists who were among a group that escaped from Belfast's Maze prison in 1983. A federal judge in August agreed to extradite the three — Kevin Barry Art, Pol Brennan and Terrance Kirby — to Britain, saying they were being persecuted because they were Catholic and supported the Nationalist movement.

Pressure for profits forces OBI to quit

The Observer (ISSN 1931-3400) is published Monday through Friday during most semesters and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Students seize White House opportunity

By SARAH J. HILTZ
News Writer

With the help of the White House Intern Program, four Notre Dame students were given the opportunity to spend their summers working for various branches of the U.S. government. According to Carolyn Arroyo, a staff member in the government department, applications for the program are available to any Notre Dame student. Among those students seeking academic credit, however, priority is given to government majors. Emily Pfiffer, who will be studying in Innsbruck this semester, worked reviewing applications of other interns. "You have to consider the money, since you don't get paid and D.C. is an expensive city," said Sandberg. Senior Carole Upp agrees that working a night job while in Washington was a difficult but necessary part of the internship.

"It wasn't much of a vacation, but it was what I had to do in order to go," Upp said. Upp worked in the Women's Initiatives and Outreach Office as a messaging and scheduling coordinator for Clinton's staff and constituencies. A highlight of the job was sitting in on meetings, where she observed discussions about such issues as women's health, domestic violence and abortion. Overall, Upp found the work load of the program to be "very stressful, but worthwhile."

Upp and Sandberg agreed that the application process was rather easy. Two letters of recommendation, one writing sample, and a bit of a mystery as to why they wanted to be interns at the White House, along with a background investigation and drug test conducted by the government which are required to apply. For junior Raam Jazi, the application process was also easy, but he was worried that his age would work against him. "As a sophomore, my resume was pretty much in shambles. The hardest part was getting it to look decent," Jazi said.

Jazi added that Career Placement Services was very helpful in improving the marketability of his resume, handing him an internship in the Schedule and Advance Office. He was asked directly for the director of scheduling correspondence, who is "basically in charge of correspondence to President Clinton's constituency and organizing their scheduling requests," Jazi explained. Jazi said his summer experience was "unbelievable" and a great opportunity for students to decide if they want to pursue a career in government. He emphasized the value of seeing the daily functions of the upper echelons of government, not as an unknowable, ancient institution, but as any other office where business is conducted and decisions are made. "The White House is just a bunch of normal people. They make the same mistakes everyone else makes, and sometimes even more," Jazi said with a laugh.

Normally, the White House conducts two sessions during the summer. Of the last year's Notre Dame interns worked during the first session, from May 14 to July 3. The deadline for applications to next summer's internship program is March 1. Applications can be found in the government office.

Raam Jazi
White House Intern Program Participant

The White House is just a bunch of normal people. They make the same mistakes everyone else makes, and sometimes even more.

TIAA-CREF
Proven Solutions To Last a Lifetime.

We take a lot of pride in gaining high marks from the major rating services. But the fact is, we're equally proud of the ratings we get in the mail every day from our participants. Because at TIAA-CREF, ensuring the financial future of the education and research community is something that goes beyond stars and numbers. So from traditional and variable annuities to life insurance and personal savings plans, you'll find we provide the right choices—and the dedication—to help you achieve a lifetime of financial goals. The rating services back us up. So does Bill.

To receive a free Personal Investing Kit, including charges and expenses, plus our variable annuity prospectus, call us at 1-800-225-0147. Please read them carefully before you invest or send money.

www.tiaa-cref.org

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.

Saint Mary's anticipates Selby visit

By MEGAN MCKEON
News Writer

Indiana Supreme Court Justice Myra Selby will visit Saint Mary's College this afternoon at 4 p.m. The Cultural Commission of the Student Activities Board is sponsoring Justice Selby's appearance. Saint Mary's new president, Marilou Eldred and a representative from the mayor's office, among others, are expected to attend.

"I feel having someone such as Justice Selby, the first female African-American in Indiana's Supreme Court, expresses Saint Mary's women to the unlimited possibilities and achievements they can make in their lives," said student activities board cultural chairwoman Tyus Jackson. Selby will speak to students in the parlor of the Haggar College Center, with a reception immediately following.

Selby was appointed justice to the Indiana Supreme Court in January of 1995. Prior to her appointment, she was the Director of Health Care Policy for the State of Indiana from July to December 1993. She practiced law for 13 years in the law firm of Seyfarth, Fairweather & Geraldson and in the firm of Ice Miller Donahue & Ryan of Indianapolis.

Selby graduated from Kalamazoo College in 1977 with a Bachelor's degree. While at Kalamazoo College she was awarded the Kellogg academic scholarship.

Justice Selby is a 1980 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Law.

She has served on the Indianapolis Ballet Theatre Board of Directors, Indianapolis Museum of Art Board of Directors and Indiana University/Purdue University at Indianapolis Board of Advisors.

Justice Selby serves on the Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society and the National Law Center for Homeless Students. She has served as a member of the Indianapolis Bar Association Ethics Committee, the Indiana State Bar Association Commission on Women in the Legal Profession, Marion County Judicial Study Commission, National Bar Association. She serves as a Faculty Member of the Health Risk Management Certificate Program from MMI Companies.

Please Recycle The Observer.
Halogen lamps threaten dormitory safety nationwide

By HEATHER MACKENZIE
Assistant News Editor

Princeton University students were greeted warmly this year when they returned to school: they were handed light bulbs and $25 vouchers for new fluorescent lamps. The vouchers and bulbs will be as compensation for the old lamps, which university officials told students last year that they would no longer be allowed to use halogen lamps in their dorm rooms because of safety concerns.

"This new plan adopts the solution recommended by a task force of undergraduates, graduates, and administrators," said Princeton vice-president for Finance and Administration, Dick Spies. "Hopefully, the students will be more safe when lighting their rooms.

Halogen lamps have been the source of numerous dorm room fires at colleges across the country; even if properly used, these lighting devices produce a huge amount of concentrated heat. The new 39-watt fluorescent bulbs that Princeton students will be using will, according to the task force's research, produce about the same amount of light as halogen bulbs. Although the fluorescent lamps, ranging from about $25 to $30, are more expensive than the $15 halogen version, the energy needed to light a fluorescent lamp is lower than a halogen.

"Hopefully, the students will be more safe when lighting their rooms."

-- Dick Spies
Princeton University

Wanted: Reporters, photographers and editors.
Join The Observer staff.

University of Notre Dame International Study Program in

ANGERS, FRANCE
1998-99 Academic Year
"Top Ten Reasons You Should Not Go To Angers" With
Professor Paul McDowell

Tuesday, September 9, 1997
7:00pm
Room 313 DeBartolo
Returning Students will be on hand to answer questions

Attention Saint Mary's Class of 2001...

Interested in planning the activities for your class?
Freshman Class Board Elections Coming Soon...
Mandatory Informational Meeting
September 8 & 9 at 7:00 pm
In Haggar Parlor

Be There!

Students:
Don't miss these important meetings planned by the Student Activities Office:

Food Service Training:
"If you plan to run a football concession stand or have food at an event, at least one representative of your organization must attend one of these training sessions"*
Thursday, 9/4 at 5:30 p.m., Foster Room
Wednesday, 9/10 at 5:00 p.m., Montgomery Theatre

Social and SYR Chair Training
Monday, 9/8 at 6:00 p.m., Montgomery Theatre

Vendor Fair
"Meet vendors who have products for your concession stands or fund raisers and the latest in imprinted items"*
Monday, 9/8 at 7 - 10 p.m., Ballroom

Clubs and Organizations Meetings
"Attendance at one of these meetings is suggested for all clubs and organizations. You are encouraged to attend the meeting which represents your group; however, if a different time works better, please attend that meeting"

Wednesday, 9/10 at 8:00 p.m. (Special Interest clubs)
Thursday, 9/11 at 4:00 p.m. (Ethnic clubs)
Thursday, 9/11 at 6:00 p.m. (Academic clubs)
Monday, 9/15 at 4:00 p.m. (Athletic clubs)
Monday, 9/15 at 6:00 p.m. (Social Service clubs)

These meetings will be held in the Montgomery Theatre for information about these meetings or for assistance with your club, organization or hall council, contact the Student Activities Office at 631-7309 or stop by our office at 315 Lafortune Student Center

Students:
Want to promote your event?
Submit information to the Student Activities Office at 631-7309 by 8:00 am of the day prior to the event.
All events are published in The Observer.

---
---

Lou lives on...

Student reaction to the Bob Devile cheer was mixed. Many could not break with the tradition of cheering for former football head coach Lou Holtz during the band's playing of the 1812 Overture.

The Observer/Kevin Dalum
Israel's Lebanon policy faces attack from left and right

By NICOLAS TATRO

Jerusalem

A chain of disasters in Lebanon has shaken Israeli confidence and prompted a national debate Sunday on whether Israel should withdraw its troops or change its tactics. Leading politicians from the left and right — including some members of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government — have called for a reassessment. The criticism also comes from figures with solid military credentials, signaling a break in the consensus that has kept Israeli leaders from withdrawing from Lebanon since 1982.

Ariel Sharon, who masterminded the 1982 invasion of Lebanon that cost 650 Israeli lives, told the Haaretz newspaper that Israel had two choices: change its mode of operation to use more air attacks, or "redeploy according to a timetable of our own, regardless of peace negotiations with Syria." Sharon, who was Israel's anti-terrorism adviser who was part of Israel's negotiating team with Syria, said withdrawal might lead to an increase in bloody attacks because Israel might retaliate more strongly if its northern settlements were attacked.

Critics argue it was a mistake for Israel to link withdrawal from Lebanon to a peace agreement with Syria, making Israeli soldiers hostages to a Syrian decision. They contend Syria wants Israel to remain in south Lebanon because it saps Israeli strength and justifies the presence of 40,000 Syrian troops in the rest of the country.

Several Cabinet ministers called for a special meeting on Lebanon, and Foreign Minister David Levy urged a "fundamental reassessment." Netanyahu promised a thorough review of Israel's methods of operation in Lebanon, but said Israeli troops would remain in the narrow border strip they occupy, backed by 2,500 Lebanese militiamen.

"We all want to leave Lebanon under the appropriate conditions, but the rash statements about a hasty departure from Lebanon under pressure only encourage Hezbollah," Netanyahu told Cabinet ministers Sunday. The key question facing Israeli policymakers is whether the Iran-backed Hezbollah militia fighting to expel Israel from Lebanon would stage cross-border raids on northern Israel once Israeli troops left the buffer zone.

David Bar-Ilan, a senior adviser to Netanyahu, said Israeli commanders could not guarantee the safety of border settlements if Israel withdrew. "No military authority will say this is safe for Israel," he told The Associated Press.

A chain of disasters in Lebanon has shaken Israeli confidence and prompted a national debate Sunday on whether Israel should withdraw its troops or change its tactics. Leading politicians from the left and right — including some members of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government, have called for a reassessment. The criticism also comes from figures with solid military credentials, signaling a break in the consensus that has kept Israeli leaders from withdrawing from Lebanon since 1982.

Ariel Sharon, who masterminded the 1982 invasion of Lebanon that cost 650 Israeli lives, told the Haaretz newspaper that Israel had two choices: change its mode of operation to use more air attacks, or "redeploy according to a timetable of our own, regardless of peace negotiations with Syria." Sharon, who was Israel's anti-terrorism adviser who was part of Israel's negotiating team with Syria, said withdrawal might lead to an increase in bloody attacks because Israel might retaliate more strongly if its northern settlements were attacked.

Critics argue it was a mistake for Israel to link withdrawal from Lebanon to a peace agreement with Syria, making Israeli soldiers hostages to a Syrian decision. They contend Syria wants Israel to remain in south Lebanon because it saps Israeli strength and justifies the presence of 40,000 Syrian troops in the rest of the country.

Several Cabinet ministers called for a special meeting on Lebanon, and Foreign Minister David Levy urged a "fundamental reassessment." Netanyahu promised a thorough review of Israel's methods of operation in Lebanon, but said Israeli troops would remain in the narrow border strip they occupy, backed by 2,500 Lebanese militiamen.

"We all want to leave Lebanon under the appropriate conditions, but the rash statements about a hasty departure from Lebanon under pressure only encourage Hezbollah," Netanyahu told Cabinet ministers Sunday. The key question facing Israeli policymakers is whether the Iran-backed Hezbollah militia fighting to expel Israel from Lebanon would stage cross-border raids on northern Israel once Israeli troops left the buffer zone.

David Bar-Ilan, a senior adviser to Netanyahu, said Israeli commanders could not guarantee the safety of border settlements if Israel withdrew. "No military authority will say this is safe for Israel," he told The Associated Press.

A chain of disasters in Lebanon has shaken Israeli confidence and prompted a national debate Sunday on whether Israel should withdraw its troops or change its tactics. Leading politicians from the left and right — including some members of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government, have called for a reassessment. The criticism also comes from figures with solid military credentials, signaling a break in the consensus that has kept Israeli leaders from withdrawing from Lebanon since 1982.

Ariel Sharon, who masterminded the 1982 invasion of Lebanon that cost 650 Israeli lives, told the Haaretz newspaper that Israel had two choices: change its mode of operation to use more air attacks, or "redeploy according to a timetable of our own, regardless of peace negotiations with Syria." Sharon, who was Israel's anti-terrorism adviser who was part of Israel's negotiating team with Syria, said withdrawal might lead to an increase in bloody attacks because Israel might retaliate more strongly if its northern settlements were attacked.

Critics argue it was a mistake for Israel to link withdrawal from Lebanon to a peace agreement with Syria, making Israeli soldiers hostages to a Syrian decision. They contend Syria wants Israel to remain in south Lebanon because it saps Israeli strength and justifies the presence of 40,000 Syrian troops in the rest of the country.

Several Cabinet ministers called for a special meeting on Lebanon, and Foreign Minister David Levy urged a "fundamental reassessment." Netanyahu promised a thorough review of Israel's methods of operation in Lebanon, but said Israeli troops would remain in the narrow border strip they occupy, backed by 2,500 Lebanese militiamen.

"We all want to leave Lebanon under the appropriate conditions, but the rash statements about a hasty departure from Lebanon under pressure only encourage Hezbollah," Netanyahu told Cabinet ministers Sunday. The key question facing Israeli policymakers is whether the Iran-backed Hezbollah militia fighting to expel Israel from Lebanon would stage cross-border raids on northern Israel once Israeli troops left the buffer zone.

David Bar-Ilan, a senior adviser to Netanyahu, said Israeli commanders could not guarantee the safety of border settlements if Israel withdrew. "No military authority will say this is safe for Israel," he told The Associated Press.
Mother
continued from page 1

The frail, 4-foot-11-inch nun was born in Albania but had become an Indian citizen. She had suffered heart problems and other ailments for years and gave up leadership of her order in March.

Mother Teresa, who said she saw God in every suffering human being, began her charity work with just a few helpers in this eastern Indian city five decades ago.

Her order now has more than 4,000 nuns and runs 517 orphanages, homes for the poor, AIDS hospices and other charity centers around the world.

One man who broke down in tears after seeing Mother Teresa’s body said the Catholic nun’s compassion transcended religions boundaries.

“She worked for the people and never thought about whether we were Muslim or Hindu,” said Mohsinul Islam, 38, who uses only one name.

He said he saw Mother Teresa every day when she visited a home for the aged near his leather shop in Calcutta.

Mother Teresa died at the headquarters of her Missionaries of Charity, where she lived in a simple room. Her flowers and praying nuns.

to accommodate crowds, so the body lay in the order’s small, dimly lit chapel, surrounded by flowers and praying nuns. But the chapel was too small to accommodate crowds, so the public viewing was delayed.

Her body was moved early Sunday in a white ambulance, escorted by a police officer on motorcycle, as bells pealed in St. Thomas’ Church and Sunday in a white ambulance, escorted by a police officer on motorcycle, as bells pealed in St. Thomas’ Church and half a mile along the sidewalk before dawn. By the time the coffin arrived, the line snaked a mile along the sidewalk before dawn.

Mourners began gathering before dawn. By the time the coffin arrived, the line snaked a mile along the sidewalk before dawn.

Weight Watchers
At Work Program
This REVOLUTIONARY program is coming to ND.
Free information/registration.
Date: Thursday, September 18
Time: 12:10-12:50pm
Location: LaFortune, Foster room
Contact: Jessica Brookshire 631-5829

This series starts September 25, for 10 weeks and includes all materials, cost $120.
VISA/MC/Discover accepted.

Fun & Money
Full & part time positions.
Intelligent, aggressive & honest people to have fun selling home & car stereos, TVs & VCRs.
Commission & bonus up to 30,000.
Apply in person
HIFI BUYS
3915 Grape Rd., Mishawaka
(Alltronics location)

BIENVENIDOS
THE SNITE MUSEUM OF ART
SPIRIT ASCENDANT
THE ART OF PATROCÍNIO BARELA

Symposium panelists include:
• David Witt, exhibition co-curator and curator, Harwood Foundation, University of New Mexico
• Michael O Shaughnessy, photographer and publisher of Red Crane Books
• Rev. James Flannigan, C.S.C., sculptor, Department of Art, Notre Dame;
• Moderator Dr. Dean A. Porter, director

2:00 pm, Sunday
September 24, 1997

RECEPCIÓN DEL SIMPOSIO
(CLOSING RECEPTION TO FOLLOW IN THE MUSEUM ATRIUM)
ENTRADA ES GRATIS
(FREE ADMISSION)
A conference on the Final Marian Dogma

• Coredemptrix
• Mediatrix
• Advocate
Hayes-Healy Room 124
TONIGHT (9/8) 7:30 p.m.

Given by David Wade, a brother in the community, “Family of Mary Coredemptrix.”
All are welcome.
Sponsored by Children of Mary and Knights of Immaculata

Feds arrest robbery suspect in Flint

Associated Press

PENDLETON, Ind.

An Indianapolis man wanted for armed robbery and other federal charges has been arrested in Flint, Mich., under bizarre circumstances, an FBI spokesman said Sunday.

Gregory Charles Jones, 32, was arrested Saturday night after Flint police, responding to a 911 call, found him bound with duct tape in a house, said FBI spokesman Douglas Garrison. Once free, Jones offered police an all-bite.

“He said he was abducted on Tuesday night by three black males who bound him and left him there. That’s where he says he’s been these last few days — during the time we’ve been looking for him,” Garrison said, adding: “We don’t believe him.”

Authorities say that Jones and his cousin, Jerry Jones, 33, last Wednesday hijacked a service truck, kidnapped the driver and robbed a Chesterfield, Ind., bank of about $100,000. Police say the cousins then kidnapped a Pendleton man and forced him to drive them to Indianapolis before releasing him unharmed.

The two men have been charged in U.S. District Court with armed bank robbery and commission of a felony while armed. Gregory Jones is expected to be extradited to Indiana, where he faces state charges, within two days.

Jerry Jones and a unidentified third suspect remain at large.

Marion County authorities said Saturday they are investigating whether a .32-caliber handgun found in an apartment that Gregory Jones and Jerry Jones shared may be tied to the slaying of two men during a toy store robbery this spring.

“They are some consistencies worth following up,” said Marion County Deputy Prosecutor John Commons.

The gun also may have been used in the robbery and slaying of Ronald Comer, 59, who was fatally shot at the Lawrence Gold Shop in Indianapolis on Aug. 13, police said.

Investigators say Jerry Jones is a former employee of Toy Works, the Indianapolis store where two workers were shot to death in a May 30 robbery.

Jerry Jones also is a former neighbor of Sheila Lott, 29, who has been charged with conspiracy to commit robbery in connection with the Toy Works case, said Detective Sgt. Jan Kistler.

Lott, another former Toy Works employee, told detectives that she had given information about the store’s business workings to at least one other person before the final robbery, police said.

Wednesday hijacked a service truck, kidnapped the driver and robbed a Chesterfield, Ind., bank of about $100,000. Police say the cousins then kidnapped a Pendleton man and forced him to drive them to Indianapolis before releasing him unharmed.

The two men have been charged in U.S. District Court with armed bank robbery and commission of a felony while armed. Gregory Jones is expected to be extradited to Indiana, where he faces state charges, within two days.

Jerry Jones and a unidentified third suspect remain at large.

Marion County authorities said Saturday they are investigating whether a .32-caliber handgun found in an apartment that Gregory Jones and Jerry Jones shared may be tied to the slaying of two men during a toy store robbery this spring.

“They are some consistencies worth following up,” said Marion County Deputy Prosecutor John Commons.

The gun also may have been used in the robbery and slaying of Ronald Comer, 59, who was fatally shot at the Lawrence Gold Shop in Indianapolis on Aug. 13, police said.

Investigators say Jerry Jones is a former employee of Toy Works, the Indianapolis store where two workers were shot to death in a May 30 robbery.

Jerry Jones also is a former neighbor of Sheila Lott, 29, who has been charged with conspiracy to commit robbery in connection with the Toy Works case, said Detective Sgt. Jan Kistler.

Lott, another former Toy Works employee, told detectives that she had given information about the store’s business workings to at least one other person before the final robbery, police said.

Other royalties strive for Diana’s balance

By DOUG MELLGREN

OSLO, Norway

People today want their royalties less aloof and more human, like Princess Diana. But how human?

Swedes see their future queen kick up her heels at trendy bars with other 20-year-olds.

Norway’s crown prince hangs out at rock concerts. A Dutch prince works as an airline pilot.

“We are supposed to live a little and lie that they are something special,” Danish sociologist Johannes Andersen says. “That lie is wearing thinner and thinner.”

Britain’s grief over Diana’s death forced the British royal family to shed some aloofness. They joined the masses in mourning to show their human side — a side that Diana would display openly.

Many in Japan expected Crown Princess Masako — a 33-year-old often called “Japan’s Diana” — to bring a human face to that nation’s tradition-bound royal family.

Born a commoner, she was a rising star in her country’s Foreign Ministry before she married Crown Prince Naruhito four years ago. Now, she is believed to be under pressure to produce an heir to the throne.

“At times, I experience hardship in trying to find the proper point of balance between traditional things and my own personality,” Masako once admitted.

With a few exceptions, such as the royal houses of Thailand, Jordan and Saudi Arabia, modern monarchies have no real power. They are symbols — sometimes anachronisms.

Denmark’s popular Crown Prince Frederik, a 26-year-old bachelor, has said that young nobles also must adapt to the fact that they are no longer considered divine.

Andersen, a political scientist at Denmark’s Aalborg University, said Frederik doesn’t understand that a royal must maintain distance: “He simply lives life like anyone else. And in that way, Frederik can contribute to the end of monarchy without even knowing it.”

Yet in places like egalitarian Norway, Sweden and Denmark, royalties win vast public support by being down to earth. During a fuel crisis in the early 1970s, then-King Olav V insisted on saving gas by taking public transport. That helped secure his popular title as “The People’s King.”

Scandinavian media generally respect privacy, allowing young royalties to bar-hop, attend rock concerts and drive their own cars without excess attention. Norway’s Crown Prince Haakon, 24, went to public school and is now a college student in California.

Old Navy, the store that makes shopping fun again, TM offers you the remarkable opportunity to be part of our exciting growth in the family value priced clothing market.

★ SALES ASSOCIATE POSITIONS ARE AVAILABLE ★

We offer limited opportunities to learn, promotion based on talent and ability, and great personal satisfaction.

WE ARE NOW HIRING FOR THE

MISHAWAKA LOCATION

Great student opportunities!
Please apply in person at:
Old Navy Clothing Co.
Princess City Plaza
4510 N. Grape Rd
Mishawaka, IN
Monday-Saturday
10am-7pm
Get AT&T One Rate. FREE.
And don’t worry about the time or the distance.

If you live off campus, choose AT&T Long Distance and sign up for AT&T One Rate. Free. You’ll also get a free one-year membership to Student Advantage*—the largest student discount program ever.

- AT&T One Rate: only 15¢ a minute on calls from home—to anybody, anytime, anywhere in the U.S.
- Student Advantage: use your card to get special offers and up to 50% off every day at thousands of your favorite neighborhood places and national sponsors—like Kinko’s®, Tower Records® and Amtrak®

Live off campus? Get AT&T One Rate and a Student Advantage membership. FREE.
Call 1-800-878-3872
or visit www.att.com/college/np.html

It’s all within your reach.
Sentimental Rationality

Many of you will remember last May when Fuzzy Zoeller, a slightly inebriated professional golfer, made a racial slur at Tiger Woods in front of the entire audience. The news was reported accurately and objectively as possible. Unusual rhetoric represents the opinion of the majority of the Editors in Chief, Managing Editors, Assistant Managing Editors, Photo Editors, and Assistant News Editors. Consequences, letters, and inside columns present the views of the authors, and are not necessarily those of The Observer. News stories are available in all editions of The Observer.

---

Are the Media all About Black and White?

Michael Peppard

about the Rodney King trial, the O.J. Simpson trial or the president's cabinet appointments. And along came another "racial" and "anti-homosexual" group that caught the public eye. The question remains: do we thrive on this sort of sensationalism. Or do we want the media to give us something else?

Don't get me wrong, I'm not implying that issues of race are unimportant. In truth, I think they are so important that we should examine how we deal with them. The only time racism surfaces in the media is consistency. If they really think about the function of the media properly, they don't always care about reporting the facts and eliminating ignorance. In the spirit of American bottom-line pragmatism, maybe the media just give us what we want to hear. After all, the consumers pay the media's bills. So, who is in a fault? If a professional athlete makes slanderous remarks against the Polish or the French, they should be reported as extensively as remarks about Mexicans or African-Americans. If the media truly cared about reporting the facts and eliminating ignorance, they would speak out against all forms of stereotypes. But as it is, they focus primarily on tension between whites and blacks.

Then again, maybe I don't understand the function of the media properly. Perhaps my opinion is too idealistic, and they don't always care about reporting the facts and eliminating ignorance. In the spirit of American bottom-line pragmatism, the media just give us what we want to hear. After all, the consumers pay the media's bills. So, who is in a fault? If a professional athlete makes slanderous remarks against the Polish or the French, they should be reported as extensively as remarks about Mexicans or African-Americans. If the media truly cared about reporting the facts and eliminating ignorance, they would speak out against all forms of stereotypes. But as it is, they focus primarily on tension between whites and blacks.

Perhaps the solution to this problem doesn't help to abate racial tension through their style of reporting. In actuality, the media proliferate antagonism through a "politics of difference." That is, reporters accentuate the differences between groups instead of their similarities, thereby driving the wedge deeper between whites and blacks. Instead of focusing on the elimination of racial stereotypes in general, reporters highlight the tension between the two particular groups. Instead of fostering constructive dialogue about this issue, the media actually encourage the taking of sides.

I suppose all we can hope for from the media is consistency. If they really think that stereotypical generalizations are harmful, then they should expose them whenever they occur. If a professional athlete makes slanderous remarks against the Polish or the French, they should be reported as extensively as remarks about Mexicans or African-Americans. If the media truly cared about reporting the facts and eliminating ignorance, they would speak out against all forms of stereotypes. But as it is, they focus primarily on tension between whites and blacks.

---

Quote of the Day

"The fruit of silence is prayer. The fruit of prayer is faith. The fruit of faith is love. The fruit of love is service. The fruit of service is peace."

—Mother Teresa
Solidarity in the Heartland

From the murky depths of Oakland, California, I write to you all. As certain as we have made automobile rusting in a South Bend-style winter, my column will be intermittently delivered into your hands. Whether Tuesday or Thursday, every other Monday from here to eternity. Ah, Oak Street, where it’s said one can live in South Bend with its long-haired mullet patrons desperately seeking the Frith, while South Benders are straining from its downtown trash-strewn streets.

David McMahon

to the more insidious Jack London Square — a commercial eyesore that presents the great Oakland writer’s name like so many waste melds at a winter fiesta.

I work on 35th Street as a social worker of sorts and live thirty blocks north in a working-class neighborhood on the border of Berkeley. I’m quite certain that the standard South Bend dip in many ways that we will touch upon in later columns. But here, from the informal beginnings of my left-leaning anti-Chilean, anti-Rice dogma column, I want to take you to South Bend to all of you. What’s that? South Bend is a separate entity from Notre Dame. Imagine that, an actual Midwestern city!

Ah yes, dear reader, the “river city” has a charm and history uniquely its own, and I want to divulge to you some of the slow-churning nostalgia on the banks of the famed Indian Sagwa river (St. Joseph river to the layman). I also hope to show you a slice of life as a union shop steward and social worker on the banks of the East Bay.

I hope this column will be read after that peculiar phase of Notre Dame life: the slushy, almost fog-ridden density that most call “dorm parties,” the goal of which is to swell cheap wine bowls and sweat profusely to the strains of some soulless band. Many freshmen and seniors who probably have graduated to the insanely packed bars of downtown South Bend find themselves taking the police free Lay’s just over the border of Michigan, where a note signed by mom would guarantee entry. From that time and on, I was influenced by a Nearer-thoroughly, life-alcohol elevated state, which apparently perform all the laws of fussful pranks on the helpless towndwell, is born the “town-grown rivalry.”

Even though the scabs of bobsled famed Notre Dame footballers degenerating to descend to the poor neighborhoods during “Christmas in April” wouldn’t believe it, there lies in South Bend a hidden antagonism towards these legions of alcohol swelled, white hat wearing nincompoops. I too was that ill-informed ninnny whose geographic knowledge was limited by the JAC, and the extremes of the lakes, with the occasional forage to CJs, Mac’s, or that horrid square eyes, known as “Bredges.”

Dear reader, there is a life beyond the barred wire fences of the Notre Dame golf course, although Patty O’Hara wouldn’t discourage you from alphabetizing this gem of secular forbidden fruit. Abundant, spacious apartments, good food, good food! Hoosier corner, character, and charm! History, old movie palaces, and seedy strip clubs with drainage ditches not reaching into my South Bend-law protected hamlet, and I remember with others to organize a resistance to the blatant dish-criminatory practices of the University. I was there to appreciate the university community from a different perspective: professors became neighbors and mentors rather than merely lecturers on high, the Center for Social Concerns became a vital resource, and students became more than “Doomers,” they were rare fel­ low activists, creative artists and writers, and ran the gamut from a grad. physicist student with a smashed glasses’ frame to a befuddled player of football who could crush his head like James Joyce’s “green orgy.”

So far starters for those exploring the South Bend area here is a list of things to do, see, volunteer at, or find — Green Party headquarters (and join up!), Cafe Internationale?, Oushi, the State Movie theater, Dismiss House. The Center for the Homeless, Sunny Italy, the Indiana Dunes, the ten command­ ments tablets, the Unleovely migrat­ ion workers, the University of South Bend, the drive-through movie theater...
Football
Notre Dame vs. Georgia Tech
17-13

Key Stat
In the first half, the Irish rushed for 73 yards, passed for 71. In the second, the offense rushed 38 times, passed 10 times.

Player of the Game
Mervin "The Beast" Davie's the name he led the team with 12 tackles and two sacks despite being bothered by a sore knee.

Quote of the Game
"It's kind of like a new car. When you go out driving the first time, it doesn't handle like it's going to handle later on for you." - Davie on his first game

Notre Dame

Davie's
Dynamic Duo
In Bob Davie's first game as head coach, new receivers Bobby Brown and Joey Getherall stepped to the forefront.

see page 2

Small step forward
Davie's debut hardly a gem but Irish happy with perfect record

By MIKE DAY
Sports Editor

Things didn't quite go according to plan, but they'll take it.
Indeed, Notre Dame launched its new era of football on Saturday with things going differently than expected. The Irish struggled all day long against a pesky Georgia Tech team and needed a late fourth-quarter touchdown to escape with an uninspiring 17-13 victory.

"It definitely wasn't a thing of beauty, but we're happy to come away with a win," said Irish head coach Bob Davie. "Any time you can go into a game with a new coaching staff and manage to win, you've got to be pretty happy."

The Yellow Jackets, determined to spoil Davie's debut and the unveiling of the recently renovated Notre Dame Stadium, clung to a 13-10 lead with just under eight minutes to play. That was when Notre Dame quarterback Ron Powlus and tailback Autry Denson took it upon themselves to make sure that the new coach would end the day with his first victory.

In a drive beginning on the Irish 30-yard line, Denson carried the ball five times and caught a Powlus pass before rambling in from one yard out for the game-deciding touchdown. The junior tailback finished the day with just 71 yards on 24 carries but scored Notre Dame's only two touchdowns of the day.

"We struggled today; there's no doubt about that," said Denson. "But when we needed to win the game, we came up big. That's something that good teams do, and fortunately, we were able to do it today."

Denson's first score came with 7:56 remaining in the first quarter following an eight-play, 67-yard drive. Second and goal from the three, the Irish tailback dashed to the corner of the end zone to see Saturday's opening day victory over Georgia Tech certainly had its ups and downs. The Irish, led by Ron Powlus, struggled to control the line of scrimmage for the first three quarters but rallied in the fourth quarter with the game-winning drive.

Fullback Joey Goodspeed and the Irish rushing attack found little daylight on Saturday, averaging just 3.67 yards per carry against the Yellow Jackets.

By MIKE DAY
Sports Editor

Highly touted offensive line turns in puzzling performance

What exactly is the strength of this Notre Dame football team? Apparently it depends on who you ask and when you ask them.
According to most analysts before the game, it was the mammoth offensive line. On paper, they appear to be one of the most imposing front lines in the nation. The group of five, despite center Rick Kaczewski's relative lack of size (6-foot-4, 258 pounds), averages 4-foot-6, 297 pounds and includes three seasoned fifth-year seniors along with a legitimate all-American candidate in junior Mike Rosenthal.

So why is it that Notre Dame's potential all-America tailback Autry Denson was only able to manage 71 yards on 24 carries, including just 18 yards on 10 carries in the first half? Why, after a first and goal on the Tech four, was the Irish offense forced to leave the field after five failed attempts to punch it in using their strength up front?

By the time the fourth quarter rolled around, the line had finally worn down the Yellow Jacket defense, and the men in the trenches began to get enough of a push for the running game to take off. But a similar effort will most likely not be enough against some of the more talented defensive teams on the Irish schedule.
Debut

continued from page 1

give the Irish a 7-0 advantage.

After the quick start, the Notre Dame offense closed up shop, advancing into Georgia Tech territory just one time in the second half. The Yellow Jacket defense limited the Irish to just 171 yards in the second half.

"We had some problems in the second half, but in the first game, that kind of thing happens sometimes," said Powell, who finished 18-of-29 for 277 yards. "We know that we can do better and we will."

While the offense sputtered, it was the Notre Dame defense that kept them in the game, especially following two Tech interceptions late in the game. The second turnover set the Yellow Jackets up at the 34-yardline, but they were unable to move any further and were forced to settle for a Dave Frakes field goal attempt. Frakes' second miss of the day with 7:35 to go in the game enabled the Irish to set up for what would ultimately be the game-winning drive. However, it would not have been possible without the play of the defense.

"We knew the offense wasn't clicking the way it normally does, so we had to do something big," said senior defensive end Melvin Dansby, who led the Irish with two sacks and 12 tackles. "We ended up making some big plays and forcing field goals instead of allowing them to get in the end zone."

Dansby and pre-season all-American linebacker Kory Minor, who added 10 tackles on the day, gave Yellow Jacket quarterback Joe Hamilton all kinds of problems, forcing him to throw off balance and before he was ready.

"Their defense, particularly Minor and Dansby, did a great job all day long," said Georgia Tech coach George O'Leary. "They each had a good game, and I'm just made too many mistakes and failed to take advantage of the opportunities we had." For Dansby and the Irish, it was a foundation to build on.

"It wasn't at all the way we drew it up, but that happens," said Davie. "No matter how it looks, you're always happy to go home with a win under your belt."

"We're just glad that Coach Davie was able to get his first win," added Powell. "It meant a lot to the team for him to win his first game as a head coach."

Pretty or not, the new era of Notre Dame football has officially begun.

Getherall, Brown help add life to Irish passing attack

By BETSY BAKER

Associate Sports Editor

Although Notre Dame football has been known in recent years for its ground attack, the return of quarterback Ron Powlus for a fifth year and the emergence of a six-man deep receiving corps has raised questions about a possible shift in the Irish offense.

Some of those questions were answered on Saturday in Notre Dame's 13-10 victory over Georgia Tech. One question was answered with an explanation of how true freshman Joey Getherall not only started the game, but also caught the first pass 10 seconds into the game for a 10-yard gain.

Throughout pre-season camp, players and coaches alike raved about 5-foot-7, 168-pound Getherall. Touted as being faster than speedy defensive back Allen Rossum, Getherall immediately worked his way into the Irish line-up, marked as third behind Malcolm Johnson and Bobby Brown on the depth chart. The hype about Getherall panned out on Saturday when he caught five passes for 47 yards, second only to Brown.

"It's a unique player," Davie said of Getherall. "The kid amazes me."

Although we didn't actually plan that the first catch of the game, I'm not surprised that it happened that way. He's going to be a heck of a football player here at Notre Dame.

After the game, Getherall thanked the coaches for the opportunity to play but remained focused in his intent for his position on the Notre Dame football team.

"When they said we were going to start off in a three-receiver set this week, I was really excited because I had a chance to start," Getherall said. "But when I first came here, came to battle and I wanted to come in and play right away. I didn't want to sit out and red shirt this year, so I was ready to play."

Unfortunately for the Irish, they will have to wait for Getherall's continued contribution because he sustained a knee injury late in the game Saturday that is expected to keep him out for a couple of weeks.

Although neither Getherall nor the Jackets can pinpoint the exact play of the injury, they did say that he was just a sprain, and do not expect it to keep Getherall out too long.

"It happened probably around the second quarter, but I played through it in the rest of the game," Getherall said. "I'll probably be back next week."

However, Irish offensive coordinator Jim Colletto expressed some caution about the injury.

"With Getherall getting hurt, we're concerned about our speed at the wide-out," Colletto said. "We'll be out two or three weeks probably.

In addition to Getherall, brown answered another question for the Irish with his game-leading seven receptions for 64 yards. Brown had continually developed himself as a stand-out throughout both spring practice and pre-season camp, but it remained to be seen whether he could handle the game-day pressure.

With the exception of one dropped pass early in the third quarter, Brown looked exceptional, including a short-yardage catch that he ran for 16 yards to set up Notre Dame's first touchdown of the game.

"We probably should have thrown deep earlier in the game, but when you get near the end of the game and throw deep incomplete, it's a wasted down, and we couldn't do that then," Colletto said.

Despite the injury to Getherall, the Irish still can look to Allen Rossum, who played just one down on Saturday, Brown, and Johnson who had three catches for 29 yards, in addition to sophomore Raki Nelson and junior Shannon Stephens, who did not play on Saturday but are expected play this season, to continue to maximize the aerial attack.

Grading the Irish

Quarterback: B-

Powlus looked sharp early and spread the ball around. But with the game on the line and the clock ticking away, Powlus passed Georgia Tech's Rogers and Bossic in a two minute warning, and he needed his defense to bail him out.

Running backs:

Denson and Goodspeed didn't do much in the first half, but they were being hit in their own backfield. Dansby, like always does, got the job done in crunch time.

Wide receivers: A

Powlus looks like he will have some target this year as Brown and Getherall were speculation for a first half, and he threw his way in the fourth, which could have sparked the offense.

Defensive Line: C

Tech's front seven dominated things in the first three quarters and stifled the massive line on five consecutive attempts from inside the five. But the game was won on the trenches in the running game, and Powell did have good protection.

Offensive Line: B

Tech's front seven dominated things in the first three quarters and stifled the massive line on five consecutive attempts from inside the five. But the game was won on the trenches in the running game, and Powell did have good protection.

Special Teams: B-

The bad snap and hold almost shortened the field of play. But we didn't want to sit out and red shirt this year, so I was ready to play."

Defensive Line: B+

After being pushed around by a bigger Yellow Jacket offensive line, the rotation stepped up and prevented a Georgia Tech first down in the fourth quarter. The Beast (Melvin Dansby) was unambitious as he led the crew with two sacks and 12 tackles.

Linebackers: B

Minor and Bryant came up with some huge plays, including a key ball in the fourth quarter and the return game.

Secondary: B+

Gutbeaux's pick was perhaps the biggest single play of the game, and Rossom's tackle and he needed Colletto's defense to bail him out.

Wide receivers: A

Powlus looks like he will have some target this year as Brown and Getherall were speculation for a first half, and he threw his way in the fourth, which could have sparked the offense.

Defensive Line: C

Tech's front seven dominated things in the first three quarters and stifled the massive line on five consecutive attempts from inside the five. But the game was won on the trenches in the running game, and Powell did have good protection.

Offensive Line: B

Tech's front seven dominated things in the first three quarters and stifled the massive line on five consecutive attempts from inside the five. But the game was won on the trenches in the running game, and Powell did have good protection.

Special Teams: B-

The bad snap and hold almost shortened the field of play. But we didn't want to sit out and red shirt this year, so I was ready to play."

Coaching: B

Davie's debut was a win, and his 1-0 record is the best it can be this at this point. Mattison's offense was up to the task in the fourth quarter, and it was a good performance.

Overall: 3.00

It was a lot more exciting than anyone was expecting, or hoping for it to be. The team looked lethargic at times but they all showed up at the most crucial time.

---

Joe Canato
Crunch time unleashes 'The Beast' despite injury

Dansby leads defense to stop Jackets' threat

By JOE CAVATO Assistant Sports Editor

With the graduation of most of last season's key defensive performers, one of this year's questions was who would be the prime time player for the defensive unit.

Although Irish fans probably were not expecting to see those first dramatic fourth quarter defensive stands against Georgia Tech, the question appears to be answered.

Fifth-year senior Melvin Dansby did his best Renaldo Wynn impersonation and sparked the Notre Dame defense with 12 tackles including two timely sacks, helping put Bob Davie in position to win his first game as a head coach.

The Irish showed a "break don't break" defense in the first three quarters that allowed Georgia Tech to move the ball, but they held together when they needed to and allowed just one touchdown.

The defense that came out in the fourth quarter was dominant as Kory Minor, Lamont Bryant, and Dansby played to dash Tech's hopes of an upset and give the Irish offense several chances to take the game.

Dansby was part of a defensive end rotation with Kurt Belsile, Jason Ching, and Brad Williams, and the time he spent on the bench proved to be valuable as he was in top form throughout the game and was a little too much for the Jackets' offensive line to handle.

Tech's signal caller Joe Hamilton was familiarized with Dansby in the first half when Dansby recorded his first sack of the day and applied pressure on the quarterback.

"Melvin is an intense player," Ron Powlus said. "I'm very impressed with him, he's well on his way to break out as a player."

Inensive coordinator Greg Mattison's rotation on defense proved to be pivotal in crunch time. On Georgia Tech's second play after Autry Denson's touchdown giving the Irish the lead with less than two minutes left in the contest, "The Beast" was unleashed and he dropped Hamilton for a 1.5-yard loss and put the Yellow Jackets in a hole up against their own goal line.

That was a big play," Davie said. "We had a hard time all day of getting them off of rhythm and that sack got them out of rhythm."

"He did it. He cracked it up," Powlus said. "He got the defense going, and it was nice to see."

There was a couple of plays where I thought they were going to break through and, and Melvin really came through for us," said senior nose tackle Allen Roseum.

Dansby missed all of spring practice, and the condition of his knee was a concern and one of the main reasons for the rotation.

"I think that happened because of the rotation," Mattison said. "The rotation is to have those guys ready when you need them in the fourth quarter and in the 12th game. Melvin had some gas in that engine."

Crimp No. 11 made an impact whenever he was in the contest making him arguably Notre Dame's most consistent player for all four quarters as he led the team in tackles.

"We needed somebody to step up," Dansby said. "Fortunately I was able to do it.

Dansby also gives credit to the rest of the defense which allowed him to be rested.

"It had a lot to do with the amount of rest I had in the first half," Dansby said. "Brad Williams did a great job alternating with me.

Last spring, Dansby was given the title of tri-captain, and this weekend he certainly proved he was one, joining the rest of the defense in giving the Irish their first win of the season and a 1-0 record.

STATISTICALLY SPEAKING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Notre Dame</th>
<th>Georgia Tech</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>First Downs</td>
<td>22</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rushed-yards</td>
<td>154</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Passing yards</td>
<td>217</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sacks-yards</td>
<td>4-24</td>
<td>0-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Passes</td>
<td>18-29-2</td>
<td>10-21-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Punts</td>
<td>3-40-0</td>
<td>3-48-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fumbles-lost</td>
<td>7-0</td>
<td>0-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penalties-yards</td>
<td>7-44</td>
<td>5-30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time of Possession</td>
<td>30.55</td>
<td>29.05</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Individual Statistics

RUSHING
Notre Dame-Denson 24-71, Goodspeed 12-57, Powlus 5-32, Barry 1-0
Georgia Tech-Rogers 21-97, Hamilton 15-45, Wiley 8-35

PASSING
Notre Dame-Powlus 18-29-2-217, Georgia Tech-Hamilton 10-21-218

RECEIVING
Notre Dame-Brown 7-64, Getherall 5-47, Johnson 3-29, Denson 2-58, O'Leary 1-19
Georgia Tech-Rogers 4-39, Middleton 3-49, Steagall 1-14, Myers 1-9, Golilla 1-7

Attendance: 80,225

SCORING SUMMARY

1st Quarter
Notre Dame-Denson 3 yard run (Sanson kick) 0-0

2nd Quarter
Georgia Tech-Hamilton 11 yard run (Fakes kick) 0-7
Notre Dame-Frokes 33 yard field goal Notre Dame- Sanson 28 yard field goal 0-10

3rd Quarter no scoring

4th Quarter
Georgia Tech-Frokes 32 yard field goal Notre Dame- Denson 1 yard run (Sanson kick) 0-15

TOP 25

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TEAM</th>
<th>RECORD</th>
<th>POINTS</th>
<th>PREVIOUS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penn St. (22)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1620</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida (15)</td>
<td>2-0</td>
<td>1590</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington (14)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1580</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tennessee (6)</td>
<td>2-0</td>
<td>1518</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida St. (4)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1442</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgia St. (4)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1413</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>N. Carolina (2)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1342</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colorado (3)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1331</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ohio State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1149</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSU</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1127</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1054</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>975</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>904</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>838</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alabama</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>812</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Auburn</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>688</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stanford</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>587</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iowa</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>527</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clemson</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>402</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas St.</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>377</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan St.</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>305</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virginia Tech</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>213</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Southern Cal</td>
<td>0-1</td>
<td>182</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arizona St.</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>150</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colorado St.</td>
<td>1-1</td>
<td>127</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Despite missing spring practice and needing rest in the first half, Melvin Dansby was a force for the defensive front.

The Observer/Brian Cashin
Melvin Dansby, and the Irish defense stepped up to the challenge and did not allow a Tech first down in the fourth quarter.
Salvaging a Victory

Defensive end Melvin Dansby (right) chased Georgia Tech quarterback Joe Hamilton all day, recording two sacks and 12 tackles.

Below, linebacker Lamont Bryant (53) and the Irish defense join together to make a tackle against the Yellow Jackets.

Junior tailback Autry Denson (bottom) carries the ball with Georgia Tech linebacker Justin Robertson in close pursuit. Despite being limited to 71 yards on 24 carries, Denson sparked the Irish to victory with a pair of touchdown runs.

Photos by Brandon Candura and Katie Kroener

Notre Dame
17
Georgia Tech
13
Notre Dame Stadium,
Saturday, September 6, 1997

Game Notes

Irish endure opening day thriller, break new ground

ANOTHER OPENING THRILLER
Eight of the last 14 openers for the Irish have been nailbiters as they have been decided by eight points or less. Notre Dame has come out on the winning side on four of those contests with wins over Michigan in 1988 and '90, Vanderbilt last year and Saturday’s win over Georgia Tech. Those losses came at the hands of Purdue in 1984, at Michigan in '85 and '86 and to Northwestern two years ago.

GETHERALL MAKES HISTORY
Joey Getherall is the first true freshman to start a game for Notre Dame since inside linebacker Mike Kovaleski started against Purdue in 1983. Getherall responded to implication that his performance on Saturday ranks him with some of the all-time Irish greats by saying, “We’ll see what happens, but as of right now, I’m just another old player.”

POWULIS PASSES MIRER
Bon Powlus moved past Rick Mirer (1989-92) into second on the Notre Dame career pass completions list. Powlus entered the day with 376 career completions and tied Mirer’s career mark with a 10-yard completion to Joey Getherall on the Irish opening drive. He moved past Mirer on a 22-yard completion to Bobby Brown on the second drive of the game. Powlus finished the game at 394 career completions, second only to Steve Beuerlein (473, 1983-86).

DENSON KEEPS CLIMBING
Autry Denson continued his ascent on the history books. On his way from 16th to a tie for 12th on Notre Dame’s career rushing yards list the junior passed Jerome Bettis and Tony Rice. Denson also passed one of the Four Horsemen, Don Miller. Currently he is tied with Marchy Schwarz with 1,945, placing him 32 yards behind Mark Green.
Post 'Legends' Letdown

BY SARA BRANDON and MARTHY HARRIS

The Devil's Own

 Directed Alan J. Pakula
 Starring Harrison Ford and Brad Pitt

By mutual respect but torn apart by differing philosophies. Sounds deep but don't be fooled. Overall we found the movie lacking in the plot department. After dragging on for more than two hours the movie ends up right where we knew it would. There are no surprises, but the end is a touching parody of masculinity which brought a tear to our eyes.

However, we should not ignore the high points. First, the vivid flashbacks Frankie (Brad) had as he played pool in a New York City pub. Second, Brad in handcuffs... need we say more? Third, Harrison's dramatic expression of bewilderment/moral outrage at discovering Brad's true identity. Finally, stirring dialogue from the extremely intense scene where the two brothers talk about their lives and different philosophies. Sounds deep, but don't be fooled! Overall we found the movie lacking in the plot department. After dragging on for more than two hours the movie ends up right where we knew it would. There are no surprises, but the end is a touching parody of masculinity which brought a tear to our eyes.

THE DEVIL'S OWN

2. Hair: Though Brad's stylist is incredibly boring few days, Abe gave in. However, he still has reservations about letting his son go. Jason sits at a window seat in the airport and watches Brad and his companion leave the country. Brad is dressed in a dark blue suit and has a white shirt with a red tie. A small smile forms on his face as he looks back at his former job. A small wave is raised as the plane takes off into the sky. Brad's eyes light up with excitement as he looks out the window at the clouds below him. His mind turns to thoughts of his future. He has so many plans for the future and he is determined to make them happen. Brad's smile widens as he thinks of all the new places he will visit and all the experiences he will have. The plane continues on its journey, Brad lost in thought. The end of the movie leaves us wondering what will happen next. Will Brad's plans come to fruition? Will he find the happiness he is searching for? Only time will tell. In the meantime, we can enjoy the ride. Brad's journey is a testament to the power of hope and determination. He shows us that anything is possible if we are willing to work hard and never give up. Brad's story is a source of inspiration for us all. We can learn from his experiences and apply them to our own lives. Brad's journey is a reminder that we should never give up on our dreams, no matter how difficult they may seem. The end of the movie leaves us wondering what will happen next. Will Brad's plans come to fruition? Will he find the happiness he is searching for? Only time will tell. In the meantime, we can enjoy the ride. Brad's journey is a testament to the power of hope and determination. He shows us that anything is possible if we are willing to work hard and never give up. Brad's story is a source of inspiration for us all. We can learn from his experiences and apply them to our own lives. Brad's journey is a reminder that we should never give up on our dreams, no matter how difficult they may seem. The end of the movie leaves us wondering what will happen next. Will Brad's plans come to fruition? Will he find the happiness he is searching for? Only time will tell. In the meantime, we can enjoy the ride. Brad's journey is a testament to the power of hope and determination. He shows us that anything is possible if we are willing to work hard and never give up. Brad's story is a source of inspiration for us all. We can learn from his experiences and apply them to our own lives. Brad's journey is a reminder that we should never give up on our dreams, no matter how difficult they may seem. The end of the movie leaves us wondering what will happen next. Will Brad's plans come to fruition? Will he find the happiness he is searching for? Only time will tell. In the meantime, we can enjoy the ride. Brad's journey is a testament to the power of hope and determination. He shows us that anything is possible if we are willing to work hard and never give up. Brad's story is a source of inspiration for us all. We can learn from his experiences and apply them to our own lives. Brad's journey is a reminder that we should never give up on our dreams, no matter how difficult they may seem. The end of the movie leaves us wondering what will happen next. Will Brad's plans come to fruition? Will he find the happiness he is searching for? Only time will tell. In the meantime, we can enjoy the ride. Brad's journey is a testament to the power of hope and determination. He shows us that anything is possible if we are willing to work hard and never give up. Brad's story is a source of inspiration for us all. We can learn from his experiences and apply them to our own lives. Brad's journey is a reminder that we should never give up on our dreams, no matter how difficult they may seem.

NEW YORK

There was hope for Venus Williams at the start Sunday. She hit some big shots and was playing smart. She served to Martina Hingis in the first game.

BY HAL BOCK

...the Ken in the first game.

...that she had plenty of that pressure with his title.

...that he was always the best player.

...that I was never known for being a Pulpitist.

...that he had been the best player.

...that I was never known for being a Pulpitist.
Unleash big savings. AT&T presents the largest student discount program ever. FREE.

Choose AT&T. And we'll give you a free one-year Student Advantage® membership. Use your card to get special offers and up to 50% off every day at thousands of your favorite neighborhood places and national sponsors like these:

THEATRES

MOTOPHOTO

kinkos

Get a Student Advantage membership. FREE.

Call 1-800-878-3872

do visit www.att.com/college/np.html

It's all within your reach.
Elway leads Broncos to a second-half comeback

By JIM COUR
Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE - It's going to take a lot more of Paul Allen's dollars for the Seattle Seahawks to catch up with John Elway.

Elway passed for two touchdowns to Ed McCaffrey on Sunday, leading the Broncos to a 35-14 victory over the Seahawks in the first half.

The Broncos beat Seattle for the third straight time, for the eighth time in 10 games and for the fifth time in six games in the Kingdome.

Seattle started Warren Moon, the oldest player in the league at 40, in place of the injured John Friesz, and Moon responded with his 255th career touchdown pass, a 12-yarder to Carleton Crumpler late in the first half.

But in the biggest play of the game, Moon was intercepted by Broncos cornerback Darrien Crumpler, who returned it 32 yards for a touchdown on the final play of the fourth quarter to give Denver a 28-14 lead.

The Broncos added an insurance touchdown on a 1-yard run by Terrell Davis in the final period.

In a battle of future Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback backs, Elway was 18 of 26 for 222 yards and one score, with one interception, Davis, last season's AFC rushing champion, had 107 yards on 21 carries.

After trailing at the half, Denver retook the lead - 21-14 - with 29 seconds left in the third quarter when Elway and McCaffrey teamed for their second touchdown of the game, a 21-yarder in which McCaffrey beat rookie cornerback Shawn Springs. Elway passed to Shannon Sharpe for a 2-point conversion.

Gorden stepped in front of Mike Pritchard and ran back the interception of Moon's pass for a touchdown that showed the Seahawks that Elway has an outstanding defense this season, too.

The Seahawks led 14-13 at halftime after scoring two touchdowns in a 16-second span at the end of the second quarter. First, Moon completed an outstanding defense.

Denver took control late in the second quarter when Elway passed to Shannon Sharpe for a touchdown that showed the Seahawks that Elway has an outstanding defense this season, too.

The Seahawks led 14-13 at halftime after scoring two touchdowns in a 16-second span at the end of the second quarter. First, Moon completed his 12-yard pass to a falling Crumpler in the end zone for Seattle's first touchdown of the season with 1:11 left.

Then, the Seahawks' defense converted a fumble by Elway into a touchdown with 55 seconds remaining for a 14-10 lead. Michael Sinclair beat Jamie Brown and stripped the ball from Elway on first down from the Broncos' 35. Chad Brown, Seattle's $24 million free-agent pickup from Pittsburgh, picked up the ball at the 26 and ran it into the end zone for his first career touchdown.

The Broncos beat Seattle for the third straight time, for the eighth time in 10 games and for the fifth time in six games in the Kingdome.

Seattle started Warren Moon, the oldest player in the league at 40, in place of the injured John Friesz, and Moon responded with his 255th career touchdown pass, a 12-yarder to Carleton Crumpler late in the first half.

But in the biggest play of the game, Moon was intercepted by Broncos cornerback Darrien Crumpler, who returned it 32 yards for a touchdown on the final play of the fourth quarter to give Denver a 28-14 lead.

The Broncos added an insurance touchdown on a 1-yard run by Terrell Davis in the final period.

In a battle of future Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback backs, Elway was 18 of 26 for 222 yards and one score, with one interception, Davis, last season's AFC rushing champion, had 107 yards on 21 carries.

After trailing at the half, Denver retook the lead - 21-14 - with 29 seconds left in the third quarter when Elway and McCaffrey teamed for their second touchdown of the game, a 21-yarder in which McCaffrey beat rookie cornerback Shawn Springs. Elway passed to Shannon Sharpe for a 2-point conversion.

Gorden stepped in front of Mike Pritchard and ran back the interception of Moon's pass for a touchdown that showed the Seahawks that Elway has an outstanding defense this season, too.

The Seahawks led 14-13 at halftime after scoring two touchdowns in a 16-second span at the end of the second quarter. First, Moon completed his 12-yard pass to a falling Crumpler in the end zone for Seattle's first touchdown of the season with 1:11 left.

Then, the Seahawks' defense converted a fumble by Elway into a touchdown with 55 seconds remaining for a 14-10 lead. Michael Sinclair beat Jamie Brown and stripped the ball from Elway on first down from the Broncos' 35. Chad Brown, Seattle's $24 million free-agent pickup from Pittsburgh, picked up the ball at the 26 and ran it into the end zone for his first career touchdown.
Eagles upset Packers' hopes for unbeaten season

By JOHN F. BONFATTI
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA — Rookie John Favre missed what would have been the game-winning field goal with 11 seconds left, and Ty Detmer threw for the game's only touchdown as the Philadelphia Eagles upset the defending Super Bowl champions 10-9 Sunday.

Longwell, who hadn't missed a field goal attempt in either the exhibition or regular season, was wide right from 28 yards out, touching off a celebration at Veterans Stadium. The Packers (1-1) lost for the first time in 10 games, including their playoff run to the championship last year. The Eagles were eaten 31-17 by the Giants in their opener.

Favre finished 19-of-32 for 279 yards, and Ty Detmer finished 19-of-42 for 279 yards, but Rhett Hall intercepted, when Bill Schroeder returned the ensuing kickoff to their 47. After Brett Favre, who finished 19-of-42 for 279 yards, led the Packers to the Eagles 10, Longwell, who converted his third of the game, extended the lead to 6-3. Favre moved the Packers 60 yards in the second quarter's final two minutes. But they failed to get the touchdowns in these plays from inside the 4. Longwell's second field goal of the quarter, an 18-yarder, made it 6-0 at the break.

The Packers got the game's first score after a 55-yard drive stalled just outside the Philadelphia goal line midway through the second quarter. Longwell's 22-yard field goal made it 3-0.

Boniol had a chance to tie the game with a 49-yard field goal attempt with 1:50 left in the half, but he was wide left. The miss snapped a string of 28 straight successful field goal attempts by Boniol.

Green Bay's offense slept through the first quarter, registering only 20 yards as Favre went 0-for-6. Antonio Freeman dropped two passes, including one where there was no one between him and the end zone, and then dropped another possible touchdown pass early in the second quarter.

The Eagles drove to the Green Bay 1 in the first quarter, but Detmer fumbled a snap and Reggie White recovered for the Packers.

The John W. Houck
Tribute/Dinner

Sacred Heart Parish Center
St. Joseph Hall, Douglas Road
University of Notre Dame

7:00 p.m.
September 20, 1997

If you want to join in the festivities, please contact
Madeline Day (1-6072 or Madeline.Day.2nd@nd.edu)
There are only 150 tickets which will be issued on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Pub Grub/Storytellers/Casual Dress $20.00

Who is living your life?

a. your friends
b. your parents
c. your classes
d. none of the above

Come explore what Psalms 23 has to say about a Christ-lived life . . .

A Bible Study sponsored by the Baptist Student Union

The Center for Social Concerns
Monday at 7pm

The University of Notre Dame International Study Programs

LOOK!

• Do you want to extend your college experience?
• Did you know you could spend a semester or year abroad and still graduate in four years with a Notre Dame degree?
• Are you aware of Notre Dame's ongoing study abroad programs?
• Would you like to learn about our new programs?

Find answers to these and many other questions at an Open House!

When: September 10, 1997
Where: Hurley Building around the globe!
Time: 4:30 p.m.
Host: ISP Staff, 109 Hurley
Tel: 631-5882

Refreshments will be provided!
Soccer
continued from page 20

career, playing for the injured Ryan Cox. Then, ten minutes into the second half, he scored for the first time in his college career to give the Irish a 3-0 lead. The goal came from just inside the penalty box following feeds from senior Bill Savarino and sophomore Matt McNew, who were both credited with assists.

"I really can't describe the feeling that I had after the goal," McKnight said. "It was amazing. I can relax a little now that I have the first one under my belt and focus on the things that I can do to help the team."

The game marked the return of seniors Savarino and co-captain Ryan Turner, two of the leading scorers from last year. Both sat out the first two games of the season for team policy violations. Savarino recorded an assist, and Turner played a very well up front, creating several scoring opportunities for the Irish.

"As a team, we did a great job of creating scoring chances," Aris said. "We took advantage of a few of those opportunities and came out with the win."

After a fast start by the Friars, Notre Dame controlled play for much of the game. Notre Dame outshot the Providence 16-7, and had a 7-1 advantage in corner kicks. Irish goalkeeper Greg Velho had five saves in the game, recording his second shutout of the season and the 15th of his career.

"As a defense, we wanted to come out strong and set the tone for the game early on," co-captain Matt Johnson said. "Last year, the defense was very strong and we had yet to re-establish ourselves this year so this game was important in getting back on track for the rest of the year."

It was the first game for Notre Dame since losing to highly-ranked Indiana last week.

"We just tried to build on the positives of the Indiana game and focus on our Big East games," McKnight said.

This win was very important because it gives us some momentum for the rest of the season."

The Irish return to action Wednesday when they travel to Valparaiso.
MLB

Indians sweep White Sox with a 5-2 home victory

By KEN BERGER
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND

Matt Williams extended his career-high hitting streak to 23 games, and Cleveland held Albert Belle hitless in his second homecoming series as the Indians swept the Chicago White Sox with a 5-2 victory Sunday night.

Jim Thome and Tony Fernandez homered as the Indians won all three games from the third-place White Sox. Chicago lost its fifth straight and faded to eight games behind the Indians in the Central.

Williams tied it at 2 in the fourth with his 37th homer. Manny Ramirez drove in the go-ahead run with a single in the fifth. Thome tied it at 2 in the fourth with his 37th homer. Manny Ramirez drove in the go-ahead run with a single in the fifth.

Victory

continued from page 20

Shannon Boxx and Monica Gonzalez at 10:43 opened the scoring, before Washington's Jana Wilson netted the first goal surrendered by the Irish defense this season, ending a 210-minute scoreless streak.

Holly Manthei headed a cross from Streiffer past Washington goalie Gretchen Menzinger at 42:56, giving Notre Dame the lead for good. Manthei also added an assist on Jen Heft's goal to cap off the scoring.

Notre Dame goalie LaKeysia Beene recorded two saves, while the Irish outshot the Huskies, 28-11.

Next weekend, Notre Dame takes on Big East rivals Pittsburgh and West Virginia before returning home for the Adidas/Lady Footlocker Classic and a date with top-ranked North Carolina.

---

Attention Sophomores!

Get involved in 1997-98 JPW

The committee for this year's Junior Parent's Weekend is looking for a Sophomore Chairperson. This is your chance to get involved in one of the most exciting events of junior year. Don't let this opportunity pass you by, apply now!

- Applications are now available at the LaFortune Information Desk.
- Applications must be returned to 315 LaFortune by September 26.

If you have any questions please call Jeff Jones at x1631.

---

Write for The Observer

To Our Favorite Little Spriter! We can't believe another year has come and gone so fast.

Happy Birthday! Love, Everyone

---

University of Notre Dame International Study Program in

MONTERREY,
MEXICO

INFORMATION MEETING

MONDAY
SEPTEMBER 8, 1997
118 DEBARTOLO
4:30 P.M.

---

Tournment Open to

Field is 60 Yd. By 40 Yd.
5 ON 5 PLUS GOALIE
REGISTER A TEAM IN THE RECSPORTS OFFICE
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11
TOURNAMENT IS LIMITED TO THE FIRST 12 TEAMS THAT ENTER

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL RECSPORTS AT 631-6100
www.nd.edu/recsport
The Irish started play on Saturday with an exciting win over Utah, 15-1, 15-8, 17-15. Lee continued to lead the team scoring 21 kills on .321 hitting. After blanking Gonzaga in the final game yesterday, the Irish continued their torrid pace against the Utes, with a team hitting percentage of .467 in game one.

The win against the Utes set up a championship match against the sixth-ranked Washington State Cougars. Despite a strong effort and a lengthened comeback in the third set, the Irish lost a battle, 15-9, 15-8, 11-14.

Washington State held a 14-8 lead in the third game before the Irish rallied to tie it, fighting off nine match points before losing. Notre Dame continued to struggle on their service game, with a .54 ace-to-error ratio so far this season.

"I think the biggest factor is that we weren't diversified enough offensively," Irish coach Debbie Brown commented. "We needed to be more unpredictable, not concentrating with one single hitter. We'll try to improve that as time goes on."

"Overall, I thought that we played better than we did last weekend," Lee continued from page 13.

"The Irish, currently 4-2, lost to the Gators, who advanced to the NCAA semifinals last year and have a record of 6-0, look to be one of the toughest opponents the team will face this season. "They're a very solid team," Brown remarked, "very good offensively and in blocking. They have a very strong middle blocker in Nina Foster, who is probably the best player on their team. In many ways, they are similar to what we faced with Washington State on Saturday. This match should probably be the best home game of the season."

Leffers, who went to Berkeley High School in Texas and played for the Tampa Juniors, is especially ready for tonight's match. "This match holds huge significance for me," he said. "I played with two of the Gator players, and Florida was one of the colleges that I was considering two years ago."

Volleyball

continued from page 20

The Observer • SPORTS

Monday, September 8, 1997

Are you going back to your high school to visit your friends?

Why not do it in style?

Meet Herbert Benson, M.D., founder of the Harvard Mind/Body Medical Institute, and explore his approach to mind/body/medical treatment.

Dr. Benson is here to celebrate the opening of the new Saint Joseph's Mind/Body Medical Institute.

Mind/body medicine combines relaxation-response techniques, nutrition, exercise and cognitive therapies along with standard medical practices.

In his new book "The Relaxation Response," and several other books. His latest work is a "Power and Biology of Belief."

Join us at 6 p.m. on September 11 and learn how to use your mind/body and spiritual powers.

For information call Jessica at 631-5829

Security will guard & register bikes from 7:00am to 5:30pm at the northwestern door of DeBartolo Hall

Referees will be available in the morning.

Tuesday, September 9

Are you going back to your high school to visit your friends?

Why not do it in style?

Become a High School Ambassador.
MOTHER GOOSE & GRIMM

DILBERT CROSSWORD

---

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1. Track reports? (4)
2. More units below (5)
3. Year used in (4, 5)
4. Hair coloring (6)
5. Rarely (4, 7)
6. Humors in

DOWN

1. Memorable periods (7)
2. Books (7)
3. A trip to the (6)
4. Chastises (6)
5. A disease (4)
6. A disease (6)
7. A disease (6)

---

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

1. It is not a chiasmus.
2. It is not a palindrome.
3. It is not a reverse of the previous line.
4. It is not a cryptogram.

---

YOUR HOROSCOPE

EUGENIA LAST

DEAR EUGENIA: I was born on Nov. 29, 1959. I've read your horoscope several times, but I never really understood what it meant. Could you please explain what it means when you say something like, "Your energy will be high. Therefore, it's the perfect time to pick up that new job or start that project that's been sitting on your desk for weeks." Does it mean that I should take immediate action or will it happen naturally?

DEAR SALLY: I'm experiencing some hard times and I'm finding it difficult to get out of bed in the morning. I feel like I'm always late for appointments and I'm having trouble sleeping at night. Could you please give me some advice on how to overcome this problem?

---

Making checks payable to:

[ ] Enclosed is $85 for one academic year
[ ] Enclosed is $45 for one semester

Name __________________________
Address ______________________
City __________________________ State ______ Zip ______

The Observer • TODAY

MEN ABOUT CAMPUS

SCOTT ADAMS

Wally, We Don't Have Time to Gather the Product Requirements Ahead of Time.

DAN SULLIVAN

I WANT YOU TO START DESIGNING THE PRODUCT ANYWAY. OTHERWISE IT WILL LOOK LIKE WE AREN'T ACCOMPLISHING ANYTHING.

---

CELEBRITY BIRTHDAYS TODAY:

-- Dan Quayle

GAMMAS PLUS

- Social activity should be scheduled. In other words, if you get involved in sports events, in your courses you will connect.

---

THE OBSERVER

Join The Observer Staff!

Wanted: Reporters, photographers and editors.

Join The Observer Staff.
Irish continue unbeaten streak

Gerardo's header leads team to win

By ALLISON KRILLA
Sports Writer

In a battle of the unbeatens, second-ranked Notre Dame ousted third-ranked Portland 1-0 yesterday, ending the Pilots' 25-0-0 home field unbeaten streak.

VOLLEYBALL

Netters take second in tourney

By BILL HART
Sports Writer

Playing away from home is never easy, especially at such an early stage of the season. For one player, however, a weekend homecoming made it easier. Notre Dame's volleyball team, ranked 20th in the nation, took second place this weekend in the Spikeoff Spokane.

The Irish opened play on Friday with a three game win over Gonzaga, 15-10, 15-7, 15-0. Senior hitter and Spokane native Jaimie Lee led the Irish in her first starting role of the season, with a team-high 18 kills. Notre Dame was also helped by its starting middle blockers, who scored 24 kills between them. Sophomore Mary Leffers totaled ten kills in 16 attempts, while junior Lindsay Treadwell took 14 kills in 20 tries.

MEN'S SOCCER

Woods helps spark win over Providence

By TOM STUDEBAKER
Sports Writer

Freshman Reggio McKnight scored a goal and contributed two assists and sophomore Alan Woods added a goal and an assist to lead the Notre Dame men's soccer team to its first win of the season.

Junior Lindsay Treadwell had 14 kills in Friday's win over Gonzaga. Due to the shortness of the match, senior hitter Angie Harris could not set a record for consecutive matches with more than twenty kills. Harris did tie the record set by Lee during the 1995 Purdue Premier.

Irish struggle in Davie's debut

see Irish Insider

SPORTS

page 20

Monday, September 8, 1997

Irish Volleyball finishes third

see page 18

Williams discusses U.S. Open

see page 12