Listen up
Check out reviews of new work from the Foo Fighters, Incubus and Da`vid Bowie.
Scene • page 12-13

Carnegie or bust
Saint Mary’s women’s choir will be traveling to Carnegie Hall for a performance later this month.
News • page 3

Tuesday
NOVEMBER 16, 1999

Students for Clean Plates to protest

By JACKIE OSTROWSKI

In an effort to create student awareness about the amount of wasted food at Notre Dame and throughout the world, a group called Students for Clean Plates will be sponsoring a dining hall protest on Thursday.

Students for Clean Plates will distribute flyers in the dining halls during the week to coincide with the National Student Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness Week.

The group will host a real-time demonstration to show the student body how much food they waste daily. Students will be asked to scrape their unused food into a trash dumpster to remind them that every item they leave on their tray will be thrown away.

“The dining halls are set up in a way that makes it very easy to waste food without thinking,” said Rene Mulligan, who coordinated the week’s events with Hamin Skibba. She noted that students could use their experience at the Notre Dame demonstration to relate to the situation in the rest of the world.

Just as Notre Dame students waste edible, untouched food on their trays, many well-fed Americans, used to an abundance of everything, do the same.

“It’s important to start at home,” said Mulligan. “It is very obvious that we can do something to make a difference by not wasting food.”

This project is the first major undertaking for the Students for Clean Plates. The group began in September as a combination of two other student groups — Students for Environmental Action and the World Hunger Coalition — and has since become its own organization. Its 26 club members, Mulligan and Skibba also contacted all presidents of campus clubs that might be interested in such a project during the week.

“Though Students For Clean Plates is a relatively young organization, Mulligan said its current campaign against food wasting weeks a powerful message reminding students of the less fortunate world outside Notre Dame.

“No food should go to waste when people are hungry,” she said.

Faculty discuss graduate research funding

By MAUREEN SMITHE

Antoni Dvorak at Saint Mary’s last night. The event was sponsored by the Nanovic Institute for European Studies.

Castellino outlined three steps that should yield increased research funding. First, his committee suggested that “the overall attitude [of the University] must evolve,” he said. “We essentially operate as a nine-month undergraduate driven university — we should operate as a 12-month graduate driven university.”

To improve the overall research climate on campus, Castellino said that attractive fellowships are needed to attract graduate students. “We must provide to these students competitive salaries [and] increased funding,” he said.

In addition, his committee suggested changes such as affordable family medical insurance and affordable day care for graduate students’ children.

Secondly, Castellino said that changes to University infrastructure would increase research funds. “We must make Notre Dame as attractive as possible for recruitment,” he said.”

“Centers and institutes are the way to significantly increase research funding.”

Frank Castellino
Dean, College of Science

The Music Maker

Conducted by Charles Ansmbacher, the Sarajevo Philharmonic Orchestra performed pieces by Eric Breton, Asim Hronzic and Anton Dvorak at Saint Mary’s last night. The event was sponsored by the Nanovic Institute for European Studies.

University attitudes towards research, said Frank Castellino, dean of the College of Science. Anthony Hyder, vice president of the Graduate School, blaming Notre Dame’s faculty for low external grants. Last year 62 percent of external grants were generated by just 40 faculty members.

“Six percent of faculty were responsible for almost two-thirds of the awards dollars the University received. The key to generating more external funds lies in making more faculty responsible for generating part of the support for their scholarship,” he said.

The panel presented recommendations for program improvement and stressed the need for increased research funding.

“We have a goal in which programs will exist for the good of the University. We are more program driven than fund driven,” Castellino said.

For more information about the University’s research initiatives, see RESEARCH/page 4

See RESEARCH/page 4

IMPORTANT: Your submission was successfully generated. Press [Enter] to continue. You can also click on the "Update Preview" button to make changes if necessary.
INSIDE COLUMN

Bone thugs and basketball

Thugs. That’s the only word that can relate what the men’s basketball team looks like in its new uniforms. This year.

Maybe you haven’t seen those hideous new threads that the team is sporting this year, so let me describe them to you. Basically, take a T-shirt, cut the sleeves off and you’ve got what the new uniforms look like. A lot of teams are wearing this style of uniform and all the teams that wear them are a bunch of thugs. The team that immediately sprang to my mind when I see these uniforms is the teams that wear them. The teams that wear them look like a bunch of thugs. The team that immediately sprang to my mind when I see these uniforms is the Bearcats (what is a Bearcat anyway?). Why do we want anything related to Cincinnati on our basketball team? (Although the No. 1 ranking is published Monday through Friday, the Bearcats are number one in the Associated Press poll.)

So it all comes back to the uniforms. Why do we want to look like a bunch of thugs? Coach Matt Doherty has said that he believes that Notre Dame can achieve the same kind of success on the basketball court that Duke and Stanford enjoy. Neither Duke nor Stanford dress up in a bunch of street punk threads. Doherty comes from great basketball traditions like Kansas and North Carolina where tradition reigns and basketball success follows. You won’t see the Jayhawks or the Tarheels wearing high fashion any time soon.

Back in the ’70s, when Notre Dame basketball was a contender every year with top players like Austin Carr, the Irish wore the standard, traditional basketball uniforms. Aren’t those the days that everyone wants the Irish to return to? This team has uniforms that resemble those glory days of Irish hoops. On the cover of the media guide the Irish players wear these uniforms. Knowing that Notre Dame has gone 24-0 in conference this season gives you the uniforms of last year that seemed fine to me — why are the Irish wearing those thug uniforms?

Do the Irish really want to emulate the Bearcats? Do they want to look like a bunch of arrogant, underskilled thatspend so much time strutting and congratulating themselves that they let a West Virginia player hit a three-pointer in their face to win the game like the Bearcats did in the NCAA tournament two years ago? I hope not.

Some might say that I am overreacting to something stupid that has nothing to do with the outcome of a basketball game. But the way you dress and the way you carry yourself says a lot about the kind of person you are. If the Irish want to look like a bunch of thugs, then eventually they will start acting like a bunch of thugs and then Notre Dame will end up with a bunch of thugs program like Cincinnati. Is it a trip to March Madness really worth sacrificing the basketball program like Cincinnati. Is it a trip to March Madness really worth sacrificing the basketball program like Cincinnati?

Quotes of the Week

Chisie Velky

Farley senator on the definition of editorial independence

“I wasn’t a newspaper that just goes with the flow. (Mallory). This is a newspaper for us.”

Saud Fahlir

Muslim student on practicing her faith at Notre Dame

“I’ve faced a lot of ignorance here.”

Burkard Prasse

PhD. candidate in physics on the fail of the Berlin Wall

“We must establish and continue our constructive, substantive, respective and ongoing dialogue between university presidents and bishops.”

OUTSIDE THE DOME

Cambridge’s

Cambridge’s early applicant pool increases

This year’s Harvard early action pool has increased by 50 percent from last year.

BERKELEY, Calif.

Cal students pull anti-Stanford pranks

With the Stanford basketball team on a roll, they have pulled a prank on the Stanford students.

Florida students oppose Bush’s plan

Although approval of Gov. Jeb Bush’s anti-Affirmative Action One Florida plan seems likely by the Board of Regents this week, Student Government officials are encouraging students to oppose the policy. University of Florida student body vice president Jocelyn Moore said One Florida would create “ghetto schools” where minorities from under-performing schools would be sent because they could not meet admissions requirements to schools like University of Florida. “We have certain differences in our [K-12] school system, which, under this plan, aren’t going to be remedied,” Moore said. Said Friday she was still “reeling” from the reality of Bush’s plan, which she said could cause immediate decline in minority admissions. “It really scares me,” Moore said. “I don’t know where we’re going to go from this.” Moore encouraged students to call and e-mail the Board of Regents before its meetings Thursday and Friday. “Still, she said while a response by students opposing One Florida would be ideal, she does not expect it to help prevent the Regents from accepting the plan.
Junior’s stock pick scores high

By KATIE NAGENGAST

Never underestimate the luck of the position.

John Lavan, a junior finance major, emerged victorious from the Wall Street Journal's latest stock picking contest after choosing his stock randomly from the Nasdaq Stock Market table.

His technique for choosing the successful stock was simply to run his finger down the table until he got to the letter "E." Lavan's luck then led him to Elbit Ltd., an Israeli maker of electronic and imaging systems that rose more than 110 percent during the contest, which ran from May to October 29.

"I didn't really research Elbit," Lavan said. "I had never heard of it and I have never heard of it since in the news or anything."

Originally Lavan was up against more than 900 other Wall Street Journal readers who entered the contest via e-mail just as he had. However, in April, Lavan's entry was one of four chosen at random to represent the amateur Reader's Portfolio. The contest also charted the results of four professional investors' choices as the Professional Portfolio, and chose four Nasdaq stocks randomly to represent the Boardroom Portfolio.

"It was weird because I didn't even realize I had been picked as a finalist until about six weeks after the contest had started," said Lavan. "My aunt sent me a copy of the original article I was in," Lavan said. "The random nature of the contest had named as a finalist all investors who had picked Elbit to check the progress of his random selection.

"If I was a professional investor, I would never enter one of these contests, because you can't win." - John Lavan, Junior Lavan's hovering stock lead the Reader's Portfolio to a 24 percent average gain, trouncing the 15.5 percent gain charted by the Professional Portfolio. The Boardroom Portfolio's earnings also beat the Professional Portfolio with 1.8 percent profit, again showing the random nature of the stock market, according to analysts.

"If I was a professional investor, I would never enter one of these contests, because you can't win." Lavan explained. "I was just lucky to have a lucky college kid beat me," said Lavan.

In fact, Lavan hopes to one day join the ranks of the professional investors, despite their recent random defeat. "I was just reading the Wall Street Journal before class one day last spring and I thought it would be fun (to enter this contest)," Lavan said. "I never thought I would win, I just sent it in to see what would happen." Lavan added, "I didn't do it because I'm interested in investments. That's what I'm thinking about doing as a career. I did an internship last summer, but it was with more of an accounting firm. This summer I'm looking for investment banking, or an investment firm, so this should help," Lavan continued.

Unfortunately for Lavan, his stock earnings were merely hypothetical because entering the contest did not actually require purchasing stock he chose. In addition, Lavan did not receive any prizes for his victory beyond bragging rights and some positive press. "It's still pretty exciting. People ask me about my relatives work with mention it to them. Plus, the Wall Street Journal called my professors, though most of them read it anyway. Some of them even cut out the article and handed it to me, and I talked to them about it."

Despite his newfound fame, Lavan is reluctant to offer any words of wisdom.

"There's not much I can say. I didn't really do anything," Lavan explained. "Everyone is expecting me to have some investment philosophy, but I'm just lucky, I guess."

"I think we're very excited," said Mary Dini, a Notre Dame grad student who graduated from Saint Mary's two years ago with a music minor. "It's been a lot of fun exploring the music, and you tell people about it. One of the pieces we're performing (Canticle of Mary) was commissioned in 1994. I was in the choir when we first premiered the piece. It's great that more people will be able to hear it."

SMC choir to perform at Carnegie Hall

By NELLY WILLIAMS

Saint Mary's students and alumnae will perform this weekend at the same place Rachmaninoff sang and Tchaikovsky conducted - on Monday, Nov. 21 at 2 p.m., the Saint Mary's Women's Choir along with Penn High School Women's Chorus, will perform a concert in Carnegie Hall. Saint Mary's and Penn High School are meeting up with 65 other singers in New York, making the total number of performers 170. The students will leave Thursday and arrive back next Monday.

"We think we're very excited," said Nancy Menk, chair of the music department and the leader of the Saint Mary's Women's choir. "It's just a matter of getting together with all the other performers."

In addition to the students, 40 Saint Mary's alumnae will be coming from around the country to join the singers. (The alumnae) add maturity of voice and a more mature sound," said Menk. "They all sang consistently in their four years here. They have strong voices."

Prof: new banking bill concentrates wealth

A Notre Same Law School professor general favors the legislation to overhaul banking laws that was signed Nov. 12 by President Clinton, but he has concerns about several issues.

"Financial services modernization is long overdue and it's to everyone's benefit that that president has signed the legislation," says Vincent Rougeau, associate professor of law and associate dean. "Nevertheless, I think there is a tendency to trivialize the ceremony that motivated Congress to separate banking, insurance and securities activities in the first place, namely the fear of unduly concentrated economic power. There is plenty of evidence to suggest that wealth is becoming increasingly concentrated in this country, and huge financial services conglomerates may exacerbate that trend."

Rougeau cautioned that there are also major problems with the new bill that remain concerning the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA).

"Although a compromise on the CRA has been reached that will allow the modernization legislation to move forward, I think we can expect to see continued debate on the issue of how the financial services industry should deal with underserved communities," he said.

"Smaller banks, in particular, have major problems with CRA," he continued. "My own view is that the CRA is quite important, but it must be revised to deal with the new realities in the financial services marketplace. I don't think the passage of the new financial services bill will end debate on the CRA."

Do you like to write? Would you like to write for us? Call 1-5523.
Convicted nurse gets life in prison

Associated Press

BRAZIL, Ind. For nearly a month, former nurse Orlvive Lynn Majors has awaited her fate in a jail cell across from the street from the courthouse where a jury convicted her in the murder of six patients.

Today, on his mother's birthday, Majors is expected to become the most prolific convicted killer in Indiana's prison system.

Even Majors' attorneys expect Special Judge Ernest Yellon to give the former nurse the maximum possible sentence — 360 years in prison.

Majors, 38, was convicted Oct. 17 of a six-week trial of giving lethal injections to six patients at a west-central Indiana hospital. He maintains his innocence and his lawyers are appealing.

But Majors, with six murder convictions to his name, will soon hold a notorious place in the state's prison system.

Two men serving time in Indiana for five murder convictions each are serving triple-digit sentences, said Pam Pattison, a spokeswoman for the Department of Correction.

"He has the most," Pattison said of Majors.

Prosecutors opted not to make a formal sentencing recommendation in Majors' case, dropping an earlier request for life in prison without parole.

"I've always felt sentencing is the judge's decision," deputy prosecutor Nina Alexander said.

Yellon must sentence Majors under the law in place when the killings occurred in the Vermillion County Hospital. That means he could get between 30 and 60 years for each murder conviction.

The judge also has to decide if Majors should serve the sentences concurrently or consecutively, which means one after another. The latter choice could mean a maximum prison term of 360 years.

Indiana State Police investigators suggest Majors gave lethal injections to dozens of patients at the hospital, pointing to two statistical studies that were never presented at trial.

Police say a nursing supervisor's study showed Majors was present at 130 of 147 deaths in the ICU from March 1993 to March 1995, when the hospital fired him. A more scientific study, ordered by the police, found Majors was on duty for 63 of 67 deaths in the last six months of 1994.

But Vermilion County prosecutors pressed charges in the seven cases they were certain they could prove in court.

And jurors ended up being convinced of six murders. After four full days of deliberation, the jury could not decide whether Majors was guilty of murdering patient Cecil Ivan Smith.

Immediately after the sentencing hearing, Pattison said officials will take Majors to Plainfield facility where DOC doctors evaluate new inmates' mental conditions before they are shipped to state prisons.

After that, Majors would serve his term in one of three maximum security prisons.

Engine failure blamed for Purdue plane crash

Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind. A National Transportation Safety Board report blames an "inadvertent" engine stall and instructor error for a 1997 plane crash that killed two Purdue University students and their instructor.

The undated report, released after a two-year investigation and obtained by The Associated Press and Courier, contained no surprises, said Michael Kroes, head of Purdue's aviation technology department.

He said investigators told him in early 1998 that human error was the probable cause. The plane disintegrated and burned, and there was no flight recorder or survivors, so "there is probably a lot we will never know," Kroes said.

Based on the wreckage, maintenance records and four eyewitness accounts of the crash, mechanical failure was "pretty much ruled out" from the start, said David Bowling, NTSB regional safety investigator.

Instructor Jeremy Sandin, 24, was killed along with students Julie Swengel and Adam Castellini, both 21. The plane disintegrated and burned during an exercise in which one engine was removed and the two-engine plane was idled by the instructor, simulating an engine failure.

In the test, the student had to determine which engine had been shut down, then figure out what to do to restore power. An altitude of at least 400 feet was required.

The NTSB concluded that Sandin idled the plane at too low of an altitude and the aircraft pitched to the right at 100-150 feet, nosed down and crashed.

Sandin also failed to reset the altimeter, which killed two Purdue University students and their instructor.

"You have to face the reality that whatever centers we contain no surprises, said Michael Kroes, head of Purdue's aviation technology department.

"Can one teach at the frontier, if one is not familiar with it?" he said.

Innsbruck, Austria

2000-2001 ACADEMIC YEAR

APPLICATION DEADLINE: 12/1/99

For more information on the program or the application process,

Attend the Informational Meeting with Innsbruck Returnees and Campus Co-ordinator, Hannelore Weber

Tuesday, November 16, 1999

4:30 PM, in Room 206 DeBartolo

University of Notre Dame International Study Program in

COWBOY MOUTH

"One kick ass live show!"

ounding Stone

November 17

at Steam Center

Tickets available at Lafferter Info Desk or call 651-8129

$10 students/ $12 GA
World News Briefs

Salt threatens famed Indian temple

A 700-year-old temple that survived last month's supercylone in southeastern India is now threatened by corrosive salts in floodwaters, officials said Monday. The famed Hindu Nat Temple was "seriously damaged by the cyclone." But the thick forests planted by India's kings to protect it were destroyed, leaving it open to the corrosive winds from the ocean. The forests are also flooded, and at one point during the storm the temple was under 5 feet of water. "The forest cover around the temple has been totally destroyed by the storm," said a U.N. official in charge of the temple. "Salt winds will now hit the temple directly. If it continues for a long period, it will definitely cause harm to the porous stone," he said in an interview. (an unnamed government official)

Bradley suggests defense spending cuts

J.W. MOHINES, Iowa

Bill Bradley rapped barking Monday from a liberal peace group and suggested that it may be time for cuts in defense spending. Bradley has said he would hold the line on defense spending, which earned him an endorsement from New POM, or Stop the Arms Race Political Action Committee, an Iowa group formed in 1980 to push for reduced defense spending. In a statement announcing the group's support for his Democratic presidential campaign, Bradley suggested he would go further than simply holding the line. "It is also time to look at a bipartisan basis, the factors that needlessly raise the costs of our armed forces, including the extravagant government's resource management," he said.

Yosemite bear attacks down 54 percent

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif.

Incidents between bears and humans at Yosemite National Park dropped 54 percent last spring and summer after a yearlong blitz that included everything from educational videos to bear-proof jockeys. "It was a visual success," said Kendall Thompson, a park Service ranger. The strategy was simple, said Robert Hansen, executive director of the Yosemite, a nonprofit organization that gave $1.5 million to help bankroll the park's bear-control program. "Instead of trying to change the bear behavior," he said, "we changed humans' behavior."

Turkey

Turkish rescue workers search for possible survivors in a destroyed apartment house in the center of Duzce, east of Istanbul on Nov. 15. An earthquake measuring 7.2 on the Richter scale, hit the northeastern region of Turkey leaving at least 400 people dead on Nov. 12.

Turkey morns loss of 374

Associated Press

A YANSAL

The wailing of distraught survivors and the plaintive chanting of verses from the Koran filled the chilly air as residents of this devastated town buried 60 of their dead on Sunday.

Hopes of finding more people alive under the rubble of Friday's earthquake faded, but the officially announced death toll of 374 seemed sure to rise.

Families sobbed and people sought to console one another as they sat before the ruins of homes where they said relatives still lay entombed.

The town of 15,000 may have been harder hit than the regional center. Duzce, 10 miles to the west. In some neighborhoods, not a single home or shop remains standing.

Roadside stands where vendors used to sell the town's popular ceramic bowls were shaken to bits, looking much as the bowls themselves would look after falling from a shelf. Glass and rubble covered many streets.

Light poles were strewn about like toothpicks. The walls of a large mosque had collapsed, leaving the intact dome resting eerily on the ground.

Near the mosque, people that numb with shock as they tried to confront the scope of the disaster. "The two top floors collapsed on us," said Hazar Zengin, 33, who spent much of the day Sunday standing bleakly at a wooden hills past the edge of town. "I picked up my children, lay with them on the floor, and told them, 'We're dying now.' But we were next to the sofa, and that saved us because the concrete didn't fall on our beds."

Zengin said that after she crawled to safety, she heard cries from her mother, who was trapped in another part of their house. With the help of neighbors, she frantically clawed through the rubble until her mother was free.

"Her joy, however, was short-lived. She soon learned that her sister, brother-in-law and two young nephews had perished during the quake."

"God took everything," she moaned. "We have nothing left. What will we do when winter comes?"

Friday's quake was the worst in northwestern Turkey since the major one on Aug. 17 that killed more than 20,000 people in the region.

Aid workers from nearby dozen countries poured into the afflicted area on Sunday. A French team searched for survivors here in Kayhanli, Israeli doctors and Americans with search dogs arrived in Duzce, along with teams from Russia, Algeria, Italy, Germany and Greece.

U.N. worries over U.S. debt deal

Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS

U.N. ambassadors escalated Monday to com- plement the tentative deal for the United Nations nearly $1 billion in back dues, but complained it wasn't enough and that the agreement contained troubled-conditions.

Canadian Ambassador Robert Fowler said his government had "severe problems" with the deal because it didn't pay all the U.N. arrears, which the United Nations says have reached $1.6 billion.

Nevertheless, "If this means that in the very least that the U.S. does not lose its vote in the General Assembly, it's good news," Fowler said.

The United States, the biggest debtor to the United Nations, but also the country billed the most, must pay $300 million by Dec. 31 to keep its seat in the U.N. General Assembly. Its vote in the Security Council is secured.

The administration and Congress reached the deal Sunday night after Clinton yielded on conservatives' demands for limits on some U.S.-subsidized abortion activities overseas. In exchange, $926 million would be provided to pay the U.S. dues.

The spokesman for Secretary-General Kofi Annan said he wouldn't comment until the legislation is signed, but did express concern about conditions for payment and when the money would actually be received.

"I'm not sure even that we can say for sure that the Article 19 threat — the loss of vote threat — will no longer exist," said spokesman Fred Eckhardt. "It very much depends on the schedule for paying out this money and how much they try to get us.

The legislation calls for the U.S. share of the regular U.N. budget to be reduced from the present 25 percent to 20 percent; and that its share of peacekeeping operations be reduced from 31 percent to 25 percent.

"That has still got to go through the U.N. membership and there will be some reservations to that package as it stands," said British Ambassador Jeremy Greenstock. "We'll have to talk about that when it becomes a real possibility."

But Rep. Ben Gilman, R-New York, visiting the United Nations with a congressional delegation, indicated the deal for a reduced bill and other calls for U.N. reform wouldn't hold up payment of the $926 million.

"I think the deal will be to move forward on the payment and then still remind the U.N. there are some conditions that won't go away," said Gilman, chairman of the House International Relations Committee.

U.S. Ambassador Richard Holbrooke acknowledged that the deal came with "strings attached," but said it was the only way to get the United Nations the money it was owed.
Friends testify for man in dragging case

Associated Press

JASPER, Texas Black friends testified Monday on behalf of a white man accused of dragging a black man to death behind a pickup truck, saying they believe he's not a racist.

Joseph Glenn, Larry Don Buford and Ann-Marie Northing all said they have no reason to believe former movie theater manager Shaw Allen Berry is a bigot.

"Shawn had black friends," Buford said. "Sometimes if a (black) customer at the theater didn't have enough for a ticket, he'd give them money out of his pocket or give them a ticket.

Glenn, who once worked with the store, said he had never heard Berry make racist statements and added Berry was done as a black man who now is deceased. Berry cried at the man's funeral, Glenn said.

The three were among more than a half dozen who said they had never known Berry to be a racist. Some also testified that Berry disliked confrontations and backed down from fights.

Berry is expected to testify Tuesday, his attorney said.

Berry's brother, Louis Berry, said they were not raised to hate blacks or anyone else.

"I know people would expect me to say that because he's my brother, but it's the truth," he said.

Prosecutors in the capital murder case have not tried to prove that Berry, 24, harbored racial prejudices. They charge that he participated in the June 7, 1998, dragging death of James Byrd, making him as culpable as his two former roommates.

John William King, 25, and Lawrence Russell Brewer, 28, already have been convicted and sentenced to death. King and Brewer were convicted at their trial of being first lady and running for president.

She has to give up her day job and concentrate on her Senate campaign.

Judith Hope, the state Democrratic chairwoman, was reacting to the political fallout from Clinton's trip to the Middle East, in which the First Lady, who was being first lady and running for Senate.

"Of course, you can't just quit that job as first lady, but someone, some kind of mechanism needs to be found to enable her to be a candidate," Hope said.

"Maybe she needs to put a cell phone in her hand in Chappaqua and move in there," the party leader said who added with a laugh, "She may have to give her cell phone to New York. We're a demanding group.

Last week, Clinton sat silently as Sophia Arafat, accused Israeli forces of using "poison gas ... which has led to an increase of cancer cases among Palestinian women and children.

The first lady subsequently embraced Arafat.

A full day later, and after New York Mayor Rudolph Giuliani criticized Clinton for allowing the remarks to go unchallenged, the first lady said comments such as those made by Arafat could hurt the peace process.

In New York City, where the Jewish vote is a linchpin in a tight race, Clinton's tightrope in the Middle East could work in favor of Giuliani, her likely opponent in the New York Senate race.

Twelve percent of New York's voters are Jewish.

A Quinnipiac poll earlier this month indicated the mayor and the first lady are in a statistical dead heat when it comes to the Jewish voters, with 46 percent of them backing her and 43 percent Giuliani.

Referring to the challenges that Clinton faces in trying to be both candidate and first lady, Hope said, "Maybe she has to give up her day job."

Howard Wolfson, a spokesman for Clinton's campaign, responded: "She is making the transition from full-time first lady to Senate candidate and I expect that next year, she will devote the vast majority of her time, resources and energy to running for Senate."

Clinton isn't expected to formally declare her candidacy until January or early February. Giuliani has also not yet formally declared his candidacy, but has been raising money and campaigning for months.

Gore grilled on Microsoft ruling

Associated Press

REDMOND, Wash. Vice President Al Gore faced tough questioning Monday from Microsoft Corp. managers, many of who argued that the Justice Department's decision to recall the Justice Department's celebration after a federal judge declared the computer software company a monopoly.

Gore himself raised the antitrust issue, although he did not question on the Justice Department lawsuit against Microsoft or the Nov. 5 decision by U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson that Microsoft had unfairly stilled competition.

Although the audience of about 500 mid- and upper-level managers mostly cheered Gore's early comments in support of gun control laws, abortion rights and a national hate crimes law, the atmosphere turned sour when the topic turned to antitrust.

Microsoft Chairman Bill Gates, who had spoken the night before at the Comdex computer and software convention in Las Vegas, was not present.

"I was pretty upset and angry when I read about what they said about this company," one manager told the vice president, who is campaigning against former Sen. Bill Bradley to become the Democratic Party's candidate for president next year.

Gore said it is "not a wild, crazy notion that the antitrust laws would apply to the software industry." He stressed, however, that he was not specifically referring to Microsoft and its market power.

Microsoft dominates the market for personal computer operating systems with its Windows software.

Within hours after the judge's decision, Attorney General Janet Reno and Justice Department antitrust attorney Joel Klein hailed the ruling as a "victory for consumers.

"I am deeply conflicted to see an administration selecting a favorably reaction to the judge's ruling, one of Gore's questions said.

"The problem is I want to vote for you, but I feel deeply conflicted," Gore asked how many other employers had similar feelings, and a majority of the managers said they had.

"Boy, am I glad I opened this to the press," Gore said, referring to his threat to cancel the appearance after Microsoft initially refused to let reporters cover it.

Gore told the employees that "I respect your feelings." But he also said antitrust laws must be enforced when competition is unfairly stifled.

"The marketplace ought to accommodate a chance to compete," he said, "When dominance in one area is used to prevent competition in another area, that's wrong."

Gore later told reporters that the Justice Department's decision to go after Microsoft was made without any consultation with the White House. The department operates independently in such cases, he said, adding, "That has been a tradition of Democratic and Republican administrations and is written into law."

Gore was introduced by Jeff Rakes, Microsoft's group vice president for worldwide sales and support, and a member of Gore's national finance committee.

While on the Microsoft campus, Gore also toured the company's online political magazine, "The Slate," which was named after his daughter Kareena once worked.

"I'm not sure it's the senator's center and was to head a fund-raiser Monday night at the Newcastle Golf Club, founded by former Microsoft executive Scott Okki.

Leader urges Clinton to focus on campaign

Associated Press

ALBANY, N.Y. The head of New York's Democratic Party suggested Monday that Hillary Rodham Clinton should put her Senate campaign on hold to focus on campaign.

"The early week special! Every Monday, Tuesday, & Wednesday"

2 Large Pizzas w/ Cheese $8 99

$1 Per Topping

Add Breadsticks for $1

Good every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday

Visa/Mastercard/Discover and Checks

Welcome!

The Observer • NATIONAL NEWS

Tuesday, November 16, 1999

"The marketplace ought to accommodate a chance to compete."
Birmingham Teachers Strike

Associated Press

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. Hundreds of teachers, bus drivers and lunchroom workers went on strike Monday, protesting a $30,000 raise for the city school superintendent at a time of meager pay increases for other school system employees.

Some of the system's 75 schools were virtually empty as teachers picketed the school board office. Administrators and substitute teachers filled where they could, but many parents kept their children home from school.

"We have spoken, and no one has listened," Alabama Education Association leader Paul Hubbert told a meeting of about 200 educators. "Today is the first time we have been listened to."

Teachers in Birmingham lack collective bargaining rights and do not have a contract. Hubbert said there is nothing in state law that says if teachers can strike. But a 1958 advisory opinion from the state attorney general said teachers cannot legally strike and that school boards may file suit to force strikers back to work.

Birmingham Education Association President Gwen Sykes conceded the work stoppage was probably illegal. "We don't have a legal right to strike, and we could face some problems because of it," she said. Ms. Sykes, assistant principal at a middle school, "But we are willing to go through that."

The strike followed a "sick-out" Friday by about 600 of the system's 2,100 teachers after the school board gave Superintendent Johnny Brown a 20 percent raise in salary and expenses from $151,000 to $181,000 annually. Some of Brown's top aides also recently received raises of as much as $20,000.

In contrast, teachers and other employees received raises of only 1 percent to 1.5 percent.

Brown, who has been superintendent since January 1998, said he would donate about $17,000 of his salary to statewide scholarships and asked school employees to return to work.

The system has some 39,000 students and about 4,300 employees, and Hubbert estimated as many as 70 percent of school employees were striking.

City schools spokeswoman Michelle Chapman said the actual number was lower, but she offered no firm count. Student attendance could not be counted until later in the day, she said.

Slywanda Jackson took her 5-year-old daughter Khadijah home after learning few workers at her elementary school cafeteria had showed up.

"Her teacher's in there, but they said they're not having any lunch," she said. "There aren't hardly any kids in there."

Alabama's last major teacher strike was in 1979, when Walker County educators were off the job a month to protest the firing of 42 teachers in a cost-cutting move.

The proposal requires approval by two-thirds of active bishops; retirees do not vote. If endorsed, it would go for final approval to the Vatican, which rejected a policy that the American bishops overwhelmingly approved in 1996.

The rewrite from Leibrecht's panel gives no ground on the mandate for theology teachers, but the current version specifies that theology who is granted a mandate can take it with him if he moves to a school in a different diocese. Leibrecht said the bishop of the new diocese would retain the right to review or cancel the mandate.
Come to Me all you who labor and are heavily burdened,
And I will give you rest...

I make a holy hour each day in the presence of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament. All my sisters of the Missionaries of Charity
make a daily holy hour as well, because we find that through our daily holy hour
our love for Jesus becomes more intimate, our love for each other more understanding, and our love for the poor more compassionate..."

- Mother Teresa

Jesus is here with us in the Eucharist to give us answers- answers that will lead us to truth, happiness and peace. In this culture of death, it is easy for people to become weary and indifferent to God and His gift of life. People often fall short of their obligation to care for and nurture the spiritual and physical lives of themselves and others.
Eucharistic Adoration gives a person the opportunity to nurture his own spiritual life, as well as the spiritual lives of others (through prayer for them.) Prayer also protects the physical lives of those endangered by abortion, euthanasia and other forms of violence. This is because, it is only through the grace which comes from prayer that other's hearts can be changed from seeking death to loving life. Christ gives us the strength to press on in our battle for life. In order to be Christ-like in our service to preserve life, we must be filled with His life through prayer. To be Christian, we must follow Christ. If He is not the source of all we do, it is worth nothing. We ask you to join us in prayer for life...

What is Eucharistic Adoration?
God is present to us in many ways in our world, but He is especially present to us in the Eucharist. As Roman Catholics, we believe that Jesus Christ, who lived 2000 years ago, is truly present in the Eucharist. In Eucharistic Adoration, the Host is placed in a monstrance, in order for us to be able to come and pray. Jesus is always hidden in the tabernacle, but in adoration he is exposed so that we can come and kneel before Him, face to face, and speak with our God. When Jesus is exposed like this, He can never be left alone. Thus, people sign up to be responsibale to some and pray with Him for a certain amount of time (usually 1 hour) every week.

Why should I go?
If Jesus were to come to the JACC, would you come and stand in line for ours just to talk to Him for a minute? Even if you weren’t Christian, wouldn’t you be at least interested in this God so may people talk about? Well, Jesus is truly, physically present here on campus- in the Eucharist. IN ADORATION YOU HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO GO
AND SPEAK WITH YOUR GOD
FACE TO FACE. You confide in Him, plead with Him, question Him. And if you sit quietly enough, he will inspire you with answers.

What do I do when I am there?
When you enter the chapel, you should genuflect as a sign of reverence to Jesus. It is common practice during Adoration to genuflect on two knees, instead of just one (like you do whenever you enter a chapel.) You can stand, sit, or kneel- whatever position you pray best in. And then you pray. There are many ways to pray: you do spiritual reading; you can pray a rosary; you can sit in silence; you can even just talk to Jesus- like you would to a friend. The most important thing is that you love Him and allow Him to love and strengthen you.

What does the Church think?
"Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, whether in a pyx or a monstrance, is a recognition of the wondrous Presence of Christ in the sacrament and stimulates us to unite ourselves to Him in a spiritual communion. It is, accordingly, eminently in harmony with the worship which we owe Him in spirit and truth...

Sponsored by Notre Dame Right to Life

AMDG JMJ

EUCHARISTIC ADORATION ON CAMPUS:

Friday: Lady Chapel in the Basilica: 12:00pm (following 11:30 Mass) - 5:00pm with a Rosary beginning at 4:15. (Ends with Benediction at 4:45)
Monday beginning at 11:30pm (following 11:00pm Mass) through Tuesday at 10:00pm (Ending with Benediction at 9:45-10:00) In Fisher Hall Chapel.
greater access to the relatively closed Chinese market for U.S. banks, insurers, telecommunications firms and Hollywood film exporters, according to a statement released by the U.S. Embassy.

None of the terms will take effect until China gains entry to the WTO and most would be phased in over five years or longer.

U.S. Trade Representative Charlene Barshefsky and China's foreign trade minister, Shi Guangsheng, signed the agreement. They then shook hands and were joined in a champagne toast by President Clinton's special economics adviser, Gene Sperling, and Long Yongtu, China's lead WTO negotiator.

Barshefsky then went to the Communist Party leadership compound and met Chinese President Jiang Zemin. "Where there's a will, there's a way," Jiang told Barshefsky after the signing.

In Ankara, Turkey, Clinton said the agreement was "a profoundly important step" in relations between Washington and Beijing and a boon for the global economy. China's admission to the WTO has been a major foreign policy and economic goal of the Clinton administration.

"In opening the economy of China, the agreement will create unprecedented opportunities for American farmers, workers and companies to compete successfully in China's market, while bringing increased prosperity to the people of China," the president said.

"This is a profound and historic moment in U.S.-China relations," Barshefsky said.

China's Shi called it a "win-win" deal that was "mutually satisfactory for both countries."

"We are looking forward to the day of becoming a full member of the WTO, within the year," Shi said.

The deal sent stock prices in Hong Kong soaring to their highest level in more than two years. It also brought congratulations from neighbors like Japan and South Korea as well as the Geneva-based WTO.

"I have said many times that we are not a world trade organization until China has joined," said WTO Director-General Mike Moore.

To get into the WTO, China still needs to negotiate separate access agreements with other key trading partners, the European Union foremost among them. Terms of the U.S. deal will not apply until China gets WTO membership.

However, a WTO official in Geneva said China is unlikely to join before its 135 current members meet in Seattle on Nov. 30 to try to launch new trade liberalization measures.

U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan, who is visiting Beijing, said in a statement released in New York today that the hope the agreement will pave the way for China's quick entry into the WTO.

"This is a major step toward the culmination of China's long-standing efforts to resume its rightful role in the multilateral trading system... ," Kofi Annan, U.N. secretary-general

HOMES FOR RENT

- Domus Properties has six, seven, and eight bedroom houses available
- Student neighborhoods close to campus
- Security systems provided
- Well maintained homes
- Maintenance staff on call

Available for the 2000/2001 school year

BETTER HURRY!!! ONLY 4 HOUSES LEFT

Contact Kramer (219)274-1501 or (219)234-2436 or (219)674-2572

When traveling home for Thanksgiving break, I normally:

ride with a friend of a friend and listen to 8 hrs. of Glad Metal. 2 think smart and use the Web.

Submit Reset

www.collegetravelnetwork.com
As of late, the Church has been tweaking every word of every song, reading, and prayer to stream through the Mass in an effort to promote sensitivity and a general sense of inclusiveness. And, it's about time! Before the Second Vatican Council, one simply could not worship as a Catholic without the Church constantly getting in the way.

Fortunately, now that all COMMUNICATION rails and garish tabernacles no longer mar our view of the person sitting across the aisle from us, we may truly concentrate upon the real focus of the liturgy: Ourselves. It is only fitting, then, that our language should reflect ourselves as non-specifically as possible, so as to avoid offending any entity on Earth, including inert gases, Teenie Beanie Babies, and certain rare species of grubs.

Unfortunately, we continue to cling to some of the oppressive language of the pre-enlightened Church. Tapps, for instance, this shockingly insensitive verse of the archaic: "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

For Christmas is born of Mary And gathered all above. While mortals sleep, the angels keep Their watch over tender love. O morning stars together Proclaim the holy face And praising sing to God the King And gathered all above.

We've tweaking every word of every song, every reading, of our language, but what of the song's reference to the Virgin Mary? What about the non-virgins in our congregation? Who's speaking up for Ally McBeal, for Warren Beatty, for the entire guest list of the "Ridicule Lake Show"? Are these brethren and sisters to be made to suffer by this implied comparison? I should think not. I hardly need to point out that the verse's explicit mention of "Christ" is clearly meant to alienate the entire Semitic population.

Mary Beth Ellis

Changes in latitudes, changes in attitudes

Mary Beth Ellis is a 1999 Graduate of Saint Mary's College. Her column appears every other Tuesday.
WRC opposes the Catholic mission

Unfortunately, the issue of the Women's Resource Center again confronts the University. Applications to place the center situated with material from radical feminist organizations such as NOW heralding support for legalized abortion, the ERA and a smattering of other left-wing causes. The Center has been reprimand as in the past for having material from local feminist clinics explaining the prices and details of abortion procedures. They were supposed to remove the offending "value-neutral" material on the subject of abortion. Yet, the NOW pamphlets remain.

I am inclined to think that no one associated with the WRC is malicious; quite the contrary. I am sure that they approach their work at the center with good intentions. But on the issue of abortion, THEY ARE WRONG. It is an affront to the Catholicity of the University that pamphlets from NOW, or any other variously pro-abortion organization, should be placed on the shelves of a Resource Center that has the recognition of the University, and the tacit legitimacy that that recognition entails.

What should a young woman (or young man) think if he or she should enter into this University recognized enclave in a domicile and find advertisements from NOW advocating abortion, and other causes that are contrary to Catholic teaching? Is it possible to in College and the University approve of such material? Does the University recognize the center as in fact a center of education and advocacy? We're putting the squeeze on humanized Bush Liamuigh by targeting advertisers and convincing the Florida Governor from his one million dollar contract. We organize, organize, organize to fight the right wing. NOW demonstrates by quotas Roman Catholic pro-abortion fearless Senator. Coretta Massey Braum. "Your NOW's (NOW) early endorsement and money served the purpose to run. Your continued financial support and campaign expertise was a strong foundation of your campaign.

Prety incendiary stuff for a group (the WRC) that defines itself as a "welcoming environment with books and materials in the academic area for women and all those encompass, who embrace a diversity of racial and age groups, political beliefs (emphasis mine), lifestyles, and physical abilities" (A Pasiflie of Perspectives, Women's Resource Center Newsletter, November 70). This is a farce, the WRC exists as a clearinghouse for left wing, sometimes pro-abortion propaganda. It only takes references to positions or beliefs on the opposite end of the spectrum. Attacks on the "right wing," or so-called "humanizers," coupled with glowing references to ethically-challenged pro-abortion Catholic politicians like Moynahan Braum is not a constructive way to encourage greater respect for the inherent dignity of women. The WRC will do no doubt, pulp the fact that women have material from the good progressive life- The Women's Care Center. Indeed, this is ludicrous. Yet, it is offensive that material from pro-life and pro-abortion organizations should be placed on the same pedestal as material existing at a Catholic University, with the explicit recognition of the administration of that Catholic University.

The University omits the University exercise its pastoral responsibility by investigating the WRC. Upon finding the offending material, they should remove it and discipline the center in some way. The probation and reprimand given them two years ago has not successfully served its purpose because it was latent in the material within the WRC. A new, constructive arrangement must be made. The University should after placing sanctions and reasonable limitations on the scope of the information available in the WRC, challenge those who may be interested in placing more fully in the Catholic mission of the University Notre Dame. By itself, this is a new ethic of dignity and respect for human life.

Sean Vinck is a junior HLS major. His column runs every Tuesday. The remaining columns in this issue are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Kudus to Andrew McDowell for his recent study of human rights and journalism in "Dreadful and Not So-Royal Flush." Scene Nov. 12. However, in spite of his fine research, McDowell overlooked what is are sure is the worst men's room at Notre Dame. Anyone who has ever visited the Law School and used the men's room is bound to know (or for even walked past it will attest to the fact that it is truly the worst facility under the shadow of the Dome). This bathroom just reeks, there is no other way to say it. It smells like a diaper full of boiled meat. Or the sewage out a septic tank. The point is, you don't even have to be in the bathroom to experience its stench. We are bound to feel its noxious fumes. Worse, this bathroom in unbeatable! Why Protesting the School of Americas.

If Notre Dame's graduates included notorious dictators and notorious war criminals, Professor Leopoldo Galtieri and Roberto Viola of Argentina, Juan Velasco Alvarado of Peru, Guillermo Rodriguez of Ecuador and Hugo Chavez of Bolivia, wouldn't US citizens be more than a little concerned about the ideas and values being taught at Notre Dame? If Notre Dame's graduates were responsible for the assassination of Archbishop Oscar Romero, the torture and murder of U.N. workers in Chile, the La Canasta massacre in Peru, the El Mozarte massacre in Colombia, and the deaths of 100 civilians in the El Mozarte massacre, wouldn't US citizens be concerned? Why would Notre Dame be shut down immediately? Fortunately, Notre Dame is not responsible for graduating such characters, nor those responsible for such atrocities, but the US Army's "School of Americas" is. The School of the Americas — perhaps more aptly named the "School of Assassins" — is a US Army training school at Fort Benning, Georgia. The school trains America's counter-insurgency and infantry tactics, military intelligence, and anti-narcotics and commando operations. The School has graduated almost 60,000 soldiers since its inception. However, nonetheless, SOA's quite a good as a noble institution for fighting the drug trade and preserving democracy in the defense of the US Army's accountability for training terrorists. According to an NY Times report, Spanish-language training manuals used at SOA until 1991 stressed, "even the nil that has been committed by members of the US Army in Nicaragua, the use of mercenaries, and the training of irregular forces. Most other countries..." the School of the Americas, for its part, has committed the same crimes and has been known for training terrorists. The School of the Americas is much more pleasant. Though it has graduated over 60,000 people, including Pax Christi Notre Dame, are expected to be a memorable place for students to protest the SOA's training.

This week, the School of the Americas is hosting a ten anniversary of the assassination of six Jesuit priests, their sister and her daughter in El Salvador; 19 of the 26 Salvadoran army officers cited by a US Truth Commission; and the actual facts were at — where else? — the School of the Americas. Over 10,000 people, including Pax Christi Notre Dame, are expected to be a memorable place for students to protest the SOA's training.

This service will be a culminating in a silent funeral procession led by the Pax Christi Notre Dame, who will lead the service. The procession will include a plethora of coffins that bear the names of the two women and six Jesuits who were slain. Thousands of protesters carrying wooden crosses and green markers will follow the coffins across the federal property line at the Fort Benning main gate to the vigil site on the base; there, mourners intend to deliver the coffins and crosses to SOA headquarters, about three miles inside Fort Benning.

Pax Christi Notre Dame has chartered a bus that seats over 20 people and we expect all the seats will be filled; however, there are still several seats remaining. If you, a student, faculty or staff are interested in accompanying us to Georgia this weekend — you will not miss any classes, and the trip of the trip is memorial — please come to an informational meeting on Tuesday night at 9 p.m. at the Center for Social Concerns. In addition, we will have a meal and there will be an opportunity for a hands-on demonstration. Please join us to help bring our message to the University and the world.

Kyle Smith
Student Voice

Worst restroom on campus?

The School of the Americas is a place of human rights abuse and suffers by both the male law students in the base-ment bathroom across and protest on the grounds of their badness.

Robb Kenemer
David Petron
Nov 12, 1999

The Observer
ALBUM REVIEW

Foo Fighters’ new album smells like ... Nirvana

By EMMETT MALLOY
Assistant Scene Editor

Much credit needs to be given to Dave Grohl. With the weight of being the drummer for the most influential band of this decade on his shoulders, Grohl left his Nirvana past and forged ahead with The Foo Fighters.

Refusing to be a “replacement” for his former band, Grohl created his own sound, a fusion of punk and rock, balancing on a thin line between utter chaos and shiny bubblegum pop. While There Is Nothing Left To Lose is definitively the Foo Fighters’ best album to date, one has to wonder whether Kurt Cobain’s ghost is inhabiting Grohl’s body.

From the start, There Is Nothing Left To Lose absolutely screams “NIRVANA!” With a gritty guitar riff, a catchy baseline and pounding drums, the album opener “Stacked Actors” could very much have been an In Utero outtake. Grohl even tosses out the nice guy-bush vocals in favor of a very Cobain-ish snarl.

Not that there’s anything wrong with the Nirvana resemblance — it actually gives the album much more “punch” in terms of its intensity and raw energy. The band’s most cohesive effort yet, The Foo Fighters’ sound is not as saturated with pop melodies as its previous albums were.

However, the band still focuses its songwriting on a soft-loud arrangement, evident in “Headwires,” a terrific, ebb-and-flow rocker that grabs the listener’s attention and never lets go. Even a little Ted Nugent-inspired riff rears through “Gimme Stitches,” with Grohl adding a little attitude. The closest thing that the album has to pop is the Beatles-esque “Next Year,” with a baseline so poppy that one would swear Paul McCartney himself was making a cameo.

Like the band’s previous releases, Grohl taps into his deepest emotions, resulting in the album’s two best tracks — “Learn To Fly” and “Aurora.” As the first single, “Learn To Fly” explores Grohl’s spiritual side, as the frontman pleads, “I’m looking to the sky to save me! I’m looking for a sign of life.”

For a punk-rock band, The Foo Fighters are light-years ahead of its peers, at least lyrically. On the first listen, “Aurora” is thought to be about the Aurora Borialis, although upon further reflection, the song slowly evolves into a love song, with Grohl exposing his thoughts for all the world to hear.

On There Is Nothing Left To Lose, Grohl reflects upon his past as a means of inspiration rather than imitating it. The song structure and lyrical arrangement resonates that of Nirvana, but with this album, Grohl should finally be regarded as the incredibly talented frontman of The Foo Fighters, not as the drummer from “that band.” With There Is Nothing Left To Lose, the band pays tribute to Grohl’s roots while at the same time building upon the sound that made the previous albums so successful.

Upcoming Concerts

South Bend

COWBOY MOUTH — hosted by SUB
Stepan Nov. 17

Chicago

Primus Nov. 18
Pennyswise Nov. 19
Chris Cornell Nov. 20
Danzig Nov. 21
Get Up Kids Nov. 22
John Scofield Nov. 23
Counting Crows Nov. 24
Queensryche Nov. 25
Gregg Allman Nov. 26
Sting Nov. 27
Stereolab Nov. 28
Days of the New Nov. 29
Cheap Trick Nov. 30
Local H Dec. 1
Neil Diamond Dec. 2

New Releases

Today

Ani DiFranco - To the Teeth
Dr. Dre - Chronic 2001
Elton John - Chartbusters Go Pop!
Kiss - 25th Anniversary Star Profile
Korn - Issues
Marilyn Manson - Last Tour On Earth
Sonic Youth - Goodbye 20th Century
Britney Spears - Star Profile

November 23

Beastie Boys - Sounds of Silence
Beck - Midnite Vultures
Alanis Morissette - Alains Unplugged
Nofx - Decline
Orgy - Stitches
Phish - Hampton Comes Alive
Third Eye Blind - Blue
Violent Femmes - Viva Wisconsin

COWBOY MOUTH
TOMORROW NIGHT AT STEPAN
TICKETS ARE STILL AVAILABLE!!!
Incubus goes from H.S. to the Family Values tour

By BRIAN KORNMAN
Scene Music Critic

Incubus has put together a "best of" collection from its two EP's and released the album Enjoy Incubus in January 1997. Despite being an excellent album, Enjoy Incubus didn't sell well and was ignored by radio stations. But the band kept busy writing and recording songs for its first full-length record, S.C.I.E.N.C.E., for Immortal Records, which was released in November 1997. It met the same fate as its previous release, however, and the band was once again passed over in records stores and on radio.

Things began to change for the band once the Family Values tour kicked off in late 1997. Incubus was the opening band for a leg of a tour that featured Korn, Ice Cube and Limp Bizkit. As the tour went on, Incubus began drawing rave reviews and by the end of the tour the song "New Skin" started making the rounds on college radio stations across the United States. In addition to this, Incubus had sold 200,000 copies of its old album and developed a large fan base.

The band took a break from touring in 1998 to begin work on its third major release, Make Yourself. The album perfectly combines the funky electronic sound featured on Enjoy Incubus with the heavy metal industrial sounds found in S.C.I.E.N.C.E., making it by far the band's best release.

While you Yourself opens with the hard-edged single "Privilege," which sounds similar to Korn's "Got the Life," the album only gets better there. Scratchy and mixing by DJ Kilmore is featured, most effectively in the four-minute epic "Battlestar Scrolachtica."

I'm not sure how to describe the album, but I can tell you that Incubus is very good at what they do. The album is a big reason why the band is so popular now.

Fun in a good way to describe that unique sound. The album begins with "Silenceturnitova," a hilarious song about flipping burgers. Two guitarists provide various instrumental parts to every song, especially in "Silenceturnitova." Chris Castro, lead guitarist for Incubus, furnishes the band's Grateful Dead sound with a distinct guitar tone almost exactly like Jerry Garcia's. The Big Wu's extraordinary bassist, Andy Miller, and percussionist Terry VanDeWalker fortify most of the tracks. Miller and VanDeWalker spice up the band's sound with their funk-oriented techniques. Songs like "Good" sound like some of the band's older funk songs such as "Hillbus" and "Axeheadwekez." The track layout of Make Yourself is a big reason why the album is so good. There are no blocks of songs that sound alike. Instead, Incubus mixes the genres of hard rock, funk and electronica effectively in the track list. The album doesn't lag because the band's incredible talent and unique sound.

Feedback welcome at Kornmann@163.net

Treehouse Buffalo Through the Bathroom
Phoenix Rising Records

By ANDREW JONES
Scene Music Critic

Jam band's new album is "wu"nderful

O nly three years ago, a band playing in a tiny Minneapolis bar started to attract crowds that filled every inch of the bar. Live recordings of its zany performances began to circulate, and the word spread.

Today, that band, The Big Wu, has one of the most unique sounds in the large underground scene of jam music. After graduating from its weekly performances at the S. I. Minneapolis bar, within the last three years, The Big Wu has gone on to play the most honorable festivals and venues of the jam scene.

Elaborating on musical influences like Phish and Limp Bizkit, the songs on Tracking Buffalo Through the Bathroom represent a tease of the endless possibilities for the band's compositions during a live performance. While the album only contains a portion of The Big Wu's repertoire, it clearly showcases the basis of the band's incredible talent and unique sound.

Fun in a good way to describe that unique sound. The album begins with "Silenceturnitova," a hilarious song about flipping burgers. Two guitarists provide various instrumental parts to every song, especially in "Silenceturnitova." Chris Castro, lead guitarist for the Big Wu, furnishes the band's Grateful Dead sound with a distinct guitar tone almost exactly like Jerry Garcia's. The Big Wu's extraordinary bassist, Andy Miller, and percussionist Terry VanDeWalker fortify most of the tracks. Miller and VanDeWalker spice up the band's sound with their funk-oriented techniques.

It does show, however, that those who built the current foundations of music are still capable of being influential to younger artists. Possibly the best thing that can be said about this is that the songwriting is still an excellent way to make music, and the music does not take a back seat, complementing the lyrical approach perfectly.

This album represents the passage of time. It does not work to make a whole album, but as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album.

This album represents the passage of time. It does not work to make a whole album, but as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album. To be fair, this album is not nearly as good as the previous two albums. But as a whole, it is an album.
Randy Johnson got a lot more support from Cy Young voters than he did from the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Looking past a won-loss record that wasn't nearly as good as Mike Hampton's, baseball writers made the Big Unit only the second pitcher to win a Cy Young Award in each league, giving him a large victory Monday in voting for the National League prize.

"I think like this award isn't solely based on wins and losses," said Johnson, 17-9 with a 2.48 ERA.

"There was a lot more to the season I had than wins and losses. Quite honestly, I feel still this was the best year I had in my career."

He received 20 first-place votes, 11 seconds and one third for 134 points in balloting by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Hampton, who went 22-4 for Houston and led the NL in strikeouts, won with 11 first-place votes, 17 seconds and four thirds for 110 points.

"It's fun, it's energizing to be able to pick either of the three," Johnson said.

Looking past his record, Johnson was dominating. He was 6-6, 10th in the majors with 349 strikeouts in 271 2-3 innings. He was 19 short of the strikeout record set by Nolan Ryan in 1973, winning up with the fourth-highest single-season total, and struck out 10 or more 23 times, matching the record Ryan set with the California Angels in 1972.

"The one thing that was the least in his control was the wins and losses," Diamondbacks manager Buck Showalter said.

"Scoring runs and catching the baseball, that's the thing he couldn't control. Thank goodness people realized that."

Arizona scored just 11 runs in his nine losses, and he left four games with leads the bullpen failed to hold.

From June 25-July 10, Johnson had a stretch of four starts in which his team was shut out.

He allowed just six runs during that stretch, but Arizona got all six hits — the Diamondbacks were no-hit by the Cardinals' Jose Jimenez, one-hit by Cincinnati, two-hit by St. Louis and three-hit by Oakland.

"I didn't dwell on it," Johnson said. "I never complained about anything because I realized it was part of the game and sometimes, whatever goes around comes around.

Johnson had a 1.41 ERA in those games, but his record dropped from 9-3 to 9-10.

"Sometimes I've pitched extremely well and the opposing pitcher has pitched that much better," Johnson said. "I have respectable numbers outside the won-loss record."

"Unfortunately, people look at the won-loss record and evaluate the year or your career on that, and it's not really fair sometimes."

Johnson, 36, joined Gaylord Perry as the only pitchers to win Cy Youngs in each league.

The Big Unit won the AL Cy with Seattle in 1990. Perry was with Cleveland in 1972 and in San Diego in 1970.

"To win in both leagues in two different eras is an accomplishment," Johnson said. "I'm going out on a limb but I'm assuming Pedro Martinez will win tomorrow. It will be myself and Pedro and Gaylord Perry. That's great company."

Martinez, who won it for Montreal in 1997, went 23-4 with a 2.07 ERA for the Boston Red Sox this year.

"I don't think the voters were thrilled with the Braves, when Ged Maddux, Tom Glavine and John Smoltz won."

Johnson earned a $5,000,000 bonus for finishing second.
Johnson tests positive for banned substance

TORONTO

Ben Johnson has tested positive for a banned diuretic according to Chrobotek who equated the feeling to that of a kidney stone.

"He was in excruciating pain," he said.

Chrobotek said he initially dismissed a phone message from Athletics Canada that Johnson had tested positive for a banned diuretic in October.

Chrobotek, who paid for the test in question, said the former world record-holder was the taking of pills from a foreign pharmacist, the agent said he simply needed pain relief.

"We are very excited to have a player of Luis' proven ability to join our squad," said Bayliss. "He is an aggressive all-court player with tremendous speed and big weapons in his forehand and serve."

"It is devastating to him, as it was to me," Chrobotek said of Johnson's reaction to the news. "I can't confirm or deny any information leak out... we do not yet constitute a doping infraction."

"What is he cheating? It's like asking how you can cheat when you're not even allowed to play?" Chrobotek asked.

"I don't have an eating disorder...yet!"

Feeling Trapped When You Compare Yourself To Others

Tuesday, Nov. 16, 1999

University Counseling Center
631-7336
Room 300
Tuesdays, 4:00-5:00 p.m.

Drop-In/Discussion Series
Attend One Or All Of The Following Sessions
(No Sign-Up Needed)

Session I:
Private Body Talk: Enhancing Body Image
November 16

Session II:
"I don't have an eating disorder...yet!"
Feeling Trapped When You Compare Yourself To Others
November 23

Session III:
Living In A World Where Being A “Plus Size” Is A Minus: Strategies For Self-Acceptance
November 30
This Week in Campus Ministry

Monday, November 8 through Monday, November 29
103 Hesburgh Library, 112 Bodin Hall
Freshman Retreat #26 (Dec. 3-4) Sign-Up
Targeted Dorms: Carroll, Cavanaugh, Forley, Fisher, Znoj, Pangborn, Siegfried, Stanford, and Welsh Family

Tuesday, November 16, 7:00 pm
Bodin Hall Chapel
Campus Bible Study

Wednesday, November 17, 8:00 pm
Wilson Commons
Graduate Student Bible Study Group

Wednesday, November 17, 10:00-10:30 pm
Welsh Hall Chapel
Interfaith Christian Night Prayer
A spirited, student-led half hour of prayer and music for students of all Christian faith traditions.

Monday, November 22, 7:00-8:30 pm
Earth Science Building, Room 102
Basilica Community Choir Rehearsal

Good Stuff to Know

IT'S NOT TOO LATE!!!

EMMAUS FAITH-SHARING GROUPS ARE STILL BEING FORMED!!!

* Take this opportunity to deepen your friendships or make new ones while growing in your faith.
* Each Emmaus group consists of 6-8 members meeting weekly for about an hour to pray, discuss Scripture and faith-related issues while sharing the "ins and outs" of daily lives as ND students.
* Join individually, with friends or as an entire group.

For more information contact: Clare Sullivan at 1-3389 in the Bodin Campus Ministry Office.

Jubilee Themes: Answer the Call to Forgiveness

Crash Course on International Debt Relief

By John Paul II, to celebrate the Year 2000 as the Great Jubilee has concrete implications on the economic plight of the poor of the world. In his apostolic letter Tertio Millenio Adveniente, he urges people "to raise their voice on behalf of all the poor of the world, proposing the Jubilee as an appropriate time to give thought, among other things, to reducing substantially, if not canceling outright, the international debt which seriously threatens the future of many nations." (n.51)

What effects does a heavy debt burden have on the people of the poorest nations? Here are some examples:

* In 1996 the government of Mozambique spent twice as much money "servicing" -- that is, making timely interest and principal payments -- its international debt as it spend on health and education. Yet one out of four children in Mozambique dies before reaching the age of five due to infectious disease (which are preventable in the US).

* In Ethiopia, debt payments are four times public spending on health, while over 100,000 children die every year from preventable and treatable diarrhea.

* In 1996 Uganda spent only three dollars per person on health care while spending seventeen dollars per person on repaying its debt. Yet one of every five Ugandan children dies from a preventable disease before reaching the age of five.

Compiled from Jubilee 2000 USA

What are political leaders saying about debt relief?

"Simply put, unsustainable debt is helping to keep too many poor countries and poor people in poverty. That is clearly why the Pope and so many other world leaders from all walks of life have asked us all to do more to reduce the debt of the poorest nations as a gift to the new millennium - not just to them, but to all the rest of us, as well.

-- President Clinton, in a speech announcing his administration's commitment to 100% debt relief for the world's poorest nations

How can I find out more about the Jubilee movement for debt relief?

* Check out www.2000usa.org or www.sccbuscc.org/sdwp/index.htm
* Write your local Congressperson to support HR 1095.
* Call the debt relief task force at 1-7949 for campus-related events.

More Good Stuff to Know

INTERFAITH CHRISTIAN
NIGHT PRAYER

What stands out at the end of your day? Why not end it in prayer? Join us every Wednesday, 10 PM, Walsh Hall Chapel.
Women's Swimming

By NOREEN GILLESPIE
Saint Mary's Editor

Powering their way to an unbeat en season so far this sea son, the Irish women swimmers and divers improved to 6-0 with three dual meet wins this weekend. Swimming Miami of Ohio 213-77, the wo men secured two additional victories by defeating Kenyon 242-58 and Pittsburgh 198-102, winning 12 of the 16 events.

While the scores posted improved the team's record, the meet was good, but not great according to Irish head coach Bailey Weathers.

"It's a hard thing when you swim three different teams," Weathers said. "You go in worried about all three, and you have to put your best lineup forward. The lineup we swam this weekend was the best one we could put together swimming three teams."

Distance events proved to be the high point of the meet, with junior Kristen Van Saun coming away with double wins for the Irish. Completing the 1650 freestyle in 16:47.91 and the 500 freestyle (4:57.70), and a season-best time of 4:57.70, Irish butterflies dominated the events Saturday, with the women capturing first, second, and third place finishes in the 200 butterfly against all three teams. Led by senior Alison Nixon, the first-place finish in 2:04.79, freshman Amy Barger claimed second in 2:05.08, Senior Elizabeth Barger completed the trio's effort, capturing third in 2:07.93.

Sprint freestylers also turned in solid performances, with junior Carrie Nixon and sophomore Brooke Davey teaming up for a one-two finish in the 50 freestyle. Nixon's first-place finish posted at 24.47, Nixon finishing off the sprinters with another first-place finish in the 100 freestyle in 51.30.

Single event wins came from the 400 medley relay team of sophomore Kelly Hecking, sophomore Alison Lloyd, Barger and Nixon, freshman Lindsay Moorhead in the 200 freestyle, Hecking in the 100 backstroke, and senior Shannon Suddarth in the 200 butterfly. Distance swimmers were also strong on the one-meter board, with senior Rhiana Saunders fourth place finishes in the one-meter and three events. Senior Gina Keilshob wrapped up with fifth place finishes on each board.

Heading into this weekend's Minnesota Invitational, the women look to incorporate speed in strengthened solid performances, said Weathers.

"We're closer than we've been all season, but we still need to get better speed-wise," Weathers said. "We still have to continue to build speed. We've done quality work, and have a good training base. We've done the right things in the weight room. The last thing we've got to do is incorporate that speed."

But as far as lineups go, the "team look at one of the more solid squads in recent history. This is one of the more balanced teams that we've had," Weathers said. "We've got solid athletes in every event. It will be interesting to see where we are as the season goes on."

Water Engine 1999-2000 Season Notre Dame Film, Television, and Theatre Presents

Directed by Elaine Beaufield Wednesday, November 17 7:30 p.m. Thursday, November 18 7:30 p.m. Friday, November 19; 7:30 p.m. Saturday, November 20; 8:00 p.m. Sunday, November 21; 2:30 p.m. Playing at Washington Hall Reserved seats $9 Senior $6 All Students $6 Tickets are available at Loretto Student Center Ticket Office. Reservations and Visa orders call 833-9122. Visit our website (http://www.nd.edu/~notheatre)

Men's Swimming

Notre Dame falls to 0-3 with loss to Pittsburgh

By NOREEN GILLESPIE
Saint Mary's Editor

The men's swimming and diving team didn't have much more luck than the football team did in warding off the Pittsburgh Panthers.

Securing wins in only three of 16 events Saturday, the Irish men's record fell to 0-3, with the loss to Pittsburgh, leaving the team still searching for a victory early in the season. Pittsburgh, the defending Big East champion, is undefeated thus far this season.

"If you saw the football game, you saw the swim meet," said head coach Tim Welsh. "We've been improving, but we were flatter against Pittsburgh."

The Irish did pick up some individual highlights, with solid individual performances from several competitors. Captain Ray Fitzpatrick posted one of three wins for the Irish, securing a first-place finish in the 200-yard freestyle. Posting a time of 1:48.94 seconds, Fitzpatrick's time was the best time by an Irish swimmer this season.

Notre Dame's second win came from junior Blaya Verlin in the 200 butterfly, who secured another win with his finish of 1:53.36. Edging Pittsburgh competitor Adrian Figueroa by two-tenths of a second, Verlin posted another season individual highlight, best and team best for the year in the 200 butterfly.

Divers also posted points for the Irish, with senior Herb Huesman and freshman Andy Maggio securing a one-two finish off the one-meter board.

Huesman finished with a score of 185.55, followed by Maggio's 178.40.

"The divers are clearly one of our strengths," said Welsh. "Compared with this time last year, now we haven't any divers. Now we have four."

The Irish head's depth provided for some second, third, and fourth place finishes, bringing in the bulk of the points for the team.

Distance swimmers were another point of strength, with sophomore Jonathan Pierce pulling in a second place finish in the 1000 freestyle in 9:30.94. Elliot Drury followed in fourth with a time of 9:46.17. Pierce also claimed third in the 500 freestyle in 4:42.82.

Second place finishes came from sophomore David Horak in the 100 backstroke (52.89), junior Dan Szilier in the 200 breaststroke (2:07.74), Verlin in the 100 butterfly (52.22), Maggio in three-meter diving (17.250) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Fitzpatrick, sophomore Mike Koss, Huesman and junior James Scott-Browne.

But while the men still search for a victory, morale on the team is high, Welsh said.

"We're hungry for a win," he said. "But nobody is dragging their fingers on the ground in self-pity." The Irish host Western Ontario this Friday at Rolfs Aquatic Center, hoping to garner their first win of the season.

"It's been a hard series of these meets," Welsh said. "Although the record says losses, we've been getting progressively faster. We should see winning ways on Friday."
Dallas moves into first place tie with unlikely heros

Associated Press

The Dallas Cowboys have long defined the Dallas Cowboys. Yet it was a pack of blue-collar players, many of them backups, who pulled the team into a first-place tie in the NFC East. Some of the game balls from Sunday's 27-13 victory over Green Bay went to Jason Garrett, Robert Chancey and Jason Tucker.

You may not have heard of them, but you're probably familiar with the guys they replaced: Troy Aikman, Emmitt Smith and Michael Irvin.

Aikman is expected to miss the season finale. Smith and Irvin for the first half.

Aikman is expected to miss at least Sunday's game at Arizona as he recovers from concussions in consecutive weeks. Irvin appears less likely to ever return from a spinal cord injury.

Tucker caught one pass for 11 yards, but his biggest contribution was replacing Sanders on punt returns. The former NFL Europe player had a 41-yard punt return and he took two kickoffs 39 yards.

Adams, an offensive lineman, earned his gold star by stretching his 6-foot-7 frame to block a 44-yard field goal try by Ryan Longwell as the third quarter ended, preserving a 17-3 lead.

Then Teague wrapped it up by short-circuiting a potential game-tying drive with an interception that he returned 95 yards for a touchdown, ensuring that Dallas — which has blown leads of 17, 14 and 10 points — wouldn't make the same mistake a fourth time.

Washington and the New York Giants losing Sunday, Dallas moved into a three-way tie atop the division. The Cowboys, who have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins两次和 lost to the Giants, have beaten the Redskins twice and lost to the Giants.

The Keough Internship will include:

- Eight to ten weeks' internship
- Round trip airfare from the United States to Ireland
- Room and board
- Stipend

All Notre Dame JUNIORS with a demonstrated interest in Irish Studies/Ireland are encouraged to apply.
Irish women receive at-large bid to NCAA Champs

By KATHLEEN O'BRIEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Irish women's cross country team has qualified for the NCAA meet, the first since 1993.

"We're thrilled," head Notre Dame cross country and track coach Joe Piane said. "The ladies have worked very, very hard since day one. They've had some difficult things to overcome this season. They're making a step up towards national respectability."

Even more impressively, the team made nationals this year despite a number of roadblocks which stood in its way. Freshman Jennifer Handley ran at districts although recovering from a sore back, senior captain Erin Luby raced despite being sick, and Rice ran after twisting her ankle in the warm-up. The Irish also competed without Deeter, who is no longer running in their final season.

"This is going to be a great experience," Connelly said. "A lot of these kids have been aiming for this for four years. All the things that had to happen happened. The thing that we've got to do is run a lot more consistently and intelligently than we did the other day."

"We've been hoping to qualify every year, and fourth time's a charm for us seniors. I guess," Klemmer said.

"It's a very unexpected ending, but a great ending," said senior Patty Rice. "Last year we were in the same position. We were fourth at the district meet hoping for an at-large bid and it didn't happen. We didn't want to be on the emotional roller coaster again. It's just nice to know that hard work does pay off."

This is only the second time a Notre Dame women's cross country team has qualified for the NCAA meet, the first since 1993.

Joining Klemmer, Handley, LaSelle, Luby and Rice in the race will be juniors Chrissy Kuenster and Erin Olson. The NCAA Championships will be held Monday in Bloomington, Ind. The No. 8 Irish men's cross country team received an automatic bid to race at nationals after finishing second in the district meet.

"Bring your culture to the corporation"

Juan Roberto Job

-Nation's leading speaker on cultural diversity and change management.
-Conducted national educational and motivational workshops.
-Come hear his secrets of success not found in any business class or business literature!

TODAY, November 16, LaFortune Ballroom @ 7:00 p.m.
Co-sponsored by: CoBA Diversity Program and OMSA

ATTENTION STUDENTS:

WHY SELL YOUR USED TEXTBOOKS BACK TO THE BOOKSTORE FOR LESS WHEN YOU CAN SELL THEM DIRECTLY TO ANOTHER STUDENT? CAMPUSMONSTER.COM ALLOWS STUDENTS TO SELL THEIR USED TEXTBOOKS TO OTHER STUDENTS. YOU WILL MAKE MORE MONEY AND YOUR FELLOW STUDENTS WILL SAVE MORE! IT'S THAT SIMPLE.

LOG ON NOW AND LIST YOUR FALL SEMESTER TEXTBOOKS AND GET ENTERED FOR THE CHANCE TO WIN YOUR NEXT SEMESTERS BOOKS FOR FREE!!! THAT'S RIGHT, WE WILL HOLD A DRAWING ON DECEMBER 30, 1999 TO FIND THE WINNER OF OUR "SEMESTER FOR FREE" CONTEST. YOU WILL RECEIVE 1 ENTRY FOR EVERY BOOK YOU LIST. THE MORE BOOKS YOU LIST THE BETTER YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING.

WHEN YOU'RE THERE, GET THE LATEST SCOOP ON WHAT'S HAPPENING AT YOUR COLLEGE OR AT CAMPUSES AROUND THE COUNTRY. THERE'S ALSO A SECTION WITH UP TO DATE SCORES AND COLLEGE NEWS.

FROM TEXTBOOK SWAPPING, COLLEGE APPAREL AND GAME TICKETS TO THE LATEST CAMPUS NEWS, IT'S ALL JUST A CLICK AWAY AT CAMPUSMONSTER.COM
Women

continued from page 24

before increasing the lead to 40-24 at the half.

Two quick steals and baskets by senior guards Niele Ivey and Danielle Green in the first few minutes of the second half propelled the Irish to a 20-point lead early on.

Ivey tallied 15 points and four steals on the game, proving that her presence on the court is key for Irish success.

"We’re a young team, especially when Niele’s not on the court," said McGraw. "There are still a lot of things we need to work on."

IUS Malhas and the Irish traded baskets for much of the rest of the second half as the Irish held the touring team from Sweden off for the remainder of the game.

"It was a good game for us," said McGraw. "We had a chance to learn some things."

The game against IUS Malhas was the last exhibition game for the Irish before they open up the regular season at Toledo on Saturday.

Looking ahead to Saturday’s match-up, McGraw is anticipating a good opening game.

"It should be a great match-up," said McGraw. "They beat the Ohio All-Stars bud — and there’s a team that we played too. They were heating us at one point, but Toledo never trailed them, so it should be good."

The Irish are looking for sophomore forward Ericka Haney to play a bigger role on the squad in the upcoming season.

"We think she can be dominant," said McGraw. "She has great work ethic — she wants to play better. She has great versatility and is going to be our defensive stopper. We like to have her on the floor — she does so many things at both ends of the court."

Haney is also looking forward to the possibility of making a bigger impact this season.

"I think I can contribute a lot to the team," said Haney. "There are a lot of good players that will hopefully step up this season. I need to work on a lot of things — getting comfortable at the three spot and coming in at the four spot — but I think I can contribute."

Coming off the bench, Haney knocked in 10 points for the Irish.

With two exhibition outings behind them to work with, the Irish are set to start the regular season and improve on their current pre-season eighth-place ranking, beginning with Toledo.

Sophomore forward Ericka Haney chips in two of her 10 points in Notre Dame’s 76-51 victory over IUS Malhas at the Joyce Center Monday.

Cross Country

Belles place 28th at Regional Champs

By MOLLY McVOY

Assistant Sports Editor

The last race has been run. The Belles cross-country team finished in 28th place at the Regional Championships at Ohio Northern University on Saturday. Saint Mary's finished 28th of 35 teams represented from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

"It was a kind of up and down season," head coach Dave Barstis said. "Some runners did well, some did as expected, some didn't have such a good race."

Calvin College, who won the MIAA championships, won the meet Saturday. Baldwin Wallace College came in second, and Denison University finished third.

Melissa Goss finished first for Saint Mary's, coming in 166th with a time of 21:13. Goss was followed by Melissa Miller, with a 21:13 and Krista Hildebrand, with a time of 21:52.

"I think we worked well as a team," Goss said. "I mean, we didn't have our best race, but everyone worked well together."

Goss has been troubled with injury all season and Barstis was pleased that she finished the season with her second best time.

"Melissa Goss has been injury-ridden all season, and she finally came out and ran her second best time," Barstis said. "That was great."

Amy Mizzone from Calvin won the race individually, finishing with a time of 17:42.

The next finishers were Jennifer Ernst of Hope College and Laura Sholts of Kenyon College.

Saint Mary's is ready for next season and pleased with the teamwork they developed over the course of this season.

"Overall, I'm pleased," Barstis said. "It was a good year."

Goss agrees and saw improvement during the year.

"Each meet, I think everyone improved," she said. "It didn't show in the last meet, but everyone had a really good attitude about it."

The Belles will be losing seniors Miller and Bridgett Heffernan next year. Junior Genevieve Xavello explained that it will be a big loss, but one she hopes they can fill.

"Hopefully, we will have people who will step up," she said. "It's going to be hard because they are all leaders."
Men

continued from page 24

from a defensive and leadership standpoint," Doherty said. "I made Troy a captain this year and I expect him to lead and take care of other people."

Small forward David Graves was second on the team in scoring last season averaging 12.3 points per game. Center Harold Swanagan emerged late in the season as a force, scoring in double figures in eight games.

Freshman Matt Carroll will make his first career start at shooting guard. Carroll played a key role in Notre Dame’s 84-79 exhibition over the International Select All-Stars. He had 20 points on 7-of-10 shooting. Freshman forward Jere Macura added 13 points and eight boards while junior guard Martin Ingelsby chipped in with 10.

The Irish dropped their second exhibition contest to Marathon, 105-81. Murphy had 28 points and 15 rebounds but it was not enough to overcome the 39 points and 13 assists turned in by Marathon’s Darnell Hoskins.

Doherty was not pleased with his team’s defensive effort.

"I was very disappointed and embarrassed with our defense," Doherty said. "I want to apologize to everyone that was at that game. That’s not what we want to put on the floor and we hope everyone will give us another chance."

Ohio State was 2-0 in preseason play with wins over One World All-Stars and Marathon.

Senior George Reese led the Buckeyes during the exhibition season with 32 points (16.0 ppg) after a 21-point effort against Marathon. Penn averaged 15.5 points and 3.3 assists. Redd and sophomore Behan Savovic led the team with 4.0 assists per game.

The Buckeyes went 14-1 in their inaugural season at Value City Arena. Tonight’s game is a sell-out and will be televised on ESPN2.

"It’s exciting for our players, but none those 19,000 people will be on the court blocking a shot or taking a shot," Doherty said. "The court is the same length as it is in the Joyce Center, so hopefully the noise will help us. It’s exciting to have a chance to take the crowd out of the game."

Notre Dame posted a 14-16 record last season and an 8-10 mark in Big East play, while Ohio State finished 27-6.

The Buckeyes lead the all-time series 6-4, but the two teams have not met since the 1973-74 season.

The winner of tonight’s game will play the winner of the Davidson-at-Siena game.

Point guard Jimmy Dillon looks to drive against a Marathon player in an exhibition game earlier this season. Dillon will split time with Martin Ingelsby tonight when Notre Dame takes on Ohio State.

It’s a Wild Week With Sub!

Just For Starters...

Tonight
SLF Coffeehouse
8pm-10pm
LaFortune

Wednesday
Cowboy Mouth concert
8pm at Stepan Center
$10 for students
$12 general admission
tickets at LaFortune Info Desk

Also visit
www.nd.edu/~sub
Fox Trot

ANDY, YOUR MOTHER'S ONLY COMING FOR THANKS-GIVING BECAUSE SHE SUG­ GESTED THE IDEA TO HER

IF IT'S TOO STRANGE FOR YOU TO HAVE HER HERE, YOU HAVE MEAN­
E ME BLAME IT ON YOURSELF.

Bill Amend

A DEPRAVED NEW WORLD

JEFF BEAM

Sweetshop labor lives at Notre Dame.

HOROSCOPE

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DAY: Ragnar Merkur, Zita Johann, lettuce, Martha Washington, George Bailey, Steve Jobs, George Clooney, David Beckham, George Foreman, Michael Jordan.

Happy Birthday! Be prepared to stand your ground. If someone tries to black what you're trying to accomplish, you will have to do whatever it is necessary to take control. Follow your own dreams and don't feel obligated to be the driving force to help someone else get ahead. If time to put yourself first. Your numbers are 9, 23, 34, 58.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your mind will win you points. Voice your opinion, but refrain from being pushy or you'll have opposition. Be careful, but don't be too evasive when discussing your feelings. You should consider taking a vacation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The logical words or personal papers you want to use up by the end of the year will cause frustration. Be satisfied that you started the ball rolling early enough to follow through with your place, or.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Take a short pleasure trip or attend dates or events that will help you meet new friends or lovers. You may need to re-evaluate your motives. You're more direction for the same direction is not to be misinterpreted if you are the opinion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Get together with colleagues socially after work. You not only will heighten friendships, but will gain support from those who can able to fur­ther your interests.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You'll be in the mood to do things with friends. Organize a competitive and challenging outdoor sports event. Be sure to have everyone on hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You have to have money. You can be with a vision, and you'll do whatever you can to reach your goals. Others may find it difficult to understand your reten­tion, but you must become ready to lift your spirits.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You'll feel yourself drawn to the phone. Communications will take up most of your time. You are likely to be misinterpreted if you are the least bit evasive when discussing others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Don't become too contributing to something you think is a waste of time. Learn to say no, or you'll find yourself spending a lot of money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Don't lend money to a friend. You will lose the idea and the connection when he or she can't pay you back. Offer suggestions as to how your friend can earn the money needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Don't get involved in secret affairs just because you are feeling neglect­ed in your personal life. You need to open up the relationship you're in before you start another one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): If you're feeling the pressure now, move now. Your love life may feel like paid at this time. Be careful: You are like­wise to be misinterpreted if you are the opinion.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): You may feel emotionally upset if your relationship life has been going too slow. Take time to massage yourself and prepare for the necessary changes. You need to check out new philosophies.

Birthday Baby: You can be very consistent and you'll do whatever you can to reach your goals. Others may feel difficult to understand your rela­tionhips, but you must become ready to lift your spirits.

(Next idea? Check out Eugene's Web sites at astroadvice.com, eugenialast.com, astroadvice.com.)

© 1999 Universal Press Syndicate.
VOLLEYBALL

Irish claim Big East title with dramatic victory

By MATT OLIVA
Sports Writer

The Irish came back from two games down to Georgetown to claim the Big East regular season title on Sunday.

Match victory over the Hoyas Saturday night was decided and distributed five quick sets with the Irish winning by scores of 15-11, 15-14, 14-15, 15-11, and 15-14.

Notre Dame had the last say. The Hoyas took a 2-0 lead in the first two games, yet the Irish were able to claim a dramatic victory.

The Irish finished with a match-high 18 kills on 44.6 hitting and added 10 blocks.

Outside hitter Christi Girton led the Irish with 25 kills and 21 digs and added 10 blocks.

Senior Marcie Bomhack had 16 kills and 33 digs. Bomback had 31 as the Irish finished with 54 kills for the match.

Emily Shiebout led the Irish on offense. The senior and junior captain Denise Boylan finished with 47 assists.

"Georgetown played great and took us out of our rhythm early," head coach Debbie Brown said. "I think we regained some of our composure in game two and played strong in games three and four. Game five just was a little all the way."

The loss drops Georgetown's Big East season to 3-2 overall and 9-2 in conference play.

As a team, the Irish finished with 60 kills and outdug the Hoyas by a 46-24 margin.

Sophomore Marcie Bomhack tallied 14 kills in 21 attempts, hitting 0.419 on the day. Junior setter Denise Boylan dished out 35 assists for the Irish and senior Mary Leffers added to her Big East leading block total with seven blocks.

"All of us were really aiming for the Big East title, especially since we lost it last year," Brown said. "The team has shown tremendous character in getting where we are today."

Volleyball Results

Notre Dame 3
Georgetown 2
Notre Dame 3
Villanova 0

Shannon Behr/The Observer

Lapping the field

Junior Kristen Van Saun took home two victories for the Irish, while helping Notre Dame to a 9-0 record this weekend.

page 18

Tuesday, November 16, 1999

WOMEN’S BASKETBALL

Ratay leads women to victory

By KERRY SMITH
Assistant Sports Editor

EOS Malbas may have put the first points on the board, but Notre Dame had the last laugh Monday night as the Irish won their second straight exhibition game 76-71.

E O S M a l b a s s t a r t e d o f f strong with a 5-0 steal and lay-up in the opening seconds of the game, but Irish guard Alicia Ratay may have righted back down the court and knocked in a three-pointer as the Irish took the lead and never looked back.

Playing without the aid of center Ruth Riley, who sustained an injury to her right ankle in practice, the Irish still managed to dominate on the floor.

"It was a good opportunity for us to play without Ruth," said head coach Mattie McGraw. "It was a real positive for us — we were able to get some different looks."

The Preseason All-Big East First Team selection’s playing status is "probable for Saturday," according McGraw.

Ratay showed she was at home on the court in her second collegiate contest, leading the Irish with 25 points and putting in a perfect eight-for-eight performance from the foul line.

"Alicia already has made a big impact," said McGraw. "She’s doing what we would expect from an upperclassman. She has great poise and is very much in control on the court. We plan on getting the ball to her a lot this season."

The freshman guard already shows hints of the playing style of past Irish player and three-point record holder Shelly McMillen, as she knocked in five shots from behind the three point line.

"We’re doing a little more with the full court press," said McGraw. "It’s better at times — not there yet, but getting there."

The Irish took control of the game early on, going on a 12-0 run to lead EOS Malbas 12-2 in the opening minutes.

As a team, the Irish finished with 60 kills and outdug the Hoyas by a 46-24 margin.

Sophomore Marcie Bomback tallied 14 kills in 21 attempts, hitting 0.419 on the day. Junior setter Denise Boylan dished out 35 assists for the Irish and senior Mary Leffers added to her Big East leading block total with seven blocks.

“Of all of us were really aiming for the Big East title, especially since we lost it last year,” Brown said. “The team has shown tremendous character in getting where we are today.”

Irish take on Buckeyes in Preseason NIR

By BRIAN KESSLER
Sports Editor

The Matt Doherty era officially begins tonight when Notre Dame and Ohio State square off in the first round of the preseason NIR tournament in Columbus, Ohio.

The Buckeyes are ranked No. 4 in the country and are fresh off last year’s Final Four appearance.

“Right now, I wish we were opening against a Division II school,” first-year head coach Matt Doherty said jokingly. “But it’s exciting to play team of their caliber on ESPN with all the hype. I think we’ll be up for the challenge and compete and after that let the chips fall where they may.”

Ohio State has arguably the best back court in the country in junior Michael Redd and senior Scoonie Penn. Penn was named to the Associated Press Preseason First Team All-America team.

“Penn and Redd are probably the best guard combinations in the nation,” Doherty said. “But their whole team is athletic. They get the ball up the court quickly and coach Jim O’Brien has them playing well together.”

The Irish are led by their sensational sophomore class in the frontcourt; Troy Murphy, last season’s Big East Rookie of the Year, averaged 19.2 points per game and 9.9 rebounds per contest.

“Troy’s doing very well, but I expect a lot more out of him,” said Murphy.

The Buckeyes may have put the first points on the board, but Notre Dame had the last laugh Monday night as the Irish won their second straight exhibition game 76-71.