By ANDREW THAGARD
Assistant News Editor

The University of Michigan Athletic Department's warnings that the number of Notre Dame band members allowed into Michigan Stadium would be limited never materialized Saturday. Members of the Marching Band were personally escorted inside the stadium by Michigan's band without reaction from ushers, band officials said.

"We received 11th hour assistance from the Michigan band," said Ken Iye, director of University Bands. "Everybody got in, everybody performed. There were no problems." This result, however, came as a surprise. On Thursday, the band was notified by Notre Dame's Athletic Department that limited space would force officials to cut 50 members from the sections.

The band staff sent out an e-mail to members asking for volunteers to sit out parts of the game, but said the entire band would perform during pre-game and post-game festivities and the half-time show.

"The role also gives Tyson increased power in the appointment of upper-echelon University officials. As a trustee, he was already involved in the University's history, and the office of executive vice president is still empty and University President Father Edward Malloy's tenure expires in 2005, Tyson's office is particularly important. Tyson said he expects the subject of a new executive vice president to be addressed shortly by the board, which meets on campus in October.

"The Chair of the Board creates a very fine and fine Committee on Organization and Evaluation that is preparing a report for the full Board on structural issues in the University administration," Tyson said. "It is my understanding that the position of executive vice president will be included in the report."

Tyson was one of the top candidates for the Notre Dame presidency in 1987, when Malloy was selected.

Tyson has been involved with Notre Dame since 1966, when he entered the University as a freshman. He has two Notre Dame degrees: a bachelor's degree, earned in 1970, and a master's degree, earned in 1974. After his ordination in 1975, he held various positions at the University, including admissions counselor, assistant rec- tor in Hesburgh Hall, business professor, executive assistant to the president under Father Theodore Hesburgh and vice president for student affairs. He left Notre Dame after being selected as president of the University of Portland in 1990.

Contact Sheila Flynn at sflyn@nd.edu

Fans show their disgust during the game against Michigan. The Irish lost 38-0.

Entire band squeezes into Michigan

Tensions high between fans as Michigan blows out ND

By MEGHANNE DOWNES
News Editor

ANN AIBOR, Mich. — Rivalries are common in college football, but this week's end's rivalry between Notre Dame and Michigan fans on Michigan's campus. He was unaware of any arrests. At several tailgates prior to the game, fans from both sides exchanged comments, and it isn't uncommon for Notre Dame fans to pass Michigan tailgates and hear unsolicited derogatory comments.
First impressions

I learned a lot about first impressions this weekend in Michigan. I learned that Ann Arbor is, in fact, not a woman ill repute as I had been repeatedly told and was beginning to believe. Rather, it is a pretty amazing college town that, upon first glimpse, outdoes the city of South Bend in every way possible, as asserted by our ranking as "Great Campus, Bad Town" by Sports Illustrated On Campus.

I also believed that Michigan fans couldn't be all that different than Notre Dame fans. We both came in hopes of good times and a good game, although I was forced to drive home without the latter.

Upon entering one State Street locale and hearing a rowdy rendition of the Notre Dame fight song, my first thought was to keep an eye out for locals. Soon I realized, however, that throwing insults back and forth with the enemy can be a source of entertainment for all.

"Overrated," they chanted in response to our rounds of "25-23," the score of last year's encounter. For the next half hour, as both tables tried to one-up the other, chants of "George O'Leary" and "Bob Davie" were directed at us, we received our insults with amusement.

When everyone ran out of comeback, two of the Michigan students brought a peace offering of two cold pitchers. I think it's safe to say that our football fans are true gentlemen where their similarities with their fans end.

Game day was another story. What other student body assaults visiting fans with eggs and half-empty (or half-full?) beer cans? At least their clever and ad-repeated chants of "Rudy sucks" and "F--- the Irish" gave Notre Dame students reassurance as to our institution's admittance of individuals of less than intelligence.

After the game (let's not even go there...I realized that maybe my first impressions were right. So maybe South Bend has a little less to offer than Ann Arbor, but on the drive back home, I took solace in the fact that the outcome of Saturday's game (although I'm still more than a bit upset about that) it's better to live in a second-rate city than to live amongst a second-rate student body.

Contact Allison Walsh at awoolfmd@nd.edu. The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Gov. Frank O’Bannon dies Saturday following stroke

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Newly sworn-in Indiana Gov. Joe Kernan declared Sunday a statewide day of remembrance in honor of the late Gov. Frank O’Bannon but remained out of the public eye in preparation for the week ahead.

Kernan was to return to the Statehouse Monday facing some pressing problems, including a controversial death-penalty case, a growing budget deficit and a property-tax overhaul stinging thousands of homeowners with much higher bills.

He also must choose someone to take over his job as lieutenant governor and begin melding his own staff with that of O’Bannon’s.

There was confidence among leaders in both parties that Kernan could corral consensus to address the state’s biggest problems during next year’s legislative session and pull partisan surprises ahead.

Kernan, a Democrat who had been lieutenant governor since 1997, announced in December he would not run for governor in 2004.

But in the week since O’Bannon suffered a stroke, Kernan has said he does not anticipate changing his mind.

“I think it will be steady as she goes,” House Speaker Patrick Bauer, a fellow Democrat, said Sunday. “I don’t think he’s going to rein­vert the wheel or step out of bounds. I think he will do the duty that was thrust upon him.”

Said longtime Senate Finance Chairman Larry Borst, a Republican: “The state will do well in his hands.”

The state Supreme Court formally transferred power to Kernan, 57, on Wednesday, two days after O’Bannon was found unconscious in his hotel room while attending a trade conference.

O’Bannon, 73, died Saturday at a Chicago hospital, and Kernan was sworn in as governor about six hours later.

In brief remarks after the ceremony, Kernan asked Hoosiers to remember O’Bannon in six hours later.

In brief remarks after the ceremony, Kernan asked Hoosiers to remember O’Bannon on Sunday, suggest­ing the day be one “of reflection, sorrow and joy for a life that was lived to the fullest in the service of the people of Indiana.”

Parishioners at a church where Kernan has attended services prayed Sunday for the new governor and for Frank O’Bannon.

O’Bannon and the family decid­ed to use no further means of support and care, and the gov­ernor died naturally,” a written statement from his office said.

O’Bannon designated himself an organ donor, so his body was immediately returned to Indianapolis, the statement said.

Li. Gov. Joe Kernan, who had served as acting governor since Wednesday, was sworn in as governor Saturday night.

By late afternoon, mourners, many in tears, were leaving flowers outside the governor’s office. Flags fell to half-staff at the Statehouse and other loca­tions in downtown Indianapolis.

“if a measure of a person is how he lives, he measured up to a very, very high standard,” said Indiana House Speaker Patrick Bauer, a fellow Democrat from South Bend.

President Bush called O’Bannon “a dedicated public servant and a good and decent man.”

“He has served the people of his state with integrity and devotion,” Bush said in a writ­ten statement.

By late afternoon, mourners, many in tears, were leaving flowers outside the governor’s office. Flags fell to half-staff at the Statehouse and other locations in downtown Indianapolis.

“if a measure of a person is how he lives, he measured up to a very, very high standard,” said Indiana House Speaker Patrick Bauer, a fellow Democrat from South Bend.

President Bush called O’Bannon “a dedicated public servant and a good and decent man.”

“He has served the people of his state with integrity and devotion,” Bush said in a written statement.

By late afternoon, mourners, many in tears, were leaving flowers outside the governor’s office. Flags fell to half-staff at the Statehouse and other locations in downtown Indianapolis.

“if a measure of a person is how he lives, he measured up to a very, very high standard,” said Indiana House Speaker Patrick Bauer, a fellow Democrat from South Bend.

President Bush called O’Bannon “a dedicated public servant and a good and decent man.”

“He has served the people of his state with integrity and devotion,” Bush said in a written statement.

By late afternoon, mourners, many in tears, were leaving flowers outside the governor’s office. Flags fell to half-staff at the Statehouse and other locations in downtown Indianapolis.

“if a measure of a person is how he lives, he measured up to a very, very high standard,” said Indiana House Speaker Patrick Bauer, a fellow Democrat from South Bend.

President Bush called O’Bannon “a dedicated public servant and a good and decent man.”

“He has served the people of his state with integrity and devotion,” Bush said in a written statement.

By late afternoon, mourners, many in tears, were leaving flowers outside the governor’s office. Flags fell to half-staff at the Statehouse and other locations in downtown Indianapolis.

“if a measure of a person is how he lives, he measured up to a very, very high standard,” said Indiana House Speaker Patrick Bauer, a fellow Democrat from South Bend.

President Bush called O’Bannon “a dedicated public servant and a good and decent man.”

“He has served the people of his state with integrity and devotion,” Bush said in a written statement.
Center for Spirituality launches lecture series

By MICHELLE EGGERS
News Writer

Saint Mary’s Center for Spirituality launches its “More Than One Way to Be Catholic” fall lecture series on Tuesday. The series will help the Saint Mary’s community rediscover its Catholic Identity in a time when the Church is facing great resistance to the notion of pluralism, organizers said.

“The Catholic Church is at a point in its long history where the notion of pluralism is falling on hard times,” said Sister Kathleen Dolphin, Center for Spirituality director. “The world and the church are both facing confusion, which results in a lack of clarity on what the church really is. There is resistance to the notion of more than one way to be Catholic.”

Dolphin approaches the notion of pluralism in a way that the public will understand.

The first lecture of the series, “The Catholic Church is Facing Pluralism,” was held on Tuesday, September 23, at 12:15 p.m., in LeMans Hall’s Lounge.

The lecture series is the first of the three lectures.

The lecture series is the first among several planned for the year to promote awareness of appreciation for a Gospel-centered spirituality among the Saint Mary’s community.

“My overall hope for the lecture series would be that the Saint Mary’s community and general public would develop a healthy attitude toward pluralism within the church,” said Dolphin. “In everything we do, it is important that we honor Catholic tradition while pioneering change.”

All lectures are free and open to the public. Each will be held at 12:15 p.m. in LeMans Hall’s Stapleton Lounge.

Contact Michelle Eggers at ege22722@saintmarys.edu

---

Singer Owens rocks Legends

By AMANDA MICHAELS
News Writer

After performances by "The Rutabega" and "The Love of Everything," singer and songwriter Owens headlined Saturday night’s WVFI concert at Legends, the first in a six-show series that will span the school year and feature bands a few steps out of the mainstream.

"The most influential rock band around," said Owens.

An opening act for singer Owens commenced the first of a six-part WVFI Saturday night concert series at Legends.

Polyviny1 Records — one of which is a split with "The Rutabega." In the past, he worked with some of Chicago's most popular alternative bands, including American Football, Cap'n Jazz, Jean of Arc and Owls.

For most, Owens was the biggest draw of the evening, but some students said Legends in itself was a strong attraction.

"I haven't heard of any of these bands. I like Legends in general, and the lighting set-up is great," said Notre Dame freshman Mike McConnell. "There's not much else going on tonight anyways."

Contact Amanda Michaels at amichael@nd.edu

---

NOTRE DAME TICKETS

Buy • Sell • Trade

All Games • All Locations

$5 EARN EXTRA INCOME $5

CASH PAID TODAY FOR TICKETS

CALL PREFERRED TICKETS NOW

234-5560

---

Ages 3-5 & Kindergarten

Enrollment Openings are Now Available for the Following Age Groups:

- 5y. afternoons
- 4y. and 4½y. TTh all day or afternoons

Kindergarten: full time or mornings

Accredited Program, Degreed Teachers, 25+ Years of Serving Children, Families and the Community, Innovative Curriculum

Nurturing, Stimulating Teachers

Early Childhood Development Center, Inc. at Saint Mary’s College

Please call — 574-284-4693 for information

The Nanovic Institute

For European Studies Fellows Forum

Americans Are From Mars, Europeans Are From Venus: Can We Still Talk?

A discussion among experts on the current tensions between Europe and the United States

With panelists Margaret Doody, Keir Lieber, Julia Lopez, and Dinah Shelton

September 16, Tuesday, 4:30-6:00 pm

C101 Hesburgh Center Auditorium

A reception will follow in the Great Hall

www.nd.edu/~nanovic for more information
INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Iraq

Powell warns of terror risks

Associated Press

BAGHDAD — Secretary of State Colin Powell said Sunday he is convinced "the winds of freedom are blowing" across Iraq after the U.S.-led coalition acknowledged the possibility that terrorists are trying to make the journey into the country and sabotage the process toward self-rule.

Powell spent 12 hours in talks with the team of American officials guiding Iraq in the post-invasion period and with the U.S-appointed Iraqi Governing Council. On his first visit to the nation that has dominated his attention since the early days of the Bush administration, Powell attended a Baghdad City Council meeting, met with Foreign Minister Hoshyar Zebari and joined the U.S. ambassador for Iraq, L. Paul Bremer, at a joint news conference.

He described impressive moves toward self-government and seemed surprised by what he heard as he made his rounds.

"There is vibrancy to this effort, a vibrancy that I attribute to the winds of freedom that are now blowing through this land," he said after the city council meeting.

Powell's day began with a flight from Kuwait aboard a C-130 cargo plane and ended with a dinner with a leading Shi'ite cleric.

He said the United States is committed to having Iraqis run their government, but wants to cede power after a "deliberative process" rather than the early transfer advocated by some fellow members of the U.N. Security Council. France has pressed for a seven-month transition period within a month.

"We are not hanging on for the sake of hanging on. We are hanging on because it's necessary to stay with the task until a new government has been created, a responsible government," Powell said at the news conference with Bremer.

"The worst thing that could happen is for us to push this process too quickly, before the capacity for governance is there and the basis for legitimacy is there, and see it fail," Powell said.

Powell called attention to the appointment of an interim Iraqi Cabinet with 25 ministers, steps toward creation of an independent judiciary and general Arab acceptance of Zebari as a legitimate Iraqi representative even though Iraq still lacks an authentic government.

"There is a sense of hope here even in this time of difficulty," Powell said. "Those who are so critical of the administration might want to hold their fire a bit."

Powell acknowledged that the security situation remains challenging, with a major new threat coming from "terrorists who are trying to infiltrate into the country for the purpose of disrupting this whole process."

The secretary gave a rough estimate of 100 such infiltrators and said he was confident that the U.S. military can handle the problem.

The attacks on American occupying forces, an almost daily occurrence in Iraq, continued when a roadside bomb hit a convoy in the city of Fallujah, killing a U.S. soldier and injuring three others, the military said.

Some 200 soldiers have died in Iraq since President Bush declared an end to major combat on May 1. During the heavy fighting before that date, 138 soldiers died.

"This security threat comes from those who do not want to see (deposed President) Saddam Hussein go and those who want to foment trouble here, terrorists who are coming in, as well as remnants of the old regime," Powell told "Fox News Sunday" in Washington.

He said military commanders told him they are confident they can handle both threats, though it will take time.

Almost nine in 10 Americans, in an ABC-Washington Post poll released Sunday, said they were concerned that the United States is going to get bogged down in a long and costly peacekeeping mission in Iraq.

Local News

Powerful hurricane eyes E. Coast

Associated Press

MIAMI — Hurricane Isabel weakened slightly Sunday but was still a powerful Category 4 storm as it plowed across the Atlantic Ocean on a course that could slam it into the central East Coast late this week.

"It's looking more and more likely this is going to be a major event for the eastern United States," National Hurricane Center meteorologist Eric Blake said Sunday.

Computer models predict that weather conditions over the East Coast should prevent Isabel from turning back out to sea and missing land, hurricane specialist Stacy Stewart said.

"Landfall along the U.S. mid-Atlantic coast somewhere between North Carolina and New Jersey between four or five days (Thursday or Friday) is appearing more and more likely," Stewart said. "Little or no significant weakening is expected to occur until after landfall occurs."

In Wilmington, N.C., John Byrnes had already stocked up with 25 sheets of plywood Sunday and enough two-by-fours and screws to barricade the windows at his house.
Tension continued from page 1

Several students said Michigan fans would approach them in line or while they were walking and make obscene comments or gestures.

"I enjoy going to the game and having the competition, but I think the line was crossed in many areas and that takes away from the fun of going," Walsh sophomore Patty Rose said. "Friendly banter is fine but when there are older men yelling profanity at you it's uncalled for."

At one golf course tailgate, a stuffed dummy with Notre Dame gear was lynched from a tree. A Michigan T-shirt hawker countered Notre Dame fans who wore either The Shirt or one that read "Ann Arbor is a whore... We are here to score" with "Rudy Sucks ... The Irish Swallow" and others that contained obscenities.

A law enforcement officer, who directed traffic outside Michigan Stadium, made negative comments about Notre Dame throughout the day, saying "Go home Irish" and singled Irish fans out in the crowd over a bullhorn.

The questionable fan behavior carried over into "The Big House" where the Michigan student section began cheering with "F--- the Irish" several minutes before kickoff.

Though several students found the stadium personnel to be accommodating and helpful, the Michigan fans, outside of the student section, argued with and taunted the Irish.

Several band members said they were warned prior to the game to avoid confrontation with Michigan fans who attempted to take part of their uniforms.

Kenneth Dye, director of University bands, said he expects problems at certain away games, but generally the band has been well received.

He said the general audience, stadium personnel, and Michigan's band were helpful; however, he did encounter rowdy fans.

"There were some fans who sat right behind the band and they said all kinds of things," Dye said. "The favorite thing was that they would substitute 'fighting Irish' with a bad word."

Irish cheerleader Mike Riess said he expected the taunting that he and other Notre Dame cheerleaders experienced.

"We got some rude comments. They were up there with what we experienced at USC," Riess said. "We kind of expected stuff like that to happen."

Contact Meghanne Downes at mdownes1@nd.edu

Band

continued from page 1

assistant band director.

The band obtained the required number of volunteers, but everyone, including security and support staff, was able to enter the stadium. "There was a contingency plan had they asked us when we were entering the stadium," said drum major Jeff Serpas. "No one told us anything when we got there."

There was nobody there counting heads.

Dye attributed the outcome to hospitality on the part of Michigan band members and Notre Dame's reputation of being courteous.

"Notre Dame people have a way of being very polite and not getting in anyone's way," he said. "We're very careful when we go places."

On Saturday, Michigan's "Big House" set an NCAA attendance record with 111,726 people in the stands.

"I guess we helped them set that attendance record," Dye said.

Contact Andrew Thagard at athagard@nd.edu

Clintons rallies Dems against Davis recall

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Former President Clinton rallied against the gubernatorial recall campaign Sunday in an effort to energize California Democrats who are increasingly hopeful they can defeat the attempt to oust Gov. Gray Davis.

Clinton, still a highly popular and polarizing figure nearly three years after leaving office, mixed Scripture with politics in his 40-minute address during a midmorning service at the First African Methodist Episcopal Church in Los Angeles, the city's oldest black congregation.

He repeated Democrats' theme that the Oct. 7 recall election is part of a right-wing power grab, and said removing Davis could scare future office-holders away from making difficult choices.

"Gray Davis and I have been friends for a long time, and I don't want this happening to him," Clinton said. "This is bigger than him. It's you I'm worried about. It's California worry. I don't want you to become a laughingstock or the beginning of a circus in America where we throw people out for making tough decisions.

After a pause, he continued, "Don't do this. Don't do this, as the congregation erupted in applause.

Clinton is the first of several prominent national Democrats who have scheduled visits this week to campaign alongside Davis against the recall. The list includes Al Gore, Jesse Jackson and several Democratic presidential candidates.

Spring worried about. It's election is part of a right-wing power grab, and said removing as the congregation erupted in applause.

When it was a scholarship, it was the prestigious Luce scholarship, finding you an exciting 1-year job in the Far East, strategically chosen to match your career goal. Apply by November 7, 2003.

Interested? 29 or younger? Have you now (or will you have by the end of May 2004) an ND degree? No east-Asia experience?

For more information contact Nancy O'Connor at 631-5432

---

University of Notre Dame International Study Program in Angers, France

"Should I stay, or should I go?"

INFORMATION MEETING

With Prof. Paul McDowell and returnees of the program

Tuesday, September 16, 2003
7:30 PM
118 DeBartolo

Application Deadline: Dec. 1, 2003
Academic Year 2004-2005
Fall 2004- Spring 2005
Applications available: www.nd.edu/~intlstd

When If's the prestigious Luce scholarship, finding you an exciting 1-year job in the Far East, strategically chosen to match your career goal. Apply by November 7, 2003.

Interested? 29 or younger? Have you now (or will you have by the end of May 2004) an ND degree? No east-Asia experience?

For more information contact Nancy O'Connor at 631-5432

Recycle The Observer.

---

---

---

---
Conseo skids after relisting

NEW YORK — Shares of Conseco Inc. fell Friday as they returned to the New York Stock Exchange, a day after the insurer emerged from bankruptcy.

Consocco's stock closed at $20.29, down $1.38, or 6.4 percent, from its closing level of $21.67 Thursday in over-the-counter dealings.

The shares, which now trade under the new symbol CNO, had been trading on a "when issued" basis in the over-the-counter market. Conseco's new stock will total about 100 million shares. Its former common stock, trading under the symbol CNEQ over the counter, has been canceled.

Talks go on as UAW deal runs out

DETROIT — United Auto Workers President Ron Gettelfinger said Saturday the union had reached no agreements with any of Detroit’s Big Three automakers and that intense negotiations continued.

Gettelfinger, who spoke Saturday afternoon at the AFL-CIO-sponsored LaborFest at Ford Field, declined to speculate when new agreements would be reached. The current labor pact, negotiated in 1999, expires on June 30.

"We’re keeping all options open," Gettelfinger told reporters after his speech. Sources familiar with the talks have told The Associated Press that the automakers that split delegates beyond the point of repair.

Poor nations, many of which had banded together to play a key role in negotiations, wanted to end rich countries’ agricultural subsides. European nations and Japan wereintent on pushing four new issues that many poor countries saw as a complicated and costly distraction.

Many poor countries accused the United States and Europe of trying to bully poor nations into accepting trade rules they didn’t want.

"Trade ministers have been pressured, blackmailed," said Irene Ovunji Odida, a delegate from Uganda.

The United States blamed some countries, which it didn’t name, that it said were more interested in flowery speeches than negotiations.

"Some countries will now need to decide whether they want to make a point, or whether they want to make progress," U.S. Trade Representative Robert Zoellick said.

His comments appeared directed at a group of mostly poor nations — often known as the Group of 20-plus — that emerged as the major opposition to the U.S. and European positions. The group represents most of the world’s population and includes China, India, Indonesia and Brazil.

Leaders of that group said they had brought concrete issues to the table that would be the basis for future trade talks.

"We emerge from this process stronger than we came into it," Brazilian Foreign Minister Celso Amorim said.

Ecuador’s foreign trade minister, Ivonne Baki, added: "It’s not the end. It’s the beginning."

Pascal Lamy, the European Union’s trade commissioner, speaks to the media after trade negotiations collapsed in Cancun on Sunday. Lamy called the talks a failure that would make the Doha market-opening measures more difficult to implement. Before the talks collapsed, delegates spent Sunday debating not the changes to farming policy that they had spent much of the conference negotiating, but instead four proposals about foreign investment and competition. Delegates said the Europeans agreed to back off on three of the proposals, but insisted they be granted one. South Korea wanted all four taken up together, and African nations refused to negotiate on any of them, according to an EU official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Gasoline prices leveling out

CARSON, Calif. — Retail gasoline prices rose a fraction of a penny in the past three weeks, stabilizing after a steep climb of 21 cents a gallon since early June, an analyst said Sunday.

The average price for a gallon of self-serve gasoline nationwide, including all grades and taxes, was $1.75 on Friday, according to the Lundberg Survey of 8,000 stations.

That was up about 0.29 of a cent since the last Lundberg Survey was on Aug. 22.

Analyst Trilby Lundberg said the end of the summer driving season and a general reduction in the cost of crude oil helped prices stabilize.

Economists see no Fed rate cut

WASHINGTON — Even though U.S. companies are reluctant to hire workers, the economy over the second half of this year is expected to grow at the fastest pace since 1999.

There’s surprisingly upbeat prospect means that the Federal Reserve will see no need to cut interest rates at Tuesday’s meeting, private economists believe.

In recent weeks, analysts have kept revising upward their economic forecasts, given a series of favorable government reports.
2003 career fair business

participating companies

2003

Wednesday September 17
4:00 pm – 9:00 pm

All students regardless of degree, major, college, or year
Student ID card required
Attire is business formal

Joyce Center North Dome
(hockey rink side), enter gate 3

For more information about the participating companies, job descriptions, and contacts, access The Career Center website:

- Go to http://careercenter.nd.edu
- Click on Undergraduates, then click on Go IRISH
- Enter your NetID (AFSID) and Password, then click on Log in
- Click on Search Jobs/Internships
- Click on Jobs/Internships for Notre Dame Students
- Scroll down to Keyword Search, type in BCF, then click on Search
- For an alphabetical list of:
  - Organizations, click on “Organization”
  - Positions, click on “Position Title”

Abbott Laboratories
Abercrombie & Fitch
Accenture
A.G. Edwards
Allstate Insurance Company
American Express
Financial Advisors AMS
Aon Corporation
Bain & Company
Bank One Corporation
BDO Seidman
Boeing
Boys & Girls Clubs of America bp careers Inside
Carson Pirie Scott & Co.
CDW
Central Intelligence Agency
Chicago Consulting Actuaries
CIGNA
Coachmen Industries
Crowe Chizik and Company
Deloitte & Touche
Deloitte Consulting
DirectEmployers
E & J Gallo Winery
Eli Lilly & Company
Ernst & Young
FactSet Research Systems
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Fifth Third Bank
General Electric
General Mills
Hartford Financial Services Group
H-E-B Grocery Company
Hewlett-Packard
Honeywell
Houlihan Lokey Howard & Zukin
Humana
Huron Consulting Group
IBM
Indalex Aluminum Solutions
InteCap
IRISH Online
Johnson & Johnson – Finance
Johnson & Johnson – Information Management
Johnson & Johnson – Marketing
Johnson & Johnson – Sales
Jones Lang LaSalle
Katz Media Group*

KeyBank
Kirkland & Ellis
KPMG
Kraft
LaSalle Bank
McGladrey & Pullen
Morgan Stanley
Morningstar
Motorola
National City Corporation
Navigant Consulting
News America Marketing
Northwestern Mutual Financial Network – Hoops Financial Pfizer
PNC Financial Services Group
PricewaterhouseCoopers
Procter & Gamble
Progressive Insurance
Protiviti
Pulte Homes
SBC Communications
SCORE Small Business Development Center
SCORE! Educational Centers
SRVA
Smart and Associates
State Farm
Strong Financial Corporation
Styker Instruments
Sun Life Financial Target Corporation
Teach for America
The Boston Beer Company
The Boston Consulting Group
The Gallup Organization
The Horton Group
The Vanguard Group
Towers Perrin
Travelers
Tucker Alan
U.S. Cellular
U.S. Dept. of Treasury, Internal Revenue Service
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
Wachovia Securities
Walgreens
Wells Fargo
William Blair & Company
WPS Resources Corporation
YAI/National Institute for People with Disabilities*
Zurich, Sanders & Rasor*

* Resume drop
WASHINGTON - New federal health standards that limit the amount of soot in the air do not adequately protect the elderly and people with respiratory problems and should be tightened, according to an internal government report.

The findings could become the basis for additional pollution-control requirements to reduce the amount of microscopic soot emitted by diesel-burning trucks, cars, factories and power plants.

Such a step would put the Bush administration at odds with business groups. They have argued the current federal soot-control standards, issued by the Clinton administration, are based on uncertain science and have cost industry tens of billions of dollars.

The new findings are in a draft paper by Environmental Protection Agency staff and are being circulated for review by outside scientists.

The 1997 standards have not yet had significant impact. They were delayed by several years of litigation as industry challenged the rules all the way to the Supreme Court, which eventually upheld them.

The EPA soon expects to determine what areas of the country will have to impose additional pollution-control measures because their air is so dirty it does not meet the standard.

Even as the rules are being put in place, the EPA staff review of the latest scientific studies on the effects of soot on health has concluded that the standards may not produce the intended health benefits.

The 400-page draft paper says that since 1997, some scientific studies "have confirmed and strengthened" the association between exposure to microscopic soot and premature deaths, cardiovascular problems and respiratory illnesses. Such soot contains particles and gases 20 times smaller than a strand of human hair.

Furthermore, the paper says, in many cases these studies showed adverse health effects when airborne soot concentrations were well below the maximum allowed by the 1997 standard, particularly during the autumn.

As a result, the staff analysis recommends the allowable concentrations be reduced further, possibly as much as 50 percent for the 24-hour standard and 20 percent for the annual average standard.

The annual average under the 1997 rule of no more than 15 micrograms of soot per cubic meter of air might have to be cut to 12 micrograms to achieve adequate health benefits, and the 24-hour standard of 65 micrograms per cubic meter to between 30 and 50 micrograms, according to the staff paper.

EPA spokeswoman Lisa Harrison said the draft paper has not been peer-reviewed by scientists and that no new soot regulations are imminent.

"EPA will not base any regulatory decision on this draft staff paper," said Harrison. "It's very early in a lengthy [review] process." She said a final draft paper, expected next year, "will include recommended options for the administrator to consider."

High advocates cited the EPA staff finding as a major development, supporting their contention that tougher air quality standards are needed for microscopic soot because it can become easily lodged deep inside lung tissue. "This represents the best judgment of the EPA staff in their interpretation of the science," said Deborah Shprentz, a consultant for the American Lung Association. She said it reflects that numerous studies support aggressive actions to curtail this type of air pollution.

"New research has shown that even short-term exposure to particulate pollution can be dangerous for some people, particularly the elderly, young children and people with asthma and other serious lung diseases," said John Kirkwood, the association's president.

Industry spokesmen questioned the staff conclusions and indicated they are ready to challenge the analysis' scientific underpinnings.
LONDON PROGRAM

APPLICATION MEETING

FOR FALL 2004 AND SPRING 2005

Tuesday, September 16, 2003
101 DeBartolo
6:30 pm

ALL SOPHOMORES WELCOME!
Ben, Jen reportedly break off wedding

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Have they gone from Bennifer back to Ben and Jennifer? The most overexposed couple on the planet was supposed to exchange wedding vows Sunday, but instead there was a report that they had ended their tabloid-chronicled storybook romance.

Amid the frantic speculation surrounding the pair last week, People magazine reported Sunday that Affleck has dumped Lopez due to “second thoughts” about their impending wedding. Dubbed “Bennifer” by gossip wags, the pair planned to wed Sunday, but instead there was a shift in Affleck’s plans.

"I'm so glad Estonians made this right choice." - Kristiina Ojuland, Estonian foreign minister

Estonians approve tort reform amendment

Associated Press

TALLINN — Estonians voted Sunday to join a historic expansion of the European Union, fulfilling what once seemed an unattainable dream for the small Baltic state.

The vote was close on the law allowing representatives of the voters to sell their products on premises; protect religious groups' freedom to the 1938 Soviet independence, only to lose its vote, according to results from nearly all polling stations. The other 33 percent voted no on the referendum, Estonia's Central Election Commission reported.

"This decision will guarantee the future of Estonia," a smiling Kristiina Ojuland, the country's Foreign Minister, told The Associated Press. "I'm so glad Estonians made this right choice.

At a festive gathering at the Scottish Yard pub in the capital, Tallinn, Prime Minister Juhan Parts compared the results to the day in 1918 when Estonia declared independence, only to lose its freedom to the 1938 Soviet invasion.

"We will stay Estonian, but with this emotional feeling that we will belong to a family, a family of the European people," he said.

More than 60 percent of 850,000 eligible voters cast ballots, though there was no minimum turnout requirement for the vote to be valid.

With this vote, eight of 10 nations invited to become new members of the European Union next year have approved referendums endorsing the move. The final vote is leaving the decision to lawmakers while Estonia's Baltic neighbors, Latvia, will hold a referendum on Saturday.

All 10 countries are expected to become full members of the trade bloc in May 2004, increasing the European Union's membership to 25.

In recent months, Estonian opinion polls had suggested lukewarm support for membership — raising the possibility Estonians would shun the powerful European bloc.

But the government and businesses, spooked by the prospect of missing out on access to the lucrative EU market, campaigned aggressively for the “yes” side.

Entry in the 500 million European Union has been a primary goal since Estonia regained independence amid the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union. Leaders of the Baltic state have insisted it would boost living standards — at least for future generations.

Twelve years ago, it looked like it would take decades for Estonia to meet EU requirements. The economy was in free-fall — with annual inflation topping 10 percent, and Russian troops, remnants of a 50-year Soviet occupation force, stationed throughout the country.

The government implemented radical economic reforms after communism unraveled, and Estonia quickly gained the reputation as the most successful of the 15 former Soviet republics. The country's gross domestic product increased 10 percent by 1994 and has remained steady. Since regaining independence, inflation has fallen from 10 percent to just below 5 percent.

Younger, better-off Estonians hoped EU membership would bring greater opportunities to travel and work abroad. One tongue-and-cheek, pro-EU advertisement even offered the promise to women of “sexier men” with the lifting of border restrictions among member nations.

At least some voters seem swayed by the symbolism of membership in the union as a mark of the nation's return to mainstream Europe after so long on the fringe.

Both sides resorted to scare tactics to sway the 850,000 eligible voters, many of whom expressed confusion about what EU entry will mean.

Many pro-EU ads raised the specter that Estonia's erstwhile ruler Russia could re-exert its influence if the nation stayed out of mainstream Europe.

One refrain from EU backers was that “a no to the EU is a yes to Russia.”

Opponents warned the EU will force Estonia to abandon its low-tariff, low-tax system that has helped it achieve years of impressive economic growth, at or above 5 percent.

Estonia Voters approve entrance to EU

Associated Press

TALLINN — Estonians voted Sunday to join a historic expansion of the European Union, fulfilling what once seemed an unattainable dream for the small Baltic state.

The supporters of joining the globally powerful economic bloc had 67 percent of the vote, according to results from nearly all polling stations. The other 33 percent voted no on the referendum, Estonia's Central Election Commission reported.

"This decision will guarantee the future of Estonia," a smiling Kristiina Ojuland, the country's Foreign Minister, told The Associated Press. "I'm so glad Estonians made this right choice.

At a festive gathering at the Scottish Yard pub in the capital, Tallinn, Prime Minister Juhan Parts compared the results to the day in 1918 when Estonia declared independence, only to lose its freedom to the 1938 Soviet invasion.

"We will stay Estonian, but with this emotional feeling that we will belong to a family, a family of the European people," he said.

More than 60 percent of 850,000 eligible voters cast ballots, though there was no minimum turnout requirement for the vote to be valid.

With this vote, eight of 10 nations invited to become new members of the European Union next year have approved referendums endorsing the move. The final vote is leaving the decision to lawmakers while Estonia's Baltic neighbors, Latvia, will hold a referendum on Saturday.

All 10 countries are expected to become full members of the trade bloc in May 2004, increasing the European Union's membership to 25.

In recent months, Estonian opinion polls had suggested lukewarm support for membership — raising the possibility Estonians would shun the powerful European bloc.

But the government and businesses, spooked by the prospect of missing out on access to the lucrative EU market, campaigned aggressively for the “yes” side.

Entry in the 500 million European Union has been a primary goal since Estonia regained independence amid the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union. Leaders of the Baltic state have insisted it would boost living standards — at least for future generations.

Twelve years ago, it looked like it would take decades for Estonia to meet EU requirements. The economy was in free-fall — with annual inflation topping 10 percent, and Russian troops, remnants of a 50-year Soviet occupation force, stationed throughout the country.

The government implemented radical economic reforms after communism unraveled, and Estonia quickly gained the reputation as the most successful of the 15 former Soviet republics. The country's gross domestic product increased 10 percent by 1994 and has remained steady. Since regaining independence, inflation has fallen from 10 percent to just below 5 percent.

Younger, better-off Estonians hoped EU membership would bring greater opportunities to travel and work abroad. One tongue-and-cheek, pro-EU advertisement even offered the promise to women of “sexier men” with the lifting of border restrictions among member nations.

At least some voters seem swayed by the symbolism of membership in the union as a mark of the nation's return to mainstream Europe after so long on the fringe.

Both sides resorted to scare tactics to sway the 850,000 eligible voters, many of whom expressed confusion about what EU entry will mean.

Many pro-EU ads raised the specter that Estonia's erstwhile ruler Russia could re-exert its influence if the nation stayed out of mainstream Europe.

One refrain from EU backers was that “a no to the EU is a yes to Russia.”

Opponents warned the EU will force Estonia to abandon its low-tariff, low-tax system that has helped it achieve years of impressive economic growth, at or above 5 percent.

Estonia Voters approve entrance to EU

Associated Press

TALLINN — Estonians voted Sunday to join a historic expansion of the European Union, fulfilling what once seemed an unattainable dream for the small Baltic state.

The supporters of joining the globally powerful economic bloc had 67 percent of the vote, according to results from nearly all polling stations. The other 33 percent voted no on the referendum, Estonia's Central Election Commission reported.

"This decision will guarantee the future of Estonia," a smiling Kristiina Ojuland, the country's Foreign Minister, told The Associated Press. "I'm so glad Estonians made this right choice.

At a festive gathering at the Scottish Yard pub in the capital, Tallinn, Prime Minister Juhan Parts compared the results to the day in 1918 when Estonia declared independence, only to lose its freedom to the 1938 Soviet invasion.

"We will stay Estonian, but with this emotional feeling that we will belong to a family, a family of the European people," he said.

More than 60 percent of 850,000 eligible voters cast ballots, though there was no minimum turnout requirement for the vote to be valid.

With this vote, eight of 10 nations invited to become new members of the European Union next year have approved referendums endorsing the move. The final vote is leaving the decision to lawmakers while Estonia's Baltic neighbors, Latvia, will hold a referendum on Saturday.

All 10 countries are expected to become full members of the trade bloc in May 2004, increasing the European Union's membership to 25.

In recent months, Estonian opinion polls had suggested lukewarm support for membership — raising the possibility Estonians would shun the powerful European bloc.

But the government and businesses, spooked by the prospect of missing out on access to the lucrative EU market, campaigned aggressively for the “yes” side.

Entry in the 500 million European Union has been a primary goal since Estonia regained independence amid the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union. Leaders of the Baltic state have insisted it would boost living standards — at least for future generations.

Twelve years ago, it looked like it would take decades for Estonia to meet EU requirements. The economy was in free-fall — with annual inflation topping 10 percent, and Russian troops, remnants of a 50-year Soviet occupation force, stationed throughout the country.

The government implemented radical economic reforms after communism unraveled, and Estonia quickly gained the reputation as the most successful of the 15 former Soviet republics. The country's gross domestic product increased 10 percent by 1994 and has remained steady. Since regaining independence, inflation has fallen from 10 percent to just below 5 percent.

Younger, better-off Estonians hoped EU membership would bring greater opportunities to travel and work abroad. One tongue-and-cheek, pro-EU advertisement even offered the promise to women of “sexier men” with the lifting of border restrictions among member nations.

At least some voters seem swayed by the symbolism of membership in the union as a mark of the nation's return to mainstream Europe after so long on the fringe.

Both sides resorted to scare tactics to sway the 850,000 eligible voters, many of whom expressed confusion about what EU entry will mean.

Many pro-EU ads raised the specter that Estonia's erstwhile ruler Russia could re-exert its influence if the nation stayed out of mainstream Europe.

One refrain from EU backers was that “a no to the EU is a yes to Russia.”

Opponents warned the EU will force Estonia to abandon its low-tariff, low-tax system that has helped it achieve years of impressive economic growth, at or above 5 percent.
U.S. and WTO must embrace fair trade

The brand-name products you buy, from cardigans to coffee, almost certainly come from a wealthy public corporation based in a wealthy country. There is no reason for famers or citizens of poor nations to be on the short end when it comes to the benefits of international trade. Although agricultural subsidies worldwide, more than $160 billion in total, remain a contentious issue, since the late 1980s the World Trade Organization has attempted to reduce them. Some elements of any agreement on the matter are contained in the WTO's 2005 Hong Kong Ministerial Declaration, which aims to reduce agricultural subsidies by 20% by 2013. The European Union, once the largest subsidizer of agriculture, has already been making progress, with a 71% reduction since the Uruguay Round, but the U.S. and Canada, the top two subsidizers in the world, have stubbornly refused to make similar cuts.

BJ Strew

Contact Us

Officie Manager & General Info

POSTMASTER: Send change of address to:

Observer

P.O. Box 5100

South Bend, IN 46625-5100

(574) 233-1581

www.ndsmcobserver.com

EDITOR in CHIEF

Andrew Soukup

MANAGING EDITOR

Andrew Thagard

NEWS DIRECTOR

Mike Flanagan

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Lori Jaworski

Kara Fox

SARA L. WOODford

ART DIRECTOR

BJ Strew

MARKETING MANAGER

Jeannie Decker

BUSINESS MANAGER

Mike Flanagan

www.ndsmcobserver.com

PUBLISHER: The Observer is published every Wednesday by the Student Publications Board of the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana 46656. Phone: 574-631-6000. FAX: 574-631-7575

THE OBSERVER ONLINE:

www.ndsmcobserver.com

THE OBSERVER POLICIES

The Observer is an independent, non-profit, student-run, student-owned newspaper, produced for the University of Notre Dame community. The Observer publishes an independent, non-partisan, student-produced newspaper, and publishes no advertising in the paper. The Editors in Chief and the Managing Editors make all decisions. For more information, contact the Managing Editor.

THE OBSERVER ONLINE

www.ndsmcobserver.com

THE OBSERVER POLICIES

The Observer is the independent, daily newspaper published in print and online by the students of the University of Notre Dame. The Observer reserves the right to refuse advertisements based on content.

The Observer polices are the responsibility of the Board of Editors in Chief, Managing Editors in Chief, Assistant Managing Editor and department editors. Commentators must be identified. Letters to the Editor must be signed and include contact information.

THE OBSERVER ONLINE

THE OBSERVER POLICIES

The Observer is an independent, daily newspaper published in print and online by the students of the University of Notre Dame. The Observer reserves the right to refuse advertisements based on content.

The Observer polices are the responsibility of the Board of Editors in Chief, Managing Editors in Chief, Assistant Managing Editor and department editors. Commentators must be identified. Letters to the Editor must be signed and include contact information.

THE OBSERVER ONLINE

THE OBSERVER POLICIES

The Observer is an independent, daily newspaper published in print and online by the students of the University of Notre Dame. The Observer reserves the right to refuse advertisements based on content.

The Observer polices are the responsibility of the Board of Editors in Chief, Managing Editors in Chief, Assistant Managing Editor and department editors. Commentators must be identified. Letters to the Editor must be signed and include contact information.
The Observer

Viewpoint

Monday, September 15, 2003

Notre Dame Students Ruin the Game

Treat Opposing Fans the Way You Would Want to Be Treated

On Saturday I was at Ann Arbor at the big house with my wife and two of my three sons. I have been going to Notre Dame games since 1972. In all those years, I have had some problems with fans in the stadium but I never thought my worst game that I ever had attended would be the fault of the Notre Dame students. I have driven all night in the rain and snow to games at Penn State and Ohio State and even Miami. All of these have a reputation for being a hostile environment for the opposing team's fans. But Saturday, Sept. 13 is a day I won't forget.

We got there early in the morning and tailgated with the Michigan fans. We joked together about how the game would be played—a very enjoyable time. When getting to our seats I was happy that Notre Dame fans and mostly students of Notre Dame surrounded me. My sons and I have been raised in the state of Michigan and were wearing Michigan shirts while my wife and I were in the 2003 Shirt.

The five male students behind us had been drinking and were very loud and were raining down four-letter words on all the Michigan fans. If you’re a fan of any organization you can only tolerate so much before you start looking for a confrontation. One of the Notre Dame students slipped off the bleacher and into one of my sons. A shouting match started; words were exchanged and I had to stand in between them. I was asked why I was standing up for him because they were Michigan fans. I would have done the same for any fans and I hoped that most Notre Dame fans would do the same. This was not frustration from what was happening on the field but I believe these students have always believed that it doesn’t matter what school you supported as long as you could respect the opposing team. This is what makes college football so great. It has long been a tradition at Notre Dame to stand on the bleachers during the game. I have always been proud to see that at home games. But at an away game there is no such tradition and there a mix of fans of all ages. My wife is close to having knee replacement and, at 53, my ability to balance myself while standing on the bleachers during the whole game is not what it used to be. I could only imagine what the 76 plus people down from me was going through. I was asked by these same students, later in the game, why was I not cheering for the Irish and stated that they had taken away my spirit. I was embarrassed for Notre Dame by what was happening in the stands, not by what was happening on the field. The security at Notre Dame stadium is unmatched by any away event and at Michigan there was nowhere to get help. Therefore it should be up to the students to police themselves to uphold the standards of being part of the greatest University.

After all, we are Notre Dame.

Gerald Selc
Perrysburg, Ohio
Sept. 14

Remarks at Soccer Game Offensive to Crowd

I have been a long time fan of Notre Dame soccer, going both to the men’s and women’s games. There is a group of Notre Dame students (male) who also go to support both teams forming a single cheering section. They are vigorous, loud and, on rare occasions, funny. The problem is that they are also frequently obnoxious, unrelentingly vulgar and a disgrace to the university.

On Friday evening, Sept. 12, they amused themselves with a steady string of homophbic remarks and vulgarities directed at the opposing goalie. On Saturday, Sept. 13, they directed repulsive remarks to the opposing goalie comparing her to various animals. There are not 80,000 people in the stands, so their braying remarks carry a goodly distance.

People in the stands were appalled by their behavior (e.g. a family with a prospective student, the coaches of a visiting high school team, a man who was restrained by his wife from going down to shut them up, etc.). I spoke to one of them on Friday but, seemingly, to no effect. I did apologize to the visitors whom I could identify. I am not proposing some politically correct speech code. I am merely noting how much they besmirch the reputation of the student body by their boisterous activities. I do not know their names. I only hope that they read this letter and realize what oafs they are and how bad they appear to the people who come to the games. Let them be funny, wild, loud and a little out of control. However, let them not be offensive to the crowd and hurtful to the opposition. Cardinal John O’Connor once said that the gentleman never consciously offends. These guys don’t seem to have the wit to see how offensive they are. I am ashamed of them and the bad name they give this school.

Lawrence Cunningham
Department of Theology
Sept. 14

Michigan Fans Classless

Congratulations to the University of Michigan Wolverines on their overwhelming victory on Saturday. God knows they were the better team, and surely God would reward such a fan base who carries themselves with the dignity of the maize and blue.

That very same dignity seems to have seeped into the psyche of every U of M fan. It has permeated their collective consciousness deep enough to welcome their opponents to Ann Arbor by lynching effigies of the Irish head coach. Yes, all that fight for an affirmative action stance in the Admissions Department seems to be creating quite a revolutionary perception about diversity. Of course, Lord knows Ty Willingham could use a reprimand for his unorthodox behavior on the sidelines and during his press conferences. Instilling a sense of integrity in his players would be the least he could do. His players would do well to imitate the compassionate way Michigan’s Marlon Jackson forgave a fellow bar patron with an absolving blow to the head with a beer bottle. But, as the team only accounts for a small demographic, let us look to the little people at defining the university. So instead of judging the players for their virtuosity, let us be equally ready to beg pardon of the students and fans for whom we provided targets at which to throw unopened cans of beer. Heaven forbid the Notre Dame faithful should occupy hospital beds desperately needed for terminally ill Wolverine fans. After all, it appears a great many require as much care as possible to treat their incurable condition as alcoholic social vegetables.

Such uncivilized behavior characterizes the Irish race and seems especially repulsive in lieu of the example set by the Michigan student body. The classy manner in which "F--- the Irish" and "Nudy Swallows" frequent resounded from the student section speaks volumes about the creativity and intelligence that emanates from the Ann Arbor campus. Their new and innovative ways to support their own team are not only noteworthy but commendable.

So here’s to the University of Michigan. Kudos for establishing yourselves as both worthy of a top five football ranking and also as the people we will most enjoy terminating from your jobs.

Matt Mooney
Junior
Siegfried Hall
Sept. 14

Editorial Cartoon

10-4, WE DECIDED TO SKIP THE METH LAB BUST BECAUSE WE GOT A TIP ON A FELONY DOWNLOADING OF A BRITNEY SPEARS SINGLE IN PROGRESS.
"80's, anyone?"

Wondering what to wear next weekend?
The '80s are 'it' in the upcoming fashion world

By CHRISTIE BOLSEN
Assistant Scene Editor

At any given time on the University's campus, someone is about to break into song.

Although many students choose to sing only when the band plays the Fight Song or during Mass, there are talented singers all over campus who have many groups they may choose to join. At the beginning of each year there are general auditions for some of these groups, from Glee Club to Liturgical Choir. Students indicate their preferences on which groups they would most like to join and then show off their skills for a chance to be a part of one of them.

Like snowflakes and fingerprints, no two choirs are the same. Do you prefer "Amazing Grace" or "Stick Shifts and Safety Belts"? Do you mark "M" or "F" on official forms? Would you prefer a non-religiously affiliated group or are you interested in learning spiritual music from different cultures? There's something for everyone who has a stunning voice and dedication. Here is a rundown of just a few of the choirs that can be heard around campus.

Glee Club
This all-male choral group is a favorite for musical performance. It's over 85 years old and more than 2,000 men have been members of the club. New members are added during the general tryout at the beginning of the year, but Glee Club also adds members before spring semester and interviews potential members to make sure they are committed and will mesh with the group.

The main events for Glee Club that are held every year are a fall concert, a Christmas concert, a spring concert, a concert in the Basilica and a commencement concert. Every three years there is also a reunion, and this year is the 8th reunion year. On Sept. 19, about 250 Glee Club alumni will be returning to Notre Dame to sing with the current members at a concert that night and to reminisce about their years singing under the Dome. Everyone is encouraged to attend the Reunion Concert at Stepan Center at 8 p.m. Tickets are $3 at the LaFortune Box Office.

Glee Clubbers can be seen all over campus, though, and not just at their concerts. Every Saturday morning of a football game they can be heard singing "ND In Revue" in the Joyce Center. For the alumni reunion, there will be so many singers that they will be performing in front of the Reflecting Pool at 11:30 a.m. before the Irish take on Michigan State. They will also be singing the National Anthem for the Michigan State game. Besides the big events, members keep busy with numerous appearances that the University or other groups request.

"For the audience, I think it's about enjoying great music and learning something sometimes because there are a lot of obscure pieces that one's heard them much."

Sean Sprigg
Glee Club

Remember how you laugh at how ridiculous you looked back during those horrible days in the '80s? Get ready for yet another dose.

Remember how you laugh at how ridiculous you looked back during those horrible days in the '80s? Get ready for yet another dose.

The Liturgical Choir poses together on their trip to Rome. This choir sings in Europe often and is heard at the Basilica each week.

By CHRISTIE BOLSEN
Assistant Scene Editor

At any given time on the University's campus, someone is about to break into song.

Although many students choose to sing only when the band plays the Fight Song or during Mass, there are talented singers all over campus who have many groups they may choose to join. At the beginning of each year there are general auditions for some of these groups, from Glee Club to Liturgical Choir. Students indicate their preferences on which groups they would most like to join and then show off their skills for a chance to be a part of one of them.

Like snowflakes and fingerprints, no two choirs are the same. Do you prefer "Amazing Grace" or "Stick Shifts and Safety Belts"? Do you mark "M" or "F" on official forms? Would you prefer a non-religiously affiliated group or are you interested in learning spiritual music from different cultures? There's something for everyone who has a stunning voice and dedication. Here is a rundown of just a few of the choirs that can be heard around campus.

Glee Club
This all-male choral group is a favorite for musical performance. It's over 85 years old and more than 2,000 men have been members of the club. New members are added during the general tryout at the beginning of the year, but Glee Club also adds members before spring semester and interviews potential members to make sure they are committed and will mesh with the group.

The main events for Glee Club that are held every year are a fall concert, a Christmas concert, a spring concert, a concert in the Basilica and a commencement concert. Every three years there is also a reunion, and this year is the 8th reunion year. On Sept. 19, about 250 Glee Club alumni will be returning to Notre Dame to sing with the current members at a concert that night and to reminisce about their years singing under the Dome. Everyone is encouraged to attend the Reunion Concert at Stepan Center at 8 p.m. Tickets are $3 at the LaFortune Box Office.

Glee Clubbers can be seen all over campus, though, and not just at their concerts. Every Saturday morning of a football game they can be heard singing "ND In Revue" in the Joyce Center. For the alumni reunion, there will be so many singers that they will be performing in front of the Reflecting Pool at 11:30 a.m. before the Irish take on Michigan State. They will also be singing the National Anthem for the Michigan State game. Besides the big events, members keep busy with numerous appearances that the University or other groups request.

"For the audience, I think it's about enjoying great music and learning something sometimes because there are a lot of obscure pieces ... that are great pieces of music and no one's heard them much."

Sean Sprigg
Glee Club

Remember how you laugh at how ridiculous you looked back during those horrible days in the '80s? Get ready for yet another dose.

Remember how you laugh at how ridiculous you looked back during those horrible days in the '80s? Get ready for yet another dose.

The Liturgical Choir poses together on their trip to Rome. This choir sings in Europe often and is heard at the Basilica each week.

By CHRISTIE BOLSEN
Assistant Scene Editor

At any given time on the University's campus, someone is about to break into song.

Although many students choose to sing only when the band plays the Fight Song or during Mass, there are talented singers all over campus who have many groups they may choose to join. At the beginning of each year there are general auditions for some of these groups, from Glee Club to Liturgical Choir. Students indicate their preferences on which groups they would most like to join and then show off their skills for a chance to be a part of one of them.

Like snowflakes and fingerprints, no two choirs are the same. Do you prefer "Amazing Grace" or "Stick Shifts and Safety Belts"? Do you mark "M" or "F" on official forms? Would you prefer a non-religiously affiliated group or are you interested in learning spiritual music from different cultures? There's something for everyone who has a stunning voice and dedication. Here is a rundown of just a few of the choirs that can be heard around campus.

Glee Club
This all-male choral group is a favorite for musical performance. It's over 85 years old and more than 2,000 men have been members of the club. New members are added during the general tryout at the beginning of the year, but Glee Club also adds members before spring semester and interviews potential members to make sure they are committed and will mesh with the group.

The main events for Glee Club that are held every year are a fall concert, a Christmas concert, a spring concert, a concert in the Basilica and a commencement concert. Every three years there is also a reunion, and this year is the 8th reunion year. On Sept. 19, about 250 Glee Club alumni will be returning to Notre Dame to sing with the current members at a concert that night and to reminisce about their years singing under the Dome. Everyone is encouraged to attend the Reunion Concert at Stepan Center at 8 p.m. Tickets are $3 at the LaFortune Box Office.

Glee Clubbers can be seen all over campus, though, and not just at their concerts. Every Saturday morning of a football game they can be heard singing "ND In Revue" in the Joyce Center. For the alumni reunion, there will be so many singers that they will be performing in front of the Reflecting Pool at 11:30 a.m. before the Irish take on Michigan State. They will also be singing the National Anthem for the Michigan State game. Besides the big events, members keep busy with numerous appearances that the University or other groups request.

"For the audience, I think it's about enjoying great music and learning something sometimes because there are a lot of obscure pieces ... that are great pieces of music and no one's heard them much."

Sean Sprigg
Glee Club

Remember how you laugh at how ridiculous you looked back during those horrible days in the '80s? Get ready for yet another dose.

Remember how you laugh at how ridiculous you looked back during those horrible days in the '80s? Get ready for yet another dose.

The Liturgical Choir poses together on their trip to Rome. This choir sings in Europe often and is heard at the Basilica each week.
Music of Notre Dame

For the members, it’s about brotherhood and music. Members take tours together during spring breaks, and every other year they take an international tour during the summer. This past summer the group toured Europe, traveling to Italy, Austria, the Czech Republic, Germany, Switzerland, France, Spain and Ireland about a month.

This was a lot of fun,” member Javier Hernandez said. “It was just different; basically we lived on a bus. I always wondered what it was like to tour with a band or group, and of course you just bonded with all the people because you had to. The bus was about four hours a day from country to country and you’ve got nothing to do but talk to each other.”

After an exciting summer, the Glee Club has an eventful year coming up as well, which the group will be able to enjoy numerous performances.

Undertones

This subset of the Glee Club is a cappella all-male group that currently has 10 members from different classes and all vocal parts. The group began when students began their quest to start a new group. Monson, now a senior and president of the group, has been with Harmonia from the start.

“By the beginning of the next year we had a name, Harmonia, we had try-outs to pick the 12 other girls in the group and we were getting gigs. At the end of that year we had established ourselves, performing with the Undertones to a sold-out crowd in Washington Hall,” Monson said.

Harmonia is in its third year and still consists of 16 girls who perform frequently at dorm functions, benefits, banquets, parties and concerts. Their biggest event for the past two years has been a concert with the Undertones in May. Auditions are held each fall for any woman who is interested in singing. “No prior experience is required, all we ask is that they sing beautifully,” said Teresa Bloemker, the Liturgical Choir director.

It’s more than just an extracurricular activity, it’s a family. We sing an incredible repertoire — its hard to beat eight-part harmony — and have the privilege of sharing it with the faith community at Notre Dame and throughout the world, thanks to the Hallmark Channel.”

Teresa Bloemker

The choir usually takes tours each year, its most recent being the May 2003 trip to Italy. The group traveled to many Italian cities and sang at a Papal Audience. Other tours have included upscale New York, Canada, France and the majority of the United States.

“We become the closest of friends not just through singing, but by going on retreats, hosting weekly movie nights and organizing all sorts of activities to bring us together. Being a member of the Liturgical Choir has made me come to live my Catholic faith all the more through the ministry of music,” Bloemker said.

Liturgical Choir

Heard at Mass each week, the Notre Dame Liturgical Choir was founded in 1973 as the Chapel Choir. It’s made up of both undergraduate and graduate students and performs at the 10 a.m. mass at the Basilica. They also perform at Sunday Vespers, weddings, dedications, ordinations and more. Special occasions include JPV, Baccalaurate Mass and Holy Week, which includes Palm Sunday and the Easter Vigil.

The choir actually sings with the liturgy on Sundays at the Basilica for any Sunday worship celebrations on campus.

The choir’s current director, Steven Warner, started the choir in 1980. He talks about the range of the types of music the choir sings, using their performance for Archbishop Desmond Tutu as an example.

“Our choir actually sings music from South Africa... they are songs that actually came out of the response to the apartheid movement. They are songs of liberation, songs of praise to God,” Warner said.

This is one of the unique aspects of Folk Choir; their repertoire includes many selections from other countries and cultures, and they even perform in bilingual liturgies for masses such as St. Patrick’s Day.

“I think God is celebrated in diversity. We belong to a Catholic Church, and we can celebrate God through all the cultures... some people I think can be very perceptive in their stance toward not liking diversity. But the Catholic Church and all of her wisdom says that diversity is actually a sign of the wonder of God. And if that’s the case, then should we not our music express that diversity or emulate that diversity as well?” Warner said.

Folk Choir

This group consists of both female and male voices as well as instruments. Their musical selections are unique in that they are taken from all parts of the world, adding a cultural element to their performances. It consists mostly of undergraduate students, but recently also include graduate students, faculty and professional staff members. Members singing during the year at the 11:45 a.m. liturgy on Sundays at the Basilica for any Sunday worship celebrations on campus.

The choir’s current director, Steven Warner, started the choir in 1980. He talks about the range of the types of music the choir sings, using their performance for Archbishop Desmond Tutu as an example.

“Our choir actually sings music from South Africa... they are songs that actually came out of the response to the apartheid movement. They are songs of liberation, songs of praise to God,” Warner said.

This is one of the unique aspects of Folk Choir; their repertoire includes many selections from other countries and cultures, and they even perform in bilingual liturgies for masses such as St. Patrick’s Day.

“I think God is celebrated in diversity. We belong to a Catholic Church, and we can celebrate God through all the cultures... some people I think can be very perceptive in their stance toward not liking diversity. But the Catholic Church and all of her wisdom says that diversity is actually a sign of the wonder of God. And if that’s the case, then should we not our music express that diversity or emulate that diversity as well?” Warner said.

To incorporate different sounds, the choir will play instruments from different cultures as well. For the South African pieces, like “Siya Hamba” and “Hallelujah Pelo Tea Bona,” a pair of congas is played or a djembe, which means “happy drum.” For the Irish pieces, like “Rian Padraig” (song of Patrick) a bodhran, is played.

The next event for the choir, which was the first to travel internationally to Ireland in 1988, is to travel again to Ireland for Fall Break. Warner describes the state of Irish liturgy right now as “dead on arrival,” with short masses and prayers spoken out of sync. Every three or four years, The Folk Choir goes to Ireland to work with assemblies there to sing their music and learn new music to bring back.

Chorale

Out of all the groups on campus, this is the official concert choir of the University. Over 60 singers perform several times every year, including with the Chamber Orchestra in the Basilica each semester. They also sing Handel’s Messiah with the Chamber Orchestra in December in Washington Hall and have concerts in the fall, spring and during Commencement Weekend. They also sing at the Baccalaureate Mass during Commencement Weekend.

Members of the Chorale also take tours in winter and spring, as well as international tours about every three years to locations such as Rome, Assisi, Florence, Venice and Padua. They have recorded “Cantate Domino” and “The Notre Dame Chorale in Concert.”

Contact Christie Bolen at cholsen@nd.edu
HOUSTON — The Houston Astros just about ended the play-off chances of the Cardinals.

Tim Redding combined with three relievers on a three-hitter and dropped the Cubs 1-0.

"You're not going to give up," said the Cubs' Manager Mike Matheny. "We're going to win three or you're in great shape through the rest of this season.

It was the first sweep over the Astros for the Cardinals since a three-game series in April 1997.

"These games do end up counting more because if you win three, you're not great shape and if you lose three you end up being in even more of a lot of trouble. I think that's what's got us in this far, and it's going to continue to get us through the rest of this season.

It was a great series for us through the rest of this season."
Buehrle’s 7-inning effort keeps Sox atop Central

Associated Press

BOSTON — Mark Buehrle kept the Chicago White Sox in first place and the Boston Red Sox in a slump.

Buehrle pitched seven strong innings as the White Sox won 7-2. Chicago took two of three at Fenway Park, limiting the top offense in the major leagues to 19 hits in the series.

“We’re in a good situation,” Chicago catcher Sandy Alomar Jr. said. “The last two games here, our pitchers backed us up and our offense came around.”

Chicago and Minnesota, which beat Cleveland 5-3, are 3 1/2 games ahead of third-place Kansas City.

The co-leaders begin a three-game series Tuesday at Minnesota.

Buehrle (13-13) didn’t have his best stuff, relying more on a strong sinker than a mediocre cutter and slider. But he started pitching with a 2-0 lead after Roberto Alomar’s double off John Burkett (10-8) and Carlos Lee’s 30th homer.

Buehrle was solid when he needed to be as Boston got lead­off hits in five of his seven innings. And he didn’t have to face Nomar Garciaparra, who missed the game with the flu.

“I got myself in a lot of jams, fell behind the count a lot. And I couldn’t throw strike one to save my life,” Buehrle said.

But with Chicago ahead 5-2 with no outs in the sixth and two on, Buehrle got David Ortiz to ground into a double play.

“We were getting ready to unload on him right there,” Boston manager Grady Little said. “That was the pivotal point in the game.”

Buehrle allowed two runs and seven hits, and Damaso Marte was solid in 1 2/3 innings.

The Red Sox, who lost their second straight, remained 5.5 games behind the AL-East leading Yankees. Boston remained a half-game ahead of Seattle in the wild-card race.

Twins 5, Indians 3

A painful bounce turned into a lucky one for Minnesota as the Twins remained tied for the AL Central lead.

Doug Mientkiewicz delivered a tiebreaking single in the eighth inning and the Twins overcame right fielder Michael Ryan being hit in the head with a flyball to defeat the Cleveland Indians 5-3.

Mientkiewicz also hit a two­-run homer for the Twins, who moved 11 games over .500 for the first time this season and remained tied with the Chicago White Sox for first place.

It was 3-all in the Cleveland seventh when Michael Pineda led off with a fly ball to right­center.

Ryan shaded his eyes, then lowered his glove and the ball bounced off the side of his face — but was caught on the rebound by center fielder Dustin Mohr for the out.

“It was embarrassing more than anything,” Ryan said. “I had three balls hit my way and lost every one in the sun.”

Ryan had a large welt just above his left eye, and was replaced by Torii Hunter.

Ryan said he felt his eye and thought he was bleeding — but it was just sweat.

“It felt like I was stung when I was hit,” he said. “I wanted to stay in the game, but they wouldn’t let me.”

The Twins took the lead in the eighth after Danys Baez (2-9) hit the first two batters he faced, Hunter and Cristian Guzman, with pitches.

Shannon Stewart sacrificed the runners over, but Hunter was thrown out at the plate when he tried to score on Luis Rivas’ grounder to second baseman Brandon Phillips.

Mientkiewicz followed with his go-ahead hit.

“That was a big moment,” Mientkiewicz said. “Every game is a playoff game for us.”

Royals 7, Tigers 2

The Detroit Tigers reached another milestone they’d rather not think about.

The Tigers became the first team in 34 years to lose 110 games in one season as Kansas City beat Detroit 7-2 behind three RBI from Angel Berroa.

“At this point, the losses make no difference to me,” said the Tigers’ Bobby Higginson, who was on the 1996 Detroit team that lost 109 games. “It’s just bad. We know it was coming. If we end at 110 or 119 losses, I don’t think it’s going to make much of a difference. It’s a lot of losses, either way. It’s been a miserable year.”

Detroit (38-110) has the most losses since the Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres each went 52-110 in 1969, their first seasons in the major leagues.

The Tigers, who set a franchise record for losses, are 93-216 since the start of 2002, tying the 1952-53 Pittsburgh Pirates (92-216) for the sixth­ most losses in consecutive years.

Detroit needs at least five wins in its last 14 games to avoid matching the 1962 New York Mets for the most losses in a season since 1900.

Is it the wind that generates electricity? Or is it the idea that harnessed it? At GE, we believe in the power of ideas. Ideas that not only turn wind into electricity but make the world a better place than it was the day before. If you have those kinds of ideas, we hope you contact us.

GE Careers
gecareers.com

The future relies on inventions from GE.
GE’s future relies on people like you.

Upcoming GE Events at WPI

Seeking intern, co-op and full-time hires!
September 17th: Visit us at the Career Fair
September 25th: Resume drop deadline
sign up with the CDC

WPI

imagination at work

www.gecareers.com
Lewis, Singh lead as tourney runs long

Associated Press
SILVIS, Ill. — J.L. Lewis and Vijay Singh held a one-stroke lead after a long day of golf Sunday didn’t produce a winner at the rain-soaked John Deere Classic.

Lewis, who won the tournament in 1999, and Singh, third on the PGA money list this year, were at 12 under after completing the rain-delayed third round. They only played five holes of the final round, which will resume Monday morning.

A dozen players were within five shots of the lead when play was halted by darkness at the Tournament Players Club at Deere Run, where heavy rains washed out Saturday’s round.

Lewis, who has topped the leaderboard throughout the tournament, couldn’t add to the 12-under total he built with identical 65s during the first two rounds.

He said a north wind and slow putting surface offset rain-softened greens and fairways. He predicted a score of 4 under might be needed to win Monday.

"If it stays calm, they’ll be some birdies made," Lewis said.

Singh, who started the day four shots back, picked up two strokes with three birdies and a bogey during the third round, then birdied two of five holes in the final round before play was stopped.

He is playing for the seventh straight week in an attempt to win the money title.

Notah Begay III, Chris Riley and Paul Stankowski were one shot back at 11 under, while Jonathan Byrd was alone in sixth place at 10 under. Three players were within three shots at 9 under.

Stankowski, returning after wrist surgery in May, said fatigue wasn’t a factor despite the extra holes on the hilly course.

"I only played 25 holes today so it’s not that bad. It could have been worse," said Stankowski, who has won two PGA titles — the last in 1997.

Write Sports. Call 1-4543.
SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Monday, September 15
Industry Day Banquet
McKenna Hall/CCE
Reception, 6:30 p.m.
Dinner, 7:15 p.m.

Tuesday, September 16
Career Fair
North Dome of the Joyce Center
12:00 - 5:00 p.m.

Wednesday, September 17
Interview Day
Flanner Hall
8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Find out more! use “GO IRISH”!
For more information about the participating companies, job descriptions, and contacts, access the Career Center Website:
- Go to http://careercenter.nd.edu
- Click on Undergraduates, then click on Go IRISH
- Enter your NetID (AFSID) and Password, then click on Log In
- Click on Search Jobs/Internships
- Click on Jobs/Internships for Notre Dame Students
- Scroll down to Keyword Search, type in: Industry Day 2003, then click on Search
- For an alphabetical list of:
  - Organizations, click on “Organization”
  - Positions, click on “Position Title”

PARTICIPATING COMPANIES*
Accenture
American Electric Power Company
Arcon Industries, Inc.
Bank of America
Bechtel Nevada
Boeing
Boston Consulting Group
BP Energy Company
Bristol-Myers Squibb
careers희ste
CC Technologies
Central Intelligence Agency
Cowhey Gudmundsson Leder, Ltd.
DaimlerChrysler Corporation
Deloitte Consulting
Delphi Automotive Systems
Denso International America, Inc.
DENG Mfg. Michigan, Inc.
DuPont
Exelon Corporation
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Federal Mogul Corporation
General Dynamics Advanced Information Systems
General Electric
Hewlett-Packard
IBM Corporation
IndiCex
Indiana Department of Transportation
Johnson and Johnson
Lockheed Martin Corporation
Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC
McKee Foods
Merck & Co., Inc.
MIT Lincoln Laboratory
Motorola
NAVAR
Northrop Grumman
PPG Industries
Prokoll, Inc.
Pulte Homes, Inc.
R.A. Smith & Associates, Inc.
Raytheon
Schlumberger Technology Corporation
Stryker Instruments
Teach for America
Technology Services Group
Travelers Property Casualty
Turner Construction
Unisys Corporation
United Parcel Service
United States Air Force
United States Army Corps of Engineers
United States Marine Corps
United States Navy
United States Navy Civilian Jobs
U.S. Cellular
Vedder, Price, Kaufman & Kammholz
Walsh Construction Group
Westinghouse Electric Company

*Sponsors listed in bold will be interviewing on Wednesday, September 17.
That set the stage for the Jenkins blocked what would have been a game-winning conversion by Martin Gramatica. That set the stage for the Panthers to beat the Super Bowl champions 12-9 in overtime Sunday.

"We knew they had to go out and make the extra point. We blocked two kicks prior to that, so we thought: 'Hey, we've got a chance.' ... By the grace of God career (129 attempts), the conversion seemed a formality.

McCardell's 47-yarder with 3:28 remaining capped a wild final few minutes.

It's never over. We fight to the end," Carolina defensive tackle Brenton Buckner said after Kris Jenkins blocked what would have been a game-winning conversion by Martin Gramatica. That set the stage for the Panthers to beat the Super Bowl champions 12-9 in overtime Sunday.

"We knew they had to go out and make the extra point. We blocked two kicks prior to that, so we thought: 'Hey, we've got a chance'... By the grace of God career (129 attempts), the conversion seemed a formality. Jenkins had other ideas.

"I went in and blocked it. I don't think it was rocket science or anything," said Jenkins, who also knocked down a 38-yard field goal try in the second quarter. "It was now or never. We didn't have a choice. Somebody had to get it."

Panthers 31, Lions 6

Recoveries accounted for more yards than Green had in either of his previous two games. He had 53 yards against Minnesota a week earlier and 34 yards against Atlanta in the playoffs — both of them losses at Lambeau Field.

Redskins 33, Falcons 31

This looked more like a Steve Spurrier-coached team. Patrick Ramsey threw the ball all over the field, Laveranues Coles had a career receiving day and the Washington Redskins rallied from a 17-point deficit to stun the Atlanta Falcons 33-31.

Quite a change from Week 1, when Spurrier's "Fux 'n Gun" offense went conservative in a 16-13 victory over the New York Giants.

After taking a terrible beating in the first half, Ramsey threw for a career-high 356 yards and two touchdowns. Coles, shaken up early when his head rammed the leg of Falcons safety Kevin McGadam, recovered to set career highs with 11 catches for 180 yards.

Coles had the clinching touchdown on a 19-yard reception with 12:47 to go.

"Whenever things aren't going well, I want to be the guy who steps up and makes things happen," said Coles, acquired by owner Daniel Snyder during an offseason spending spree.

Washington is 2-0 for the first time since 1991, the season of its last Super Bowl championship.

Carolina's Reggie Howard lays out and blocks Martin Gramatica's field goal attempt in the fourth quarter of the Panthers' 12-9 overtime win. The block was one of three on the day for the Panthers.
At Motorola,

you could be the driving force behind our innovation.

You've seen our cell phones and two-way radios. Have you seen them surf the Net? Or explored how we use DigitalDNA to create "living" electronics? Or maybe you're more interested in opening up the world to wireless broadband communications. Everything is possible when you are a company of visionaries with the technical prowess and drive to do things differently. Care enough to join us?

Exciting career opportunities exist for students interested in co-op, intern and new graduate positions in the following areas:

- Accounting / Finance
- Electrical Engineering
- Human Resources
- Information Technology
- Marketing
- Mechanical Engineering
- Process Engineering
- Research & Advanced Technology
- RF Engineering
- Software Engineering

Please visit us at the career fair tomorrow and Wednesday. We look forward to meeting you. Please submit your resume to www.motorola.com/careers/university.

Motorola is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. We welcome and encourage diversity in our workplace.
Lewis makes good on promise, breaks record

Associated Press

Baltimore — The Baltimore Ravens gave Jamal Lewis the football, as promised, and he delivered on a pledge in setting a single-game NFL record with 295 yards rushing.

Lewis’ incredible performance, which included two touchdowns, led Baltimore past the Cleveland Browns 38-13.

He would have had a third score and surpassed 300 yards if not for a holding penalty on Marcus Robinson during a 60-yard run in the first half.

“On a day like today, I can’t regret anything,” said Lewis, who averaged a whopping 9.5 yards on his 30 carries. “It was beautiful.”

Lewis ran for an 82-yard touchdown on the second play from scrimmage, added a 63-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter and broke the record with a 3-yard run with 6:55 left.

He shattered the single-game mark held by Corey Dillon of Cincinnati, who ran for 278 yards on Oct. 22, 2000, against Denver.

During a phone call with Cleveland linebacker Andra Davis earlier in the week, Lewis said he would break the record if given 30 carries – twice as many as one week earlier in a 34-15 loss to Pittsburgh.

“Andra told me he wanted me to get the ball 30 times. I told him if I get the ball 30 times it’s going to be a career day,” Lewis said. “I’m not going to say I predicted it. It was lucky.”

Raiders 23, Bengals 20

Jerry) didn’t stand for being embarrassed in his 19th NFL season.

Something had better change in a hurry, because the likely Hall of Famer is annoyed with how the Oakland Raiders are playing.

Sebastian Janikowski kicked a 39-yard field goal, his third of the game, with nine seconds left as the Raiders overcame a lackluster performance in their home opener to beat the Cincinnati Bengals 23-20.

“I didn’t come back for this,” the 40-year-old Rice said. “We’re at home. We won the game, but we didn’t play well.”

Oakland’s offense sputtered through another week, barely surviving against the lowest team of the last decade. The Raiders (1-1) have yet to find a rhythm on offense, and lost their final three exhibition games and their opener last week at Tennessee.

They got a break on their final drive when Jeff Burris was flagged for pass interference against Rice, giving Oakland the ball on the Cincinnati 22 with 23 seconds left.

Rich Gannon completed a 25-yard pass to Charlie Garner with 36 seconds left to set the Raiders on the 37-yard line. Gannon then threw two incomplete passes before Burris was penalized.

The Bengals fell to 0-9 in Oakland. But for more than three quarters, this seemed to be their shot at a win. Cincinnati has beaten the Raiders just once in 13 tries on the West Coast, with that victory coming in 1988 when the Raiders were in Los Angeles.

Browns 37, Chargers 13

The Denver Broncos lost their starting quarterback midway through the second quarter and their top running back was gone by halftime.

They still manhandled the San Diego Chargers, winning 37-13 for their second straight road victory.

Shannon Sharpe, one of three wide-open Broncos receivers who caught touchdown passes, credited coach Mike Shanahan’s system that Denver was OK after losing Jake Plummer and Clinton Portis.

“You get a system, you get guys who fit our system, one guy goes out, we don’t miss a beat,” Sharpe said. “Yeah, we’re disappointed we lost those guys, but we’re just going to keep chugging away, finding a way to get guys in there who want to play.”

Plummer got a mild separation of his right shoulder when he dived out of bounds after getting a first down. He stayed in for two more plays, long enough to throw his third touchdown pass in less than two quarters. Steve Beuerlein replaced Plummer.

Portis bruised his sternum and missed the second half, when Mike Anderson filled in.

FOR THOSE WANTING INFORMATION AND FOR THOSE ALREADY ACCEPTED

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 2003
DROP IN BETWEEN 7:00 - 8:00 P.M.
136 DEBARTOLO HALL

LONDON SUMMER PROGRAMME
RUNS FROM MID-MAY TO MID-JUNE
Cecil Williams' sister shot dead

CLEVELAND — Maurice "Clarett" Williams has asked the NFL to change its rules and make him eligible for the 2004 NFL draft.

Commissioner Paul Tagliabue on Saturday said that the league received a request last week from Clarett's lawyer, Alan Milstein. Tagliabue told The Associated Press that a lawyer from his office would meet with a lawyer for Clarett to discuss the possible options for the former Ohio State running back.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," Clarett, left, who has been suspended for the season, cheers on his team with the help of teammate Angelo Chantung during Ohio State's season opener against the Washington Huskies in Columbus, Ohio Aug. 30.

Williams' sister shot dead "COMPTON, Calif. — An older sister of tennis stars Venus and Serena Williams was shot to death Sunday following a dispute in suburban Los Angeles, authorities said.

Yetunde Price, 31, was with a man in a sport utility vehicle shortly after midnight and "somehow they had become involved in a confrontation with the local residents," said Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputy Richard Pena.

Sheriff's deputies searching for three people believed to be involved in the shooting surrounded a house in Compton at about 6 a.m., but it turned out to be empty. No arrests had been made by midday. Venus and Serena Williams both had been ranked No. 1 in the world and have won a total of 10 Grand Slam singles titles.

Venus and Serena's agent, Carlos Fleming, said the family was en route to California. Serena has been in Toronto to film a guest role in a cable TV drama series. "This is sad and very tragic news," WTA Tour chief executive Larry Scott said in a statement. "The thoughts and prayers of everyone at the WTA Tour are with the entire Williams family at this difficult time."

Price was shot in the upper torso. Deputies on patrol heard the gunshots and found Price, who was later pronounced dead at a hospital. The man who had been with her in the SUV wasn't injured and was being interviewed by authorities, Pena said.

Man swims Lake Michigan

HOLLAND, Mich. — An endurance swimmer on Sunday finished the fourth of 16 stages of his attempt to swim the length of Lake Michigan.

Jim Dreyer entered the lake Sept. 8 in Michigan City, Ind. He finished the fourth stage about 6:20 a.m. Sunday, 13 hours, 13 minutes after he began the stage, according to his Web site. He was expected to resume swimming after resting.

At the start, Dreyer said his goal was to swim along the lake's east coast for the Mackinac Bridge, the suspension bridge that links Michigan's two peninsulas. Dreyer ran into a problem off Saugatuck, the Web site reported.

"The current from the Kalamazoo River entering the lake is too strong," Dreyer said. "I think it would be better if he stayed in school," the commissioner said.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," the commissioner said.

Asked if he thought, as a lawyer, that the NFL could win a lawsuit if Clarett were to file one, Tagliabue replied: "My feeling as commissioner is that we have a very strong case and that we'll win it."

CBS Sports reported Sunday that Gene Upshaw, the executive director of the Players' Union, said that Milstein had threatened a suit. Calls to Milstein and Upshaw by The Associated Press were not immediately returned.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," Clarett, left, who has been suspended for the season, cheers on his team with the help of teammate Angelo Chantung during Ohio State's season opener against the Washington Huskies in Columbus, Ohio Aug. 30.

Clarett requests NFL rules change

Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Suspended Ohio State running back Maurice Clarett has asked the NFL to change its rules and make him eligible for the 2004 NFL draft.

Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said Sunday that the league received a request last week from Clarett's lawyer, Alan Milstein.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," Clarett, left, who has been suspended for the season, cheers on his team with the help of teammate Angelo Chantung during Ohio State's season opener against the Washington Huskies in Columbus, Ohio Aug. 30.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," the commissioner said.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," the commissioner said.

Asked if he thought, as a lawyer, that the NFL could win a lawsuit if Clarett were to file one, Tagliabue replied: "My feeling as commissioner is that we have a very strong case and that we'll win it."

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," the commissioner said.

"I think it would be better if he stayed in school," the commissioner said.

CBS Sports reported Sunday that Gene Upshaw, the executive director of the Players' Union, said that Milstein had threatened a suit. Calls to Milstein and Upshaw by The Associated Press were not immediately returned.
Belles outside attacker Allison Shewik prepares to serve in her team's game against Rochester Thursday. The Belles won two games at the SMC Triangular Saturday to improve to 7-3 this year.

Irish post undefeated record at weekend meet

The Thunder will enter the MAA next season, with this year being their last to compete in the NCAA.

Playko led the team against Tri-State with 12 kills. Temple freshman Ryan Keckley completed an undefeated singles weekend by beating Luc Maasdorp of Tulsa 6-3, 6-4. McNally and Keckley shared the flight's championship.

Sophomore Eric Langenkamp also came away with a singles title, winning the Flight C Championship with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Colt Gaston of LSU.

Each of the other five Notre Dame players competing were 2-1 in singles. Scott's victories both came against ranked players. His 6-2, 6-3 triumph over Barker Sunday marked his second career triumph over a top-20 player. Scott was winless in eight matches against ranked opponents a year ago and now has four career wins against ranked foes.

Notre Dame struggled early on Friday when rain forced some of the matches indoors to the fast courts of the Met Business and Sports Club. But once the weather cleared up, the Irish took control, winning 24 of 28 matches played outdoors at Jake Hess Tennis Stadium.

Senior tri-captain Luis Haddock finished third in the A Flight with a 6-7, 6-2, 7-5 win against LSU's Jason Hazley, while sophomore Patrick Buchanan took the same spot in the B Flight, beating Hazley's teammate, Bryan 7-5, 6-4.

Freshman Irackli Akhvlediani took third in the C Flight with a comeback win against Rice's Jason Mok. Akhvlediani trailed 5-2 in the third set, but rallied to send it to a tiebreaker. He then fell behind 4-1 in the breaker before coming back for a 7-5, 4-6, 7-6 (7-5) win.

Junior Jimmy Bass won a three-setter in the D Flight over Eduardo Gutierrez of Tulsa, 6-2, 5-7, 7-6.

In doubles, Scott and Langenkamp were slated to face Haddock and Keckley in the consolation final of the A Flight, but the match was not played. In B Flight action, Akhvlediani and Buchanan beat Rojas and Gutierrez of Tulsa 9-0 to win the consolation championship.

Notre Dame's four freshmen played particularly well in their first collegiate matches, combining to go 11-1 in singles and 7-3 in doubles.

Barry King, another Irish rookie and the national 18- and-under champion of Ireland, missed the season-opening tournament with ten­dimits in his wrist.

Irish post undefeated record at weekend meet

Men's Tennis

The Notre Dame men's tennis team completed an outstanding opening weekend of play by recording a 4-0 sweep of the University of Chicago. Sunday, the final day of the Crowne Plaza Invitational.

The Irish won championships in three of four singles flights and one of two doubles flights in a four-team tournament featuring squads that finished ahead of Notre Dame in last year's final national rankings.

Senior tri-captain Matthew Scott led the way, notching an upset win against a top-60 player for the second consecutive day, beating No. 18 Richard Barker of Rice in straight sets.

"I'm obviously really encouraged by the results, but one tournament does not make a season," Irish head coach Bob Bayliss said. "We competed pretty darn well, and we happened to win a lot. It was a pretty great weekend for us."

In all, Notre Dame players were 22-5 in singles and 5-3 in doubles. Among the top Irish performers were four players who went undefeated in singles, including a pair of rook­ies who did not lose in singles or doubles in their first collegiate event.

Junior Jimmy Bass won a three-setter in the D Flight over Eduardo Gutierrez of Tulsa, 6-2, 5-7, 7-6.

In doubles, Scott and Langenkamp were slated to face Haddock and Keckley in the consolation final of the A Flight, but the match was not played. In B Flight action, Akhvlediani and Buchanan beat Rojas and Gutierrez of Tulsa 9-0 to win the consolation championship.

Notre Dame's four freshmen played particularly well in their first collegiate matches, combining to go 11-1 in singles and 7-3 in doubles.

Barry King, another Irish rookie and the national 18- and-under champion of Ireland, missed the season-opening tournament with tendinitis in his wrist.

Irish post undefeated record at weekend meet

Mens Tennis

The Notre Dame men's tennis team completed an outstanding opening weekend of play by recording a 4-0 sweep of the University of Chicago. Sunday, the final day of the Crowne Plaza Invitational.

The Irish won championships in three of four singles flights and one of two doubles flights in a four-team tournament featuring squads that finished ahead of Notre Dame in last year's final national rankings.

Senior tri-captain Matthew Scott led the way, notching an upset win against a top-60 player for the second consecutive day, beating No. 18 Richard Barker of Rice in straight sets.

"I'm obviously really encouraged by the results, but one tournament does not make a season," Irish head coach Bob Bayliss said. "We competed pretty darn well, and we happened to win a lot. It was a pretty great weekend for us."

In all, Notre Dame players were 22-5 in singles and 5-3 in doubles. Among the top Irish performers were four players who went undefeated in singles, including a pair of rook­ies who did not lose in singles or doubles in their first collegiate event.

Junior Jimmy Bass won a three-setter in the D Flight over Eduardo Gutierrez of Tulsa, 6-2, 5-7, 7-6.

In doubles, Scott and Langenkamp were slated to face Haddock and Keckley in the consolation final of the A Flight, but the match was not played. In B Flight action, Akhvlediani and Buchanan beat Rojas and Gutierrez of Tulsa 9-0 to win the consolation championship.

Notre Dame's four freshmen played particularly well in their first collegiate matches, combining to go 11-1 in singles and 7-3 in doubles.

Barry King, another Irish rookie and the national 18- and-under champion of Ireland, missed the season-opening tournament with tendinitis in his wrist.
SMC GOLF
Belles do well at meet

By JOE HETTLER
Sports Editor

The Saint Mary's women's golf team battled rainy conditions and several national golf powerhouses to place fourth in a field of 20 teams at the Knox Invitational in Galesburg, Ill., Friday.

The Belles were led by junior Chrissy Daunum and sophomore Megan Mattia, who both fired rounds of 81s in the one-day tournament. Those scores were good enough to finish tied for fourth individually. Larry Wicklass of Hope finished first with a 78.

Stefanie Simmerman also added an 84 for Saint Mary's, and the team finished third and ninth, respectively. "We did well as a team, but there's always room for improvement," Simmerman said.

The Belles will participate in the Briton Fall Invitational at Albion College Tuesday.

Contact Joe Hetlinger at jhettinger@nd.edu

Volleyball continued from page 28

match, their lowest performance since the 2003 NCAA Tournament against Michigan State.

"We've had a long stretch of games," Kinder said. "We will learn what we need to do." Kinder also contributed 29 assists to go along with her 14 digs. Sister Jessica led the defense with 23 kills.

Based on the first two days of action, three Irish earned all-tournament honors. Neff and Jessica Kinder earned all-tournament, while Brewer was named MVP, the second tournament in a row in which an Irish player has taken the MVP.

Sunday, the luck of the Irish ran out, as their mediocre play caught up with them. "We know that we are playing across the net tonight, we were the better team," Kristen Kinder said. "It's the most disappointing part is that we beat ourselves.

The Irish were unable to overcome South Carolina's two-set lead, and lost all four games (30-26, 30-27, 24-30, 31-29).

Once again, the Irish struggled to hit, as they had a .165 attack percentage. Brewer led the way for the Irish with 15 kills, while Loomis added 14 and Lohr 12. The Irish recorded 12 kills on .310 hitting percentage.

"South Carolina had an amazing defensive night," Kristen Kinder said. "They dug out of their heads, which made it very hard for us to get past them.

Kristen Kinder had 29 assists and 10 digs on the match. The defense of the Irish was solid on Sunday, registering 71 digs.

Freshman libero Danielle Herndon led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.

South Carolina had 75 digs, but made fewer hitting errors than the Irish, resulting in a 242 attack percentage.

"Knowing that it's under our control — that it's not that other team beat us — it's that we beat ourselves, it's so much better because we have it, we have the tools, we just need to do it," Kristen Kinder said. "It's a huge disappointment that we beat ourselves."

Hendron led the way with 20 digs. Henican had 17 digs, and Jessica Kinder had 14.
Irish dominating in 5-0 win over Hilltoppers

By ANDY TROEGER
Sports Writer

After a solid first-half that produced a 2-0 lead, the women’s soccer team struck three times in the first five minutes of the second half to run away from Western Kentucky 5-0 at Alumni Field Saturday night.

Sophomores Annie Schefter and Katie Thorlakson each had two goals for the Irish, while senior forward Amy Warner added a goal and two assists for the Irish.

The second-ranked Irish dominated from the beginning, out-shooting the Hilltoppers 21-3, including 11-0 in the first half. Erika Bohe and Nikki Westfall combined in goal for a second consecutive shutout for the Irish, who were never severely threatened.

"It was pretty pleased with the way we started a game," Irish coach Randy Waldrum said. "We talked about a couple ways to get in behind them at half-time. The kids just made it happen. I thought the girls came out and played very well tonight.

Schefter started the Notre Dame attack in the 16th minute on a long crossing shot from the left side to give the Irish a 1-0 lead. A few minutes later, Schefter delivered a pass toward the left endline where midfielder Mary Boland crossed the ball to Warner, whose header gave the Irish a 2-0 lead going into halftime.

Warner and Thorrakson led the assault coming out of the half. Warner’s pass down the right side to Maggie Manning sent a cross to Thorlakson whose header started the Irish surge.

Warner and Thorlakson struck again less than two minutes later, as Warner took the ball near midfield before racing through the Hilltopper defense. She passed to Thorlakson who scored again to push the lead to 4-0.

The Irish onslaught was completed moments later when Manning sent a cross to the box, giving the Irish a penalty kick. Schefter’s shot was easily got past Becky Kasper, giving the Irish the 5-0 margin of victory.

In addition to the goal scoring, all four Irish starters on defense turned in strong performances, including freshmen Kim Lorenzen and Lizzie Reed.

"I thought Tancredi was great for us tonight," Waldrum said, "and Kim Lorenzen was solid as well. With that first group we had in, this was probably one of our most organized nights since (Curtan Gunnarsson) went down. (Reed) could make a goal outside back for us.

In addition to being able to continue pressing teams with big leads, the Irish depth has also helped them play better in their second game of a week-end. Whereas a year ago the Irish went 4-7 when playing two days after a previous game, this season they are 3-0, outscoring those opponents 13-1.

"I think it is due to having the depth to be able to change our lineups," Waldrum said. "We’re able to keep fresher kids a little more, and we can change people during the game. Whereas a year ago, this may be the best we’ve been on the second day.

The Irish will next be in action at the Santa Clara Tournament in California. The Irish play Stanford on Friday at 7 p.m. and Santa Clara Sunday at 11:30 a.m. Both games will be televised live on CSTV.

Womens Soccer

At Kalamazoo’s Miller Bell Field Saturday, Notre Dame defeated Western Michigan 2-0, with Amy Warner scoring both goals.

Belles continued from page 28

goals. On Concanon’s final assist, Wendy Irvin headed in a long Concanon pass from close range despite an Adrian defender hanging all over her. Irvin also had an assist in the game.

That was a great service and a great header," Harling said. "That was well done. [Irving] sacrificed herself just to keep it in and squeaked in that near post.

Carrie Orr capped off the scoring with a 20-yard free kick with 10:18 remaining.

"That was a great free kick that she bent to the near post," Harling said. "The keeper gave it to her, and Orr was the player who can read that really well and wherever the keeper is off-balance in the goal. The keeper was back in the post, and the wall wasn’t really set up great, and (Orr) saw the seam and just bent that ball to the near post. (Orr) is dangerous in that fashion.

The Belles next test comes Saturday at 1 p.m. at Calvin.

Contact Andy Troeger at atroege@nd.edu

Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Notre Dame</th>
<th>Western Michigan</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>2 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>2 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>2 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>2 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Notre Dame</th>
<th>Western Michigan</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Notre Dame</th>
<th>Akron</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Notre Dame</th>
<th>Fresno State</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>0 goals</td>
<td>0 goals</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Contact Justin Schiever at jschiever@nd.edu

A second half letdown was feared after the Belles led 3-0 at the half. But the Belles played even harder in the second half in preparation for a difficult upcoming schedule. The Belles had 12 shots on goal while limiting the Zips to only two shots spaced 15 minutes apart. Adrian did not attempt a shot on goal during the last 25:52 of the game.

"At the half, I told them that it’s necessary to keep the intensity up because we’re going to be playing harder opponents later on," Harling said. "Next kick on Saturday we play Hope, which is one of the top programs in the conference.

"I told them that walking away with a 3-0 game can’t be acceptable, and we have to distance ourselves from the middle group and the bottom group and put ourselves in the top group."

The Belles next test comes Saturday at 1 p.m. at Calvin.

Contact Eric Powers at epowers@nd.edu

ATTENTION

Undergraduate Student Groups

Last Chance Club Info Meeting

Tomorrow - Tuesday, September 16, 2003
LaFortune Student Center - Foster Room
5:00 PM - 6:00 PM

Last chance for clubs to send two representatives to the mandatory Club Information Meeting. The meeting will be held in the Foster Room on the 3rd floor of LaFortune Student Center on September 16th at 5:00 PM.

Clubs which fail to have two representatives attend a Club Information Meeting (CIM) will be considered inactive by the Student Activities Office and will lose all following rights associated with good standing:

• room reservations
• poster approvals
• table tent and banner space reservations

Additionally, the University’s Student Coordinating Council will be rescinded from clubs who have not met the requirement of having two representatives attend a CIM. The club may reapply for the funds in the spring if the club has been reinstated and is in good standing with the CCC and the SAO, but might not receive the full allocation amount.

For more information, please call 631-7508.
CARROLL O'BRIEN

JUMBLE

BY HENRI ARNOLD
MIKE ARGINON

THAT SCRABBLED WORD GAME
by Henri Arnold and Mike Argirion

SHOIT

GLUNE

NIPIGC

WHY THE HEAD-WATTERERS HELPED OUT IN THE BUSY DAY

New arrangement of the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above topics.

Saturday's Jumbles: BILLIE EMMER FOSSIL SUGAR
Answer: TIGER

Visit The Observer on the Web at www.ndsmobserver.com

THE OBSERVER

Published Monday through Friday, The Observer is a vital source of information on people and events in the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Community.

Join the more than 13,000 readers who have found The Observer an indispensable link to the two campuses. Please complete the accompanying form and mail it today to receive The Observer in your home.

Make checks payable to: The Observer
P.O. Box 7
Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer • TODAY

page 27
MENS SOCCER

A little something extra
Irish defeat Fresno State in overtime, tie against Akron

By JUSTIN SCHUVER
Assistant Sports Editor

Fans at the Mike Bertielli Memorial Tournament this weekend got a lot more than they paid for. Three of the tournament's four games went to overtime, including both of the contests in which the Irish participated.

No. 16 Notre Dame defeated Fresno State Friday night in overtime 2-1, and tied Akron 0-0 Sunday afternoon. The Irish continue to have a record of 2-1-2 for the season.

Friday night, the Irish got on the board first with an impressive display of teamwork. In the 27th minute, forward Justin Detter tapped the ball to midfielder Greg Martin at the top of the box, who then returned a feed to Detter. Detter then hit forward Devon Prescod with a short cross, allowing Prescod to shoot the ball into the net. "I just told Chad to play it near post," Detter said. "I couldn't have asked for a better ball. It was really the ball that made the goal.

Detter became the first Irish player other than Prescod to score this season. Prescod had scored the first three goals of the year for Notre Dame to that point, including the first goal against the Bulldogs.

"The price for coaches and players is ever so slightly lower than it is for everyone else in the nation," Haring said. "The price for coaches and players is ever so slightly lower than it is for everyone else in the nation."
Abused in Ann Arbor

Michigan dominates every aspect of game in 38-0 demolition of the Irish

By MATT LOZAR
Associate Sports Editor

ANN ARBOR Mich. — Even the spin doctor couldn’t take something good from this one.

Soundly beating the Irish in every phase of the game, No. 5 Michigan blanked No. 15 Notre Dame 38-0 Saturday at the Big House in front of an NCAA-record 111,785 fans.

"There is nothing positive we can take away from this game," Irish head coach Tyrone Willingham said.

The loss was Notre Dame's worst since a 58-7 pounding by Miami on Nov. 30, 1985, Gerry Faust's last game as Notre Dame's coach. It is the biggest margin of defeat in the Notre Dame-Michigan series since 1902, with the previous mark being a 23-0 win by Michigan.

What the Wolverines did wasn’t a surprise to the Irish. Running back Chris Perry ran for 133 yards on 31 carries and scored four touchdowns — three on the ground and one on a pass from quarterback John Navarre. Perry’s consistent running — the Irish never stopped him for a loss — set up Navarre’s passing game. Navarre was 14-of-21 for 199 yards and a touchdown.

Michigan did what everyone expected in the opening game to open up the passing game. The Irish simply couldn’t stop it.

"You know what they are going to do," linebacker Courtney Watson said. "It’s the same thing as last year. We just weren’t ready to play this year."

In their last three games against ranked opponents, the Irish have been outscored 110-19 with their last three losses coming in the fourth quarter against Florida State in the span of 19 minutes, 14 seconds.

Nobody can explain it.

“There’s no rhyme or reason. It’s college football,” senior defensive tackle Darrell Campbell said. "Things happen in this game, and you’ve got to be prepared for them."

“We just didn’t show up today and adjust to it.”

The defense, just like last seaon, gave the offense a perfect opportunity to silence the Irish early. Watson flew through the Michgian offensive line on the third play of the game and crushed Navarre, forcing a fumble. Linebacker Brandon Hoyte jumped on the ball and the Irish were in business in the Wolverine 38.

"You know what they are going to do. It’s the same thing as last year. We just weren’t ready to play this year."

Courtney Watson
Irish linebacker

"Unfortunately it didn’t work out because that was a great opportunity, we had good field position and we didn’t capitalize on it."

That one completion for three feet turned out to be Notre Dame’s entire passing offense for the first half. Watching his offense regress after its inspiring fourth-quarter comeback against Florida State in the span of 19 minutes, 14 seconds.

"Anytime that you score any points and you aren’t very effective in anything, then I think it is always a step backwards because you aren’t moving forward," he said.

After the Irish forced a Wolverine punt, the offense once again went three-and-out. Nicholas Setta came out to punt and boomed one 55 yards. Steve Bresnich utilized perfect blocking from his teammates and returned it 55 yards to the Notre Dame 2. Perry scored his first touchdown on the next play.

Michigan took advantage of a Holiday interception early in the second quarter and went 81 yards in nine plays. Perry caught a third down 5-yard touchdown pass from Navarre to give the Wolverines a 17-0 advantage going into the locker room.

On the second-half kickoff, Vontez Duff caught the ball three yards deep in the Michigan end zone. He started to run out, hesitated at the goal line and then had to continue forward. The Wolverines tacked him at the 10.

The Irish went three and out again and Michigan took over at the Notre Dame 36. Two runs by Perry later, the score was 24-0.

Michigan used a 19-play drive spanning 10:35 to get Perry his fourth touchdown and send Irish fans to the exits.

The coaching staff sent Brady Quinn into the game looking for any sort of spark going into next week, Quinn finished 3-of-10 for 36 yards and an interception.

After games against Michigan State and Purdue during the past two weeks, the Irish play three straight against teams currently ranked in the top 10. In order to salvage this season, the Irish know they have to turn it around — now.

“We’ve just got to do a lot of soul-searching. Obviously, the players just didn’t come to play today,” Watson said. "You can look at the scoreboard and see that. To get shut out, not score any points, to give up 38 points is embarrassing."

"Hopefully we’ll pick it up, if not, it’s going to be a long season."
ann arbor, Mich. — what’s the only thing worse than hearing the Michigan student section chant “Houston’s better” to Notre Dame? Hearing them chant it in the third quarter — twice.

then again, maybe the Michigan fans had a point. After all, Houston — the team Michigan punked 50-3 the week before Saturday — at least managed a field goal.

That’s more than the Irish could say after they got hagedged Saturday, after Carlyle Holiday threw for exactly one yard in the first half and after a defense that worked as well as a broken condom allowed Chris Perry and John Navarre to do anything they wanted.

“for the first time in a long time, I really can’t think of any words to explain how I’m feeling right now,” said Bob Morton, Notre Dame’s center and one of the most quotable players on the team.

a team claiming to be Notre Dame ran out of the tunnel at Michigan Stadium Saturday, but they didn’t play like Notre Dame. They donned gold helmets and jerseys that read “Irish” in tiny letters on the front, but they certainly weren’t the Fighting Irish.

who would have thought Notre Dame’s 38-0 drubbing would have made the poorly-organized Michigan ticket lottery look like a stroke of genius.

so, you’re a Fighting Irish? you were humiliated.

“next question,” the Irish coach evenly replied, his steel gaze doing more damage than anything the Irish tried Saturday.

Whatever magic the Irish had left over from their 8-0 start has totally disappeared. Dating back to last season, the Irish have been outscored 136-48 in their last four games. And that includes a 19-point comeback against unranked Washington State a week ago.

Sure, the Irish have played top-ranked opponents. And Notre Dame Nation shouldn’t get caught on the rollercoaster of emotions that often follows tough losses by criticizing anything and everything Notre Dame-related.

but after Saturday’s embarrassment, it’s hard to do.

an inexperienced offensive line plagued the Irish all afternoon. If it wasn’t jumping early on fourth-and-short (like some did to kill a third-quarter drive), they were allowing Michigan’s front seven to pitch tents in the Irish backfield. And the rest of the Irish offense wasn’t much better.

a sorry performance by a highly-touted defense didn’t help, as Michigan’s offensive line manhandled one of the best defensive lines in recent Notre Dame history and allowed Chris Perry to stake his claim for the Heisman Trophy. But Carson Palmer knows Perry wouldn’t be the first to make his case for the college football’s pre-eminent award on national television against the Irish.

the coaches weren’t much better. Like the chicken and the egg, does offensive coordinator Bill Diedrick lack the personnel to implement the vaunted West Coast offense or is the Irish offense handicapped by questionable, conservative and predictable play calling? And how many more times will the Irish have to take timeouts on fourth down because it takes too long to send in a play?

when a team comes out as flat as it has against ranked opponents like Notre Dame did, you can’t help but wonder what happened to the well-prepared, well-disciplined squad of last year.

“we look at Michigan and we realize what kind of team we could be,” Morton said. “we do have that talent. We do have that capability. Today, we didn’t play.”

nobody wants to bring up the “return to Glory” campaign of last year, but the way the Irish looked Saturday, you couldn’t help but wonder if this year will be the “return to Davie.” Notre Dame looked more dejected after Saturday’s loss than they did against Boston College or USC or North Carolina State last year.

Players tossed around words like “disgusted” and “frustrated” and “shocked.” Linebacker Courtney Watson, whose fumble-forcing hit on Navarre marked the high-water point for the Irish Saturday, all but called out his teammates by saying the Irish have to do some “soul searching, or it’s gonna be a long season.”

but after those other big losses, when the Irish had to search their souls, nothing happened.

the Irish have to find the killer instinct that helped propel them into the upper echelons of college football last year. The Notre Dame team that crawled out of Michigan Stadium wasn’t the same one that edged the Wolverines at home last year.

in fact, the Notre Dame team that suffered its worst loss since 1985 and the eighth-worst in school history wasn’t a Notre Dame team.

“we’re not that bad of a football team,” Holiday said. “trust me.”

can Irish fans? after Saturday, nobody knows.

the opinions expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Irish totally embarrassed

Michigan running back Chris Perry hurdles over Notre Dame cornerback Jason Beckstrom in the third quarter of Saturday’s game. Perry gained 133 yards on the ground and scored four touchdowns in an impressive performance in front of a national television audience.

add up the numbers

offensive touchdowns scored by the Irish in their last three games against ranked opponents. the Irish have been outscored 110-19.

number of carries by Chris Perry in the first quarter; the Irish ran 13 plays.

length of time since Notre Dame’s last offensive touchdown against a ranked opponent 190:14 of Notre Dame’s 12 drives, number of times the Irish went three-and-out. on two other drives, the Irish threw an interception.

number of consecutive losses at the Big House for the Irish, the most ever 3

10:25 length of Michigan’s drive that put them ahead 31-0; it was the longest drive, timewise, in Michigan history.

Carlyle Holiday’s pass efficiency rating in the first half -13.09 quarterbacks: Holiday threw for exactly 10:25 C+ 0.48 of Notre Dame’s 12 drives, number of times the Irish threw an interception.

111,726 attendance at Michigan Stadium on Saturday, an NCAA Division I record.

of the week before Saturday — at least managed a field goal.

that’s more than the Irish could say after they got hagedged Saturday, after Carlyle Holiday threw for exactly one yard in the first half and after a defense that worked as well as a broken condom allowed Chris Perry and John Navarre to do anything they wanted.

“for the first time in a long time, I really can’t think of any words to explain how I’m feeling right now,” said Bob Morton, Notre Dame’s center and one of the most quotable players on the team.

a team claiming to be Notre Dame ran out of the tunnel at Michigan Stadium Saturday, but they didn’t play like Notre Dame. They donned gold helmets and jerseys that read “Irish” in tiny letters on the front, but they certainly weren’t the Fighting Irish.

who would have thought Notre Dame’s 38-0 drubbing would have made the poorly-organized Michigan ticket lottery look like a stroke of genius.

so, you’re a Fighting Irish? you were humiliated.

“next question,” the Irish coach evenly replied, his steel gaze doing more damage than anything the Irish tried Saturday.

Whatever magic the Irish had left over from their 8-0 start has totally disappeared. Dating back to last season, the Irish have been outscored 136-48 in their last four games. And that includes a 19-point comeback against unranked Washington State a week ago.

Sure, the Irish have played top-ranked opponents. And Notre Dame Nation shouldn’t get caught on the rollercoaster of emotions that often follows tough losses by criticizing anything and everything Notre Dame-related.

but after Saturday’s embarrassment, it’s hard to do.

an inexperienced offensive line plagued the Irish all afternoon. If it wasn’t jumping early on fourth-and-short (like some did to kill a third-quarter drive), they were allowing Michigan’s front seven to pitch tents in the Irish backfield. And the rest of the Irish offense wasn’t much better.

a sorry performance by a highly-touted defense didn’t help, as Michigan’s offensive line manhandled one of the best defensive lines in recent Notre Dame history and allowed Chris Perry to stake his claim for the Heisman Trophy. But Carson Palmer knows Perry wouldn’t be the first to make his case for the college football’s pre-eminent award on national television against the Irish.

the coaches weren’t much better. Like the chicken and the egg, does offensive coordinator Bill Diedrick lack the personnel to implement the vaunted West Coast offense or is the Irish offense handicapped by questionable, conservative and predictable play calling? And how many more times will the Irish have to take timeouts on fourth down because it takes too long to send in a play?

when a team comes out as flat as it has against ranked opponents like Notre Dame did, you can’t help but wonder what happened to the well-prepared, well-disciplined squad of last year.

“we look at Michigan and we realize what kind of team we could be,” Morton said. “we do have that talent. We do have that capability. Today, we didn’t play.”

nobody wants to bring up the “return to Glory” campaign of last year, but the way the Irish looked Saturday, you couldn’t help but wonder if this year will be the “return to Davie.” Notre Dame looked more dejected after Saturday’s loss than they did against Boston College or USC or North Carolina State last year.

Players tossed around words like “disgusted” and “frustrated” and “shocked.” Linebacker Courtney Watson, whose fumble-forcing hit on Navarre marked the high-water point for the Irish Saturday, all but called out his teammates by saying the Irish have to do some “soul searching, or it’s gonna be a long season.”

but after those other big losses, when the Irish had to search their souls, nothing happened.

the Irish have to find the killer instinct that helped propel them into the upper echelons of college football last year. The Notre Dame team that crawled out of Michigan Stadium wasn’t the same one that edged the Wolverines at home last year.

in fact, the Notre Dame team that suffered its worst loss since 1985 and the eighth-worst in school history wasn’t a Notre Dame team.

“we’re not that bad of a football team,” Holiday said. “trust me.”

can Irish fans? after Saturday, nobody knows.

the opinions expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Neither Irish quarterback effec-

By ANDREW SOUKUP

Michigan quarterback John Navarre became the school's all-time passing leader Saturday. Navarre had 449 yards and four touchdowns against the Wolverines, breaking the previous record of 3,113 yards set by Brady Quinn in 2002.

Navarre sets Michigan passing

Observer Staff Report

Navarre has been Michigan's full-time starter for all three seasons after getting four starts in his freshman year. Navarre finished Saturday's game with 38 of-44 for 449 yards and four touchdowns, breaking the previous record of 3,113 yards set by Brady Quinn in 2002.

Navarre passes against the Wolverines Saturday. Holiday finished the first half with one passing yard.

Doubt marks from Saturday

After the domination by Michigan Saturday, a number of records were set in Notre Dame history. The 38-0 victory was the biggest shutout against the Irish since 1925, when Notre Dame was the first in the series since 1925. The 38 point margin of victory was the largest in the series by 15 points.

The last time the Irish scored an offensive touchdown against a ranked opponent was a 31-yard touchdown run by Ryan Grant against Florida State on Oct. 26, 2002.

Gameday captains

Captains for the Irish on Saturday afternoon were quarterback Carlyle Holiday, linebacker Derick Curry, defensive lineman Darren

scoring summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1st</th>
<th>2nd</th>
<th>3rd</th>
<th>4th</th>
<th>Total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>0 0 0 0 0</td>
<td>Michigan</td>
<td>10 7 14 30</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

First quarter

Michigan 24, Notre Dame 0

Chris Perry 7-yard run with 6:25 remaining (Adam Finley kick) Drive: 1 play, 2 yards, 0:04 elapsed

Second quarter

Michigan 10, Notre Dame 0

Finley 24-yard field goal with 14:56 remaining Drive: 10 plays, 31 yards, 3:57 elapsed

Third quarter

Michigan 27, Notre Dame 0

Navarre 2-yard run with 6:25 remaining (Finley kick) Drive: 1 play, 2 yards, 0:04 elapsed

Fourth quarter

Michigan 27, Notre Dame 0

Navarre 6-yard run with 3:25 remaining (Finley kick) Drive: 14 plays, 50 yards, 3:47 elapsed

Statistics

total yards

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ND</th>
<th>140</th>
<th>439</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table> rushing yards

| ND | 76 | 37-47 |

passing yards

| ND | 91 | 76 |

return yards

| ND | 76 | 91 |

time of possession

| ND | 37-47 |

Rushing table

| 25-49 | rushes-yards | 4-15 |
| 8-24-2 | comp-attempted | 17-24-4 |
| 9-4-9 | punt-yards | 3-31-7 |
| 5-0 | fumbles-lost | 2-2 |
| 5-31 | penalties-yards | 6-40 |
| 7 | first downs | 19 |

Contact Andrew Soukup at asoukup@nd.edu

The Observer  IRISH INSIDER  page 3

Mon., Sept. 15, 2003
In every aspect of Saturday’s game, the Wolverines outplayed the Irish. Notre Dame’s offense amassed a paltry 140 yards while its defense yielded 439 yards. Michigan running back Chris Perry gained 133 yards on the ground scored four touchdowns. The Irish special teams allowed a 55-yard punt return in the first quarter and made some poor decisions. After the game, Notre Dame coach Tyrone Willingham summed it up simply, “There is nothing positive we can take from this game.”