ND Students Like HHH; Nixon Has Edge at SMC

HUBERT H. HUMPHREY, Democratic nominee for President, captured 14 halls to Nixon in the SUAC sponsored Mock Presidential Election held yesterday. The Vice-President managed nearly 35% of the vote, while the Republican nominee received 33%.

Two write-in candidates, Edward Kennedy and Gene McCarthy, also ran strongly. Dick Gregory nixed out George Wallace for fifth place, while Pat Paulsen finished seventh, despite a heavy TV campaign.

Nixon, who managed a strong finish by winning at St. Mary's, won in only five halls: Dillon, Howard, Keenan, St. Ed's, and Stanford, but ran a close race in several others. Young Republican Chairman Mike Kelly was encouraged by the results. He said, "Nixon ran much stronger than I had expected, because of the overwhelming Democratic color of the campus and the pro-Humphrey stance of almost all student leaders." Kelly held that the close race is a sign of the disillusionment with the Vice-President on this campus. "I hope this is a reflection of the efforts of the YPs," Kelly concluded.

Rich Hunter, chairman of the ND Young Democrats, said he was gratified by the results, and that they would be wired to the Vice-President. "Nixon lost, no matter what the YPs say," Hunter commented. "They had the time and materials, but we Democrats had over 50% of the student body on our side. This is the first step, this proves Humphrey can win next week."

A total of 21 political figures received votes. 80 ballots were disqualified because the person written in was not a politician. Write-ins receiving more than 10 votes were Kennedy, McCarthy, Nelson Rockefeller (48), John Lindsay (21), and William Buckley (16).

John Mroz, SUAC chairman, was extremely pleased with the turnout. "The number of idiomatic votes was very small, which shows that the students are concerned. The voting was relatively heavy," Mroz pointed out. "This is one of the ways SUAC is trying to spread its interests. Almost 100 SUAC men were involved with the Mock Election."

Raskin Seeks Change in ‘Authoritarian Society’

Marcus Raskin, speaking to a crowd of over 100 persons at the Library Auditorium last night, urged the building of an anti-authoritarian fourth party in the United States.

Raskin, the National Director of the New Party, called the three existing parties basically "right-wing authoritarian institutions who represent the basic structures in society."

In articulating the purposes of the New Party, New Politics Party in Indiana—Raskin stated its intent to change the authoritarian structures in society. "He hoped that the New Politics Party could "bring into the electoral and political processes huge groups who are now disfranchised," numbering among these students and blacks.

Raskin advocated the building of parallel counterstructures on the local level, to make clear great numbers of the uneducated what society really is—a "top-down" structure. Raskin urged groups to work to make universities democratic communities, as well as communities of scholars.

He called upon students to "go beyond the concept of what society expects" to become more human and, especially, more politically involved. In a question period, Raskin was asked what he thought of the future of the third and fourth parties in the United States. He said the Wallace appeal was directed toward a lower middle class "protective of what they have" or "pegged to a deferred payoff." According to Raskin, Wallace says, "Look, you fools, your taxes are going to the poor," when in reality they are going to the rich who control the structures in society.
Doctor Scott To Speak at SMC Commencement

Dr. Nathan Alexander Scott, Jr., has been chosen to speak at the 1969 Commencement Exercises of Saint Mary's College. Dr. Scott was third on the list of proposed speakers by the Senior Class Speaker's Committee. Michael Harrington, first on the list, was not invited because "Saint Mary's College should not bestow an honorary degree on a fallen away Catholic," according to Msgr. McGrath.

Dr. Scott, a professor at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, is a prominent Protestant theologian and author. His major works include The Tragic Vision and the Christian Faith, The Broken Center: Studies in the Theological Horizon of Modern Literature, and The Vision of Death. His studies of Albert Camus, Reinhold Niebuhr, Samuel Beckett and Ernest Hemingway have also been published. Dr. Scott, 43 years old, received his A.B. from University of Michigan, his B.D. from Union Theological Seminary, and his Ph.D. from Columbia. He is literary editor of the Christian Scholar.

Concerning Msgr. McGrath's decision against Harrington, Senior Class President Kathy Lammers said that she "was never informed of how the decision was made or of what the criteria for commencement speakers were." She said that "senators were "very upset with the reason behind the decision". Lammers continued, "It seems so archaic. To hold a spiritual decision against a man is opposed to everything we've been brought up to believe. Michael Harrington gave John Kennedy the intellectual stimulus to begin the War on Poverty. He is one of the nation's foremost sociologists. I'm sure his speech would have been creative, original, and directed toward this year's college graduate. He knows what is happening. Father McGrath's argument holds no water in the face of what Michael Harrington has done."

K.T. Cannon, chairman of the Speaker's Committee, states that "she was informed by Father Harrington that Msgr. McGrath, that Msgr. McGrath was upset because Harrington had been raised as a Catholic but had fallen away, and because Harrington supposedly registered as a Communist four years ago."

"I told Father Zemanick to go to the next name on the list if Father McGrath was upset", Cannon said.

Morrissye Sets Parietal Hours

The Morrissye Hall Council met two nights ago and passed a bill prescribing rules and procedures on women's visiting hours in that Hall.

The bill states that such action was necessary because "the ruling bodies of this University persist in ignoring this problem... they continue to encourage the development of 'meaningful communities' in words only, denying the members of these communities the rig to actually govern themselves." The hours were established on all Sundays, Fridays, and Saturdays, going to 1 a.m. on the latter two days. Also included in the bill was the statement "an open house may be declared by majority vote of the Morrissye Hall Council, although the President of Morissye Hall retains the power of veto over such a declaration."

Hall Council President Phil McKenna commented, "The bill is a statement of hall feeling. It is not a bill that has been implemented, although we may do so at any time."

Asked about when the bill most likely will be put into effect, he replied that the council will probably wait until next week's meeting of the S.L.C. when the parietal hours issue will be brought out before considering putting the bill into effect. "The hall has not decided to buck the system, but to work with the system." He also said that the hall was not afraid of direct confrontation with the university.

Future action planned by McKenna and other hall residents is the initiation of referendums in all halls so the Student Life Council will be made aware of how each hall feels on the parietal issue.

How to interview 170 companies in half an hour.

Just talk to the man from General Electric.

He represents 170 separate GE "companies" that deal in everything from space research to electric toothbrushes. And each of these product departments is autonomous. Each has its own management and business objectives.

So a job at General Electric offers the kind of immediate responsibility you might expect to find only in a small business.

Right from the start you get a chance to demonstrate your initiative and capabilities. And the more you show us, the faster you'll move ahead.

As you do, you'll find that you don't necessarily have to spend a lifetime working on the same job in the same place. We have operations all over the world. Chances are you'll get to try your hand at more than one of them.

Our interviewer will be on campus soon. If you're wondering whether it's possible to find challenging work in big business, please arrange to see him. He speaks for 170 "companies."

SLC Elects Permanent Officers

Early yesterday morning the Student Life Council met, approved a set of provisional guidelines, and elected officers for the coming year. Dean William Lawless of the Law School was named permanent chairman, Prof. John Houck of Business, his vice-chairman, and Mr. Phil Faccenda, executive secretary.

Also initiated was a three-man steering committee, with one representative from each contingent, to handle scheduling of agenda. Appointed to the committee were Rev. Thomas Blanlz of Zahm Hall, Assoc. Prof. Gerald Jones of the physics dept., and senior Mike McCauley.

The basis of yesterday's meeting however, was spent fidgeting with a statement of prepared guidelines drawn up last week by Lawless, Houck, and Student Body Pres. Richard Rossie.

As the procedures now stand after numerous amendments SLC meetings will be open to the public and area press and generally held in the Center for Continuing Education at 8:00 Wed. evenings. Next week's session, though, will be at 9:00.

Issues to be discussed at future meetings will be determined by the steering committee, with the administrative help of Mr. Faccenda. Any member of the SLC or any group submitting the signatures of 50 students may approach the committee with a topic for debate. Special consideration, however, will be given to recommendations by the Student Senate. Rossie was particulary emphatic that since this body officially represents the students it should be given particular attention.

The issue of open meetings also drew some concern. The policy established would allow for "closed" discussion at the discretion of an SLC member, but generally the meetings will remain open. WSND taped yesterday's entire session.

The Yellow-Billed Wordpicker doesn't write words. It helps you remember them.

The Scripto Wordpicker is a marking pen that plays tricks on your memory. When you're writing in all in bright yellow, you don't use it to write down the things you have to remember, but to make them easier to remember.

That way you save all the time you used to spend making notes of those important things, and you also save the time you spent trying to remember where you wrote them.

The Yellow-Billed Wordpicker. For 49c, you shouldn't forget to buy one.

Undeclared freshman football coach Wally Moore will be out to up his record to 4-0 Frday. His Begging Irishmen will take on Michigan State at 1:30 p.m. in Notre Dame Stadium. Moore's record includes 1966 victories over the Spartans and Pittsburgh, and a 21-17 win over Pitt last year.

"It looks right now as though we've had an excellent recruiting season," says Moore, "but we won't know for sure until after Friday's game. We managed to get some nationally known and sought after players like Bill Trapp (6'2", 185 lbs., quarterback from Chicago), Bill Etter (6'2", 185 lbs., quarterback from Tuskegee, Ala.), a pair of 6'2" 180-pounders from Chicora, Pa., Irish coach Ara Parseghian said earlier this week that "Navy will probably throw any number of times and run the outsides a good deal."

Coach Moore's offense was dealt a crippling blow on Monday when the highly-expected Garrett was lost with a broken hand. Garrett, who sustained the injury in a blocking drill, must wear a cast for approximately four weeks. This will keep him out of the second MSU game on Nov. 15, and leave him doubtful for the Nov. 23 contest with the University of Tennessee.

ND Second In Total Offense

Notre Dame takes the second most productive offense in the nation to Ohio State Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. battle with Wally Moore and the Kennedy Memorial Stadium. A capacity crowd of more than 100,000 is expected.

Latest NCAA college football statistics show ND's Eleven Pro Line Men averaging 517.2 yards per game rushing and passing. Only Houston is better with 528.4.

The Irish are rated fourth in scoring with an average of 36.7 points per contest. Kansas leads with 45 points per game. Houston is second with 38.2 and Ohio University third with 37.7.

Navy is suffering through a bad year. The Midshipmen have beaten only Pittsburgh (17-16) in their first six outings.

Coach Bill Elze' boys will be at a serious weight disadvantage Saturday. Both their lines average 250 pounds per man, compared to 232 for the Irish offensive will and 250 for ND's defensive front four.

The Middle offense is paced by quarterback Mike McNallen, a 6-2 185-pounder from Chicago. Pa., Irish coach Ara Parseghian said earlier this week that "Navy will probably throw any number of times and run the outsides a great deal."

Hallbacks O'Brien and Denny Allan return to action this week. O'Brien, who gets the starting nod, suffered a mild concussion at Michigan State last weekend. Allan, out of both the Ohio and Wisconsin battles with a pulled hamstring, will back up O'Brien.

Irish linebacker Jan Wright, who re-injured a knee in East Lansing, will start at right inside linebacker.

Only change in this week's lineup is at left defensive halfback where John Casser replaces Jay Standring.

Bengston Doesn't Believe

MEXICO CITY (UPI) - Phil Bengston, the Green Bay Packers coach, isn't the emotional type.

"He doesn't slam doors and start kicking things around when he loses and he doesn't go out and do the town when he wins a big one."

Bengston won a big one Monday night in Dallas when his Packers upset the previously undefeated cowboys, 17-17, and he and his team didn't get back to Green Bay until 3 Tuesday morning. By 9 a.m., Bengston was back at work.

"There's a whole lot to do," said the Packer coach from his desk in Green Bay. "Dallas was a must game for us but now we have Chicago coming up and we have to get ready for that one."

No coach likes to single out any of his players over the others because anytime he does all the rest feel neglected. Bengston, in that regard, is a great deal like his predecessor, Vince Lombardi, who invariably would credit the entire team following a key victory.

But there was one Green Bay player who did make the difference in Dallas Monday night and whether Bengston was breaking one of his rules or not, he did single him out.

"Bart Starr," said the Packer coach in response to the question of which player more than any other was responsible for Green Bay's triumph in Dallas.

"Having him back was a big help."

Had the Packers been beaten by the Cowboys, the season might have been all over for them. As it turned out, Starr, who had been hampered with a pulled muscle in his arm, tossed four touchdown passes and Green Bay now is tied with Detroit for the Central Division lead.

The oddsmakers had Dallas the favorite for any number in Monday night's contest. Primarily there was the question of Starr's condition. Then there was Jerry Kramer, the Packers' brilliant offensive lineman, who was in no shape to put in regular duty.

Add to that the fact the Cowboys had won six in a row, were playing in their own backyard and wanted this particular game probably more than any other one this season, and you get a good idea of why Dallas was favored.

Through most of the first two quarters, the oddsmakers looked as if they knew what they were talking about. The Cowboys led, 10-0, with less than three minutes remaining before half time. Then it happened. Starr hit Carroll Dale with a 26-yard scoring pass and the Packers went into their dressing room trailing only by three points at halftime.

"That play more than any other one did it for us," Bengston revealed. "We were back in the ball game."

The Green Bay coach didn't resort to any thrash during the 20 minute breath catcher. There was really no need for him to do so.

"We consider it more of a re-organization period," he explained. "We went over a number of things which we had worked on all week.

"When the Packers went back out for the second half, the difference in them was immediately noticeable. The line blocking was far better and that made Starr run better."

He threw two TD passes to Marve Fleming in the third quarter and another to Boyd Dowler in the last quarter. When it was all over, there it was: the Packers always win the big ones.

Bengston says the win over Dallas could have the effect of changing the whole season around for his Packers.

"It was a real must game for us. It was a must game for us. Our boys had confidence in each other and I think they proved there's nothing wrong with the Packers. I haven't seen the game movies yet but I did notice after they left I liked Jerry Kramer also got in for a few plays and I think he'll be ready for Chicago," Bengston admitted.

One victory was all it took to dispense the crepe hangers who were going around saying the Packers might be all through.

Phil Bengston, who isn't the emotional type, never believed what they were saying about the Packers.

For sure, he doesn't believe it now.
