Packard Wants His Defense Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) - David Packard urged the Senate yesterday to permit him to become deputy defense secretary and still keep his $300 million interest in an electronics firm he helped to found.

Packard proposed to place his shares in the Hewlett-Packard Electronics Co., which produces measuring equipment for the government's research agencies, whose profits would normally automatically be distributed to designated charities.

He told the Senate Armed Services Committee that under the plan, profits would be spent only if prohibited from buying or selling the stock and he and his wife would be barred, while he was serving as No. 2 man at the Pentagon, from any dealings involving the funds held in trust.

Chairman John Stennis, (D-Miss.), noting that past Defense Department appointments had not required them to divest themselves of stocks in firms doing more than $10 million business annually with the Defense Department, gave no indication whether the arrangement might be accepted.

But if it is, Stennis said, the committee will demand that the trustees be "independent" and in no way connected with Hewlett-Packard.

Packard is one of President-elect Richard M. Nixon's more controversial appointees because of his past dealings with the Pentagon and Hewlett-Packard and his reluctance to get rid of his stock from the firm.

Packard told senators Hewlett-Packard last year placed $280 million worth of orders for the measuring equipment it produces, including contracts with the Department of Defense.

He said if confirmed, he would "disqualify myself from any matter dealing with Hewlett-Packard" and would circulate a general memorandum to all agencies of the department ordering them to refer any matters dealing with the firm to Melvin R. Laird, who will be named director of the department.

$195.3 Billion Budget/ $28.8 for Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Johnson left Congress and his successor yesterday a record $195.3 billion budget with the first cut in Vietnam spending since the United States entered the war.

His budget message was accompanied by a stubborn defense of his policy of persisting in a costly and controversial war while at the same time pursuing domestic reforms.

At a budget signing ceremony in the White House East Room, the President said that of the $969 billion he has asked of Congress during his administration, more than two thirds of total outlays had gone for domestic programs.

"When we talk about credibility, it concerns me sometimes because the people who have said we had to negotiate, forgive, abuse and take from our people because we have defended freedom," Johnson said.

Sec'y of State Rogers Promises Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) - William P. Rogers pledged yesterday the United States was ready before the SMC Campus Legislature last night. Therese Ambrusko, Student Body President, read the proposal before approximately 14 of the 22 members of the legislature.

The rationale read in part:

"This Union would be an organization of the service commissioners such as Academic, Social, NSA Student Development; they would have no legislative authority. They would be appointed by a Student Union President who would have been appointed by the Student Body President. All appointment would be subject to approval by the Student Affairs Committee."

Later Ambrusko said that no action was officially taken to consider the proposal due to the lack of a quorum at the meeting. Student Body Vice-President Sally Strobel, referring to the inattendance of meetings by the legislators said: "These people are supposed to be the elected representatives of the students and by not showing at these meetings they are simply exhuasting their complete disregard for the people who elected them. It's one thing when they come with absolutely no opinion but it's twice as bad when they won't come at all."

Ambrusko said that she planned to go ahead and draw up detailed plans for the proposed Student Union which would be presented at the next meeting of the legislature soon after semester break.

Senior Class President Dave Witt has announced that the Alumni Club will open today at 4:00 P.M.

Located in the McNamara House south of the stadium, the facility will offer alcoholic beverages, soft drinks and sandwiches.

Seniors and graduate students will be admitted to the Club upon presentation of an Alumni Club membership card. Club dues, which are three dollars payable semi-annually, will be collected at the entrance of the Club during the first few weeks of its operation. Witt also had good news for those individuals who have purchased shares of "Stock" in the class. Such individuals will have their Alumni Club membership financed by the class treasury; additionally, they will be entitled to significant benefits in the months ahead.

The Alumni Club will be open from four P.M. to one A.M. Monday thru Saturday. It will remain open during both the exam and semester break periods. Happy hour, with two drinks for the price of one, will occur each day from four to five P.M. Although he looks forward to a "really lavish official grand opening" early in the second semester, Witt felt that it was important to get the Club functioning as soon as possible.

In his words, "Seniors are going to need more than moral support to get them thru first semester finals. The Alumni Club will provide that support." Individuals driving to the Club should use Notre Dame Avenue turning right onto the street just before the University Club. They should then proceed forward into the C-4 parking lot.

Soyuz 4 & 5 To Attempt Maneuver

MOSCOW - The Soviet Union rocketed a three-man Soyuz 5 spaceship into earth orbit without the sales of crowd-pleasing cosmonaut Valentin Shatalov's Soyuz 4 yesterday in a second step toward a possible manned docking maneuver today.

The Soyuz 5 which left earth orbit 10 minutes after its launch yesterday, followed, the Soyuz 4 in space, followed today. The crew of Soyuz 5 is so slow to orbit alongside his own ship at 10:14 a.m. EST.

Soyuz 4 was launched Tuesday and had completed 16 orbits when Soyuz 5 followed it 23 hours later, and 35 minutes later from the Baksanor cosmodrome in central Asia.

Soviet and Western space experts predicted the two ships would carry out the first manned docking in space and possibly exchange crews, both prerequisites for the Soviets' announced goal of building a manned orbiting platform.
Don't Look Now

But you may be about to blow your life

An astonishing number of people make a stupid and tragic mistake. To put it simply, they jump into careers without really looking at the cost—a dreary life of frustration and anger.

Can this happen to you? Could—unless you can answer questions like these to your own satisfaction before you make your move: Are you really a Chief or an Indian?

Do you belong in a big organization? Or a small one? Or do you belong by yourself?

Can you really stand pressure?

There are a great many serious questions you must ask—and answers about a career. But the most critical are the ones you ask yourself about. Unless you can answer them honestly, it makes little sense to ask, for example, "What is it really like to be an investment banker?"

Careers Today can tell you what it's like to be an investment banker. More important, this meaningful new magazine can help you decide whether becoming an investment banker is even a sensible option for you in the first place!

It's a magazine about careers that are not with jobs, but with people. And it's dedicated to the proposition that you must do your own reasons. That if you don't, you run the grave risk of blowing your life.

Careers Today is relevant. For people who are searching...from people who have discovered how to do their own thing.

How about you? Could you use a little truth at this point in your search?

Use the coupon below—or the coupon in the colorful brochure distributed with this paper—to enter your Charter Subscription to Careers Today, at the special Charter price of just $5 for one year (11 issues) instead of the regular post-Charter price of $10.

A Tocata/of Galupi's

The SMC Music Department is sponsoring a recital by Italian pianist Emanuele Verona, member of the Andrews University faculty, who will play selections from Frescobaldi, Galuppi, Ghedini, Fermolest, and Chopin. The performance will be tonight at 8:15 in the Morean Little Theatre.

The Cellar

The Cellar will make its grand opening tomorrow night with the sounds of The First Friday.

The Cellar, sponsored by the Frieman Class, is located in the basement of the Hallway House. Ray Connell, the president of the Frieman Class, said, "The purpose of the Cellar is to provide an atmosphere for the undergraduates that is similar to the atmosphere the Alumni Club creates for the Seniors."

"The Cellar will provide a place on Campus for discussing, meeting students, and meeting girls," stated Connell.

Plans call for the Cellar to be open every Friday and Saturday night with the admission open to everyone.

"Many benefits surrounding the Cellar. It is an accessory being located halfway between Notre Dame and St. Mary's. The price of admission is inexpensive: only one dollar for Notre Dame students and fifty cents for girls," said Connell.

Student Values

See your Hallieck, M.D. from the University of Wisconsin will speak on "Student Values in a Changing World," tonight at 8pm in St. Mary's Little Theatre. His appearance is sponsored by the Humanities Studies Lecture Series of SMCC.

Betty Doerr

Manic Depressive

Dear Miss Doerr,

I am a Notre Dame senior. I am sick of Notre Dame, sick being a senior, and sad and tired of being free, white and twenty-one. I'm going to fink all my exams. I have more overdue papers than all the other people on my floor. Free. The next guy who asks what I'm doing in June gets a belt in the mouth. White. I've been told I can't eat grapes. Twenty-one. I get to take part in what last year was a political wasteland, but this year has Richard Nixon giving the inaugural address. Father Hesburgh doesn't care about me. My perfect cares too much about me. And everybody else hates me. What should I do?

Yours in Christ

Manic Depressive

Dear Manic Depressive,

I've got just the thing for you. If college senior's, your name, martyrdom is obviously your game. Try a little healthy self-delusion. Look around the dorm. I'm sure you can dig up some rope and a few rusty nails. Put the two together and you've got it made. Play the "Mancham Tango" on your record player and fling yourself to the music.

Now then. Lie down and bleed for a while. When you recover, if you recover, smile. No one could possibly be in worse shape than you are. So just relax and moan for a while. Decide whether to live or die. Assuming you have made the former decision, repeat after me: 'Don't you do it, you incredible thing, don't you ever die. There, things aren't so bad. You are a fairly healthy man, even if you do smoke and drink too much. And if you flunk out of school, there's always the security of the army. At least the weather will be warmer.

Dear Miss Doerr,

I know they're out to get me. All of them. My profs, My parents, The Saints Mary's senior I'm going with. Well, the Saint Mary's senior I'm dating casually. And my roommate cares too much about me. Help me.

Sincerely,

Paranoia

Dear Paranoia,

I suggest you talk to: a) Bill Lurking b) Richard Rose c) Rick Remboch d) any Notre Dame man who is dating a St. Mary's senior casually e) all of them. You have nothing to worry about.

Ripon Society Formed

Young Republicans President Mike Kelly yesterday announced the formation of the first undergraduate college chapter of the Ripon Society in the nation. The Society is a liberal Republican group centered at Harvard University.

In announcing the formation of the Ripon chapter, Mrs. chairman Kelly commented, "The reason for the establishment of a Ripon chapter here at Notre Dame is twofold. First, to allow the student body to learn of the principles of the Republican Party that are best able to meet the challenges of today, free of the strict partisanship that the Young Republicans must follow. Secondly, to better allow the student body to work to bring new ideas and attitudes into the Republican Party." Kelly expressed optimism when looking at the Society's activities. He described the primary object of the Society as "the encouragement and extension of political dialogue."
Dining Hall Comm. Meeting

Chef Named To North Dining Hall

Food Services Director Bernard Melhall of the Dining Hall Committee last night that a number of changes including a new North Dining Hall chief have been instituted on committee suggestion. Talking to a dinner meeting in the South Dining Hall, Melhall promised action on other requests, and stated that the university hopes soon to find a qualified sanitarian to supervise health facilities in the dining halls.

Stay Senator Steve Ahern, who has directed Senate work on the dining halls condition, was optimistic over the results of the meeting, saying "Mr. Melhall is putting a conscientious effort into answering the many requests of the students. He has engaged a new chef for the North Dining Hall, has begun plans for initiating special food nights, and is in the process of putting heat lamps into the dining halls."

Ahern, while praising the work of Melhall, expressed hope that the Student Life Council will approve the formation of a board of directors over the dining halls in a meeting Monday night. The board, a unanimous recommendation of the SLC subcommittee on the dining halls, would consist of five students and three dining hall directors. It would be a governing body, but decisions of the group can be referred to the SLC on the appeal of one board member.

The major announcement at the meeting last night was undoubtedly the new North Dining Hall chef. North Dining Hall manager Mr. Marion D. Hayes, was optimistic about the selection, commenting "I think we've got a real good man." Mehall echoed Hayes' sentiments, pointing to better food preparation and the institution of more desert, salad, and fruit juice selections in the much criticized facility. The North Dining Hall has been the scene of two mass food poisonings over the last few months and was damaged in a food riot in January of last year.

Besides the new chef, Mehall told the committee that special food nights are being instituted, the first to be a Mexican dinner in early February. Regarding sanitary conditions, he said Dr. Lewis E. Howell, Chairman of the St. Joseph Health Department visited the dining halls last week to speak with employees. Both Hayes and Mehall reported on increased inspection of silverware in the North Dining Hall, saying improvements were being made in this major area of student and committee complaint.

In addition to reporting on progress, Mehall spent more than a half hour taking suggestions from committee members. He pledged to increase the number of selections on all food items in the dining halls, and said a minimum of three salad dressings would be set out at all meals. The committee was not hesitant to suggest changes, and one member went to considerable length recommending improvements in spaghetti sauce and meatballs. At the end of the meeting, Mehall suggested another session early next month "to see if we can make more progress like tonight."

YR's Meet

Three resolutions were passed last night at a meeting of the Notre Dame Young Republicans. YR Chairman Mike Kelly introduced two of the resolutions. The first listed proposals intended to increase the credibility of the Republican Party among America's black community. Kelly informed the members that the resolution would be forwarded to other YR Clubs. "We hope to have the National Committee deluged with these resolutions as power by hundred of GOP organizations," he remarked.

Kelly's other resolution urged Bill Kucelotham, unsuccessful Republican candidate for Senate this fall, to run again in 1970. The third resolution supported the stand taken by the ND Young American for Freedom regarding the recent action of the Campus Judicial Board. Proposed by Bob Marucci, the motion allowed money from the YR treasury to be used to pay for WSND advertisements attacking the board's postponement in the trial of Marty McNamara.

The meeting also dealt with details of upcoming fund raising projects and campus activities.

Many have found career enrichment at Du Pont. This comes from being handed a ball and being expected to run with it. From working with top people, from growing in a company where the opportunities are always wide open and the projects are often away. Many have found professional fulfillment and have built a very full, varied and happy life as "Du Ponters."

Others have found, after working at Du Pont, that their professional interest lay in teaching, in further study or in an industry that fulfilled and have built a very full, varied and happy life as "Du Ponters."

So talk to the Du Pont recruiter. If he offers you something, think of it as a professional challenge, not a proposal of marriage.
Irish forward Collis Jones, arm and fingers above the crowd, reaches for a rebound during last night's 84-77 conquest of Detroit.

Spencer Makes Hay, But Irish Win, 84-77

By GREG WINGENFELD

Notre Dame sloughed off a 30 point routburst by All-America candidate Spencer Haywood and a rash of technical fouls on the way to an 84-77 victory over the University of Detroit last night at the Convocation Center.

Haywood looked every bit as good as his newspaper clippings, gathering in 16 rebounds and intimidating people on defense in addition to his bucket production. But the Irish offense placed his men in double figures to offset his showing. Capt. Bob Arzen leading the parade with 23 markers.

For a while it looked as though technicals would play a major rule in the outcome of the game, as Coach Johnny Dee and two of his players were slapped with the fouls in the opening minutes of the second half. Actually, Dee’s sin was committed at the conclusion of the initial stanza as he chose to find fault with a number of calls. Thus, Detroit came out of the locker room knowing they’d have two free throws and the ball (Dee suffered a double T), to go with their 44-40 lead.

The Titans pushed their lead to eight before the efforts of Arzen, Bob Whitmore and Jackie Meehan combined to knot the score at 68. Dwight Murphy, Collis Jones and Arzen then sparked an 8-0 spurt which gave the Irish a lead they never relinquished.

Haywood’s defensive efforts became more cautious after he picked up his fourth foul with 8:28 to play. The Irish streak started about a minute later.

"That’s the big thing. Look, with the kind of ball club we had last season, things like that. All I really care about is winning the pennant again. That’s the big thing. Look, with the kind of ball club we had last season any one of our four starters could’ve won 30. If we win the pennant again next season I wouldn’t care if I was 7-6, 10-9 or 20-17."

"Seven-six would be okay with you, too?"

"That’s right, if we won," McLain repeated. "My goal is to win the pennant. If the ball club has a good year, I’ll have one, too. I’m not worried about that.”

McLain has been on a tough schedule this winter, making appearances and playing the organ, but the grind somehow hasn’t shown on him at all.

"I’m okay but I was exhausted last week," he admitted. "I went 3½ days without sleep during one stretch. I left Los Angeles midnight Monday and didn’t get to bed again until Thursday morning. In between I made stops in Detroit, Sharon, Pa., Albion, N.Y., and Chicago. I didn’t mind though. I was playing the Hammond organ and I love it."

When the conversation returned again to football and Namath, McLain suddenly remembered something he had in common with their Super Bowl spectacular.

"I’ve got a white mink coat like he has,” laughed the Tiger ace. "Namath’s coat isn’t white mink,” someone put in, “it’s black real."

McLain shrugged.

So who’s counting anyway?

Spencer Haywood: 30 points, 16 rebounds

Whitmore got themselves in foul trouble at three apes.

The crowd of 10,495 growled its displeasure at each and every call made by referees Art White and Tony Portorrealo, until the Irish broke into the lead to stay.

The technical called on Collis Jones for allegedly grabbing the rim as he tried to block a shot induced the first major hail of programs and other refuse in Convocation Center.

Capt. Arzen got able scoring support from teammates Murphy (18), Jones (15) and Whitmore (13). Arnie lead the club in rebounds with 13. Back-court white Jackie Meehan directed the Irish attack for most of the second half, hitting on both his jumpers and handling the ball through the Titans press-ing attempt at a comeback.

The ND Frosh knocked off Ball State 94-91 in last night’s prelude, upping their record to 3-1.

By Milt Richman, UPI columnist

NEW YORK (UPI) — Denny McLain, who’s had his picture on the front page a couple of times himself, looked at Joe Namath’s picture on the front page and smiled.

"I feel good for him," Detroit’s super winner said about the New York Jets’ super duper.

"I know how he must feel. I never met him but from what I read I feel, is it? He backs up everything he says, too, doesn’t he? You have to like him. He’s the same type of fellow I am. He talks a lot and nobody could beat our pennant celebration," McLain said.

"I know how I felt once the original shock wore off. You can’t find words to describe it, but I realized I couldn’t have done what I did without the other 24 players. What I wanted to do was express my feeling to them, to let my teammates know how I felt. I’m pretty sure he—Namath—must feel the same way."

The subject swung over to baseball and naturally there was the inevitable question: How many games did McLain think he’d win next season?

"I’d give him a gonna win 30,” he spoke right up. "People forget I had everything going for me for last season. We had a great ball club and I think we still have but you never can talk about injuries or things like that. All I really care about is winning the pennant again. That’s the big thing. Look, with the kind of ball club we had last year any one of our four starters could’ve won 30. If we win the pennant again next season I wouldn’t care if I was 7-6, 10-9 or 20-17."

"Seven-six would be okay with you, too?"
