World leaders mourn Eisenhower's death

TMH telegrams

Ike's widow

Father Theodore M. Hesburgh sent a telegram to Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower expressing his sympathy over the death of her husband. General Eisenhower entered this in 1952 and 1960, and he participated in a Notre Dame sponsored event of the battle of Gettysburg in 1963.

In his telegram Father Hesburgh emphasized Ike's relation to Notre Dame saying "Fare at Notre Dame, we cherished him as one of our own. He received honorary alumni and a member of the family, and one of the proudest occasions occurred in the halls of the history of Notre Dame is his visit to our campus in 1960."

He added "I will offer a Mass for the eternal repose of his noble soul, and, with modest contributions to peace and freedom for all mankind."

As President, Mr. Eisenhower came to Notre Dame on June 5, 1960, to deliver the commencement address and receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree. He also visited the campus on Sept. 15, 1952 during his first campaign for the presidency. Finally on June 29, 1963. General and Mrs. Eisenhower attended a Notre Dame sponsored Field Mass held as part of the centennial observance of the Battle of Gettysburg.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Eisenhower's body will lie in state until today when it will be returned to Washinton National Cathedral for funeral services. Burial will be in Abilene, Kan., Wednesday. A funeral train will take Eisenhower's body back to his birthplace and boyhood home.

A people's homage to a dead hero began Saturday at the Cathedral as an estimated 60,000 passed by his casket in a chapel to pay their last farewells.

It manifested itself again yesterday when his body, followed by his grieving family, the mighty of the land and a bone incredible black horse, was borne on a creaking Army caisson to the Capitol down Pennsylvania Avenue.

As the horse drawn caisson Dowdall as Academic Commissioner, a bright sun broke through the overcast for the first time since the procession began. A 21 gun salute boomed out and gray powder smoke drifted over the Capitol grounds.

The casket was gently carried up the steps by the Honor Guard and placed in a rotunda where every sound was amplified by echoes from the vaulted domes. Thereafter a beatiful pause followed. Nixon stepped out from behind the coffin and spoke of the man he had served as vice president.

During his eulogy in the Rotunda of the Capitol, President Nixon said that he knew Mrs. Eisenhower would permit him to share the words of her husband on the day he died. Eisenhower in his last hours said:

"I've always loved my wife, I've always loved my children, and I've always loved my country."

His 72 year old widow stood in silence, her eyes geling to the arm of her son, John, as hundreds in the Rotunda somberly listened to Nixon praise the general as "one of the giants of our times."

Mrs. Eisenhower bit her lip, blinking back the tears as the her heart. Besides Lord Mountbatten, Nixon's body was carried past the bow of measures placed the flag draped casket in position.

"He came from the heart of America, and he gave expression to the heart of America and he touched the hearts of the world."

"He remained to his final days the world's most admired and respected man, truly the first citizen of the world," said Nixon.

When the rotunda ceremonies were over, after Nixon had laid a wreath, the great vaulted ceremonial hall under the Capitol dome was opened to the public. Vegetation past the casket on a black velvet draped catafalque fixed by Abraham Lincoln at the rate of 70 persons a minute.

Turnbull elected St. Mary's SBP

by Ann Conway

Susan Turnbull was elected Student Body President by a margin of sixty votes over her opp-op, Barbara Curtin, with 7 abstentions, and 42% of the student body voting.

The unopposed candidates for the offices of Student Doyy Vice President, Academic Affairs Commissioner and Student Representative to the Student Senate were all elected. Beth Driscoll received 393 yes votes, 9 no votes, and 39 abstentions for the position of Student Doyy Vice President. Pam Carey running for Academic Affairs Commissioner received 423 yes votes, 25 no votes, and 34 abstentions. Karen Weller received 445 yes votes, 19 no votes, and 39 abstentions for her seat on the Student Affairs Council.

The Office of the Alumni, the present Student Body President, stated that "I have every confidence in Beth's ability to be Student Body President in the coming year. I was, however, very disappointed in the voting turnout. For me it's hard to understand, especially knowing how much influence Saint Mary's students could have next year as Student Body President."

Miss Turnbull enters office May 1. Until that time she will maintain herself with the various offices and duties of the Student Body President.

We are planning to get a lot of people into Community Government. We will work together the Student Union and the Student Senate," she said.

We are planning to get a lot of people into Community Government, but as yet no definite plans as to what she will do in the government.

Barb Curtin, the other candidate for Student Body, plans to stay in student government, but has as yet no definite plans as to what she will do in the government.

Miss Curtin commented that the other six candidates for Student Body were all "great candidates. She said, "I am happy to report that the general announcement was made and that everyone was satisfied with the candidates."
Ryan and Kelly appointed

Student Body President elect Prof. McKenna announced last night the appointments of Breen, Commissioner and Pete Kelly as Community Relations Director. McKenna explained that he chose Ryan because "he knows off-campus people, is very energetic, and an extremely hard worker, as he proved in the campaign." He also stated that his choice of Kelly was based on the fact that "he's working in community relations now. He's done a good job."

Outlining his plans for the coming year, Ryan stated that he thinks "No one has the right to dictate where the student can live." He stated disapproval with the recent statement on off-campus housing by Dean of Students Fr. James Rehle and plans to discuss matters concerning O-C housing with Fr. Riehle in the near future. Another major concern of Ryan will be the apparent disregard for off-campus students. He plans to make more areas of the La Fortune Student Center available for use by O-C students.

One of the first things Ryan will do will be to get an accurate list of all off-campus students and their addresses in order to serve them more accurately. He feels that the "Academic community is limited to a selfish financial move..." YAF also raised questions concerning the plans the city has to replace the Notre Dame Fire Department and Post Office. They also questioned what advantages the move would offer Notre Dame.

The statement also accuses South Bend of not consulting the University before making plans for the annexation.

Frank McAleer, Public Relations Chairman of YAF, said the organization is currently making plans for demonstrations over the issue.

Heidecker new HPC chairman
by Dave Fromm

Rich Heidecker, Zalnn Hall President, was appointed chairman of the Hall Presidents Council at a meeting last night in the student center amphitheater. He will only complete the term of Phil Mc Kenna, Student President-elect, which should have normally have expired in October.

Ron Martinez will serve another year as HPC co-chairman when his present term expires in May. Martinez was the sole candidate for the office.

Heidecker viewed the HPC as both a body and a group of individuals. As a body, he said that the HPC needed to redefine itself.

"We must determine where the HPC fits into the 'scheme of things,'" he said. Individually, the presidents must cooperate more fully, especially in the co-ordination of activities.

SEX REVOLUTION is here!

Robert Hassenger

Robert Hassenger, a Notre Dame faculty member, was struck by a car driven by a Notre Dame student while walking across Notre Dame Avenue.

County Sheriff's Deputies immediately rushed him to St. Joseph's Hospital. He is presently listed in fair condition. Hassenger is a member of the student faculty in 1962 after receiving his doctorate from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Heidecker stated, "Halls are not only becoming more autonomous but also emerging as centers of academic and social life." Also, the HPC is the most representative body on campus. He therefore felt that the HPC needed to take a more definite stand by establishing specific policies and by making official opinions.

Both Heidecker and Martinez expressed a desire to work more closely with Social Commissioner Dave Vecchi and Student Services Commissioner Bob Pohl under the new administration. Both felt that the HPC should handle as much as possible of Homecoming and Mardi Gras next year.

McKenna, who will assume his new office tomorrow, said, "I enjoyed working with the body as HPC Chairman and would like to continue doing so as Student Body President."

Before McKenna turned the meeting over to Heidecker, he briefly outlined a room selection proposal drawn up by Rev. Edgar Whelen, CSC, Director for the Office of Student Residence.

Each hall's freshman quota has been increased except for Keenan's which will remain the same and Stanfort's which has been decreased. 180 freshmen have been apportioned in each of the new dorms. "Freshmen will compose close to 30% of the total occupancy in every hall," McKenna said.

Massey named chairman

Dr. James L. Massey, professor of electrical engineering at Notre Dame, has been elected chairman of the group on information theory of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. Massey joined the Notre Dame faculty in 1962 after receiving his doctorate from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Jackson hurt in first drill

Irish halfback Ernie Jackson, getting a shot at offensive halfback this year, twisted a knee Friday-the opening day of Notre Dame football. Due to inclement weather, coach Ara Parseghian ran his lids through the opening day of spring football drills for some 90 Notre Dame players.

Due to the weather, Jackson was running a pass pattern unaccomplished Friday when he sustained the injury. It is expected to keep him out a few days.

The Irish Eve

By Terry O'Neil, Observer sports editor

The clock is running out

Ten, nine, eight, seven, six...

The clock is running out on this columnist. Following the lead of Joel Connolly, I'm moving over to the Observer to the Scholarlic tomorrow. It has been somewhat thrilling, sometimes disappointing, always educational experience. Certainly it will be that way for the young reader long after "The Man" Pavlin, otherwise known as "Jeezeh," an Arts Letters sophomore from Wilminton, Del.

My thanks go to many people, especially to a hard-working staff - Paul Pete Braderle, Terry Shields and Greg Wingefeld. Only Wingefeld gets a guest spot in the ring, his other three return to the Observer staff next week.

It has been a fine year for athletics at Notre Dame. Here is this string of won-loss records since last fall.

Track: 7-2-1

Rugby-A: 5-2

Rugby-B: 6-1

Soccer: 5-3-1

Cross country: 2-2

Cross country (F): 3-0-2

Sailing: 60-5

Basketball: 20-7

Frosh basketball: 5-5

Indoor track: 2-0

Swimming: 6-6

Wrestling: 8-2-1

Fencing: 16-8

Hockey: 16-8-3

Total: 161-43-8

Admittedly, the figure is ballooned somewhat by the sailors, whose scoring system dictates that a victory is counted for each school beaten in the 10-15 boat regattas. But then it's up to us to see for yourself and that something is what makes him rather special.

Woody Woodward plays short stop for the Cincinnati Reds and although he has absolutely nothing to do with the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences he rates some kind of special award for being such a kind of special ballplayer.

"He's one baseball player who is due for an award." Woodward doesn't do. He also had 35 baseball hits and delivers the long ball, two things which Woodward never had either, but he has considered it. But he's unusual. That makes his unusual.

"That's the only way to do it," he says. "That's the only way to do it." Woodward said.

Perhaps the biggest booster Woody Woodward has around here is Dave Bristol and he's a good one to live by because he manages the Reds. Bristol says Woodward will be his regular shortstop.

The Cincinnati manager said it the first time this winter after he oaked a deal which sent Leo Cardenas, his previous regular shortstop, to Minnesota for pitcher Jim Merritt. Pat's statement meant a lot to Woodward who never before was told by anyone that he had a regular job.

"This is something I've been looking forward to all winter," he says about the prospect of playing regularly.

That doesn't stop him from helping Chaney all he can in any way he can, or from having helped Frank Duffy, another kid shortstop who was up earlier this spring with the Reds.

There are ballplayers who can't remember the last time they were in, much less the first few ever to help him but Woodward remembers both and also has a habit of remembering to be right there anytime someone needs his help. He sees nothing strange about that.

"That's the only way to do it," he says. "And the only way I know how.

Woody Woodward wouldn't, but there should be some kind of award for that.
