Involvement is good
urges student voice

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, spoke to a session of the 66th annual convention of the National Catholic Educational Association in Detroit last Tuesday concerning the recent structure changes in the university.

Father Hesburgh emphasized the need for a greater student voice in university affairs. "God bless these difficult, demanding revolutionary students who are the reason and often the despair of our educational existence. We find it difficult to live with these but without them there would be little reason for institutions," said Father Hesburgh.

"Their desire for involvement in the creation of education, in their education, their student government, their extra-curricular life, their concern that the University be a community in which they have a real and not a fictitious part..."

Father Hesburgh also stated that university presidents must make every effort to find meaningful ways to voice their opinions and work within the structure of the university. However, the students should be involved only to the extent that they are willing to assume responsibility, as well as to assert their rights. The results should ultimately be measured by their growth in maturity, insight and creativity and the basic standard should be educationally developmental.

"We must take some chances and have more faith in this younger generation and have more understanding of their concerns," said Father Hesburgh.

Moran heads Scholastic

William Callens has announced that Richard Moran has succeeded him as editor of the Scholastic. Moran took over his new position on April 1.

Other major appointments made by Moran are Phil Kakukowski as Executive Editor, Mike Hendrys as Managing Editor, Terry O'Neil as Sports Editor, and Dave DeCourshey as Copy Editor.

Also on the new Scholastic staff will be Associate Editors, Ray Serafin and Kathy Carbine, and Michael Patrick O'Connell as Art Director.

Moran stated that the major concerns for next year's Scholastic will be to "educate the entire student body by presenting an interpretation of the major issues facing both the University and the Nation."

New SCHOLASTIC editors, from left, Raymond Serafin, Kate Sheeran, Michael Patrick O'Connell, Richard Moran, Philip Kukulski and Kathleen Carbine.

Resolution passed

By Phil Bisco

The Student Life Council met last night in the Center for Continuing Education to discuss SLC elections, the Student Manpower Force on ROTC and On-Off Campus Housing.

Three resolutions concerning the SLC elections were passed. The first, submitted by Dean Crosson, noted the term of office for the present members will end on June 1st. Newly elected members will be invited to attend the remaining meetings as non-voting members of the Council.

The second resolution was introduced by Prof. Edward Murphy. It states that the three groups which make up the Council (administration, faculty, and student) will democratically elect their representatives to the Council in accordance with their own procedures.

The election campaign for the student members will start on April 11th. Any student member who wants to run will have to submit a petition with one hundred signatures. The date for handing in the petitions has not been decided yet. There will be six student openings on the Council (Phil McKenna and Fred Dickery are ex-officio members), one on Off-Campus (one member), north quad (two members), and main quad (three members).

The administration will retain two student openings and one student opening with the Catholic, who have taught with us and in other types of universities, say regarding the complete freedom and autonomy they found in our Catholic college or university. We will demand more freedom and autonomy. We seem to be tagged with student control no matter what we say or do."

Moran heads Scholastic

William Callens has announced that Richard Moran has succeeded him as editor of the Scholastic. Moran took over his new position on April 1.

Other major appointments made by Moran are Phil Kakukowski as Executive Editor, Mike Hendrys as Managing Editor, Terry O'Neil as Sports Editor, and Dave DeCourshey as Copy Editor.

Also on the new Scholastic staff will be Associate Editors, Ray Serafin and Kathy Carbine, and Michael Patrick O'Connell as Art Director.

Moran stated that the major concerns for next year's Scholastic will be to "educate the entire student body by presenting an interpretation of the major issues facing both the University and the Nation."

New SCHOLASTIC editors, from left, Raymond Serafin, Kate Sheeran, Michael Patrick O'Connell, Richard Moran, Philip Kukulski and Kathleen Carbine.

Resolution passed

By Phil Bisco

The Student Life Council met last night in the Center for Continuing Education to discuss SLC elections, the Student Manpower Force on ROTC and On-Off Campus Housing.

Three resolutions concerning the SLC elections were passed. The first, submitted by Dean Crosson, noted the term of office for the present members will end on June 1st. Newly elected members will be invited to attend the remaining meetings as non-voting members of the Council.

The second resolution was introduced by Prof. Edward Murphy. It states that the three groups which make up the Council (administration, faculty, and student) will democratically elect their representatives to the Council in accordance with their own procedures.

The election campaign for the student members will start on April 11th. Any student member who wants to run will have to submit a petition with one hundred signatures. The date for handing in the petitions has not been decided yet. There will be six student openings on the Council (Phil McKenna and Fred Dickery are ex-officio members), one on Off-Campus (one member), north quad (two members), and main quad (three members).

The administration will retain two student openings and one student opening with the Catholic, who have taught with us and in other types of universities, say regarding the complete freedom and autonomy they found in our Catholic college or university. We will demand more freedom and autonomy. We seem to be tagged with student control no matter what we say or do."

Moran heads Scholastic

William Callens has announced that Richard Moran has succeeded him as editor of the Scholastic. Moran took over his new position on April 1.

Other major appointments made by Moran are Phil Kakukowski as Executive Editor, Mike Hendrys as Managing Editor, Terry O'Neil as Sports Editor, and Dave DeCourshey as Copy Editor.

Also on the new Scholastic staff will be Associate Editors, Ray Serafin and Kathy Carbine, and Michael Patrick O'Connell as Art Director.

Moran stated that the major concerns for next year's Scholastic will be to "educate the entire student body by presenting an interpretation of the major issues facing both the University and the Nation."

New SCHOLASTIC editors, from left, Raymond Serafin, Kate Sheeran, Michael Patrick O'Connell, Richard Moran, Philip Kukulski and Kathleen Carbine.

Resolution passed

By Phil Bisco

The Student Life Council met last night in the Center for Continuing Education to discuss SLC elections, the Student Manpower Force on ROTC and On-Off Campus Housing.

Three resolutions concerning the SLC elections were passed. The first, submitted by Dean Crosson, noted the term of office for the present members will end on June 1st. Newly elected members will be invited to attend the remaining meetings as non-voting members of the Council.

The second resolution was introduced by Prof. Edward Murphy. It states that the three groups which make up the Council (administration, faculty, and student) will democratically elect their representatives to the Council in accordance with their own procedures.

The election campaign for the student members will start on April 11th. Any student member who wants to run will have to submit a petition with one hundred signatures. The date for handing in the petitions has not been decided yet. There will be six student openings on the Council (Phil McKenna and Fred Dickery are ex-officio members), one on Off-Campus (one member), north quad (two members), and main quad (three members).

The administration will retain two student openings and one student opening with the Catholic, who have taught with us and in other types of universities, say regarding the complete freedom and autonomy they found in our Catholic college or university. We will demand more freedom and autonomy. We seem to be tagged with student control no matter what we say or do."

Moran heads Scholastic

William Callens has announced that Richard Moran has succeeded him as editor of the Scholastic. Moran took over his new position on April 1.

Other major appointments made by Moran are Phil Kakukowski as Executive Editor, Mike Hendrys as Managing Editor, Terry O'Neil as Sports Editor, and Dave DeCourshey as Copy Editor.

Also on the new Scholastic staff will be Associate Editors, Ray Serafin and Kathy Carbine, and Michael Patrick O'Connell as Art Director.

Moran stated that the major concerns for next year's Scholastic will be to "educate the entire student body by presenting an interpretation of the major issues facing both the University and the Nation."

New SCHOLASTIC editors, from left, Raymond Serafin, Kate Sheeran, Michael Patrick O'Connell, Richard Moran, Philip Kukulski and Kathleen Carbine.
Faustus' opens Contemporary Arts Festival

The Contemporary Arts Festival opens Wednesday with the Minneapolis Firehouse Theater's production of "Faustus." The Firehouse troupe, the only experimental theater group between New York City and the West Coast, will perform "Faustus" at 8 p.m. in Stepan Center.

Undergraduate and Graduate Courses for Men and Women

The Festival's final event.

For career opportunities at Equitable, see your Placement Officer, or for information about Living Insurance, see The Man from Equitable.

4. Don't you think you ought to hold onto a car more than a month, Chet?

I just couldn't identify with that car. When you see a great buy coming your way, you have to grab it.

5. That's what I did yesterday—signed up for Living Insurance from Equitable. At my age the cost is low, and I got solid protection now that will continue to cover my family long after I get married. Plus a nice nest egg when I retire.

For information about Living Insurance, see The Man from Equitable. For career opportunities at Equitable, see your Placement Officer, or write: Lionel M. Stevenson, Manager, College Employment.

The Contemporary Arts Festival show in the Notre Dame Gallery, which opened March 30, will continue until April 30. Richard Raymond Alaske of the gallery will speak on the exhibit at 4 p.m. Thursday in the gallery.

Events are free, with the exception of "Faustus," the Redlich dance concert, "Cinema 69 films," and the Creative Associates concert for which tickets may be obtained at the door.

Moran states future policy (continued from page 1)

"We will attempt to increase the readability of the magazine by making it more diverse and by concentrating on information which is relevant to the students. This information will concentrate on such points as the philosophy of education at Notre Dame, national politics (the war in Vietnam and the black problem in America), and the involvement of the students in the community government of the University."

Moran also stated that next year's issues of the Scholaric will be more flexible than they have been in the past. "The basic format for the Scholaric will remain the same for the rest of this year, but certain sections of next year's magazine, such as campus and national news, will vary in length from one issue to another."

The first issue of the Scholaric which will be put out under the editorship of Moran is a course evaluation booklet. Moran stated that the booklet, to be put out at the end of April, will evaluate both the Arts and Letters courses which will be offered at Notre Dame next year and the entire curriculum at Saint Mary's. It will follow the same format as the course evaluation booklet which appeared last January.
James J. Clancy, legal counsel for the Citizens for Decent Literature, presented his group's arguments on Notre Dame's Pornography and Censorship Conference to a Law School-sponsored lecture last Friday. Clancy charged that many of these pornographic films are used by the far left to excite their revolutionary causes, complaining to the District Attorney last February.

As part of his lecture, Clancy exhibited a film which consisted of material one student called the "juvenile" portions of several films, including Flaming Creatures. Clancy said that one of the films in question was one of the films in question during the pornography conference. Clancy explained that all of the films on this reel had been declared obscene at the state and local levels, and were later reversed or refused review by the Supreme Court. The film, scored with the Battle Hymns of the Republic, identified Supreme Court justices who had voted against obscenity convictions and charged the high court with being "the root of this country's problem."

The movie strongly urged Congressional restraint of the Supreme Court in this area. Mr. Clancy said that he disapproved of the Pornography and Censorship Conference's format, calling it "seven days of revelry in a Mardi Gras atmosphere."

If you can say that Lady Godiva was an honest study of this problem, then you would have to be one of those who said that the Emperor had clothes on. After I saw the schedule of films and plays, and learned of the Mardi Gras atmosphere here, I just didn't want to participate. It just wasn't kosher," he added.

Clancy had been scheduled to speak here during the Conference. After the formal lecture, a question and answer session ensued with at least one person objecting to what he termed "criminal libel" against the Supreme Court in general, but most particularly, Justice Abe Fortas.

Clancy answered that the film never singled out a specific justice and added that the commentary had been taken from the testimony of a policeman at an obscenity trial.

Juniors select rooms

Student Accounts initiated the room selection process for the new dorms yesterday as Juniors fought their way to select their rooms. In the opinion of one frustrated Junior, "The strongest bull will get the best room."

A security cop stationed at the entrance of the Office of Student Accounts, allowing only one person at a time to enter the office. Many students who wanted to pick suites as a group were forced to leave the selection of the room up to one person.

Emerit Moore, Director of Student Accounts, stated that "selections were being made by scheduling a group of students with an average from 3.7 to 4.0 to appear at a certain hour and the choice of the room to be on a first come first serve basis."

"I foresee no problems in students getting the rooms they want because each floor in the new dorms are similar," Moore also stated.

Outside Moore's office students were frustrated with the complete disorder of the selections and thought that improvements should be made immediately. One Junior stated, "There is no order whatsoever. I came here at one o'clock to find myself at the end of the line. Instead of having all three students coming here at the same time, they should have scheduled times for each student and then call his name. In that way, there would be no problems of a student with a 3.7 picking before somebody with a 1.9. This is what is happening in most cases."

Another student said, "There are a lot of students butting in line and only permitting one student to go in at a time is just congesting matters. They should also have the plans for the new dorms out in the hall so we can find out what room we want and if that one has already been taken, then we can have an alternate room already selected."

Even the security cop who was manning the door stated, "This thing does not appear to be being run the right way, but that is none of my business, I only work here."

SLC discusses campus housing

(slct continues from page 1)

The Judicial Code Committee will make its recommendations at the SLC's first meeting of the fall semester.

The Council then proceeded to discuss a series of proposals submitted by Phil McKenna and an ad hoc committee formed at the SLC's last meeting to discuss on and off-campus housing policy. The proposals called for:

1. The March 26th directive of the Dean of Students concerning next year's housing policy to be invalidated.
2. No room selections be held before April 18th.
3. On-campus graduate housing be established if possible.

The proposals were defeated by a voice vote. It was the opinion of the Council that there was not enough time available to change the Housing policies already established by the University.
Vacation round-up

Lacrosse

Opening their 1969 season in a two-game road trip in California, the Irish found the weather in the West a change from the Irish's homeland in the East. On Friday afternoon, March 27, the men's lacrosse team faced the University of the Pacific, and lost the game, 10-9. Although the Irish fought hard, they could not overcome the experienced team of the Pacific. The game was filled with excitement and action, but the Irish could not come out on top.

On Saturday, March 28, the Irish faced off against the University of California at Berkeley. The game was a close one, with the Irish facing a tough challenge in their offense. Despite the initial struggle, the Irish were able to pull ahead in the second half, ultimately winning the game, 13-11. The victory was a testament to the Irish's resilience and determination.

Baseball

Clarence J. (Jake) Kline begins his 36th season as head coach of the Notre Dame baseball team. Kline, who has guided the Irish through many high points, has been a staple in the Irish baseball program. Under his leadership, the Irish have achieved numerous successes, including multiple conference titles and national rankings.

In the first game of the season, the Irish faced off against the University of San Francisco. The game was played at the Mission Bay Stadium, and the Irish were able to come out on top, winning 8-4. The game was a great start to the season for the Irish, and they will look to build on this success as they continue their campaign.

Track

Notre Dame's sensational rookies, along with some fine veterans, made a wholesale appearance in the track record book this past weekend. In Williamsburg, Virginia, the Irish were able to set several personal and team records, and they will be looking to build on this success as they continue their season.

Sunday, April 5

Baseball goals, while veteran Morin again displayed his All-American potential in a three-goal outburst. The Irish then flew, and finished their week with a 10-9 victory over the University of the Pacific in their second game of the series. The game was filled with excitement and action, and the Irish were able to come out on top.

On Saturday, April 4, the Irish faced off against the University of California at Berkeley. The game was a close one, with the Irish facing a tough challenge in their offense. Despite the initial struggle, the Irish were able to pull ahead in the second half, ultimately winning the game, 13-11. The victory was a testament to the Irish's resilience and determination.

Lacrosse

Clarence J. (Jake) Kline begins his 36th season as head coach of the Notre Dame base- ball team. Kline, who has guided the Irish through many high points, has been a staple in the Irish baseball program. Under his leadership, the Irish have achieved numerous successes, including multiple conference titles and national rankings.

In the first game of the season, the Irish faced off against the University of San Francisco. The game was played at the Mission Bay Stadium, and the Irish were able to come out on top, winning 8-4. The game was a great start to the season for the Irish, and they will look to build on this success as they continue their campaign.

Track

Notre Dame's sensational rookies, along with some fine veterans, made a wholesale appearance in the track record book this past weekend. In Williamsburg, Virginia, the Irish were able to set several personal and team records, and they will be looking to build on this success as they continue their season.

Sunday, April 5

Baseball

Clarence J. (Jake) Kline begins his 36th season as head coach of the Notre Dame base- ball team. Kline, who has guided the Irish through many high points, has been a staple in the Irish baseball program. Under his leadership, the Irish have achieved numerous successes, including multiple conference titles and national rankings.

In the first game of the season, the Irish faced off against the University of San Francisco. The game was played at the Mission Bay Stadium, and the Irish were able to come out on top, winning 8-4. The game was a great start to the season for the Irish, and they will look to build on this success as they continue their campaign.

Track

Notre Dame's sensational rookies, along with some fine veterans, made a wholesale appearance in the track record book this past weekend. In Williamsburg, Virginia, the Irish were able to set several personal and team records, and they will be looking to build on this success as they continue their season.

Sunday, April 5

Baseball

Clarence J. (Jake) Kline begins his 36th season as head coach of the Notre Dame base- ball team. Kline, who has guided the Irish through many high points, has been a staple in the Irish baseball program. Under his leadership, the Irish have achieved numerous successes, including multiple conference titles and national rankings.

In the first game of the season, the Irish faced off against the University of San Francisco. The game was played at the Mission Bay Stadium, and the Irish were able to come out on top, winning 8-4. The game was a great start to the season for the Irish, and they will look to build on this success as they continue their campaign.

Track

Notre Dame's sensational rookies, along with some fine veterans, made a wholesale appearance in the track record book this past weekend. In Williamsburg, Virginia, the Irish were able to set several personal and team records, and they will be looking to build on this success as they continue their season.

Sunday, April 5

Baseball

Clarence J. (Jake) Kline begins his 36th season as head coach of the Notre Dame base- ball team. Kline, who has guided the Irish through many high points, has been a staple in the Irish baseball program. Under his leadership, the Irish have achieved numerous successes, including multiple conference titles and national rankings.

In the first game of the season, the Irish faced off against the University of San Francisco. The game was played at the Mission Bay Stadium, and the Irish were able to come out on top, winning 8-4. The game was a great start to the season for the Irish, and they will look to build on this success as they continue their campaign.