Kertesz, the director of the Notre Dame Institute for International Studies, said that the major messages that emerge from NATO's military vacuum created in Europe were to be carefully eyed. Says Kertesz, "without American participation in European affairs there would be no balance between West Europe and the fuge Soviet empire."

"Although the United States did not seek the responsibility for the defense of Europe," concludes the writer, "the abandonment of this responsibility would seriously threaten United States security interests and world peace. Without NATO, West Europe would (most probably) become a huge power vacuum," and bring with it, the author implies, disastrous effects.

Lottery ticket sign-up tonight

Repetition for the lottery of the 300 N.D.-Purdue football tickets available for students will take place tonight from 7-9 P.M. in the Fiesta Lounge on the second floor of the Student Union. Announced Service Commissioner Bob Puhl yesterday.

According to Puhl the lottery results from the fact that many fewer tickets than anticipated were sent from Purdue for N.D. and SMC students.

Bids for the tickets will be accepted until the Tuesday night 9 o'clock deadline and will be entered into a computer rather than the traditional hat, says the commissioner. Bidders will be notified Thursday of the results.

Registered at the lottery can buy on a ticket alone or a ticket with the bus trip to Purdue. Winners will pay $7.00 for the game or $13.50 for the entire trip.

"The Student Life Council recommends to the President of the University that the publication of a student newspaper be assured of continued sponsorship by the University."

A mandate followed the declaration:

"The chairman of the Student Life Council is mandated to send copies of this bill to the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, the President of the University, the Vice President of the University, the Editors of all student publications, and the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee of Congress."

However, Rev. Charles J. McGarraghy, Vice President for Student Affairs, felt that the SLC shouldn't have even considered the bill since student publications fall under his jurisdiction.

McGarraghy wrote Juggler for Michael Patrick O'Connor early in the summer and said: "I have information from Father Hesburgh that they didn't fully resolve, that he thinks we should close the Juggler next year."

O'Connor then contacted Hesburgh and demanded an explanation.

The SLC met in its first session yesterday in the Center for Continuing Education. They discussed the future of the Juggler and elected a new chairman.

In a September 5th response, Hesburgh told O'Connor: "First of all, I would like to say that the discontinuation of the Juggler did not originate with me. You may wish to discuss this whole matter further with Father McGarraghy and that, of course, is perfectly legitimate, since it is his area.

Food director wants better understanding

by Timothy Treadon

Edward T. Price, the recently-appointed director of Notre Dame's food services, announced in an interview with the Observer that he will key his administration towards "trying to reach a better understanding with the student.

Price, a Cornell alumnus who served as a general manager of Central and Highland Residential Towers at Memphis State University, said that he was embarking on an aggressive campaign to design meals more amenable to Notre Dame's students.

To that end, he plans to install complete self-service in the Main Dining Hall. Although the plans were originally to go into effect September 12, technical problems will delay implementation until an indefinite date in the future.

Price promises that one of his prime objectives will be to improve the relations between the cafeteria staff and the students they serve.

"They have a lot to do with food service. We try to instill in them (the cafeteria staff) a desire to please the student."

He further suggested that staff workers generally respond favorably to student-generated ideas. "If they'll knock themselves out," he said, "if you say something nice to them."

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Nixon yesterday created a commission of labor, industry and government representatives to deal with strife and tension in the construction industry. He authorized it to intercede in any labor dispute likely to have "significant impact" on construction.

Nixon said the commission would not force compulsory arbitration or limit the right to strike or lockout. He explained in an executive order, it is "designed to develop voluntary procedures to be followed in the settlement of disputes under the terms of collective bargaining agreements in the construction industry involving the standard labor and management organizations."

The commission, named the Construction Industry Collective Bargaining Commission and held by Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, will be composed of 14 representatives from labor, four from industry, two from the public at large, plus Shultz and Director J. Curtis Counts of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Two week delay at printer's for photo book

The Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Freshman photograph book will be delivered at least two weeks to produce it, rather than the expected four weeks to publish than he anticipated. It will take him upwards of 6 months to produce it, rather than the expected 4 weeks. The book will be 200 pages long, and will be distributed at the dining halls sometime later in September.

Thirty one percent of the labor contract settlements in the construction industry so far this year were settled by strikes, he said, compared with 13 percent for industry as a whole.

"Labor management relations in the construction industry reflect numerous signs of strife and tension and the national interest requires an improvement in the procedures and performance of collective bargaining in this sector," the President said.

Nixon said the commission is authorized to intercede in any labor dispute in the construction industry wherever in its judgment the labor dispute is likely to have a significant impact on construction activity in a locality.

Also, he said, it is authorized to develop a voluntary procedure under which labor and management would observe a 30 day cooling off period before a strike or lockout is called. In addition, Nixon said, the commission may seek to mediate labor disputes or investigate them and recommend solutions.

AUSTIN, (UPI) - The delay, two from the industry, according to the printer, is that the book was more difficult to produce. It was delivered at least two weeks later than expected this year. New athletic league formed

CHICAGO (UPI) Five universities - Illinois and Indiana, including Purdue State and Ball State, announced yesterday the formation of a new intercollegiate athletic conference.

The formation of the league was announced jointly at a new conference here as the culmination of a study covering two years. Competition will begin next fall with a cross country meet. Other sports will be added to the schedule on a season except football, which will operate on a conference championship basis in 1974.

At Purdue:

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) Purdue's Boilermakers won a 20-10 victory over Ball State, yesterday and reviewed game big man on the team, 6-foot, hampered his bid to retain the position after a knee operation. The big man on the team, 6 foot, was joined by two other 1968 starters who also left the starting lineup this Saturday.

The conference also will include cooperative work in educational programs, academic credit exchange, cooperative research projects, faculty and student exchanges and legislative efforts.

Officials said the five schools are similar in size and have mutual interests in education programs and emphasis on graduate level development.

All five members agreed to provide athletic facilities comparable with those of the other in size and purpose in basketball.

The league hopes to decide on the 75-minute football scheduling begins next fall.

The joint announcement said the conference's "has been approved by each school's governing body and we look forward with enthusiasm to many years of competition."
