Father Hesburgh opened his second day back on campus yesterday by holding a three-hour meeting with student leaders in which he attempted to get some idea of the issues that they are concerned with this year. Out of the meeting came the fact that he felt that he was on a "year to year" basis with the Board of Trustees and that he would step down as University President if they felt they had somebody due that they wanted to do the job.

The meeting was organized early yesterday morning by Mr. Philip Faccenda, Special assistant to Father Hesburgh. Faccenda arranged the meeting through Student Union Director Dennis Clark who contacted other student leaders.

Attending the meeting in the Presidential Conference room on the second floor of the Administration Building, besides Hesburgh, Faccenda, and Clark were Student Body President Phil McKenna, 15 student leaders and six other vice-presidents and administrative assistants to the President.

Hesburgh returns

Hesburgh had only returned from Vietnam Tuesday. After spending eight hours in his office Tuesday night reading correspondence he had received during his leave, he came to the conclusion that the most important task facing him was dealing with a number of problems with which students were immediately concerned. He then asked Faccenda to call the meeting.

Student Body President Phil McKenna opened the session by stating that students felt frustrated over a number of issues that they are concerned with this year.

Dean of the Freshman Year of studies was his standing withtrustees

McFarland noted the difficulty in getting money to aid not only in recruiting and black scholarships. The entire problem he stated is the agenda for the meeting of the Alumni Senate.

Mr. James Frick, Vice-President of Public Relations and Development, commented that extensive efforts were being made by interested Alumni Clubs around the country in helping with recruiting and black scholarships.

This statement differs from the student senate request of last spring. The senate asked where the interest from the University's present endowment goes. He wanted to know what were the University's priorities and if funds that

Grace Tower construction hampers WSND

by Patrick Carney

Students assigned to the new high rise dorms are not the only ones inconvenienced by the speed of the construction. WSND-FM, which took to the air last night, had hoped to sign on this year with a transmitter in the top of Grace Tower but finally began its season with its old facilities. Hope for a new location before Christmas dimmed.

Rick McDonough, Station Manager of WSND, indicated that the station would have to move to the tower of O'Shaughnessy Hall but the transmitter will be moved during the holiday period. He would also like to increase the power from the present 10 watts to 1000 in order to reach a wider audience.

While the FM broadcasting is basically educationally and directed to the South Bend community, WSND-AM is more student-oriented. In fact, its programs are "aired" only via cables to order to reach a wider audience.

According to McDonough, the station will be moved during the holiday period. Over a hundred requests have come in for copies of this station's rock talk.

New calendar possible next year

Since 1963 the idea of a semester that would end before Christmas has been brought before the Faculty Senate from time to time. Until March of 1968 the proposal was not seriously considered due to satisfaction with the present system among the faculty, according to the Rev. John Walsh, Vice President of Academic Affairs. In March a committee, the Curriculum Committee, was established to study the advantages of the proposal.

At present the new semester plan is before the Curriculum Committee. Father Walsh feels that the committee is generally in favor of the plan and he expects it to be presented at the October meeting of the committee. If the plan is passed it will then be submitted to the Academic Council for approval.

A Senate subcommittee investigating alleged Army service club rackete, kickback and other shenanigans on three of the army's largest service clubs last week heard a threat to torture or kill informants, of bribes offered and, taken, and of a lavish $7000 night on the town in Munich paid for with a wad of $20 bills from a service club safe. For the second straight day, Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge was named repeatedly by witnesses telling about a group of sergeants who allegedly stole hundreds of thousands of dollars from 11 service clubs in Augsburg and Munich, Germany, during the mid 1960's.

New items for the current year include; besides the "camp" series already in progress, a documentary series similar to TV shows "60 Minutes" and "Frost on Tuesday. The station already has feature writers on its staff working on the content of these shows.

McDonough pointed out that adoption and continuation of any innovations depends heavily on student approval and resistance. Now that both divisions of the station are on the air, it is up to the students to determine to a certain extent the direction in which programming will move.

The unprecedented action came under a special statute giving legislators uncontestable power, whereby they may order an individual to jail without a trial. The Wisconsin legislature had never before cited a person for contempt.

The action, on a 71-24 vote, came hours after police entered a Catholic Church on the University of Wisconsin campus, where the militant priest from Milwaukee had sought sanctuary and arrested him. And four of his followers, were charged with disorderly conduct and taken to Dane County jail.

In another development, a Milwaukee County judge ordered Groppi to appear to determine the status of the priest’s probation on an old offense. The legal actions followed Monday’s 10 hour takeover of the assembly chambers at the state Capitol by demonstration-led by Groppi, who were protesting welfare cuts in the new state budget.

The contempt resolution was introduced by assemblyman F. James Sensenbrenner, R. Shorewood. A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Robert Warren said he believed the contempt citation would cause an immediate decision by any other charges pending against the priest. He said, however, the指望less attorneys for Groppi would attempt to delay the jail term pending an appeal to federal court on constitutional grounds.

The citation ordered the Dane County sheriff to jail Groppi “for a period of six months, or for the duration of the 1969 regular session, whichever is brief.”

Washington (UPI) - President Nixon announced yesterday that effective immediately, graduate students would not be drafted, during the course of the academic year. The White House said the decision would affect about 10,000 of all types of graduate students who until now, under certain conditions, could delay their induction only until the end of a semester.

In courses of graduate study, an interruption at the end of a term, other than the final term of the academic year, is costly to the students in terms of expense and academic progress, and therefore contrary to the national interest,” the National Security Council said in a “memorandum of advice” to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, who had declared repeatedly in the past that a draft lottery system would not work, told Congress Wednesday he had come around in supporting President Nixon’s proposals for random selection of inductees.

With two months left and reaching 19 years of age each year, Hershey said, “I am led to believe that now is the time for a random choice because we’re going to have more numbers than we can use.”

Hershey backed Nixon’s proposal to create a 12 month period of “prime draft vulnerability,” to fall generally some time in a registrant’s 19th or 20th year. Vulnerability now stretches from age 19 to 26. Hershey promised that 18 year old, “We should win that war in the next 15 minutes if we can win.”

Washington (UPI) - A two month moratorium on discretion proposed by Republicans was rejected by key Democrats in the Senate yesterday. Instead, they demanded a moratorium on the Vietnam War in Vietnam for the first time since President Nixon took office, Senate opponents of the Vietnam War defended their criticism with the fury they said they entertained on President Lyndon B. Johnson.

They turned down the suggestion of a 60 day moratorium proposed by Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott-Churchill, J. William Fulbright, D. (Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said, “I object to a policy that we should all keep quiet and hope for the best.”

The debate, Fulbright said that another 1,000 Americans would die in the next 60 days. He told the Senate, “rather than a moratorium on criticism which kills no one, we who criticize continue of the war, in fact, a moratorium on killing.”

In a brief debate of their own, Sen. John J. Tower, R. (Tex.), and Barry M. Goldwater, R. (Ariz.), agreed that a military victory was obtainable, running for the first time this year demands for escalation.

Tower said President Nixon should consider increased military pressure, including bombing of North Vietnam and Haiphong harbor, unless there are some kind of peace moves from the enemy.

Tulliver, declaring there is no such thing as a limited war, said, “We should win that war in the next 15 minutes if we can win.”

Scott told reporters that Nixon, at a meeting with more than a dozen Republican senators, Tuesday night said he would not preside over an American defeat in Vietnam.

The meeting

The surprise meeting yesterday between Father Hesburgh and the student community was a first step, we hope, toward seeing that Notre Dame avoids the violent confrontations between students and administrators which have plagued other campuses.

Such an attitude on the administrators' part is a good sign. For once they are beginning to realize that students are a truly viable force in both American society and the University and that they must be listened to. From the conversations that took place many administrators realized the need to consult students in areas that effect their lives and the direction of the University.

We hope that the lesson learned is soon applied. We hope that this is not the last such meeting. We hope that vigorous efforts are made to see that students are given their rightful role on bodies that help to determine University policy.

We hope that the openness in this forum is carried on throughout the year. We never want to see another Father Thornton-Phil Mc Kenna run-around nor another Juggler riot.

Many administrators too finally came to realize that students were properly heard and that they were not the enemy. Father Wilson yesterday talked honestly about the scope of his job and his commitment to Notre Dame.

The administration clearly outlined its goals for the future of the University and students were a factor. The question is - is this University composed of rational, intelligent progressive men? We hope so.

Many administrators too finally came to realize that students are a truly viable force in American society and the University, and for the first time since the war, the administration and students sat down to discuss the problems. The following is only a beginning, but it is a beginning.

The administrators who think its proper use is to quell students or students who think its use is the rightfull role on bodies that help to determine University policy.

The question is - is this University composed of rational, intelligent progressive men? We hope so.

For once, too, both sides laid their cards on the table about the objectives they sought. Many administrators too finally came to see the student side of the coin. Father Wilson who worried just as much about finding funds for a black studies program as students did.

We hope, however, that student allusions to violence and other overtly destructive actions are merely hollow statements. What this University does not need is the insanity that prevailed during the Chicago Convention, student riots and race riots in the streets.

Those members of the community who maintain that violence is necessary - be they teachers or students who think its use lay in producing change - should be told that violence is not what Notre Dame is all about.

The Halt President's Council did not pass the motion to strictly enforce curfew hours for all women for this coming weekend. A motion was realized by the body that this type of procedure, to attempt to eliminate sign-ins, was the incorrect one. There were two basic reasons for sign-ins by the Trustees: one to keep the Trustee's house - to keep of off entering the halls unescorted; two, and most important - to test the so called hall autonomy that many of the students demanded, to see if students can be responsible to govern themselves.

If the University does not pass the now proposed procedure, then it is a test for the halls and that if we do not press it all of the partial curfews will be taken away.

For once, Father Hesburgh talked about seeing the coin of his job and his commitment to Notre Dame.

We hope that all this talk now begins to lead to action. If students and administrators want to see another Father Thornton-Phil Mc Kenna run-around nor another Juggler riot.

Nonviolent disagreement

Editor:

Tim MacCarry had some excellent thoughts on nonviolence in his latest column, but made several statements which I feel must be challenged.

First, he states that nonviolence was one of the finest I have read and possibly closest to the truth. How can he think that MacCarry took one of Gandhi's thoughts on nonviolence and violence, and either he twisted the meaning or misinterpreted the message. Gandhi said, "It is better to lose your life for a just cause..." Gandhi did not specify that violence is necessarily of the physical type, but he did say "There is hope for a violent man to become nonviolent." I think this is what Gandhi meant to emphasize. It should be the goal of every person, for none of us is really born "nonviolent." It took years for Gandhi to achieve it and it took years more to teach the nonviolent life style to his followers.

Nonviolent when it is violent, if there is violence in our hearts, then to put on the look of nonviolence to cover impotence." Gandhi didn't specify that violence is necessarily of the physical type, but he did say "There is hope for a violent man to become nonviolent." I think this is what Gandhi meant to emphasize. It should be the goal of every person, for none of us is really born "nonviolent." It took years for Gandhi to achieve it and it took years more to teach the nonviolent life style to his followers.

Another thing - How does a white student reject his privileges as a white in a racist society? If he receives a draft deferment, as you and I do, and is an "aspiring functionary" (I'm not an "aspiring functionary") then he has chosen those privileges, as you have chosen them. If working youths are sent off to war, this is unfortunate and unjust, but they are there because you are here taking their place.

Joan Baez, the National Shakespeare Company, the Murray Louis Dance Company, and the Gary Burton Jazz Quartet will just be a few possibilities of the many who will be known entertainers who will be asked to come.

Dick Roddewig, Chairman of the CAP, stated that last year the Contemporary Arts Festival was held during a two week period. It was almost impossible for a student to attend all the performances if he wished to attend some of conflicts with other school activities.

The festival is divided into six main sessions: poetry, film, dance, drama, music, and art.

In the poetry series we are centering around a number of young, unknown American and British poets said Roddewig. Some of the possible poets who will appear include Ken Smith, Ted Hughes, Allen Tate, Carl Kizer, and Lawrence Ferlinghetti.

The film series will include a number of underground film screenings, lectures, and feature length films throughout the year. The film series began its program with an underground film festival on October 11, 12, and 17 in the engineering auditorium. A feature length film, probably the Yellow Submarine will also be shown on October 24-25.

The music series will present the Murray Louis Dance Company on February 26-28, and the Lukas Hoving Dance Company on April 24-26. The Murray Louis Dance Company will conduct lectures, seminars, and its own workshops in addition to their performances.

A rock concert may appear, although there has been no final decision on who will appear at the jazz concerts, or the rock concert. The Gary Burton Jazz Quartet, or the Modern Jazz Quartet are possibilities for the jazz concerts, while the Magic Sam Blues Band, Junior Wells, and Buddy Guy may perform at the blues concerts.

ND role in urban problems discussed

by Mark Nelson

Thomas Broden, Professor of Law and Coordinator of Urban Studies at Notre Dame, yesterday led a discussion in response to a letter from Father Hesburgh to the faculty concerning urban problems. The purpose of the discussion was to talk over and initiate action on the Urban Studies Program, which until now has been merely in the discussion stage. Broden said, "I see my responsibility now to move that discussion forward so that faculty and students who are interested in addressing urban problems may be assisted in doing so."

In Professor Broden's estimation, the program is thus far "doing very well, and drawing the interest of both the students and the administration."

The purpose of the Urban Studies Program is to give those students and members of the faculty interested, a chance to relate their own ideas to urban affairs, and to be helpful and supportive to students who wish to work in this area.

At this time, the institute is primarily concerned with research in the field. Although university wide, Professor Broden remarked that it is "essentially a graduate program, but due to the interest expressed by undergraduates, they cannot be overlooked."

Some of the urban problems that the program will deal with are housing, education, unemployment and underemployment, and racialism, and while no degrees will be given, the program will serve "to facilitate students abilities in their various fields," according to Mr. Broden.

As to the future of the Urban Studies Program, Mr. Broden said, "We're not likely to move very far this year. This is going to be a planning year."

However, Mr. Broden has been contacted by the Robert Kennedy Institute and The Student Urban Affairs Institute, both of which are national organizations dealing with urban affairs.

USSR missiles improve

WASHINGTON (UPI) U.S. intelligence experts believe that within about five years new Soviet multiple warhead missiles will be accurate to within a quarter mile, according to congressional testimony released yesterday.

This evaluation of Russia's SS9 missile, each armed with three 5 megaton warheads, was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee last July by Lt. Gen. A. D. Starbird, systems manager for the Safeguard antiballistic missile ABM system.

Testimony dealing with the accuracy of the MIRV, the American equivalent of the SS9, was censored from the public record. It has never been divulged by the Defense Department.
incurred debt reason for rise in bar fee

"Why do I have to pay seven dollars just to get into the Senior Bar when I can get into Frank’s for nothing?" "It only cost three dollars last year." "Where does all the money go?"

These are some of the questions and complaints being heard around campus concerning the Alumni Club, the on-campus bar owned and operated by the Senior class.

Senior class president Jack Crawford pointed out some of the reasons for the annual seven dollar membership fee and at the same time stressed some of the advantages a member has.

In order to obtain the bar, the class of 1970 paid the class of 1966 $3,300 for all operational rights. In addition the seniors made improvements totaling $1,400. To pay for this, the seniors were forced to borrow $5,000. The seven dollar membership fee goes to pay off this debt.

Indiana state law requires that all private clubs which serve liquor must charge at least a six dollar membership fee.

Crawford also pointed out that last year the bar was not open until Jan. 16. Members paid three dollars for half a year whereas now they pay only a little more than twice as much for a full year.

One of the chief advantages a member enjoys is that the price per drink at the Alumni Club is from ten to twenty percent lower than the price downtown.

Since the Senior Bar is a non-profit organization, any profits will be plowed back into the club in the form of entertainment. The seniors plan to hire musical groups to provide a nightclub atmosphere, and with a cover charge. They also plan to sponsor a nickel beer and dime drink nights for members only.

Langan to initiate history lectures

Thomas Langan, of the University of Toronto and one of the world’s foremost philosophers, will inaugurate a series of five lectures on the "Sew and Structure of History," at the St. Mary’s College campus this evening. The initial session, which will be held in the Moreau Hall Little Theater, will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Langan, a native of St. Louis, Missouri, received his A.B. degree with philosophy honors, summa cum laude, from St. Louis University in 1931. He was a teaching fellow at that institution during the 1931-32 school year while completing work on his M.A. degree. He subsequently served as a Fulbright fellow in France. While in France, Langan was awarded a P.H.D. degree from the Institut Catholique de Paris.

Interested in the United States, Langan was named instructor in philosophy and later became assistant professor at St. Louis University, a position he held until 1960. He was also associate director of the honors program from 1955-1960.

In 1960 Langan joined the faculty of Indiana University as acting professor of philosophy, was named associate professor in 1962 and professor in 1966. He was chairman of the university’s philosophy department from 1965-67.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING - Engineering or mechanical engineering assignments in steel plants, fabricating works, mining operations, and shipyards. Fuel and combustion department, supervision of production operations. Marine engineering assignments in shipbuilding department. Also: Sales or Research.

METALLURGICAL ENGINEERING - Metallurgical department of steel plants and manufacturing operations. Engineering and service divisions. Technical and supervisory positions in steelmaking departments and rolling mills. Also: Research or Sales.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS - Technical and supervisory positions in coke works, including production of by-products chemicals. Fuel and combustion departments, including responsibility for operation and maintenance of air and water pollution control equipment. Engineering and metallurgical departments. Steelmaking operations. Also: Research or Sales.

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING - Positions in steel plants, fabricating works, shipyards, and mines. Engineering and maintenance departments. Supervision of sales-making, rolling, manufacturing, and fabricating operations. Also: Sales.

CIVIL ENGINEERING - Fabricated Steel Construction Engineering, field erection, or works management. Steel plant, mine, or shipyard assignments in engineering, construction, and maintenance supervision of production operations. Sales Department assignments as line salesman or sales engineer (technical service to architects and engineers).

WHEN YOU SIGN UP be sure to pick up a copy of our booklet, "Careers with Bethlehem Steel and the Loop Course." It tells it like it is.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING - Steel plant, fabricating works, mining operations, and shipyard electrical engineering, construction, and maintenance departments. Technical and supervisory positions in large production operations involving sophisticated electrical and electronic equipment. Also: Research or Sales.

MINING ENGINEERING - Our Mining Department operates coal and iron ore mining operations and limestone quarries, many of which are among the most modern and efficient in the industry. This 10,000-man operation offers unlimited opportunities to mining engineers. Also: Research.

NAVAL ARCHITECTS AND MARINE ENGINEERS - Graduates are urged to inquire about opportunities in our Shipbuilding Department, including the Central Technical Division, our design and engineering organization. Also: Traffic.

OTHER TECHNICAL DEGREES - Every year we recruit university graduates with technical degrees other than those listed above. Students enrolled in such curricula are encouraged to sign up for an interview.

ACCOUNTANTS - Graduates in accounting or business administration (24 hours of accounting are preferred) are recruited for training for supervisory assignments in our 3,000-man Accounting Department.

OTHER NON-TECHNICAL DEGREES - Graduates with degrees in liberal arts, business, and the humanities are invited to discuss opportunities in the Sales Department. Some non-technical graduates may be chosen to fill openings in steel plant operations and other departments.
The third proposal states that the SBP and the President of the Graduate Student Association be granted full voting and speaking privileges on the Executive Committee of the Board and that the SBP and the President of the Afro-American Society be granted full voting and speaking privileges on the Educational and Student Affairs Committee. McKenna said that he included the President of the Afro-American Society in the proposal because, "I think I am capable of representing everyone in the university except the black students. By the nature of society in the university now, it is impossible for me to fully represent the black man. I consider the needs of black students to be among the priorities of the university at this time."

The fourth proposal asks that the Investments Committee of the Board publish a statement of philosophy regarding their policies in investing student funds; that a list of all companies in which the University invests be published, by November 1, 1969.

The fifth proposal states that the investments of the University be published in a report to be made public and that the amount and location of each individual investment be made public.

However, no mention was made of a philosophy of investment or the amount of each investment. The amount not included Student Government officials stated because of the volume of funds in the stock market that the disclosure might have.

The philosophy of investment was included according to McKenna to find out if there are any moral connections to their investing or if their sole idea in how much money will be returned by a particular investment. I am interested in finding out whether the University is making money in corporations built on the backs of people and/or the war effort.

The fifth proposal states that the SBP be informed immediately as to whether the University holds any investments in any of the following companies: Dow Chemical, Boeing Aircraft, Standard Oil, Gulf Oil, and Douglas Aircraft.

McKenna commented that he thought Dow, Boeing, and Douglas because of "their cooperation with the military" of Standard and Gulf oil companies by reason of "their interests in South America and Africa that serve a function of furthering the exploitation of people of color."

The sixth proposal reads that any matters concerning the financial status of the University be accessible to the Student Body President upon his request. McKenna said that what he wanted in this instance was a "sobering break down of the budget."

The seventh proposal states that the Educational and Student Affairs Committee meet with student leaders and the student body (especially the Afro-American Society) in the near future. Depending on the availability of the committee members, meetings will be held in late October or early November, or early January 1970, late February, and April.
