CPA plans to picket GE interviews

by Jim Holsinger

The Notre Dame-St. Mary’s Coalition for Political Action (CPA) is planning a protest of the Notre Dame Placement Bureau on November 11 to protest campus representatives of General Electric Corporation.

The General Electric Corporation is in the process of negotiating with the local union on a contract. The CPA has expressed concern that the company’s actions may be in violation of political neutrality legislation.

The CPA has stated that it plans to picket the Placement Bureau during the interviews, which are scheduled to take place on November 11. The picketing will be a non-violent protest to raise awareness about the company’s actions and to support the local union.

High school students to attend Conference

by Buz Craven

Asa expert Dr. Roger Hilsman attempted to solve the puzzle of Asia for an overflow audience in the library auditorium last night. Hilsman, a professor of government at Yale University, turned his excellent lecturing talent on four students from the Notre Dame campus.

China figures into the future of Asia, the role of nationalism in the emerging nations of Southeast Asia, the implications of the Viet Nam problem, and his opinion of the Kennedy Institute, will serve as Student Chairman Mroz, has set up an interview schedule for the students. The interviews will take place from November 14 to November 16.

High school students are expected to arrive in the morning of the 14th and to leave the afternoon of the 16th. The expenses of the Conference are to be supported by the students themselves.

On the Notre Dame campus for the November 15-16 weekend, the Kennedy Institute, a well-known psychiatrist, will be the featured opening-night speaker at the “Language, Symbol, Reality” symposium to begin this Friday at St. Mary’s. The symposium is sponsored by the St. Mary’s 125th Anniversary Committee and is designed to introduce and integrate the ideas of symbols from people of quite diverse traditions and disciplines.

High school students from across the country will arrive to participate in discussions, panel discussions, and a banquet. The Kennedy Institute, as well as Dr. Chris Anderson, Department of Psychology, and Paul David Crabb of Princeton University (2:00 p.m.), will be featured speakers.

Featured speakers will be: Dr. Chris Anderson, Department of Psychology, on “Being a Person”, on Friday evening, November 14; Hon. John Brademas, U.S. Representative for Indiana, on “The Cry for Leadership”.

Father John McGrath, President of St. Mary’s College, will welcome the participants Friday afternoon, at 1:30 in Carroll Hall. The Wednesday evening banquet will be given by John Brademas, Third District Indianan Congressman and a member of the St. Mary’s Board of Trustees.

S.I. Hayakawa will be a featured speaker at the “Language, Symbol, Reality” symposium to begin this Friday at St. Mary’s. The symposium is sponsored by the St. Mary’s 125th Anniversary Committee and is designed to introduce and integrate the ideas of symbols from people of quite diverse traditions and disciplines.

High school students from across the country will arrive to participate in discussions, panel discussions, and a banquet. The Kennedy Institute, as well as Dr. Chris Anderson, Department of Psychology, and Paul David Crabb of Princeton University (2:00 p.m.), will be featured speakers.

Featured speakers will be: Dr. Chris Anderson, Department of Psychology, on “Being a Person”, on Friday evening, November 14; Hon. John Brademas, U.S. Representative for Indiana, on “The Cry for Leadership”.

Father John McGrath, President of St. Mary’s College, will welcome the participants Friday afternoon, at 1:30 in Carroll Hall. The Wednesday evening banquet will be given by John Brademas, Third District Indianan Congressman and a member of the St. Mary’s Board of Trustees.

S.I. Hayakawa will speak as a representative from the General Semantics discipline but the title of his speech is still unannounced. His address will be at 8:30 p.m. Also speaking on Friday will be Mayer Schapiro of Columbia University (2:00 p.m.), Paul David Crabb of Princeton University (4:00 p.m) as well as Karl Menninger, M.D., head of the Menninger Foundation and well-known psychiatrist, who will be highlighted speaker on Saturday. His talk on “Words as Weapons” will be held at 11:00 a.m. Other Saturday speakers will be: Dr. Michael Butor (9:00 a.m.), Paul Ricouer (7:30 p.m.), and Roman Jakobson (11:45 a.m.).

Sunday activities will feature the summarization speech at 9:30 of all of the speakers. The banquet will be delivered by Ronald Wells of Yale University.

All lectures will be in Carroll Hall in the Madeleva Memorial Building.
Advisory Council strongly favors co-education

by John DiCola

The Arts and Letters Advisory Council met with five Notre Dame and five St. Mary's students last Thursday evening to discuss co-education of the two schools. Although the idea of co-education was treated somewhat philosophically, the Council and the students also discussed the problems which would be created by co-education. The consensus of the entire body was very favorable toward co-education.

John Zimmerman, one of the students who participated in the meeting and also a member of the Co-education Co-ordinating Committee, stated that the Council did not hold on to the concept of a male university, but they felt that the merits of co-education outweighed the merits of non-co-education at the University.

Zimmerman pointed out that this favorable attitude was not expected of the Council by the students. The Advisors are deans of the Arts and Letters College and selected Arts and Letters alumni. They form a recommending body to their departments and to the university.

Zimmerman said, "Students have the idea that alumni are opposed to all change in the university. I anticipate a recommendation from the Council strongly favoring co-education."

The Advisory Council was also informed of a test case concerning consolidation of the sociology departments now on the agenda of the Co-education Co-ordinating Committee.

In the area of Alumni relations, the Council would like St. Mary's girls to join Notre Dame students in speaking tours for the promotion of co-education to the Notre Dame alumni.

The university committee working toward co-education is the Co-education Co-ordinating Committee. In a meeting last October 14, the tri-partite committee made plans to consolidate registration of ND and SMC students. This would be on a limited basis in January and full-scale for the 1970-71 school year.

The committee gave its recommendation for a new computer to handle the combined registration and also the future combined grading and class assignments to Mr. Leo Corbaci, assistant Vice-president and Registrar, to take to the Vice-Presidents Council.

John Zimmerman pointed out that there are some problems in the present system of co-exchange. He said that "many St. Mary's girls are eating lunch in the Huddle when they could be getting free meals in the Notre Dame dining halls." He stated that co-ex students both at St. Mary's and Notre Dame may obtain a meal pass at their registrar's office, which will permit them to eat lunch at the opposite campus.

TWA put a price on your head that even your parents might agree to pay.

We're out to get you home for the holidays. Fast.

Which is something that your parents will probably enjoy too.

Something else they'll enjoy is our fares for students. On a standby basis, you'll get 40% off regular coach fares.

Which doesn't mean you'll be flying second class or anything like that.

You still get all the great food and TWA features like movies and stereo music.* But it won't cost you like it does everyone else.

And TWA flies to nearly all the major cities in the U.S., plus we have a special youth fare to Hawaii.

With all that going for you, there's only one excuse for not going home for the holidays. Getting your hair cut.

*By Inflight Motion Pictures Inc. on transcontinental non-stops.

Commenting on the future of co-education at Notre Dame, Zimmerman said, "There doesn't seem to be too much of a commitment of this university to co-education. Things are moving at the pace of a crippled snail. I envision that the students on the committee will have to act as devil's advocates to move more quickly and with more definite direction."

Dress board now hearing cases

The members of the SMC dress board have been chosen and are now hearing cases. They are Sr. Mercia, administrative representative, Miss Janet McNamara, faculty representative, and Mary Osmsnki, senior Sociology major and student representative.

Students should contact committee chairman Mary Osmsnki at either Box 1101 or Ext. 4720.

TWA Our million dollar bonus. It's working.
Kurtz slates speakers for Indian Conference

by Bro. Pat Carney

Feeling that the American Indian has long been a neglected minority in the country, Bill Kurtz announced plans for the forthcoming Conference on the Problems and Culture of the American Indian. Scheduled for January 5-9, the affair will feature speakers from both the official government agencies dealing with the problem and individual Indians who will present their side of the problem. But cultural activities will also be included to complement the talks.

Former Vice-President Hubert Humphrey has given a tentative commitment to appear. The organizers are also contacting Barry Goldwater who has a large Indian constituency and who has indicated on the Senate floor that he was interested in helping them.

From the entertainment world, Steve McQueen and Buffy St. Marie have been invited. The former has done a good bit of work in this area and Miss St. Marie, of Indian ancestry herself, has been approached about the possibility of giving a benefit concert.

Although he is not as famous as the people mentioned above, Mr. Ned Hatathli's appearance may be the most significant in light of the project which is growing from the conference.

Mr. Hatathli is the President of the Navaho Community College in Rough Rock, Arizona. This is the first college in the country run by Indians, for Indians, on Indian land. An outgrowth of the Conference has been the setting up of a tentative exchange program between NCIC and Notre Dame. Mr. Kurtz sees the program as costing about one million dollars over a ten year period. He envisions an exchange of both faculty and students with emphasis on Law and Ph.D. students. These two branches are singled out to prepare the young Indians to be able to defend their treaty rights and to prepare future teachers.

Since the University cannot afford to fund such a program, money is being sought from outside sources. When Fr. Hesburgh was approached with the idea, he agreed to help secure money from both the Rockefeller Foundation and the federal government.

On the cultural side of the Conference, former Notre Dame Professor Peter Michelson has agreed to appear and recite from his recently published Indian anthology. Together with Professor St. Croix they will present a program on the Indian in American Literature.

When asked about the progress to date, Kurtz commented that "it has been very successful—people have been more than cooperative." He cites the enthusiasm on campus for a Work Force to do construction and tutorial work at the Navaho Community College as a good example of the involvement of the students in this project.

Looking towards the actual Conference, he pointed out that by inviting both nationally prominent speakers and between three and five Navaho and Sioux Indians, the group has set the groundwork for what should be a very meaningful dialogue and experience for all who attend.
Security reform

The attack Wednesday night on Notre Dame split-end Tom Gatewood is another in a series of violent incidents at Notre Dame this year. We think that it is about time that they stopped—or were stopped.

Among the list are the attack of a Barat girl late at night near La Fortune, the attempted robbery and shooting of a Notre Dame student on his way to St. Mary’s, the sexual molestation of a St. Mary’s girl in La Fortune Student Center, as well as a number of other fights, shootings, and incidents of vandalism around campus. Some of these incidents have racial overtones which makes dealing with them a delicate situation. But delicate or not it is about time that something started to do something.

The first thing that the university should do is to begin a full scale shake up of the security department on campus. It is hard to expect security policemen to be everywhere at the same time. The whole process is a vicious circle. People start to talk and wonder—and then a lot of people start to get afraid—and fear is never a good thing. It has no place at a university.

One of the Trustees mentioned casually to a rector that it was worth it to him to hire Pinkerton Guards with his own money to see that the parietals hours rule was enforced. He said that it was worth it to assure the continued good reputation of Notre Dame. What about the continued good of the place? If any of the Trustees have any money to throw around for guards how about helping out Mr. Pears and Father Richie with security?

In other regards, we do not feel that the university should feel the need to do baby sit for any juvenile delinquent. There was a backlash a few years ago because universities were expelling people. It wasn’t especially because they were expelling them, but because of the means that they were using. Some of the practices then did not provide for equitable judicial proceedings.

We have a new judicial system now. It is supposed to be structured justly. There should be no reason to structure students if they don’t understand what a university is all about.

Dave Stauffer

Rigor mortis

It wasn’t too long ago that my friend died. The exact date isn’t known because my friend wasn’t recorded in the telephone book. But if he doesn’t know then who possibly could? Actually, I suspect the date, time, and place could easily be specified by my friend if he would only think about it seriously. But there is little he cares to take seriously, most of all death. Besides, if he is dead he sees no way of letting anyone else know the specifics and why he cares to let anyone else in the world know if he isn’t in the world with them?

Maybe I could establish something concerning my friend’s death. It may disturb him that I don’t let his strictly personal matter be public—what could he know of it and what does he care anyway (since he is no longer in this world (see above))?

To begin, I imagine what my tombstone would read: born—Pittsburgh, Pa., June 12, 1953; died—five or six feet above Notre Dame, Ind., 4/5/66, Nov. 3, 1969. May he rest without piece in peace (although the spellings may be reversed (although my friend wouldn’t want it that way (although he may agree it would be better in the end))).

The birth of my friend’s death can probably be traced back to his birth in 1953 (but not 1949). However, it was not until the spring of 1969 that he realized the inevitability of his death. It was in the spring of 1969 he read an excerpt from an anti-war pamphlet written in 1917 by Randolph Bourne. This reasoning had a great impact upon his life, and an even greater impact on his death.

Through a rather comic interpretation of this pamphlet, my friend discovered that he could not kill. He wondered if it perhaps was only a simple case of cowardice; that he would rationalize his cowardice by claiming conscientious and course rhetorical objection to those human (inhuman) activities to which one is generally expected to object conscientiously. But problems arose. He discovered that he was also a coward when asked to join “We won’t go” clubs, and their counterparts. He approved of radical activities, talked constantly of joining them, but never took that decisive step to action. To the very day he died he could notkill—this alone accounts for 50% of that which killed him.

It was also in the spring of 1969 that my friend turned twenty years old. This event was significant only in that it necessarily entailed the fact that he was no longer 19. And this event did not become significant until several weeks and again several days before his death, although even then its significance was merely symbolic (but nonetheless significant).

You see, he had heard that an individual passes his sexual prime when he reaches his twentieth birthday. This had only been heresy; but at certain points in his life my friend had an amazing ability to blow insignificant ramblings into statements with more moral and philosophical inferences than words. In any event, it surely can’t bother him now; and even if it could it shouldn’t and therefore won’t.

By the way, it was also in the spring of 1969 that Phil Ochs announced his death. My friend was affected not only by the dead man’s songs, but also by his previous songs sung while alive (while Ochs was alive that is). Well, my friend too for that matter.

Now to consider his final days: In early October my friend had a serious illness, and he soon realized he was much older. Even if the illness could be cured it was a reality of it. He firmly convinced himself that this was indeed the dawn of Another age, and that he indeed was and would be a part of it. But he took a turn for the worse (or should I say better) in the last days of his life; and his demean was fast. This especially was too bad because of the travelling he had planned to do (he had always desired weekend trips). Now that I look back on it, I see that he was very inexperienced, if you know what I want, in everything (that counts) except death. Ironically, it was death he experienced too often.
In memoriam: Thomas Ehrbar

By Marilyn Becker

Dear readers,

Tom Ehrbar is a person you can depend on. Even though this is Tommy's last page as Feature Editor, he still runs true to form by running off for the night and leaving this five inch hole in his page. We, the Thursday night staff, salute Tommy here and now in an effort to fill in the whole.

Phil Bosco
Night Editor

Son House is coming

On Tuesday, November 11, 1969, there will be a lecture-concert on American Blues in Washington Hall. The lecture is on the evolution of the Blues by Dick Waterman in which original tape recordings on the history of blues will be used. The concert is by Son House, the "last and greatest of the Delta blues" singers.

By Marilyn Becker

Now is your chance. You're big, turned 22, and there are four clues that McCartney is dead and three that Disney is alive. In memoriam: Thomas Ehrbar.

Son House is coming

We all live in a...

Hell, admit it. You like cartoons. You hated your father for something like eight years because he made you mow the lawn on Saturday morning and you missed Heckle and Jeckle and Mighty Mouse. Now is your chance. You're big, turned on, educated, all that. People say you shouldn't like cartoons because those trucks are for kids. All you gotta do is pull a little Aristotilian (pronounced Austra­lian) trickery and voila, the cartoon becomes a socially relevant animated fantasy.

What did you see when you were there? Nothing that doesn't show. There are deep metaphysical problems in Yellow Submarine (that is what we're talking about you know). There are human feeling, and psychedelic colored whistles, and relevancy and several of the worst puns the English language is capable of. There is even a fable you can be sure bending intently over the stack-up of his obstinately blank four-column spread. No longer will his silky switch of blonde curls queer gently as he cries over his typewriter, or hurts his column half-written into the wastebasket. Alternatively, he hursts his column half-written into the typing room with this terse dedication to the typewriter: "Improvise an end!"

No longer will the layout staff puzzle valiantly over forty-two inches of copy, comparing it repeatedly, in hysterical laughter, with the sixteen inches of blank space Tommy has left for it on his page.

No longer will this same layout staff debate Tommy's ingenious innovations: diagonal columns, instead of the usual up-and-down ones, purple ink instead of the usual black, articles that begin at the end instead of the other way around. Tommy once suggested that an article be cut up, and its paragraphs scattered all over the page, to be connected by the reader with little arrows. The layout staff loved him for that one.

No longer will Tommy, notoriously a generous soul, buy Cokes (with or without cyclamate, as you wish) for the entire staff. In fact, as we remember it, never did Tommy, notoriously a generous soul, never did Tommy buy anything for the entire staff... In fact, never did Tommy buy anything for the entire staff...

Son House is coming

Son House is coming

Allegeny Airlines helps you beat the waiting game...

And saves you up to 33½%.

Allegeny's Young Adult Card lets you fly whenever you want to (even holidays), and still get advance reservations.

If you're between 12 and 22, what are you waiting for? Stop by any Allegeny ticket counter and purchase your Young Adult Card.

Allegeny Air System
We have a lot more going for you
Freshman counseling innovations revealed

Two major new innovations in the Freshmen Counseling were revealed yesterday in an interview with Dean Burke, Dean of the Freshman Year of Studies. The first change enlists the aid of five outstanding sophomore students in the counseling program. One of these students comes into the counseling office each day from 1:45 — 4:45 pm. When a freshman comes to Dean Burke with a problem, the sophomore is present to offer any suggestions that he may have. This program started in September and Dean Burke says that it has proven quite helpful. The sophomores, with their personal experience of student problems are often able to understand a student’s problem and offer practical solutions easier than is a faculty member or, even a trained counselor.

The second innovation involves the alumni living in St. Joe’s County. The program, as planned, would have several hundred freshmen each become paired with an alumni family. Dean Burke does not consider this to be true counseling, but rather as an attempt to develop friendship between Notre Dame students and the South Bend area. He maintains that the only reason this program uses freshmen is because a freshman will have four years to develop an amiable relationship with the family he meets. This idea would, however, help to lessen a good deal of the alienation and homesickness a freshman encounters when he finds himself away from home for a long period of time.

Mr. Jerry Kerns is the alumnus who is helping Dean Burke set up this project. A good response is expected from both the alumni and freshmen.

gsu given room, funds

Both office space and funds have been made available to the Graduate Student Union this week as the group begins a study of the Teaching Assistant Situation.

Jim King, G.S.U. Chairman, announced yesterday that the university has given his organization office space in Room 407 of the Administration Building. In addition, the group has secured a loan from the university to get it started financially until it is able to fund itself.

Among those who have been instrumental in obtaining these advances was Fr. Botzum, Associate Dean of the Graduate School. Fr. Botzum was recently appointed Advisor to the G.S.U.

In related news, King also announced his appointment of a fact finding committee to look into the teaching assistant situation. He wishes them to find comparisons with other universities as well as financial situations within the departments at Notre Dame.

After an initial meeting today, this group plans to meet with Fr. Wahh some time next week.

The regular meeting of the G.S.U. will take place at noon today in the Library Auditorium. King stressed that all graduate students are welcome to attend. Elected delegates from each department will be expected, of course, but the meetings are open to all graduate students.

Dean George D. Bruch of the Villanova University of Law will be conducting interviews for prospective students on Monday, November 10th in Room 154 of the Center for Continuing Education. Sign up for an appointment outside Room 101 O’Shaughnessy.

The experimental “second theater” wants anybody with something to give

University Arts Council
Box 467
or 8004

the Squire

HAIRSTYLING for MEN
• Razor Cutting • Hair Coloring
Continental Styling
Afternoons — Mon. & Sat.
Call for STUDENT SPECIAL
125 E. Colfax Ave., So. Bend
Phone 234-0737

The burgers are bigger at 501 DIXIEWAY NORTH,
SOUTH BEND

Burger King, Home of the Whopper.
The Observer

Letters to the Editor

Circle game

Editor:
The last Saturday I visited your university for a date with a boy whom I had met from there. We went to a restaurant that night he suggested we hitchhike, saying it was ok, everyone did it. I felt hesitant, but agreed in sport. We walked to the "circle" where others really were doing the same thing. There was a group of three guys there already so we got in line behind them and waited, one discouraging car after another. When finally one stopped I thought, "The next one will be our turn." I looked for the three guys to get in, but no, one turned to us and said, "Go ahead." Wow! It was, it is...well, you know, it's wonderful.

Please continue to be a community of such dignity. And Thanks,

Kathy Remil
Northwestern University

Mass protest

Editor:
During the Oct. 15 Moratorium, elements of the Notre Dame community made mass at the library as part of the Moratorium expression. In the Thursday edition of the Observer, it was stated that plans were being made for a possible mass in front of the Pentagon. It appears that use of the celebration of the mass is becoming quite a popular form of protest. Various events such as draft card burning are becoming quite a popular form of protest. An instrument of Christianity to the most immediate ends of unscrupulous

Robert Souder
504 Flanner

More on Observer

Dear Paul,

Your article, "Integrity Phases Out," discussed much of the movie A Man for All Seasons. Saint Thomas More was quite content not to say anything against the government. What More was against, was the taking of an oath to affirm something in which he did not believe.

Earlier in the movie than the scene you describe, Margaret More asked Thomas not to sign anything which might be interpreted as his support of King Henry's marriage. In particular, she did not want her father to sign a new document to which the King was ordering his subjects to put their name. Thomas replied, "...the animals are to serve God in their innocence, but man is to serve God in all the complexity of his mind." This meant that as long as he could get around the problem legally, he would sign. This was the same document which he later found impossible to endorse and still retain his integrity.

This, of course, is extending the point to the historical end. However, the principle is blatantly obvious in this tactic used by our well-meaning fellow students. The proper perspective of the celebration of the mass must be kept in mind. God is not necessarily on the side of anyone who feels that his cause is just due to the fact that the worship of God is a 'part' of this cause.

Robert Souder
504 Flanner

Vote of disapproval

Editor:
Your editorial entitled "Vote of Conscience.",... concerning Mr. Nixon's speech of November 3, was disheartening to me in many respects, but let me concentrate on one of your statements, "Our acknowledged motive for being there—the free determination of the Vietnam population would have voted for the Communist Ho Chi Minh. . ." This gentleman, is an outrageous falsehood, and it strikes at the heart of the problem. You, as President Nixon, have ignored the history of this war and greatly distorted our role in it.

I would strongly suggest that you read the Geneva Agreements signed by the French and the Vietnamese in July of 1954, especially noting the provisions therein for "general elections" which will bring about the unification of Vietnam." (Article 14A), Study of the "Interim Reports of the International Commission for Supervision and Control in Vietnam" will make it sufficiently clear who was responsible for obstructing the elections which were to take place in 1956. As the Commission (composed equally of representatives of Canada, India, and Poland) unanimously agreed in 1956, "While the Commission has experienced difficulties in North Vietnam, the major part of its difficulties has arisen in South Vietnam." (Sixth Interim Report).

It is of further interest to note that the book Mandate for Change President Eisenhower

stated that: "I have never talked or corresponded with a person knowledgeable in Indochinese affairs who did not agree that had elections been held possibly 80 percent of the population would have voted for the

Communist Ho Chi Minh..."

Sure, the U.S. wants "free" elections, as long as we are sure that we can win them.

There are of course many other relevant details, notably the history of the first Indochinese War (1946-1954) and the nature of the U.S.-supported Dem regime. Vietnam will be happy to discuss these matters further with the authors of the "Vote of Conscience..." editorial at any time.

Sincerely,

Bill Lesyna, '70

ATTENTION SMC:

BACHELORS SIX OPENS SATURDAY 7:00 PM

OBSERVER Staff Meeting

For all personnel

Today at 4:30

WIG SALE

100% HUMAN HAIR
*EUROPEAN QUALITY
Made de Paris France

FACTORY — 1 YEAR GUARANTEE
Buy Direct from Factory!

3 DAYS ONLY!
NOV. 6 thru NOV. 9
NOV. 10
OVER $20.00
COUPON

WIGS

WIGS

WIGS

WIGS

FALLS

FALLS

CASCADES

CUSTOMER SERVICE

2414 South Michigan St.
Phone 287-4606

South Bend

WE GIVE

WASH & WEAR

[SYNTHETIC PRECURED STRETCHABLE]

Coiffures

By Phyllis

HOURS: Thurs. Sat.
10:00-6:00
Sunday 11:00-4:00

BOOK NOW

ATTN:

PAGE 7
Balanced Panthers greatly improved

The Observer

FRI DAY, NOVEM BE R 7, 1969

No change at Indiana

BLOOMINGT on, Ind. (UP)—Indiana football coach John Pont said Thursday there was no change in the status of eleven Negro athletes dropped from the team by the coach for missing two straight practices. Pont, who met with the eleven earlier in the day said their grievances were not racial. The meeting resulted in a complete review of the situation and the presentation of grievances by the athletes. Pont said the grievances were "personal and not racial," but refused to release the lists.

He told the six underclassmen of the group that those who still wanted to play football at Indiana could report for spring practice or during the fall. The status of the scholarships reviewed each year was still uncertain.

Those underclassmen are Greg Harvey, Larry Highbaugh, Gordon May, Bob Fernoll, Don Stilos and Greg Thaxton.

A lull in the fighting

Somehow, this week is sort of a lull in the heated action of conference races. There are several big clashes, but Ohio State, Texas, Arizona, and Notre Dame have lounges while UCLA and Penn State are not scheduled. I could find only 23 games close enough to pick this week and even some of those more stretching it.

Notre Dame over Pitt—by 27. This is a better Panther squad than their last, but that's not saying much.

Northwestern over Minnesota—by 3. Northwestern are nowhere near as tiny as either the Green Wave or the Midshipmen. Their defense front four averages 6-0, 232 lbs. and their offensive line goes 225 lbs. per man. The Pitt defense has given up 238 yards total offense almost equally divided between rushing and passing. And about Ralph Cindas. DePauw, says his "would not trade that boy for any linebacker I've seen."

DePauw hopes that change his mind this week, especially if ND linebacker Bob Olson and his wrecking crew continue to dominate state opposing offenses. The Irish defense will be key for their third straight shutout. They've allowed only 92 rushing yards per game, 2.4 yards per run. And they've held enemy passers to a meager .383 completion percentage.

That big offensive show by Notre Dame showed ND's total offense average to 456.9 yards per game. Joe Theisman didn't have much passing exercise last week but he sports a .572 completion percentage and 1,078 yards for the season is a .572 completion percentage.

Somehow, this week is sort of a lull in the heated action of conference races. There are several big clashes, but Ohio State, Texas, Arizona, and Notre Dame have lounges while UCLA and Penn State are not scheduled. I could find only 23 games close enough to pick this week and even some of those more stretching it. Notre Dame over Pitt—by 27. This is a better Panther squad than their last, but that's not saying much.

Northwestern over Minnesota—by 3. Northwestern are nowhere near as tiny as either the Green Wave or the Midshipmen. Their defense front four averages 6-0, 232 lbs. and their offensive line goes 225 lbs. per man. The Pitt defense has given up 238 yards total offense almost equally divided between rushing and passing. And about Ralph Cindas. DePauw, says his "would not trade that boy for any linebacker I've seen."

DePauw hopes that change his mind this week, especially if ND linebacker Bob Olson and his wrecking crew continue to dominate state opposing offenses. The Irish defense will be key for their third straight shutout. They've allowed only 92 rushing yards per game, 2.4 yards per run. And they've held enemy passers to a meager .383 completion percentage.

That big offensive show by Notre Dame showed ND's total offense average to 456.9 yards per game. Joe Theisman didn't have much passing exercise last week but he sports a .572 completion percentage and 1,078 yards for the season is a .572 completion percentage.

Somehow, this week is sort of a lull in the heated action of conference races. There are several big clashes, but Ohio State, Texas, Arizona, and Notre Dame have lounges while UCLA and Penn State are not scheduled. I could find only 23 games close enough to pick this week and even some of those more stretching it. Notre Dame over Pitt—by 27. This is a better Panther squad than their last, but that's not saying much.

Northwestern over Minnesota—by 3. Northwestern are nowhere near as tiny as either the Green Wave or the Midshipmen. Their defense front four averages 6-0, 232 lbs. and their offensive line goes 225 lbs. per man. The Pitt defense has given up 238 yards total offense almost equally divided between rushing and passing. And about Ralph Cindas. DePauw, says his "would not trade that boy for any linebacker I've seen."

DePauw hopes that change his mind this week, especially if ND linebacker Bob Olson and his wrecking crew continue to dominate state opposing offenses. The Irish defense will be key for their third straight shutout. They've allowed only 92 rushing yards per game, 2.4 yards per run. And they've held enemy passers to a meager .383 completion percentage.

That big offensive show by Notre Dame showed ND's total offense average to 456.9 yards per game. Joe Theisman didn't have much passing exercise last week but he sports a .572 completion percentage and 1,078 yards for the season is a .572 completion percentage.

Somehow, this week is sort of a lull in the heated action of conference races. There are several big clashes, but Ohio State, Texas, Arizona, and Notre Dame have lounges while UCLA and Penn State are not scheduled. I could find only 23 games close enough to pick this week and even some of those more stretching it. Notre Dame over Pitt—by 27. This is a better Panther squad than their last, but that's not saying much.

Northwestern over Minnesota—by 3. Northwestern are nowhere near as tiny as either the Green Wave or the Midshipmen. Their defense front four averages 6-0, 232 lbs. and their offensive line goes 225 lbs. per man. The Pitt defense has given up 238 yards total offense almost equally divided between rushing and passing. And about Ralph Cindas. DePauw, says his "would not trade that boy for any linebacker I've seen."

DePauw hopes that change his mind this week, especially if ND linebacker Bob Olson and his wrecking crew continue to dominate state opposing offenses. The Irish defense will be key for their third straight shutout. They've allowed only 92 rushing yards per game, 2.4 yards per run. And they've held enemy passers to a meager .383 completion percentage.

That big offensive show by Notre Dame showed ND's total offense average to 456.9 yards per game. Joe Theisman didn't have much passing exercise last week but he sports a .572 completion percentage and 1,078 yards for the season is a .572 completion percentage.

Somehow, this week is sort of a lull in the heated action of conference races. There are several big clashes, but Ohio State, Texas, Arizona, and Notre Dame have lounges while UCLA and Penn State are not scheduled. I could find only 23 games close enough to pick this week and even some of those more stretching it. Notre Dame over Pitt—by 27. This is a better Panther squad than their last, but that's not saying much.

Northwestern over Minnesota—by 3. Northwestern are nowhere near as tiny as either the Green Wave or the Midshipmen. Their defense front four averages 6-0, 232 lbs. and their offensive line goes 225 lbs. per man. The Pitt defense has given up 238 yards total offense almost equally divided between rushing and passing. And about Ralph Cindas. DePauw, says his "would not trade that boy for any linebacker I've seen."

DePauw hopes that change his mind this week, especially if ND linebacker Bob Olson and his wrecking crew continue to dominate state opposing offenses. The Irish defense will be key for their third straight shutout. They've allowed only 92 rushing yards per game, 2.4 yards per run. And they've held enemy passers to a meager .383 completion percentage.

That big offensive show by Notre Dame showed ND's total offense average to 456.9 yards per game. Joe Theisman didn't have much passing exercise last week but he sports a .572 completion percentage and 1,078 yards for the season is a .572 completion percentage.