Facility Senate submits proposals

By Steve Hoffman and Shawn Hill

The Facility Senate met last evening in extended session primarily for the purpose of considering and deciding resolutions proposed by the Senate committee on Student Affairs and on Administration of the University concerning the place and the function the Placement Bureau has in the University

After exhaustive debate and compromise upon the relative merits of the proposals of each committe, the Senate passed for recommendation ten resolutions for the function of the Placement Bureau.

The first recommendation states that the Placement Bureau be retained as an activity under the direction of the Vice President for Student Affairs. It shall be under the final authority of the University Senate. The Senate felt that the abolition of the Placement Bureau is directed in a fashion responsive to the changing nature of the student and to the standards of the University.

The second recommendation asks that the Placement Bureau move immediately and energetically to stimulate more active and productive students to apply for employment or graduate study, and by organizations directed primarily toward the alleviation of the general quality of life in our community.

The Faculty Senate's third proposal begins by stating that the "University must maintain its position as a forum for the free exchange of ideas. To this end, it must insist that spokesmen from both sides of employment issues can be heard in a reasonable and civilized manner. Therefore, it is recommended that the Placement Bureau seek out and seek the co-operation of firms and organizations." For this purpose.

Furthermore, the Senate asks that any organization recruiting on campus answer any questions that may be submitted by student faculty committee. If the organization fails to satisfactorily answer the questions posed by the committee, funds may be withheld. This will help all available research and publication of findings by the committee. The last provision of this recommendation requests that "funds should be provided for implementing Burtchaell's proposal to create an independent agency to assume the social contributions of firms and organizations."

Pat McCutchen, LeMans senator. Despite the opposition's argument, a majority of senators, notably from the freshman and sophomore classes, voted for the resolution with a 19-10 vote. Departing from the underclass bloc was Irish McNamara, sophomore senator.

In a hotly-contested debate about voting procedures, the motion was defeated because it did not pass with a 2/3 majority. Brought up again after voting on a bill allowing academic discussion in the student assembly, Tracey asked for a re-vote.

"The chair has not acted as a chair, but as prime debater," she accused. "It is time for underclass votes to be considered. With the absence of Irish McNamara, there was a possibility of passing the motion."

Wild riot in Seattle protests against the conspiracy trial

SEATTLE (UPI)—A thousand demonstrators charged the U.S. courthouse Tuesday in a protest against the Chicago riot conspiracy trial. They battled police, threw rocks through windows and lobbed tear gas into the building.

Police closed in on the screaming protestors from two sides, swinging clubs and making arrests.

Police burst from behind the locked courthouse doors as the mob ran across the lawn toward the building and other officers who had been waiting across the street in the Seattle police public service.

In a club swinging melee a number of demonstrators were beaten and arrested, and policemen were hit by rocks and by pink and blue paint hurled by the demonstrators.

A hand grenade with the pin intact was thrown through a window. A hand grenade with the pin intact was thrown through a window.

At least two women were among those who were arrested and included in the demonstration were about a dozen African black revolutionaries of the Kare Krishna religious sect.

The tear gas hurled into the court house sent employees running to the upper floors where they bathed their eyes with wet towels.

After the initial charge the demonstration broke up and at least one large group set off toward the center of the financial district, breaking windows.

possibility of consolidating their placement activities into a single office, or at least of establishing reciprocity in the use of facilities and services."

A seventh recommendation, stipulating that the Placement Bureau be required to prepare brochures summarizing its services, procedures, and policies for distribution to all members of the University community, including alumni, passed uncontested.

The eighth recommendation provides for the decision of the administrative officers of the Placement Bureau concerning the implementation of the ten Senate recommendations. According to this provision, such evaluation would be made available to the Senate before August 1, 1970.

The recommendation receiving the most debate and disagreement dealt with the question of whether or not organizations which deny the possibility of open discussion should be permitted to recruit on campus with the permission of the Placement Bureau.

The Senate Student Affairs Committee endorsed the earlier SLC contention that such organizations, expressly the CIA, be prohibited from such recruiting. They reasoned that the CIA, in rejecting discussion and witholding information, should not be allowed use of campus facilities.

However, a number of Senators, spearheaded by the

His first resolution, which called for the right of official protest on the part of the student body, was approved by the Faculty Senate without special parliamentary machinery, was favorably referred to the Senate Executive Committee.

His second resolution, also passed, recommended that graduate students submit access to a personal dossier of letters of recommendation and similar academic credentials when they should have need for them in such situations as returning from service or temporary employment to enter graduate school or some other occupation.

Fear conspiracy jury may be hung

CHICAGO (UPI)—A government source said Tuesday chances of a clear cut prosecution victory by pleading as a federal court jury deliberated the fate of the “Chicago Seven.”

Hope to start program soon

The Deserts for Breakfast Program, which was originally proposed in October by Dr. Robert E. Prof. Charles McCarthy, is almost ready for implementation. The plans, which are currently being finalized, will be presented to the administration later this week. The food for the breakfasts will be purchased with funds provided by the other students running the program. Hopefully it will be distributed to all the area food banks and community action centers. At first, organizers claim, they may not be able to distribute meals to all five centers, but they venture that with time this will improve.

If the program is accepted by the administration, organizers hope it will begin by the beginning of March. A plea was issued by the organizers to those 2400 students, who wish to serve the meals, to begin enrolling at the present time so that they can be registered for the course.

Since the beginning of the year The Observer has been pushing for improvements in the Security Department. Obviously there is much that needs to be improved. Our efforts we feel were influential in bringing about the various investigations conducted by both the Student Life Council and the Student Senate and also the investigation that was performed by a consulting firm at the request of the Vice-President's Council.

The consulting firm's report is in and since the contents remain to be released we can only say that we would hope that the University implements those suggestions that would best be able to insure that there is adequate protection of life and property at Notre Dame. We know that Mr. Pears has already taken steps towards improving the protection of the parking lots. Much remains to be done though and as evidenced by the fact that last week the aerials were snapped off of no less than 10 cars which were parked together in D-1.

It is obvious that some of the vandalism that occurs is the result of non-students who come to campus with malicious intent or from organized rings of thieves who pilfer the parking lots. Some of the vandalism however can be attributed to a source closer to home. Notre Dame students. The elimination of that part of the problem rests more on the shoulders of Notre Dame men than on the Security Department.

Some of the vandalism that is done in the parking lots can be attributed to students who are looking for kicks when they come back drunk at night after parties or a round or two at the local bars. The new arm on the shuttle bus gate on route 31 has been broken over twenty times since it was installed according to the driver. We feel that it is the responsibility of students to insure that the minority of students who do not respect the area also respect the rules by which they are allowed to visit the campus.

We realize that there is much that the Security forces can be criticized for. At the same time we feel that the students must make some attempt to acknowledge the job that the current under-staffed department is doing. The SLC investigation into the Security Department brought out one startling fact. The Security Department has been trying to recruit better and more competent personnel but often loses new recruits because of the abuse that many of them take from students while they are on duty.

A middle aged recruit who was spending his first night on a beat walking around campus took so much verbal abuse from students that he never joined the force. Often the guards at the gate have to put up with the arrogance of a minority of students who feel that they are better than the rest of the student body and a right to drive on campus. Some stop for a second at the gate, make a wise crack or two, and then gun through, while others don't stop at all.

The abuses just mentioned are only a part of the product of minority segment of the student body. We feel, however, that the majority just can't sit by and tolerate it. If we want a fine Security force we must go halfway. We don't think that that is too much to ask.
Luchino Visconti, one of the great directors of all time, has crowned his brilliant career with one of the most widely acclaimed films of recent years, "The Damned," which opened with which huge response and met the high expectations perfectly.

The flash of cameras is all around him. It is his birthday, and he is not quite so sure of himself. He is, after all, 70 years old.

"The Damned," one of the most anticipated films of the year, has been released in Italy, and it is already a huge success. The film has been praised for its intense portrayal of fascism and its powerful depiction of the human cost of such a regime.

"The Damned," a film about the rise of fascism in Italy, has been directed by Luchino Visconti, one of the greatest directors of the 20th century.

The film was released in Italy on February 18, 1970, and has been met with critical acclaim. It tells the story of the rise of fascism in Italy, and has been praised for its powerful portrayal of the human cost of such a regime.

The film has received numerous awards, including the Venice Film Festival's Golden Lion Award, and has been nominated for several Academy Awards.

It has been said that Visconti is a realist, and that his films are a reflection of the world around him. "The Damned" is no exception, and it has been praised for its intense portrayal of fascism and its powerful depiction of the human cost of such a regime.

Visconti has said that he wanted to make a film about fascism because he felt it was important to show the world what it was like. He believed that by making a film about fascism, he could help prevent it from happening again.

Visconti is a lifelong friend of the Italian writer Pietro Nenni, who was a member of the Communist Party and worked to fight fascism in Italy. Nenni has said that Visconti's film is an important contribution to the fight against fascism.

"The Damned" is a film that should be seen by everyone, says Visconti. It is a film about the past, but it is also a film about the present and the future. It is a film about the human cost of fascism, and it is a film about hope.

Visconti has said that he hopes that "The Damned" will help to prevent fascism from returning to Italy. He believes that the film is a powerful tool for understanding the past, and that it is a powerful tool for fighting against the future.

"Napalm a Lamb"

Editor:

Your February 16 issue carried the plan of a group of students who intend to "napalm a lamb" in front of the Administration building. It seems that burning a lamb would be a much less expensive act which they are supposed to be performing. Since the burning of a lamb is a lesser evil than the burning of a human being, it is understandable that they should be allowed to perform this act since the government is allowed to perform even greater holocausts. Let them not, however, assume they are performing this rite to enrich the Christian community around them. They seem merely to be rationalizing a totally un-Christian act by playing the role of gods and dealing out their own kind of destructive justice. It seems it is not the conscience of the Notre Dame student that has been desensitized but rather the conscience of those few students and "their complicity with the forces of death."

of Lambs and Men"

Editor:

At this writing, a group of students intend to go ahead with their plan to napalm a lamb on Wednesday, Feb. 18 at 12:30 M.

After reading about this atrocity, I find that my feelings are twofold. My initial reactions were those of shock, disbelief, and anger at the idiotic, inhumane and futile aspects of this plan of action. These reactions were followed by a horrible feeling of frustration brought about by my trying to understand what these students are trying to prove while at the same time keeping in mind the reality of human nature. Obviously, this is not the first seemingly senseless killing of innocent people, courtesy of the Vietnam conflict. Apparently, they hope to bring about the moment of realization that there have been other such events in the immediate past as well.

"Humanitarians?"

Editor:

I would like to condemn the method which is proposed to be used tomorrow in opposition to the war. The madness of napalming any living creature is certainly appalling and grotesque. I would like to point to these sadistically perverted "humanitarians" that I will do everything in my power to thwart their attempts at this kind of example. A great number of other students have also expressed this opinion. We will not allow, under any circumstances, this type of insane action to take place on the Notre Dame community or any other community over which we have some control. We feel that you should urge these perverts to pursue a course of action such as being a living creature? Are you so insane as to assume that the horrifying death by chemical warfare of this innocent lamb will alleviate the same method being instilled in you? If they are so wise to see something else on campus burns or suffocates then I suggest they go to the nearest fire station in their nearest town or, if they are really urgent, consider self-mortification in an effort to enlist the sympathy of others. RARA is the only approach to the solution of the problem.

As much as violence is appalling, we shall use it in order to combat the sick mechanism of the minds of the opponents of those in "complicity with the forces of death." "He laid down his life for us..."- St. Paul S. Hamilton

"Government Merger"

Editor:

As concerned members of the Notre Dame Alumni community, we are sympathetic to the plight of the St. Mary's students. We believe that no one student or government. During the past few years has an insignificant role. It has been obvious. We believe that this state of affairs exists not through any fault of the individual students. Rather, the present situation is a result of the failure of the university communities, with St. Mary's forced to play a secondary role. To rectify this rapidly degenerating condition, we feel that the actions of both communities, in the spirit of co-operation, should follow the rules of the United States Government and other campus communities. Such a move could help but extend the feeling of cooperation and would certainly improve St. Mary's students with a strong, functioning, growing body. The administrative problems of such a proposal can be solved through the initiative of the initiative can just be taken.

Sincerely,

Mark Zimmerman

"Engineer Draft"" Editor:

There has been much furor and petty squabbling over the office of a Placement Office on campus, especially in light of its use by such immoral organizations as the CIA, the CIA. Our community has been rent asunder by this controversy and we feel that we have come up with a viable solution which is placed before the rest of the community.

The present system of recruitment is outdated and costly to the company and is forced to pay outrageous starting salaries to unproven engineers. This situation is analogous to the one before which the existence of the NFL and the AFL. We propose a system similar to that used by football today. All engineers who wish to work in industry will submit their names and a short resume including a transcript of a course which they have taken. If they are so wise to see that..."

By Don Ruane

Mardi Gras Chairman Dave Dewan released a rough approximation of profits from this year’s Mardi Gras, early last night. He estimated that five to six thousand dollars will be donated to charity.

Only approximations of the profits were available to Dewan at the time because the Finance Committee had not completed its report. He expects this report to be finished in two weeks, and the final figures released shortly afterwards.

Dewan revealed that of the four major parts of the pre-Lenten festivities, (kick-off, concert, raffle, and cordonal), the raffle was the most profitable. It grossed approximately $20,812 and incurred about $12,378 in expenses. This leaves a rough profit of $8,500. The carnival produced a net profit of $7,500 after grossing $13,711 and expenses of $5,964. Dewan made a point of the fact that not all expenses have been paid and this could lower the net profits of each, by one to two thousand dollars. Figures for the concert were not available. Along with a loss of $100 from the Kickoff party, the Mardi Gras Committee spent about $530 on incidentals.

Dewan thinks that the raffle "should and can be continued." When asked whether Dewan was concerned that the "radical restructuring with an arrangement that would substantially eliminate expenses," Dewan suggested that this arrangement be with businesses and industry in the South Bend community. The raffle provides the biggest cash flow for the Mardi Gras, but unfortunately most of the cash flows into expenses for the entire Mardi Gras. This raffle would be a "guaranteed success" if everyone sold all their chances said Dewan.

A special committee will determine which charity or charities will receive the Mardi Gras profits. Dewan added that the donation will be approximately nine to fourteen thousand dollars less than the committee originally hoped. He attributed this to the need for the Student Union to pay off the debts from the year and this substantial losses incurred in recent years.

Mardi Gras Chairman Dave Dewan estimated Mardi Gras profits at between five and six thousand dollars.

Doctor Spock will talk on 'Dissent and Social Change'

Doctor Benjamin Spock, the world’s best known pediatrician and an outspoken critic of the draft and U.S. Vietnam policy, will speak on Thursday, February 19, at 8:00 p.m. in Stepchen Center. This address entitled "Dissent and Social Change" is sponsored by the Student Union Academic Commission and open to the public. Approaching a crucial stage in their budget, the Commission has found it necessary to charge an admission fee of fifty cents per person.

Educated at Phillips Academy and Yale, where he rowed on the crew which won the 1934 Olympic games in Paris, Dr. Spock received his M.D. from Columbia University in 1929. He practiced pediatrics in New York City for many years with a special interest in its psychological aspects before working on the staff of the Rochester (N.Y.) Infant Jesus Hospital and the Mayo Clinic.

His Baby and Child Care first published in 1946 has sold over twenty-million copies and has been translated into twenty-six languages. Dr. Spock has written for magazines and is the author of three other books. The latest, published last month, is entitled Infant and Inequality: Our Personal and Political Behavior.

Doctor Spock has served as Co-Chairman of the National Committee for a Same Nuclear Policy and the National Conference for New Politics. In January of 1968, he was charged along with four other men of conscripting to count young men to evade the draft and along with three others, was found guilty in a subsequent trial. They appealed the court’s verdict and on July 11, 1969, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit reversed Spock's conviction and that of one other defendant, ordering new trials for the other two.

Which One is the Paulist?

It's easy to tell a Paulist. Just talk with him.

The first thing you notice is that he's contemporary. He lives today, but plans tomorrow with the experience and knowledge of yesterday. That's a Paulist characteristic; the ability to move with the times and meet the challenges of each era.

A Paulist is also the modulator of his age; he tries to bring together the extremes of today's world and the Church, the liberal and the moderates, the eternal and the temporal.

Next, he is very much an individual. He sets him apart immediately. He has his own particular talents and abilities, and he is given freedom to use them. If you are interested in finding out more about the Paulist difference in the priesthood, ask for our brochure and a copy of our recent Renewal Chapter Guidelines.

NEW YORK (UPI) - Joe Frazier holds the whole boxing world by the tail that destroyed Jimmy Ellis. But now what can be done to put the affair to rest? Can Angelo Dundee pay off on the bet that Frazier won't knock out that 30-year-old Philadelphia man? Dundee's destructive left slammed Ellis to the canvas twice Monday night and left Jimmy so dazed that he had to be carried out to come back for the fifth round. Frazier's right was on the brain of the fighter from the time the blow was delivered. Ellis was strapped from Cassius Clay Clay 32 months ago, boxing has an 'unbreakable' champion.

"If the fight were a reinactment of that bigmouth Clay's sparring partner once, held the World Boxing Association version of the heavyweight title as a genuine threat to the cruiser champion. The other half of the title, that cruiser champion, New York, belonged to Frazier. Suddenly, in the third round, it became clear to everybody that one that Frazier would soon own the whole title.

With only a minute gone in the fourth, Ellis was hit with another left, and he crumpled to the ropes. Ellis tried to escape, circling to his right, but still Frazier pursued. There was less than a minute left in the round when Frazier caught Ellis again, and then he stood there smiling as Ellis flailed back.

"I caught him with the hardest right he's ever thrown in his life in that round," Frazier said, "and I just laughed and told him 'you done threw your best shot, and now it's my turn.' Then I came across with that left hook.

"With little over two minutes gone in the fourth, Ellis was hit with another left, and he crumpled to the ropes. Frazier stood there in his own corner not moving for three seconds and then slowly rose to his feet at eight.

"But after that first knockdown, it was all over for Jimmy Ellis, a 30-year-old from Philadelphia. He was just as dazed as he was before, and it was too much for him. He refused to let his fighter come back out and cover up. He thought he had the fight won.

"Why?" Dundee asked, repeating a question put to him. "Because he was doing his thing, that's why. The other guy was on top of him and it was too much one way. Look at Jimmy now! I have a fighter, not a cripple. That's the way I work.

"I told him to get up. He was down twice, I thought once."

"I'm not going to criticize him. He took me to the championship. Frazier did more than anyone else, and I'm not going to criticize him. He took me to the championship. Frazier did more than anyone else, and I'm not going to criticize him. He took me to the championship.

"I tested him with 20 questions," Dundee said. "I was banging him on the knees, throwing cold water, rubbing the back of his head, every thing. I asked him 'Why aren't you boxing?' He didn't give me an answer I liked. So I just said, 'Forget it!'

"What did he say?

"He said 'No, no, no, no.' I said, 'No, yeh, yeh, yeh.'"

"And so the fight was terminated and despite Jimmy Ellis' pronouncement that he would be glad to. No. If ever a fighter spiritually personified that movie now showing, "The Best Shot, and now it's my turn."
