Irish break jinx, smash Bobcats

THE OBSERVER

Tracey attacks abstention flyers

by Ann Conway

St. Mary's SBP hopeful Ann Tracey last night discussed her reaction to flyers recently circulated on campus advising students to abstain in the vote for Student Body President and Vice President.

"These flyers express a valid point," according to Miss Tracey. "They question the whole idea of the deadness of the platforms of the two candidates in this election. They ask for progressiveness in the student government, but unfortunately offer no constructive suggestions.

The flyers which appeared on campus Saturday state "a careful look at the platforms reveals that neither contains any concrete, viable, or necessary proposals." This Miss Tracey took issue with stating that "in our platform we spoke of the direction of the Student Government and St. Mary's as a whole. We can't promise what can't be fulfilled. We can only manage ideas but leave these areas open to improvement.

We try to realize the pitfalls of the Student government as it now exists, and we do offer specific programs such as the restructuring of this government than improving the lines of communication between the government and the individual students.

The flyers offer as an alternative to the election of the SBP that the students obtain and call for a "moratorium of one year on Student Government activities. During this time any important issues could be dealt with by means of 'ad hoc' committees." Miss Tracey stated that this would be a big mistake. "In November, we won the Student Government and nothing was done during the time the election was suspended. The consideration of the flyers that there is something wrong with Student government is valid, but suspension is not the answer.

Speaking at the open forum later that evening, Miss Tracey stated, "Structure with thought is one way of attaining a community. By abolidishing the structure, in this case student government, through the abstention movement, you destroy the means of attaining a community. Evolution is progress brought from within. It cannot be dictated by a few for the majority."

Turning to her campaign, Miss Tracey stated that she was pleased with student interest, especially with that of the Freshmen. "people think the Freshmen are not aware of student government or of the council meetings. In this way the reforms would be more reflective of community desires," she said.

Specifically, Carol stated four reform goals. She feels the pass-fail system should be extended to all non-major courses and that curriculum changes should take place in regards to courses that are geared towards objective testing.

Thirdly, Carol expressed a desire for increased student-faculty dialogue. Formally, this may happen through the continuation of the faculty lecture series and informally, by bringing faculty into the dining halls and dorms to provide more opportunities for communication.

Finally, Carol expressed her desire to implement plans for an experimental college. The goal of such a college would be to

(continued on page 7)

Cusick talks on issues

by Mary Kay Davey

"Community government presupposes a bond among the people involved. This bond transcends set procedures or structures," commented Carol Cusick, SBP candidate in an interview yesterday afternoon.

Carol stressed the fact that the means a government chooses for operation must be consistent with and reflective of the end it is aiming towards.

Carol commented extensively on the area of academic reform. She stated that she and Susan Way, her vice-presidential running mate, would work towards open academic committees and news,

(continued on page 2)

More

page 3

Abstention Movement strikes at foul play

by Prue Wear

The SMC Student Government election has brought about rather strange developments, the most notable being the Abstention Movement.

Posters appeared late Friday night, urging students to vote and abstain in the SMC Student Body President race. According to the initiators of the Abstention Movement, "the speed and dexterity with which these posters were destroyed prevented what was the main objective of the Movement - a free and unprejudiced discussion of the value and means of the present governmental structure."

Judging from the comments of Carol Cusick, SBP candidate, the campaign did not go entirely unnoticed.

Cusick, who is totally independent of the Movement, stated that she felt it raised legitimate and necessary questions.

The Movement stemmed from the precipitous disappearance of the posters from three of the four dorms on two consecutive nights. The Movement leaders charge that another political segment or segments has made "a valiant effort to stifle any intelligent and rational consideration of this issue.

As a result of these actions, several members of the Abstention Movement were forced to call "foul play" in a recent interview with the Observer. The students said they preferred to remain anonymous in order to keep the Movement unperceived and impersonal as possible.

As result of what they considered to be "the bluged, narrow minded, and inane hostility" with which this Movement has been received, these students said that the rights of the majority of the Student Body have been impinged upon, and that true freedom of discussion, "one ideal of the Christian community, has once more been bitten by the dust."

The original statement of the Abstention Movement stressed that "it is not a criticism of the integrity or personality of the two candidates." One of the members of the Movement, at the time of this interview, stated that "perhaps that's what killed us; we over-estimated SMC's recognition of basic political rights and toleration of the freedom of the individual."

The Movement stemmed from a dissatisfaction with the political structure of Student Government and particularly with its functioning during the past several years. "A comparison of (continued on page 3)
Friday's meeting of the Graduate Student Union was highlighted by rumors of projected cuts in the total salaries for teaching assistants for the coming year. These rumors have originated in various departments of the College of Arts and Letters, but for the most part, delegates were not positive of their facts and figures.

For this reason, the group decided to postpone action until more exact information could be gathered.

In the midst of this discussion, Bill Lorimer, who had represented the G.S.U. at the meeting of the National Committee on Teaching Assistants and Junior Members of the American Association of University Professors in Washington, D.C., gave his report.

According to Lorimer, the organization met for ten hours in committee and issued a statement saying "The National Office of the A.A.U.P. is extremely disturbed about the status of teaching assistants at Notre Dame — especially in regards to contracts, stipends, and grievance procedures. Furthermore the National Committee on Teaching Assistants and Junior Members encourages and supports all graduate organizations which seek to achieve the goals outlined by the A.A.U.P."

Lorimer, a graduate student in the English Department, indicated that the final sentence could be interpreted as support both the G.S.U. and participation by teaching assistants in the American Federation of Teachers. In fact, he urged members to join this organization and offer to supply forms and information to those interested.

During the course of the meeting, members were also interested in information about other bodies here at the University.

On one hand, it was noted that anyone who had anything brought up at the University Forum at the March 17 meeting, had until today to reach G.S.U. representatives for the G.S.U. representative on the Agenda Committee.

With regard to the Student Life Council, Bob Parker reported that the SBP hopefuls met with a subcommittee of the S.L.C., the graduate students did indeed draw up a position paper outlining the reasons why they felt they should represent the G.S.U. in the Senate.

In other business, President James King announced that as a result of the recent questionnaire, the graduate students will be permitted to move on campus for the 1970-71 school year. As was previously reported, Carroll Hall is planned as a graduate dorm. The Housing Committee will meet to determine the College Major, February 18.

Answers to some questions (continued on page 7)

SBP hopesful oppose SG moratorium year
by Prue Wear

The validity of the existence of SMC Student Government was the main consideration of the Open Forum last night as proponents of the movement for abstinence questioned the SBP candidates for more than an hour.

After each of the candidates outlined their platform both of the opposition and SBP were called upon. Tuesday's Observer, a student asked the candidates to give their opinions of the Abstinence Movement which had begun this semester.

Carol Cusick answered that she thought it was fun but she didn't think it was anything very good.

She said, "As it stands now I think the move is contrary to what is hoped to be accomplished."

Ann Marie Tracey commented that "the Abstinence Movement doesn't give those who previously wished to abstain a chance to do so without registering for the course on the moratorium."

The candidates were asked whether they felt that the basic function of the SBP which could not be fulfilled by someone else in another manner.

Cusick said that "the present structure will give people a chance to talk about and think about why the structures do exist so that it can be worked out and diminished."

Tracey said the role of the SBP was a dual one of co-ordinator and spokesman.

Tracey was then questioned as to whether or not a spokesman might not be representative, for the major part, of her own opinions. She answered that the SBP takes the opinion of the students into account in her decisions and public opinion.

Irish McNamara, SMC senator, said "I have not seen one thing that has been done this year that has not come from ad hoc committees." About the SBP, he continued that if the pattern continued next year he would reappoint the Student Assembly would not be needed which could be handled directly.

Another student, then changed the subject and asked the candidates if the Student Affairs Council and Academic Council to give their opinions and plans for next year. They briefly stated their views and the forum ended.

Start movement

(continued from page 1)

this year's platforms with those of previous years when while praiseworthy ideals are constantly sought, they have never been achieved due to the fact that they perennially appeal to the points of the fact that our present means are insufficient.

The alternative urged is an action which would lead to a referendum calling for a moratorium on one year on Student Government activities. This action would not prevent implementing any new programs that might arise. In the past, such issues as Off-Campus Housing and Specialji-B Prepaid tuition have been dealt with by means of ad-hoc committees which are dependent upon the existence of Student Government. Their final approval is subject whether the Student Affairs Council or the Academic Affairs Council which would ensure completion. More importantly, this time could be used to re-think the purpose, value, and need for Student Government."

At the conclusion of the interview, one of the members of the Abstinence Movement stated, "At the pratical events of this weekend, I can imagine SMC is really ready for self-government."

ND to be in full compliance with government dictums

by Cliff Wintrode

Mr. Philip Faccenda, Special Assistant to the President, Saturday dismissed any statements that the University faces the immediate loss of federal funds due to the black concentrations in Alumni and Dillon Halls as not containing even the "pernicious" possibility of truth.

The question of the possible loss of funds has been mentioned during the current Student Body President campaign, and to avoid any false statements Student Body President Phil G. Kenne and S.F. E. Faccenda to clarify the situation.

The misunderstanding about the loss of funds is founded in an on-campus visit last summer by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare asking Notre Dame's compliance with various government dictums.

PRE-CANA

Sign-ups for the Notre Dame St. Mary's Pre-Cana Conference will be Tuesday, March 10th and 11th in the Notre Dame dining halls during lunch and dinner. Sign-ups at St. Mary's will also be Tuesday, March 10th and Wednesday, the time and place to be announced. There is a $1.00 registration fee.

Stop sitting around

Allegheny's Young Adult Card lets you fly whenever you want to (even holidays), saves you up to 33% on airfares, and since you're between 12 and 22, that's what you are waiting for.

Stop by Allegheny ticket office and increase your Young Adult Card. Only $5.00 for all of 1970.

Allegheny Airlines  We have a lot more going for you
Stay Senator Tom Thrasher campaigns for SBP

Krashna challenges

by Bill Carter

Addressing himself to problems surrounding the issues of racial tension, coeducation and academic reform student Body President candidate Dave Krashna spoke to students in an informal session in Stanford Hall last night. Krashna outlined some of his ideas for improving the racial situation on campus. He described it as 'definitely hostile.' Krashna stressed the necessity for fundamental changes in the atmosphere on campus before effective measures toward creating a completely common environment can be worked out.

Krashna answered specific objections to the so-called "black concentrations" in some of the halls. "The problem of black concentrations is not a black problem but a white problem," Krashna said. "The black student has done something about the environment he has found here, and now the white student has to do something about it too."

"We see the problem as one of exposure. People have got to quit quibbling about things they aren't really sure. We used to go at the problem with its brutal subtleties in mind. If we can dissect some of the complications the Administration puts on us we can start to make the needed changes where they have to be made, in the total atmosphere of the university and campus life."

Several specific proposals were included in Krashna's call for an easing of the hostile racial atmosphere. He pointed out that there were no real Black sections in any of the halls on campus, but that the present situation could be improved by fusing some black sections with white sections. He felt that the Student Government should take action in revamping the programs of the Students Against Racism and diversifying the programs of the Student Union. In addition, Krashna expressed his support for the recent recommendation of the Black Studies Program that all students on campus take at least one Black Studies course.

"Right now I do believe the Black Concentrations should remain, on the theory that they can provide a comfortable transition for blacks that have come from an all black environment to an all white environment. The fullest manifestation of this theory can be seen in the case of predominantly black colleges where there may be 98% black students. The 2% white students all sit together and no one questions why."

Krashna offered a pointed example of what he meant by a lack of comfortable racial atmosphere on campus. He recalled an incident last year when a group of Black students, posing for Duke pictures on the steps of the Administration Building were confronted by campus security guards who had received a report that blacks were attempting to take over the building.

"That's why exposure has to be the main point. You can increase recruitment but if you don't improve the atmosphere more black students will only mean more tension. The need is to look at black people as (continued on page 6)"

Peterson stresses individuality

by Greg Pudhorodsky

"Consensus" candidate Pete Peterson campaigning for SBP

"Necessity almost dictates the move. St. Mary's is becoming overcrowded and with so many people wanting to move off campus here, there should be enough room for SMC girls."

Thrasher also defended the fifteen-minute rule while criticizing the way it came about. According to Thrasher, the fifteen-minute rule prevents demonstrations from flaring into riots. "When the DOW-CIA thing came up, a lot of hotheads were ready to do down with heavy boots and chains. Only the knowledge that the fifteen-minute rule would be invoked prevented them from doing so."

The candidate maintained that only attitudinal change could solve the "quality problem" here. "The Student Government has been too involved in national and international affairs" said Thrasher. "With things that rightly should be left for the pages of the Scholastic or the Observer and to politicalized organizations like the CPA and the YAF. That tends to alienate people needlessly to make them apathetic."

Thrasher also talked about minority recruitment, contend ing that it had been deficient in recruitment of non-black minorities, and ineffective in its approach.

"A bunch of politicians from Notre Dame, run down to Chicago or Dayton or some place, talk to high school kids for forty-five minutes, and duck out and go to another school. That's hardly an honest or particularly effective way of presenting Notre Dame."

Thrasher proposed that instead of all that promising, students be brought to Notre (continued on page 7)

Thrasher issues challenges

by T.C. Treanor

Rich Thrasher, SBP campaign manager for Student Body President candidate Tom Thrasher, announced that Thrasher and SBP contender Pete Peterson had challenged candidate Dave Krashna to a debate at Cavanaugh Hall Tuesday night at eight o'clock. According to Hunter, Bob Pohl, Krashna's campaign manager, will meet with Thrasher and SBP sometime this afternoon to discuss Krashna's decision.

Pohl refused to discuss that decision with The Observer last night, saying "what I have to say is between Rich Hunter and myself."

Thrasher appeared in six halls last night, where he attacked Krashna's proposed Student forum as "impractical" and "foolish."

"In order for the Senate to be abolished within the present constitution," Thrasher said, "Two-thirds of the Senators will have to vote to abolish the institution. For in order for the constitution to be changed, a petition describing the change must be signed by five hundred people - that will be easy - and the required last two votes of the majority of the student body, not just the majority of those voting, which will be almost as difficult to get as a two-thirds vote of the Senate."

Thrasher contended that the Student Forum could not be representative because it was not proportionate. "Carroll Hall, with ninety people, will have as many representatives as Flanner, with five hundred. Bills passed through that body probably won't be too representative."

The SBP candidate also scored the proposal because "a lot of hall presidents don't want to carry the extra burden of sorting out ideas for the SLC." Thrasher argued that the Hall Presidents were elected primarily as administrators for their halls.

In door-to-door campaigning, Thrasher reiterated his call for a girl's dorm on campus by 1971. Thrasher is optimistic about the chances for codification.

"Necessity almost dictates the move. St. Mary's is becoming overcrowded and with so many people wanting to move off campus here, there should be enough room for SMC girls."

Thrasher also defended the fifteen-minute rule while criticizing the way it came about. According to Thrasher, the fifteen-minute rule prevents demonstrations from flaring into riots. "When the DOW-CIA thing came up, a lot of hotheads were ready to do down with heavy boots and chains. Only the knowledge that the fifteen-minute rule would be invoked prevented them from doing so."

The candidate maintained that only attitudinal change could solve the "quality problem" here. "The Student Government has been too involved in national and international affairs" said Thrasher. "With things that rightly should be left for the pages of the Scholastic or the Observer and to politicalized organizations like the CPA and the YAF. That tends to alienate people needlessly to make them apathetic."

Thrasher also talked about minority recruitment, contend ing that it had been deficient in recruitment of non-black minorities, and ineffective in its approach.

"A bunch of politicians from Notre Dame, run down to Chicago or Dayton or some place, talk to high school kids for forty-five minutes, and duck out and go to another school. That's hardly an honest or particularly effective way of presenting Notre Dame."

Thrasher proposed that instead of all that promising, students be brought to Notre (continued on page 7)

VOTE

FOR STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT MARCH 11th IN YOUR HALLS DURING LUNCH AND DINNER HOURS OFF CAMPUS STUDENTS 6-9PM IN THE ACC OFFICE

Seniors May Vote

THE 5TH DIMENSION

appearing Saturday

March 14 - 8:45

ATHLETIC AND CONVOCATION CENTER

ND and SMC Discounts

Food: 3.50 - No Discount

AMERICAN DINNER 3.50 - 5.50

Must Present ID Card for discount at ACC Box Office ONLY

PAGE 3
Creative student government

Less than two days remain before Notre Dame elects a Student Body President. As with every spring presidential election excitement is at a fever pitch in the halls and issues are being discussed and argued by almost everyone.

Most students are assessing this year’s student government and its failures to bring about change, hall community, and communication and are arguing that one candidate or the other will greatly change things next year. The change being looked for is for the most part a change in atmosphere, a sense of real community.

When there are two or more people running for office there is usually no doubt that one of them will be more effective than another, that one of them will work harder or communicate more. Students here usually depend on that fact and use it as a crutch — as an excuse to sit back after the election is over, to stop talking about the issues, and to wait expecting for the new leadership to do what it promised.

We must come to realize that such complacency after the candidate is elected is antithetical to all arguments that are being made for community government. What all candidates are arguing for is a continuation of student interest in student government and community development after the election is over.

Spirit and atmosphere are two things that can not be legislated nor created by any amount of student government effort. They are two things that each individual student must be willing to commit himself to and work for. Like education itself, community can not be created by any one institution but rather is acquired only to the degree that each man is willing to work for it on his own.

Problems on campus concerning relations between white and white, and white and black, and black and black, and any two groups that have disagreement are solved to the degree that each participant is willing to remain open minded, is willing to learn, and to respect the other’s point of view. New ideas and changes will be accepted and instituted only to the extent that each student is willing to accept new ideas and changes, and that each individual is willing to respect the opposition’s point of view.

To bring about change, hall community, and communication and are arguing that one candidate or the other will greatly change things next year.

New techniques of consumer exploitation have bit women in particular: a leading advertising “motivator” has written, “Properly manipulated... American housewives can be given the sense of identity, purpose, creativity, self-realization, even the sexual for they lack by the buying of things...” In a free enterprise economy we have to develop the need for new products...” The manufacturer wants her back into the kitchen and we show her how to do it. “American women are told that their fulfillment through housework, children, and sexual-emotional satisfaction of their husbands is sufficient; they should vicariously identify with his career, since he is organically suited for “worldly affairs” as she is not.

This ideology of male supremacy was best demonstrated as being carried forward in Hitler’s 1930’s campaigns for “Kinder, Kuche, Kirche” (children, kitchen, church) for women, along with racism, fascism, and national chauvinism.

Notre Dame “men” exemplify this. An hour in a dormitory will show how women are seen as objects, as “chicks”, or broads, or... — (removed by the editor). A glance at the paper or bulletin board shows the same in movie advertising. A trip to the library, a mixer, or even a “freak” party reveals the dehumanizing games being played in the eternal competition for sex on one side, and marriage on the other.

This is partly the reason why the women’s movement is an important factor in the development of student government. Political economy, presidential politics, and moral education are all factors that influence the development of student government. The problem is complicated by the fact that it is in the short-run advantage of the woman who comes to St. Mary’s to cotton about one’s sexual insecurity. And the need for one’s “manhood” had to be continually justified against one’s sexual insecurity.

Notre Dame, Inc., exhibits the usual pattern in its higher-level employment. Female clerical workers serve male managers and have the origins of private property and class distinctions. Women, particularly blacks, are underpaid: in 1965 white and black men averaged $3,744 and $2,642 respectively. Women form a fluid, relatively unskilled surplus labor pool which is used in competition with unionized workers; these patterns have intensified in postwar years, with substantial drops in relative income for women. Finally, they provide unpaid domestic labor and child-raising services at a cost far less than that of equivalent hired labor.

Problems on campus concerning relations between white and white, and white and black, and black and black, and any two groups that have disagreement are solved to the degree that each participant is willing to remain open minded, is willing to learn, and to respect the other’s point of view. New ideas and changes will be accepted and instituted only to the extent that each student is willing to accept new ideas and changes, and that each individual is willing to respect the opposition’s point of view.

Problems on campus concerning relations between white and white, and white and black, and black and black, and any two groups that have disagreement are solved to the degree that each participant is willing to remain open minded, is willing to learn, and to respect the other’s point of view. New ideas and changes will be accepted and instituted only to the extent that each student is willing to accept new ideas and changes, and that each individual is willing to respect the opposition’s point of view.

Problems on campus concerning relations between white and white, and white and black, and black and black, and any two groups that have disagreement are solved to the degree that each participant is willing to remain open minded, is willing to learn, and to respect the other’s point of view. New ideas and changes will be accepted and instituted only to the extent that each student is willing to accept new ideas and changes, and that each individual is willing to respect the opposition’s point of view.

Problems on campus concerning relations between white and white, and white and black, and black and black, and any two groups that have disagreement are solved to the degree that each participant is willing to remain open minded, is willing to learn, and to respect the other’s point of view. New ideas and changes will be accepted and instituted only to the extent that each student is willing to accept new ideas and changes, and that each individual is willing to respect the opposition’s point of view.
The opening was scheduled for 9:00 p.m. By 7:30 p.m., people had lined up outside the building, and by 8:30 p.m., the crowd had grown to nearly 500 and was increasing. The temperature inside was a comfortable 70°F.

The show began with a reading from "The Gospel According to Peanuts" and "The Parable of Peanuts," both works by Charles M. Schulz. The reading was performed by the National Traveling Theatre, Notre Dame, Ind. 46556.

The entire production, including all props, costumes, scenery and personal luggage, has been designed to fit the intimate space of the Notre Dame gallery. The exhibition is limited and not likely to be repeated.

The exhibition will continue through the 25th of February with a possibility of extension, depending on the changing number of visitors. Members of the Lee Nordness Gallery staff and any catalog diagrams may be taken of the exhibition area. Further documentation is available on request.

For further information please contact Gail Leiter, President of Public Relations, (212) 988-4410

The price of the set 'bag one' is now held in each of the public libraries in London, Paris and Hamburg. The set includes a variety of high-quality lithographs, such as a collection of sketches by the late Robert Rauschenberg, and a selection of the works of Lee Nordness.

The exhibition reports the largest catalogue sale in its entire history. The handsome 24-page booklet contains an entire suite of lithographs as well as a comprehensive biography and a description of the roster of the Lee Nordness Gallery. The catalogue is priced at $2.95 and is available now from the gallery.

The increasing requests for the catalogue and as a result of the Lee Nordness Gallery's pleasure to announce that a national distribution will commence immediately.

The price of the set 'bag one' is now held in each of the public libraries in London, Paris and Hamburg. Each set consists of fourteen lithographs and is delivered with its own white vinyl portfolio. Individual prints are now on sale for $125, until the edition is sold out. Only 300 signed sets are available on the world market.

The agents said they called enforcement official

Before the March 7th, the stream of visitors has been constant and the numbers seem to be increasing. As a result, the gallery reports the largest catalogue sale in its entire history. The handsome 24-page booklet contains an entire suite of lithographs as well as a comprehensive biography and a description of the roster of the Lee Nordness Gallery. The catalogue is priced at $2.95 and is available now from the gallery.

The increasing requests for the catalogue and as a result of the Lee Nordness Gallery's pleasure to announce that a national distribution will commence immediately.

The price of the set 'bag one' is now held in each of the public libraries in London, Paris and Hamburg. Each set consists of fourteen lithographs and is delivered with its own white vinyl portfolio. Individual prints are now on sale for $125, until the edition is sold out. Only 300 signed sets are available on the world market.

The agents said they called enforcement official
Human Affairs Commissioner David Krashna campaigning
ND by end of semester will be in compliance
(continued from page 2)
that even if a school was non-compliant, only one school, Antioch, has the idea ever been considered. No school has reached a stage of non-compliance to warrant the threat of a cutoff of funds.

The amount of federal money involved by Title 6 was unknown to Faccenda, but he felt that even if a school was non-complying with HEW to such an extent that financial penalties were threatened, cutoff of all funds was not possible.

He pointed to the fact that the constitutionality of Title 6 as a whole never came up as a partial basis for his belief.

Faccenda viewed the great spread of time between the passage of the 1964 Act and HEW's investigation had stemmed as an indicator of the minor concern HEW has for Notre Dame's compliance of the law. Father Hesburgh's position as Chairman of the Civil Rights Commission was seen by Faccenda as a reason why HEW has not even "nixed" up about the possibility that the chairman's school will not comply.

Another positive indicator of HEW's minor concern for Notre Dame said Faccenda is the time extension given the university to reply to the letter to Father Hesburgh. Normally, a school has to reply within sixty days of receipt of a letter, but Faccenda asked for and was granted a continuance on the grounds of not having had time to formulate an answer.

Faccenda added that the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's handling of any school considered to be in serious violation of the law is much more stringent and deliberate.

Antioch, for instance, has served a partial compliance report to HEW.

Faccenda said he was the only person besides Hesburgh that has seen the HEW letter. Faccenda is handling all the negotiations between the university and HEW's regional office in Chicago.

Waterpollution panelscheduled
Tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., a symposium on water pollution control and the water quality act will be held in the Memorial Library Auditorium. Guest speaker for the program will be Mary Stein.

Mr. Stein was graduated from George Washington University, has served on the Federal Security Agency, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and is presently on the staff of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

Other members of the panel include: Ralph W. Purdy, Executive Secretary of Michigan Water Resources Commission; Mr. Ken Horn, corporate director of the Wheelabrator Corporation of Mishawaka; Mr. Kenness Horn, corporate director of the Benton Corporation.

The purpose of this symposium, according to Mr. Philip Singer, Assistant Professor of Civil Engineering, is to inform the students about the difficulties of developing a sound water pollution control program. Each of the members of the panel will give a 15-10 minute opening statement describing their individual involvement in water pollution control. Following this, a question and answer period will be held.

There are many contributing factors to the problem of water pollution control. Mr. Kenneth Blessing, Wheelabrator commented that the greatest problem is how the money will be financed. On the industrial level, it is almost impossible for a company to afford such a project on its own. Industries receive very little help from federal agencies, and lack of support is made up by state programs.

"The majority of the industries which are running such a program," Mr. Blessing added, "are helped financially from state aid." Many states have bond issues just for this purpose. For example, Ohio has $800,000 bond issue. Any industry may borrow money at a rate of interest of 4% or over long periods of time.

On the city level, money problems are even more important. Mr. Lloyd Taylor, City Engineer of South Bend, commented that the city is not able to afford a program of its own. A federal grant from the government can pay in the neighborhood of 75% of the project's total cost. The difficulty lies in receiving the grant.

The present moment, South Bend has been waiting six years for a federal grant. All plans have been drawn up and are ready for use, but the city does not have enough money to receive a grant.

According to Mr. Taylor, priorities are established by the Indiana Streams Control Board, and higher priority is given to cities in central Indiana where wastes pollute rivers and because people live along these rivers and can be endangered by the pollution, they receive these grants first.

The economic problems of water pollution are not as pressing as the financial ones.

"If a city attempted to build a system on its own," said Mr. Taylor, "it could force the sewage rates to climb four times the present rate. If a city received grant money for such a project, the former would be unprofitable to industry because of these high sewage rates, thus killing much of the economic progress of the city," Mr. Taylor commented.

Co-education really is vital to the education and the social benefits for the male students from the presence of women on campus.

When asked about the program's prospects, Mr. Stein said he was very pleased with the recent endorsements from these speakers and felt sure they would help his effort.

He regarded the seven to zero vote of the X-15, as a special expression of support for co-education. At a recent meeting, countermate Mark Winings are trying to voice in the campaign.

"We have to be sure the studying doesn't last until 1991. Co-education really is vital to the atmosphere of this university from two points of view. The fact is women have a basic right to the education and the social benefits for the male students from the presence of women on campus.

When asked about the program's prospects, Mr. Stein said he was very pleased with the recent endorsements from these speakers and felt sure they would help his effort.

He regarded the seven to zero vote of the X-15, as a special expression of support for co-education. At a recent meeting, countermate Mark Winings are trying to voice in the campaign.
ND icos sweep Air Force for 20-win season

by Don Kennedy

Observer Sports Writer

The Bengal Bouts aren't slated to start for another week, but those who attended this week-end's hockey series with the Air Force Academy were treated to a sneak preview of next week's events.
The Irish closed out their '69-'70 season by notchting their 20th and 21st victories against foes by scores of 4-3-3 and 6-3 in a pair of slugfests at the Conseco ice rink that featured preliminary bouts of all weights.

Thresher campaigns

(continued from page 3)

Dean of Students, he found that there was nothing that could be done to prevent Carroll from turning into a graduate dwelling next year. He feels it unjust that the students who will be forced into new dorms next year will be at the end of hall lists for room preferences.

On the current issue of co-education Peterson said he favors an "autonomous" approach by the University but will wait for a student referendum before he will act. On when such action comes the candidate said that "student government's position should be one of diplomacy and action and not making demands."

Peterson added that if the students make decisions which affect the economic situation of the University then they must be willing to also accept some of the fiscal responsibility, for "to act effectively and not running away from home and asking us to pay for your care fare.

The SBF published a quote in Friday's Observer which had him saying that the ultimate decision on such topics as drugs, drinking and sex should be left to the student. He said he meant that on these topics "will be made by the individual himself and not God."

Peterson answered the peren­ nial question of whether he believes he can win.

"A lot of people have said that they would support me if they didn't vote for us we would win," he said.
The Notre Dame fencing squad will travel to Cleveland to meet Case Western and Cleveland State. On the following day they will close out their dual meet season against Syracuse, Harper and Buffalo in Buffalo, N.Y.

Wrestlers take MU

Bob Habig, Jim Hansen, and Phil Gustafson, standouts all season long for the wrestling team, led the way to a 24-12 victory over Marquette this weekend in Milwaukee that enabled the Irish to conclude their 1969-70 dual meet season with a 6-6 record. Habig, only a freshman, tallied his ninth pin of the season, a new Notre Dame record, scoring at 3:52 in the 150 pound class. The previous mark for pins in a season was set in 1963 by Dick DeJong. Gustafson countered his unbeaten streak by pinning his opponent in 1:51 in the heavyweight division. Phil is 15-0-3 on the year. Hansen notched his 17th win in 21 cut-throat matches against his foes and backed up his many pins with an 11-0 record in decision matches. Also picking up victories for the Irish Saturday were Tom Cuccio (118) with a 12-1 triumph, captain Keith Giron (134), registering a 2-0 decision, and Bill Hashbrook (177), who won 6-0.

Swimming

Despite eight firsts, the Notre Dame swim team fell to Oakland University in the Motor City Invitational Saturday, as Oakland totaled 209 points to ND's 177 and Wayne State's 142. Freestylers John Sherk and Gene Krahthaus each won two events, Sherk taking the 50 (5:15.8) and 1000 (10:58.6), and Krahthaus winning the 50 (22.6) and 100 (50.2). Sherk times and Krahthaus' 50 were meet records.

Vince Spohn and Craig Ferrall joined Sherk and Krahthaus in the victory relay teams, 400 free relay team, and also swam with John Balbough and Mike McDonough in the triumphant 400 medley relay team.

And highpoint man in the ballgame...

Bob Habig, Jim Hansen, and Phil Gustafson, standouts all season long for the wrestling team, led the way to a 24-12 victory over Marquette this weekend in Milwaukee that enabled the Irish to conclude their 1969-70 dual meet season with a 6-6 record. Habig, only a freshman, tallied his ninth pin of the season, a new Notre Dame record, scoring at 3:52 in the 150 pound class. The previous mark for pins in a season was set in 1963 by Dick DeJong. Gustafson countered his unbeaten streak by pinning his opponent in 1:51 in the heavyweight division. Phil is 15-0-3 on the year. Hansen notched his 17th win in 21 cut-throat matches against his foes and backed up his many pins with an 11-0 record in decision matches. Also picking up victories for the Irish Saturday were Tom Cuccio (118) with a 12-1 triumph, captain Keith Giron (134), registering a 2-0 decision, and Bill Hashbrook (177), who won 6-0.

Swimming

Despite eight firsts, the Notre Dame swim team fell to Oakland University in the Motor City Invitational Saturday, as Oakland totaled 209 points to ND's 177 and Wayne State's 142. Freestylers John Sherk and Gene Krahthaus each won two events, Sherk taking the 50 (5:15.8) and 1000 (10:58.6), and Krahthaus winning the 50 (22.6) and 100 (50.2). Sherk times and Krahthaus' 50 were meet records.

Vince Spohn and Craig Ferrall joined Sherk and Krahthaus in the victory relay teams, 400 free relay team, and also swam with John Balbough and Mike McDonough in the triumphant 400 medley relay team.