Krashna plans to ease transition

by Cliff Wintrode
Observer Assistant Editor

Newly elected president Dave Krashna and his running-mate Mark Winings, fresh from a wild victory celebration the night before, yesterday cited a "united and comfortable" transition between administrations as their primary task between now and inauguration day.

To accomplish this task, the pair contended it is necessary to establish a working relationship with people at all levels of the university structure who are connected to student government operations. The cooperation of student government was also seen as crucial.

"We have to find and establish contacts to carry out the ideas we raised during the campaign and along with this, we must sit down with members of the present administration and study the mechanics of the various governmental offices," said Krashna.

Mark Winings said that the beginnings of a new administration were started during the campaign and already information is being collected on campus issues.

"As we embark(15,11),(984,995) with the campaign, we have been gathering information on all related areas of student life from the question of black concentrations to which bills to present to the Student Life Council to how to get in the halls on a personal basis," said Winings.

He cited contact between Director of Housing Father Edgar Wintrode and Karshen personnel during the campaign discussing room selections as an example of action already initiated by the new leadership.

The pair indicated that the transition issue all of April 6, when they come into power, will be concerned with probing specific details about issues raised during the campaign and closely examining the possible solutions.

In this manner, they feel they must establish a working relationship in order to present issues soon after taking office.

Krashna expects the McKenna administration to be important in evaluating the existing campus situation.

Junior Parents arrive for weekend activities

by Mike Ruffer

The first registration period for the 19th annual Junior Parents-Son Weekend will officially begin at 4 p.m. in the lobby of the Center for Continuing Education, and it will last until 10 p.m. Weekend Committee chairman, Jim D'Aurora, stressed the fact that it is very important for the parents to register; this is the only way for them to obtain the specific information about the weekend.

This evening at 6:45 p.m., the Notre Dame Glee Club will present its Spring Concert in Washington Hall. The film, "La Dolce Vita," will follow the concert at 8:30, also in Washington Hall.

Tomorrow, the final registration period for the parents will be held in the Center for Continuing Education from 9 a.m.-7 p.m. The detailed schedule for Saturday's events can be picked up in the CE Center at this time. From 9:30-11 a.m. the major presentations will take place in the respective college and departmental facilities. From 11:15 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Sheedy discusses need for more intercampus interaction

by Charlie Meyers

Expressing the idea of more informal interaction between the students of both campuses, Father Charles Sheedy, head of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Co-Exchange program, discussed the future of Co-exchange in a recent Observer interview.

"The pure academic mixture he feels, has been very satisfactory, yet the day-to-day routine of both student bodies

Bach named new editor

by Mike Bergida

The Observer's Board of Directors announced yesterday the appointment of Dave Bach, 20, as the new editor of the Observer, succeeding Clifford Wintrode, who will remain with the paper as publisher.

Bach, who will assume the editorship on April 1, is a junior majoring in psychology. As a freshman and sophomore, Bach was a reporter for the Observer. This year he was a night editor and a member of the editorial board.

Bach commented that there won't be any "dramatic change in the Observer." He feels a responsibility to "stir students' needs." He said that his goal will be to "stabilize" the paper by co-ordinating the staff and improving quality.

Bach said that there would be increased efforts to improve St. Mary's coverage next year.

Bach has appointed Dave Stauffer, a junior from Boy, West Virginia and currently Features Editor, as Executive Editor. Glenn Corso, a sophomore from Massapequa, New York and currently News Editor was named Campus Editor. Corso will establish a "forum for comment on areas of concern."

"The expansion of the Observer," said Bach, "is over for awhile." He said that his main goal will be to "stabilize" the paper by co-ordinating the staff and improving quality.

Bach said that there would be increased efforts to improve St. Mary's coverage next year.

Bach has appointed Dave Stauffer, a junior from Boy, West Virginia and currently Features Editor, as Executive Editor. Glenn Corso, a sophomore from Massapequa, New York and currently News Editor was named Campus Editor. Corso will establish a "forum for comment on areas of concern."
DeSapio named publisher

continued from page 1

students really think about their paper," he said.

Another "stabilizing" move by Bach will be to lessen the night editors' work load. Since most of the "best writers are more night editors." said Bach, the Observer would benefit from more night editors.

Present editors Jim Hininger, John Knorr, David Dammann, Tim Treanor, and Cliff Wintrode will become Bach's "senior reporters" to cover important news events.

Bach said that he wanted more staff people to know more about the total operation of the paper so they will be more able to handle their particular assignments more capably.

By making the Observer an education in journalism, Bach foresees that next semester he will have a responsible crew of night editors and a smoother operation.

The total effect of his policies would be to insure continuity from year to year to insure that no editor would be "forced into taking a job he knows nothing about." It will be a "gradual" process, stated Bach but "If I do my job right, the next editor will have it a lot easier.

Germeffree animals susceptible

The germfree animal can't catch colds or the flu, but he may be much more susceptible to hardening of the arteries, according to two researchers here.

The reason? He lacks friendly bacteria in the intestines.

Kellogg and Wostmann, researchers at Lobund Laboratory, explained. These bacteria modify cholesterol compounds so that the body can't absorb them as easily. In normal animals, much excess cholesterol is eliminated, along with other waste material, in this manner. Kellogg and Wostmann are concerned that metabolism in germfree and conventional animals may be the key to discovering ways of using the beneficial bacteria for medical purposes. "For some reason," Kellogg explained, older people seem unable to get rid of excess cholesterol. If we could find a way to turn up bacterial activity, or if we could stimulate that activity through chemicals, we could help many heart patients and elderly people suffering from hardening of the arteries. Hardening of the arteries occurs when scales of fatty material collect on the inside of blood vessels, clogging these vital passages and putting excess strain on the heart.

Kellogg is particularly interested in diet and how food elements affect the bacterial culture in the intestines. He has found that many researchers had suspected, that some foods forbidden by low-cholesterol diets do cause them by suppressing the activity of beneficial bacteria. On the other hand, added, foods such as corn oil help the body eliminate cholesterol and aid in reducing levels of the fatty substance in the blood.

Wostmann's main interest is in the chemical means that bacteria use to modify cholesterol and other compounds like it. He is also investigating a fatty acid which reduces levels of cholesterol in the blood of both conventional and germfree animals. Unlike other diet factors, this fatty acid does not function by merely increasing bacterial activity, but seems to have some direct effect on cholesterol itself.

Research into these fundamental studies of cholesterol metabolism are supported by the National Institutes of Health and the Indiana and American Heart Associations.

Symposium scheduled

The West European Studies Program, under the direction of Professor Stephen D. Kerress, will sponsor a symposium entitled "New Challenges to Constitutional Democracy in the Atlantic Community." The symposium will consist of a series of lectures to be held at the Center for Continuing Education on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Noteworthy addresses on Monday include "Current Challenges to Democracy in the United States," by Glenn Tinder, national institutes of health and marvelous. He has the primary responsibility for the student. A senator will present a bill in the senate requesting that the senate abolish itself some time in the future. …

"If there is not a student forum, we will be an effective in getting back into the halls as we would have been otherwise. It is a tool, and if the tool breaks down, the job usually breaks down," he said.

Kellogg and Wostmann are concerned with increased responsibility for all the members of government hall presidents is increased responsibility for all the members of government hall presidents, so much increased personal responsibility for the students?

"We must emphasize again that it is not purely public, it is a hall government, and all that entails such as having effective and dedicated section leaders and more basically dedicated hall members that will make or break student government," said Krashna.

Wining said the new administration will be met with an attitude in which "communication is already there. We can improve it, but at the same time there are legitimate needs which have to be recognized and acted upon by the administration." "At the same time, we have to be reasonable and recognize that the university is still the development in the Notre Dame, and that no one side has all the answers," Winings said.

"We are dealing with structures that are so complex and bureaucratic, there is a great tendency to get bogged down unless you a firm and adamant stand you will not steer clear of those structures," said Krashna.

Holmespeak

Dr. Urban T. Holmes, Kenan Professor of romance philology at the University of North Carolina, will speak at 3:30 p.m. today in Room 715 of the Memorial Library.

Holmes, a student of the fellows of the Medieval Academy of America and Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, will speak on "Chretien de Troyes." His talk will be introduced by Dr. A.L. Gabriel, director of the Medieval Institute.

Two-thirds vote of the Senate is required to do away with itself. If a student forum is implemented, new demands will be placed on the hall presidents. …

Welcome N.D. Junior Parents

Hope you have an enjoyable weekend at N.D.

If your son never writes home, the OBSERVER always will! It brings the news to you everyday!

SPECIAL RATE TO THE END OF THE YEAR

$2.00

Name

Address

City

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except for those days the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College are closed. It is printed by The Observer, Inc., 45550. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Ind., 46556.

FrIaD, MARCH 13, 1970

THE OBSERVER
Introducing Rallye 350
...new from Oldsmobile!

It's here—Olds Rallye 350—freshest fastback on the road today with a budget-pleasing price. Here's an exciting new Olds model that's a leader in both value and looks.

Its value starts with a big Rocket 350 V-8 that features Oldsmobile's exclusive new positive valve rotators that deliver smoother performance, longer engine life...a side-guard beam in each door for added security...hidden windshield wipers, and a radio antenna that's in the windshield...a 112" wheelbase for quick handling...an anti-theft steering column lock...front fender liners that fight metal corrosion.

Its looks feature an exciting color...Sebring Yellow. A fiberglass hood with functional air scoops and special paint treatment...new urethane-coated bumpers and painted wheels...a blacked-out grille...custom-sport steering wheel...special two-tone striping...super wide-oval bias-belted tires for longer tread life. They're all part of the Rallye 350 option. Why, you can even order a rear-deck spoiler if you wish.

Stop in soon at your Olds-mobile dealer's and check out the new Rallye 350 and all the other great Olds models. One thing you can count on: Every one of them gives you "something extra" in comfort, convenience, performance, and value.

Olds: Escape from the ordinary.

For "something extra", see your Olds dealer.
Editorial:

A mandate for change

We would like to congratulate Student Body President-elect David Krishna and his running mate Mark Winings on their overwhelming victory on Wednesday. The impressive and record-breaking margin of votes is an endorsement of their idea of how to bring student government closer to the students. Their election can only be interpreted as a mandate for the change in the atmosphere here which they envisioned.

We support the efforts of the two men to bring about the changes that they seek. It won't be easy but with much work their concept of a Student Forum should prove effective in bringing the student body closer together and bringing student government closer to the students.

Elections are always emotional occurrences. Supporters of both sides can often be shown to have gone overboard in working for their standard bearer. As the weeks pass after election day enthusiasm usually wanes but more often than not animosities linger on.

We hope that this year Notre Dame will awake to the fact that "community" will never be achieved if the political divisions that are raised during the campaign are not forgotten.

Both major candidates this year stood for the most part persistently on the need to encourage a campaign run on the issues and a post election attitude of co-operation and understanding. We add our voice to that of the candidates.

If the call for increased student responsibility is to work there is a need for students' actions to mirror their vote. It is the obligation of each student now to take an active interest in the hall-in helping to provide a sense of direction—to increasing communication and relieving tensions. Krishna will be asking students to evaluate their present leadership to assure that there are capable hall leaders.

The "new atmosphere" must be a change of spirit if nothing else. Krishna and Winings will be asking students to evaluate the changes but the changes will be meaningless unless each student takes it upon himself to do a little more for his own spirit and for the atmosphere of this community as a whole.
Three essays for Junior Parents or 'The Golden Dome may be heaven high, but it's only cardboard thick'

by Dave Stauffer
Observer Features Editor

I.

Hello, junior parents. How are you? How was the trip up? How's that fine junior of yours? Don't answer that last one too hastily. I suppose that you've already checked the hair. Nothing over 1 1/2. Right? Face shining young junior of yours?

Well, don't believe it. I mean, you aren't really going to let his stellar three-month hair go on forever; are you? Anyhow, you've got to find out how he looks and behaves when you aren't here, right?

Take heed: The old "invert the image" method will serve your purpose splendidly. It's quite simple and based on the universally acknowledged fact that the more someone wants to hide something from you, the more that someone will reverse or "invert" his image when he is with you. What?

Now you can decipher your son's true N.T. self with the greatest of accuracy. The shorter his hair is for you, the longer it is when you're gone. Shiny shoes? He'd be barefoot any other weekend. Coat and tie? Formal attire the remainder of the year. Get it?

II.

A story of questionable accuracy which depicts for the reader the origins of Junior Parent-Son Weekend.

It was a gloomy, early spring day at Notre Dame. Somewhere in the Admini­stration Building on the second floor, a member of the University administration who also happened to be a priest was contemplating how students and parents of students felt toward his school.

He thought longingly about how nice it is when students are freshmen. Their parents bring them out to Notre Dame, and the little freddies just love the place. Their parents love it too. It's a man's school. Everyone is a part of the Notre Dame Family and everyone is happy.

But the administration member was sad because he realized that this situation doesn't last. The parents go back home. The only way they hear about Notre Dame is through letters from their sons. It's all right. But during sophomore years the students become disillusioned and they tell their parents.

By junior year the students are rather disillusioned, and they often wonder why they ever came here — and they tell their parents. Soon, even the parents are becoming disillusioned with Notre Dame!

The administration member recognized the problem: the students, and eventually the parents, lose their vision of the Golden Dome and all that it symbolizes. Reality must be overcome! But how? How the administration member wondered.

Just then a curious thing happened. Seemingly carried by a breeze which wasn't even present, a copy of the freshman orientation program from the previous fall drifted lightly from the ceiling and fell to rest at the feet of the brooding administrator.

He looked at the pamphlet for a long time. He looked, thought . . . and smiled a smile that grew and grew . . . a re-orientation. Why not? If it worked two years ago, it would work again. The juniors themselves were hopelessly lost, but through them, their parents could be brought back into the fold — with the students themselves doing the work — and, if handled correctly, with the parents themselves paying for it!

After all, he thought, what parents can think anything but good of Notre Dame at they stand by Father Sorin, gazing in awe at the Golden Dome?

III.

A short, short play featuring the parents of two juniors. The place is the registration line. The juniors are seen, but not heard. The action begins after course introductions.

MRS. A. — Why, we're from New Orleans and what a dreadful flight we had! It's such a bother to come such a long distance, but we think that it's worthwhile even as our Mike is going to Notre Dame.

MRS. B. — I know just what you mean. Lucky we're from dear old Peoria, but Lord knows Bill and I would send Donnie to Notre Dame if we lived in New Orleans.

MRS. A. — Of course our Mike was just as set on Notre Dame. I told him that he would have to wear women's clothes for the first three months if he thought there was one. But he knew it all quite seriously and said that he wanted to go to Notre Dame even with the bad weather.

MRS. B. — Weather's atrocious up here; heavy snows . . .

MRS. A. — Uh . . . that's Bill.

MRS. B. — Why, we came up for the Navy game when our Mike was a freshman and it was terrible. It rained and then turned to snow during the game. Why, football or no football, we went back to the motel and watched on TV.

MRS. B. — Even so, the boys like football so much they are willing to be entertained by Notre Dame. Football and pre-game and the pageantry on football Saturdays. We couldn't have found a better school for Donnie.

MRS. A. — I'll tell you what I like about Notre Dame is that president, that Hesburgh. Honest.

MRS. B. — That's Hesburgh, hony.

MRS. A. — What do you think, Blaine?

MRS. B. — Uh. . .

MRS. A. — Why, the very night they announced that fifteen minute ride on Huntley-Brinkley I turned to Aggie and said, "Aggie, I believe that we should send a letter of congratulations to that Hesburgh."

MRS. B. — That's Hesburgh, hony.

MRS. B. — I know just what you mean. Bill and I have such admiration for that man. How can he run a school with the national reputation of Notre Dame and serve on all those commissions at the same time is beyond me.

MRS. A. — He has given too much to this school. Why, I wouldn't be surprised if this weekend weren't his idea, also. Why, he's gone back to his old standard and I to get back up here and see a campus with lots of trees and grass, and isolation from the cities, and a successful football team, and good football team — and good teachers.

MRS. B. — And of course it's always so nice to see among the students, the priests and look at that lovely Golden Dome.

A 'Fan's Notes' will become movie

'A Fan's Notes,' the prize-winning first novel by Fred Exley, will be brought to the motion picture screen by 30-year-old producer Martin Davidson and director Eric Till for Warner Bros release.

Exley's novel, a quasi-autobiographical story of an man's struggles to find peace and fulfillment in his environment and with himself, won the William Faulkner Award as the year's best first-novel and the Rosenthal Award of the National Institute of Arts and Letters when it was published in 1968 by Harper & Row.

The film will be the first to be produced by Davidson, until recently an agent for the International Famous Agency, and the third to be directed by Till.

Davidson, a long-time fan of the New York Giants professional football team, became interested in Exley's novel when he found it among a stack of famous alumni of the Giants, such as the late Y.A. Tittle, Jerry Rote and the rest. The novel, however, is not about football; it concerns a man who, in battling to find himself, discovers that, as Davidson says, "he is never a participant in life, he is only a fan.

537 Notre Dame students killed!!

by Students for Biafran Relief
P.O. Box 516
Notre Dame

St carefully prepared, doesn't it? But it might as well be true. Right now our African brothers and sisters are dying of the starvation in Nigeria. It was a gloomy, early spring day at Notre Dame. There is a national student organization headquartered at Notre Dame.

There is a national student organization headquartered at Notre Dame. There is a national student organization headquartered at Notre Dame that is trying to alleviate some of the suffering in Nigeria. It's called AFAN. The name stands for African Brothers and Sisters for Nigeria.

And they need your help so that they can effectively help.

This weekend, a drive will take place in the Notre Dame-South Bend communities to raise the money which will be used to purchase food and medical supplies by the Nigerian Red Cross in the strife-torn area of Biafra. In the Junior Parent maneuver, a special collection will be taken to supplement the need for food in that sector of Africa. In Sacred Heart Church Sunday, the collection will find envelopes in their pews which are specifically designed for STUDENTS FOR BIAFRAN RELIEF collections.

Anyone who wishes to help those suffering in Nigeria can place a contribution in the envelope and place the envelope in the collection basket during Mass. There will not be a special collection basket placed around during the Mass, but instead all donations should be placed in the special envelopes in the regular collection.

In case anyone would like to send his contribution to the cause, the envelopes are self-addressed and thus only require the placing of a 6 cents postage, in addition to the check demoted and placed as a subordinate unit within the Federal Ministry of Development.

Statistics indicate that over 42.4% of all children under 4 years of age are suffering from nutritional deprivation, and that 31.4% of the entire population suffered from that same illness. The students only require 2 cones of high protein food each day (cereal, stockfish, and dry milk) in order to survive. It costs very little to buy the food, but very much to buy enough and to transport it to the people. So please, remember these Christian people when you are attending your Christian services, and at all times when we thank God for our own existence, when we take so very much for granted.

Anyone desiring further information can do so at the Students for Biafran Relief Headquarters, Room 2A of LaFortune Student Center.

A 'Fan's Notes' will become movie

'A Fan's Notes,' the prize-winning first novel by Fred Exley, will be brought to the motion picture screen by 30-year-old producer Martin Davidson and director Eric Till for Warner Bros release.

Exley's novel, a quasi-autobiographical story of an man's struggles to find peace and fulfillment in his environment and with himself, won the William Faulkner Award as the year's best first-novel and the Rosenthal Award of the National Institute of Arts and Letters when it was published in 1968 by Harper & Row.

The film will be the first to be produced by Davidson, until recently an agent for the International Famous Agency, and the third to be directed by Till.

Davidson, a long-time fan of the New York Giants professional football team, became interested in Exley's novel when he found it among a stack of famous alumni of the Giants, such as the late Y.A. Tittle, Jerry Rote and the rest. The novel, however, is not about football; it concerns a man who, in battling to find himself, discovers that, as Davidson says, "he is never a participant in life, he is only a fan.
Confusion over future of black concentrations
by Bob Fulton

Confusion over future of black concentrations

Hall President Tim Shaeffer to Black Concentration on campus.

THE OBSERVER
PAGE 6

Modernization

Modernization of Indiana's state government will be the topic of a March 20 conference at the Center for Continuing Education.

Invited to the meeting, sponsored jointly by the University and the Indiana state division of the American Association of University Women (AAUW), are several thousand businessmen, politicians, members of the judiciary, church leaders, educators and other interested citizens across the state.

Matthew E. Welsh, a former governor of Indiana, will keynote the conference at 10 a.m., and his address will be followed by separate and concurrent discussions in five key areas of government reform. The chairman and panelists in these areas are as follows:

"The Indiana Legislature," chairman Richard C. Bodiak, former speaker of the Indiana House of Representatives, and panelists Dr. Otis R. Bowen, political writer for the South Bend Tribune, and Jack Colwell, deputy mayor of Indianapolis.

"Party Organization and Politics in Indiana," chairman Samuel Mercantini, Michigan Democratic Party chairman, and panelists Thomas F. Brodin, director of urban studies at Notre Dame, and Jack Colwell, political writer for the South Bend Tribune.

"Legislative Meetings," chairman Lloyd M. Allen, mayor of South Bend, and panelists John W. Walls, deputy mayor of Indianapolis.

"Education," chairman Marshall F. Kizer, state senator, and panelists Eldon E. Landquist, state senator, and Mrs. Carlyle E. Johnson, assistant adjunct professor at the Indianapolis Law School of Indiana University.

"Local Government in Indiana," chairman L. E. Allen, mayor of South Bend, and panelists John J. Frank, state senator, and John W. Walls, deputy mayor of Indianapolis.

The Indiana state division of AAUW, invited to the meeting, sponsored jointly by the University and the Indiana state division of AAUW, are several thousand businessmen, politicians, members of the judiciary, church leaders, educators and other interested citizens across the state.

When confronted with the statement Father Whelan reaffirmed the University's position, and said that he felt there had been a "misunderstanding" of what he had said at the Alumni meeting.

"If the blacks have done anything on this campus they've told the whites they have a problem and the whites had better sit down and face their problems. This message was spoken to the campus through the Black concentrations. "It's a message this campus has to hear. I have said nothing to Alumni Hall that the University will not support the Black concentration," said Father Whelan.

When asked if the University's ruling had anything to do with the HEW, Whelan answered, "One would have to go a very long way to prove we have segregation in our dormitory housing here." One argument that Father Whelan suggested the possibility of segregation would be marked removes.

Alumni Hall feels that the University has given the responsibility of room assignment to the hall.

Says Don Mooney, Hall Senator, "What he (Father Whelan) seems to be saying is that it is up to the hall to do it (assign rooms), and that's exactly what we're going to do."

Art McFauland, president of the student union, added, "Basically, to sum it up, it's for purposes of identity and what we term survival. However, in the past the University has presided over the dorms, and one of the amazing realities is that black folk have a high dependency on one that, for example, predominantly 99% white environment. We have no desire to look to others, to Black students."

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. James Shannon to speak here

Dr. James Shannon, former auxiliary bishop of St. Paul Minneapolis and currently vice president of St. John's College, Santa Fe, N.M., will speak Wednesday (March 15) at 8 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Washington Hall.

His lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Union Academic Community, will be on "Charging the Church by Directive and by Community." The 49-year-old educator left the active ministry last year, resigning his auxiliary bishop's post in June and marrying in August. He was ordained in 1946 and consecrated a bishop in 1958.

He headed the College of St. Thomas from 1956 to 1960, when he left to become pastor of St. Helena's Church in Minneapolis, Minn. He has been honored by both the University of Notre Dame and Yale as an outstanding alumnus, and has received numerous other awards from civic and religious groups. At St. John's, an interdenominational college, he heads the Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The lecture is free and open to the public.
M. Lee Petreime, (right) South Bend sales manager for the Aluminum Company of America, presents a $5,000 grant from Alcoa to Dr. Frederick J. Cronson, (center) dean of the College of Arts and Letters at the University of Notre Dame. Frederick S. Beckman, professor of art and director of the industrial design program, looks on. The award will encourage design students to enter Alcoa's twelfth annual Student Design Merit Award Program.
UAC hopes it will stay

by Dan O'Donnell

Tom Kronk, chairman of the University Arts Council reported yesterday that although there have been no major contributions to the Arts Center, the Finance Committee is in the process of sending out proposals to forty major corporations and foundations.

In addition, Kronk told of a Student Information Committee that will shortly visit administrative officials to inform them of the Council's progress. Kronk stated that according to all available reports, the Fieldhouse is structurally sound and capable of maintaining the Council's program. He also noted with enthusiasm the co-operation and communication that the Council has achieved among students, faculty and administration.

Kronk expressed his belief that the state of the arts at Notre Dame is looking "promising.

Future favorable

Black Studies closer to reality

by Mark Day

The future of the Black Studies Program seems to be very favorable, according to Assistant Professor Thomas J. Musial, chairman of the College Seminar.

The Program is now being discussed by the College and Letters College Council. Musial said he had been "led to believe that the disposition of the Council is on the whole favorable," and probably will be passed shortly with few, if any, modifications.

Candidates for the position of Director have been interviewed, and found, according to Musial, to be "Acceptable if not impressive" by the Afro-American Society, the administration, and members of the Academic Department of the candidate's field of study.

Musal, one of two faculty members selected by Fr. Hesburgh to study the concept of Black Studies in 1948, went on to outline the principles to which the Program is committed. He says there are three such principles: to fulfill "certain educational objectives through the formal procedure" (i.e., college area requirements necessary for graduation), to provide a "solid grounding in methods and substantive knowledge of one of the traditional academic disciplines," to bring about an "understanding of the contemporary Black experience in terms of the cultural and historical origins."

The program will require twenty-four hours of course work in one of the regular academic departments, plus twenty-four hours in Black Studies courses designated by the Director. Musial contends that this will be "consistent with the academic nature and policy of the Arts and Letters College," although academic credit will be given for off-campus experience that is "demonstrably relevant to a student's program of studies."

As of now, there are two Black Studies courses being taught under the auspices of the College Seminar and the English Department. Bill Turner, a graduate student in sociology, teaches an Afro-American Culture course, and Professor Richard Bizzetto teaches a course in Afro-American Art, which concentrates on Black literature and music since World War II.

An important goal of the Black Studies Program, according to Musial, is a special 5-year course that would offer remedial work to students who may need it once they are admitted. In this way, Musial contends, Notre Dame could admit students who have shown great potential but do not have the regular high school requirements. The program as Musial envisions it would not be limited to black students.

Another goal of the Program, Musial said, is the establishment of an Archives of Black Arts and Sciences. The Archives would contain work and historical and scholarly publications pertinent to the Black Studies Program.

The Observer

Friday, March 13, 1970

谑ably better," but stressed what he considered the need for more money to convert the Fieldhouse into a permanent Art Center.

"This," Kronk contended, "is the only way that we can bring campus artists together and nurture their talents. The community is still in dire need of realizing the integral part that the Arts play in a civilized academic community."

Kronk sees "an intense interest" in the arts at Notre Dame and cited the fact that attendance at the Student Arts Festival totaled over 3,000 to evidence his opinion. According to Kronk, the student art gallery, largest in Notre Dame history, attracted over 1,600 onlookers. Kronk termed the Festival "a tremendous success and a mandate to the community at large, students, faculty and administration to move forward in our efforts to realize a Center that can be a focal point for our activities."

The UAC chairman also noted Father Hesburgh's comment that the artist was the person who would be best able to save our society.

Kronk was quick to praise what he termed the "educational advantages of the Arts Center."

It should be obvious to anyone that our educational system is under grave attacks from responsible scholars who question its effectiveness and relevance. The bulk of these objections are to its rigidity. The rigidity of curriculum and the plausibility of the lecture method are focal points of this criticism. The Arts Center represents a unique experiment in innovative education and an attempt to provide educational opportunities for people whose structured program does not include education to the arts."

Kronk said, "Thus far we have met no opposition to our program. We have two months left before the university decides the fate of the Fieldhouse. We hope that those who make this decision on June 1 will be educated to the total concept of the Centre and realize the relevance of this concept of individual development to the community."

Future favorable

Black Studies closer to reality

by Mark Day

The future of the Black Studies Program seems to be very favorable, according to Assistant Professor Thomas J. Musial, chairman of the College Seminar. The Program is now being discussed by the College and Letters College Council. Musial said he had been "led to believe that the disposition of the Council is on the whole favorable," and probably will be passed shortly with few, if any, modifications.

Candidates for the position of Director have been interviewed, and found, according to Musial, to be "Acceptable if not impressive" by the Afro-American Society, the administration, and members of the Academic Department of the candidate's field of study.

Musal, one of two faculty members selected by Fr. Hesburgh to study the concept of Black Studies in 1948, went on to outline the principles to which the Program is committed. He says there are three such principles: to fulfill "certain educational objectives through the formal procedure" (i.e., college area requirements necessary for graduation), to provide a "solid grounding in methods and substantive knowledge of one of the traditional academic disciplines," to bring about an "understanding of the contemporary Black experience in terms of the cultural and historical origins."

The program will require twenty-four hours of course work in one of the regular academic departments, plus twenty-four hours in Black Studies courses designated by the Director. Musial contends that this will be "consistent with the academic nature and policy of the Arts and Letters College," although academic credit will be given for off-campus experience that is "demonstrably relevant to a student's program of studies."

As of now, there are two Black Studies courses being taught under the auspices of the College Seminar and the English Department. Bill Turner, a graduate student in sociology, teaches an Afro-American Culture course, and Professor Richard Bizzetto teaches a course in Afro-American Art, which concentrates on Black literature and music since World War II.

An important goal of the Black Studies Program, according to Musial, is a special 5-year course that would offer remedial work to students who may need it once they are admitted. In this way, Musial contends, Notre Dame could admit students who have shown great potential but do not have the regular high school requirements. The program as Musial envisions it would not be limited to black students.

Another goal of the Program, Musial said, is the establishment of an Archives of Black Arts and Sciences. The Archives would contain work and historical and scholarly publications pertinent to the Black Studies Program.
UN delegate blocs to meet

The delegates of this year's Model United Nations will have a chance to gather and discuss strategy with each other at six mock meetings this coming week. Tom McGowan, Meeting Co-chairman at the Model U.N., announced that the various delegations would be grouped under six geographical and/or philosophical blocks and each block would meet at 7:30 pm on Wednesday, March 18. The various blocks are the African Block, the Arab Block, the Asian Block, the Communist Block, the Western Block, and the Latin American Block. The African Block includes the delegates from Chad, Ghana, Malawi, Sierra Leone, Tanzania, Togo and Western Sahara. The Arab Block includes Kuwait, Jordan, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Syria and the United Arab Republic (Egypt). The Asian Block is composed of Afghanistan, Burma, India, Japan, Nepal, Pakistan, China and Thailand. The Communist Block includes Albania, Byelorussia, Russia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Ukrainian SSR, USSR, and Yugoslavia. The Western Block is Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Hungary, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, United Kingdom and the United States. The Latin American Block includes Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela. The blocks will meet in the following rooms:

- Latin America - 101 O'Shaughnessy Hall
- Western Block - 103 O'Shaughnessy Hall
- Communist Block - 104 O'Shaughnessy Hall
- Asain Block
- O'Shaughnessy Hall

SAIGON (UPI)
South Vietnamese troops reported killing 65 Viet Cong yesterday in one of two heavy battles through Mekong River Delta jungles. Field commanders appealed for all available air support as the second action raged into the night.

Intelligence reports have indicated that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have blocked the delta ricebowl the testing ground for U.S. Vietnamization program. Most American ground troops have been withdrawn from the area south of Saigon, leaving its defense to South Vietnamese.

The 65 Communists were reported killed in five hours of fighting that began at 1 p.m. on the edge of the U Minh Forest, a steaming swamp, bordered by many Vietnamese to harbor evil spirits. Two Communists were reported captured in a fight nine miles north of Tinh Binh and 128 miles southwest of Saigon.

Loses to men of the 21st Division of the South Vietnamese army were placed at seven killed, 28 wounded and three missing.

The second battle erupted yesterday when elements of the South Vietnamese army's 9th Infantry Division reported six heavy contacts with Communist units 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

Heavy Mekong fighting

The delegates of this year's Model United Nations will have a chance to gather and discuss strategy with each other at six mock meetings this coming week. Tom McGowan, Meeting Co-chairman at the Model U.N., announced that the various delegations would be grouped under six geographical and/or philosophical blocks and each block would meet at 7:30 pm on Wednesday, March 18. The various blocks are the African Block, the Arab Block, the Asian Block, the Communist Block, the Western Block, and the Latin American Block. The African Block includes the delegates from Chad, Ghana, Malawi, Sierra Leone, Tanzania, Togo and Western Sahara. The Arab Block includes Kuwait, Jordan, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Syria and the United Arab Republic (Egypt). The Asian Block is composed of Afghanistan, Burma, India, Japan, Nepal, Pakistan, China and Thailand. The Communist Block includes Albania, Byelorussia, Russia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Ukrainian SSR, USSR, and Yugoslavia. The Western Block is Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Hungary, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, United Kingdom and the United States. The Latin American Block includes Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela. The blocks will meet in the following rooms:

- Latin America - 101 O'Shaughnessy Hall
- Western Block - 103 O'Shaughnessy Hall
- Communist Block - 104 O'Shaughnessy Hall
- Asain Block
- O'Shaughnessy Hall

Three students in business management have brought home a national championship after competition with students from more than 40 universities and colleges at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Participants in the annual Business Game and Conference last weekend (March 6-8) include two seniors, Henry A. Berberi and James L. Brown of Elkhart, Ind., accompanied to Atlanta by their advisor, Donn J. Novotny, assistant professor of management.

The semester-long competition involves corporations and courses of action on hypothetical business opportunities supplied by the graduate business association of Emory University. Students use their background knowledge in the areas of accounting, finance, marketing and management, along with their skills in business science and operations research, to formulate workable solutions to a problem.

The solutions are then tested on a computer and representatives from participating schools are invited to Atlanta where they must defend decisions and actions before a panel of noted business experts.

The Notre Dame team was selected for first place at the concluding session Saturday.

The team was sponsored by the Management Club of Notre Dame and financed by area business firms, including St. Joseph Bank & Trust Co., Frank E. Sullivan Insurance Agency, Valley Bank & Trust Co., and South Bend Mishawaka Area Chamber of Commerce. The team had participated in only two previous games.

St. Mary's SSO presents

ADVISE & CONSENT
with Henry Fonda
Peter Lawford

Tonight 7:00 & 9:30
Carroll Hall 5.75
Carmen in minis

ROME (UPI) — Rome Opera House put Carmen in miniskirts for the first time and touched off a storm of protest yesterday by critics.

They didn’t like the fact the Opera was sung in French, its original language, and tut-tutted the miniskirts worn on stage by all the women in the cast.

The only thing about the new production Wednesday the critics agreed they liked were the long and slender legs of American soprano Grace Bumbry. Her short modern costume, tight in the bodice and full in the skirt, showed her slim but voluptuous figure to advantage.

“Lovely figure, beautiful legs,” said Il Messaggero critic Renzo Rossellini. Miss Bumbry evidently wore tights beneath her short costumes, which ranged in length from just above the knee to half way up the thigh. The chorus was also accented with black lace stockings which stopped just above the knee and showed a healthy expanse of flesh between stockings and skirts.

The first indications of modern dress came when the girls employed at the tobacco factory where Carmen works trooped onto designer Renato Guittoni’s Italian looking town square and wearing cotton minidresses covered with watermelon shaped print worn with jumbo polka dots.

Romeans show human side of designing

Rome — an historical center of architectural masterpieces — is also an exceptional teacher of design according to four architecture majors at Notre Dame.

Linae Kelliher, Westwood, Mass.; Kim Kristoff, Alexandria, Va.; Carlos Marin, Lima, Peru, and Evan La Duc, Decatur, Mich., are among 43 architecture majors 3 yr. students studying in Rome as part of Notre Dame’s first year-long academic program conducted in that city.

Describing their reactions to the new program in a taped interview in Rome with Dr. Otto F. Seeler, professor of architecture, the students offered comments, advice and criticism for their classmates.

The human element inherent in the most ancient buildings impressed Kelliher most. “These buildings were designed for men — people — and are still being enjoyed with their life-styles in mind. In the United States, people have to change their life-styles for the buildings.”

La Duc called the opportunity to view well-designed structures from many sides and under many conditions a prime advantage of the program. “A good building has many sides,” he explained, “and here you can see it every day, from every angle, with traffic and without traffic, with people and with no people, in all kinds of weather, during the day and at night.”

Marin agreed, adding that each visit to a well-designed structure yielded a new insight into detail, over-all design, or the subtle relationship of details to the shape, purpose and structure of the building.

The students added that the opportunity to live with Romans and get to know their architecture was enriched by the academic emphasis of the curricular. Architecture students in Rome take eight courses during the year, including design, sculpture, structural mechanics, historical research and Italian. The opportunity to integrate new insights or artistic concepts into design work immediately was seen as a significant stimulation of artistic effort.

In suggesting improvements for the second academic program to begin next fall, the students urged that the living quarters be moved closer to the center of Rome, where contact with the people and the historic buildings would be easier. They complained that the group formed an “American ghetto,” at the Hotel Raganelli, six miles from Rome, hindering their assimilation of the language and values of the city.

They also urged their colleagues at Notre Dame to prepare themselves for the Italian experience opened up by saying, “This is not a big holiday,” one student suggested, “but an opportunity to live and do, as well as to study.”

Father Sheedy, who was on leave from Notre Dame during the last academic year while serving as a consultant to the seven-school Boston Theological Institute, also cited the following trends in Catholic theology:

— A renewed interest in historical research and anthropology, in addition to the traditional sources — biblical passages, conciliar and magisterial documents, and standard theological writings.

— A renewed interest in systematic theology which reflects an openness to new theological speculation rather than the erudition-oriented dogmatic theology of the past.

— An increasing concern with pastoral theology, spurred by a specialization of ministries to serve distinct groups, as the poor and racially oppressed, and by the new possibilities for cooperation in ecumenical liturgical renewal.

URBAN TOWNS AND COUNTRYSIDE
A new program for students planning a specialty in urban studies was inaugurated at Notre Dame by the Rev. Charles E. Sheedy, C.S.C., writing in the January issue of the Boston University School of Theology’s alumni magazine, pointed to the demise of the approach to Catholic theology where “the teacher’s aim was to communicate the treatise, the student’s to learn it.”

Father Sheedy, who was on leave from Notre Dame during the last academic year while serving as a consultant to the seven-school Boston Theological Institute, also cited the following trends in Catholic theology:

— An increasing concern with pastoral theology, spurred by a specialization of ministries to serve distinct groups, as the poor and racially oppressed, and by the new possibilities for cooperation in ecumenical liturgical renewal.

— An enlarged view of theology which uses as sources or cognate learnings the research of Protestant scholars, the insights of existential philosophers and the findings of psychology and anthropology, in addition to the traditional sources — biblical passages, conciliar and magisterial documents, and standard theological writings.

— A renewed interest in systematic theology which reflects an openness to new theological speculation rather than the erudition-oriented dogmatic theology of the past.

“Contemporary Catholic theology,” Father Sheedy concludes, “is a theology in and for the Church, a pilgrim Church, changing and developing.”

Sheddy comments on changes in theology

News Meeting
5 p.m. today

THE FINALLY!!!
THE SHIRE

Keenan - Stanford Coffee House

featuring the sounds of

PAT CLINTON
JIM BALCERSKI
FOSTER & SMOLICK
ELLEN ZUICHER

and introducing
THE 100% AMERICAN DOG
Open Saturday 10:00 - 1:00
Admission: Residents $ .25 Non-Residents $ .75

Juniors, why not stop by AMERICA, with your parents, tonight.

for soft music, soft lights and a quiet place to talk. Open 11 PM to 1AM

REDUCED ADMISSION SAT.: $.75/couple $ .50/single
Letters to the Editor

The Observer

*Editor's Note: I hope that your point can be answered adequate­ly through the presentation in this essay. A little diversity of journalistic ethics here—and that we always have."

Among the many campaign sources, my firm probably has been the most, at least in my estimation, and has been mentioned by the candidate. The Observer is a little more than a few months old, and I have been working at it for the past few weeks. In fact, I have been arguing in favor of a clean campaign, and I do not believe that you are doing a fair thing."

"The line you quote from the Krashna story is not that the students, or even you, may have been true enough for their publica­ tions or that you have every newspaper that you wish to be. We may make mistakes but every newspaper has its own unique layout. We may have made mistakes, but we have to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

In your editorial today, you say, among other things, that you do not pretend to be another essay, with diverse views pre­ sented about the very diverse methods of writing. Murray-really, anyone who has been in varied publications, newspaper and every printer with whom I have come into contact with..."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be objective. That is the job of a newspaper. Yours, alas, has failed in this respect."

"...to be object
Kentucky ousts Irish, Carr shines

by Mike Pavlin

Observer Sports Editor

Columbus, Ohio -

Kentucky's unrelenting offense and unstoppable one-two punch of Dan Issel wore down an Irish regional, 109-99.

The Irish out-shot KU in a blazing fast 3rd quarter, 34.5% to 52.6%, and also came out ahead at the half and 59.7% in the entire game. Notre Dame simply couldn't keep pace with Adolf Rupp and Bill Self's 4th ranked Wildcats who shot 67.6% in the second half and 39.7% in the entire game.

Johnny Dee opened the same lineup he used against Ohio U., but his squad shot "only" 52% during the game and never could get their offense going near break even. The bright spot for the Irish was Austin Carr who put in a variety of baskets for 22 points. Carr missed the free throw, leaving the score at 87-86. Irish. And Issel scored from 16 feet and ND needed a bucket to hang on. Jones, however, missed a one

Ask Adolf Rupp. Austin Carr (shown above) should be on anyone's first team All-American selection.

South Ripley numbers only 418 students but at least 2,000 Versailles area fans have adopted the Raiders as their "boys" and will lend their vocal support to a bunch of guys who matched their school's first sectional and regional championships with victories at Batesville and Connersville.

Coach Dale Bicketts may not have a Bobby Plump, Milan's earthshaking maestro of the 1950s, but his chief gunner, Kevin Combs cannot be discounted. The six foot Comer is averaging 20 points a game and does a lot of feeding to a front line that measures 6-3, 6-1, 6-3. The Raiders have zipped through 25 games without a scratch to take the best record in the "Sweet Sixteen." The last time the Tigers made the "Field- house Four" in 1959, they were knocked out by Note: ISU.

Attacks is 22-5 and seeks its sixth state final berth. The last time the Tigers made the "Field- house Four" in 1959, they were knocked out by Note: ISU.

Attacks is 22-5 and seeks its sixth state final berth. The last time the Tigers made the "Field- house Four" in 1959, they were knocked out by Note: ISU.

Attacks is 22-5 and seeks its sixth state final berth. The last time the Tigers made the "Field- house Four" in 1959, they were knocked out by Note: ISU.

Attacks is 22-5 and seeks its sixth state final berth. The last time the Tigers made the "Field- house Four" in 1959, they were knocked out by Note: ISU.

Attacks is 22-5 and seeks its sixth state final berth. The last time the Tigers made the "Field- house Four" in 1959, they were knocked out by Note: ISU.