In a formulate, and confusing rally in the Stepdan Center last night, striking students voted to extend the strike until Friday, May 15, so that Notre Dame students and faculty can continue to oppose President Nixon's policy in Southeast Asia.

David Krashna opened the meeting by proposing that the strike be extended until Friday, May 15, so that students can continue to rally support for Father Hesburgh's statement to President Nixon, and so that a "communiversity" can be created which would continue teaching, writing, campaigning, and allow students to work in the South Bend community. As Fred Dedrick said, "You into the halls and chappel and ask if the discussions that are going on there are comparable in quantity and quality to anything you've ever heard at Notre Dame."

Notre Dame has been boycotted in student-led economic strikes.

A Programming Committee has been initiated by David Kanh to establish featured cultural and educational events for the "communiversity" set forth by the Krashna proposal at the mass meeting last night.

The Programming Committee will function as bookers, soliciting and recruiting agents for all special events to be scheduled over the duration of the strike. These special events are organized into the following activities:

1) Film
2) Lectures
3) Seminars andHall Discussions
4) Music Events

The Committee is in desperate need of volunteers to serve as programmers in the various activities listed above. Mr. Kanh will meet today at 7:00 p.m. at strike headquarters to draft organizers for the committee.

Mr. Kanh has stressed a need for involvement of faculty, SMC students, as well as Notre Dame students.

"Where are the S.G. Bureau- eau who go to mass meetings? We need organizers. We need help. Why can't Pat Dowdall work with us rather than prop- e to us," said Kanh last night.

Kanh is more concerned with the final decision of the strike than the mode of continued action. After the original proposal was presented, an alternate proposal was presented by Bernie Ryan, Pat Dowdall, Phil McKenna, Ed McCurtin, Bill Rule, and others, proposed that a decision on the continuation of the strike be delayed until Sunday, May 10. That group criticized what they viewed as "mass psychology" and "political masturbation."

A spokesman for Clark University in Worcester, Mass., has been set up as the National co-coordinator for the strike. The strike headquarters have also been set up as a regional clearing house for information.

Initiall the National Student Association made Notre Dame the national headquarters for the boycott because it wished to handle only the cashing in of savings bonds. But last night, Mike Shaughnessy and Steve Raymond, local organizers, were put in contact with Clark Uni- versus which was operating a similar program. It was decided that Clark was not to strike until Monday.

Clark University in Worcester, Mass., had been set up as the national coordinating center for the strike. The strike headquarters had also been established as a regional clearing house for information.

At the National Strike Head- quarters at Brandeis University, last night a meeting was held to determine what items would be boycotted by student-led economic power we can wield."

The Programming Committee will begin its reception of program ideas, suggestions, and bookings Saturday May 9 from 9 am to 5 pm.

David James will be coordinat- ing Music events in conjunc- tion with the committee.

Programming would relate to the issues of the strike. Sunday marks the first day of formal events.

Both speakers and students await tabulation of the vote on the one of the strike propositions presented at last night's strike hearing, though they also opposed United States' involvement in Southeast Asia.

"We think it's stupid for the strike. Notre Dame has been extended for the next eight days," Dowdall said. The students contended that actions over the weekend, such as a statement by President Nixon tomorrow night at his press conference at 10:00 p.m., could alter the present situation. A statement by the group said that the primary issue of the strike, U.S. involvement in Cambodia, "has been clouded by subsidiary issues: racism, sexism, militarism, imperialism, and even by the strike itself." The group proposed that canvassing in South Bend be carried out, that an alternative proposal for commencement exercises be considered, that extensive campaigns for Congressmen be conducted this summer and fall, and that a university symposium on the role of the university in national affairs be held the weekend of May 15th.

Booing and shouting against the proposal brought Phil McKenna to the microphone. The ex-SBP said, "The impres- sion is that if you don't strike, you're not opposed to the invasion of Cambodia, and go damn right it's not right!"

Fred Dedrick asked the crowd in return, "Did we ever say you were a traitor if you didn't strike?"

After some debate, Dave Krashna surprised the meeting by saying that the vote would be postponed until Sunday night. Confusion followed Krashna's decision, as many of the crowd shouted "Vote now!" Many of the supporters of Krashna's original proposal registered strong objections to his decision. Several blacks rushed to the stage and told their story to Krashna, objecting that racism was not a secondary issue, as Dowdall's proposal claimed. Fred Dedrick, obviously upset, shouted "This unilateral decision is going out the window!" There was confusion among the half presidents and caucus leaders as to what the students were to vote on. After the caucuses had left the Stepdan Center to decide as to whether the vote would be held then or on Sunday night, a decision was made to hold the vote then. The caucuses adjourned to determine whether to continue the strike until May 15, as Krashna had proposed, to hold another meeting Sunday night, as Dowdall had proposed, or to end the strike.

After a half-hour of discus- sion, the caucuses reconvened.

250 students voted to end the strike.
1,013 voted to suspend the strike until a Sunday night rally.
1,309 endorsed Krashna's proposal to continue the strike until May 15.

SMC Faculty caucuses; strike proposals drafted

SMC faculty met yesterday to determine their college's involvement in the current strike activities.

Although a "strike" banner flew outside Carroll Auditorium, inside, reaction to a student strike was mixed.

Three resolutions passed at the meeting prior to the student forum reflect this disagreement.

At the meeting, they agreed to support Fr. Hesburgh's Indo-Chinese declaration against President Nixon's policy, they instructed their officers to register this protest with members of Indiana's congressional and senatorial representatives.

Another resolution expressed sympathy for the student strike. Within this resolution, faculty expressed their sentiments about students wishing to "absent" or "withdraw" themselves from classes for the remainder of the semester.

They affirmed the prerogative of students to "absent" themselves from classes without fear of disciplinary action as long as they do the required work.

If a student wishes to "withdraw" from classes for the remainder of the term, she may do so without fear of retaliatory actions. She forfeits, however, all academic credit for the courses she is taking this semester.

Faculty may also use class time to discuss the Indo-Chinese situation as long as the objectives of the course are fulfilled.

Up against the wall

GREENVILLE, S.C. (UPI) - The four students killed at Kent State University "got exactly what they were entitled to," the president of Bob Jones University said yesterday.

Assembly planned vow non-violence

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Organizers of Saturday's war protest vowed Thursday they would demonstrate across the street from the White House although a federal judge ruled it off limits to them.

"We want to be nonviolent because we are about something far more serious than fun and games with the police in the streets . . . far more serious than side show violence," said David Dellinger of the Chicago Seven and one of the organizers.

Nevertheless, the New Mobilization Committee, New Mobe, coordinator of the protest, said it would go ahead with plans to assemble thousands of persons in Lafayette Square, a tree-lined park directly across Pennsylvania Avenue from the front of the White House.

If there is any violence, spokesmen claimed, it would be initiated by police, and they warned it would endanger members of Congress who would be in the forefront of the demonstration.

Strike activities calendar set
FRIDAY, MAY 8
Clashes are scheduled to be held at both schools, however, a number of professors have indicated that they will not participate in the strike. Picket signs are planned for both campuses on Monday and will be maintained all day.
At one time this afternoon, a general meeting to discuss the goals of the strike will be held in the CRCU, one of the classrooms.

There is a meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. today on the second floor of LaFortune to organize students interested in leafleting UAW shops in South Bend in preparation for Saturday's peace march.

Pickets advertising the march with a speech by UAW president, Walter Reuther attacking Nixon's decision to send troops into Cambodia on the flip side are intended for distribution by the leaflets.

A peace mass will be celebrated at 3 this afternoon on the SMC dining quad. Father McGrath will be participating.

For those interested in getting the University calendar changed next year to allow a longer time for planning the peace campaign for the November semester, a meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at Grace Hall.

An open invitation is extended to all who can come together at the main quad beginning around 7:30 p.m. The purpose of this is to relate with the South Bend community, and to fortify the canvassers for the Saturday canvas. There will be a repeat of this Saturday evening.
The South Bend community is invited to participate in this Sunday night.

Troops find enemy complex
WASHINGTON (UPI) - The White House confirmed Thursday that U.S. troops moving into the "Fishbok" area of Cambodia had uncovered a "major sophisticated enemy base complex."

He said the Allied operations and the opening of a new international lounge in the basement of LaFortune Student Center. Prominent among the honored senators were Cathy Burke, Mike Otto, Tom Hesler, and Fred Vogelweide. This party was described by all as the best ever held by the I.S.O. Among the people present were the Student Body President, the President of the Pan American Club, the Human Affairs Commission, and students from Barrat College, and Purdue University.

Earlier in the afternoon an I.S.O. basketball team had a game with Planner Tower in which the former lost 40-34. Initial success of the party gives the I.S.O. an optimistic future. Specifically, international students enrolled here have been planning for next year. For the first time in many years the members of the I.S.O. are full of hope and enthusiasm and now realize the great need for international exchange and fellowship. The I.S.O. has expanded its membership and by next year there may be an automatic membership for all foreign students.

An important I.S.O. general meeting has been planned for 11 a.m. on Saturday, May 9, to take place in the International Room in the basement of LaFortune.

SMC Academic Affairs Committee Meeting, 7:30 p.m.
An anti-ROTC caucus will meet tonight following Nixon's address this evening on the second floor ballroom of LaFortune.
Proposals to abolish ROTC will be discussed.
SATURDAY, MAY 9
There will be a peace march beginning at 1 p.m. sponsored by the U.S.B. Coalition for Peace. The march will begin at Sperker Park. An attempt has been made and police cooperation has been assured.

At 1:30 a.m. Saturday morning there will be a candlelight march originating at the SMC dining quad to the Notre Dame campus terminating at the administration building. Support from Notre Dame strikers is urged.

SUNDAY, MAY 10
There will be a meeting for all SMC Strikers in the Little Theater at 11 a.m.
There will be a meeting at 11 a.m. in Walsh Hall for all those students who are interested in campaigning for Vance Hartke and John Brownes.

Editor: Re: Your statement in yesterday's edition of the Observer, which I quote, "... but a risk that the Constitution restricts the consultation or the consent of the Congress which is charged with the responsibility of waging war."

A statement like this leads one, I believe, to the conclusion that the editorial staff of the Observer would rather have a mistake or an obvious error such as that of not even knowing what the Constitution is about, than to do a little research. Since no one at your office has bothered to do a little research, everyone knows. But also please note that the argument why not have quoted the 10th Amendment justifying the argument that you base on it (Art I, Sec 8) would be more in line with what I think you have in mind. It makes me shudder.

Letters to the Editor

Editor: Just what has been going on at Notre Dame for the past few days? Merely a strike protesting the extension of U.S. military activity into Cambodia? Maybe, but more probably than that has been going on here since Monday for am all the moronic indignation, clenching, fist-ranting and sign-painting characterizing our campus. One can discern a forbidding blur, slowly wheezing its way through the whole community - the thread of mob irrationality.

Now, I don't care who you are, or with which political adjective you describe yourself - you have to admit that one part of Monday's get-together on the main quad ran counter to the principles of ordered and rational dialogue. I'm speaking of that segment of the program during which hundreds of students repeatedly chanted "Strike!" while raising clenched fists. Such a scene will bring back old memories to communists of World War II film clips, simply substituting "Heil, Hitler!" for "Strike!" and the Nazi salute for the raised fist - what have you got? Mob irrationality, that's what. Obviously, the purposes behind ND's gathering and Hitler's pep rallies are so diametrically opposite that they seem to belie any comparison. However, our assembly might have been similar to a Nazi mob in a result it could have produced - the removal of the individual who through his incorporation into that nebulous crowd. You know as well as I that a person in an excited mass which can gain hope and joy of people might well be agitated to do something he would never do individually, because he would know, individually, he would be nailed for any harm that the crowd could do.

And that's my point in speaking about the perils of mob action, once the individual frees himself from his responsibility as a man by losing himself in an excited mass. Such a condition is totally incompatible with the modern democratic civilization that prevails on most campuses today. And I hope that those of us who truly wish to be our own men will recognize the dangers of throwing in our cards with a crowd that seeks to change the world immediately.

I'm not saying that Notre Dame is about to be swamped with bob-and-bob mob rule. But I saw traces of it Monday after- noon. Anything is possible when feelings run as high as they have this week. In short, the students are present in force, which is a tightrope and it isn't strong enough to hold an irrational throng.

Thanks for your time, Tim Westman

In Our Blindness We Venerate Individuals...
An observation by Steve Lazar

| Easy Writer by Pete Peterson |

Cold Snap

d(6) deeply meaningful literary effort

Holden Caulfield stepped out of the door of Pezest Hall into the chilling blast of the MidWestern winter. The wind-whipped snow crystals bit like tin needles into the back of his neck, and he paused, juggling his books as he pulled the collar of his fleece jacket up to the chin. He walked through the front doors of the library into the hall, the snowflakes sliding renewable of the chin, the sun. The snowdrifted over the library steps, and the blue-snow blanket of overhanging leaves in a dancing mosaic. And Pamela were suddenly everywhere together; hand in hand walking by the lake, evolved into something great and beautiful, a love that blossomed in the Indiana College of the Blessed Virgin. He hastened to help her gather her books.

But something's wrong. Some type of study comes moving through the crowd, getting the feeling of things, moving through the swirl of beer and beer and the smell of cigarette butts putrifying the air, but he's not doing the study thing, he's doing something else. He turns to the other side of the library, the shifting sand of the Kalahari, ever changing in their pattern.

He thought of that night often since then. He thought about those stars as he watched the sky that glittered down at them.

I'm sick of that. I'm sick of scum and filth covering the rivers and lakes of our nation. I'm sick of tons of dead fish on Lake Michigan. I'm sick of scum-covered bones of a once great nation. They have preyed upon the personal greed of our politicians for their own gain. And we, the people of the United States, get nothing but the garbage and filth. I also know that this country had better wake up to the 1970's, or else there won't be a country in another few years. If our foreign enemies don't destroy us, this nation will die of pollution. We have to face up to the facts of the times we live in, or the blind power of the men in authority. We, the people of America, must speak out and demand that our politicians clean up the mess they have created. Otherwise, we risk losing our freedom and democracy.

Sure. I'm sick and tired of a lot of things. I'm mad at a lot of people. But most of all I'm mad at myself, because I honestly don't know where I stand, or where I'm going.

I do know that Mr. Nixon had better wake up to the fact that many people, and many, many brilliant minds, disagree with him. If they want change, they must be listened to. I agree with them. We, the people, are the ones that must be heard. We, the people, are the ones that must be listened to.

SMC students meet to discuss strike

SMC students met yesterday to discuss SMC's involvement in the student strike.

The student forum, which followed a special faculty meeting where some of the faculty endorsed both the strike and Fr. Hesburgh's May 4 pronouncement, as well as deciding not to penalize students for absenting or withdrawing from classes,

Karen Weller, one of the coordinators for the strike, announced that discussion would be confined to Indo-China, U.S. separation of power, and the Kent State catastrophe.

Although Miss Weller requested that discussion stay on these topics, it centered on a debate over the rights of students. Do they have the right to strike? Do those wishing to attend school during the strike have that right?

"My education is preparing me for life," stated Pat McCusker. "I don't want to be denied my education. This isn't going to be the only political crisis that I will deal with in my life."

Opposing this view, Carol Quick remarked, "The Faculty did a good job, but time is limited. I propose that if 50% of the students vote to strike, then we should receive no grade and only academic credit. The strike should be a positive thing."

Gail Connolly suggested some positive actions. "My phone taxes go directly to war. Don't pay that tax. Refuse to smoke cigarettes, to drink liquor, or to buy jewelry which all have high luxury taxes. By controlling the tax money, you control the war."

She also added that burning down draft boards doesn't help. "Instead, write a letter to the selective service, signing it with your first initial and your last name. Pretend that you are a boy. They'll never know the difference and you can mess up and bother them."

Baton is united and so is Boston. They're waiting for the rest of the world to catch up," she added.

To most of the students at the meeting, however, it was evident that SMC is not united.

Prudence Wear, a senior, summarized the debate. "We're factionalized," she said. "Don't fight among yourselves. Stick to one issue or don't bother at all."

Appointments to various student government offices were announced by Ann Marie Tracey and Jean Gorman, SBP and SBVP, this week. The remaining positions will be announced Monday night.

Appointed as Student Body Treasurer was Carol Lacey, who will be responsible for the budget and monetary needs of all of the branches of student government next year. The new Student Body Secretary will be Martha Coyne, a sophomore.

The Students Services organization director for next year is Diane Shahade. Her office entails the administrating of campus services and coordinating all the commissions activities in the SSO.

The SSO contains many committees including the Academic Activities, Community Relations, Social commission, Student Development, and Publications.

The commissioners for three of these committees were also announced. In charge of Academic activities will be Mary Underman and the new Community Relations Commissioner is Pegge Aste. In charge of public relations for the SSO will be Carey Friday.

To the Space Allocation Committee, which determines how all areas in the buildings will be utilized, were appointed two student representatives, Barb Ramon and Ann Meuleman.

Rose Ann Wolfe was appointed Fire Safety Captain and she will be the chairman of the Fire Safety Committee.

The Presidential Committees were also filled this week. Mary Ellen Satullo was placed in charge of public relations, Ann Siebenaller will head the Drug Committee, Kathy Eglet, the Sex Education Committee, Nancy O'Neill, the Student Rights Committee and for off-campus, Kathy Barlow.

Ann Marie and Jean chose these girls after interviewing them and they said the main criteria was a specific interest in the subject.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The 25 year old liaison man between the Nixon administration and the nation's students quit yesterday to protest what he called high official's implied approval of "even the most vicious tactics" against legitimate dissent.

Anthony J. "Toby" Moffett, appointed last September to head a new Office of Students and Youth by Education Commissioner James E. Allen, said his resignation was prompted by "what I fear is a very dangerous attitude in our country."

"The recent remarks by the President concerning student protestors were most instrumental in my decision," Moffett said.

"They confirmed what thousands of students have believed or suspected for some time: namely, that the President and his most trusted advisors do not view themselves as leaders of all the American people, that they do not have the best interests of youth in mind, and, most tragically, that they will sanction even the most vicious tactic against young people and other legitimate political dissenters."

Moffett said the "increasingly repressive character of this administration" continually undercut his efforts to convince young people to work for change through channels.

When Allen appointed him, the commissioner described his job as that of "an advocate for youth within the Office of Education."

But Moffett said "high ranking officials" of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare were "often more concerned with protecting what they perceived to be the political interests of the President" and other administration officials than with problems of the young.

He did not name the officials, but made it clear he did not refer to either Allen or HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch. He said that in a conversation with Finch yesterday morning, "I sensed...as I had sensed before that he is very, very troubled indeed about what he is going to do."

A Syracuse University graduate from Suffol, Conn., Moffett said he made his decision after the President's move into Cambodia and after Nixon referred to student protestors as "bums."

He said it was a "very personal kind of decision" and that none of the other 11 members of his staff planned to resign, although the entire staff "has been doing a great deal of reflecting" about the effectiveness of their efforts.

Irish take two, near .500 mark

by Steve O'Connor
Observer Sportswriter

Big innings in two games Wednesday afternoon, the Irish record to 10-11 after the diamond men crushed Hildale 13-0 and Detroit 7-4. Wednesday a six-run sixth and a seven-run eighth provided the observing and Thursday a three-run fourth and sixth, respectively.

Wednesday, at Hildale, Jim Phelps, a senior leftfielder, struck out, pitching a complete game shutout with thirteen strikeouts. Both pitchers dominated the early going pitching perfect games through four innings. They each lost their no-hitters in the fifth and sixth. The Irish batters destroyed the dual shutouts. Tom O'Connor opened the frame by striking out, but pitcher Phelps got things started with a single. Rob Voitier followed with a double to put runners on second and third for the first time this season. The Irish scored them both with a single. Bob Roemer kept things alive by doubling to knock in Scarpelli with the third run. Rich Lucke then singled and scored with Roemer on Horan's single. After Krill's ground out Bill Orga singled in the second, and the Irish scored when two runners on base, sin singles by Orga (who was out trying for two), O'Connor and Phillips scored. Two. Voitier struck out, Scarpelli walked, Roemer singled and Lucke walked to load the bases. Consecutive walks to Horan and Krill scored two more before Orga again closed the scoring with two RBI's on his single.

On Thursday, Notre Dame fell behind at the outset 1-0 tied it in the second and grabbed a 4-1 lead in the fourth that they never relinquished. They added a two-run rally in the sixth and ran away with it. Bill Orga drove in his fifth run of the season with a two-run double in the sixth inning and awarded two insurance runs in the seventh.

Mickey Karkut another senior lefty survived two different visits to the mound by Coach Jake Knisley and two-run homer by Greg Tolston in the sixth to go 0-0 on the route. Detroit drew first blood off Karkut in the first, scoring a run on three singles. The Irish were out in order in the first but Rich Lucke got things started by leading off the inning with a walk. A chuck Horan struck out and Krill popped a foul before red-hot Bill Orga drove in his fifth run of the season with a ground-rule double that narrowly missed carrying out in right-center, Tom O'Connor struck out to end the inning.

Karkut again put the leadoff man on in the fifth but a slick double play cleaned the bases. Sweney popped out for the third out. The Irish added a run in the sixth on a walk, a double on Scarpelli's double, a wild pitch, and an error. Detroit picked up three runs in the sixth on a walk, double by second baseman Greg Tolston and an error by catcher Rich Lucke. Rich Lucke walked to load the bases.

Baseball - The Irish will try to make it four straight in the first time this season. Their travel to Cincinnati for a Saturday doubleheader and play a single game Sunday versus Xavier.

Football - The third annual Blue-Gold Football Game will be held this Saturday afternoon in the stadium. The first team offense and defense will compete the blue and orange and the second team will be the mainstays on the Gold (white jerseys) team.

Lacrosse - The stickmen have had their game with Ohio State cancelled due to the student strike in Columbus.
