Claim the war unjust
by Rich Smith

Four professors and a graduate student talked about the legality and the morality of war in an informal and the Indochina conflict in particular, in a panel discussion yesterday afternoon in the LaFortune Student Center.

Rev. John L. McKenzie, S.J., began the program with a talk on the third condition of the just war ethic to Indochina. Saying that the just war theory was philosophically as relevant as the question of how many angels can sit on the head of a pin, Father McKenzie outlined the four basic qualifications used in the Judgement of the justice of a war.

In this affair, this country does not have the slightest idea of what it is trying to do.

Saying that the moral law had lost a great deal of influence in the modern world, Wolves McKenzie maintained that the ethics of the just war was crucial to the "ethics of judiciary, where all other means have been exhausted, there is a problem of the means used and the ends desired, and there is a reasonable hope of success."

Father McKenzie then went on to define the American War ethic as "when your enemy is down, you kick him." He said that the war in Indochina "violated about every canon of international law and, in reference to rationalizations concerning the alleged massacre of My Lai, "I do not believe that we let the enemy set the ethical tone that we are any better than they.

In concluding his address, Father McKenzie noted that the Vietnam war is "totally immoral operation. For anyone with a conscience, the only thing to do is to stop it."

"Said Pope George William of the history department talked on the legal aspects of the Cambodian invasion. City of past occasions when U.S. Presidents have used military forces without previous consultation with Congress, Williams said that the current attempts by Congressmen to cut off funds for any further operations in Cambodia were "merely expressions of intent and disapproval, since there is already enough money and supplies over there to support another operation. In fact, there is no way to limit the President's power except by impeachment, censorship, a plebiscite, or the power of the people."

Williams then outlined the Nixon administration's foreign policy aimed at securing American interests in the area. He said that the U.S. promises to honor commitments to foreign governments to extend a shield over South Asia, and to provide Asian governments with war and support upon request.

Maintaining that international policy cannot be altered by a "responsible" statement from President, Williams said that we have been served in a similar capacity for the Crime and Delinquency Project of the Toledo Model Cities Program. Scott is fluent in Spanish and was a Pathologist professor to Argentina in the summers of 1967 and 1969. His publications have appeared in a variety of professional journals, including the American Sociological Review, the American Journal of Sociology, and Trans-

Under the Notre Dame Black Studies Program, a student will pursue a double major, one in Black Studies and one in a regularly established department of the University program. The director will certify both the courses taught within the Black Studies Program and those already offered by regular departments toward a Black Studies major.

Newly appointed Black Studies head Joseph Scott

Hall effort stressed in frosen orientation

Survey reveals uncertainty
Nixon's policy questioned

NEW YORK (UPI) - An unusually large number of American negroes appeared undecided as to whether they support or oppose the United States move into Cambodia. The Suedsyn survey reported Thursday.

A poll conducted by the Suedsyn organization over a period of four days, May 9-12, indicated that as many as 25 million Americans felt they still were not in position to make a sound judgment.

The poll was conducted by telephone from the Suedsyn headquarters in Norwalk, Pa., and posed the question to 1,651 persons around the country in the form of a yes or no response.

"Do you agree or disagree with President Nixon's decision?" announced last week on Cambodia?"

The 44.7 percent who either said they had no opinion or declined to answer were asked to account for their positions. The responses fell into four major categories:

- Don't understand the war or what the President is trying to do: 17.9 percent.
- U.S. troops should be sent home immediately: 4.3 percent.
- Do not want to see Senate reaction: 6.1 percent.
- Not aware of all of the facts, or not capable of reaching a sensible decision: 41.0 percent.

Erald S. Suedsyn, president of the market research firm, said this latter 43 percent of poll respondents signify that about 25 million Americans did not have sufficient facts to make a sensible decision.

The problems that will affect the freshman, socially and scholastically.

The HAC is stressing an informal orientation according to Rodriquez. The commission will distribute an introductory brochure and an informal reading list to all freshmen. The list will not be a departmental or required list, but a list that the commission hopes will show the freshmen that there are other problems at a university besides scholastic ones.

Candon said the commission has suggested a mandatory meeting between freshmen and their provost. It was also recom-
THE OBSERVER

Discuss war crimes, History of conflict

Professor Robert Bechtov, a physicist in the Engineering Department, concluded the program with a talk on the need for an international body to keep the peace.

Budweiser
is the only beer in America
that’s Beechwold Aged
(But you know that.)

Senior academic awards announced

Leo A. Lensing, Lake Providence, La., and James J. O’Connell, III, Newport, R.I., have been named valedictorian and salutatorian for the University of Notre Dame’s 1970 June graduating class, according to Leo M. Corbett, assistant vice-president of academic affairs.

TMH seen as head in Paris

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A Democratic congressman was quoted as saying last week that he planned to present to President Nixon Wednesday a letter to Prime Minister Sato of Japan urging that that nation’s forces be withdrawn from South Vietnam as part of the peace negotiations.

We get carried away when you come around... and we love it!
Canvassing continues

21,000 signatures obtained in drive

by Tom Bonnholdt

Canvassing for signatures in support of Rev. Theodore Hesburgh's declaration in opposition to President Nixon's actions in Cambodia should be limited if possible today or tomorrow, according to Fred Dedrick, a member of the canvass committee. He said yesterday that about 21,000 signatures had been obtained. An additional 4,000 were expected over the weekend.

Dedrick said that Hesburgh would probably be taking signatures, or perhaps only the total number, to a Nixon advisor some time next week.

Dedrick also said that the totals would be transmitted to Indiana Senators Birch Bayh and Vance Hartke, and Representative John Brademas at the request of their respective offices.

In general, Dedrick felt, the canvass was successful. He wanted particularly to commend his fellow committee members.

Enter Cambodia again

SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. supported column of South Vietnamese tanks thrust into Cambodia Thursday and opened an eleventh front in the allied offensive against Communist sanctuaries. The two-week campaign so far has sent the American casualty rate to its highest level in eight months (168 dead).

The new allied thrust across the border in the Central Highlands region came as U.S. infantrymen moving through jungles of Cambodia's Fishhook area reported finding a computer "readout sheet" and other evidence of the long sought Communist field headquarters known as COVVN Central Office for South Vietnam.

"I think we have found the area where a part of COVNN used to be," Maj. Gen. Edward Banta, commander of the 21st Infantry Division, said of the zone which President Nixon has ordered destroyed. Banta said the find was about 10 miles inside Cambodia and 90-95 miles northwest of Saigon.

Deeper inside Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were reported beeng the province capital of Takeo 45 miles south of Phnom Penh and preventing relief forces from reaching the city.

A Phnom Penh newspaper said U.S. 852 air raids in Cambodia had killed Hugnh Tan Phat, prime minister of the Viet Cong's Provisions Revolutionary Government.

The new front across the Vietnam border into Cambodia was opened Thursday by several thousand men of the 22nd Division of the South Vietnamese army. Official communiques said they drove at least 10 miles over the border in a mountainous region west of the central highlands 215 miles northeast of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese Defense Ministry said the area is about 15 to 20 miles south of the Se San River basin west of Pleiku province where U.S. and South Vietnamese forces first drove last week.

U.S. headquarters said no American ground forces were involved but that U.S. helicopter gunships, jet fighter bombers and other "logistical support" were behind the South Vietnamese.

John Rudolf, Steve Raymond, Mike Nerlie, Bill Driscoll, Gary Gereffi, and Bill Walters, for their diligent work.

Dedrick said that the recent heavy rain reduced the number of people, so that yesterday only three canvassers were sent out. An estimated 1,600 students, at one time or another, canvassed in Stough Bend and St. Joseph County.

Money has been a problem for the canvass committee. It was estimated that by today, a total of $250 would have been spent—$150 on paper, $50 for phone bills, $10 for stamps and $10 for miscellaneous expenses.

Steve Raymond remarked that the committee was very unsure on how they were going to pay, but commented that they were accepting donations, selling posters with the words, "War or Peace, the choice is yours," and trying to set up a musical benefit next week to help meet expenses.

Until today, the canvass committee has been using the Student Union offices. A committee member said that permission for this was issued by Bob Pohl. The officers are also being used by the economic boycott committee, which, though there is a considerable overlap of people and resources, is a separate organization from the canvass group.
New Jersey was presented during consideration of Military Procurement Authorization Bill on May 6, 1970.

Mr. Chairman: I rise in support of the Leggett Amendment; the amendment states that in the opinion of the Congress there is no intention of widening or prolonging this frustrating war.

The Leggett Amendment will in no way endanger the ground combat troops that have already unfortunately, been deployed into neutral Cambodia. Its effective date is July 1, 1970—a date by which the United States has assured yesterday that all of our troops will be out of that country.

But the Leggett Amendment in many ways goes beyond its stated purview. It is the opposition of the Congress to fulfill its Constitutional responsibility to the American people. It gives us the opportunity to speak against continuing senseless killing of other human beings, both ours and our enemies. It especially will show to the young people of America that there is indeed an "other world" we can build.

Mr. Chairman, during periods of social upheaval, when people are faced with inescapable challenges, they either rise to the occasion, face what must be faced, and do what must be done, or else they collapse, and go looking for scapegoats.

In any opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.

In my opinion, a large percentage of our older generation has failed to rise to the occasion, cannot bear to face what must be faced, or do what must be done, and has wholly collapsed, seeking only then any scapegoat, to satisfy his wounded pride. And the scapegoat it wants to fear apart, most especially, is the politically active and younger generation.

Let me explain, so there won't be any confusion about it. I am not speaking in favor of the ones who burn down college buildings, inimidate school officials, break the laws, and interrupt the way. I am speaking in favor of the ones who want to know how we can travel always with us, but I am not talking about them.

Rather, I am talking about those who have seen us as we are, and taking part in that. They may engage in quiet but persistent questioning of our position, our policies, of our failure. But they are right, and there is no getting around it.
Let it Bleed

The Strike on other Catholic Campuses

by Mike Chapman

Everything is running smoothly now at Notre Dame. Students, faculty, and administration have agreed that the current national situation is serious enough to warrant a suspension of normal activities. The community's patriotism is being made aware of our feelings. The university is alive and constructive.

At other Catholic universities in the midwest the situation is much different. The administration has agreed that the current national situation is serious enough to warrant a suspension of normal activities. The community's patriotism is being made aware of our feelings. The university is alive and constructive.

The president of Marquette had previously refused to work out any compromise with the strikers. No one knows for sure, but it seems highly probable that the incidents are related to this.

Meanwhile, the Young Republicans are passing out literature at Loyola calling for the faculty to flank the strikers. To add to the mess, three nights ago a small firebomb was thrown into the ROTC building. Some militant student groups have threatened the university. The language is often a barrier, if anything it enhances the show.

The best thing since the Golden Gate is in a rear view mirror

by Franklin Divine

"Yes, I want to review Carmina WHAT?"

"But I don't know a damn thing about it." Frank retorted, "No joke Pete, I've spent the last week passing out pamphlets and canvassing, and these Tatzar names won't even give you the time of day."

"Say, Frank, why do you bother?"

"Why do I bother? Jesus Christ, Pete, look around you! There are people being killed every goddam day, and nobody here cares! These stupid screwed-up idiots don't care about anything but getting drunk and smashing up things. They never see the next weekend!"

"Looks like you've got your work cut out for you."

"Yeah, it's an uphill battle getting people to stop and think and start living like they say they do every Sunday."

"Yeah, I guess so. Listen, Frank, so what else have you been up to?"

"Man, like I said, I've been busy as Hell."

"You been eating and sleeping too, haven't you?"

"Well, what happened on Carmina Burana?"

"That's kind of a long story. Chris kind of messed up last summer. She's gone, man."

"Wow, what happened?"

"Well, we were getting a lot of hassles from her folks and my folks. You know, about grades and bolting and dope. So we just split, and did a thing in Chicago, and her folks called up to tell us she was with some suspicious looking people for about six cops and I got to go to hell! Frank glanced down at his watch. "I've been to get, we're having a teach-in at the front of Marquette Hall. Our folks found out and came up and started screaming about cops and I told them we're having a teach-in at the Golden Dome through a rearview mirror. Carmina is in a 13th century happening!"

The whole thing had all the wild dizzying images, irreverence and joy that the contemporary stage seems to capture. Carmina had every bit of spontaneity that Hair pretends to have. And the music was even more improbable.

The show is taken from a series of 13th century poems discovered in a Bavarian monastery in the early 1800's. The whole thing was set to music by Carl Orff in 1936. The program guide informs me that this is a "scenic cantata for soloists, large chorus, and orchestra" whatever the hell that is. It's just, it is, it isn't. It is a group of talented people sharing their music and their fun with an audience.

I got from six trillion places at once.

"What's the top of the piece?"

"That kind of a long story. Chris kind of messed up last summer. She's gone, man."

"What? The topic?"

"Christianity and pacifism. It ought to really get some people thinking around here."

Poetry Reading

by Dan O'Donnell

"Elegy" (after E. E. Cummings)

Joe Matthies has announced a poetry reading by his creative writing class scheduled for Sunday, May seventh, at three P.M. in the Auditorium.

Featured will be Michael Patrick O'Connor, Rob Bartlett, Steve Biron, John Hessler, Roy Holmes, Ken Manings, Pat Moran, Marilyn Reed, Vince Sherry and John Stup. In addition, Edward Kronk will display his experiments in concrete poetry and Bill Merkle will present a grouping of form and content to express the artist's message.

The reading promises to be the best student exhibition of the year. All are invited. There is no admission fee.
Historian Lynd praises ND strikers enthusiasm

LYND said that canvassing has been very important to the strike because it represents a constructive effort on the part of the students. He stated that in many areas there has not been any enthusiasm that is seen in the Notre Dame-South Bend area. "There is more reaching out to the community at Notre Dame than in any part of Chicago," said Lynd.

Lynd felt that the strike has brought many results; the most significant of which is the main turn-in of draft cards. "Most draft cards were turned in last week that in the past two or three years," he said. Also he thought that it was very important that this movement should not die out, but become a "Pop Rally" for the Congressional elections of next year.

Lynd also promoted the idea of better planning in the timing of demonstrations. He said that most demonstrations of importance occur in April or May when there is very little time left to bring about anything constructive. Students must take the example of labor unions and strikers when the Administration is most vulnerable.

"Also he thought that his presentation was devoted to students who wanted to talk of the feelings they had when they were out canvassing. They talked of "frustration," "closed doors," "arrogance" and other things they found as they were out working. One of the students said that he went out trying to teach, but instead found that learning should be the primary goal.

Labor strikes discussed

sophomore may start placing ring orders NOW

ATTENTION ALL SOPHOMORES

Sophomores may start placing ring orders NOW

Hours: 1:30-4:30 Monday Thru Friday in office on second floor of ND Bookstore

Get outta town without leaving campus. Dial Direct.
The lowest long distance rates are in effect every school night and all day Saturdays.

Indiana Bell

Use your long distance calling number. Save time.
Dial your own calls.

The observer}
The President of Saint Mary’s College, Mr. John J. McGrath, hosted a dinner for the faculty Wednesday evening in the College Dining Hall. The dinner was the occasion for the official announcement of faculty promotions and of the winner of the Spes Unica Award. Presented annually since 1958, the Spes Unica Award is bestowed on a boy or religious faculty member in recognition of eminent service to the College in some particular aspect of its development.

Receiving academic promotions are:

Dr. William Hickey, assistant professor of biology, named full professor. A member of the St. Mary’s faculty since 1964, Dr. Hickey received his B.S. from King’s College and his M.S. and Ph.D. from the University of Notre Dame. Involved in research on the population genetics of the Aedes aegypti mosquito, he was named a U.S. Public Health Research Fellow and has co-authored a monograph on insect-borne disease for the World Health Organization.

Dr. Josephine Barallat, assistant professor of Spanish, named an associate professor. A graduate of the University of Barcelona with bachelor’s and master’s degrees, Dr. Barallat received her Ph.D. from the University of Salamanca, Spain. She taught in Spain and at Villa Madonna College, Covington, Kentucky, before joining the St. Mary’s faculty in 1965.

Dr. Thomas G. Conway, instructor in history, named an assistant professor. Dr. Conway received his bachelor’s degree from Loyola University in Chicago, his master’s from Southern Illinois University and his Ph.D. from Loyola University. A specialist in the social and economic history of England, he taught at Loyola University and Chicago Teachers College before coming to St. Mary’s in 1967.

Mr. Donald Miller, instructor in mathematics, named assistant professor. A member of the St. Mary’s faculty since 1967, he was formerly on the faculty at the University of Notre Dame.

A graduate of Kent State University with a B.S., Mr. Miller received his master’s degree from the University of Notre Dame. Miss Judith Quinteros, named an assistant professor. Miss Quinteros holds a bachelor’s degree from Liceo de Ninas in Talca, Chile, and her M.A. from the University of Chile. Prior to joining the St. Mary’s faculty in 1966, she taught in the Peace Corps Program at Rutgers University, the University of Notre Dame and in Chile.

Plan campaign committee

Government professor John Roos is organizing a Notre Dame Committee for a New Congress as a part of a nationwide movement originated at Princeton to work for peace candidates in the fall Congressional elections.

According to Pat McDonough and Pat Dowdall, two of the student organizers, the Committee will hold an organizational meeting Sunday night in Washington Hall at 8:00 p.m. The purpose of the meeting, the two said, was threefold. First, to get a commitment from students and faculty to work for certain candidates over the summer and next fall. Second, to place them in campaigns that are crucial in the peace movement. And third, to provide information and training for the people on campus in relation to their potential work in the campaign.

In the remaining few weeks of the school year, the group hopes to establish a series of seminars on campaign techniques. A secondary emphasis will be on voter registration. Some of the things being covered in the seminars will be speechwriting, map systems, conducting polls, precinct organizing and working with the media.

Tonight at

TONE IT! 3 Rated X
Proof of Age Required

The heat of the summer became... and exposed all the bold research of secret passions of young innocence...

A daring study in male and female adultery behavior!!

BONUS - FRIDAY ONLY

The whole scandalous story... shock by shock!

Answering Service - IN - CAR HEATER
Irish athletes wrap-up seasons

by Terry Shields
Observer Sports Editor

Baseball

The Notre Dame baseball team will attempt to bounce back from its first setback in six games when it faces off against Irish take on Wayne State of Detroit this afternoon in a single game. The game is scheduled for 3:00 p.m. at Carter Field. The ND nine will also play Wayne State tomorrow afternoon in a doubleheader starting at 1:00 p.m.

The Irish are carrying a 12-12 record into this weekend’s activity and if they can sweep this series from the invaders from Motown they will assure themselves of a winning record for the season. The only games remaining will be Monday with Northwestern at home and a final road game on Tuesday at Valparaiso.

Although their record is not the best in the country, the squad showed a lot of pride coming back from a dismal 1-10 record at one point in the season.

Tennis

The final two regular season tennis matches of the spring will be held this weekend and both of them are on the Notre Dame courts. The first will feature the Irish against the Fallon’s netters facing Bowling Green at 2:00 and tomorrow Ball State from Muncie, Ind., will provide the opposition.

ND’s ledgers shows a 13-6 mark. Their play of late has been improving and a few more victories will make the season a success.

Golf

After one of their roughest seasons in history the Notre Dame golf team has come home to host its own tournament. The match will be held this Saturday on the Burke Memorial Golf Course.

Other teams participating in this annual classic are Ball State, Southern Illinois, Northern Illinois, Western Illinois, Miami (Ohio), Central Michigan, Michigan, Eastern Michigan and Cincinnati. Perhaps Fr. Clarence Durbin’s boys can finish the season on a bright note by capturing the title to their own tournament.

Sailing

The Sailing Club travels to Bloomington, Indiana for their biggest and most important regatta of the year. Chuck Taylor’s sailors must place in one of the top two positions if they have any hope of gaining national acclaim. Only the first two teams in scoring will be able to compete in the National tournament in June.

Track

The track team will compete in their final dual meet of the season Alex Wilson’s team has traveled to West Point, N.Y. to meet the Cadets of the U.S. Military Academy. The Irish feature a very strong field squad led by the record setting discus man Paul Gill and Elio Politi, the shot putter.

The track squad is also capable of getting some points for the Irish. Some of the more valuable runners are Joe Quaid, in long distances and Rick Woolhiser in middle distances.

Rugby

The rugby club will seek revenge this weekend when they take on the Chicago Lyons Rugby Club. Lyons won the Midwest rugby tournament two weeks ago and the Irish were banking on taking that championship. Mike Petteni, club president, would like nothing better than for his boys to “wipe up” on the team that spoiled the ND bid to be kings of the midwest.

Lacrosse

The lacrosse team will also be in Chicago this weekend. The Irish will battle the Chicago Lyons in the National League.

MAJOR LEAGUES

American League

East

Baltimore W L 33 22 710

Detroit 15 14 517 6

New York 17 16 516 5

Boston 16 17 467 7

Washington 13 18 419 9

Cleveland 16 17 370 10

West

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

Oakland 16 15 500 5

Seattle 16 15 500 5

Chicago 11 21 344 10

San Francisco 10 20 .333 6%

California 21 10 .677 2

Los Angeles 17 14 .548 6

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

Minnesota 11 21 344 10

New York 17 16 516 5

Chicago 13 17 .433 8

Oakland 16 15 500 5

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

Los Angeles 17 16 516 5

San Francisco 17 16 .500 7

Seattle 16 15 500 5

California 21 10 .677 2

Texas 20 10 .667 2

East

Baltimore 10 20 .333 6%

New York 17 16 516 5

Chicago 13 17 .433 8

Oakland 16 15 500 5

Minnesota 11 21 344 10

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

San Francisco 17 16 .500 7

Seattle 16 15 500 5

California 21 10 .677 2

Texas 20 10 .667 2

West

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

Oakland 16 15 500 5

Seattle 16 15 500 5

Chicago 13 17 .433 8

San Francisco 17 16 .500 7

Seattle 16 15 500 5

California 21 10 .677 2

Texas 20 10 .667 2

East

Baltimore 10 20 .333 6%

New York 17 16 516 5

Chicago 13 17 .433 8

Oakland 16 15 500 5

Minnesota 11 21 344 10

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

San Francisco 17 16 .500 7

Seattle 16 15 500 5

California 21 10 .677 2

Texas 20 10 .667 2

West

Kansas City 11 21 344 10

Oakland 16 15 500 5

Seattle 16 15 500 5

Chicago 13 17 .433 8

San Francisco 17 16 .500 7

Seattle 16 15 500 5

California 21 10 .677 2

Texas 20 10 .667 2

Baseball

The Notre Dame baseball team will attempt to bounce back from its first setback in six games when it faces off against