Foran highlights police conference

by Tom Degnan

The concept of a university as a sanctuary from law enforcement is a total myth, Thomas Foran said yesterday during the afternoon session of the midwest police conference held in the library auditorium.

Foran, one of the eight lawyers composing the panel, told the assembled police have a geographical jurisdiction and that they are committed under legal obligation to come onto campus.

Foran said that the new relaxed atmosphere created by the 1972 Ohio Attorney General's opinion.

"Ordinarily however" the former U.S. Attorney said, "the officer is often instructed to back off his duty because of the university's claim of immunity toward on campus campuses."

Moderated by University Vice President and General Counsel Philip J. Facenda, the panel concerned itself primarily with the University's declining role as town and gowns.

Nixon announces relaxation of Red China trade embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Nixon yesterday a broad relaxation of the embargo that has barred direct U.S. trade with Communist China for 21 years.

"This government came just hours after Premier Chou En Laiprecisely the same message - a "policy in page in relations" between the United States and Mainland China," President Richard Nixon told a packed Library auditorium.

"This should allow the first direct trade between the two countries since it was cut off by the Executive Order of 1960, which Congress passed to halt U.S. commerce with Communist China.

In addition, the plan would ease U.S. currency controls to permit use of dollars by the Chinese, eliminating the Treasury Department's controls which currently restrict imports into China.

Nixon said the State Department had been instructed to expedite visas for individuals or groups of visitors from the Chinese mainland seeking entry into the United States.

The President also ordered an end to restrictions against American Oil Companies providing fuel for ships or aircraft proceeding to and from China, except for those carriers bound for North Vietnam, North Korea or Cuba.

Also ended was a prohibition against U.S. ships and planes carrying Chinese cargoes between non-Communist ports and Chinese-owned U.S. flag vessels calling at Chinese ports.

"We believe one of the novelties required by Congress," Nixon said, "is the amendment of the Export Administration Act of 1960, which Congress passed to halt U.S. commerce with Communist China.

"The White House said none of the non-strategic goods, such as pharmaceuticals and agricultural supplies and some consumer goods, that Nixon has been instructed to send to China.

"We feel they have a role in the world, and in the way of an article," Nixon said in Peking that because of the American executive order, the U.S. has been opened in relations between our two peoples."

Nixon's announcement was not a "break-through," said Premier Chou's premier's friendly remarks, but Ziegler conceded it made the time-limited "understanding" "appropriate." Officials here were unable to identify items that might be suitable for future Chinese trade, indicating to some observers that the announcement was made before the Department of Commerce and other agencies were able to work out details of the plan.

Ziegler said an interagency committee is working on a list of non-strategic items that the administration might approve for export. The embargo was expected to make a decision soon.

SLCC election: April 29

Campaigns for student seats on the 1972-73 Student Life Council will be available in the student government office beginning Wednesday, April 21, and will be due by 5 p.m. April 25 with at least 50 signatures.

Elections are to follow the same procedure as last year. The campaigns begin at noon, April 25 and continue until 2 a.m. of April 26. There is a $25 limit to campaigns, excluding postage for literature mailed to off-campus students.

The elections are scheduled for April 29 and will be held in six campus districts. The districts are: Off campus; Naples; Moorhead and St. Joseph's Hall, the towers; two North and two South quad divisions.

The new council members are scheduled to begin their terms' of office May 1.

South Viet offensive the central highlands

SAIGON (UPI)-South Viet namese infantry backed by U.S. artillery and air support opened up a major offensive in a series of attacks by the growing Communist threat in the central highlands, military sources said Thursday.

"There is no consensus about what some of the laws ought to be, and that the police should shy away from enforcement in political areas of legitimate dispute such as demonstrations and marijuanas."

In concluding the discussion, Foran said that the law has to do the best it can in all cases and that it is probably the people who are most to blame for the lack of progress.

Lifton explore theme of death

by Matt Cavanaugh

Last night Dr. Robert Jay Lifton, psychiatrist and professor at the Yale University School of Medicine, explored the ways that modern man copes with the theme of death in a talk entitled "Psychological Man and Revolution."

Using data collected from interviews with survivors of a massacre of Vietnamese youth; English able to find the modes of dealing with the theme of death and then relate these modes to society as a whole.

Lifton said there are five basic ways that man tries to gain immortality. The first of these is the biological mode, in which a man attempts to preserve himself. Life was able to find the modes of dealing with the theme of death and then relate these modes to society as a whole.

Lifton said that there are five basic ways that man tries to gain immortality. The first of these is the biological mode, in which a man attempts to preserve himself. Life is the second is a spiritual conquest of death, which knows no limits. Another man way survivors discover the meaning of their actions, or the influence he has on other men.

The fourth means of immortality pointed out by Lifton was that of a relation to nature. Through this relation a man attempts to justify his own end with the knowledge that he has been associated with something that will not come to an end. Lastly there are those who attempt to cope with death through psychic experiences. They believe that an intense experience will alter their attitudes with, and suffering of death. Lifton also alluded to the advent of nuclear weapons and the great historical changes taking place, the "Protein man" has come to life. "This type of man has the ability to move easily from one idea or life style to another and be assimilated to society and find great difficulty in accepting a set idea."

It has transformed many of the modes of individuals, for example, it has experimented with the society's life style through the death penalty and has tried to expand the roles of the sexes. Other areas of transformation are the church and religion.

Dr. Robert Lifton

Near the end of his discussion Lifton related his experiences with the Vietnam veterans. He said that there were men who had been brutalized by the situation in Vietnam and were living in campaigns to try to adapt to new styles, away from the pre-war personal living. Based on these interviews Dr. Lifton concluded that mankind has the potential to transform itself in the same way.
New South Vietnamese offensive

This cleared the way for American and South Vietnamese helicopters, which flew in tons of food and water to the 1,000 tone (red) defenders and airlifted the wounded out.

Two American ground advisors were killed in the final assault. Two were wounded. All 172 South Vietnamese para troopers claimed to have killed 34 Communists blocking their path while suffering just two men wounded.

The action consisted of two separate skirmishes, on Wednes day afternoon in which 24 North Vietnamese dead were claimed, and one after nightfall, in which 22 were killed. Two American soldiers were reported killed.

POW exchange program hopeful

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Four civilians recruited by an insurance salesman lost yesterday for Laos to offer themselves as replacements for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Dominic "Bud" Cimino, 48, organizer of the project, said they hoped to negotiate a "body for body exchange—one human being for another human being."

A Marine veteran of World War II and father of three children, Cimino said at the airport he was optimistic that the unusual operation would succeed. "We've got a good partner—God," he said.

The men offering themselves as hostages are the Rev. Jean Trouche, 59, a French speaking Methodist minister here; Stan Bagwell, 56, a retired Navy petty officer; Patrick MacDonald, 21, a conscientious objector, and Ed Newmyer, 70, a retired fireman.

Cimino, who plans to return to Los Angeles if the other four are accepted as replacements, says he has 50 more volunteers waiting to take the places of war prisoners.

Cimino hopes to meet with North Vietnamese officials in Vientiane to work out the deal. Funds were limited—some of the group got plane tickets on a "fly now, pay later" basis—and Cimino estimated they would be able to stay in Laos a month or the longest.

Cimino spent four months setting up his campaign and says, "I want to get enough men so we can replace every prisoner."

Trouche, pastor of the United Methodist Church in the Toluca Lake district of Hollywood, has three children at home. He was an aeronautical engineer before he was ordained.

"It was not a question of deciding whether to do it," he says, "I didn't have the right to say no. I'm hopeful that at least this will give us an information about the prisoners and I hope also that at least I can remain as a chaplain to the men in the camps."

"At the last moment, Virginia Nasm yth, 22, sister of Air Force Capt. John Nasm yth who is a war prisoner, ran on the plane to give the group a list of names and some hope. She said she hoped they could check on the conditions of the men if they had an opportunity.

Chicago, the rock group that is, is coming to town. Student Union Social Commission announced yesterday that the group will appear in the Athletic and Convocation Center on May 11 at 8:30.

Chicago is "signed and definitely will appear" according to Tom O livi, student union executive coordinator.

Tom O livi, former SU associate director and Jim Pors, outgoing social commissioner handled the concert arrangements.

Olivi discovered that Chicago might be available while working on the closed circuit broadcast of the Al-Frazier fight.

The popular jazz-rock group was originally booked in Evansville, Ind. SU representatives reported were disabused of this booking because there is no college near that city.

Ticket sales will begin on April 27. Prices are $5.50, $4.50, and $2.50.

POW exchange program hopeful

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Four civilians recruited by an insurance salesman lost yesterday for Laos to offer themselves as replacements for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Dominic "Bud" Cimino, 48, organizer of the project, said they hoped to negotiate a "body for body exchange—one human being for another human being."

A Marine veteran of World War II and father of three children, Cimino said at the airport he was optimistic that the unusual operation would succeed. "We've got a good partner—God," he said.

The men offering themselves as hostages are the Rev. Jean Trouche, 59, a French speaking Methodist minister here; Stan Bagwell, 56, a retired Navy petty officer; Patrick MacDonald, 21, a conscientious objector, and Ed Newmyer, 70, a retired fireman.

Cimino, who plans to return to Los Angeles if the other four are accepted as replacements, says he has 50 more volunteers waiting to take the places of war prisoners.

Cimino hopes to meet with North Vietnamese officials in Vientiane to work out the deal. Funds were limited—some of the group got plane tickets on a "fly now, pay later" basis—and Cimino estimated they would be able to stay in Laos a month or the longest.

Cimino spent four months setting up his campaign and says, "I want to get enough men so we can replace every prisoner."

Trouche, pastor of the United Methodist Church in the Toluca Lake district of Hollywood, has three children at home. He was an aeronautical engineer before he was ordained.

"It was not a question of deciding whether to do it," he says, "I didn't have the right to say no. I'm hopeful that at least this will give us an information about the prisoners and I hope also that at least I can remain as a chaplain to the men in the camps."

"At the last moment, Virginia Nasm yth, 22, sister of Air Force Capt. John Nasm yth who is a war prisoner, ran on the plane to give the group a list of names and some hope. She said she hoped they could check on the conditions of the men if they had an opportunity.

Chicago, the rock group that is, is coming to town. Student Union Social Commission announced yesterday that the group will appear in the Athletic and Convocation Center on May 11 at 8:30.

Chicago is "signed and definitely will appear" according to Tom O livi, student union executive coordinator.

Tom O livi, former SU associate director and Jim Pors, outgoing social commissioner handled the concert arrangements.

Olivi discovered that Chicago might be available while working on the closed circuit broadcast of the Al-Frazier fight.

The popular jazz-rock group was originally booked in Evansville, Ind. SU representatives reported were disabused of this booking because there is no college near that city.

Ticket sales will begin on April 27. Prices are $5.50, $4.50, and $2.50.
Priest's secret marriage discovered

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Edward M. Skaife, D. Maine, accused the FBI yesterday of spying on Earth Day rallies held a year ago to glorify Mainers, accused the FBI of crime or threat of crime was evaporating on citizens who gathered intelligence on civilians.

In a Senate speech, Muskie said the FBI had no business caving around on citizens protesting pollution where "no crime or threat of crime was involved nor... any violence threatened."

He inserted into the congressional record and released to reporters, copies of a document on FBI stations describing the Earth Day rally held April 22, 1970 near the Washington Monument. The report listed the names of the speakers at the demonstration, including Muskie himself.

He said the FBI compiled between 40 to 60 reports on other Earth Day rallies held around the nation.

WSND names dept. heads

The appointment of new department heads for the 1971-72 school year was announced yesterday by WSND station manager, John Walsh.

Named as Am Program Director was soprano Lee Enderling. Mike Murphy was appointed as the host Announcer. John Sabo will continue as Football Manager while Marc Stuerenberg, while Dave Barrett takes over the duties of News Director.

John Markley will remain as Business Manager while Marc Carmichael becomes Sales Manager. Another holdover is John McElhott as AM Music Director.

Walsh named Nick Kiernan as Business Manager while Marc Carmichael becomes Sales Manager. Another holdover is John McElhott as AM Music Director.

Walsh named Nick Kiernan as the AM Program Director while Marc Carmichael becomes Sales Manager. Another holdover is John McElhott as AM Music Director.

The day before the Trustees to discuss the agenda, will not meet April 23. Their agenda was to include, not only unification policies, but also an evaluation of off-campus housing with the possibility of extending it to juniors and seniors over 22.

Neither Student Body President Kathy Barlow nor Sr. Immaculata Driscoll, dean of students, could predict the future of off-campus housing for students planning to move off next year.

Although the Board will not meet, Sister Olivia Whelan, chairman of the St. Mary's board of trustees, cancelled the April 24th meeting, at which the 66 couples. They plan to eliminate the buffet and possibly substitute a cheaper refreshment.

Tickets are $8.00 and may be purchased this afternoon in the Regina Hall lobby.

Concerned About the Future

POLLUTION

NUCLEAR ENERGY

Thermal Pollution? More Brownouts? Peaceful Nuclear Explosives? Controlled Fusion fallout?

CE 213 MAN AND HIS ENVIRONMENT 2 MWF THIS FALL CE 213 NUCLEAR ENERGY 3 MWF THIS FALL

OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS Notre Dame and St. Mary's Sophomores and above

And a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of all the good things at EDDIE'S RESTAURANT

1345 No. Ironwood Drive

10% reduction on all menu items for college and university students.

Complimentary split (small bottle per couple) of any wine on our magnificent wine list for those of age.
The Last Chance

It is sad to watch the death of a publication. The demise in some cases comes quickly, here today, gone tomorrow. For others though it is a slow process. The quality of the magazine goes down, the number of issues are cut, expenses are watched carefully and anything that smacks of being extra or added is slashed.

For a publication competing in the open market, the possibility of failure is one that stalks it constantly. It is, essentially, selling itself to the public. If the public loses interest then the publication will die.

Some publications though depend on a benefactor of sorts to finance their operation. Their situation is perhaps more a perilous one; for they depend on the whim and mood of the benefactor in addition to or instead of popular appeal.

The latter case is true of many college publications. Newspapers and magazines are often funded directly out of the school's budget. As such, they are subject to the whims and vagaries of ruling powers as well as the financial condition of the school. If the institution is running in the red, publ, -ations, usually the student ones, are prime candidates for the paring knives.

In such a situation the students running the publication have little or no say over the fate of their vehicle. They are dependent upon the administration for their money, their financial affairs are controlled by employees of the school and if the editors are paid, they, in a sense, are employees of the school. There is no sense of autonomy, and hence no sense of real freedom for them.

In a similar vein the School's budget has been sharply cut - cut enough to warrant a reduction of the number of issues by a third - demonstrates just how much that publication is open to those vicissitudes.

But this cut, which appears so painful to the present Scholastic management, is in reality that magazine's last best chance to assert its independence. The process by which the publication will be removed from the public's eye has begun, if it is accelerated by financial pressures next year the death knell will have sounded.

At the beginning of the year the Observer offered to have the Scholastic published weekly through our facilities, for a savings of $15,000 per year. That offer still stands. For $25,000 the Scholastic could publish a 24 page magazine on paper better than the kind you're reading now. For $25,000 - part of which could be supplied by advertising revenue and part of which could be supplied by a student publications fee - the Scholastic would be able to publish a course evaluation book in addition to their weekly publication.

Nite Editor: Jerry Lutkus
Headlines: John Kiss
Layout: Bob Marek, Dan Barrett, Ken Kampman
Copyreader: Bill Clement
Nite Controllers: Steve Roper, Rick Smith
SMC Editor: Ann Conway
Managing Editor: Don Ruane
News Editor: John Ahearn
Sports Editor: Jim Donaldson
Features Editor: Rick Smith

The Student Life Council has been called many things since its inception in the spring semester of 1968 including the most potent nomenclature of all, the history of Notre Dame. It came with the winds of spring and has been imitating those winds ever since, blowing up a breeze strong enough to launch the sailing club on a cruise from here to eternity.

Little progress has been made by the present body because it has wasted time in debates over the minutes of a previous meeting and in general over details that could be ironed out in committee meetings. This was illustrated during the seven months devoted to the sophomore car issue.

A proposal first appeared at the September 21, 1970 meeting of the SLC. It was finally approved on March 30, 1971. During this period, the council members argued over facts that no one bothered to check for accuracy. As John Bartlett said during his campaign, no one did their homework.

For a select committee was appointed to research all aspects of the proposal and to draft a proposal either for or against the idea. In the course of two months, the proposal was drafted, debated, revised and approved.

At the last meeting of the SLC, Sophomore Floyd Keele suggested that the body meet less frequently, perhaps once a month. This sounds absurd since the body can't accomplish anything during the four hours it now meets per month. However, Keele wants to establish four standing committees to research, draft and present proposals to the steering committee for scheduling. Petty haggling would be long over with before any proposal reached the floor.

When a proposal comes to the floor under Keele's plan, debate will be limited to forty minutes and then a vote will be required unless two-thirds of the body votes to prolong discussion. This format would allow at least two proposals, possibly three, to be fully debated at any given meeting if the time limit is in order.

The steering committee will meet April 20 to discuss other methods to improve the SLC's efficiency. It is highly probable that Keele's idea will be modified.

This meeting of the committee is very important because the future success of the SLC rides on its product. If the new council which is due to take office May 1, is left to solve the problems which exist before any proposal reached the floor, it will more time will be needlessly wasted in debate over what the problems really are. The present body is in the best position to research and find a solution because they know the problems.

Given the verbose history of the SLC, the steering committee progress if it follows this saying about turtles, "Befolde the turtle! He never makes any progress unless he sticks his neck out.'
Commitment is worthy, only as the object of that commitment is worthy. I have been fortunate in being reminded of this at least once a year since coming to Notre Dame. My freshman year was that beautiful, courageous, exceptionally open, totally humane and wholly unpretentious man of our time, Dick Gregory. My sophomore year sharing the last Monday night with Dave Dreyer and Mike Cullen enabled one to understand what Dick meant. As I have said, people felt unsure as to where to go and many became confused and defeated. Many went back to classrooms, dorm life, communities and hibernated. As we were going through the changes, the established order was being dismantled. We are all copped with this mood for a year, to go beyond it requires a strange measure of those qualities which can only flourish when a people are conscious of their own human losses and begin to create the tools of human gain. But one guesses we have not lost enough, or suffered enough or grown conscious enough of what is happening to our brothers. Because of this we lack community, imagination, courage, compassion and the hope and ingenuity that we so badly need. It is true as Dan Berrigan has said, "in order to be healed; our illness must get worse!"

After talking with members of the faculty and students about their feelings on the current situation I feel we may be moving above this. I believe that we do feel enough and now we have a chance and a chance to prove it.

There is an inner requirement of the human species that mankind has been conscious of throughout the ages. When you look into the eyes of Thomas Merton, you see a man who grasped the meaning of that from deep within his heart and that he was a man of law and of love. The noted psychologist, Eric Fromm has stated that the opposite of love is not hate but apathy.

Will we gain strength from each other and unite in helping with the task before us or will we allow the opportunity to slip by under the guise of "that's the mood." Perhaps we would do well to reflect on a line from Zorba the Greek: "To act as if death did not exist or to act thinking every minute of death is perhaps the same thing." Think of it not, the death still goes on and surrounds us in our actions. The possibilities of life coming out of all this are ours and ours alone.

The challenge which is ours was so amply put at a recent rally for the Harrisan S. Forman Foundation, a Jewish refugee from Nazi Germany, one of the co-conspirators currently teaching at New York's Theological Seminary, who was a Breslov Hasid. The question was to address the Notre Dame community, the world, we can't feel peace within and as we look at the future before us we are chilled by the thought that there may be no peace ahead.

On the left, Mike Kraft displays her form. Below, Bob and Ann, on the left, and Charley and Mary, on the right, take a brief moment's rest during practice.

Tom McGowan

Bob and Mary, Charley and Ann

It is that year of time again when the Notre Dame cheerleaders abandon the grass of Notre Dame stadium and go to their rear seats in the ACC for the Conference finals of St. Angela Hall, and their third season, that of cheering leaders. St. Angela, that antiquated confine of Notre Dame, that small tear trickled down the cheek of William Moses Kuntzler as he told me to send his love to a friend of ours who he thought that there may be...
THE OBSERVER
Thursday, April 15, 1971

Recruiting ROTC members

Just as other large organizations, the armed services are constantly seeking top quality leadership. The methods used to find good leaders are initiated at the high school level and applied again to college students, college graduates and also to students of graduate schools.

One of the primary sources of competent leaders is the ROTC program. Every year, high schools throughout the country are visited by speakers from the various armed services hoping to inspire interest in senior and junior high school students through their recruiting lectures. These lectures are designed to acquaint students with the opportunities that are open to them should they join one or another of the programs.

Observer Insight

The campaign in the South Bend area is taken up by representatives from the three ROTC units here at Notre Dame.

Every fall, the three men visit the local schools, usually as a team. They then leave various pamphlets that further explain opportunities and enrollment procedures.

Major Edward C. Redican, commanding officer of the Air Force unit here, says, “We simply wish to inform the seniors about ROTC. The average senior in high school has not made up his mind about college and by the time we make our visit, we find that many are interested in what we have to offer.”

All three branches offer scholarships to their students, their merits being judged on a national-wide basis. The scholarships cover everything but room and board and includes a $50 per month allowance. Another benefit is time and money for graduate study. Students may continue to receive upwards of $600,000 in aid from the ROTC units. Many our students would not be able to attend the university if not for this aid. More than half of those involved in ROTC are not on scholarship.

on campus today...

8:15 concert nd snc choral pops concert, washington hall
9:00 movie - contemporary vonnegut, carr hall, smc, 4:15 p.m.
4:00 poster session in correct.

Ohlemiller announces co-ex dinner change

The present hall ticket distribution policy for coex dinner tickets starting Monday, April 19, will be evaluated and approved by the commission, but will definitely be continued.

St. Mary’s students may pick up tickets between 1 p.m. and 9 p.m. daily in the lobby of LaMans Hall and at any time at the cashier’s office in the South Dining Hall.

Help needed

Fifteen volunteers are needed to help begin digging the foundation of an Indian day care center in Clay Township this Saturday morning. Dave Lab, student government community relations commissioner, announced yesterday.

The volunteers are to meet at 9:30 Sunday morning at the Ordnance building. Lab said that tickets can be used for either lunch or dinner. No tickets will be available for Monday.

“Next year’s coex program has clearly been a success.” He stated that next fall the program will be evaluated and approved by the commission, but will definitely be continued.

St. Mary’s students may pick up tickets between 1 p.m. and 9 p.m. daily in the lobby of LaMans Hall and at any time at the cashier’s office in the South Dining Hall.

St. Mary’s students are good in both the North and the South Dining Halls.
Sight-seeing, they went to parties and dances given in their honor, and who were punished accordingly. Any damage that was done was paid.

It seems my sources of information invented several episodes, distorted others, and generally misrepresented most of the trip. For unlike Mickey Mantle, who was probably born catching a baseball, or Bobby Orr, who learned to skate before he could walk, Buster Brown began his tennis career purely by accident. Buster broke his right arm at the age of nine playing Little League baseball. And while the right arm was rested in a sling, he put the left to use swinging a tennis racquet. After the arm had fully mended, he switched from southpaw to right-handed and proudly began making himself known in tennis circles.

The Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin his number one player on the 1971

Mike Pavin

The Graduate View

Ireland Revisited

What I thought was going to be a rather humorous narrative of the Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way.

This seems of sources of information invented several episodes, distorted others, and generally misrepresented most of the trip. So let’s set the record straight. The Rugby Club did not march through Ireland like General Sherman went through Georgia. They did not spend all their time drinking and carousing. They did not hunt up any dances. Any trouble that arose was due to a few individuals who were punished accordingly. Any damage that was done was paid for and anything stolen was returned.

The Ruggers spent their vacation just like any other touring group would have. They were well-treated by local people, they did lots of sight seeing, the went to parties and dances given in their honor, and they played lots of damn good rugby.

The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts play it. In Ireland, teams are ranked in three divisions. The club played two middle division/junior’s teams and two upper division/senior’s teams.

The Ruggers defeated Abbey Feale 22-8 and tied Bandon 3-3 in the games. Against the senior teams, the Club was 0-3. These teams contain the best collegiate players in Ireland. University College Dublin has a player on the All-British touring team this year. Against UCD, the Club was tied 3-3 before UCD broke the game open in the final minutes. University College Galway beat the Club “A” team 19-6, and the “B” squad 34-18.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Buster Brown practicing his forehead

Mike Pavin

The Graduate View

Ireland Revisited

What I thought was going to be a rather humorous narrative of the Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way.

This seems of sources of information invented several episodes, distorted others, and generally misrepresented most of the trip. So let’s set the record straight. The Rugby Club did not march through Ireland like General Sherman went through Georgia. They did not spend all their time drinking and carousing. They did not hunt up any dances. Any trouble that arose was due to a few individuals who were punished accordingly. Any damage that was done was paid for and anything stolen was returned.

The Ruggers spent their vacation just like any other touring group would have. They were well-treated by local people, they did lots of sight seeing, the went to parties and dances given in their honor, and they played lots of damn good rugby.

The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts play it. In Ireland, teams are ranked in three divisions. The club played two middle division/junior’s teams and two upper division/senior’s teams.

The Ruggers defeated Abbey Feale 22-8 and tied Bandon 3-3 in the games. Against the senior teams, the Club was 0-3. These teams contain the best collegiate players in Ireland. University College Dublin has a player on the All-British touring team this year. Against UCD, the Club was tied 3-3 before UCD broke the game open in the final minutes. University College Galway beat the Club “A” team 19-6, and the “B” squad 34-18.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Buster Brown practicing his forehead

Mike Pavin

The Graduate View

Ireland Revisited

What I thought was going to be a rather humorous narrative of the Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way.

This seems of sources of information invented several episodes, distorted others, and generally misrepresented most of the trip. So let’s set the record straight. The Rugby Club did not march through Ireland like General Sherman went through Georgia. They did not spend all their time drinking and carousing. They did not hunt up any dances. Any trouble that arose was due to a few individuals who were punished accordingly. Any damage that was done was paid for and anything stolen was returned.

The Ruggers spent their vacation just like any other touring group would have. They were well-treated by local people, they did lots of sight seeing, the went to parties and dances given in their honor, and they played lots of damn good rugby.

The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts play it. In Ireland, teams are ranked in three divisions. The club played two middle division/junior’s teams and two upper division/senior’s teams.

The Ruggers defeated Abbey Feale 22-8 and tied Bandon 3-3 in the junior games. Had the latter game not been called at the half due to the weather in it is likely that the Club would have won since they had the wind and field advantage for the second half.

Against the senior teams, the Club was 0-3. These teams contain the best collegiate players in Ireland. University College Dublin has a player on the All-British touring team this year. Against UCD, the Club was tied 3-3 before UCD broke the game open in the final minutes. University College Galway beat the Club “A” team 19-6, and the “B” squad 34-18.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Buster Brown practicing his forehead

The Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.

Buster Brown practicing his forehead

The Rugby Club’s Spring Trip to Ireland hasn’t quite turned out that way. The Club got some lessons in the sport of rugby the way the experts do.

The Ruggers played well in these games despite the rigorous travel schedule and key injuries to Mike Morrison and John Zukaitis. Morrison told me yesterday that he felt the Club could play UC Dublin about even if the game was held in South Bend. The Ruggers weren’t chauvinists of Ireland. In fact, they’ve been invited to return next year and they have letters to prove it.
Isreal’s Suez proposal snagged

By United Press International-

Israel’s counter-proposal on opening the Suez Canal was reported to have run into a snag

Wednesday because of U.S. delay in outlining safeguards to prevent Egyptian and Soviet troops from crossing the waterway if Israeli troops are pulled back.

The report published in every major Israeli newspaper came amid warnings from both Jerusalem and Cairo that a new Middle East war might break out unless Israel came up with a plan acceptable to Egypt.

The latest warning was voiced by Lt. Gen. Haim Bar Lev, Israeli chief of staff, who said Israel must underwrite the strength of the Egyptian and Syrian armies which have been bolstered by massive weapons shipments from the Soviet Union.

Bar Lev, however, said his men were confident of victory with the help of new American arms shipments if hostilities are renewed.

Diplomatic sources in Israel said Prime Minister Golda Meir’s Egyptian President Anwar Sadat’s proposals for reopening the Suez Canal called for an Israeli troop withdrawal of about six miles, with no Egyptian or Soviet troops to cross the waterway and American guarantees against such a crossing.

The Israeli newspapers said Wednesday the content of the government proposals for reopening the canal, blocked since the 1967 war, under an agreement with Egypt hinged on Washington’s reply to its safeguards questions. They said the United States had not yet replied to the request for such assurance submitted by Israel within two weeks.

SCLC to organize poor against Nixon

DETROIT (UPI)-The Southern Christian Leadership Conference SCLC will conduct a “massive voter registration drive in black and poor communities” to bring about the defeat of President Nixon in 1972, the Rev. Ralph D.
Abraham said Wednesday.

Abraham told a news conference that the SCLC board of directors “feels very firmly that an administration that appropriates billions of dollars for moon and pennies for the poor is an administration that should be replaced in 1972.

The SCLC held its spring board meeting in Detroit to “plan our future program and our future thrust,” said Abraham, the SCLC president.

The SCLC will give top priority, said Abraham, to battling “racism, war, and poverty in addition to that unemployment and underemployment, the lack of administration of justice in the country, the lack of quality education in our public schools and an unjust welfare system.”

“The conference has also redefined itself to its program of politics 1971-72 in which we will engage in a massive voter registration program and voter education programs in which we hope to bring about a whole change in the political arena,”

Abraham said.

Asked if there was internal division within the SCLC over tactics and leadership Abraham said “no” and that “the SCLC was created by the media.

He said he doesn’t “want to give with Vice President Agnew on this battle,” but he was right when he spoke out against

Brooke calls for deadline on Viet troop withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI)-Sen.
Edward W. Brooke, R. Mass.,
Wednesday challenged President
Nixon to set a pullout date as the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have

SPECIAL PRICES ON DIAMONDS

TO ALL NOTRE DAME STUDENTS

Alumni of the University of Notre Dame have raised $2,120,249 to the 1970 Annual Fund, a figure only $45,000 short of its goal, $2,165,700, reported to be $2,120,249 to the 1970
Annual Fund. The Class of 1965, with 565 participants, contributed a above $58 per classmate, and the greatest number of contributors, and the Class of 1965 contributed $344,900 to lead all classes in dollar amounts.

The Class of 1964, with more than 58 per classmate, led all classes in participation in the 1970 campaign.

The Class of 1965, with 565 participants, had the greatest number of contributors, and the Class of 1964 contributed $344,900

to lead all classes in dollar

alumni contributions.

Alumni director of the Alumni Association, credited the excellent response during 1970 to the increased faith and confidence of alumni in the goals of the University. “Our graduates realize that this is a time when Notre Dame needs their encouragement, their moral and material support, and their allegiance as never before,” he said.

limited number of summer jobs available through Urban Corps in:

Atlanta, Boston, Cleveland, Indianapolis,
Minneapolis, New York and Syracuse

To participate a student must be eligible for College work/study fundings

For information contact:
Institute for Urban Studies
214 Rockne Memorial
283-1112