LeMans parietals approved

Trial program to begin Oct. 22

by Jodi Campbell

The Student Affairs Committee approved a proposal that will establish an experimental Parietal system in LeMans hall.

The experiment, passed at last nights meeting, will allow for parietals in LeMans from 7 pm - 1:30 am on consecutive Fridays, October 22 thru November 12, 1971. Margaret Burak, LeMans hall president, presented the proposal to the SAC. The experiment pertains only to her hall.

The proposal will be presented to the Student Affairs Council as soon as possible, hopefully today. SBVP Missy Underman, chairperson of the committee, stated that she did not know for sure if the proposal would have to be presented to the Board of Trustees.

As this proposal is an establishment of a new policy, rather than an extension of one already in effect chances are that the Executive Board of the Trustees will have to approve it," Missy stated.

The committee emphasized that the LeMans experiment should not be confused with the proposal passed last week allowing hall autonomy in establishing parietals.

The Student Affairs Council will consider the hall autonomy proposal at its November 1 meeting.

The hall autonomy proposal would amend the Student Procedure Manual, giving the individual halls the power to formulate and exercise jurisdiction of hall parietal policies.

The proposal passed last night is an experiment only and has no connections with the proposed establishment of parietal hours for the whole campus, according to the SAC.

The experiment will be evaluated on the basis of a questionnaire distributed to hall residents after the last Friday of the experiment," Missy stated.

The following rules are to be in effect during the experimental period:

-All college, university and dorm rules (with the exception of those concerning men in the dorms) will be in effect during the parietal period.
-All doors, with the exception of the lobby door, will be locked during the period.
-Open House sign in will be in effect with the desk manned for the entire period by at least one half resident and one member of the Hall Staff.

(Continued on page 2)

---

Alumni associations plan joint session

The Notre Dame and St. Mary's Alumni associations will take the first tentative steps towards merger this weekend with a joint meeting. Whether the marriage will be permanent remains to be seen.

Despite the well-publicized plans of the University and St. Mary's to unify their campuses, the Boards may decide to remain separate, according to assistant Alumni secretary Michael Jordan. They also may remain separate but increase cooperation of work together for unification, Jordan said.

"It is by no means an already-decided issue," explained Jordan. "Some of the older grads are surprisingly open-minded on unification, but another element is strongly against the action."

"It is our hope to invite the St. Mary's club presidents to participate in the November Alumni Senate meetings across the country," Jordan said.

He anticipates that the Board, scheduled to meet from Thursday to Saturday, will decide its future sometime Friday after an intensive unification presentation. According to the preliminary agenda, this will include luncheon with the St. Mary's Board and their husbands and different discussions: "Student Affairs," by the student government coeducation coordination committee; "The Effect of unification on Alumni Associations, Boards, National Offices, Staff, Structure and Programs," and "Alumni-Alumnae Clubs."

Jordan speculated that the Alumni Directors would have little effect on the administration of Trustees.

"The Alumni Board can't pass a resolution (to advise the Trustees) because the Board of Trustees will be meeting at the same time," he said.

The Alumni Board is also scheduled to approve ten nominations for five positions on the 15-man Alumni Board. (Continued on page 3)

---

Kosygin attacked in Canada, is OK

For details, see page 3

---

Sexism discussions cover discrimination

Story on page 6

---

THE OBSERVER

Vol VI, No. 28
Serving the Notre Dame - St. Mary's Community
Tuesday, October 19, 1971
Alumni merge

(Continued from page 1)

Board of Directors. Jordan estimated that his office received eighty ap­ lications for these three-year regional posts. Besides selecting the financial officers, alumni will also elect an at-large representative for the newly­ created "Young Alumni" position. This director, who will serve for only a one-year term instead of the customary three, must have graduated within the last five years.

Besides finalizing the slate of candidates for the Alumni Board of Directors ballots, the Board will also hear several departmental presentations.

At the Public Relations and Development presentation Friday afternoon, James E. Murphy and Frank Kelly will explain the new "Pilot City" program. This year the Development Office is engaged in an effort to increase the percentage of contributions of Notre Dame alumni to the university," explained Jordan.

"For the calendar year of 1970, the annual fund received 2.5 million dollars, but this money was donated by less than 50 percent of the alumni," he

Nixon changes center from germs to research

(c) 1971 New York Times

FORT DETRICK, MD, OCT 18—President Nixon expressed the hope today that as the nation moved from a wartime to a peacetime era it could convert many of its military facilities "to meet pressing domestic challenges.

The President said that "cutbacks in certain defense needs have provided a considerable supply of expertise and equipment which can now be used for non-defense purposes." The President did not specify how defense-related facilities could easily be converted to civilian projects, but he expressed the hope that "we can help advance important public goals even as we alleviate the economic burdens which threaten idled workers and their families.

"Nixon's comments came during ceremonies here today at which he formally announced that the germ warfare center at Fort Detrick—one of the nation's largest research and develop­ment facilities for biological weapons—would itself be con­verted into a major center for cancer research.

In informal remarks to a crowd

Parietals

(Continued from page 1)

—Upon signing in, each visitor will have to relinquish either his Notre Dame ID or drivers license. If he does not have one his host will have to relinquish —All guests must have a hostess to be permitted past the sign in desk. Hostesses must indicate your room number to complete sign in.

—The gate to the tunnel (LeMans side) will be locked during this period.

—Responsibility will be stressed before and during the experi­ment by all hall government representatives.

—Responsibility will be stressed before and during the experi­ment by all hall government representatives.

There are still a few seats available for

737 UNITED JET

Ticket Prices: $300 - one way $520 - round trip

Transportation from Campus to Airport included

From the Golden

Dome to the

Cape Cod Dome

for Thanksgiving

1) Departure: Nov. 24, 1971 South Bend - Wed. at 2:00 pm, Arrival: National Airport at 3:45 pm

2) Departure: Nov. 28, 1971 National Airport - Sun. at 10:00 pm, Arrival: South Bend Airport at 11:45 pm

For reservations call Wayne Hall at 6939 after 5:00 on Tuesday. On Wednesday call Brian Mastro at 6818 between 5:30 and 8:30.
HUNGARIAN NATIONALIST CHARGED

SOVIET PREMIER ASSAULTED IN CANADA

OTTAWA—Premier Aleksij K. Kosygin was attacked, but physically unharmed, by a man shouting "long live free Hungary" who had not been known to the Russian leader as an adversary before.

Kosygin began a short walk across Parliament grounds this morning, accompanied by 1,500 demonstrators. The crowd of some 1,500 protesters organized by the Set Them Free Committee, set up for the Kosygin visit, the demonstrators included several ethnic groups representing Ukrainians, Latvians, Estonians, Hungarians and others protesting Soviet policies in Eastern Europe.

A crowd a police held back a crowd of some 1,500 protesters who tried to demonstrate before the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa Sunday evening, organized by the Set Them Free Committee, set up for the Kosygin visit, the demonstrators included several ethnic groups representing Ukrainians, Latvians, Estonians, Hungarians and others protesting Soviet policies in Eastern Europe.

Police pulled off the attacker and pushed forward, did not fall, but merely staggered and was physically unhurt, by a man who appeared to be drunk and who had just emerged from his first meeting. The Prime Minister noted that Kosygin was not immediately released, but that two men, one from Toronto and another from Ottawa, had been arrested.

Before dawn today Ottawa police arrested three men after a protest demonstration outside the Soviet Embassy and 11 members of the Canadian Security Intelligence Service were held incommunicado for two days.

Kosygin had agreed to appear on Canal Bridge to the Chateau Laurier's stop in the Prime Minister's office building, the Soviet leader's home, and would "do nothing to provoke an attack or to start any hostilities."
By the end of the week, a number of people roughly equivalent to the Notre Dame student body will have starved to death in Pakistan. By the time that sorry country recovers from war, earthquake, flood and famine, well over twenty-five million people will be dead. They will have died with bloated stomachs and bugged eyes, and most of them will probably not be buried for a month. There is not enough relief money available in Pakistan to bury the dead.

So all right. Here at Notre Dame, land of the golden dome and golden sun, we’re busy with other stuff. Cat Stevens will be here Nov. 5th, and it’ll be rough to obtain a ticket. The Trojans are coming in; and they’ll surely be the toughest test our defense has seen this season. And besides, the price of pizza and beer hasn’t gone down at Frankie’s.

Thus we can only view the recent efforts of Notre Dame students Dan Sherry and Tom Hamilton to solicit funds for Pakistani relief. Hamilton headed Students for Biafran Relief two years ago— the project—a success everywhere else—was a dismal failure here. He above all should be able to put the lie about “Notre Dame generosity” to rest.

But he hasn’t, and so once again we’ll be watching a small and generous minority of Notre Dame students futilely pursue the Notre Dame charity dollar. We’d like to urge students to contribute to this tremendously important cause, but there’d be no percentage in it. We might as well try to speak up for racial equality in a Ku Kluxer’s convention; or for integrity at a New York City Police Station. So instead, we’ll express our sympathy ahead of time to Messers. Sherry and Hamilton, and to the people who will be working with them—and to the people of Pakistan.

Tom Bornholdt

Of Wine, Queers and Heresies

It was a balmy, if slightly sticky, summer night. In the basement of a peasant’s house, four men and three bottles of wine formed a circle. The three bottles were half empty and getting emptier. Conversely, three of the men were half filled with wine and getting fuller. A conversation of sorts was going on and the men were friends, but by no means was the gathering of a social nature. Instead, a common sense of gloom and ap­prehension, only partially attenuated by their consumption, held the group together.

The conversation meandered back to the serious. “Gentlemen, let us not be carried away by this present Misunderstanding. For despite all signs of the con­trary, I am certain that the Second Revolution is at hand,” declared the Optimistic Revolutionary.

The others nodded assent, but doubt showed in their eyes. “The speaker saw this, so he continued, “We live in the greatest era of change that the world has ever seen. The decedent System is crumbling; the present Misunderstanding is in hot pursuit before it is swept away by the Second Revolution.”

More drunken nods. “You still doubt, don’t you? But can you possibly doubt what we believe in? It is obvious to any unbiased observer that evil is present in the world, in fact, dominating the world as of now. Yet it is equally obvious that the People are good. Then, how do we reconcile the evil of society. Obviously there is a number of beings in the midst of the people, a small minority of genuinely evil ones, who have by various means gained control of the society and insti­tuted the System by which they enslave their power while corrupting the People.”

He paused to burp a few times, then continued, “The problem, of course, is how to change this unfortunate situation. The answer is revolution but the problem is how to effect this revolution. The common pattern is quite simple. A group of revolutionaries get formed into a group. They conspire, they plot, and if they are lucky they come into power. This is the First Revolution. There have been many first Revolutions throughout history—American, French, Russian, etc. However, wherever, the revolutionaries come into power, they destroy the System and transfer its power into their hands. But being a small group, the revolutionaries have in the past allowed the Evil Ones to infiltrate and gain control of the Revolutionary Party and thus establish a new System.”

The Sober Revolutionary interjected, “We all have discussed this many times before. The First Revolution is the transferance of the power from the Old System to the Revolutionary Party. The Second Revolution is the transfer of power to the People and the creation of relatively good culture.”

The Optimistic Revolutionary took over again. “The problem therefore lies in getting a Revolutionary Party that can be counted on to effect not only the First Revolution, but the Second as well. That is where we are different. First, we identified positively who the Evil Ones are, so we can’t allow them in until the Old System to the Revolutionary Party. Second, we have chosen a Leader who is beyond the reach of the temptation of power that the Evil Ones can offer. By placing all the power of the Party in his hands, we guarantee that the weakness of the Revolutionaries won’t betray the People. Thus we have two advantages that I am certain will ensure the success of the Second Revolution.”

Having concluded his speech, the Optimistic Revolutionary looked at the Sober Revolutionary. He expected his test utterly, but there was no utter the doubt that had been on all their minds that night. “What if the Leader had betrayed the Revolution. What if the Leader they had trusted, was not as good as they had thought?”

“In that case” thought the Optimistic Revolutionary. “we are doomed. This Revolution will be a failure, but then we would have shown the way. One day a First Revolution will occur with a Leader that will cause the Second Revolution.”

Instead it was the Third Revolutionary who spoke, quietly as if he was shocked by what he was to say. “I had two nightmares recently. The first was that there never was going to be a Second Revolution, whether American, British, Russian, or whoever, no revolution that is going to be doing any more than can change the name of the System. My Second nightmare is even worse. What if the People aren’t good?”

The Sober Revolutionary interjected. “How do we reconcile the evil of society. Obviously there is a number of beings in the midst of the people, a small minority of genuinely evil ones, who have by various means gained control of the society and insti­tuted the System by which they enslave their power while corrupting the People.”

The Sober Revolutionary turned to the Optimistic Revolutionary. “Macht dem Volken”.

“Queer” he thought, misun­derstanding. There he is — the perfect specimen of the Third Revolutionary was too horrible for the Optimistic Revolutionary. “Just like their dead leader. Talking all sorts of philosophical nonsense.”

The Revolution’s Defense Corps arrived soon af­terwards. The Captain in charge paid the peasant, the captives, and the enterprise. “Macht dem Volken”.

Instead it was the Third Revolutionary who spoke. “Sind gleich,” answered the Captain. “Sie sind gleich.”

The Revolutionaries were still discussing the possible Final Solutions of the problem of the Evil Ones. The door was opened and the Captain greeted his prey. “Heil Hitler”

The Optimistic Revolutionary raised his bottle, and drinking a toast, addressed the peasant, “to the Simple Man we love so well.”

Among the “here, here,” the peasant got up and left the basement. “Queer,” the Optimistic Revolutionary heard. “Queer, he”.

Among the “here, here,” the peasant got up and left the basement. “Queer,” he thought, misun­derstanding the Revolutionaries’ love, “they’re all queer. Just like their dead leader. Talking all sorts of philosophical nonsense.”

The Revolution’s Defense Corps arrived soon af­terwards. The Captain in charge paid the peasant, thirty one of the hundred marks he had been promised. The peasant fell betrayed. Before he could complain the men stormed into his basement. The Revolutionaries were still discussing the possible Final Solutions of the problem of the Evil Ones.

The door was opened and the Captain greeted his prey. “Heil Hitler”

The Optimistic Revolutionary was only able to reply, “Macht dem Volken”.

“Sie sind gleich,” answered the Captain, and then the submachine gun fired.

Outside, the Simple Man was disturbed. He had gotten the Brown Shirts drunk, so there would be no violence, and the Captain had promised just to capture them. Now the blood would stain his nice clean floor.
The big debate begins: Taiwan vs Peking

Tuesday, October 19, 1971

THE OBSERVER

Page 5

Speaking on the first day of the crucial China debate, George Bush, the U.S. representative, and Chow Shu-Kai, the Nationalist foreign minister, both urged the Assembly to come out strongly against the expulsion of the Chinese Nationalist government on Taiwan.

But Chow, charging that the Chinese Communist government continued to live by "torture and terror" and to negate the principles of the United Nations, continued to live by "torture and terror" and to negate the principles of the United Nations charter, did not mention in his address the American-sponsored resolution for dual representation of China.

Bush formally served notice that the United States would seek a priority vote on its other resolution, a procedural one that would designate the expulsion of Nationalist China an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority.

The vote on priority is due to be the first test of the strength of the opposing camps. It is expected to come at the end of the debate, probably toward the middle of the week.

The hall was far from crowded. The proposal, he said, that America's mood had become pacifist isolationist and that Peking's recent gestures toward Washington were spurious.

Bush, speaking forcefully and partly ad lib, stressed that the American proposal was not an attempt to create a situation where there would be "two Chinas" or "one China and one Taiwan.

The proposal, he said, is "simply founded on the reality of the present situation as we all know it to be. But it does not seek to freeze this situation for the future."

Bush formally served notice that the United States would seek a priority vote on its other resolution, a procedural one that would designate the expulsion of Nationalist China an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority.

The vote on priority is due to be the first test of the strength of the opposing camps. It is expected to come at the end of the debate, probably toward the middle of the week.

Bush, speaking forcefully and partly ad lib, stressed that the American proposal was not an attempt to create a situation where there would be "two Chinas" or "one China and one Taiwan."

The proposal, he said, is "simply founded on the reality of the present situation as we all know it to be. But it does not seek to freeze this situation for the future."

Thirteen Marine Jet takes off vertically; flies horizontally faster than 600 knots, and the Marines are looking for a few good men to fly them. --The Marine Corps Officer Selection team will be in the Dining Halls during noon and evening meals today through 22 Oct. 71.

Limited ticket supply

CAT STEVENS

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5

8:30 pm in the ACC

tickets: $4.50 & $3.50 on sale

WEDNESDAY AT 3:30 in the FIESTA LOUNGE

Thursday and Friday at the Student union ticket office and in the dining halls

Limited ticket supply

Presented by social commission and the Acc

Are you bored, tired or listless?

Join the OBSERVER

and put some thrills in your life!

SUNDAY NIGHT AT 7:00 pm

IN THE OBSERVER OFFICE

2nd floor LaFortune Student Center
Sexism talks describe prejudices

SMC’s second Monday evening session on sexism heard Notre Dame graduate Susan Brander and former South Bend Librarian Darlene Gibson comment that women are victims of job discrimination practices which render their college education “useless.”

“Thou shalt not kill” mean?

“Real issue is: How can we serve both love and war?”

“Yes, we violated the law. But the law is no absolute to us. I must say our intention was to destroy the files. But our motive was to illustrate genocide in Vietnam and corruption at home.”

According to Mrs. Brander, the only reason to get a college degree is because you want it. It won’t help you find a more desirable or better-paying job. The job situation won’t ever get better for women unless they demand it.

Mrs. Brander also contended that white women with college degrees generally receive only about $500 more per year than white men who graduate only from elementary school.

What does about $500 more per year than white men who graduate only from elementary school.

The Fighting Irish practice hard for the big one against Southern California this weekend.

THE TRIAL OF THE CATONSVILLE NINE

Made into great drama

Clive Barnes of the New York Times said of “The Trial of the Catonsville Nine,” “Positively riveting...a new kind of play...wonderfully moving.”

A brilliant and honest piece of modern theater specially staged for live recording in stereo. A forceful performance directed by Gordon Davidson, superbly captured in a two-record album.

Plus—The History Recording Society offers the new album “Berrigan Raps,” free with the purchase of “The Trial of the Catonsville Nine” for $13.00.

Act now: This is a limited-time offer so mail the coupon promptly. Offer restricted to members of the academic community.

THE HISTORY RECORDING SOCIETY

505 Eighth Avenue New York, New York 10018

Please send me “Berrigan Raps” free with my purchase of “The Trial of the Catonsville Nine.” I enclose a check or money order for $13.00.

Name____________________________________

Address..................................................

City...................................................

State..................................................

Zip...................................................

Add appropriate sales tax to albums shipped to New York State.
the pollsters try hard to drop them as far as possible. While he didn't exactly set the stadium on fire, he got the job done. For the first time in several years, Notre Dame has a team that can perform excellently in many areas of the game. Consider: 1.) If Scott Hulbert continues to run as well as he did down the field, he may have a breaking out game. Scott Smith boomed his kicks down to the goal line all afternoon. 2.) Punters Jim de Arrieta and Jim Yoder were adequate at best. Brian Pangborn-Fisher holds on to punts only about 3.5 yards better than his four punters, but they are also returning punts for a 9.7 yard average (comparing with the same number of kicks). Cliff Brown holds the way with a 10.4 average. 3.) Since the glorious days of Nick Rosses and Tom Schoen, the Irish have been content with any punt returner who could hang on to the ball. It seems that this year's crop has been improved. While he didn't split his club as he had a few years ago, Powell has picked up some. 4.) Looking at last year's stats (11 games), we see that 31.4 per cent of all fumbles were recovered by the Irish secondary. This year, the "Tackles For Loss" figure has increased and opposition scoring has been cut by two-thirds. 5.) The "B" team will play a Triple Threat game at 11:00 a.m. in the first and third quarters of the Notre Dame rugby team's record to an even .500, their first loss of the year. A pair of freshmen, Ray Bumbacco and a tally by Jim Tomasoni and Cordes beat the Bethel College tomorrow. It's no wonder that they were so roughly treated.

The Graduate View

By Stan Unrak

The Graduate View

Ara Parseghian has got the college football scene just where he wants it. No coach likes the role of favorite and Ara is no exception. So while the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, the defense of the Defense, the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, just where he wants it. No coach likes the role of favorite and Ara is no exception. So while the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, just where he wants it. No coach likes the role of favorite and Ara is no exception. So while the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, just where he wants it. No coach likes the role of favorite and Ara is no exception. So while the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, just where he wants it. No coach likes the role of favorite and Ara is no exception. So while the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, just where he wants it. No coach likes the role of favorite and Ara is no exception. So while the Irish can beat anyone with 16 points, just where he wants it.
China arguments begin

Changes in co-ex dinners

Co-Ex Student Director Gary Caruso yesterday announced procedural changes for co-ex dinners at St. Mary’s.

Effective Thursday, thirty co-ex meal tickets will be available from 1 to 5 each day, Monday through Friday, at the Student Union offices.

Caruso stated that these tickets will be distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis. However, the ticket is good for use only on the day of the distribution.

The thirty tickets are in addition to the sixty given to a particular student each week.

Caruso noted that he was pleased with the co-ex program so far. He commented on the problem of getting St. Mary’s students to eat at Notre Dame, saying that more girls have been dining here each week.

MARDI GRAS ‘72 NEEDS YOUR HELP!

Wanted: Hall Representatives from each hall on campus and each hall at SMC.

Job: Distribution of raffle packets to various floor representatives; collection of money from floor representatives.

When: Distribution begins in early Nov.; collection begins after Christmas.

Incentives: free admittance to M.G. Kick-off Friday free admittance to M.G. Carnival 2 free tickets to M.G. Concert

Please The N.D. Charities Need Your Help: CALL Greg Stepic 6967