Proposal is unofficially rejected by North Viets

(c) 1972 New York Times

Paris, Jan. 26—Vietnamese Communists made plain yesterday that President Nixon's peace plan was unacceptable.

The North Vietnamese delegation here accused the President of having uttered "brazen" threats of war in his television speech yesterday, which it called a "perfidious maneuver to deceive the American electorate in an election year."

"brazen" threats

The Vietcong delegation, meanwhile, called the Nixon plan a precondition for a cease-fire and new elections in South Vietnam a scheme for maintaining American puppet governments in Indochina.

"We shall continue our program of ending American involvement in the war by withdrawing our remaining forces as the South Vietnamese develop the capability."

The statements were tantamount to a rejection, although they did not spell that out. The Vietcong said it was reserving its formal reply for tomorrow's session of the Paris Peace Conference, where the Nixon plan is to be submitted officially.

The plan will be the first new proposal for a general settlement to be submitted to the conference by the United States since Oct. 8, 1969, when a five-point plan outlined by Nixon in a television speech the day before was introduced.

The 1969 plan called for a cease-fire, a new Indochina peace conference, a timetable for troop withdrawals, a political solution "that reflects the will of the South Vietnamese people" and the immediate release of war prisoners.

The Nixon plan presented yesterday night is consistent with the earlier one. It differs from the earlier one. It differs sessions pointless

In their statement tonight, the North Vietnamese said that in both the public and the secret meetings, "the Nixon administration did not respond to the two questions fundamental for the just and logical peaceful settlement of the Vietnam problem."

It said the United States (1) refused to withdraw its forces and arms; dismantle its bases and "cease all air and naval activities as well as other acts of war against the Vietnamese people in both zones of Vietnam"; and (2) "persisted in maintaining the group of Nguyen Van Thim."

The North Vietnamese statement tonight said the "threat of war" in Nixon's speech yesterday were "a brazen challenge to the Vietnamese people, the American people and peace-loving people around the world."

"We have often pointed out that Mr. Nixon talked one way and acted another," it said. "He spoke of sharp peace but made real war. In deciding to unilaterally make public the content of the private meetings that his delegations had proposed and promised to keep secret, Mr. Nixon gave further proof that his administration (finds it) very easy to break its engagements."

The statement by the provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam described the Nixon cease-fire proposal as "only a maneuver aimed at forcing the peoples of South Vietnam and Laos and Cambodia to resume the war as just another act while the United States continues to maintain regimes in its pay in these countries."

Future seen for Hall Life Board

by Mike O'Hare

Two new appointees to the Hall Life Board and three hall presidents have expressed cautious optimism about the Board's powers and future.

Law professor Peter Thorton, a faculty member of the Board, views the group's purpose as making helpful suggestions to improve hall life, not handing out punishment. According to Thorton, other roles of the Board should include reviewing hall constitutions and hall government to see that they are performing a viable purpose.

Dave Promm, Walsh hall president and a student representative on the Board, stated that he sees the role of the Hall Life Board as "looking out for the welfare of the halls."

He cited the fact that the Board is in a unique position, being an authoritative body instead of a political one, thereby allowing for more impartial recommendations.

Promm said that he recognizes the poor past record of the Board in the past but believes that this can be changed.

Hall presidents that were interviewed concerning the Hall Life Board appeared optimistic about its future. Kevin Hammen of Cavanaugh Hall said, "I hope that we will be workable, judging from the people on the Board, I think it will go okay."

Ed Motto, President of Sorin Hall and chairman of the Hall President's Council, believes that the Board can serve as a "definite function," and said he would welcome any suggestions they might have.

Although the Board's powers are somewhat vague, he hopes that they will be interested in renovation and improvements in the halls, as well as rules.

Ed Motto: board's powers are somewhat vague.

Both John Kwcien of Morrissey and Carmen Macarvello of Fisher have adopted a "wait and see" attitude concerning the Hall Life Board until it has time to act.

Bob Higgins, student government Hall Life Commissioner, said that his office will cooperate as much as possible with the Board. However he is unsure of what kind of assistance his office can offer because of the vague function of the Board.

Presently, Higgins is asking hall presidents to consider what improvements may be made in their hall and submit the suggestions to him. These suggestions for hall improvement will be submitted to the Board of Trustees at their May meeting. Higgins is hopeful that the Trustees will allocate funds to implement the improvements mentioned in the report.
Ginsburg, Kosinski to speak at Soph Literary Festival

by Stan Podiaske

Best poet Allen Ginsburg and author Jerry Kosinski will highlight next April's Sophomore Literary Festival, according to Chairman Raymond M. Funk Jr. The festival is scheduled for the week of between April 16-21.

Kosinski and Ginsberg are two of six novelists and three poets who will appear during the six-day festival. Other guests include Robert Coover, theologian and author of Universal Baseball Association, writer and critic Wilford Brimlow, Big Man author Jay Neugeboren, novelist and essayist John Williams, and poets Diane Wakoski and Robert Donnan. Miss Wakoski is the first woman ever to speak at the festival.

According to Funk, the nine guests will visit classrooms as well as speak to general audiences. Festival directors said that they had not established any speaking times for the nine. The directors are attempting to fit an as-yet-unnamed tenth speaker into the schedule, Funk said.

Cultural Arts Committee Chairman Bob Brinkman praised the selection, contending that "It (the literary festival) should provide a quality equal and possibly better than those in the past." According to Brinkman, "Big names do not necessarily reflect the quality of the writers."

There will be no admission charge for the six-day festival.

Benefit Friday will aid migrant farm workers

by Michael Rasn

Two organizations last night invited the students of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's community to attend a Fiesta Benefit for migrant laborers Friday evening. Rev. Joel Scholefield of the First Unitarian Church and Farm Labor Aid Committee (FLAOC), Coordinator Lags Rocha] jointly extended the invitation.

Rev. Scholefield announced that the Fiesta, organized by the church's Social Action Committee, will be held to raise money for the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC) of the AFL-CIO, to help farm labor in the Michigan. The program will "become more effective."

The benefit will be held Friday, the 28th, beginning at 6 pm at the First Unitarian Church, on the corner of North Shore and Mishawaka. The program will consist of a Mexican-American dinner, entertained with traditional Mexican dances and music, and a dance, with music provided by the Greased Lightening. The donation asked is $2.50 for the entire evening, or $1.00 for the dance alone.

Rev. Scholefield said that "The church as a congregation feels these kinds of activities are a help to the community at large, both Anglo and Chicano. We are very eager to reach students who have a heightened sense of social significance of symbols or fund raising activities. Interested groups can call Mr. Rocha at his home, phone number 239-0291.

Donations or inquiries should be addressed to 222 East Marion, Mishawaka.

The benefit organizers expressed the hope for a "good student response" to the cause. Remarked Rev. Scholefield, "We hope that the Fiesta will have the social significance of symbolically dramatizing the plight of the migrant, but we want people to have a good time, while at the same time making a contribution to a worthwhile cause."

All donations should be made payable to the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

Jerry Kosinski will be one of the highight speakers at the festival.

Your average reading speed probably ranges between 150 and 200 words per minute. Graduates of the Reading Dynamics course read and study at least 3 to 6 times faster than that. And the average graduate of our course actually improves comprehension over 10 per cent.

Thousands of college students are Reading Dynamics graduates, including over 1,000 at Notre Dame, Indiana University, and Purdue. This is the same basic course that first received national attention when President John F. Kennedy invited Evelyn Wood to the White House to teach her system to top level staff personnel. Recently, President Nixon's staff took the Reading Dynamics course.

The best way to find out about the remarkable Reading Dynamics course is to come to a free MINI-LESSON. At this you'll learn what's like to be able to read and study 3 to 4 times faster. You will see a short, enjoyable movie and have all your questions answered.

ATTEND

A Free Speed Reading Lesson
Increase your reading speed 50 to 100% on the spot.

TODAY & TOMORROW
6 and 8 P.M.

CENTER FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION
NOTRE DAME AVENUE
EVELYN WOOD
READING DYNAMICS

Note: Sun. Thu. Thurs. - Adv. $1.00 with this Ad. Void 2-10-72.
Washington—In the second stage of the administration's sudden diplomatic and political offensive on the war, Henry A. Kissinger asked for public understanding and support of the peace proposal. He also reviewed his own private efforts to break the deadlock on negotiations.

Washington—President Nixon's Vietnamese peace proposal was termed a "long step forward" towards a negotiated settlement of the war by the Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield. Some critics of the administration's Vietnamese policies, however, commented that the proposal was unrealistic and stood no chance of being accepted by North Vietnam.

Washington—An amendment that would have limited the authority of the equal employment opportunity commission to only institute suits in Federal Court on behalf of persons subject to discrimination was defeated in the Senate by a vote of 46 to 46. The defeat would give the commission the power to order companies to stop discrimination in employment practices.

The St. Mary's Student Assembly last night voted to create a three-member committee to administer an election designed to find a successor to recently resigned student body Vice-President Miss Underman. The Assembly also voted to name Student Affairs Commissioner Jean Seymour chairman of the committee.

The decision came immediately after the Assembly chose not to appoint an interim vice-president to fill out the duration of Miss Underman's term.

The move to create the committee and the name Miss Seymour head was made by Assembly Member Darlene Gollaa, who cited the "time element" and "the need for a reason for the move. The Assembly also voted to formally advertise for members of the newly-created board on January 27th.

Under rules standing until the Assembly met last night, any vacancies on a board must be filled by a school-wide election. Normally, the St. Mary's student-body Vice-President administers those elections.

Former SBVP Underman was unavailable for comment on the move.

Miss Underman did say, however, that her "first reaction" to the current regulation which makes a new election mandatory, "was that it naming a new vice-president would be a waste of time, since the election for next year's officers would be sometime in March."

SBVP Kathy Bartholow dissented from her former vice-president, claiming during the Assembly meeting that "I think it's best to follow the book. I don't want to have any repercussions."

Miss Underman did suggest that if "it might be necessary" to fill vacancies left on various committees by her resignation, she had been Chairman of the Student Affairs Committee, and a member of the Student Affairs Council and Student Council at Hull House, editor of Una Sancta, a learned society; Senior Fellow. He is a history professor at Temple University, and has taught a course on advanced constitutional litigation at Harvard University Law School last year.

Thursday's festivities will start at 10:15 a.m. with Arthur J. Waskow will analyse "American Catholicism: On a Collision Course?" As a member of the staff of The Liberal Project, he has worked against the United States' conscription laws and was a convict or convicted conspirators whose comments have been titled "The Response of Defendants to Conspiracy Charges." Since 1960 he has worked against the United States' conscription laws and was a founder of the Committee for Non-Violent Revolution. Since 1966 he edited Liberation and in 1969 his book Revolution and the Creative Disorder of our Time was published.

Assem bly Member Daren e Seymour did say, however, that her "first reaction" to the current regulation which makes a new election mandatory, "was that it naming a new vice-president would be a waste of time, since the election for next year's officers would be sometime in March."

SBVP Kathy Bartholow dissented from her former vice-president, claiming during the Assembly meeting that "I think it's best to follow the book. I don't want to have any repercussions."

Miss Underman did suggest that if "it might be necessary" to fill vacancies left on various committees by her resignation, she had been Chairman of the Student Affairs Committee, and a member of the Student Affairs Council and Student Council.
Where's the money coming from?

Notre Dame's football team didn't go to the Cotton Bowl this year. Notre Dame's team didn't go to any bowl game in fact. Such is life. Some years the team just doesn't have it and those years it stays home on New Years day. But for Notre Dame's minority students the fact that the football team wasn't down in Texas, or Louisiana or Florida this New Year's day meant something far more sinister and disturbing than a case of lots of spirit but little talent. For Notre Dame's minority students it meant that the bowl funds, a big source of funds for scholarships, is no more. Those funds allowed more and more minority students to attend this university. Those funds allowed Notre Dame to offer palatable scholarship packages to top flight minority students and others. Those funds have disappeared.

According to our eminent Provost the university will shortly make an announcement about the minority scholarship situation. One might hope that the university will say that several million dollars has been set aside specifically for that purpose. One might hope that the university would announce that Notre Dame would at last have the money to compete for minority students with other major universities. One might also hope that the second coming of Christ might be scheduled for next Thursday. The university's economic situation is depressing. After a modest surplus last year a $700,000 deficit is expected this year. The intractable laws of inflation have decreed that costs for this institution will spiral upwards faster than revenues. These same laws may carry with them on their spiral hopes for adequate minority funding. The Provost has promised an announcement, though. That announcement may carry with it an implicit promise of more funds, a lot more funds. We can only hope that it will and hope too that money has been found to finance the education of those who can't afford it.

Who needs a one month Veep?

With Student Body elections a little over a month away it is a waste of time and effort for St. Mary's Student Government to embark on the process of securing a new Vice-President. If the post carried with it duties of mind bending proportions, or duties that involved life-or-death decisions or other awe-inducing obligations then perhaps an election would make sense.

The St. Mary's Student Government and certainly the St. Mary's student body has far more important things to spend their time on. To waste some of that time to elect someone to a post that is largely ceremonial and then have them serve a month is foolish. We suggest that the election committee headed by Jena Seymour return a negative verdict on their quest for a method to elect a Vice-President for the student government. They would do everyone a favor.
Notes from the Underground

The following article is a selection from a book entitled "The Diary of a Pinko.

Chapter: Notre Dame - a view from the outside

Notre Dame: a view from the outside

This charming selection is from a Fullerton, California newspaper called The Observer. It was published in October of 1971. It is being reprinted here for the good of all Notre Dame students.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) Catholics were shocked recently when the University of Notre Dame awarded its Coveted Senior Fellow Award to Revolutionary lawyer William M. Kunstler. "Kunstler, a Jew, was the attorney for the infamous Chicago Seven. Until 1969, the award was the same as the Patriarch of the Year Award and it was given to such people as J. Edgar Hoover, John Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Bob Hope, and Gene William Westmoreland.

Other nominees for the 1971 award were P. Storer, radical leftist journalist, Charles Hurst, president of Malcolm X College in Chicago and radical sulfur bald Jew.

Shortly after the Chicago Seven trial, which was described by the presiding judge, William Hoffman, as the "most disorderly trial" in American history, Kunstler said the following about the judicial system in the United States.

"There is a disquieting probability that the legal subsystem in itself more than the new tyrants most formidable weapon will ward off all seemingly potential threat to the continuation of yesterday into tomorrow. If the injunction and the conviction can achieve the same results as the new tyrants most reliable weapon, there's no heavy death dehumanize himself.

All political people are deeply interlocked with power. Political parties are often a strong leader. There is the YAF, the Committee for Political Action (liberal), the Committee for a New Congress (worked for peace candidates in the November election) and the Afro American Society (separatists for the most part).

Notre Dame has always had a good football team and pushes athletes. These jocks are typically bean-head right-wingers. Sports are supreme when demonstrations against ROTC started. In 1969, students started against a CIA recruiter. He was scared and split. There was some support for the Moratorium.

On November 17, 1969, Father Hesburgh made his famous"Unions spokesmen's speech" which earned him praise from Tricky Dick. There was a demonstration against the CIA and Fbers were made in speech giving the students 15 minutes to leave. The other split and went to an office. The President congratulated by Nixon who apparently didn't read the second half of the statement. Father Hesburgh said he was only doing this because he felt that otherwise troops might be called in and he didn't want to see his students killed.

Students supported the strike in 1970. There wasn't a Free Clinic or sur- vival services. Draft counseling through the Non-Violence Program.

Intercollegiate sports are still very big here. Jocks are gods and football is the end all. The Observer is a fairly boring campus paper.

ENVIRONMENT:

Mental: Some talk about sports. Others about politics.

Physical: The climate is terrible with really harsh winters. Spring is nice, but early. Water is big pollution. The St. Joseph River is almost totally polluted, they dump sewage directly into the river. For the size of the student body, Notre Dame has a massive campus. The administration building is Gothic and has a beautiful gold dome with Jesus Christ on the cover of the Scholastic are all told.

Red Chinese leader Mao Tse Tung and the Mother of God.

The same woman said the same foul things at the Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

That same report of Black Masses being conducted at Notre Dame. William Smullen, editor of the Newsletter, Netcong, New Jersey reports that Father Hesburgh is planning on instituting free sex in the dormitories.

Smullen, a Notre Dame graduate, class of 1936, writes, "The blasphemous references to God and the insulit directed toward the Blessed Virgin, the Mass honoring Red Chinese leader Mao Tse Tung and the mockery of the Last Supper appearing on the cover of the Scholastic are all tell-tales. A great bright star lights the campus and it should come as no surprise to learn that some hellish are shipping Satan in an incomprehensible way.

"I believe in Mao, the Father Almighty."

Diary of a Pinko

One of many campus monuments in honor of Satan.

The following is a selection from a book entitled "The Diary of a Pinko."
Mencken which we quote: "All successful newspapers are ceaselessly querulous and belligerent. They never defend anyone or anything if they can help it, if the job is forced upon them, they tackle it by denouncing someone or something else." In reference to your editorial on Friday, January 21, Goodbye, Sister Alma it seems you truly practice what you preach. While tolerating questionable opinions in past editorials, Friday's was unprofessional journalism. Your quote from Mencken that "to denounce someone or something" produces a successful newspaper is naive. Your judgments are as ill-founded as your lack of comprehension of Sister Alma and the situation at SMC ND.

We believe that respect for human dignity should be an essential part of any newspaper's creed. However, during the course of the editorial you have chosen to repeatedly belittle and degrade Sister Alma. True, a large part of the community may not agree with several courses of action taken by the Boards of Trustees and other leaders of the ND-SMC community, but to single out Sister Alma, to write of her in a past tense and to eulogize her resignation with Father McGrath's death is a clear example of unexpended balance of about $1.1 million. An "education" fund called the Trust for Agricultural Community Political Education, or SPACE, of Dairymen, Inc., a milk cooperative based in Louisville, Ky. According to the suit, the space organization was created in 1969 and has reported records since its inception. In 1970, SPACE put an additional $25,000 in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon.

As your motto for the Observer this week is: "Practice what your preach." While tolerating questionable opinions in past editorials, Friday's was unprofessional journalism. Your quote from Mencken that "to denounce someone or something" produces a successful newspaper is naive. Your judgments are as ill-founded as your lack of comprehension of Sister Alma and the situation at SMC ND. We believe that respect for human dignity should be an essential part of any newspaper's creed. However, during the course of the editorial you have chosen to repeatedly belittle and degrade Sister Alma. True, a large part of the community may not agree with several courses of action taken by the Boards of Trustees and other leaders of the ND-SMC community, but to single out Sister Alma, to write of her in a past tense and to eulogize her resignation with Father McGrath's death is a clear example of unexpended balance of about $1.1 million. An "education" fund called the Trust for Agricultural Community Political Education, or SPACE, of Dairymen, Inc., a milk cooperative based in Louisville, Ky. According to the suit, the space organization was created in 1969 and has reported records since its inception. In 1970, SPACE put an additional $25,000 in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon. The main thrust of criticism in the suit fell upon the Nixon administration and, indirectly, on President Nixon.

The Agricultural and Dairy Educational Political Trust, or ADEPT, or Mid-America Dairies, Inc., with headquarters in Springfield, Mo., organized in 1970, ADEPT has reported contributions of $137,843 and disbursements of $137,843 — leaving it a balance of $137,843. The Agricultural and Dairy Educational Political Trust, or ADEPT, or Mid-America Dairies, Inc., with headquarters in Springfield, Mo., organized in 1970, ADEPT has reported contributions of $137,843 and disbursements of $137,843 — leaving it a balance of $137,843.

As of the end of 1971, the three dairy cooperatives listed by Nader's accounting from data in his suit were handled all around. But among the people directly involved — those who have definitely more at stake than you — your detached "Observer" does! — I have never encountered anything remotely resembling the rancor, lack of civility, or sneering nastiness you have displayed. At the height of the December flare-up, on several occasions I was deeply impressed by the concern of many St. Mary's students to keep the protests on a level other than the personal. After a week of intense and often bitter emotions, the community gathered in prayer for reconciliation. These students invited Sister Alma, other administrative leaders, and even members of the Board of Trustees. Disagreement was deep and relatively few pretended problems were solved; but that even event showed that there are many more here who can get angry, protest, seek change — without betraying basic human dignity. Give them that kind of enlightened protest instead of the adolescent vitriol your editorial betrays.

I am not writing as one Holy Cross Sister to defend another, and certainly not to justify the course of events we have recently experienced. I am writing because you offered the elements of a common human decency and a minimal ethical sensitivity. The kind of language in that editorial meets my definition of obscenity as no use of four-letter words could. You disregard facts, are incredibly naïve about the structural defects of the situation, and apparently delicate in using your "power" to kick a man when he's down. Well, bully for you; now that's really the fruit of the educational process, n'est-ce pas?

Sister Elena Malits, CSC
Religious Studies Dept.

Cultural Arts Commission's Cinema 72 presents

DESTROY, SHE SAID
Fri. & Sat. Jan. 28 & 29
7:00 & 9:00 pm
Engineering Auditorium
Admission $1.00
Cinema 72 patrons free

Weekend Sports Specials

FRI:
Canadian Mist Blended Whiskey
25° - shot 7:00 - 9:00
Bar Open 4:00 till??

SAT:
Bar Open
12:00 (noon) Till Game Time
& Immediately After Game
Schlitz Malt On Tap
10° - glass 7:00 - 8:00
(One FREE Drink With Each Hockey Ticket Stub)
The Catholic school mythology played a large part in bringing the Irish to Notre Dame. Tom didn't know quite what to expect here.

"You can't tell too much about a college from a brochure without having lived there." College hall tours of course improved Tom a bit, but after his success on the Irish freshman and varsity, he put his mind to rest. "You build up these things, you have it all and you're then you find out it's not as difficult as you thought." In his case, the roar of a crowd likewise proved unfounded; really, little things like carry a Dean's list average, practice little and outside reading notwithstanding.

Tom is a great believer in "the simple things," he says in basketball. "Take the shooting, take the things a young player can get used to." O'Mara also has a thing on nets: he claims that the long, stringy variety make the difference in a good player. There's something to it, since Tulane used Tom's favorite nets and he did a lot better by throwing three.

When he arrived for Digger Phelps and his staff at Notre Dame, Brokaw said of Tom: "Nothing on defense have kept the Irish in games against highly-regarded opponents. "All it takes is a little bit of defense to win.

The Irish Eye

Jim Donaldson

The Irish Eye

Passed In Review

When Johnny Dee resigned as head basketball coach at Notre Dame during the 1971-72 season, his 26-year-old successor, Joe Lapchick, took over the team with the words: "I want to be a member of a national championship team." It is only natural that the Irish would expect the same from their new coach. But are they disappointed? Yes, but not as much as many people expected.

Sullivan talks of the tough schedule Notre Dame plays and how it can be a great benefit to the players and the coaching staff. "You build up these things, you think about Notre Dame basketball and, like the man himself, it's first class," he adds.

Entitled A Frame of Mind Game, the book is divided into four sections, which are as pleasing as a game to Tom. The first section, "The Grand Design," is all about the preparations the Irish made for their season. The second section is devoted to the game plans that the Irish devised in order to cope with the awesome talents of John Wooden's national champions. The third section, "The Upset," relates how the Irish handled the Bruins the only loss of the season and how they went on to win the national championship. The final section, "The Final Battle," tells about the Irish's national championship game.

Jim Donaldson

Jim Donaldson
Soviets chide Nixon for military budget

by Hedrick Smith
(c) 1972 New York Times News Service

Moscow, Jan. 26—Two authoritative Soviet newspapers chided President Nixon today for the increase in his military budget, and said the increase in his national defense spending was much milder than a commentary last Friday in Krasnaya Zvezda, the armed forces newspaper.

This was taken as a possible indication of misgivings in some military circles about aspects of the arms talks despite the positive impression given in some American offices that the political leadership in the Kremlin is interested in reaching an agreement before President Nixon visits Moscow in May.

Krasnaya Zvezda directed its sharpest criticism at the administration's plans to speed development of a new nuclear submarine, as reported in the United States, and as noted by a columnist in the New York Times.

"It is obvious," Krasnaya Zvezda asserted, "that certain military circles in the United States are trying to interfere with Soviet-American negotiations on the limitation of strategic weapons."

Privately, Soviet civilian sources have said that the Pentagon had requested for $900 million to improve the American submarine fleet could be interpreted as a bargaining tactic to press Soviet negotiators to accept Washington's proposal of a new limited sea-basal missile.

In Vienna, the United States has been advocating limiting each side to the number of nuclear-armed submarines it now possesses. The United States has 41 submarines in operation, each with 16 nuclear-tipped missiles. The Soviet Union has about 30 such vessels in operation and 90 under construction. So far the Soviets have repeatedly refused to put a limit on the submarine fleets.

A commentary in Krasnaya Zvezda could be an indication that some military officials are urging the Kremlin to continue to resist American pressures on this point to allow a further build-up of the Soviet submarine fleet, using the increased American program as a reason.

The Pravda and Izvestia commentators avoided specific comments on the submarine fleet issue. But they noted that the relatively restrained tone of their criticism seemed to confirm some Western observers' interest in reaching some arms control agreements.

Izvestia dismissed an un justified the American administration's statements that American increases were needed to match the Soviet arms build-up.

Dairy suit money total rises

(compared to page 4)

to the campaign accounts of four other republican finance committees.

4. And on March 25, with the dairy money flowing, Hardin announced that the milk price support level would go up, after all.

After the White House meeting of March 23 and Hardin's change of mind on March 25 the Nader suit was dropped, TAPE, SPACE, and ADEPT, the three dairy political trusts, contributed another $25,500 to the fund, and six dummy committees here for the "reorganization and/or re-election of the incumbent president, Richard M. Nixon," according to the suit.

On April 5, ADEPT — the "educational" arm of mid-American dairies — put an additional $45,000 into nine regular GOP finance committees.

On July 9, TAPE began an apparent attempt to disguise its payments by contributing $25,000 in equal sums of $2,500 each to 50 dummy committees, with names like Americans Dedicated to a Better Public Administration, the League for Moral Action, the Alliance of Dedicated Voters, and such.

On Aug. 19, SPACE sent a further $30,000 in $2,500 in stallments to do a dozen other paper committees along the lines of the Basic American Ideals Committee, the supporters of American Ideals Committee, the Alliance of Involved Volunteers, and the like, and all identified in the suit as "Nixon Committees."

This Thursday And Every Thursday

(C) 1972 New York Times

by B. Long

The Steering Committee of the Student Life Council has not yet formulated the agenda for the SLC Feb. 24 meeting according to Steering Committee Chairman, Floyd Kozel said that letters listing possible discussion subjects "have been mailed out to each member of the other three committees." These committees (Planning, Hall Life, and Rules and Regulations) will meet separately during the next two weeks.

Daniel Berrigan paroled; to be released Feb. 24

(e) 1972 New York Times

Washington, Jan. 26—Rev. Daniel Berrigan, a major figure in the American anti-war movement, was granted parole from Federal prison today. The 51-year-old Jesuit was arrested on Feb. 21, nine months earlier than the end of his sentence.

Berrigan is serving a three-year sentence for his role in the burning of draft records by the "Catonsville Nine" in Catonsville, Md. He was to be released, with credit for good behavior, in November, but technically his sentence does not expire until August 1973.

The parole decision was announced by the United States Board of Parole, which also explained that the board cited information about Berrigan's poor health, including a heart ailment.

Co-ex tix to be handled by holls

by Peggy Collina

The Hall President's Council last night voted 15-2 to distribute co-ex tickets in the halls instead of at the Student Union Office. The HPC will distribute tickets on a rotating basis; each hall will have a different batch of tickets on designated days. According to HPC chairman, Ed Motto, participation in co-ex dinners has increased, but he "hopes this measure will encourage further co-operation." The HPC will inform co-ex Dinner Committee chairman Gary Caruso, of this decision.

At the End Of Your Day Peace, Prayer, And The Word Of God 118 Le Mans, Campus Ministry Office

SMC

All Welcome

This Thursday And Every Thursday 10 pm to 11 pm

For More Info Call Trace 9491 or Bob 3333.

Clothes and things

Men's Boutique

"On the Mall" — McKinley Town & Country Shopping Center - Mishawaka, Indiana Phone 259-7135

Thursday, January 27, 1972