Floyd Kezele opens SBP race

by T.C. Treanor
Observer Assistant Editor

Vowing that "if there are to be any substantive changes in the life of the Notre Dame student, the students themselves are going to have to take the initiative," and pledging to "immediately merge the Student Governments of Notre Dame and St. Mary's after the election," SLC Towers representative and Vice-Chairman Floyd Kezele last night became this year's first announced candidate for Notre Dame's student body presidency.

Kezele, a 20-year-old junior government major from Gallup, New Mexico, will run with Sophomore Milt Jones, the Student Union's Associate Director, comes from Atlanta.

In a 45-minute press conference, held in the Flanner Hall pit, Kezele charged that "student government is like a morgue," and contended that "especially during the past year, student opinion has only been effective in blocking attempts to repeal rights which have been granted in past years."

Eight point plan

"If there is no pressure, no agitation for movement," Kezele said, "the administrative rightly or wrongly views this as an acceptance of the status quo." Jones followed Kezele's address by outlining an eight-point platform to an audience of about fifty. In addition to the "immediate merger," Jones called for:

— "an exchange program between Notre Dame and schools within the United States and as well as with schools in English-speaking nations such as Canada, Australia, and England."

Floyd Kezele argues immediate merger of ND-SMC

Milt Jones is Kezele's running mate

— "open-air movies and open-air concerts in the spring as well as TGIF's and Over-the-Hill dances."

— "full time operation of the Student Planner Hall pit, Kezele charged that "the office of financial aid...(to) update scholarships so as to keep pace with cost rises."

— "full time operation of the Student Center" with "24-hour coffee in the basement" and "split shifts so that the Student Union offices will be open 3 hours at night as well as in the afternoon."

— "the pass-fail option for all freshman year courses."

Major stand coming

In a question-and-answer session following his and Jones' announcement, Kezele said that he would issue a "major position paper" on the Student Life Council during his campaign. According to Kezele, he will suggest that the SLC become a "University Forum" which would include the Trustees and be composed of weighted committees designed to deal with issues in student life, academic affairs, finances, and other areas.

He also said that he would press for more money for the Hall Life Committee, which last year distributed $10,000.00 to the halls for their physical improvement.

In SLC since 1970

Kezele became an SLC member in a special election in November of 1970 when Observer editor Glen Corso resigned to take over his newspaper post. He won re-election last year, defeating Joe Schlupp 289-29.

Kezele's campaign will be managed by Carl Ellison, a Junior who currently directs Student Government's Recruitment Aid program.

InPIRG to host Nader Thursday

Ralph Nader, a crusader in the field of consumer protection, will speak in behalf of the Indiana Public Interest Research Group (InPIRG) at a talk in Stephan Center on Thursday, February 17. The lecture will culminate a three day campaign by InPIRG to seek student support for the organization.

The 9:00 p.m. speech will deal with the progress of student activism in fields varying from environmental problems and consumer affairs to occupational safety and minority group rights.

Students will be admitted to the talk for 50 cents and general admission tickets, priced at $1.00, will be available to the public if space permits.

InPIRG, an organization of Indiana students concerned about public policy and corporate power was the inspiration and brain-child of Ralph Nader. The group has been active on the Notre Dame campus since the fall of 1971.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader comes to ND Thursday

InPIRG representatives began circulating petitions yesterday on the NOTRE Dame campus in an effort to gain support for a plan to add a $2 assessment on next semester's tuition bills. Proceeds would be added to InPIRG receipts from other colleges and universities in the state.

This would give the organization an annual sum of $200,000 to $300,000 to cover research expenses and to support a professional staff of physical and social scientists, attorneys, environmentalists, and faculty.

The petition drive at St. Mary's College will begin February 20.

In the event the petition drive succeeds, InPIRG plans to reimburse the accounting departments for the cost of tabulating the added assessment. In addition, means will be provided to refund money to students not wishing to participate in the program.

Other state schools participating in InPIRG are Indiana State, University of Indiana, Purdue, Ball State, and DePaul Indiana University at South Bend leaders say they will start the program next year.
Mardi Gras grosses $40,000

The total revenue taken in by Mardi Gras is about $40,000, according to chairman Greg Stepic. The $40,000 figure is the gross revenue received during the week long event, and not a profit. From this total the overhead expenses of Mardi Gras must be paid.

Stepic pointed out that a "good chance" of the $40,000 will go to paying such expenses as the rent for Stepan Center, security, and advertising.

Any hope for the possibility of the profits of the Richie Havens concert going to Mardi Gras were dashed last night. Mr. John Plouff, managing director of the AC, said that "although the totals are incomplete, I would almost bet that there will be a loss on the concert."

In a letter dated February 14, Stepic confirmed Mr. Plouff’s opinion, saying that he heard the concert lost about $5,000.

Winter Festival coming soon

A new campus-wide activity called the Winter Festival is planned for this Saturday, Feb. 19. Organizers say that the activity will be like "a winter An TostaL."

Centering around St. Mary’s lake and Holy Cross Hall, the winter festival will include: crowning of the campus snow queen, skating and sledding on the lake, a live band, free hot chocolate, and a snow sculpture contest. Activities begin at 2:00 Saturday afternoon and end with the square dance at SMC’s Angela Hall at 9:00. The dance is also free.

"We felt that the entire campus needed something to put the life back in," said Tom Valenti, a N.D. sophomore, and one of the organizers of the festival.

Valenti announced these plans late Monday night after a meeting in Holy Cross Hall. The plans are being made to offer prizes to the snow queen and the best snow sculptures. The festival is open to all N.D.-S.M.C. students, faculty, and administration.

SBP endorses InPIRG petition

Student Body President John Barkett gave his "very strong personal endorsement" to the petitioning efforts of the Notre Dame chapter of INPIRG yesterday afternoon. The INPIRG group is attempting to solicit the signature of two-thirds of the Notre Dame population on petitions calling for an increase in the student fee of 1.50 per year. The proceeds will go to INPIRG and will be used to coordinate their efforts.

Barkett hoped that all students would give "serious consideration" to the petitioning and he called it a "very worthwhile project". "It opens options for student involvement in public interest work that wouldn’t be there otherwise. It opens an outlet for students to get involved, where their voices can be heard and they are given the proper financing."

The whole concept of INPIRG is one that Barkett believes will soon spread to all 50 states. This is largely due to it’s purpose and that fact that it is totally student run, Barkett feels.

In a letter dated February 14, Barkett passed on to Father Thomas Blantz, his endorsement of the INPIRG idea and the news of the student Senate’s unanimous approval of the INPIRG resolution.

The Student Body President expressed his optimism that the petitioning will succeed and the INPIRG group will receive the necessary signatures. "I’ll be highly disappointed if the students turn down this opportunity."

Student Financial Aid

New and Renewals
For 1972-1973

Application Deadline:
May 1, 1972

Parents Confidential Statement
To Be Filed by April 1, 1972

Pick up forms now
Office of Financial Aid Room 111
Administration Building

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except vacations to the students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary’s College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $8 per semester from The Observer, Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Ind. 46556.
Washington—A further relaxation in trade policy toward China was announced Monday by the White House. The latest directive placed trade with China under the same restrictions as the Soviet Union and other Soviet Bloc nations. President Nixon also met with French writer Andre Malraux, whose knowledge of China dates to the 1920's.

London—Thousands of British workers were suspended from their jobs as government restrictions on the use of electricity went into effect. As the national coal miners strike went into its 36th day, a court of inquiry charged with proposing a compromise said it would try to produce its report by Friday and political bitterness erupted in the House of Commons.

Washington—Congressional supporters of constitutional amendments against the use of busing to achieve racial integration were told by President Nixon at a White House meeting that he would decide on a course of action to offset recent federal court decisions that require a great deal of busing after he returns from China on March 1.

world
briefs

“The winner of the National Book Award in 1954 for his "The Composer of Them All," Saul Bellow, in 1952 and received the Guggenheim and Ford Foundation fellowships. Bellow has taught at the University of Minnesota, New York University, Princeton and University of Puerto Rico.

Washington—A further relaxation in trade policy toward China was announced Monday by the White House. The latest directive placed trade with China under the same restrictions as the Soviet Union and other Soviet Bloc nations. President Nixon also met with French writer Andre Malraux, whose knowledge of China dates to the 1920's.

London—Thousands of British workers were suspended from their jobs as government restrictions on the use of electricity went into effect. As the national coal miners strike went into its 36th day, a court of inquiry charged with proposing a compromise said it would try to produce its report by Friday and political bitterness erupted in the House of Commons.

Washington—Congressional supporters of constitutional amendments against the use of busing to achieve racial integration were told by President Nixon at a White House meeting that he would decide on a course of action to offset recent federal court decisions that require a great deal of busing after he returns from China on March 1.

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former

"ND Magazine" newly started

The University of Notre Dame has combined two of its publications into a new magazine, "ND Magazine." The first issue of the new 72-page, bimonthly publication is now in the mail to some 47,000 alumni and friends of the university. Circulation is free. "ND Magazine" replaces the "Alumnus," formerly sent seven times yearly to 16,000 alumni, and "Insight: Notre Dame," which was mailed quarterly to alumni and friends. The new publication is edited by Timothy J. Hughes, former "Alumnus" editor, and Ronald R. Parent, associate director of information services and former
The Indiana Public Interest Research Group is looking to tack $3 on to student tuition bills next year to finance their activities. The money will be used for a state wide group that will employ professionals to do research and lobby for projects deemed by the organization to be in the public interest.

INPRIG is one of the best organizations to come along in quite a while. It's good because it will have access to a healthy supply of money, and money is the best way to effect change in this country. For too long the vested interests have steered legislation their way because they had enough cash to oil smooth organizations that pushed their point of view on legislators and in some cases bought them.

The same vested interests have often won over recalcitrant representatives by bombarding them with data supporting their positions. The data has been dug out by well organized and well funded research teams, and used to tear the public a new one.

There is no effective citizen group to counter the economic royalists. John Gardner, with Common Cause, and Ralph Nader, with his people, have made a start, but it isn't enough. It isn't enough to make the plutocrats from the pharmaceutical industry alone outnumber the people that work for Nader and Gardner. Also, Nader and Gardner have directed their efforts on the national level.

We badly need a countervailing power to the corporate lobbyists. They have enormous power and money at their disposal, and they use it, every day, to make sure their clients are being taken care of. Save for the aforementioned overworked organizations, no one is making sure that the corporate plutocrats do not get away with murder.

INPRIG's aim is to defend the rights and privileges of the common citizens and make sure that they are not trampled in the rush for corporate gold.

A miserly $3, on a bill that for most will be about $1600, is not too much to ask. It is not too much to ask to finally have the consumer actively represented in the law making councils of this state by a vigorous well armed group.

The Observer strongly urges students to sign the petition and allow the optional $3 INPRIG fee to be placed on the tuition bill. For us to do less would be worse than shameful, it would be criminal.

Fr. Griff

Ash Wednesday

In the ancient cities, at times of drought or breakneck student, the semi-sacerdotal seers called prophets arose to call the people to see what was happening with the corn and the crops. They were shamans, herdsmen and harlots, and to lament the general condition of sinfulness that brought the tribulations of God upon the mortal deserts of the land.

Needed today, Ash Wednesday, 1972: one gauzy, boney prophet to weep over the sins of our modern wasteland. Our Eden gone to seed, our Canaan of upturned vineyards, our land of milk and honey, turned sour or rancid; our America of the lost decade, the soul of the spirit.

These images are exaggerations, of course; exaggerations are common when fat cats speak as though they had the moral vision of gauzy, boney prophets. Our land is still America the Beautiful, and we are the Children of the Promise. But I suggest that it is also America the Shabby. America, the gray of heart... America the immaculate conceits of hope, when everything is around, paring his dirty fingernails, blowing off the crumbs, crossing the country, in need of a swift kick in the ass.

Gauzy, boney prophets cannot speak pleasantly to a land that fights endlessly and interminably in a war that wounds the conscience of the generation that is called to hear. The arms on stairways of the tenements in Chicago and New York, and chain clubs on the campus, over their hearts, because the only escape from a lost childhood is to find, at the end of a hypodermic needle. Old folks die in rooms at the top of the stairs from malnutrition and helplessness and fear, while our President prays, and we try to be on God's side, presumably in Peking as in Washington. The times, unfortunately, has not been heard from on His choice of sides; but God, as a Republican of the Silent Majority and a kind of cosmic Bebe Rebozo, is the ultimate image of shabbiness in America that could make sheikhs of us all.

Shabby times do shabby things to the spirit of man.

Shabby spirits sometime need to hear the ancient call of the prophet, bidding them to observe a fast that will cast out the demons of sin that sicken the land.

That is why, in the Christian calendar, Ash Wednesday and the Season of Lent are annually observed.

1972 in a year when Ash Wednesday, with or without prophets, seems somewhat necessary. In the search for America as Paradise Regained, prophets may be expendable and sackcloth and ashes may prove superfluous. What is needed is the soul's personal commitment to justice and truth and good, for the disintegration, coming at the dark time of year just prior to the birth of life, is an ideal season for renewing commitment.

Souls in need of prophets and or commitment are authentically invited to a Penitential Service on Ash Wednesday, February 16, at 10:30 in the evening, in the Keano-Stanford Chapel under the direction of Fr. McNeill, Jim Buckley, and Bob Griff. Sackcloth optional. Ashes free as a service of the management.
Dear students,

On January 26, 1972, I submitted a proposal to Brother K. Ryan, A.S.P. of Business Affairs. The proposal asked for a reduction in the allowable capacity of the refrigerator fine to a $5.00 permit fee. It is now Feb. 18 and Brother K. Ryan has not extended to me, the simple Christian courtesy of an acknowledgement, either written or verbal.

For four months prior to Jan 27, I talked with Brother about reducing the fine. At each of our six meetings, Brother explained the university's press and future positions. During a phone call he emphatically stated that the fine would not be reduced.

Later that same week he asked me to put my requests in writing. I did so in the form of a proposal published in the Observer on Jan. 27, 1972.

Since Brother has failed to respond, and because he threatened to "intercept" this information, I feel obliged to divulge the main points of a new university policy, written by Brother K. Ryan, Rev. Chambers and two other Administrators. The main points are: (1) all refrigerators whose capacity is over 3 cubic feet will be banned; (2) all hot plates, rotisseries, air conditioners and pop corn poppers will be banned; (3) the fine on small refrigerators will be increased to $60.00; and (4) televisions will be fined.

A board of officers approved this plan about a month ago. Brother Ryan has not extended to me, other refrigerators) caused a power failure and overload; (2) hall rewiring costs upwards of $50,000 and new feed lines averaged $30.00 per line; (3) high wattage appliances (meaning all refrigerators, T.V.'s, hot plates, etc.) were causing the overload; and (4) a study of the Mini-Kool refrigerator by the maintenance department. The maintenance dept. determined how often the refrigerator turned on and off. This was the only test the maintenance dept. made.

I also had the same refrigerator tested by a professional engineer, Associate Prof. A. J. Quigley, at Notre Dame's Electrical Engineering Dept. He concluded that the unit has "...about one-fifth the power consumption of a typical small color T.V. " and "Thirty or forty cases of these in a hall should have little more effect on power failure than a dozen more 100-watt light bulbs." A copy of Prof. Quigley's letter was given to Brother Ryan a month before the board of officers approved his new plan. He ignored this letter. In point to continued to maintain that the Mini-Kool refrigerator (and all other refrigerators) causes power failure and overload.

Let us do some more arithmetic: Assume the campus had a dozen more 1000 small refrigerators. They consume 42 watts of power on the average, causing a total consumption of 45,000 watts. There are about 300 large, old bought-at-the-salvation-army type refrigerators on campus. They average about 250 watts of power, causing 75,000 watts of power consumption. More watts of power with three-tenths as many refrigerators. Perhaps this gives the university grounds to ban large boxes. However, there is no evidence to support their $30.00 fine let alone an increase to $40.00 on any typical small refrigerator.

I suggest that all concerned students express their opinion to their respective hall presidents and-or Fr. Chambers and Brother K. Ryan.

Raymond DeCarlo
Pres Alpha Phi Omega
A national service fraternity

open letter

(An open letter to Gary Caruso—ed.)

Gary—

So we are involved in "little bureaucratic games," as you say. If anything, centralization is bureaucratic. Keeping the dining tickets in one place is no good, as far as I am concerned.

I believe that the halls ought to handle the tix. They give the possibility—a readily accessible possibility—for the guys in the halls to eat at St. Mary's. This facilitates everyone—or at least most everyone—the chance to share in the co-op and co-ed programs. As Ed said, creating exposure between the ND-SMC student bodies ought to be the main purpose of the program. I do not feel that you can deny this. Since to me this is the case, I cannot understand how you can think that the Student Union office offers this chance to the on-campus students. It is logical, and somewhat obvious, that the best way to "get to" the men is through the halls. This includes the co-op dining.

Statistics are not as important or impressive as availability is to me. I think that is too bad that we all seem to be hung up on them. Think about it Gary, while you are thinking about your own political and bureaucratic games.

Peace—

Marty Siemion
399 St. Ed's

K of C ads

Editor:

Congratulations are in order to the Knights of Columbus for having the courage to present candidly the simple realities of the abortion problem. In the face of that grim reality as it is so truthfully portrayed by the K of C, the lip-service in the letter in Tuesday's Observer signed by 23 people (whom I assume are relatively glad that they weren't aborted) is in fact as empty as it appears. It's rather sad to see how some people refuse to acknowledge facts even when they see them. We can only hope that the current fashion of fleeing from objective reality is a passing one. It is fortunate that there are some truths which can't be eluded by specious argument and weak analogy. It is unfortunate, of course, that the particular truth in point is surrounded by such tragedy.

For life.

J. L. Wilk

REAL LIFE ADVERTISMENTS

ATTENTION

Pre-Med Students
Lecture Tonight Feb. 15
7:30 p.m.

K of C ads

Auditorium

Life Science Building

Don't Forget

Action: If you want it
Action for the environment
Action for consumer protection
Action for racism and sexism
Action for job safety
Action for you

If you don't do it - it won't get done
Your help is needed
Call 3827 or 6413

Petitioners are going door to door in your dorm- Off campus- Sign up in the InPIRG Office, The Huddle or the library

Sign The Petition for

InPIRG

ATTENTION

Pre-Med Students
Lecture Tonight Feb. 15
7:30 p.m.

K of C ads

Auditorium

Life Science Building

Don't Forget

Action: If you want it
Action for the environment
Action for consumer protection
Action for racism and sexism
Action for job safety
Action for you

If you don't do it - it won't get done
Your help is needed
Call 3827 or 6413

Petitioners are going door to door in your dorm- Off campus- Sign up in the InPIRG Office, The Huddle or the library

Sign The Petition for

InPIRG

ATTENTION

Pre-Med Students
Lecture Tonight Feb. 15
7:30 p.m.

K of C ads

Auditorium

Life Science Building

Don't Forget

Action: If you want it
Action for the environment
Action for consumer protection
Action for racism and sexism
Action for job safety
Action for you

If you don't do it - it won't get done
Your help is needed
Call 3827 or 6413

Petitioners are going door to door in your dorm- Off campus- Sign up in the InPIRG Office, The Huddle or the library

Sign The Petition for

InPIRG
Mooney: More ACC concerts

By Milt Jones
Insight Staff Writer

According to Dan Mooney, Chairman of the Student Union Social Commission, the ACC should be made available for concerts more frequently.

Mooney states that the Convo is only available for Student Union concerts seven dates during the year. This according to Mooney, is not fair to the Student Body. "They only allow us seven dates while they fill their calendar with all types of events that don't interest students," Mooney commented.

In addition to the problem of limited dates for concerts, Mooney also cited a problem with profit splits between the Student Union and the ACC. The present arrangement is that the Student Union and the ACC split profits evenly until profits for the year reach 9,750 dollars. After this "ceiling" is reached, the Convo receives all profits on Student Union Concerts.

Observer Insight

According to Mooney, Student Union Concerts have made approximately $23,000 thus far, but the ceiling was 9,750 dollars. After this "ceiling" is reached, the Convo receives all profits on Student Union Concerts.

Two-Year pact

John Plouff, Director of the ACC stated that the ceiling price was agreed upon two years ago by the Student Union. He stated that "this year is the first profits have been very high," and that "in the other years there was no complaint about the ceiling." He also said that "the profit sharing idea works both ways, when there is a profit loss we absorb half of it." There is no no loss ceiling.

Plouff feels that seven dates is enough for student concerts because the Convo also must promote its own events.

"With athletic events tying up most of the weekends, we are limited in the number of activities we can stage," Plouff added.

ACC Interests

"Since we must look out for our own interests as well as those of the students, we feel that seven dates is the maximum number of student concerts we can allow," Plouff stated.

Mooney said that "the profit ceiling should be eliminated for Student Union affairs in the Convo because there is no ceiling on the other events that come in." Mooney also said that "it would seem that the Convo could maximize profits by leaving more student concerts." Mooney also said that "the profit ceiling really hurts the students."

Two-Year pact

John Plouff, Director of the ACC stated that the ceiling price was agreed upon two years ago by the Student Union. He stated that "this year is the first profits have been very high," and that "in the other years there was no complaint about the ceiling." He also said that "the profit sharing idea works both ways, when there is a profit loss we absorb half of it." There is no loss ceiling.

Plouff feels that seven dates is enough for student concerts because the Convo also must promote its own events.

"With athletic events tying up most of the weekends, we are limited in the number of activities we can stage," Plouff added.

ACC Interests

"Since we must look out for our own interests as well as those of the students, we feel that seven dates is the maximum number of student concerts we can allow," Plouff stated.

Mooney said that "the profit ceiling should be eliminated for Student Union affairs in the Convo because there is no ceiling on the other events that come in." Mooney also said that "it would seem that the Convo could maximize profits by leaving more student concerts." Mooney also said that "the profit ceiling really hurts the students."
Irish romp past Bowling Green

by Joe Passiatore

Sports Editor

The way things have gone for the Notre Dame basketball team this season, every victory is something to be cherished. Yet, last night, however, Notre Dame's victory over Bowling Green in the ACC can't mean much to Irish fans. They were better of a pair of mediocre ball clubs.

The only bright spots in the game were Notre Dame's ability to win handily, despite a 34 percent, shooting efficiency, and the bustling defensive play of the Irish.

Notre Dame's aggressive pressing tactics unnerved the young Falcons, and resulted in 24 Bowling Green turnovers. The Irish forced the Falcons to hurry their shots and a number of occasions and the visitors were able to connect on only 29 percent of their field goal attempts, affecting Notre Dame's subpar offensive effort.

The game was a wide open, run-of-the-mill affair. The Irish tossed up 191 shots, sinking only 34, while the Falcons fired 79. The Irish could make 23 of 79, while the Falcons were the only lights out for the night.

But, although basketball statisticians may have been satisfied with Notre Dame's showing, Irish coach John McGuire was thoroughly impressed with the Irish, who came away with a 113-67 victory. The Falcons record fell to 3-15.

"We did the job with pressure," a smiling Phelps remarked after he put his sixth win of the season as the Irish, who breezed to a 113-67 victory over the Falcons to hurry their shots on a minute. It was a bit of a one-sided game with DePaul's freshmen (recently comprised of schoolteachers, and came away with a 113-67 win over a pair of mediocre ball clubs.

The Hustlers lost by only two points. The Irish did not employ the full court press, only two of their better players. The Hustlers, who had only six points in the second half in an open court game, were able to score six straight points, and close the gap to 22-23 before Silinski and John Egar hit from the field to give Notre Dame a 12-point bulge with 9:07 left in the game.

Both Bob Hotliling canned a shot for the Falcons, the Irish ran off eight straight points in a minute and a half, six of them by Clay "Silinski," to boost their lead to 35-17.

The Irish cooled considerably after that, going scoreless for almost four minutes, but Bowling Green was able to pick up only six points in that span.

Stevens dropped one in at 3:31 to break the ice for the Irish, who outscored the Falcons 16-6 the rest of the way and took a 43-27 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

Neither club shot well in the second half, Notre Dame making only 19 shots out of 58 percent while the Falcons hit on 26 percent, sinking 18 of 36 attempts.

Both teams had 38 rebounds but the Irish had an advantage at the free throw line, making 11 of 12 charity tosses (they canned 24 of 26 overall) to the Falcons' seven of 11, and the Irish forced Bowling Green to make 16 turnovers while committing only seven themselves.

For the game, Notre Dame shot 41 percent, with 15 points, and Stevens, who dropped in 10, were also double figures for Notre Dame.

Senior captain Ken Ryan will be going after a record mark of 10 career victories, and freshman heavyweight Mike Fanning will be looking for his 28th straight win of the season as the Irish wrestlers take on the Boiler-mark grapplers in West Lafayette tonight.

The Irish have already broken 24 team and individual national records this year and their current slate is their best won- lost mark ever.

The Irish drub Chiton club

by Joe Passiatore

The Irish freshmen basketball team engaged in what amounted to a game type scrimmage with the Irish freshmen last night and came away with a 113-67 victory that was anything but hard-fought.

The Hustlers were a team comprised of schoolteachers, some of whom had presided over played college basketball. The team participates in three different leagues and came into last night's contest with a 38-38 record. In an earlier encounter with the Hustlers (the visitors over the Irish frsh), the Hustlers lost by only two points.

Last night, however, the test was without three of their better players and, as a result, the game quickly evolved into a one-sided affair for the Irish.

The early going appeared that the contest might be fairly close as Notre Dame held only a 16-13 lead at 13:36 of the first half. At this point, the Irish implemented a full court press, much to the chagrin of the Hustlers. The press brought about a plethora of Hustler errors and Notre Dame lay-up baskets. The score continued to mount against Chicago until, with 2:20 left in the half, Notre Dame led 55-36.

The Irish did not employ the press in the second half in an effort to take the game down the score made little difference, however, as the Hustlers, who had only six points in the second half, were not only unable to score but also looked tired throughout the second half.

Gary Brokaw (13) dropped in 18 points last night as the Irish freshman team in and personally rapped up the score with a run and gun exhibition that could have gotten him reported to the humane society. He scored 18 points, mostly on jumpers from the foul line, and made several nice passes. Gary Beaverson was unstoppable for a stretch late in the game and scored seven straight points for Notre Dame. The Hustlers' streak was comprised mainly of tip-ins and he eventually went on to score 10 points.

For the game, Notre Dame shot 35 percent, a percentage that would have given tougher opponents problems. The Hustlers, meanwhile, were successful on only 36 percent of their field attempts.

The victory boosted the Leoprechans record to 10-5.

Cortina wins at MSU Relays

by E. J. Kinkoph

Senior freshm ter shot put Greg Cortina added another first place award to his trophy case, as he passed the Notre Dame track team in the individual competition at the MSU Relays in East Lansing last Saturday.

Cortina topped all the shot put team and individual records this year and their current slate is their best won-lost mark ever.

Ello Poiselli finished fifth in the shot put with a heave of 105.5'.

Dan Dunne rounded out the Irish finishes with a sixth place effort in the two mile run. Dunne finished in a time of 9:05.8.

All the results of the competition were overshadowed by the record breaking times of two freshmen who established new world marks.

Marshall Dill flew to a new world record in the 30-yard dash with a time of 29.5 seconds, and teammate Herb Washington turned in the outstanding time of 5.9 seconds in the 60 yard event, bettering the world mark by one tenth of a second.

The track team travels to Cambridge this Saturday to take part in the Central Collegiate competition on the Western Michigan campus.
The Burgundy Street Singers are a bright, handsome and fresh group from concert to concert. They appeared as regulars on the Vegas with headliners Anthony Burgess and others. Since that time they have been semi-regulars on NBC-TV's Johnny Carson Show, Barbara McNair Hour and most recently, as regulars on CBS-TV. Since that time they have been regulars on NBC-TV's Johnny Carson Show, Barbara McNair Hour and most recently, as regulars on CBS-TV.

In New York City, the Playboy Persian Room of the Plaza Hotel was a bright, handsome and fresh group from concert to concert. They appeared as regulars on the Vegas with headliners Anthony Burgess and others. Since that time they have been semi-regulars on NBC-TV's Johnny Carson Show, Barbara McNair Hour and most recently, as regulars on CBS-TV.

The group had started off with the formation of a singing group. When the group finally began to get noticed that the two girls always sang the songs they were a bright, handsome and fresh group from concert to concert. They appeared as regulars on the Vegas with headliners Anthony Burgess and others. Since that time they have been semi-regulars on NBC-TV's Johnny Carson Show, Barbara McNair Hour and most recently, as regulars on CBS-TV.

The Burgundy Street Singers were a bright, handsome and fresh group from concert to concert. They appeared as regulars on the Vegas with headliners Anthony Burgess and others. Since that time they have been semi-regulars on NBC-TV's Johnny Carson Show, Barbara McNair Hour and most recently, as regulars on CBS-TV.

The group had started off with the formation of a singing group. When the group finally began to get noticed that the two girls always sang the songs they were a bright, handsome and fresh group from concert to concert. They appeared as regulars on the Vegas with headliners Anthony Burgess and others. Since that time they have been semi-regulars on NBC-TV's Johnny Carson Show, Barbara McNair Hour and most recently, as regulars on CBS-TV.