Future female dormitories?

by George Brown
Staff Reporter

The selection of future female dormitories is tied to admissions quotas just as the selection of Badin, Walsh, Farley, and Breen Phillips were, according to Dr. Philip Faccenda, acting vice president of student affairs.

Faccenda indicated in an interview yesterday that it was unlikely that quotas for the 1974-75 school year would be determined before December of 1973.

The admission factor, Faccenda said, would "make it impossible to speculate on the hall to be picked for 1974-75 at this time, but, in order to keep the problems of dislocation at a minimum, it will be necessary to work along with the admissions office step by step in order to insure adequate housing for the women."

committed to decision

Faccenda, who chairs a newly formed committee of rectors select SLC members and hall presidents, indicated that he was open to any proposal for relocating displaced students from Farley and Breen Phillips which the committee might generate.

"I am committed to the committee's decision. The opinion of the majority in this problem would be the best one," Faccenda said.

The plan would mean a disproportionate number of seniors and juniors in the selected hall. As a result fewer sophomores and no freshmen would be dislocated when the chosen hall was finally converted.

Faccenda said the proposal was interesting but that he wanted the committee to consider all plans without the influence of having any particular approach labeled as "favored."

The vice president said that he feared producing an upper class hall because the residents might turn apathetic to campus activities since they would graduate in 1974.

reversal possible but chances not too great

In a related interview Fr. James Reihle, dean of students and director of student housing, admitted that there was "a possibility" that Notre Dame might reverse its decision not to allow female students to live off campus next year. He indicated that the possibility was not very great.

Reihle suggested that a change of university policy for next year would be a "great help" in easing the strain of relocating displaced male students. He did not elaborate on the reasons for this conclusion.

The relocation committee will meet for the first time Friday to begin formulating specific plans for displaced Farley and Breen residents.
Job outlook getting better for this year's graduates

by Greg Rowinski, Observer Reporter

"Hiring quotas are up," graduated seniors and those with postgraduate degrees, according to Richard Willemine, director of the Placement Bureau.

"College seniors are turning a new leaf in their willingness" to "send an additional recruiter to Notre Dame's Center for the Study of Man in Contemporary Society," the Observer reported.

Washington—President Nixon announced Wednesday that he was sending Henry Kissinger to Hanoi for a three-day effort to make the peace talks secure and lay the groundwork for reconstitution of Southeast Asia. The president said Kissinger's trip, which will begin Feb. 10, would be followed in the spring by a meeting of his own with President Thieu, who would confer with the President at San Clemente.

Nixon made the announcement at a news conference, the first he had held since Oct. 5.

San Francisco—word of the Thieu Nixon meeting came as fighting continued in Vietnam (are more than three days after the cease-fire agreement was announced. The source said the meeting of the two leaders of state was arranged several weeks ago as an in-depth measure to gain Thieu's support of the peace agreement.

Washington—President Nixon's restoration of his well-known opposition to amnesty for draft dodgers. "Those who deserted must pay their price," the president said, "and the price is not a jacket in the Peace Corps," but "a criminal penalty for disobeying the laws of the United States.

Church study to start here

An interdisciplinary study of church vocations has been started at the University of Notre Dame under a $20,960 grant from the National Center for Church Vocations (NCCV) in Detroit, Mich.

Hev. Edward J. Baldovin, NCCV executive director, said the grant to Notre Dame's Center for the Study of Man in Contemporary Society is underwriting the study's first phase, which will culminate in a detailed and documented research blueprint, including methodology, rationale and potential funding sources, to be implemented in phase two, Notre Dame is contributing an additional $5,000 to the first phase research.

The project's director, Dr. Carroll W. Tageson, a psychologist and associate professor of education at Notre Dame, said the research "will be designed to relate to the practical needs of vocational directors." Tageson said his national board of professionals in the vocations field will be involved in the planning phase.

Tageson's study team will include research findings in the vocations area and examine various explanatory models used in the past, narrowing down the question of which factors are most critical for future research. Phase one is expected to be completed in December, 1973.

NCCV was formed in 1969 following a Vatican suggestion that national offices be established to coordinate vocations efforts and promote public understanding of vocations needs.

NCCV was born under a joint program of Catholic Bishops, the Conference of Superiors of Men and the Leadership Conference of Women Religious.

The Center for the Study of Man in Contemporary Society was established at Notre Dame in 1961, under the direction of Dr. George N. Shuster, to foster interdisciplinary research in the humanities and the social sciences.

Studebaker Club

The Michigan Chapter of the Studebaker Drivers Club met the monthly opening of the City of South Bend's Studebaker Historical Vehicle Collection, February 4.

The Collection is opened to the public with free admission from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. As an extra feature this month, the movie "Beyond a Promise" will be shown. The Collection is located on the corner of Lafayette and Bronson Streets.

Run by Studebaker--The Studebaker Dealers Club was founded in 1955 by members of the Studebaker Historical Vehicle Collection.

The Collection opened to the public with free admission from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. As an extra feature this month, the movie "Beyond a Promise" will be shown. The Collection is located on the corner of Lafayette and Bronson Streets.

On campus today

7:30—meeting—philosopher's circle, stapleton lounge, smc
8:00—lecture, prof. james bishop: "policification and changing aspects of caste," induct 73 series, carroll hall, smc
8:00—lecture, prof. v. vardys: "rising liberalism and nationalism in the soviet union," library auditorium at nd-smc

Renovation committee continues studies

by Tom Drape

The Committee for LaFortune entered its "phase two" efforts to renovate the Student Center by subcommittees in the present co-executives arrangements. The committee reviewed the viewpoints of philosophy, promotions, architecture, and feasibility as the three last to recalculate their timetable.

Bob Maykuth, the director of Student Activities, offered tonight, said that the committee divided into three main areas of study. The sub-committees are the Philosophy Study, Promotional Study, and Feasibility Study. The Committee for LaFortune hopes that the present co-executive committees will put in place a "philosophy" that will put it on "the student center to be in the Notre Dame community." Ken Knievel, 4th year architecture student, reported to the committee that any actual work can not possibly be initiated until the summer after next. Knievel outlined the redesigned schedule into three parts: the completion of proposal sketches for the Student Center by the end of next year; secondly, this semester, sketching structures next year; and, finally, Frank Devine's seat, the completion of this section by the end of next year and that summer.

Defining the LaFortune committee's main goals, Knievel listed efforts toward student interest, initiation, and ideas and secondly, the changes for planning and drawing. "We must be able to go before the Trustees with several of our plans and a philosophy for any hope of success in renovation," said Knievel. The sub-committees were decided upon to "speed up" the Committee's work. Each is a task unit of men who will study the proposal separately within the next 2 weeks.

At that time the Committee will reconvene to put together and polish the studies proposals. The Philosophy Study, according to Maykuth, will be searching for a basis on which to build further actions. They will particularly be interested in "the outside forces on student union and other unions in general." The problem of student interest and subsequent involvement will be the objective of the Promotional Study. Concerning the direction of their efforts, Knievel said, "the most important need we have is a media presentation." Common agreement was that the idea of presentation and subsequent feedback will promote student interests to be felt.

Terming the aim of the Feasibility Study, office space and creative ideas. Any Student feedback is asked to be channeled through any of the Committee members. The committee members are as follows:

Philosophy Study: Dan Schopp, Dave Conover, Sue Darin, Terry Skehan, Joe Gasiano, Bob Slucken, and Jim Maneu (Dennis Elemez)

Promotional Study: Jerry Lukas, Tom Drape, Art Quinn, and Mary Otto

Feasibility Study: Steve Carter, Tom Drape, Jim Maneu Anne Gilligam, and H-Mahn.

Thursday, February 1, 1973

The Observer

Coex meal changes desired

by Bob Johnson

Staff Reporter

Student Government would like to see a revamp of the present co-executives arrangements with St. Mary's and also student recognition of the Services Committee, according to Bob Maykuth, Chairman of the Student Government and Development Committee.

Maykuth feels the present co-executives arrangement is unfair to many students because of the dictionary function of the student program. St. Mary's allot one hundred tickets per hall to Notre Dame, which reciprocates by giving St. Mary's hall fifty tickets. One-hundred is the average number of students who go each night. Notre Dame gives two predetermined halls fifty tickets each, and the twenty-one Notre Dame halls are rotated so that each hall gets fifty tickets in one hall are used, then only half the hall goes to St. Mary's every seven or eight weeks.

Circumstances have been made to Maykuth about the program. The major complaint is that some halls miss out on some of the better meals, such as "steak nite," at St. Mary's and others in which they don't go to St. Mary's. Maykuth says that such a system is unfair to many students who want tickets but can not get them. He feels that the program can be improved and gives St. Mary's about fifty tickets, but not all of the tickets are used.

According to Maykuth, the tickets may not get to the hall presidents or to the section leaders who will go to the students to go, because of the previous arrangements. If not all the tickets in one hall are used, then they go to waste. Maykuth feels that these extra tickets should be distributed to other halls.

Maykuth said he has learned that Notre Dame is supposed to receive one hundred and twenty tickets per night from St. Mary's. He feels that the program can be rearranged so that three halls go on each night, thereby shortening the top between visits to St. Mary's. With the extra tickets, Maykuth can distribute the tickets proportionately to three halls on the basis of the hall population.

This procedure would allow each hall to eat at St. Mary's every seven for the present eleven. Along with this plan, the rotation of the halls would be staggered so that each hall goes on a different night each week. This would broaden the menu the hall sees, and increase the probability of one hall going on a slack night. Maykuth would also like to see the Food Service Committee recognized by the students. This committee is comprised of seven members who will study the possibilities and decide hall menu changes. Newly formed, the committee has yet to decide when it will hold its meetings, but it is hoped that the meetings will be held weekly.

The committee will direct its attention to proposed changes and student criticism. Maykuth hopes that students will make use of this new committee.

Sign up at these times for Nassau

ALUMNI CLUB
Something New
Live Music
Thursday & Saturday 10-11
OPEN 9 a.m.
Xtra Happy Hour 4-6
15 Beers
Closed This Friday Night

The Winery
Michigania's Only Wine Shop

OVER 700 DIFFERENT WINES
★ Gourmet Food ★ Cheese ★ Books ★ Wine Glasses
2426 Lincoln Way West Mishawaka 259-9046 4 Blks East of Ironwood

John O'Hanlon-Prop. ND 65

SPECIAL PRICES
TO OUR DAME STUDENTS

The Bridal Sets IMPORTED BY FOX'S

DIRET DIAMOND IMPORTERS
FOX'S JEWELERS

MICHIGANIA SPORTS CAR CLUB
Meeting 8 p.m tonight
First Bank & Trust
US 31 N & Cleveland Road.
Info 272-9914.

Valentine's night dinner at Ohe Windjammer

Codfish Island Restaurant

Thursday, February 1, 1973

The Observer

We Solve Long Hair Problems

Long Hair can be a problem if it is not shaped properly. We will take the time to help you find the style that best fits your needs.

All Services By Appointment - Call Now

The Winjammer

2427 Lincoln Way W
Closed Mondays
Phone 322-4623

Thursday, February 1, 1973

The Observer
Admiral's Feed Sales Making it at the Cross Hall

By Dave Rato Staff Reporter

In the midst of the Committee on Unfairness' Privatizing's concern for food sales operations and an apparent "donation" from them on the part of most hall residents, Holy Cross Hall's "Admiral's Feed Sales" continues for his second semester with what is probably the freshest, most inexpensive, and yet most profitable food sales on campus.

And what's more, Holy Cross students enjoy patronizing it.

"Admiral" is Navy ROTC's spokesperson Jim Pettengill, from Brick Town, New Jersey. Together with a staff of Steve Carrier (Muhawk, N.J.), Tom Lanelli (Fl Ladera Heights), and Paul Ryan (the Bronx), Pettengill, a business enterprise that charges 20 cents for hot dogs but turned over $600 back to the hall at the end of the last semester, 90 percent of total sales.

"We tripled in one semester what food sales gave back all last year," Pettengill builds an effective increase of 600 per cent.

It's true that the prices at Admiral's are so extremely low when seen in the light of claims by Pettengill's counterparts in the other halls who plead that "prices are sky high," as a student put it, "at Holy Cross, soft drinks go for 15 cents a can, beef burgers for 45 cents, cheeseburgers for 50 cents, potato chips and other bag snacks for 25 cents, and cigarettes for 40 cents."

"I don't think I'm supposed to be selling cigarettes that low," said Jim, "but I don't care. It makes it easier on the residents if they can buy a pack low.

But the bulk of Admiral-and-crew's success lies not with their fiscal record but with the change they have effected in food sales atmosphere.

"Last year food sales were a real ripoff," he explained, "and the guys who were then Sandra who had all lived together up in the rafters somewhere—couldn't care less if you were around or not. It was a big ocean job and nobody wanted it. And that was when profits were being split 50-50.

"One thing you've got to understand is that our hall has lots of spirit, he went on. "We have a saying: 'There's the University of Notre Dame, and then there's Holy Cross Hall.' Well, our food sales was just not in the hall spirit. Everyone hated to go down there."

So Steve (Carrier), Tom Lanelli, Paul Ryan and I went to the hall and asked them if we could have the sales. We told them we'd split ten percent of the profit among ourselves and give the rest back to the hall, while cutting prices as much as we could. They finally agreed to let us have it.

Now we're the main source of money around here.

Hall resident Father Andy CiFerni seems to have been a big part of the switch. He is new to Holy Cross this year, and last year's resident, according to the Admiral, wouldn't allow lessors for food sales to expand their services, especially as concerns physical expansion into Holy Cross' spacious basement.

A resident came by from the adjoining ping pong room and declared, "Jim, I'm going to get me some pretzels. Here's a dime."

"All right," said Jim taking the coin. "They're in the box.

The resident ambled over to the open food supply room and picked up his pretzels. And he was not the last-three or four others came with similar requests, and Pettengill pointed the way.

Buy Holy Cross food sales open at eleven, and this was 10:15 p.m. How could these early sales be?

"That's another thing about food sales," explained Jim. "As soon as closing time comes in most halls, the sales people close up tight.

They couldn't care less about getting you anything, even if you're after a $50 order. And they never open their doors before the four begins.

Here, this year, we have our standing hour, but we four in food sales wander around the hall at all hours, and if somebody wants something, we come down and get it for him.

The services didn't stop there.

"We open after interhall games for everyone's convenience," he continued. "One o'clock, two o'clock in the morning whenever they're done.

And if a guy comes up to the counter in sweatpants, asks for something and doesn't have any money with him, we give it to him and write the amount on the wall upstairs. It looks like an Egyptian hieroglyph. But everybody understands it.

After hearing Admiral tell the story—and hearing the hall residents verify it—one senses that the thrust of Admiral's is not aimed so much at The-Lowest-Price-on-Campus, but at having a place for students to come eat, listen to music (Jim's stereo is situated there), rap and have a good time while other food sales seem more to be extensions of food warehouses, with all the warmth.

"Now everyone comes down," he claimed, proud and smiling. "This is the place to be. We're not so busy, it seems to me, other food sales as a family kitchen.

The proprietors lend themselves well to the atmosphere. Pettengill said he "gets a kick out of it," and that the rent do too. And each of them has yet to take up his option to get his share of the profits.

"Cahr— you know, he's a real go-getter," according to Pettengill, "is the life of the party. Student told me once that when he turned down and saw Cahir at the door, he knows he's not only in for some food, but for entertainment too. "It turns out that Steve is an expert at impromptu dance.

"If you give a damn at all," concluded Pettengill, "you really get excited about it.

His group has plans for the near future, including acquisition of a color TV, initiation of a coffeehouse and opening food sales on Saturday afternoons.

Probably the biggest lesson taught downstairs at Admiral's Feed Sales is that contrary to generally heard complaints by smoker-loaded food sales managers in other halls, students can operate with minimal management. And the lesson is a tremendous profit to the hall while making the sales a galvanizing hall-uniting experience that everyone involved can enjoy, customer and proprietor alike.

"Guys that say you can't make money at it," said Jim, "that's absolute bullshit. We've cut all prices almost to cost and we've still really increased sales. It's all a matter of making students want to come buy something—and you do that by letting them enjoy it.

"The guys say we're having a lot of fun at it," he went on. "The freshmen have come to me asking if they could work with us— for free. The way I look at it, running food sales is a privilege.

And he says it like he means it.

"This is what I believe," finished the Admiral, readying for the night's crowd. "If we're going to be here for four year, we migh as well make this a good place to live.

A New Life for You

Jesus Retreat

Friday Feb 2 8 p.m. to Saturday Feb. 3 8 p.m.

Call 282-2508 days 283-6868 evenings

Sponsored by True House a Christian Community at Notre Dame

Observer Insight

This is the place to be. We're not so busy, it seems to me, other food sales as a family kitchen.

The proprietors lend themselves well to the atmosphere. Pettengill said he "gets a kick out of it," and that the rent do too. And each of them has yet to take up his option to get his share of the profits.

"Cahr— you know, he's a real go-getter," according to Pettengill, "is the life of the party. Student told me once that when he turned down and saw Cahir at the door, he knows he's not only in for some food, but for entertainment too. "It turns out that Steve is an expert at impromptu dance.

"If you give a damn at all," concluded Pettengill, "you really get excited about it.

His group has plans for the near future, including acquisition of a color TV, initiation of a coffeehouse and opening food sales on Saturday afternoons.

Probably the biggest lesson taught downstairs at Admiral's Feed Sales is that contrary to generally heard complaints by smoker-loaded food sales managers in other halls, students can operate with minimal management. And the lesson is a tremendous profit to the hall while making the sales a galvanizing hall-uniting experience that everyone involved can enjoy, customer and proprietor alike.

"Guys that say you can't make money at it," said Jim, "that's absolute bullshit. We've cut all prices almost to cost and we've still really increased sales. It's all a matter of making students want to come buy something—and you do that by letting them enjoy it.

"The guys say we're having a lot of fun at it," he went on. "The freshmen have come to me asking if they could work with us— for free. The way I look at it, running food sales is a privilege.

And he says it like he means it.

"This is what I believe," finished the Admiral, readying for the night's crowd. "If we're going to be here for four year, we migh as well make this a good place to live.

A New Life for You

Jesus Retreat

Friday Feb 2 8 p.m. to Saturday Feb. 3 8 p.m.

Call 282-2508 days 283-6868 evenings

Sponsored by True House a Christian Community at Notre Dame

The Hogs who man Admiral's Feed Sales (l. to r.) Tom Lanelli, Steve Carrier, Jim Pettengill and Paul "Nate" Ryan. It is no wonder that Father Andy calls Jim Pettengill "St. Francis," and that the Holy Cross food sales grows larger and larger.

"ONE A KING IS FOREVER BUT ONE A KNIGHT IN NASSAU IS ENOUGH" K. M., Nassau Trip 1972

Come Down With Us To Sunny Nassau.

Sign up in La Fortune 3rd floor

"GOOD BYE BECOMES A BETTER IDEA"

"RENT A PINTO"

Craig Kapson or Lois Tranter

JORDAN MOTORS 259-1981

A NEW LIFE

WHAT'S THE RELIGIOUS LIFE LIKE?

Ask the Men Who Know

Contact: Fr. Andrew Ciferni, O. Praem.

Holy Cross Hall, 107 UNO
Tel: 283-8185
Reduction of growth is aim of government

by Lee M. Cohn

(C) 1973 Washington Star News
Washington, Jan. 31 - Nixon Administration policies aim to reduce the economy's rapid rate of growth by curbing inflation and slowing growth eventually to the same rate as the economy's potential growth rate, Council of Economic Advisors said in its annual report to Congress yesterday that the economy will expand faster this year than last, and faster than most forecasters outside the government expect.

Food prices will continue to rise rapidly for a while but moderate later this year, pulling down the over-all rate of inflation, the Council predicted in its annual report to Congress. The unemployment rate will decline from last year's 5.1 per cent to 5.0 per cent at the end of 1973, the Council forecasted. It hedges on whether the rate can or should be lowered further in 1974.

In a message accompanying the report, President Nixon predicted that "1973 will be another very good year for the economy." He said he believed it can be a great year. If we can manage our fiscal affairs prudently, "I think and the Council again hammered away at the theme that federal spending must be held down to a more prudent budgeted estimates to prevent inflation.

Although the President has said he believes extremely high inflation for the foreseeable future, the Council acknowledged that circumstances could arise requiring temporary tax boosts to stabilize the economy. The report also included a special chapter analyzing the employment impact of war costs, excluding higher unemployment rates and lower earnings compared to men. Nixon insisted in his message that international and monetary and trade reforms "that permit us to earn our way."

Beyond 1973, The Council said, that sustainable wealth will allow for real growth over the first half of 1973, the Council predicted today. "After mid-year, the economy will be significantly closer to the zone of desirable potential output, and it is both probable and desirable that the rate of expansion will and should abate towards its sustainable 'true' path."

The Council said that the rate of increase in G. N. P. the best known measure of economic growth, should be reduced by about one-third below last year's rate and the predicted rate for 1973.

Nixon holds press confab; opposes total amnesty

by Garrett D. Horner

(C) 1973 Washington Star-News
Washington, Jan. 31 - President Nixon today ruled out amnesty for young men who fled the country to avoid the draft during the Vietnam War, and said they must pay a criminal penalty if they want to return.

The PEACENESS is "not a junket in the Peace Corps," he said, announcing a newsworthy conference in the White House press briefing room.

Some young men have paid a high price to serve the U.S. in a country far away, the President said, insisting that draft dodgers or deserters also must pay a price. He said a questioner that he does not intend to try to meet with American prisoners of war when they return to this country because he does not want "to ex-pat" their return.

But, he said, if any former prisoners desire to come to The White House, they will be "on the list."

In leading into expression of a continuing opposition to amnesty, Nixon showed considerations which, he said, would establish rules compelling countrymen with chronic deficits or surpluses in their international accounts to change their currency values or take other corrective measures. Although the message and report were sent to Congress formally today, the White House advanced the latter last night. As reported in the budget Monday, the Council predicted that the Gross National Product-total output of goods and services-will increase by $115 billion or 10 per cent, to $1,267 trillion this year.

Discounted for price rise, the Council said, "real" G. N. P. - the actual volume of output-real will grow by 6.7 per cent, compared with 6.5 per cent in 1972. Most forecasters outside the government predict growth slightly above 6 per cent.

The over-all inflation rate in N. P. terms will average 3 per cent this year, the same as in 1972, the Council predicted. The consumer prices index is not forecasted to increase by more than 4 per cent. G. N. P. increased faster last year than the Council predicted last January, and the G. N. P. inflation rate was lower than forecast.

The government will maintain a very high rate of real growth over the first half of 1973, the Council projected today. "After mid-year, the economy will be significantly closer to the zone of desirable potential output, and it is both probable and desirable that the rate of expansion will and should abate towards its sustainable 'true' path."

Beyond 1973, The Council said, that sustainable wealth will allow for real growth over the first half of next year, the Council predicted today. "After mid-year, the economy will be significantly closer to the zone of desirable potential output, and it is both probable and desirable that the rate of expansion will and should abate towards its sustainable 'true' path."

The Council said that the rate of increase in G. N. P. the best known measure of economic growth, should be reduced by about one-third below last year's rate and the predicted rate for 1973.

President Nixon held a press conference today and said, "return."

Nixon holds press confab; opposes total amnesty

by Garrett D. Horner

(C) 1973 Washington Star-News
Washington, Jan. 31 - President Nixon today ruled out amnesty for young men who fled the country to avoid the draft during the Vietnam War, and said they must pay a criminal penalty if they want to return.

The PEACENESS is "not a junket in the Peace Corps," he said, announcing a newsworthy conference in the White House press briefing room.

Some young men have paid a high price to serve the U.S. in a country far away, the President said, insisting that draft dodgers or deserters also must pay a price. He said a questioner that he does not intend to try to meet with American prisoners of war when they return to this country because he does not want "to ex-pat" their return.

But, he said, if any former prisoners desire to come to The White House, they will be "on the list."

In leading into expression of a continuing opposition to amnesty, Nixon showed considerations which, he said, would establish rules compelling countrymen with chronic deficits or surpluses in their international accounts to change their currency values or take other corrective measures. Although the message and report were sent to Congress formally today, the White House advanced the latter last night. As reported in the budget Monday, the Council predicted that the Gross National Product-total output of goods and services-will increase by $115 billion or 10 per cent, to $1,267 trillion this year.

Discounted for price rise, the Council said, "real" G. N. P. - the actual volume of output-real will grow by 6.7 per cent, compared with 6.5 per cent in 1972. Most forecasters outside the government predict growth slightly above 6 per cent.

The over-all inflation rate in N. P. terms will average 3 per cent this year, the same as in 1972, the Council predicted. The consumer prices index is not forecasted to increase by more than 4 per cent. G. N. P. increased faster last year than the Council predicted last January, and the G. N. P. inflation rate was lower than forecast.

The government will maintain a very high rate of real growth over the first half of 1973, the Council projected today. "After mid-year, the economy will be significantly closer to the zone of desirable potential output, and it is both probable and desirable that the rate of expansion will and should abate towards its sustainable 'true' path."

Beyond 1973, The Council said, that sustainable wealth will allow for real growth over the first half of next year, the Council predicted today. "After mid-year, the economy will be significantly closer to the zone of desirable potential output, and it is both probable and desirable that the rate of expansion will and should abate towards its sustainable 'true' path."

The Council said that the rate of increase in G. N. P. the best known measure of economic growth, should be reduced by about one-third below last year's rate and the predicted rate for 1973.
The LaFortune Renovation Committee has an uphill fight facing them in the next few weeks. They are to produce a report that will be presented to the Trustees that not only outlines physical changes that should be made in the student center, but establishes a philosophy which the renovations support.

The problems of the center are myriad, but the greatest problem is unquestionably the archaic structure with which we have to work. The limited space and facilities of LaFortune, it has to be realized, are not renovations notwithstanding. Notre Dame's center will not be on a par with the center at most universities. But we have to work with what we've got.

Some basic changes in LaFortune must be negotiated during the renovation period to make it usable.

Most of the student offices should be moved from LaFortune to other locations. Space is a problem not only in LaFortune, but all across campus. Yet, it is intrinsic to the development of a new student center that LaFortune no longer serves as a student office building.

The publications offices should be moved out of LaFortune to a separate facility. The prime candidate is the Psychology Building which is soon to be vacant.

The Student Insurance and Morrisey Loan Fund offices should be moved perhaps into the Administration Building.

The Student Union offices should be in the planning stage of takeover. The Fifth Student Union Commission should be responsible to handle the management of the student center.

Seating and dining facilities for the Student Union should be taken into what is now the Tom Dooley Room. The Dooley Room could be moved to an area outside the student center so it would be more properly enshrined.

The problems of the student center are ones that won't be solved by the mentioning of a few suggestions which merely scratch the surface. But these suggestions are ones which appear necessary if the student center is ever going to be a viable campus facility.

Jerry Lukas

Is Something Amiss?

It is clear that something is amiss in our Security Department. The card-lock panaceas in Alumni don't work. The policy of barricading the student center after midnight doesn't work. Those card-lock panaceas in Alumni don't work. The policy of barricading the student center after midnight doesn't work. The policy of barricading the student center after midnight doesn't work. The policy of barricading the student center after midnight doesn't work.

My spars furthermore have informed me that a special task force has been initiated under Jerry McElroy to prevent the ducks from joywalking across that muck interstate that runs from Lyons Hall to the back of Carroll Hall. Extremely anti-social, to say the least, and a psychologist would probably even hint that such behavior indicates harboring.

In any case, serious consideration of all this will probably lead to suggestions that Arthur Pears is an incompetent, bashed moron, and that perhaps his entire staff is composed of pretentious dimwits, or worse, that they're possibly more than a rash of high sacrifice in columns and letters to the Observer editor.

Now I have never been one to oppose high sacrifice—or even low sacrifice, for that matter. What I am trying to get at is that the only thing to result from the current epidemic of lawlessness, then we are hardly defending—no college student, I think, as somewhat inferior candidates for Student Body President.

Jerry Lukas

...on o-c women

Editor

I notice in The Observer today that Father Riehle had upheld the ruling forbidding women to live off-campus next year. While I cannot believe that such a decision will be binding, I am allowed to continue, and I am from the United States Federal Law. In fact, when I spoke with the justice to express my feelings on the matter, he was able to take my case into what is now the Tom Dooley Room. The Dooley Room could be moved to an area outside the student center so it would be more properly enshrined.

The problems of the student center are ones that won't be solved by the mentioning of a few suggestions which merely scratch the surface. But these suggestions are ones which appear necessary if the student center is ever going to be a viable campus facility.

Jerry Lukas

The Notre Dame administration imposes one unrelatably blind concerning the place of women on this campus. For me as a senior, the most wrenching passages in the ruling was when I read of the(20) years since I had considered myself a part of this University in all my four years of classes here. The "welcome" was not so welcome this year as it was in the past. The female students gave up and viewed as a point where they showed their choice to come here.

Notre Dame offers financial aid to first year transfer students, a regulation requiring all women to live on campus being strongly fiscally discriminatory. As one who faced a scholarship when I came here and is working now to pay my way through this year, the financial facts of attending school are very real to me and to others.

I also think that you could ask any upperclassmen at Notre Dame about the "visibility" of women on this campus and be contradicted concerning the supposed purpose of the ruling. This year there are less women around campus during the day than there have been during any year here because of the new limitation on women at Notre Dame's. No one can be so narrow-minded, however, as to think that to be a part of Notre Dame, a student must necessarily spend all his or her time here.

The Notre Dame administration imposes one unrelatably blind concerning the place of women on this campus. For me as a senior, the most wrenching passages in the ruling was when I read of the(20) years since I had considered myself a part of this University in all my four years of classes here. The "welcome" was not so welcome this year as it was in the past. The female students gave up and viewed as a point where they showed their choice to come here.

Notre Dame offers financial aid to first year transfer students, a regulation requiring all women to live on campus being strongly fiscally discriminatory. As one who faced a scholarship when I came here and is working now to pay my way through this year, the financial facts of attending school are very real to me and to others.

I also think that you could ask any upperclassmen at Notre Dame about the "visibility" of women on this campus and be contradicted concerning the supposed purpose of the ruling. This year there are less women around campus during the day than there have been during any year here because of the new limitation on women at Notre Dame's. No one can be so narrow-minded, however, as to think that to be a part of Notre Dame, a student must necessarily spend all his or her time here.

The Notre Dame administration imposes one unrelatably blind concerning the place of women on this campus. For me as a senior, the most wrenching passages in the ruling was when I read of the(20) years since I had considered myself a part of this University in all my four years of classes here. The "welcome" was not so welcome this year as it was in the past. The female students gave up and viewed as a point where they showed their choice to come here.

Notre Dame offers financial aid to first year transfer students, a regulation requiring all women to live on campus being strongly fiscally discriminatory. As one who faced a scholarship when I came here and is working now to pay my way through this year, the financial facts of attending school are very real to me and to others.

I also think that you could ask any upperclassmen at Notre Dame about the "visibility" of women on this campus and be contradicted concerning the supposed purpose of the ruling. This year there are less women around campus during the day than there have been during any year here because of the new limitation on women at Notre Dame's. No one can be so narrow-minded, however, as to think that to be a part of Notre Dame, a student must necessarily spend all his or her time here.

The Notre Dame administration imposes one unrelatably blind concerning the place of women on this campus. For me as a senior, the most wrenching passages in the ruling was when I read of the(20) years since I had considered myself a part of this University in all my four years of classes here. The "welcome" was not so welcome this year as it was in the past. The female students gave up and viewed as a point where they showed their choice to come here.

Notre Dame offers financial aid to first year transfer students, a regulation requiring all women to live on campus being strongly fiscally discriminatory. As one who faced a scholarship when I came here and is working now to pay my way through this year, the financial facts of attending school are very real to me and to others.

I also think that you could ask any upperclassmen at Notre Dame about the "visibility" of women on this campus and be contradicted concerning the supposed purpose of the ruling. This year there are less women around campus during the day than there have been during any year here because of the new limitation on women at Notre Dame's. No one can be so narrow-minded, however, as to think that to be a part of Notre Dame, a student must necessarily spend all his or her time here.

The Notre Dame administration imposes one unrelatably blind concerning the place of women on this campus. For me as a senior, the most wrenching passages in the ruling was when I read of the(20) years since I had considered myself a part of this University in all my four years of classes here. The "welcome" was not so welcome this year as it was in the past. The female students gave up and viewed as a point where they showed their choice to come here.

Notre Dame offers financial aid to first year transfer students, a regulation requiring all women to live on campus being strongly fiscally discriminatory. As one who faced a scholarship when I came here and is working now to pay my way through this year, the financial facts of attending school are very real to me and to others.

I also think that you could ask any upperclassmen at Notre Dame about the "visibility" of women on this campus and be contradicted concerning the supposed purpose of the ruling. This year there are less women around campus during the day than there have been during any year here because of the new limitation on women at Notre Dame's. No one can be so narrow-minded, however, as to think that to be a part of Notre Dame, a student must necessarily spend all
Recently, it was suggested to me by a group of Notre Dame students that I write a column to students, criticizing them for their behaviour in being sometimes dishonest, cruel to one another, destructive of property, or negligent of the campus cleanliness. I declined, with thanks, the opportunity. At the moment I am not at the proper pitch of anger to deliver judgment. I have too much love and gratitude to Notre Dame students to chastise the cavalier ones. There are times, like almost always, when Notre Dame students make a big difference in my life.

There came a time, for instance, while working in a parish after Christmas, when I grew very weary of the inflated rhetoric of liturgy, the formal phrases of our conversation with God. It was a mood when I needed to be altogether without words, without utterance. God knows the religious slogans I filled today with prayerbooks written in the language of plain speech, the gory kind of sham (remembering me of Malachi) that begins, "She is a hooker, Lord, and I am hungry.

Teach us how to pray." The Roman rations exhausted me, but I was in no mood for Sister Cortia, either. I needed the breath and nourishment of God. I needed to be handled like the elements of a Eucharist, though fresh and mind and heart were bread and wine over which Christ was speaking the words of an eternal Covenant.

Instead, there was only another Mass to be said, and I was its celebrant, and the place was St. Patrick’s in New York City. There were four hundred and fifty children present from the parish school. My job was to say to them, "Yes, Jesus loves you." Those were school children who lived in wedged apartments on the side streets off Ninth Avenue, where the transvestites walk every evening. Some of the children come to school hungry, they go home to face a similar supper. A number of them will never grow up to finish high school. They know about death, about drugs, about sex, about violence, but the ugliness has not yet touched them in their essential innocence. For they as for the rest of us, surely it is true: that Jesus loves them very much.

And so it was on the First Friday of January that a priest in need of a vacation said Mass for a grade school of children in need of most everything else essential to childhood, like both a father and a mother to take care of them and a yard in which to safely play. At that Mass, I was able to give to those children the most precious gift I could find for them: the friendship of Notre Dame students, because you see, Wayne Exad, the Sunday singer at the Urchins’ Mass was there and Jerry, his girl; and Peter McCabe, responsible for the story of The Giving Tree, and Peter’s brother, who attends Villanova. Dave Kaminski, Jerry McNamara, and Pat Boyd; and later, at all the Masses, Ralph Bravaco, who played puppeteer for the skit who did the dance of the Joy Boys. In a parish where students of college age never appear, all of these Notre Dame people suddenly showed up to say to the children, "Jesus loves you very much.

I am not sure how convinced the children were about Jesus, but they love those Notre Dame students loved them, and I know which made them very happy children. When the Mass was over the little grade said to their teacher, "Oh, why does it have to end?" History has not recorded the teacher’s answer.

At the Offertory of the Mass, there was an interruption of the service by a man who had the appearance of one who had lived for a very long time, perhaps all his life, at a place like the Logan Center. He asked me if he could pray a prayer for the children. He was strange enough in appearance that I dared not frighten the children, but I could find and be, as kindly as I was able.

So he sang the Nunc, Mary in English, using melodies borrowed from Schubert’s Ave Maria. His voice was not good, and it was obvious he would never make it as a member of the cast of Godspell, but the effect of his prayer was more moving than to hear vespers sung by a cathedral choir.

In the moments of this singularly central touching: the world of urchins at which I had called them to Administer—Jesus, I can say to myself, was not so different from the world of people from the Lonely Kingdom who end by teaching joy with their sadness just out of a simple need for a place where their joy is needed.

When the Mass was over, it is needless to say that I felt as though I had experienced a new life.

It is to be hoped that Notre Dame students—whose representatives sometimes bring beauty into the life of children—do not turn an ugly face upon this campus when they are alone with one another. It was a time of judgment as well as a time of grace. It is time for me to end."

Letters To A Lonely Child

A jerimiah

Reverend Robert Griffin

---

(C) 1973 New York Times News Service

Letters to A Lonely Child

"...the claremont colleges: a study in clusters"

Below is a copy of a poem delivered by Patrick Dougherty, C.S.C., director of Campus Ministry, at Sunday's Peace Observation.

Jesus, Exorcist, exorcize

Exorcize us, er-power by evil force

Rain your mercy down

Jesus, Exorcist, exorcize
We, who have been thieves and liars

Torn by contradictions stretching imagination

We know gratitude and relief at cease-fire news

And stagger with pain at the new invasion

Under the target now harder, needles-never bundles to be

Old judges decide for little ones-

Inside our own conscience

Bet they never wondered, "What if our mothers had?"

We have been dishonest:

Welcome home POW, tough luck little baby!

Jesus, Exorcist, exorcize

Now our minds are twitching

Splintered, torn, we ache for curing

Evil rains the day, has its way

With us, with us it thrives

Little things, of course Iew I'm the big production

---

The Jerimiah

The Jerimiah is the proprietor of the Jerimiah, a computer center. ethnic studies center and student health services center. He is the author of several books, including "The Jerimiah: A Study in Clusters." He is also a poet and a member of the Jerimiah Poets Society. The Jerimiah is known for his radical and controversial views on social issues. His work has been influential in promoting social justice and equality. The Jerimiah is a tireless advocate for the rights of marginalized groups and is a prominent figure in the Jerimiah political movement. He is widely regarded as a visionary and a leader in the Jerimiah struggle for a better world.
Student Union Social Commission Does It Again

KICK OFF PARTY, Friday, Feb. 2.

$5.00 per couple
South Bend Armory
8:30-12:30

There will be busses from the circle throughout the evening

CARNIVAL

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Friday, Feb. 2</td>
<td>6:30-10:00 (Kick-Off Party 8:30-12:30)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday, 3</td>
<td>7:00-1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday, 4</td>
<td>1:00-5:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuesday, 6</td>
<td>7:00-12:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday, 7</td>
<td>7:00-12:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday, 8</td>
<td>7:00-12:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday, 10</td>
<td>7:00-1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday, 11</td>
<td>1:00-5:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(Drawing, 4pm)

RAFFLE

PRIZES:

1973 'Buick Riviera'
10 Speed Bicycle
Suzuki 500 Motorcycle (student prize)

Students—sell 1 book get free admission to carnival;
sell 5 books get free admission to Kick Off Party

Drawing for prizes is 4pm, Sunday Feb. 11.

CONCERT

Santana  Friday, Feb. 9, 1973, 8:30 pm
Hogan to plead guilty, but were not sentenced to additional time in prison. A corrections officer who was separately indicted on charges of aiding the inmates during the 1970 uprising also was acquitted of 27 counts of kidnapping, unlawful imprisonment, and other charges.

All of this might suggest to impartial observers that Hogan's office does not have much evidence to sustain the 72-count indictments against the last two alleged defendants, the last two alleged defendants, the last two alleged defendants. Nevertheless, this week Hogan's office began the trial of a sixth Tombs defendant, Herbert Blyden X. King. Indeed, when the first three indicted inmates were acquitted last summer, Hogan termed it a "hideous miscarriage of justice" and scored the jury for making what he called a "political statement."

It is conceivable, of course, that a jury might find Blyden of King guilty of the charges on which the other defendants have already been acquitted. Nevertheless, the dragged pursuit of these prosecutions, despite the generally conceded justification for the 1970 uprising, despite the fact that no killings or major injuries resulted, and despite the weak cases presented in the earlier trials, raises many troublesome questions.

Why, for example, is trial being insisted on for Blyden (and presumably for King) when more than 90 per cent of all felony cases in New York courts are settled by some sort of "plea bargaining," in which prisoners plead guilty to lesser offenses in return for a lighter sentence? Why is trial being insisted on, in particular, when trials were not pursued by other district attorneys in Brooklyn and Queens, and when two of the Manhattan defendants also were allowed to plead guilty and are not serving additional time?

It is, of course, possible that a jury might find Blyden of King guilty of the charges on which the other defendants have already been acquitted. Nevertheless, the dragged pursuit of these prosecutions, despite the generally conceded justification for the 1970 uprising, despite the fact that no killings or major injuries resulted, and despite the weak cases presented in the earlier trials, raises many troublesome questions.

Nixon didn't pick paint out of cracks

"For that reason, Nixon didn't have to decide whether he was needed in the same sense as Blyden was challenging his mankind. Need of retribution or other defense.

Nixon didn't get his hands scarred with razor nicks and splinters as Blyden did to begin peeling paint. He might have pitied, said Nixon, with the Blyden of him as they seemed to be for other people."
Armed robbers have again hit Notre Dame, this time at Pangborn hall food sales last night, getting away with approximately $60-65 in small change.

The three robbers, described only as black, entered the hall at around nine o'clock and broke into a vending machine, according to campus security sergeant Eugene R. Nova.

They also proceeded to the food sales room where, reports Pangborn food sales manager Norman Ross, they tried to remove the moulding around the door. However, they weren't immediately successful in opening the door.

"From what I've heard, they must have been trying to get in five or ten minutes," said Ross.

Once inside they picked up around $60 in change and dollar bills and, according to Sgt. Nova, some soft drinks, after which they fled.

Security reported last night that at least one of the robbers had a knife, and Ross said that he had pulled a knife on a student who saw them get away.

"They must have had the place cased," said Ross. "They've been seen around here before."

This was Notre Dame's second armed robbery within three days, the first taking place at Alumni Hall last Sunday evening when robbers armed with pistols entered the hall, bound and gagged several residents and made off with $70. More details on this latest robbery should be released today by the security department.

YAF forming

Young Americans for Freedom, the nation's largest conservative youth organization, will organize a new ND-SMC chapter this Friday at 4:00. The organizational meeting will be held in Room 2-D of the LaFortune Student Center.

Guest speaker at the initial meeting will be Frank Donatelli, a member of the Board of Directors of YAF. Donatelli is a 23-year old law student at Duquesne University. He is also the YAF Chairman for the state of Pennsylvania. Donatelli will speak against the Equal Rights Amendment.

In order to insure success in the program, Clarke asked that all applicants who have found summer employment outside the program contact him at 1641 so that their applications may be removed.

The Alumni Association, at this time, does not know the success of the program since alumni groups only have been in contact with the student applicants; however, everyone seems pleased with the effort so far," said Clarke.

"The only report we have now is from the Jersey Club where President Brian Connolly says fantastic results have been gotten for the 45 applications received."

Clarke added.

Applications in the program ranged from freshman to sophomore-grad students. Clarke noted that the benefits of this program are more far reaching than summer employment alone. "Hopefully, some companies will want to keep students after graduation," he said.

Lecture on USSR

Dr. V. Stasley Vardy, professor of political science and chairman of Russian Studies at the University of Oklahoma, will discuss "Liberal Dissent and Nationalism in the Soviet Union" at 5 p.m. Thursday (Feb. 1) in the auditorium of the University of Notre Dame's Memorial Library.

The program is sponsored by the Student Academic Commission and the Notre Dame Lithuanian Club in cooperation with the Program of Russian and East European Studies, and is open to the public without charge.

Vardy was born in Lithuania and studied in Germany before receiving his doctoral degree in political science at the University of Wisconsin. He later served as a faculty member at that school before being named director of the University of Oklahoma's Munich Center for Russian Language and Soviet Area Studies in Germany. A visitor to the Soviet Union in 1967 and 1970, Vardy has conducted research in Europe on a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies. He is the editor and co-author of "Lithuania Under the Soviets" (1963) and "Karl Marx: Scientist? Revolutionary? Humanist?" (1971). He has authored articles for the New York Times and Los Angeles Times, as well as several foreign affairs journals.

Debate tourney

The Notre Dame Debate Council is hosting its 21st Annual Invitational Debate Tournament to be held at the Center for Continuing Education this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Participating in the tournament will be about forty-five teams from twenty-five different universities.

Among those competing in varsity competition will be such schools as California State in Los Angeles, Southwest Missouri State University, Northwestern, Butler and last year's winner, the University of Toledo.

The tournament schedule will consist of eight preliminary rounds of debate followed by elimination rounds beginning with octotinals. The question debated will be the resolution used in all intercollegiate debate tournaments: Resolved: The Federal Government should provide a program of comprehensive medical care for all U.S. citizens.

Debates will begin at 1:30 P.M. on Thursday, 10:30 A.M. on Friday and 8:30 A.M. Saturday in the CCE. Those interested in viewing the debates are welcome to do so.

Any student interested in participating in the tournament should contact Dave Thackston at 312. "At the moment the ND Debate Council needs help in this regard," says Norm Lerum, Director of Debate at ND.

MARDI GRAS --

"LET'S MAKE A DEAL PROGRAM"

"The big deal of the year is worth $9705"

Door 1 Door 2 Door 3

If you trade your time for Door number 1 and sell at least 200 books aand more than anyone else & buy one ticket or more yourself you get a possible:

$7,800 Buick Riviera
$900 Suzuki 500 motorcycle
(1 chance per book)
$50 prize for selling the most tickets
$5 or more commission (20 per)
$5 admission into Kickoff Party

$9,705

If you trade your time for Door number 2 and sell at least 50 books, the most in your district & buy one or more tickets you get a possible:

$7,800 Buick Riviera
$900 Suzuki
$100 prize for selling the most
$100 Commission in your district
$5 Kickoff Party Admission

$8,905

If you trade $1 & buy 1 ticket you still get a chance for a:

$7,800 Buick Riviera
$100 prize for selling the most
$5 Kickoff Party Admission

$8,905

The Social Commission has had calls from faculty, maids, bartenders, gamblers and other South Bend's wanting to buy tickets. You might try apartment complexes, shopping centers, downtown, Notre Dame events, etc.

There is still 1 1/2 weeks left!!

Get Tickets now by calling Tony Malenich at 1691, 607 Grace.

★ Districts are North Quad, South Quad, SMC & Tenery

Thursday, February 1, 1973

Campus roundup...

Second armed robbery hits Pangborn Hall
How Nixon got to be the President

by Russell Baker
(C) 1973 New York Times

Washington, Jan. 21—"All right, you can have him. He got to be President while you—as a splendid specimen of sagacious humanity—have to labor here in this ill-lighted hall, breaking up wood and mending fences. And I'm going to tell you how Nixon got to be President while you...

"Forget it, Clara. Forget it. I said anything. I'm sorry I mentioned it.

"It was because Nixon, when he came out of his bedroom one morning and noticed several thipped spots on the bedroom door, didn't say, "Pat, the paint on this door needs touching up, and is there any young man who's going to do the touching."

"I told you I'm sorry I mentioned it."

"No, Nixon didn't say that. What's more he didn't get in his car and spend a full day going to the hardware store to buy electric sander to smooth off the hideous base coat of mud-colored paint covering the door, discovering that the cord wouldn't reach the outlet, going out in the car again to buy an extension cord, coming home to observe that he didn't have sandpaper to put on the electric sander, getting out in the car again in the car again..."

"I can take it, Clara, but I warn you..."

"And after not killing a whole town today, he didn't start sanding the chipped spots. And because he didn't, he didn't stoop to peer at great slabs of paint slid right off the door, not even noticing it. He didn't even touch it. No Nixon didn't do any of that, and so, while you..."

"But, the specimen of sagacious humanity—"

"... was not depressed at the end of the day by finding himself with a sovereign case of botchy downhill."

"I've got a good cry, my dear."

"Oh, Nixon was clever. He didn't resolve to get a scraper and take away one of the mud-colored paint chips off the door with a blade so he could then, by his version of sandpapering, make a fresh coat of paint adhere to it."

"Clar, some tea, some coffee, anything."

(continued on page 8)

Music department sponsoring concerts

A series of spring semester concerts sponsored by the Music Department will be presented in the Music Department of Notre Dame. The following concerts are sponsored by the Music Department:

1. Read music by various composers, including Bach, Beethoven, and Mozart.
2. Perform in a chamber music ensemble, including works by Mozart and Schubert.
3. Present a solo recital featuring a contemporary composer.
4. Participate in a jazz orchestra, including works by Duke Ellington and Thelonious Monk.

The concerts will be held in various venues on campus, including the Music Department, the Library Auditorium, and the Chapel. All concerts are free and open to the public. Additional information can be found on the Music Department's website.
Villanova awaits ND in the Palestra

Notre Dame seeks to end a three-game losing streak tonight when they take on Villanova in Philadelphia's Palestra at 8:30.

The Irish, 6-9 on the year, are hoping to win against Villanova in Duquesne and UCLA. Villanova, too, failed to win in its most recent outing, losing to the nationally-ranked 51-57 in Connecticut.

Villanova has the best of recent meetings between the two schools, defeating Notre Dame the last two years by scores of 90-79 and 92-79.

Villanova has had the best of recent meetings between the two schools, losing to Notre Dame last year by a score of 79-75.

Last season's three-point Irish setback was at the hands of a strong Wildcat club which finished the campaign with an impressive 20-8 record. The Wildcat's graduation of Chris Ford and Hank Siemenskowsi has left a void in coach Jack Krafft's front line.

Junior Larry Moody, who averaged 11 ppg last year, has been the key man thus far for an uncharacteristically weak "Cat frontcourt.

Villanova has no shortcomings at the guard spots, though. All-American candidate Tom Hughey and Ed Hastings, both seniors, form a capable backcourt tandem. Hughey, a deadly outside shooter, has averaged over 18 points a game a year ago.

Coach "Digger" Phelps hopes to be able to take advantage of the situation and rely heavily on leading scorer John Shumate and Gary Novak.

The schedule, averaging 19.5 ppg, takes the club on a rebounding haul in 10.1 per game. Possessing size, strength and a good shooting touch, Shumate will be a major problem for the Notre Dame defense. The "Big Shoe" will underneath and the steady Junior has dropped 12.2 ppg and grabbed 10.0 rebounds per contest.

Sophomore Pete Crotty (10.0 ppg) and guards Gary Brokaw and Dwight Clay round out Notre Dame's starting five. Brokaw and Clay have both scored well for the Irish thus far and are averaging 18.5 and 11.4 ppg, respectively.

After a five-game winning streak enabled the Irish to bounce back to the 500 level at 1:6 after a 1:4 start, Notre Dame dropped three games last week. Consistency was the big problem for Phelps' young quintet as the Irish suffered from shaky play in all facets of the game—ball-handling, shooting, rebounding and fouling.

After tonight's encounter, the Irish return home for a four-game series against the ACC. Xavier comes in Saturday afternoon and, next week, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle provide the opposition.

Friday night's faceoff is reset

Friday night's home hockey game against North Dakota has been back-15 minutes from 7:30 to 7:45 in order to accommodate television coverage of the game.

Saturday night's game—the second of the eight-point series—will begin at 7:30.

The Irish have been a disappointment this season to most fans, but the schedule may not have done much for Notre Dame's record but it worked wonders for the confidence of the Irish. Only UCLA ran away from Phelps' inexperienced quintet and the Irish proved that they could play with the best.

From now on, the schedule gets less difficult. That's fortunate, because it appears that Notre Dame would need a 15-11 record to merit tournament consideration.

Notre Dame's early schedule bordered on the masochistic. With four of its first seven games, four of which could just as easily have been won, the Irish appeared to have found the winning formula, running off five consecutive victories over Kansas, DePaul, Marquette (ending the Warriors' 81-game winning streak), Pittsburgh—in a miracle finish—and, most recently, on home court winning streak), Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle.

At first glance, the Irish don't seem to be a blue-chip prospect for any post-season activity. And, if they don't start winning frequently, soon, 1972-73 will go into the books as another rebuilding year.

After a shaky start in which Notre Dame lost six of its first seven games, four of which could just as easily have been won, the Irish appeared to have found the winning formula, running off five consecutive victories over Kansas, DePaul, Marquette (ending the Warriors' 81-game winning streak), Pittsburgh—hail to a miracle finish—and, most recently, on home court winning streak), Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.

But Notre Dame fell on bad times again last week, losing close games to Stanford and Loyola, two of the nation's top teams.

Home victories against Xavier, Butler, Michigan State and LaSalle follow on Tuesday night.