SLC listens to status of blacks

Black Student Affairs Director addresses meeting

The enthusiasm of last Saturday's victory celebration resulted in game enthusiasm.

The status of Black Students on campus was the dominant concern of Monday's Student Life Council meeting.

Cassell Lawson, director of Black Student Affairs, addressed the meeting and then answered the council's questions along with students Ron Newkirk, Lisa R. Williams, and Stan Harris.

Lawson said that he was satisfied with University's improvement in the area but suggested that more black rectors assistants be hired.

Noting that the University had adhered to the demands for hiring him, he swore that the hiring of more black rectors assistants last year were two black RA's while this year there are three.

Black house plans

Lawson said that the demands for a black house somewhere off-campus are dormant due to the success of the Black Cultural Arts Center. The center is used by the UJAMMA Society, the New Frontier Society, and Black graduate students.

Lawson claimed that the criticism that white students are intimidated by the Black Cultural Arts Center is not valid. He noted that at last function 25 whites were present out of a crowd of 75.

Lawson also criticized the administration for not consulting black leaders before making administrative appointments.

"The appointment of the Minority Affairs Commissioner seemed to be arbitrary," he said. "Though I do not disagree with the appointment, I feel that some of the black leaders should have been consulted. I would hope that the University would not follow this precedent."

Long range goals

Lawson said that his long range goal was to assure the academic excellence of black students.

He revealed that there was a strong chance that a faculty member would donate $1,000 to help this goal. The money would be used to reward students who improved their grade point averages.

Under the plan, Lawson said, groups of students in each dormitory would register with Lawson's office. Money would go to the group with the most improved average, as well as the student who most improved.

Increased enrollment

When asked in what areas the University could be doing more, Lawson replied that they could be doing more to increase black enrollment. "The national average is 5.6 per cent black students, while Notre Dame has less than 3 per cent. So, I think a lot more could be done here," he said.

Newkirk, Phillips, and Harris generally concurred with Lawson's remarks. They emphasized that spending money was a great problem among black students, noting that many students accepted on scholarship still can not afford to attend.

Newkirk said that "most blacks need more money. We feel that we can handle the problems of grades and the social life, but money is the real problem."

Blacks in student gov't.

All three expressed the desire to elect qualified blacks to Student Government. The possibility of representatives of Lawson's office attending SLC meetings on a regular basis was also discussed.

In other business, the SLC discussed the rewriting of the Student Manual. Father David Shlaer, director of Student Affairs said that the entire manual needed rewriting, not just the rules. It was decided that the new rules would be promulgated by the dean of students office.

Student rights next topic

The council will take up the question of rewriting the student rights section of the manual, at next Monday's meeting.

Nominations for the University and Appeals Boards will also be voted on at the next meeting, which will be held in executive session.

S.B. policeman hurt in game enthusiasm

by Kurt Heinz
Staff Reporter

The enthusiasm of last Saturday's victory celebration resulted in game enthusiasm.

The status of Black Students on campus was the dominant concern of Monday's Student Life Council meeting.

Cassell Lawson, director of Black Student Affairs, addressed the meeting and then answered the council's questions along with students Ron Newkirk, Lisa R. Williams, and Stan Harris.

Lawson said that he was satisfied with University's improvement in the area but suggested that more black rectors assistants be hired.

Noting that the University had adhered to the demands for hiring him, he swore that the hiring of more black rectors assistants last year were two black RA's while this year there are three.

Black house plans

Lawson said that the demands for a black house somewhere off-campus are dormant due to the success of the Black Cultural Arts Center. The center is used by the UJAMMA Society, the New Frontier Society, and Black graduate students.

Lawson claimed that the criticism that white students are intimidated by the Black Cultural Arts Center is not valid. He noted that at last function 25 whites were present out of a crowd of 75.

Lawson also criticized the administration for not consulting black leaders before making administrative appointments.

"The appointment of the Minority Affairs Commissioner seemed to be arbitrary," he said. "Though I do not disagree with the appointment, I feel that some of the black leaders should have been consulted. I would hope that the University would not follow this precedent."

Long range goals

Lawson said that his long range goal was to assure the academic excellence of black students.

He revealed that there was a strong chance that a faculty member would donate $1,000 to help this goal. The money would be used to reward students who improved their grade point averages.

Under the plan, Lawson said, groups of students in each dormitory would register with Lawson's office. Money would go to the group with the most improved average, as well as the student who most improved.

Increased enrollment

When asked in what areas the University could be doing more, Lawson replied that they could be doing more to increase black enrollment. "The national average is 5.6 per cent black students, while Notre Dame has less than 3 per cent. So, I think a lot more could be done here," he said.

Newkirk, Phillips, and Harris generally concurred with Lawson's remarks. They emphasized that spending money was a great problem among black students, noting that many students accepted on scholarship still can not afford to attend.

Newkirk said that "most blacks need more money. We feel that we can handle the problems of grades and the social life, but money is the real problem."

Blacks in student gov't.

All three expressed the desire to elect qualified blacks to Student Government. The possibility of representatives of Lawson's office attending SLC meetings on a regular basis was also discussed.

In other business, the SLC discussed the rewriting of the Student Manual. Father David Shlaer, director of Student Affairs said that the entire manual needed rewriting, not just the rules. It was decided that the new rules would be promulgated by the dean of students office.

Student rights next topic

The council will take up the question of rewriting the student rights section of the manual, at next Monday's meeting.

Nominations for the University and Appeals Boards will also be voted on at the next meeting, which will be held in executive session.

S.B. policeman hurt in game enthusiasm

by Valerie Zurbis
Staff Reporter

The enthusiasm of last Saturday's victory celebration resulted in game enthusiasm.

The status of Black Students on campus was the dominant concern of Monday's Student Life Council meeting.

Cassell Lawson, director of Black Student Affairs, addressed the meeting and then answered the council's questions along with students Ron Newkirk, Lisa R. Williams, and Stan Harris.

Lawson said that he was satisfied with University's improvement in the area but suggested that more black rectors assistants be hired.

Noting that the University had adhered to the demands for hiring him, he swore that the hiring of more black rectors assistants last year were two black RA's while this year there are three.

Black house plans

Lawson said that the demands for a black house somewhere off-campus are dormant due to the success of the Black Cultural Arts Center. The center is used by the UJAMMA Society, the New Frontier Society, and Black graduate students.

Lawson claimed that the criticism that white students are intimidated by the Black Cultural Arts Center is not valid. He noted that at last function 25 whites were present out of a crowd of 75.

Lawson also criticized the administration for not consulting black leaders before making administrative appointments.

"The appointment of the Minority Affairs Commissioner seemed to be arbitrary," he said. "Though I do not disagree with the appointment, I feel that some of the black leaders should have been consulted. I would hope that the University would not follow this precedent."

Long range goals

Lawson said that his long range goal was to assure the academic excellence of black students.

He revealed that there was a strong chance that a faculty member would donate $1,000 to help this goal. The money would be used to reward students who improved their grade point averages.

Under the plan, Lawson said, groups of students in each dormitory would register with Lawson's office. Money would go to the group with the most improved average, as well as the student who most improved.

Increased enrollment

When asked in what areas the University could be doing more, Lawson replied that they could be doing more to increase black enrollment. "The national average is 5.6 per cent black students, while Notre Dame has less than 3 per cent. So, I think a lot more could be done here," he said.

Newkirk, Phillips, and Harris generally concurred with Lawson's remarks. They emphasized that spending money was a great problem among black students, noting that many students accepted on scholarship still can not afford to attend.

Newkirk said that "most blacks need more money. We feel that we can handle the problems of grades and the social life, but money is the real problem."

Blacks in student gov't.

All three expressed the desire to elect qualified blacks to Student Government. The possibility of representatives of Lawson's office attending SLC meetings on a regular basis was also discussed.

In other business, the SLC discussed the rewriting of the Student Manual. Father David Shlaer, director of Student Affairs said that the entire manual needed rewriting, not just the rules. It was decided that the new rules would be promulgated by the dean of students office.

Student rights next topic

The council will take up the question of rewriting the student rights section of the manual, at next Monday's meeting.

Nominations for the University and Appeals Boards will also be voted on at the next meeting, which will be held in executive session.
Madrigal dinner set lor
Saint Mary's will present four at 7:00 p.m. in the lounge of Regina November 30, December 1,7, and 8, Hall, North.

The public is invited to attend the Madrigal Christmas Dinners. Tickets for the meal and entertainment are $6.50 per person. Seating is by reservation only. For reservations, call the Office of Programming, 2284-6766.

THE WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL OF PUBLIC AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS Princeton University will interview men and women interested in graduate study leading to careers in:
Criminal Justice
International Relations
Policy Research
Economic Environment

(Generous financial aid available) at Placement Office on October 31, 1973

Prof. Hermens suggests U.S. parliament
by Pat Hanifin Staff Reporter

Prof. Ferdinand A. Hermens claimed in his lecture last night that Vietnam and Watergate are inherent in our system of government and that we should change it to an English-model parliamentary system.

"The President has acted in disregard of the people and reality," according to Hermens, who added, "Congress has failed to take positive action.

"The executive must be more than an executor," Hermens said. "The law cannot cover all situations, especially in foreign affairs, and we need somebody who can make quick and decisive action. But at the same time this has raised the danger of irrational decisions by presidents who are cut off from the American people and from reality by their power.

Hermens, a former government professor, claimed that this separation from reality was particularly apparent in the domestic Watergate situation where inexperienced White House staff members failed to criticize Congress, decisions and acted as "a vacuum of free and independent discussion."

"Without this independent criticism, Hermens said, "there is no "test of reality."

"It is here that Congress becomes valuable in foreign policy making and according to Hermens view, Congress has three special roles: using its broad contacts with the world, restraining the executive by independent criticism, and taking constructive action as part of the foreign policy team.

Unfortunately," Hermens pointed out, "Congress has been isolated from the decision making process, and when in the past they have taken action, it has generally been merely negative opposition to the President. Because Congress is so large and varied they find it very difficult to reach agreement on positive action.

Hermens, Fellow of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars at the Smithsonian Institute, offered as a possible solution to the problem the separation of Congress from the Majority party. And if the prime minister goes his own way alone, he will represent all major views in the world. Immense runs for beginning, Intermediate, and advanced skiers. IN GRACE TO TOWER WELL.

The trip is open to all ND-SMC students, faculty & families, sponsored by Notre Dame Ski Club. Arrangements by Edgarton Travel Service and Air France. $328 includes:
- ROUND TRIP AIRFARE VIA AIR FRANCE 777, NEW YORK-GENEVE-PARIS NEW YORK
- BUS TRANSFERS: GENEVE-GENEVE
- LODGING: LUXURY DOUBLE OCCUPANCY ROOMS WITH PRIVATE BATH-RIGHT ON MOUNTAIN AT TIGNES NIGHTS
- ALL AREA LIFT PASS
- GRAND FINALE LAST NIGHT IN PARIS! QUALITY ACCOMMODATIONS INCLUDED
- COMPLIMENTARY CONTINENTAL BREAKFASTS AT THE LODGE.

The Tignes Val D'Iser area is the largest ski complex in the world. Immeses runs for beginning, intermediate, and advanced skiers.

IMPORTANT MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT AT 8:00, IN GRACE TOWER WELL.

WE DID IT! ND BEAT UP WIN 6 ON THE WAY TO AN UNDEFEATED SEASON BE THERE FOR NO. 10

WIN ON THE WAY TO AN UNDEFEATED SEASON BE THERE FOR NO. 10

ACADEMIC COMMISSION presents
A MULTI-MEDIA LECTURE FILM SCREENING

with STAN VAN DER BEEK

TONIGHT FREE

Tues. Oct. 30 8:00 p.m.
continuing education center
Five offenses alleged against Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Communications Commissioner Nicholas Johnson Sunday listed nine non-Watergate actions which he said would justify impeachment of President Nixon.

In a petition to the House of Representatives, Johnson, a Democratic appointee said, "members should not let the prospect of Nixon being found guilty by the Senate and removed from office to deter House members from impeaching him."

In his list of alleged impeachable offenses, Johnson cited the authorization of an expenditure of government funds to cover "grants voted by Congress, and I believe voted by the American people — and it is they who are the ultimate actors in this drama — whether the House of Representatives should send to the Senate for trial the allegations against the President.

"I suggest that, that is now before the American people — and it is they who are the ultimate decision-makers in this."

Connally asks for better explanation

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said Sunday President Nixon owes the country a better explanation than he gave for firing Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, and Nixon should have turned over the Watergate tapes months ago.

"I must say that the President saved the country a better explanation for his actions than we got," Connally said on the weekly state press panel television show "Capital Eye."

"If indeed he was going to fire the Attorney General, then the tapes, I'm sorry that he didn't do it three months ago or four months ago. I think it would have saved him and saved the country an awful lot of trouble and chaos and confusion in the minds of some," Connally said.

We're standing up to them in the fields — will you stand up to them in the stores?

Boycotts are a drag. You're tired of them, just as the farm workers are. Nothing less will cause the growers to grant workers the simple right to vote, by secret ballot, on which union they will represent them: the Teamsters or the Teamsters.

Three days ago a massive consumer boycott against grape growers started sweeping the nation. The flow of grapes to California has been stopped. By the weekend, more than 1,000 grape growers will suffer. The boycott, now a foregone conclusion, will affect the workers already injured, pay, improved working conditions, stop the spraying and leave the workers without any effective medical help. They are also caught in the grip of Teamster regulations and control. The Teamsters refuse to negotiate. The farmers will not participate. The Teamsters are supposed to negotiate. They do not.

We hope to use these growing problems to educate the public and the growers about the Teamster's(cv++

We're standing up to them in the fields — will you stand up to them in the stores?

Boycotts are a drag. You're tired of them, just as the farm workers are. Nothing less will cause the growers to grant workers the simple right to vote, by secret ballot, on which union they will represent them: the Teamsters or the Teamsters.

Three days ago a massive consumer boycott against grape growers started sweeping the nation. The flow of grapes to California has been stopped. By the weekend, more than 1,000 grape growers will suffer. The boycott, now a foregone conclusion, will affect the workers already injured, pay, improved working conditions, stop the spraying and leave the workers without any effective medical help. They are also caught in the grip of Teamster regulations and control. The Teamsters refuse to negotiate. The farmers will not participate. The Teamsters are supposed to negotiate. They do not.

We hope to use these growing problems to educate the public and the growers about the Teamster's(cv++
Tuesday, October 30, 1973

THE OBSERVER
AN INDEPENDENT STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Art Ferranti
Executive Editor

Jerry Lukus
Editor-in-Chief

Jim Barrett
Executive Editor

Lee Gentile
Business Manager

NEWS: 283-1715
EDITORIALS: 283-8641
BUSINESS: 283-7471

John Klues
Advertising Manager

Tuesday, October 30, 1973

Give A Ticket

The Neighborhood Study Help Tutoring Program is once again asking the Notre Dame student body to donate their tickets to the Navy game this Saturday and the student body should answer that call.

For the past three years, the program has met with amazing success having been endorsed by both Fr. Hesburgh and Ara. Upwards of two hundred South Bend kids have benefited from this program each year in the past. And now the program needs the help of us all again.

The time is appropriate. Fresh from the exuberance of the ND over USC triumph, the team is going to match plays with Navy. Let's face it, barring unforeseen accidents and bad breaks, we should beat Navy without too much trouble. The game will nonetheless be exciting as always but to give away your ticket for such a worthy cause this time will not work all that great a hardship on you. WNDU will televise the game anyway. These kids will most likely be getting their first chance to see a college football game. Moreover, it is a Notre Dame game which will mean a great deal more to these kids not only now but in retrospect in years to come.

As for future home games, there will be Air Force on Thanksgiving Day and, most likely, a bowl game in our immediate future, sortising this one Navy game at home, while a sacrifice since we must keep rolling on, the long run will not hurt either you or the team. Giving up the tickets will mean a lot to the team and having a stand full of kids cheer for the Irish can only spur the team to even greater heights of glory.

But more important than these pragmatic reasons is that you should donate your ticket not only as a sacrifice, but also because it is a Christian act of giving something needed to one who needs.

Art Ferranti

Sorry, Psych-ers

Charges in yesterday's Observer that Friday's rally was a poor one stand today. However, the charges that a lack of foresight plagued the rally were perhaps a bit injudicious.

Rally organizer Dan Doody accepted the full blame yesterday for the poor rally but admitted that many of the problems were things beyond his control.

For example, Stepan Center had been contracted last May for the rally and three weeks prior to the rally, the event was kicked out to make room for the Homecoming dance. Use of the Fieldhouse and the ACC could not be obtained so Stepan was forced to find a well-lighted area and the Stepan lot was the best available area.

A proper stage could not be built because the materials had been destroyed when the storage barn on campus burned down in September. The area for the band was roped off, but Doody said they missed the entrance prepared for them and in attempting to get in from the other side of the stage, a great many students had to be pushed out of the way. In that excitement, the two speakers that were to be used were pushed over and one of them was knocked out of commission.

Doody claimed that it was a minor miracle that the rally came off and no one was hurt in a crowd that was clearly out of control.

He's right on the point and The Observer must admit that we jumped the gun on Doody's group. Even though it was a bad rally, the circumstances surrounding it make it now impossible to pin any blame.

Jerry Lukus

Last Point

Impeachment on Suspicion

"Impeach Nixon," the cry rises. "Yes, impeach him." Why?

"Because we suspect he is guilty of stealing money to build two palaces, we think he offered a plum job to a friend in San Diego, and we think he danced in the caucophonous ethics of Robert Vesco. Yes, because we think he did all this, he must be impeached. No need for further investigation. We suspect him now, we impeach him now."

And so history may now record the first President ever impeached on suspicion. This suspicion is a very potent tool. Many peoples have used it to eradicate the worst elements in their societies. Suspicions enabled the Puritans to eradicate witches. Ancient societies employed suspicion to stone devils out of people, while the inquisition utilized it as a weapon against heretics. Fortunately, suspicion existed this villainy from each of these societies before it was too late.

Let it be with America, too. Let Richard Nixon and the witches stand together on the same scaffold.

Local Latching

"Nixon is above the law;" claim the impeachers. But where does their suspicion end and their direct proof begin? One would hardly state such drastic condemnations on mere suspicion. Indeed, respectable journalism and formal critics often pride themselves on being above suspicion and conjecture. For them, judgment begins where rumor ends and guilt can be proven.

Perhaps local, respectable journalism is privy to information inaccessible to the remainder of the world. Local journalism may have found a cache of Perry Mason evidence buried in the laws of logic. If the world also follows the rules of the syllogism, maybe they too will become as enlightened as the local seers. Try it world.

Premise: Richard Nixon is a crook. (Impeachers say they've always known this.)

Premise: Some crooked acts have taken place while Nixon was in office.

Conclusion: Nixon must be in on it.

Clearly, numerous "ifs" permeate this "Syllogism" (pardon me, Greeks). When these ifs are viewed by people who have never claimed a close affinity to Richard Nixon, they may encounter a propensity to jump from the springboard of suspicion into the empty pool of unjustified conclusions.

The Cox Issue

Was Cox's firing an impeachable offense? From a strictly legal point of view, Cox is an employee of the executive branch. Does the head of the executive branch of the United States have a legal right to terminate the employment of an executive branch employee? No one denies Richard Nixon possesses this legal privilege.

However, if Nixon does have this right and if he does exercise this right, can he be impeached for what he was legally entitled to do? Although the impeachers among Nixon's critics say, "Yes," the absurdity of their position is obvious. The impeachment simply do not real implementation is a question of whether someone agrees with the firing of Cox, but whether or not the President may be impeached for actions well within his legal rights.

Keep Away From Salem

If the House of Representatives does intend to continue with impeachment proceedings with only the suspicion of the present, it must revert to a definition of impeachment last used when Justice William O. Douglas was threatened with impeachment. As one House leader said, "An impeachable offense is anything the House thinks is an impeachable offense." The danger in this attitude is clear.

Unless the impeachment movement rises above the primitive "Gut", suspicion level of the present, the movement will continue to wallow somewhere in between a political vendetta employee? No one denies Richard Nixon possesses this legal privilege.

Indeed, respectable journalism and formal critics often pride themselves on being above suspicion and conjecture. For them, judgment begins where rumor ends and guilt can be proven.

Premise: Richard Nixon is a crook. (Impeachers say they've always known this.)

Premise: Some crooked acts have taken place while Nixon was in office.

Conclusion: Nixon must be in on it.

Clearly, numerous "ifs" permeate this "Syllogism" (pardon me, Greeks). When these ifs are viewed by people who have never claimed a close affinity to Richard Nixon, they may encounter a propensity to jump from the springboard of suspicion into the empty pool of unjustified conclusions.

The Cox Issue

Was Cox's firing an impeachable offense? From a strictly legal point of view, Cox is an employee of the executive branch. Does the head of the executive branch of the United States have a legal right to terminate the employment of an executive branch employee? No one denies Richard Nixon possesses this legal privilege.

However, if Nixon does have this right and if he does exercise this right, can he be impeached for what he was legally entitled to do? Although the impeachers among Nixon's critics say, "Yes," the absurdity of their position is obvious. The impeachment simply do not real implementation is a question of whether someone agrees with the firing of Cox, but whether or not the President may be impeached for actions well within his legal rights.

Keep Away From Salem

If the House of Representatives does intend to continue with impeachment proceedings with only the suspicion of the present, it must revert to a definition of impeachment last used when Justice William O. Douglas was threatened with impeachment. As one House leader said, "An impeachable offense is anything the House thinks is an impeachable offense." The danger in this attitude is clear.

Unless the impeachment movement rises above the primitive "Gut", suspicion level of the present, the movement will continue to wallow somewhere in between a political vendetta employee? No one denies Richard Nixon possesses this legal privilege.

Indeed, respectable journalism and formal critics often pride themselves on being above suspicion and conjecture. For them, judgment begins where rumor ends and guilt can be proven.

Premise: Richard Nixon is a crook. (Impeachers say they've always known this.)

Premise: Some crooked acts have taken place while Nixon was in office.

Conclusion: Nixon must be in on it.

Clearly, numerous "ifs" permeate this "Syllogism" (pardon me, Greeks). When these ifs are viewed by people who have never claimed a close affinity to Richard Nixon, they may encounter a propensity to jump from the springboard of suspicion into the empty pool of unjustified conclusions.

The Cox Issue

Was Cox's firing an impeachable offense? From a strictly legal point of view, Cox is an employee of the executive branch. Does the head of the executive branch of the United States have a legal right to terminate the employment of an executive branch employee? No one denies Richard Nixon possesses this legal privilege.

However, if Nixon does have this right and if he does exercise this right, can he be impeached for what he was legally entitled to do? Although the impeachers among Nixon's critics say, "Yes," the absurdity of their position is obvious. The impeachment simply do not real implementation is a question of whether someone agrees with the firing of Cox, but whether or not the President may be impeached for actions well within his legal rights.
Kissinger’s Prize

Editor:
Mr. Barrett’s editorial on Kissinger and Tho misses the whole point of the Nobel Peace Prize. The record of award win-ers would seem to indicate that the Prize is awarded more for honest effort to achieve peace and a stable world order than for the achievement of peace itself. So it was, for example, with Willy Brandt. By no stretch of the imagination could it be said that he achieved detente in Europe or that he even achieved detente between the two Germanys. He did change the direction of West German foreign policy concerning the Federal Republic to an acceptance of the status quo in Europe and to the renunciation of violence and force in redressing whatever wrongs may have been inflicted on Germany as a result of World War II. We do not know whether Brandt’s policy in the long run will achieve peace in Europe.

Disgruntled non of letters in the Soviet Union have warned us that detente may actually lead to greater tyranny than now exists in the world. Be that as it may, Brandt won the Nobel Prize, and justifiably so, because of his honest effort to achieve detente and thus to pierce, however slightly, the reproach Kissinger for accepting the peace Prize. We forget that Luther King. Why then should we not silent, the level of violence has not gone to zero, and the patience , largely because of the patience , determination. What good are our achievements if they are only on a silver platter? If “Notre Dame will win over all” is fulfilled merely due to purchasing favors from the Church in her shame over the simonistic practices of John Tetzel and others in the Middle Ages, and banished again to a lesser degree by Vatican II, it was a thankfully dead practice.

But the consciousness of Western consumerism, coupled with a misguided thirst for victory, manages once again to raise this un pity Lazurus from the dead. The next step, I guess, is to equip the football players with shields and paint small crosses on their helmets. For there exists a subtle difference between praying for the ability to live up to one’s potential, for the ability to rain grains of win or lose, and praying for God to use his influence to direct events in one’s favor. Upon reflection, the latter type of prayer defeats the purpose of the competition: to show the excellence which man can achieve through hard work and determination. What good are our achievements if they are handed to us by God on a silver platter?

Where were all of you this month when Notre Dame beat us daily at 7 p.m. gathered at the Grotto to pray the rosary. Two nights we had the leader of the great Family Rosary Crusade Himself-Pater Pat Peyton, a Holy Cross priest.

This boys, is only a reminder of something that Tom Ross 435 Keenan could have given that does not ask more money of you but grants benefits far beyond anything money can buy. Perhaps you might start an existing rosary in your hall, chapel, and when May : the Month of Our Lady comes around, we’ll all gather around the replica of Lourdes 1,000’s of us - to praise in prayer and song the true Notre Dame (French for Our Lady) whose statue tops the golden dome and in whose name this the greatest Catholic University in the USA was brought to life, and will continue as Catholic and the greatest only if you do your part...be faithful to your background 100 percent.

Harrased

Editor:
Notre Dame - 23
So. Cal. - 14

I see one do NOT necessarily believe there may be even the slightest connection between the above scores and the Stanford Hal rory of which you wrote on Thursday the 29th.

“Jim Hoolihan commented that “Stanford is sponsoring the rosary to re-establish the old Notre Dame tradition of putting God on our side.”

However, for those among our Notre Dame Students, who through human respect, (which stems from accepting very questionable theology or doctrines which violate what they learned at home) and their inflation of traditions they need to good Catholics from a genuinely good Catholic family to continue their true and inspiring traditions of their hometown or campus. In this letter, I am merely trying to help an innocent male, a victim of her sex.

I am not trying to harass anyone to this letter. I am merely trying to help an innocent male, a victim of unjust female harassment. Be realistic, Laureen! Open your eyes and see exactly what the situation is on this campus.

Where were all of you this month when Notre Dame beat us daily at 7 p.m. gathered at the Grotto to pray the rosary. Two nights we had the leader of the great Family Rosary Crusade Himself-Pater Pat Peyton, a Holy Cross priest.

This boys, is only a reminder of something that Tom Ross 435 Keenan could have given that does not ask more money of you but grants benefits far beyond anything money can buy. Perhaps you might start an existing rosary in your hall, chapel, and when May : the Month of Our Lady comes around, we’ll all gather around the replica of Lourdes 1,000’s of us - to praise in prayer and song the true Notre Dame (French for Our Lady) whose statue tops the golden dome and in whose name this the greatest Catholic University in the USA was brought to life, and will continue as Catholic and the greatest only if you do your part...be faithful to your background 100 percent.

Wishfully and prayerfully yours,
D. W. A. Monahan, C.S.C.

Dear Editor:
In reply to a sick letter written by a member of the not-so-silent minority female sex on campus in Tuesday’s, October 16th issue of the Observer, I must say - Grow Up, Laureen Goers! Your high school public immaturity is out of line here. Mike Welby wrote a very good article about the ratio of men (some of us) and girls at Notre Dame. (Observer, Thurday, October 6th ) I saw no implication that he was, “dumped by a Notre Dame student”. If he was, and assuming it was a girl, I’m sure he realizes that no better fortune could have fallen upon him. After all, general consensus has it that dating SMC or ND girls can be hazardous to one’s health. The implication of a loser being a future will have justifiab le

I hope that your letters in the future will have justifiable meaning, rather than being just worthless trash.

Sincerely also,
Tom Ross 435 Keenan
new art exhibit
spans 5 centuries

Portraits from the permanent collection of the University of Notre Dame Art Gallery are being featured in a new exhibition which opens last Sunday. Works exhibited will include portraits from the 15th to the 19th century, from Pollocks to Picasso.

Gallery officials have assembled several paintings showing the dramatic change in portraiture form the Renaissance period of Bartolomeo Veneto's 'Portrait of a Young Lady' to the Baroque conception of three-quarter and frontal views.

Interested insights on the life of Jacques Villion, Kathe Lollowitz and Max Beckmann may be obtained from viewing self portraits displayed in the exhibit.

Other excellent examples of former years will include Jan Anthonisz van Ravesteyn's 'Portrait of a Woman of the Van Does Schiendam Family' and Jean Marc Nattier's portraits of French bourgeoisie, which reveal the insecurity of a society uneasy with themselves. Also exhibited will be Thomas Eakins portrait of Reverend McDevitt.

Also on display will be portraits of Mary the Second, Queen of England, Beatrix d'Espoe, Marie Antoinette's brother, and others. The gallery in O'Shaughnessy Hall is open daily from 10 to 5 and weekends from 1 to 5.

enstein family' and Jean Marc Nattier's portraits of French bourgeoisie, which reveal the insecurity of a society uneasy with themselves. Also exhibited will be Thomas Eakins portrait of Reverend McDevitt.

Also on display will be portraits of Mary the Second, Queen of England, Beatrix d'Espoe, Marie Antoinette's brother, and others. The gallery in O'Shaughnessy Hall is open daily from 10 to 5 and weekends from 1 to 5.

TICKET EXCHANGE

Turn in tickets today, Wd., or Thurs.
Second floor ticket window

ACC from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

SMC girls may turn in tickets during dinner hour at SMC Dining Hall.

MONITORS NEEDED: Meeting tonight 7:00 Second Floor LaFortune for all who are willing to watch children at the game.

SMC Student Govt. is sponsoring an AUCTION for United Way Wednesday Oct. 31

SMC Dining Hall - during dinner Bring your money for a variety of items

"Tales from the Crypt"

ON THE COVER

Washington Hall Oct. 31

7:30 and 9:30 Free!

Playboy Rolling Stone National Lampoon Psychology Today Cosmopolitan MS.

A COST

Lower Level LaFortune, hours: Mon, Wed, Fri - 3 to 4
Tues. and Thurs. - 11 to 12

...the off campus office is now selling

"...the off campus office is now selling

"...the off campus office is now selling

"...the off campus office is now selling
Truck thief given probation term

A probationary term until the age of 21 was ordered for a University of Notre Dame student who pleaded guilty Thursday in Superior Court to a charge of "unauthorized control of a motor vehicle."

He was arrested by police near his dormitory after police investigated the theft of a pickup truck belonging to Dennis Bailey from Howard street and Notre Avenue on September 12.

ND co-ed reports窦

A 18-year-old University of Notre Dame co-ed reported Thursday that she was raped 1:30 a.m. Saturday in the vicinity of the 800 block of North Main street by a man she later found had a restraining order against her.

She told police she had met a man at the party and the man asked her to go outside. She said she went with him and he raped her. Two friends drove her to St. Joe Hospital for treatment.

The primary function of the Committee is an advisory one. Thirty or forty professors in the closely with the students and help them "arrange a specific curriculum in terms of the capacities and interests" of each. The Committee also works with experimental courses; one such course being offered currently is "Shakespeare and Depth Psychology."

C.A.P. consists of approximately 125 AL undergraduates who feel Arts and Letters work that they need extra guidance in planning a course of studies. The Committee would like to dispel the image that they are "student elite" who have unlimited access to all the "good," courses. Only a small percentage of pre-registration cards are reserved for C.A.P. students and this applies only to courses which are extremely difficult to get into and have special intellectual merit.

Applications are accepted, generally speaking, from sophomores, transfers, and returning students. Students are often nominated by their professors, but it is possible to nominate oneself. A two or three page autobiography of one's interests and concerns is required and this paper is due November 7. The most important criterion for selection to the Committee is the interview conducted by two faculty members who are C.A.P. advisors. These interviews begin November 10.

Anyone who would like to apply or obtain additional information should contact the C.A.P. office in 346 O'Shaughnessy.

The Observer needs typists for 10pm-1sh shifts, must type at most 50 wpm.

Call Howard at 1175

PLACEMENT BUREAU

Main Building

INTERNSHIPS ARE NOT A CURE-ALL

Internships are for seniors and graduate students. Some programs are for freshmen but most are for upperclassmen. Information is available through CAP. The application deadline is Oct. 29. Please include the following information:

INT. 1

Art Interns/Photo Assistants

All degrees and disciplines welcomed. Must be available for the entire summer. Capable of handling a variety of assignments. Must have a portfolio and letter of recommendation. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 2

Chicago, Ill. - Grad. School of Business

All degrees and disciplines. Must be available for six weeks. Experience in photo and layout preferred. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 3

F. E. F., M. E. N. R. E. and E. E.

Instructor/assistant professor. Must be available for the fall semester. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 4

Virginia, Univ. of - Econ. School of law, Ad

Job description to be given to successful applicant. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 5

New Oriental U.

In Chinese,

Job description to be given to successful applicant. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 6

Federal Highway Administration

In civil.

Job description to be given to successful applicant. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 7

Electronic Data Systems Corp.

Job description to be given to successful applicant. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 8

Columbia University - Grad. School of Law

All law students with a minimum undergraduate degree, preferably in economics or a related field. Must have a strong academic record and good communication skills. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 9

The Trane Company

Internship in field sales. Must have a strong academic record and good communication skills. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

INT. 10

Univ. of Notre Dame - Grad. School of Business

Intern in investment banking. Must have a strong academic record and good communication skills. Will be contacted by Oct. 29.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1973

the observer

CLASSIFIED ADS

FOR KENT

WANTED

Need 2-4 GA Navy fix. Call Henry 8955.

Need Navy fix. Judy 7490.

Need 2-4 GA Navy fix. Call 328 7468.

Need 2-4 GA Navy fix. Call 324 2344.

Need GA or student, fix. Navy. Will pay. 4532.

Need 4 GA Navy fix. Call 3274.

Solders to Detroit (east side). Call during the day. All male students must be able to.txt. Must be willing to txt. Call 234 2306.

Need 4 GA Navy fix. Call 3724.

FOR SALE

MEERSCHAUM PIPE EXCELLENT CONDITION, 8427.

PANASONIC 8 TRACK TAPE DECK GREAT CONDITION.

Folero & Co. - Plant Manager.

Celanese Corp.

B. M. in M.E.

B. M. in M.E.

IBM Corporation

B. M. in Lib. Arts and Bus. Ad.

Procter & Gamble Co. - Plant Manager.

Federal Highway Administration

B. M. in E.E. and M.E.

Leeds & Northrop Co.

Tandenburg 3300X stereo tape deck.

Hairstyling...with style

Award Winning Stylists

Unique Atmosphere

Shampoo, blow dry

OFFICE STYLING

PRODUCTS

KEN'S DEN

First Floor, 100 Center Mishawaka, Indiana

Appointments Preferred. 255-6500

H staringly...with style

WANTED

Need 2-4 GA Navy fix. Badly. If you're short on money, I'm your friend. Call 232 2773.

Paper boy/delivery girl needed at Navy. Will go to 15th - 16th. Call Henry 8955.

Need Navy fix. Judy 7490.

Need 2-4 GA Navy fix. GAfix. 324 7468.

Need 2-4 GA Navy fix. Call 324 2344.

Need 2 GA Navy fix. Call 8561.

Need 4 GA Navy fix. Call 3274.

FOR KENT

Room 445. Mgr. 323 1209

NOTICES

Merrily Loan Fund can loan up to $50 per quarter (30 day payment period). Basement of LaFollette. 11-12-13 Mon. thru Fri.

Want ads typist, term papers, manuscripts, etc. Call 333 8959

Intensive language training in Haitian, Sinhalese, Afrikans, Wolof, Fon, Bariba, Thar. From See the Peace Corps reps in the library lobby Oct. 29, Nov. 2. All week.

Gain valuable career experience through BVISTA or Peace Corps programs. Other college grads many opportunities for experienced employers. Getting a business, law, math, science, economics, architecture or liberal arts degree? See Peace Corps VISTA reps in the library lobby Oct. 29, Nov. 2.

Want with the employment phenomenon, yet still interested in teaching? If you have your degree in PE, social, math, science, home ec. friends: Some still have the peace corps contact Peace Corps VISTA reps in the library lobby Oct. 29, Nov. 2.

If you grew up in a farm, know how to drive a tractor, repair equipment, plant corn, raise livestock, and do all the work you know. See the Peace Corps reps in the library lobby Oct. 29, Nov. 2.

Sewing - Mending Altering, Reasonable prices. Call Beth 1399.

Will the girl who borrowed my football ticket please call 4600. Logan Volunteers: Wives nite is Halloween Costume Party. At Logan. 11-16-17 Sat.

IMPRESSIVE MEETING TO BE HELD ON THE SHORES OF LA LUCK.hp IN FRANCE, JAN. 3-11.

MRS. J. R. GARDINE.

TOWER WELL

Ski Aspen Jan. 5-12 $120 deposit. 320-9060. Deposit Monday 1 Tuesday 5 pm or call 9055 or 5048.

If you have sex, you may have gonorrhea, syphilis, or both. If in doubt, check it out. Call 6575 or 1628.

Be certain you have good leather goods. Great gifts and souvenirs. Navy lapel pins by 165 Morrisley or call 3495.

Peace or war? It is not a question of preferring one or the other. It is a question of knowing which is better for our future.

The most important criterion for selection to the Committee is the interview conducted by two faculty members who are C.A.P. advisors. These interviews begin November 10.

Anyone who would like to apply or obtain additional information should contact the C.A.P. office in 346 O'Shaughnessy.
By 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon Notre Dame's varsity football team had taken a gigantic step in the direction of a post-season bowl game and a possible national championship. By the same time Sunday afternoon three IH teams—Dillon, Howard, and Keenan—had captured league titles and are now looking forward to the interhall playoffs.

Powerful Dillon (who are those guys?!) won convincingly 34-0, while Howard, which dethroned Morrissey as League number 1 champ, defeated St. Joe, 8-6. Keenan notched the final playoff berth in the easiest of all possible ways, by forfeit as Off-Campus was unable to field the required 11 men.

Howard and Keenan square off this Sunday in the opening playoff game.

By Monday afternoon and little to show for the weekend, were the other Irish standouts in the loss. Mike Fitzgerald and Rich Hichwa retailed with Bill Blum's 12 yard booting. Blum then booted 25 yards to Mike Pulman for the decisive score. DB Peter Diamond doused Flanner's upset hopes with 2 second half interceptions.

Tuesday, October 30, 1973

ND-SC

Stanford 14 Planner 7

Upset minded Planner, which held a 7-0 halftime lead, finally succumbed to Stanford's 1st point second half surge.

Flanner had grabbed the lead on a 10 yard scoring pitch from Steve Sonstello to Al Bucci. Stanford retaliated with Bill Blum's 12 yard booting. Blum then booted 25 yards to Mike Pulman for the decisive score. DB Pete Diamond doused Flanner's upset hopes with 2 second half interceptions.

How to order your ND '73 Christmas Cards

CILA CHRISTMAS CARDS

Designed by members of the ND community and sold by CILA

(Council for the International Lay Apostolate)

SOLD ON CAMPUS this week!

in the halls (ND&SMC)

in Campus Ministry

in the dining halls

MAIL COUPON TODAY!

Warren Jewell, 101 N.E. 192 St., Miami, Fla. 33162

Please send me □ 201 / □ 202. Enclosed is □ check / □ money order for $____ PLEASE PRINT

Name

Address

City

State

Zip

REVIEWS OF CHRISTMAS CARDS:

Battlefield Games by Chuck Kauffman. A set of 20 Christmas cards which may be used individually or as cards which are part of their own collage. The cards are printed in a limited edition with different red, green, and white designs. Each set is hand numbered and contains 3 sets of designs. $15.00

Art of Mr. Norman by Normand Carlin. A set of 20 Christmas cards with hand-drawn illustrations of Notre Dame football games. The cards are printed in two colors and are gilt-edged. Each set contains 10 different designs. $12.00

The Irish Way by Pat Loughnane. A set of 20 Christmas cards which are designed to look like the famous Irish Way banner. Each card features a different Irish Way scene and is printed in metallic gold ink. $10.00

CILA cards are available at the Bookstore, Kroc Center, and the Student Union. For more information, please contact CILA at (219) 631-6200.