Macheca speaks on discipline

by Jim Donathen
Staff Reporter

"We have a concern for the total quality of life at Notre Dame," said Dean of Students, John Macheca, that night in Dillon Hall. He explained that the purpose of this job "in to find out how discipline functions within education."

Re-examines goals

Since July, Macheca has been reexamining the relationship of discipline to the overall educational goals of Notre Dame. Thus far, he has claimed two general conclusions: 1) discipline can function in the individual's life as part of the educational experience and 2) Notre Dame should develop a rehabilitative model for rule infractions so that students benefit from their mistakes.

"If you deal with individual problems, you need lots of resources and alternatives. There are few rehabilitative alternatives in the old student manual," the Dean said.

On drugs and alcohol

One area he is reexamining is the usage of drugs and alcohol at Notre Dame. "We definitely feel that efforts should be made at drug and alcohol education and rehabilitation," he said.

The dean's office has been spending time with students to determine various interests in initiating such programs. If drug and alcohol programs are not directly related to the dean's office, he said that students will be less apprehensive to take advantage of them.

Macheca also emphasized the complete confidentiality of the campus psychological services. "We have no privilege to what goes on in psychological services unless the student signs a release."

One student asked if the dean considers abuse of drugs and alcohol to include the occasional smoking of marijuana or the occasional overindulgence of alcohol.

Macheca: "You just don't go out and play handball with women. It concerns me that students find it necessary to use artificial means to deal with their lives," replied Macheca. "Life styles developed in college are often carried forward into later adult life."

Shows social concern

Another area of prime interest to the dean is the lack of social facilities. "We recognize the correlation between student behavior and the environment," he said. "We are concerned with the quality of the social environment."

According to Dean Macheca, the environment at Notre Dame isn't balanced. "All you have to do is count the number of handball courts and tennis courts on campus. It's a bedroom. But it must also be decided, he continued, if it is in the interest of the student to have more of a question of human sexuality or a question of order within the hall."

Several students asked Macheca to explain the difference between rehabilitation and punishment. "When asked, "How is it expected to deal with the university or to lose football and basketball tickets rehabilitative?" Macheca said that he saw the latter as part of the growth experience.

He contended that losing a privilege has a rehabilitative effect.

On expulsion Macheca said: "Certain things are so serious that they pre-empt the right of the individual to be rehabilitated within the community."

Macheca also fielded several questions with which he is seeking ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.

By its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said he is seeking ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - In a give and take morning session with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee, but the willin g to meet with the committee, turned down a reported offer from Nixon to meet with him and the committee vice chairman, Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn. "I'm not going to the White House without the entire committee," Ervin said.

Reports of Ashland and Gulf Oil companies told the Ervin Com pose how they had bowed to pressures from Nixon campaign officials and illegally contributed $100,000 each from corporate funds to Nixon's re-election effort. Both Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who said such a meeting should include all seven panel members.

Several Republican congressmen, after meeting with Nixon in the morning, said he is eager to make his story public and would be willing to release his taped grand jury sessions as he seeks ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.

Several Republican congressmen, after meeting with Nixon in the morning, said he is eager to make his story public and would be willing to release his taped grand jury sessions as he seeks ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.

Several Republican congressmen, after meeting with Nixon in the morning, said he is eager to make his story public and would be willing to release his taped grand jury sessions as he seeks ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.

Several Republican congressmen, after meeting with Nixon in the morning, said he is eager to make his story public and would be willing to release his taped grand jury sessions as he seeks ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.

Several Republican congressmen, after meeting with Nixon in the morning, said he is eager to make his story public and would be willing to release his taped grand jury sessions as he seeks ways to release his taped Wednesday that he is seeking grand jury or the public if he by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who said the sessions with 75 GOP House Watergate Committee.
Shuttle bus losing money

by Howard Wood
Staff Reporter

The Student Government off-campus shuttle bus is losing $50 per day, Student Body President Dennis Etienne revealed.
The fare is 10 cents and the bus costs $50 per day to operate. If the student government wants to break even, 5,000 students would have to ride the bus every day. After the first week of operation, a maximum of 75 students have ridden the bus on any one day.

Etienne expressed disappointment over the small turnout.

"There's nothing to be overjoyed about when you're losing $50 a day," he said.

Mike Giesinger, student body vice president, commented, "After one week I am not ready to condemn it. This project is experimental and the student government has to try to work out the problems for the bus.

Although the funds for the bus have been appropriated for the whole school year, second semester operation may be terminated for lack of funds. "If the bus continues to lose the same amount of money each day, there will only be enough funds to keep it going until Christmas," stated Etienne.

Giesinger pointed out the possibility of terminating the off-campus bus unless 150 students are riding it a day before Thanksgiving. Etienne added that it would be too expensive for the student government to provide transportation for such a small number of students.

Etienne warned against students waiting for the cold weather to use the bus. "Because of the poor turnout, it may not last until then."

The nice weather and the inconvenience of the bus compared to a car are the possible reasons that a small number of students riding the bus, according to Etienne.

There has only been one reported complaint on the bus routes, said Etienne. The first morning route leaves from the corner of Michigan Ave. and Vanarre at 7:35 and arrives at campus at 7:55. Reportedly, a student walked from the same corner to campus in less time than the bus. Etienne added that new route is being investigated.

Student Government is searching for improvements to benefit the off-campus students. Currently, the last bus leaves campus at 6:30 p.m. Etienne would like to have the bus leave after six o'clock because many off-campus students eat on campus. Etienne added that a reevaluation of the bus routes will be discussed during Thanksgiving vacation.

ND swim team holds marathon this Sunday

by David Lee
Staff Reporter

The Notre Dame swim team is planning to hold its second annual swimming marathon this Sunday evening, Nov. 18th, at 7:00, in Rockne Memorial pool.

According to Drew Wallach, coordinator of the project, the swimming marathon will help the swim team to raise money for training over the Christmas holidays. Swimmers will be contacting people, hoping they will contribute a penny, nickel or dime for each length they swim. On Sunday evening, the team will meet at Rockne, and each swimmer will swim non-stop as far as he can, with a 200 lap maximum. Later, the swimmers will recontact their sponsors and inform them of the outcome and the amount of their pledged contributions.

Wallach also stated that the swim team has decided to contribute a portion of the donations they receive to the International Swimming Hall of Fame in Ft. Lauderdale and to the Logan School for Retarded Children here in South Bend, where many swimmers have been working as volunteers.

In addition to the swimming marathon, the swim team also is raising money by selling peanuts, programs, and hotdogs at N.D. hockey games.

A note of some other events is listed below.

WASHINGTON UPI - For the second consecutive day the Senate Wednesday rushed major energy legislation to President Nixon, then prepared to vote him far-reaching emergency powers before week's end.
The Senate approved 80 to 3 and sent to the White House legislation imposing mandatory allocations of crude oil and refined petroleum products, including gasoline, to some states. The action came one day after Congress gave its final approval to construction of a pipeline to tap the oil rich fields of Alaska's north slope.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, UPI - Gunmen firing at a British army post in Belfast killed a Roman Catholic man on his way home Wednesday then hours later killed a young girl on a Londonderry street corner with a volley of shots intended for a passing army patrol.

London UPI - Princess Anne married the man of her heart Wednesday, Mark Phillips, a commoner and an army captain, in a scene of such splendor and happiness that her mother, Queen Elizabeth, cast aside years of iron self-control and wept for the first time in public.

The fare is $1.00 and arrives at campus at 7:55.

The Student Government off-campus shuttle bus is losing $50 per day, Student Body President Dennis Etienne revealed.
The fare is 10 cents and the bus costs $50 per day to operate. If the student government wants to break even, 5,000 students would have to ride the bus every day. After the first week of operation, a maximum of 75 students have ridden the bus on any one day.

Etienne expressed disappointment over the small turnout.

"There's nothing to be overjoyed about when you're losing $50 a day," he said.

Mike Giesinger, student body vice president, commented, "After one week I am not ready to condemn it. This project is experimental and the student government has to try to work out the problems for the bus."

Although the funds for the bus have been appropriated for the whole school year, second semester operation may be terminated for lack of funds. "If the bus continues to lose the same amount of money each day, there will only be enough funds to keep it going until Christmas," stated Etienne.

Giesinger pointed out the possibility of terminating the off-campus bus unless 150 students are riding it a day before Thanksgiving. Etienne added that it would be too expensive for the student government to provide transportation for such a small number of students.

Etienne warned against students waiting for the cold weather to use the bus. "Because of the poor turnout, it may not last until then."

The nice weather and the inconvenience of the bus compared to a car are the possible reasons that a small number of students riding the bus, according to Etienne.

There has only been one reported complaint on the bus routes, said Etienne. The first morning route leaves from the corner of Michigan Ave. and Vanarre at 7:35 and arrives at campus at 7:55. Reportedly, a student walked from the same corner to campus in less time than the bus. Etienne added that new route is being investigated.

Student Government is searching for improvements to benefit the off-campus students. Currently, the last bus leaves campus at 6:30 p.m. Etienne would like to have the bus leave after six o'clock because many off-campus students eat on campus. Etienne added that a reevaluation of the bus routes will be discussed during Thanksgiving vacation.

The Notre Dame swim team is planning to hold its second annual swimming marathon this Sunday evening, Nov. 18th, at 7:00, in Rockne Memorial pool.

According to Drew Wallach, coordinator of the project, the swimming marathon will help the swim team to raise money for training over the Christmas holidays. Swimmers will be contacting people, hoping they will contribute a penny, nickel or dime for each length they swim. On Sunday evening, the team will meet at Rockne, and each swimmer will swim non-stop as far as he can, with a 200 lap maximum. Later, the swimmers will recontact their sponsors and inform them of the outcome and the amount of their pledged contributions.

Wallach also stated that the swim team has decided to contribute a portion of the donations they receive to the International Swimming Hall of Fame in Ft. Lauderdale and to the Logan School for Retarded Children here in South Bend, where many swimmers have been working as volunteers.

In addition to the swimming marathon, the swim team also is raising money by selling peanuts, programs, and hotdogs at N.D. hockey games.

* South Bend's Finest Banquet Rooms
The Alpine & Bavarian Rooms
Open 10-20 p.m. to 20:30 p.m.—Closed Sundays and Holidays

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except vacation by the students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's. College subscriptions may be purchased for $3 per semester ($14 per year) from The Observer Box G, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

WASHINGTON UPI - For the second consecutive day the Senate Wednesday rushed major energy legislation to President Nixon, then prepared to vote him far-reaching emergency powers before week's end.
The Senate approved 80 to 3 and sent to the White House legislation imposing mandatory allocations of crude oil and refined petroleum products, including gasoline, to some states. The action came one day after Congress gave its final approval to construction of a pipeline to tap the oil rich fields of Alaska's north slope.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, UPI - Gunmen firing at a British army post in Belfast killed a Roman Catholic man on his way home Wednesday then hours later killed a young girl on a Londonderry street corner with a volley of shots intended for a passing army patrol.

London UPI - Princess Anne married the man of her heart Wednesday, Mark Phillips, a commoner and an army captain, in a scene of such splendor and happiness that her mother, Queen Elizabeth, cast aside years of iron self-control and wept for the first time in public.

The fare is $1.00 and arrives at campus at 7:55.

The Student Government off-campus shuttle bus is losing $50 per day, Student Body President Dennis Etienne revealed.
The fare is 10 cents and the bus costs $50 per day to operate. If the student government wants to break even, 5,000 students would have to ride the bus every day. After the first week of operation, a maximum of 75 students have ridden the bus on any one day.

Etienne expressed disappointment over the small turnout.

"There's nothing to be overjoyed about when you're losing $50 a day," he said.

Mike Giesinger, student body vice president, commented, "After one week I am not ready to condemn it. This project is experimental and the student government has to try to work out the problems for the bus."

Although the funds for the bus have been appropriated for the whole school year, second semester operation may be terminated for lack of funds. "If the bus continues to lose the same amount of money each day, there will only be enough funds to keep it going until Christmas," stated Etienne.

Giesinger pointed out the possibility of terminating the off-campus bus unless 150 students are riding it a day before Thanksgiving. Etienne added that it would be too expensive for the student government to provide transportation for such a small number of students.

Etienne warned against students waiting for the cold weather to use the bus. "Because of the poor turnout, it may not last until then."

The nice weather and the inconvenience of the bus compared to a car are the possible reasons that a small number of students riding the bus, according to Etienne.

There has only been one reported complaint on the bus routes, said Etienne. The first morning route leaves from the corner of Michigan Ave. and Vanarre at 7:35 and arrives at campus at 7:55. Reportedly, a student walked from the same corner to campus in less time than the bus. Etienne added that new route is being investigated.

Student Government is searching for improvements to benefit the off-campus students. Currently, the last bus leaves campus at 6:30 p.m. Etienne would like to have the bus leave after six o'clock because many off-campus students eat on campus. Etienne added that a reevaluation of the bus routes will be discussed during Thanksgiving vacation.

The Notre Dame swim team is planning to hold its second annual swimming marathon this Sunday evening, Nov. 18th, at 7:00, in Rockne Memorial pool.

According to Drew Wallach, coordinator of the project, the swimming marathon will help the swim team to raise money for training over the Christmas holidays. Swimmers will be contacting people, hoping they will contribute a penny, nickel or dime for each length they swim. On Sunday evening, the team will meet at Rockne, and each swimmer will swim non-stop as far as he can, with a 200 lap maximum. Later, the swimmers will recontact their sponsors and inform them of the outcome and the amount of their pledged contributions.

Wallach also stated that the swim team has decided to contribute a portion of the donations they receive to the International Swimming Hall of Fame in Ft. Lauderdale and to the Logan School for Retarded Children here in South Bend, where many swimmers have been working as volunteers.

In addition to the swimming marathon, the swim team also is raising money by selling peanuts, programs, and hotdogs at N.D. hockey games.
Johnson and now works for Marvin on his fatal Dallas trip. Un- President Kennedy's advance men mandel, governor of Maryland. Martin Underwood worked as chief fatally wounded in a Dallas downtown trip. President Kennedy was Kennedy's chief advance man. The presidential motorcade through motorcade on November 22, 1963. There were five Kennedy advance advance man goes into town and keep downtown. The President's car next with security downtown. There always was a lead car of Secret Service men and they also drove the cars. Underwood commented that the President did not ride in his protective car, but in a con- vertible. "Unfortunately, if we would have had the President's car down there, we wouldn't have been riding him around in a convertible, but this was the way Kennedy wanted to do it," Underwood said. "It was the first trip Jackie had made in two and a half years," he continued. "Everybody wanted to see her. We used to kid Kennedy He'd used to say 'How many do we have in town today in Houston' and I'd say, '180,000 see you and 185,000 to see Jackie.'" Underwood did not see the assassination nor hear the shots being fired. He saw several blocks ahead of the president's car. He heard of the shooting over the car radio. The Warren Commission was set up after the assassination to determine what actually happened the day Kennedy was shot. It came to the conclusion that one lone assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, did the shooting. After Oswald had been apprehended and on being trans- ferred from jails, a man named Jack Ruby came out of the crowds around Oswald and shot him. Underwood stressed that if "Crazy Ruby" had not killed Oswald, there would have been a lot more answers today on the assassination. Unlike the Warren Commission, Underwood thinks Oswald plus other person(s) did it, but he doesn't know whether it was a conspiracy or not. Oswald had been to Russia and had been given the communist payroll, added Underwood. He believes that the country could not have accepted a con- spiracy theory. "The country was so down, that any hint at that time of conspiracy would have started a revolution. It may be that you have to have a Warren Commission come along." Underwood admitted that he did completely agree with the Warren Commission. "I just don't think that anyone can sit up there with a single barrel and shoot that quick. I just know a few things that have happened since then that I can't discuss. But I do know the FBI went down there with some sharpshooters and ran the route." "I don't feel that Oswald was the only one. Underwood continued. "And I don't go far as far as to say that there's a conspiracy. There might have been, but when you talk of conspiracy you have to be pretty doggone careful about what report you're talking about." Underwood felt that the Dallas police were more worried about the television camera than they were Oswald. "I think more of an effort to protect Oswald was for the country's good. "The country's good. "They let him in and shoot him," said Underwood. Underwood explained, "Because of my association with the secret service, FBI, and CIA, which you ratification and now works for Marvin on his fatal Dallas trip. Un- President Kennedy's advance men mandel, governor of Maryland. Martin Underwood worked as chief fatally wounded in a Dallas downtown trip. President Kennedy was Kennedy's chief advance man. The presidential motorcade through motorcade on November 22, 1963. There were five Kennedy advance advance man goes into town and keep downtown. The President's car next with security downtown. There always was a lead car of Secret Service men and they also drove the cars. Underwood commented that the President did not ride in his protective car, but in a con- vertible. "Unfortunately, if we would have had the President's car down there, we wouldn't have been riding him around in a convertible, but this was the way Kennedy wanted to do it," Underwood said. "It was the first trip Jackie had made in two and a half years," he continued. "Everybody wanted to see her. We used to kid Kennedy He'd used to say 'How many do we have in town today in Houston' and I'd say, '180,000 see you and 185,000 to see Jackie.'" Underwood did not see the assassination nor hear the shots being fired. He saw several blocks ahead of the president's car. He heard of the shooting over the car radio. The Warren Commission was set up after the assassination to determine what actually happened the day Kennedy was shot. It came to the conclusion that one lone assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, did the shooting. After Oswald had been apprehended and on being trans- ferred from jails, a man named Jack Ruby came out of the crowds around Oswald and shot him. Underwood stressed that if "Crazy Ruby" had not killed Oswald, there would have been a lot more answers today on the assassination. Unlike the Warren Commission, Underwood thinks Oswald plus other person(s) did it, but he doesn't know whether it was a conspiracy or not. Oswald had been to Russia and had been given the communist payroll, added Underwood. He believes that the country could not have accepted a con- spiracy theory. "The country was so down, that any hint at that time of conspiracy would have started a revolution. It may be that you have to have a Warren Commission come along." Underwood admitted that he did completely agree with the Warren Commission. "I just don't think that anyone can sit up there with a single barrel and shoot that quick. I just know a few things that have happened since then that I can't discuss. But I do know the FBI went down there with some sharpshooters and ran the route." "I don't feel that Oswald was the only one. Underwood continued. "And I don't go far as far as to say that there's a conspiracy. There might have been, but when you talk of conspiracy you have to be pretty doggone careful about what report you're talking about." Underwood felt that the Dallas police were more worried about the television camera than they were Oswald. "I think more of an effort to protect Oswald was for the country's good. "They let him in and shoot him," said Underwood. Underwood explained, "Because of my association with the secret service, FBI, and CIA, which you ratification and now works for Marvin on his fatal Dallas trip. Un- President Kennedy's advance men mandel, governor of Maryland. Martin Underwood worked as chief fatally wounded in a Dallas downtown trip. President Kennedy was Kennedy's chief advance man. The presidential motorcade through motorcade on November 22, 1963. There were five Kennedy advance advance man goes into town and keep downtown. The President's car next with security downtown. There always was a lead car of Secret Service men and they also drove the cars. Underwood commented that the President did not ride in his protective car, but in a con- vertible. "Unfortunately, if we would have had the President's car down there, we wouldn't have been riding him around in a convertible, but this was the way Kennedy wanted to do it," Underwood said. "It was the first trip Jackie had made in two and a half years," he continued. "Everybody wanted to see her. We used to kid Kennedy He'd used to say 'How many do we have in town today in Houston' and I'd say, '180,000 see you and 185,000 to see Jackie.'" Underwood did not see the assassination nor hear the shots being fired. He saw several blocks ahead of the president's car. He heard of the shooting over the car radio. The Warren Commission was set up after the assassination to determine what actually happened the day Kennedy was shot. It came to the conclusion that one lone assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, did the shooting. After Oswald had been apprehended and on being trans- ferred from jails, a man named Jack Ruby came out of the crowds around Oswald and shot him. Underwood stressed that if "Crazy Ruby" had not killed Oswald, there would have been a lot more answers today on the assassination. Unlike the Warren Commission, Underwood thinks Oswald plus other person(s) did it, but he doesn't know whether it was a conspiracy or not. Oswald had been to Russia and had been given the communist payroll, added Underwood. He believes that the country could not have accepted a con- spiracy theory. "The country was so down, that any hint at that time of conspiracy would have started a revolution. It may be that you have to have a Warren Commission come along." Underwood admitted that he did completely agree with the Warren Commission. "I just don't think that anyone can sit up there with a single barrel and shoot that quick. I just know a few things that have happened since then that I can't discuss. But I do know the FBI went down there with some sharpshooters and ran the route." "I don't feel that Oswald was the only one. Underwood continued. "And I don't go far as far as to say that there's a conspiracy. There might have been, but when you talk of conspiracy you have to be pretty doggone careful about what report you're talking about." Underwood felt that the Dallas police were more worried about the television camera than they were Oswald. "I think more of an effort to protect Oswald was for the country's good. "They let him in and shoot him," said Underwood. Underwood explained, "Because of my association with the secret service, FBI, and CIA, which you
Goal Post Scandal

Editor:

Never in the history of Journalism has such an immensity been attached to the immaeculate as when The Observer of November first slanderously implored the residents of Saint Edward's Hall are engaging in the unholiest sin of Simony. Refering explicitly to the men, in fact, we are incensed that emphatically deny any profligacy; with the semblence of asuch infathomable tradition could men would stoop to the gutter in enterprise. We most vociferously refute the sin of Simony placed upon us. The unalterable facts are as follows:

1. Noting the more awesome than usual brilliance of the Golden Dome, a few members of Saint Edward's Hall found the picketing unadorned on the steps of the Administration Building.
2. Realizing that the post was not receiving the proper attention such an object demands, we proceeded to partition it so that it could be placed safely in the hands of Notre Dame men for endless perpetuity.
3. WE DID NOT THEN OR DO NOW HAVE ANY INTENTIONS OF SELLING THE GOAL POST!

P.O. Box Q

Goal Post Scandal

Editor:

Dear Editor:

Having been absent from campus for a few days on Church business, only now have I had an opportunity to see Mr. Jim Napier's letter regarding impeachment in the November 1st issue of the Observer. After reading it, I suspect that Mr. Napier's viewpoint and my own are not as far apart as they might seem. We agree that the House of Representatives should examine the evidence available in a deliberate and prudent manner. If sufficient warrant for impeachment is discovered the House should proceed to impeach. Mr. Napier and I differ regarding the sufficiency of evidence at hand, and we disagree whether impeachment or the failure to impeach would do more damage to the country. These issues are debatable, and a University is the place to debate them.

In closing, constituents of the first annex of Saint Edward's Hall remain indisputably innocent and our motives forever remain pure. Devotedly yours in Notre Dame, David G. Portman

Stephen J. Hoesterey

and the men of First Annex

Scholarly Debate

Dear Editor:

As usual, you have done a marvelous job of printing something without bothering to investigate the facts.

Paul Reynolds

"Quote Sans Comment" is a clever way of hiding your lack of knowledge.

Mary Shady

But reading Mark Reynolds' book, one can see how the "moron" slash at the professor is debase, and a University is the place to debate them.

Dr. Rice (sorry I missed that one)

"EM OVER?"

"COME TO THINK OF IT"

"A LOCAL AUSSIE"

"THANKS JERRY"

"M E A FAVOR!"

"SPORTS: Peg Lawlor, Greg Corgan, Vic Dorr"

"Typists: Barb Norcross, Tom Modglin, John Fahey"

"WORTH DEFENDING"

"A PRAYER"

I am struck by the simplicity of Mr. Lutkus' view of American foreign policy. The nation is em­pressed in the column America's Children - Ramblings - on Thursday, November 8. He seems to be taking the position that The United States must defend any nation if such aid may be used in military confrontations of some kind. That outlook, deplens, is likely to only those who can think properly for themselves. I am not in favor of anyone's dying unnecessarily, of course, but if, as the author is proposing, it looks as though we are fighting for the sake of the nation that I love so dearly.

Bill Faby

A Prayer

I just finished watching the television special on President Kennedy. I learned one thing tonight that I never fully realized before. The hope and spirit of our great country were drowned after the assassination of John F. Kennedy. They were further lost because of a war we never went to win and, now, as an act of political totalitarianism that our PRESIDENT may be involved in. The results have been: the division of our nation, our rejection of the love of our youth and other disturbing sides effects. The disenchantment of the youth heart and the fear of the most felt pains. For the future of America is a question of a youth. A youth who find their heroes in disciples of violence and homosexuality, namely, Robert Kennedy and Edgar Winter. A youth who reject the only system proven to be the salvation of freedom on earth. A youth who deal in reduced us to the lowest form of s-t they can dig up. Hero, a savior. We are at the type Not to suffer the "savior" that the media can come from. Notre Dame girls should be aware of the old fashioned virtues of individual guts and group unity are still found even in a country as free and as un­paralleled across the nation. Thank God for Notre Dame.

Maybe you can now understand the reason for my disgust of the state of the union, 1973. God help the nation that I love so dearly.

Brian C. Lupino

Forget Ol' George

Editor:

Your editorial of November 12th concerning impeachment is typical of the majority of opinions that have appeared in your paper. If you could have decided on the question of impeachment, arguments such as the one you presented are, in my estimation self-defeating. I do not see what significance McGovern's opinions on this issue, nor do I understand your recommendation for President Ford to resign. If you last night. If you remembered the history of King Richard one year ago, the nation was saved for personal gain, they rejected Ol' George when they discovered how muddled his thinking was as to his campaign promises and his handling of Vietnam and other diplomatic nominations. I think there is little sense in following the thinking of a man who cannot think properly for himself.

Dominic Bianco

Worth Defending

I am pointed to the simplicity of Mr. Lutkus' view of American foreign policy. The nation is em­pressed in the column America's Children - Ramblings - on Thursday, November 8. He seems to be taking the position that The United States must defend any nation if such aid may be used in military confrontations of some kind. That outlook, deplens, is likely to only those who can think properly for themselves. I am not in favor of anyone's dying unnecessarily, of course, but if, as the author is proposing, it looks as though we are fighting for the sake of the nation that I love so dearly.
Aspects of alcoholism discussed

Dr. Nelson J. Bradley, head of psychiatric services and medical director of the Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center of Park Ridge, Illinois, discussed various aspects of alcoholism with South Bend physicians Tuesday.

In an interview at the St. Joseph Mental Health Center, Dr. Bradley named alcoholism as the number one addiction in America, with 10,000 new cases in St. Joseph County alone. The authority on alcoholism defined alcoholic addiction in the same sense as narcotic addiction, in that both involve craving, development of tolerances, and withdrawal symptoms.

Approaching alcoholism as a "man-sider disease," Dr. Bradley stated that in curing the alcoholic what is needed is "not new skills, but continuity of care and social pressure applications."

Emphasizing that the alcoholic is not a criminal, though the courts may use a "kick-off approach," Dr. Bradley explained that "once the alcoholic is accepted as a sick person programs should keep pressure on him through his job, family, driver's license, and even the courts if necessary."

"The evidence of leaks is undeniable, the fairness and impartiality of Mr. Agnew's deal very questionable, and the suspicion of blatant partisans political considerations widespread, particularly in view of other recent disclosures involving high administration officials," said Banzhaf.

"Can the Senate...continence and reward these blatant conflicts of interest in which attorneys for one person against whom a prima facie case of criminal conduct exists engineered the conviction of another?" asked Banzhaf.

"In view of all of these circumstances, I respectively suggest that it would be irresponsible for this body to confirm Mr. Nixon's nominee, regardless of his qualifications or other considerations, without carefully determining whether the vacancy was created illegally," said Banzhaf.

Other witnesses before the panel attacked Ford's voting record on civil rights issues and urged rejection of his nomination.

Blocking interchange

Widow fights order to move

By JOHN GONZALES

LORDSBURG, N.M. (UPI) — An elderly widow fighting an order to move from her land to make way for a highway interchange on her southwest New Mexico land refused a final plea shouted through her locked door by officials of the state Highway Department Wednesday.

The Department said it was ready for a showdown with the 71-old woman next week in court.

Chief Department attorney E. E. Chavez tried unsuccessfully to talk Rita Hill into leaving the eight-by-eight foot wooden shack she has erected in the path of the interchange.

Chavez, who talked with Mrs. Hill through the closed door of the shack, then asked District Judge Norman Hodges of Silver City to order the sheriff to bring Mrs. Hill into court to be cited for contempt.

"She wouldn't open the door to talk to us," Hidalgo County Sheriff Eugene Moore said.

"She said she had said her piece."

Mrs. Hill owns 59 acres of desert land west of Lordsburg which the department condemned for $29,669 to make way for the Interstate highway 10 interchange. She has refused to pick up the check and has been living in the shack since August, moving there from her ranchhouse at the ghost town of Shakespeare.

"The interchange is not needed and it would not benefit her," Moore said.

"She said she owns most of her life, is more important to her than money."

Attica inmates indicted on kidnapping and murder charge

WARSAW, N.Y. (UPI) — Five former inmates previously charged in the 1971 Attica prison rebellion were accused again Wednesday of murdering and kidnapping in two sealed grand jury indictments opened in State Supreme Court.

The indictments had been handed up earlier this day by the special Wyoming County grand jury investigating the September 1971 riot that took 43 lives.

One of the defendants, Bernard Stroble, said a murder charge against him was "manufactured" by a "fool, obscene exhibition of state power."

Attorney Donald Jelinek, who is helping the men prepare a defense, called the grand jury "the most corrupt in the history of the nation."

Four of the men including Stroble, acting as their own legal counsel, declined to enter a plea to charges of three counts of kidnapping and one count of murder each.

The others were Roger Champen, Frank Smith, Herb Bloxten and Eric Thompson. All but Thompson were present.

The five were charged in one indictment with kidnapping fellow inmate Barry Schwartz and causing his death. Schwartz was found stabbed to death after the prison was retaken.

Van Heusen puts it all together

Van Heusen puts together bold styling, comfortable fit, and bright new ideas in pattern and color...to bring you a shirt collection that's right in touch with the times. Come by and discover just what Van Heusen has put together for you and for...

THE ISLEY BROTHERS also featuring RIOT

Sunday November 18

two shows 7 & 10 p.m.

Morris Civic Auditorium

tickets on sale - Morris Civic Auditorium box office

open 11-5 p.m. daily except Sunday
Judge rules Cox firing illegal

by ED ROGERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal judge ruled Wednesday that Acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork illegally fired special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox on President Nixon's orders Oct. 20, but he refused to order Cox reinstated.

Gesell rejected the Justice Department argument that Bork's action in firing Cox amounted to "an automatic abolition" of the regulations. The judge said such regulations have the force of law and cannot be abolished except through full legal procedures.

But Gesell also noted that Cox, who has since returned to Harvard Law School, had disavowed any interest in returning to the prosecutor's job.

Without Cox as a party to the suit, Gesell denied a request for an injunction that would have barred Leon Jaworski, the new special prosecutor, from interfering with Cox's return. Gesell's ruling has no effect on Cox, except to put the stamp of illegality in his dismissals. But Nader attorney Alan Morrison said the decision in effect would give Jaworski an added measure of "job security" by serving notice that Cox's successor could not be fired summarily.

Gesell rejected a Justice Department argument that Cox had made the case " moot" when he waived any interest in regaining his job.

"Whatever may be the moral or political implications of the President's decision to disregard these commitments, they do not alter the fact that the commitments had no effect," the judge wrote.

This was because Congress never passed legislation to prevent "illegal or arbitrary action affecting the independence of the Watergate special prosecutor," Gesell said.

In this regard, the judge noted what he termed a "most unfortunate" legislative proposal, headed for a House floor vote on Nov. 28, that would provide for a court-appointed special prosecutor.

"The courts must remain neutral," Gesell said. "Congress has it within its own power to enact appropriate and legally enforceable protections against any effort to thwart the Watergate inquiry."

The School of Management of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y., will be interviewing interested applicants for the Masters in Business Administration and M.S. in Accounting Program on Friday, Nov. 16, 1973 9am-5pm.

For further information inquire at the Placement Office on Campus.

Recommend prohibition of natural Christmas trees

The Occupational Safety and Health Association Central Committee of the University, at its meeting on November 8, 1973, unanimously recommended that the use of natural evergreen trees and/or branches of same as Christmas decorations be prohibited in all residences and other interior areas of the University. The Committee suggests the use of fireproof artificial trees and trimmings where such Christmas decorations are desired.

The committee asked that Student Life Council for action in that body and requested the cooperation of the Hall Presidents Council in implementing this important safety measure.

Donations to CARE to be collected before game

Donations to support CARE will be taken before and after the Air Force game on Thanksgiving Day. Volunteers are needed to take up the collection.

For 27 years CARE has been about the business of helping people in need. CARE supplies some 36 million persons with food each day. It is also instrumental in establishing self-help, educational, and medical programs.

In order to continue its millions of mercy, CARE depends upon the generosity of those in sympathy with their cause.

All those who are remaining for the game and are willing to help CARE are asked to contact the Office of Campus Ministry (6536) by Tuesday noon.

Course schedule books available on Monday

Course schedule books for the spring semester will be available on Monday, November 19 in the offices of the deans of the respective colleges. Richard Sullivan, university registrar, announced yesterday. The Course Evaluation booklets, co-published by the Scholastic and the Observe, will be available on Monday, November 19.

The Course Evaluation books will differ somewhat from last year's version. "We had trouble getting course lists from some departments so this will be a smaller book," explained Joe Runde, editor of the book.

"There will be between 180 and 200 courses covered, as we also are not covering courses at St. Mary's," he said.

The Evaluation book committee has run up against a number of difficulties with this edition. "Over all," said Joe, "I'm disappointed at the response."

Whatever you've heard about us - Believe it!

The Windjammer
HAIR STYLING FOR DISCRIMINATING MEN
1637 LincolnWay W. 232-6622

The Windjammer

From one beer lover to another.

THE STEIN BREWERY COMPANY, DETROIT, MICHIGAN 48226
Marketing Club welcomes Nichols for lecture series

by Judy Rauen horst
Staff Reporter

George Nichols compared marketing to football in his speech to the Marketing Club Tuesday evening in Hayes H noisy Center. Nichols quoted Southern California Coach John McKay who said that to stay ahead "you have to run faster." Nichols is the president of Johnnie Murphy Sho Co., a division of Genesco of Nashville, Tennessee. Hístalk was part of the Paul D. Gibb Lecture Series sponsored by Genesco under the direction of Paul D. Gibb of Gibb's Store.

The purpose of the series is to introduce students to actual practices of successful businessmen. "If you deeply go back to 1850," began Nichols. He told of the shoemaking line of his father, who came to America from England and established a shoe factory based on quality and craftsmanship, which grew to become Johnnie Murphy Sho Co.

The thirty-three year old president gave four reasons for J & M's success:

1. First, J & M works with the mills to know what styles are coming and what the accessory emphasis will be. "We try to come out with the right merchandise at the right time while maintaining our product standards," said Nichols.
2. The second reason is people. "We have the finest shoe salesmen in the business," stated Nichols.
3. Consistent advertising is the third reason. "You have to let people know how good the product is. The key to success is communication," said Nichols.
4. The final reason lies in the execution. Nichols said that you execute well by understanding your product, and know where you are going to take it.

The speaker was honored at a cocktail party and dinner at the Morris Inn preceding the lecture. Among those attending were Paul D. Gibb; George Karaffa, President of Gibb's; Thomas Murphy, Dean of College of Business Administration; Dr. Hugh Furushash, Head of Marketing Department; other faculty members and Marketing Club Officers Jerry Samaniego, Steve Hornig, Sharon Careey and Ken Wolwech.
Bob Thomas: back in the groove and on the money

Notre Dame kicker Bob Thomas had been experiencing a frustrating season until the Irish beat Southern Cal three weeks ago, when his three field goals proved the difference in the 23-14 game.

And some of Thomas' biggest frustrations were with his coach, Ara Parseghian.

"It all started the week of the Northwestern game," Thomas remembers. "I made up a cheer (a Notre Dame football custom) and I was supposed to pat Coach Parseghian on the back at the end. Instead I got carried away and slapped him on the face."

"That's the first time since sophomore year I've checked the bulletin board to see if I was dressing for the game." he laughs.

Thomas hasn't tried to make any alibis for his kicking this season either. After connecting on two field goal attempts at Purdue he missed eight more before his third day against the Trojans.

"I don't like the word slump," says Thomas. "It's an easy way to talk about not doing your job. Baseball players use it most often when they're in a slump they can be talking about not doing your job."

"One day at practice Coach dro- kicked a field goal 32-yards," says Thomas. "He turned to me and asked if I had seen that. I nodded and he quickly reminded that I had missed a few from just that far.

"But then he told me not to worry about it because I was going to beat USC with my field goals. Can you imagine how great that made me feel?"

Thomas' performance against the Trojans marked the fourth time in his Notre Dame career that he connected on three field goals. That ties him with Gus Dorais for the single game record. It also earned him the offensive player of the game award from Chevrolet and the Notre Dame Quarterback Club.

"Every victory is a thrill for me," says the Rochester, N.Y., native. "But to date the USC win has to be my biggest one. We've got at least two more thrills left this season and maybe three if we go in a bowl game. But if you want to see my most satisfying thrill you're all invited up to my room after the season when I try on my national championship ring."

"I made up a cheer (a Notre Dame football custom) and the Notre Dame Quarterback Club. "I've only applied to one school - Harvard.

A chance to end another streak

I had some tough times during that streak. Against Michigan State I tried kicked of 42, 49, and 55 yards into the wind. And I just plain missed some chip shots. But calling it a slump doesn't justify it."

Even though a kicker is exposed to as much or more pressure than any other player during his brief time on the field, Thomas claims he didn't press while he was missing.

"I started to consider what other people must have been thinking," he admits. "But the thing that matters most in what you, yourself, are thinking. And I never doubted my ability to kick."

And well he shouldn't. Thomas now ranks as the all-time leading field goal kicker in Notre Dame history with 17. He has also attempted more than any previous player - 23. He saw his consecutive point-after-touchdown streak broken at Army after he hit 62 straight, second best in NCAA history.

"I said a prayer at the beginning of the season and told God that I didn't want any recognition all season if I could just have it for the Southern Cal game," Thomas relates. "After breaking my PAT streak at Army and missing two field goals, one of which I thought was good, I walked back to my sixth floor room. I opened the curtains and looked toward heaven and said, "I know you told me I didn't want any big games until USC, and this is getting ridiculous."

"I t 's an easy way to talk about not doing your job. Baseball players use it most often when they're in a slump they can be talking about not doing your job."

"I don't like the word slump," says Thomas. "It's an easy way to talk about not doing your job. Baseball players use it most often when they're in a slump they can be talking about not doing your job."

"Every victory is a thrill for me," says the Rochester, N.Y., native. "But to date the USC win has to be my biggest one. We've got at least two more thrills left this season and maybe three if we go in a bowl game. But if you want to see my most satisfying thrill you're all invited up to my room after the season when I try on my national championship ring."

Thomas would like to play pro ball if given a chance. But he has also applied to law and graduate business school just in case.

"I've only applied to one school - Notre Dame," he reveals. "I don't want to leave here. It's been home nine months out of the year for the last four years."

And Notre Dame is glad it has been.