No joke-- ND freshmen win Mardi Gras prizes

by Susan Divita
Staff Reporter

Winning the 1974 Chevrolet Impala was Tom Waldoch from Knalgoood, California, a freshman from Holy Cross Hall. He wasn't Leyden, a freshman in Room 217, to inform him he'd won, and his money right back in tuition. "I thought it was a joke," said Jay Leyden when he was told he won the 500 dollar second place Mardi Gras raffle drawing. "I figured I had lost!" he replied. Boy says Leyden is a freshman in Morrissey Hall, from Toledo, Ohio, says "Notre Dame will get the money right back in tuition." Leyden also won a beanbag chair from the one ticket he bought. "I thought it was a joke," said Leyden.

Truck traffic heavier but strike continues despite Nixon plea

By United Press International

Independent truckers wheeled their rigs onto the nation's highways in increasing numbers Sunday but in some areas striking drivers defied President Nixon's plea to get all the trucks back on the road. Reports from authorities generally indicated heavier truck traffic for a Sunday stimulating hopes that crippling consumer and industrial shortages would taper off. In Washington, Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar issued a statement saying, "Today's survey of truck traffic on the nation's highways indicates a continuation of the favorable trend of the last few days in truck traffic in total continued to climb and reported incidents continue to fall."

The independent truckers are protesting increased cost of diesel fuel and lower speed limits which are cutting into their income. The President, in a nationwide broadcast, had urged the drivers to get back to work "to provide food, fuel and other supplies to all Americans." "In the long run, to get all the trucks back on the road," he said.

University President Fr. Theodore Hesburgh reaches into the Mardi Gras barrel of raffle tickets to determine the winner of this year's 1974 Chevrolet. The drawing took place at 4 p.m. Sunday, barely an hour before the closing of Mardi Gras. (Staff photo by Ed Brewer)

No joke-- ND freshmen win Mardi Gras prizes

SMC Board nixes original measure Revised parietals due before Fall '74

by Patti Conney
St. Mary's Editor

The S. Mary's Board of Regents, on Saturday February 9, defeated a previously tabled resolution on extended male visitation hours. However, the Board did agree that present visitation hours should be extended and offered an alternative solution.

The alternative solution consists of the creation of a committee to work out the alternative. On the committee will be three representatives of the Board of Regents (appointed by the Chairman of the Board), three representatives of the students, faculty, and administration all to be appointed by Dr. Edward L. Henry, President of S. Mary's College. "The Regents felt that our male visitation proposal was too limited in so far as solving the problem of social life on campus is concerned," explained Mary Ellen Stumpf, student representative on the Board of Regents. The Board apparently realized that extending visitation hours would not be enough to change the lack of a social life on campus. A change of the lifestyle in the dorms is one of the major concerns of the new committee.

"I think that the Board showed a great deal of vision on broadening the scope of the committee's jurisdiction. They realize that campus lifestyle does not merely mean male visitation, but that something more is needed," noted Henry. "The committee will do more than review male visitation; they will be looking into experimental lifestyles, the improvement and expansion of physical facilities. The principal thrust, however, is to get an agreement on a visitation policy," he continued.

Both Henry and Stumpf emphasized that the decision of the committee is final. "It's up to the committee to decide what needs to be done. The final decision is theirs, not the Board of Regents, and it is important that everyone realize that," explained Stumpf. "Furthermore, the fact that the decision rests with the committee has a far greater implication than extended male visitation; it is a vote of confidence for Dr. Henry and the administration," she continued.

Barb McKiernan, chairman of the Student Board of Governance agreed, "I think the new resolution is really good. It shows great vote of confidence for the administration. I have complete confidence in Dr. Henry. Now the problem is in the hands of those who should have been handling it to begin with. The success of the problem is getting something done quickly and in the best way possible," stated McKiernan.

In addition, "The new committee will probably come up with ideas for the dorms to be used as Living and Learning centers. Living and Learning, being a new mode of trying to integrate all the ways one lives and grows, thus breathing new life into the dorms," said Stumpf.

The committee will begin to organize on Monday morning. Action on some matters could take place anywhere from a week to ten days. A revised policy concerning parietals will be implemented no later than fall of 1974. I am highly optimistic that we will come up with a decision that will appeal to all of our constituencies (Holy Cross Sisters Regents, Students, faculty, and Administrators)," said Stumpf. I would like to emphasize that it will not a unilateral decision on the part of one group. I would also urge the student body to be patient because I think we have achieved a major breakthrough in terms of improving campus lifestyle," concluded Henry.

"The improvement could come through possible renovation of wasted space in the dorms to provide more comfortable space for socializing," said Stumpf.

On Monday and Tuesday nights of this week, hall meetings will be conducted by student leaders to inform the students in more detail of the Board's decision. All students are urged to attend and to ask questions about the resolution. I am particularly overwhelmed that the Board was sincerely positive about this problem. Moreover, I was happy to see them show this sincerity by entrusting the decision to Dr. Henry and the new committee," commented Stumpf. The hall meetings on Monday night are as follows: 5:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m. in Regina, and 8:30 p.m. on Holy Cross; on Tuesday night from 8:30 p.m. in MccDonnell and from 10:11 p.m. in LeMann.
Student rescued from lake Friday

by Jack D'Aurora

A Notre Dame student fell through the ice of St. Mary's lake last Friday night. The lake was frozen over, and the student was rescued by campus firemen.

The student was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was treated and released. Hospital officials noted that the student's body temperature had dropped only three degrees below normal.

The incident occurred as the student was walking on the lake when he noticed a crack in the ice. He reported that the student spent about 15 minutes in the lake. The student was not able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment. He noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees.

The student had crossed the ice successfully three times earlier that night. "I went to class and then back to Holy Cross going over the ice. Then I went on the ice again on my way back to the dining hall, but my way back is when I went down," explained the student. "I tried to get out but one of my feet went through, followed almost immediately by my other foot and then the rest of me."

After falling through, the student started floating on the ice, being too deep to allow him to stand and holding on to the ice with his elbows. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The student noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The student noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The student noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The student noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The student noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The student noted that he was lucky in that his body temperature had dropped only three degrees. "I kept moving about as much as possible, kicking my legs and moving my fingers a lot," he added. "I tried to get up but the ice wasn't thick enough." After being rescued, the student was able to walk to the ambulance and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.
Sinatra appearance at ACC cancelled
by Art Ferranti
Executive Editor
Frank Sinatra will not appear in the Bob Hope benefit being sponsored by the Dooley Foundation.
John Pfohl, director of the ACC, said Sinatra would not be able to attend due to "a conflict of interests."

Hope and Reynolds will still present their show two weeks from today with "one, possibly two" more guest stars yet to be announced. In addition, Irish football coach Ara Parseghian is slated to return to Notre Dame for what is called "The Bob Hope Benefit Special."

Saxophone player Joe Morello and singer Mary Claire Reynolds will join the show, said Joseph Sassano, assistant manager of the ACC.

As for the tickets, all the advance sales ticket money is being sent back to the purchaser with a letter that will allow them to buy new tickets at the prices of $10.50, $30.50, and $40.00, a markdown from the original prices of $12.50, $40.00, and $50.00. Don Boudauff, ticket manager for the ACC, announced that all refunds were ready to be mailed Friday. The ACC is now accepting orders by mail only, no over-the-counter tickets as yet being sold. All checks should be made out to "The ND-Bob Hope Show," said Boudauff.

Hope, 70, last appeared at the ACC, November 14, 1979. The veteran comedian, whose quick timing and barbed one-liners have acclaimed him world-wide, returns to Notre Dame for what is entitled "The Bob Hope Benefit Special."

Miss Reynolds will be making her first appearance at Notre Dame and her first television appearance since her departure from the Broadway play Green.

Dear Steve,

Do you know, your mother and I have made great sacrifices to send you through college. The very idea of you asking us if we can send you to Europe this summer is outrageous to us. Your mother and I haven't had a vacation in the last 5 years.
But knowing you, you'll get yourself to somewhere or other. I'll do my best to show you we do want you to enjoy yourself like the other kids. I've sent this STUDENT-RAILPASS your mother clipped out.

Because you're a student under 26, you can get unlimited second-class rail travel in 13 countries for up to 2 months for only $950. The trains are clean, modern, punctual, fast, and comfortable. So once you get over there you can see Europe as cheaply as possible.

By the way get your STUDENT-RAILPASS here; you can't buy it in Europe, it's a great deal.

The Thomas A. Dooley Foundation is Working... in Cambodia, in Laos, in Nepal, in the hearts of millions.

for information on how you can help.
Write P.O. Box 119
South Bend, Ind.

Aim at stay system
Study female housing plans
by Chris O'Brien
Staff Reporter
"Basically, we are trying to create a stay system with a stable population consisting of a significant number of girls from each class," said Fr. Mulchay, Director of Student Residence, in regard to female housing for next year.

The principal question, according to Mulchay, was how to determine which women would move to Lyons, in a manner that would be fair to all involved. "The results from questionnaires sent out to all the girls indicated to us that there is a substantial number of women who want to live in Lyons, so that no one would be forced to live there," said Mulchay.

Women will receive a letter today which outlines the procedure of how room picks will be assigned. The girls have two choices: they can choose to stay in their present dorm, or they can choose to reside in Lyons. "At this time, girls can move to Lyons only. Later, they can pick into one of the other women's dorms if there is room available," said Mulchay.

Those choosing Lyons will after April 15, be included in a separate Lyons Hall lottery which will determine the order by which students pick rooms in Lyons itself or one of the other women's dorms on a space available basis.

"Take special notice of the fact that this lottery is for order of room picks only. It has nothing to do with being forced off-campus; in fact only 9 girls have requested to live off-campus."

Girls moving off-campus or going overseas next year should indicate that on their contract when they return it. Those signed contracts must be returned by April 15th to the Housing Office.

Actual room picks will take place in each hall on May 1, 2, and 3. A hall lottery listing established for each of the women's dorms will determine the order of room picks.

Finally, for those girls choosing to reside in Lyons, four plans of the hall will be posted in the dorms to enable you to see what the dorm is like and where the rooms are situated.

★ LOUIE'S BAR ★
744 n. notre dame
Invites you to take a break.
Come down and enjoy GREAT FOOD... GREAT DRINK...
WEEKENDS TILL? GREAT COMPANY!
nually bemoans the approach of the
this year is no different. Today, the SBP Student Body President campaign and Student Government office.
Observer's point-of-view must be stated:
they are important measures that must
Dame where stringent energy-saving
Committee stresses some rather obvious ways of conserving energy at Notre lights when a room isn't in use;
electrical appliances; and reduced use of
No member of the editorial board or All election coverage will all candidates will appear on the front All elections of the past two years have early morning hours. The hall staffs energy should remember to shut off
No campaign announcements made
All candidates will be assigned at least During the campaign, all candidates during this campaign. Wrap-up stories involving will receive coverage on the inside pages of The Observer contingent on their campaigning. Wrap-up stories involving all candidates will be published during the campaign.
All candidates will be asked to answer a survey drawn up by The Observer's editorial board concerning issues which surround the campus. No candidate must answer the survey. The results of the questionnairewill be published during the campaign.
The Observer will endorse a candidate for SBP. The editorial board will meet with all candidates on Sunday, February 24.
Times and place will be set later.

The elections of the past two years have been chaotic and frenzied. There is something about this time of year that drives Notre Dame politics out of the woodwork and onto the quad. With luck, this campaign will be less of a problem than those of the recent past.

-Jerry Lutkus

saving the juice

The open letter released Thursday by the University Energy Conservation Committee stresses some rather obvious
ways of conserving energy at Notre Dame. But as obvious as they may seem,
they are important measures that must be taken to prevent a situation at Notre Dame where stringent energy-saving measures will have to be laid down.

In addition to students cooperation with the committee's suggestions—turn off lights when not needed; turning off room lights when a room isn't in use; eliminating the use of inessential electrical appliances; and reduced use of energy-consumers such as, televisions, telephones and other high power users—
there are other methods to conserve energy here.

For one, many of the lights which are left on all day and night can be shut off late at night. For example, lights in the hall lavatories can be turned off in the early morning hours. The hall staffs should not handle this task, by the students in their concern for saving energy should remember to shut off lights when they leave the facilities.

In all, anything that the students can do on their own to save energy, serves all of us and it will help to prevent a situation where energy-saving measures have to be dictated.

-Jerry Lutkus
Allen Ginsberg once commented on the energy of Robert Creeley and his intense desire to know people. When he gets to town, said Ginsberg, nobody sleeps until he is gone. "I can't let anybody sleep," says Creeley, "because I don't want to miss anything... I love the intensity of people that I can't let anything stop until it's literally exhaustion."

In much the same manner, Creeley's intense poetry compresses vast meanings into neat, terse phrases, literally exhausting a word for all it is worth. There are no excess words in Creeley's poetry. Every syllable labours towards concise significance. With every bit of the economy and precision of fellow New Englanders like Emily Dickinson, Creeley leads his readers directly to the point. In a poem entitled "The Business" he says:

To be in love is like going outside to see what kind of day it is.

Relationships between people have been the subject matter of a good deal of Creeley's verses. He is proud of his collection Far Love poems 1966-1967 a series of poems that lets us see a man developing a capacity to love over a ten year span. From this collection comes what is, in some ways, Creeley's most famous poem. Subsequently perverted into the title of that unsuccessful movie, Drive, He said, "I Know a Man" is another poem about people.

As I do to try from time to time, I am always talking. - John, I so much evolved from three short words. One might think nothing could please Creeley more. In his own words he is "frankly selfishly interested in the word-carte concludes that suggestion with "drive.""

Unfortunately, Creeley did not write the poem to mean that "he" said "drive" but rather the speaker, who suggests buying the poem to mean that "he" said "drive." But it is not nearly as successful as the

Little Big Screen

the great escape to ryan's daughter

Carl ferranti

Not since 1968 have fans delighted in the Great Escape, long overdue for showing. This excellent film stars Steve McQueen, James Garner, Richard Attenborough, Charles Bronson, David McCallum, and Donald Pleasance in one of the most thrilling and well-executed adventure classics to come around in a great while. McQueen excels as the baseball throwing "Cooler King" Hill who leads a motorcycle chase over the mountainsides of war-torn Europe, another sequence worthy enough to rank with the chases of Bullitt, The French Connection, and The Seven Ups. Garner plays the pilot who helps the blind Pleasance find who fared his inner plane. Attenborough is the brains behind the tunnel escape and who becomes one of the de-fated "Fifty". The rest have all minor yet distinguishable parts. Based on a true story, the film centers on what the men go through to get the tunnel, from the dirt in the tunnels to the de-boarded beds to the phoney uniforms. The only problem is that NBC has decided to space it over two nights, tonight and Wednesday both at eight. However, the film has gone through that before and weathers the situation well.

*****

On the other hand, CBS presents Ryan's Daughter for its first time complete on Thursday night. The only hitch here is that the effort is wasted. David Lean, who is noted for his epics like Dr. Zhivago and Lawrence of Arabia, fell on his face with this one, not nearly as successful as the others and for good reason. Zhivago was a love story set against the Russian revolution, Lawrence led a war over white desert. Holden and Guinness destroy The Bridge Over the River Kwai with the backdrop being World War II. Those are the types of films that tend to spectacular, not a rather basic love triangle set for the most part in a quiet Irish countryside. The scenery is magnificent but if not only detracts from the film it makes the film appear as a travelogue, something you would see between movies at a theater not in the feature itself. The acting is also excellent, but what can you do when you are in the shadow of the panorama of it all (which will also not come out as well on the small screen television set).

Regardless, John Mills (father of Gig Young, Anne Jackson, Mariel Hemingway, and Anna Meara as a few of the names) has an affair with the crippled British major Christopher Jones. Of course British regulars Trevor Howard, Leo McKern, and Barry Foster are always talking, - John, I never do to try from time to time, I am always talking. - John, I

The only late movie of any merit is Jack Lemmon's How to Murder Your Wife tonight at ten-thirty. This hilarious comedy centers on Lemmon, drunk at a bachelor party, who in his stupor, marries Verna Lisa, having popped from the cake. This non-English speaking Italian bombshell wreaks havoc at Lemmon's club with his butler (Terry Thomas), and with his comic strip. The courtroom scene at the movie's conclusion is a classic and should please any students everywhere. Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, and William Holden star in Country Girl, channel 16's Saturday late night entry. Kirby won an Oscar for her role and Crosby turns in a fine performance as a down-and-out performer with one more chance at success. Sunday's late film on 16 is The Miracle Worker in which Annie Sullivan (Anne Bancroft) teaches Helen Keller (Patty Duke) to cope in a nightless world. This superb film gave Oscars to both Bancroft and Duke.

*****

The only late movie of any merit is Jack Lemmon's How to Murder Your Wife tonight at ten-thirty. This hilarious comedy centers on Lemmon, drunk at a bachelor party, who in his stupor, marries Verna Lisa, having popped from the cake. This non-English speaking Italian bombshell wreaks havoc at Lemmon's club with his butler (Terry Thomas), and with his comic strip. The courtroom scene at the movie's conclusion is a classic and should please any students everywhere. Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, and William Holden star in Country Girl, channel 16's Saturday late night entry. Kirby won an Oscar for her role and Crosby turns in a fine performance as a down-and-out performer with one more chance at success. Sunday's late film on 16 is The Miracle Worker in which Annie Sullivan (Anne Bancroft) teaches Helen Keller (Patty Duke) to cope in a nightless world. This superb film gave Oscars to both Bancroft and Duke.

*****

On the made-for-TV side The Phantom of Hollywood (originally called The Phantom of Lot 2) terrorizes the people who are about to sell "Worldwide Studios" tomorrow night at eight-thirty on 22. It has an impressive cast with Jack Cassidy Peter Lawford, Peter Haskell, John Ireland, Broderick Crawford, Skye Aubrey, Jackie Coogan, Regis Kennedy, and Elisha Cook. It has an equally impressive setting, MGM's Lot 2 on which scenes from David Copperfield, Singing in the Rain, and The Good Earth were filmed. However, the plot seems to remind me of an old Warner Bros. Porky Pig cartoon. On the soap side Hope Lange and Dick Van Dyke's "wife" on his new show stars in I Love You. Good-bye, tommorrow also at seven-thirty on 22. Here Miss Lange leaves her husband and three kids because she feels she is stagnating at home as a role as a wife. Talk about rotten and flimsy excuses, however, to leave for marriage for that reason is very now in Hollywood and some of the more left-wing women libbers. Earl Holliman plays her husband and Michael Murphy plays her new love interest. All in all, tommorrow looks like a good night to book it.
GOP leaders plan 'mini-convention'

CHICAGO (UPI) -- Republicans from 13 states will attend a convention in Rockford, Ill., next month to weigh ideas on how to stimulate interest in the party and generate a head of steam for the 1974 presidential election.

Five hundred party leaders on the state and county level were expected for the 1974 "National Leadership Conference." March 29-30, sponsors said.

National Chairman George Bush was expected to deliver a state of the national party address to the convention.

It could be viewed as a "get together as a test to see if they can pick themselves up" after Watergate, a spokesman said.

"We're not here for just a post mortem," said Fred Bird, conference press director. "People who may have been feeling blue may find it's not as bad as they thought. They can get ideas about how to organize.

"Down in Greene County, they didn't break and eat and they didn't do a lot of things. But they can elect a state attorney like they've always done."

Percy, who said in a speech Friday he was "seriously interested" in running for president, was scheduled to host an evening reception March 29, Rockefeller and Reagan were scheduled to deliver speeches March 30.

"This convention should prove to be one of the most informative and important Republican events of the year," said John C. McDonald, Iowa state chairman and co-chairman of the conference.

Record 84 days in space culmination of a dream'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) -- The Skylab 3 astronauts, calling their record 84 days in space the "culmination of a dream," set foot on solid ground Sunday as heroes of man's longest voyage beyond the earth's reach.

"The mission we flew was the culmination of a dream," astronaut Gerald P. Carr said in welcome-home ceremonies aboard the flight deck of the USS New Orleans.

"We proved that space is not just a place to be relegated to rockets and rubbish. Skylab had to rest that theory."

Looking fit and trim, Carr and fellow astronauts Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue greeted a crowd of 2,500 well-wishers who stood below the carrier docked at North Island Naval Air Station.

The spacemen then departed for flight to Houston aboard a medically equipped DC-9 jet for a reunion with their wives.

During the brief, 15-minute dockside ceremony, the three astronauts sat in chairs and each spoke over a microphone.

"Your faces look beautiful, the whole world looks beautiful," said Pogue.

"The longer the mission went, the more striking it became," said Gibson, the only civilian on the mission. "I'm proud to be an American, proud of the effort the American people have made, and proud of the spirit of the American people."

"Vice Admiral Robert S. Saiger, commander of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, welcomed the astronauts back to the energy crisis.

"Once you get released, try and fill 'er up at the gas station and you'll have a personal appreciation of the energy problems," he said.

The astronauts, who spent three days aboard the aircraft carrier after splashing down in the Pacific, were declared physically fit.

Ray C. Biss said, "We are planning an upbeat conference with strong emphasis on the theme of 'looking forward.' Our panel of speakers and workshop leaders will be the top in the country in their fields."

The conference is planned as "a gathering of the party leadership to stimulate interest and generate a head of steam looking toward the '74 elections."

Biss said.

Michigan State Chairman William F. McLaughlin said the conference would give party leaders a chance to personal and discuss the energy crisis.

"Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin were announced participants in the conference.

Ray C. Biss said, "We are planning an upbeat conference with strong emphasis on the theme of 'looking forward.' Our panel of speakers and workshop leaders will be the top in the country in their fields."

Biss said.

Michigan State Chairman William F. McLaughlin said the conference would give party leaders a chance to personal and discuss the energy crisis.

"Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin were announced participants in the conference.

Ray C. Biss said, "We are planning an upbeat conference with strong emphasis on the theme of 'looking forward.' Our panel of speakers and workshop leaders will be the top in the country in their fields."

Biss said.

Michigan State Chairman William F. McLaughlin said the conference would give party leaders a chance to personal and discuss the energy crisis.

"Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin were announced participants in the conference.

Ray C. Biss said, "We are planning an upbeat conference with strong emphasis on the theme of 'looking forward.' Our panel of speakers and workshop leaders will be the top in the country in their fields."

Biss said.
Lefty, ND remain at 99

(continued from page 8) which brought him to Cornoy. Pat nudged the puck into the net at 13:10.

In between, Curry scored a goal of his own with feeds from Jim Auste and Jan Williams at 11:51. The assist for Williams was his 200th career point, joining him with two other Notre Dames, Eddie Bumbacco and John Noble, in college hockey’s elite grouping of scorers.

In the third period, Tom Ross cut the score to 6-3 for State, but the Irish added the last two goals for the 8-3 final. Curry and Walsh fed Clark Hamilton for a goal at 9:55, and Eddie Bumbacco’s nice effort at 14:47 ended up behind Carr.

Mark Kruthoff, who did play excellently all weekend despite the losing effort on Saturday, kept the Irish in the game Friday with several key saves when the score was 3-2. He made 51 saves all weekend, eight less than Carr, a promising freshman.

It was indeed a sweet victory on Friday night, but perhaps too sweet. For once again, the sweetness turned sour with Saturday’s defeat. This time, however, the defeat was even more sour than others before it. For the Irish, it was two in a row.

Earlier this season, there were opportunities to bounce back in these losses. But those opportunities are becoming scarcer for Notre Dame. Although there is still time to make the playoffs, maybe even the top four, it will continue ticking away. After this weekend’s series at Minnesota, there will be only 264 minutes of hockey left for the Irish.

Three victories keep JV icecarn unburnt

Notre Dame’s junior varsity hockey team remained in a select group of undefeated equals on campus (football and fencing are) this weekend with a trio of victories over Michigan State, 8-2, and the highly-regarded Windsor (Ont.) J.V. Royals (8-1 and 13-3). The three wins made the JV skaters 12-0 for the season with a trio of victories over Michigan State scheduled for Thursday.

On Saturday afternoon Warren Schintzius, Ray Johnson and Rick Lockie each scored twice as the inimicals Irish defeated the previously unbeaten Spartan junior varsity. Defendersmen Dave Bossy and Lew Curry (Steve’s brother) also tallied for Notre Dame. Schintzius (a senior forward) Thom McCurdy played brilliantly, turning away 31 other State shots. Saturday and Sunday afternoon star was Johnson, who scored seven goals. Four on the Sabbath, as the Irish humiliated the Royals, 5-0. The Irish were the only team to defeat the Spartans in the Southern Ontario Hockey League. Johnson’s three goals on Saturday were joined by single tallies off the sticks of Bill Guisti, Allen Karinia, Mark Paron, Tom Wurst and Schintzius.

On Sunday, Dave Howell had two goals with Mike Smith, Bill Whitehouse, Karinia, Wurst, Bossy and Lockie scoring single markers. Dave Caron, a freshman, sparked in the nets on Saturday, allowing the one goal and making 27 saves. On Sunday, he and McCurdy split the playing time. Thom allowing two goals while Caron allowed one in the third period.

Johnson’s nine goals for the weekend gave him 23 for the season, by far the team’s best (Schintzius and Howe trail with 14 each). McCurdy has a neat 2.5 goals-against, but Caron is not far behind with 2.7. The defense of Bossy, Curry, Rick Martellino and Dennis Godin must also receive mention for their steady performance over the weekend. In one stretch on Friday, the blue-liners killed-off over seven minutes of penalties. On another, they stopped the Spartans when a teammate received a five-minute major for fighting.

The Irish JV skaters now have only three games remaining before they begin their first undefeated season. In addition to Thursday’s encounter in East Lansing, Notre Dame has a two-game set with the Glenwood Gulls on February 22 and 23 in the A.C.C. Faceoffs for both Glenwood games are at 3 p.m.

EDDIE BUMBACCO (left) and Ian Williams, two thirds of Notre Dame’s 200-point Club, celebrate the latter’s goal in Saturday’s third period. The celebration was shortlived as the Spartans won, 4-2.

ND’s 18th keeps Duke from 1,000

(continued from page 4) Junior from New Brunswick New Jersey has put on quite a show. With 14:18 to go in the ball game Saturday he took a fast break pass from Martin, slid down the lane, and with Blue Devils all over him flipped in a layup. The crowd gave him a standing ovation.

“I didn’t know the ovation was for me. I just figured the crowd was applauding the team,” explained Gary. “Our fans are the greatest, though. You can tell the difference when we go on the road. I would say they’re at least a ten point difference in the outcome of the ballgame.”

But if the Irish fans are worth ten points at home, South Carolina’s partisan rodents are worth 20 in Columbia. And that’s where Notre Dame will be next weekend, at the University of South Carolina to battle the third-ranked Gamecocks.

Meanwhile, however, the Irish must prepare for Fordham in Madison Square Garden Thursday night. And Duke, they’ll just have to try a little harder to get their thousand.
ND's 18th win keeps Duke at 999

by Greg Corgan

Ask Duke's head basketball coach, Neill McEachy, a milestone is always hard to reach. For the past two weeks the Blue Devils have been told to record their 1,000th collegiate basketball win, but like Maryland, Notre Dame, and North Carolina, the Irish weren't about to get involved.

With a second-half outburst in which they outscored the Devils 17-6, the Irish moved to 33-2, the largest margin of victory in convincing fashion, 87-49, farther than the 82-51 margin in last year's another capacity crowd of 11,340 at the Pyramid.

In the process Notre Dame avenged last year's 86-74 loss in Durham and recorded their first ACC win in 13 years. They also did it without the services of star forward Bob Knight, who was still suffering from a sprained ankle suffered against LaSalle. "You can't win with a head coach down," said Irish head coach Digger Phelps, "but we just put the ball to the floor and we let the players play." And play they did, saving in the game for a couple of minutes, saw he favoring the irrepressible Mark Crow, didn't play. "We've got a lot of faith in Ray Martin, so I took him out," said Phelps.

"I had to give it a try," added Crow, smiling. "And that's that no matter what you do here, we're not worried about shooting percentages and all that, but getting that big offensive spur.

That "spurt" came with 17:16 left on the clock, the Irish holding a 39-27 half time lead. Five minutes later the Irish expanded their lead to 56-37, and Duke was out if it.

The Irish failed to do.

But the question which has perplexed the Irish fans all season long has been "will Notre Dame's one.

But then Curry went to work. His slapshot resulted in six of the eight Irish goals, and the senior defenseman and captain set a new game-high for assists (five) in the victory.

No more than one-on-one, the efficient Irish pass in the defensive zone, Bua, inched the score 4-1 State, Notre Dame.

The tempo picked up in the second period, and the Irish seemed more concerted in playing State's rough-and-tumble game than their own. Hence, as Spartans scored three times in Notre Dame's one.

Steve Coop scored twice for Michigan State, the first an instant pass in the defensive zone at 5:27. His second came when he faked Mark Kronholm behind the net, and with the Irish, Kronholm slow to cover, Coop stuffed it at 10:12. Brandon Moroney gave Michigan State its last goal when he worked the puck loose from Kronholm and put the puck behind Carr at 17:36. Jerry DeLorenzi then scored an unforfactorable (for State) last-minute goal at 19:19 after some nice secondary effort by inename Pat Conroy.

Dary Rice made personal three for his teamates' mistake with two goals to cut the score to 2-1. By the 4:19 mark of the opening minute of the second period, and the second was an individual effort. Rice skated the length of the ice to beat Kronholm at 11:42. Ray DeLorenzi then scored an unpardonable (for State) last-minute goal at 19:19 after some nice secondary effort by inename Pat Conroy.

"That was Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness," added Gary Brokaw, Dantley, and Patterson, and for those few minutes things moved in the Irish favor.

But it works the other way around too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But even Mark Crow could do nothing about that. But for a while there, it didn't really matter. For a while Mark Crow was doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

So with Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness, it was Joedie Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

...But it works the other way around, too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But then Carr went to work. His slapshot resulted in six of the eight Irish goals, and the senior defenseman and captain set a new game-high for assists (five) in the victory.

No more than one-on-one, the efficient Irish pass in the defensive zone, Bua, inched the score 4-1 State, Notre Dame.

The tempo picked up in the second period, and the Irish seemed more concerted in playing State's rough-and-tumble game than their own. Hence, as Spartans scored three times in Notre Dame's one.

Steve Coop scored twice for Michigan State, the first an instant pass in the defensive zone at 5:27. His second came when he faked Mark Kronholm behind the net, and with the Irish, Kronholm slow to cover, Coop stuffed it at 10:12. Brandon Moroney gave Michigan State its last goal when he worked the puck loose from Kronholm and put the puck behind Carr at 17:36. Jerry DeLorenzi then scored an unforfactorable (for State) last-minute goal at 19:19 after some nice secondary effort by inename Pat Conroy.

Dary Rice made personal three for his teamates' mistake with two goals to cut the score to 2-1. By the 4:19 mark of the opening minute of the second period, and the second was an individual effort. Rice skated the length of the ice to beat Kronholm at 11:42. Ray DeLorenzi then scored an unpardonable (for State) last-minute goal at 19:19 after some nice secondary effort by inename Pat Conroy.

"That was Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness," added Gary Brokaw, Dantley, and Patterson, and for those few minutes things moved in the Irish favor.

But it works the other way around too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But even Mark Crow could do nothing about that. But for a while there, it didn't really matter. For a while Mark Crow was doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

So with Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness, it was Joedie Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

...But it works the other way around, too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But even Mark Crow could do nothing about that. But for a while there, it didn't really matter. For a while Mark Crow was doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

So with Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness, it was Joedie Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

...But it works the other way around, too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But even Mark Crow could do nothing about that. But for a while there, it didn't really matter. For a while Mark Crow was doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

So with Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness, it was Joedie Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

...But it works the other way around, too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But even Mark Crow could do nothing about that. But for a while there, it didn't really matter. For a while Mark Crow was doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

So with Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness, it was Joedie Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

...But it works the other way around, too. Last year, the Irish travelled to Durham, N.C., to play the Blue Devils, and were soundly thrashed, 86-74. But this year it was Notre Dame's turn to enjoy the "down-home" advantage. "That's the kind of win that made the Irish one of the eight teams in the season of one loss and kept Duke's all-time victory mark stagnant at 999.

But even Mark Crow could do nothing about that. But for a while there, it didn't really matter. For a while Mark Crow was doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.

So with Joe Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness, it was Joedie Namath, doing exactly what he said he would, and doing it with a little more elusiveness.