Fate of old Government Officials unknown

Cambodia falls to communists

by United Press International

The Cambodian government surrendered Thursday to Communist-led Khmer Rouge insurgents who phenched Phnom Penh, the Cambodian embassy in Bangkok reported.

"The government surrendered at 7 a.m." (8 p.m. EDT Wednesday), said Col. Phin Oum, the military attaché of the Cambodian embassy in Bangkok.

There were no indications that what might have happened had the government officials, including Lang Boret, the prime minister, or to the journalists who remained in the city, Boret had been marked for death by the insurgents.

"There has been no official declaration of surrender but it occurred at 7 a.m. this morning," said Oum. "There seems to be no fighting in the town at the moment."

UPI reporters said there was no sign of rebel forces in the vicinity of the UPI bureau at the Russian-built Phnom Penh and had arrived in Phnom Penh and had taken off their wings and put it in our brains." He oracularly continued, "We've got to take the hope out of our wings and put in our brains."

Jackson then proceeded to support the platforms of ERA and the anti-busing movement, stating that "ERA is the right way and having the babies is an obligation."

"Some say there is no hope in this day and the people of America are in despair," he concluded. "We've got to take the hope out of our wings and put in our brains."

Jackson offered a word of advice to students in the "Spirit of black unity," he said. "They must burn to shame to major in black history and Notre Dame to major in black future."

His goal is social justice

Jackson calls for new unity among Blacks

by Virginia McGowan

Staff Reporter

Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, stressed last night the need for governmental and social reform to provide economic security for all Americans, as he opened the Fourth Annual Civil Rights Lectures in Sisperas Center. "I don't talk of civil rights," stated Jackson, president of Operation P.U.S.H. "My goal is social justice."

Defining civil rights as concerned with the privileges of the citizen and social justice as "equity and parity in access to all diversities and power available to all human beings," Jackson advocated a systemic change to achieve the goals of social justice.

"Civic rights questions the rights of which children go to school," he stated, "but social justice questions the rights of which children go to school."

Jackson noted the prime concerns of the civil rights movement are quality education and economic security for blacks and other minorities.

"We described the educational picture for blacks as being "diaspora," stating that most higher education for blacks occurs in community colleges offering only terminal programs of study not leading to a degree.

"We are not a race but we are a people," commented Jackson. He cited the 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education decision stating that "ERA is the right way and having the babies is an obligation."

"Some say there is no hope in this day and the people of America are in despair," he concluded. "We've got to take the hope out of our wings and put in our brains."

Jackson offered a word of advice to students in the "Spirit of black unity," he said. "They must burn to shame to major in black history and Notre Dame to major in black future."

According to Jackson, urban areas such as Chicago should have fifty percent black enrollment or more, based on the number of blacks in public institutions. Currently enrollment is twenty percent below this target and black P.D. Roswell, owner of Graphic was asked "What, who, when, how, and are they perfectly right?" asked Jackson, referring to current of- ficial co-conspirators. He cited recent revelations concerning CIA and FBI activity and the fact that the suspect was "allowed to escape the city, state, county, and country" as reason enough to continue the investigation. According to Jackson, King's assassination was "an attempt to disrupt, discredit, and destroy the black movement." Jackson noted that the nation has come to a spiritual and moral crisis. "We can't afford for poor people to be poor and without vision," he said.

We must now get ready to hit the streets again," he urged. "Ours is in the beauty of one race, ours is the divinity of one sex," he added, advising an honest analysis of factories contributing to discrimination.

Jackson's analysis stressed the idea that whites are willing to relate to blacks only on a spiritual basis, "in the field of education, and elimination of all forms of discrimination."

"The Negro needs neither a race nor a race," emphasized Jackson. "What he needs is a race and an education." He warned black students against racial identity, adding that he believes they are miseducated "at a high level of maturity or racial unification."

Jackson went on to chronicle the history of black economic influence leading to the present, primary position that black buying power occupies in the civil rights movement.

In the early era of civil rights, the 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education decision handed down by the Supreme Court opened the way for school desegregation. In 1965, the Voting Rights Act was passed and won in the Voting Rights Act."

"Now," commented Jackson. "We want to change civil rights to silver rights." He advocated a comprehensive economic plan, such as a full employment act to elimenate welfare.

Jackson listed as unfinished business of paramount importance the civil rights movement the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. Jackson, a top aide to King, was directly involved in the planning of the March on Washington. He was convicted of conspiracy, the charge was dropped.

"We, who, when, how, and are they perfectly right?" questioned Jackson, referring to current of- ficial co-conspirators. He cited recent revelations concerning CIA and FBI activity and the fact that the suspect was "allowed to escape the city, state, county, and country" as reason enough to continue the investigation. According to Jackson, King's assassination was "an attempt to disrupt, discredit, and destroy the black movement." Jackson noted that the nation has come to a spiritual and moral crisis. "We can't afford for poor people to be poor and without vision," he said.

We must now get ready to hit the streets again," he urged. "Ours is in the beauty of one race, ours is the divinity of one sex," he added, advising an honest analysis of factories contributing to discrimination.

Jackson's analysis stressed the idea that whites are willing to relate to blacks only on a spiritual basis, "in the field of education, and elimination of all forms of discrimination."

"The Negro needs neither a race nor a race," emphasized Jackson. "What he needs is a race and an education." He warned black students against racial identity, adding that he believes they are miseducated "at a high level of maturity or racial unification."

Jackson went on to chronicle the history of black economic influence leading to the present, primary position that black buying power occupies in the civil rights movement.

In the early era of civil rights, the 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education decision handed down by the Supreme Court opened the way for school desegregation. In 1965, the Voting Rights Act was passed and won in the Voting Rights Act."

"Now," commented Jackson. "We want to change civil rights to silver rights." He advocated a comprehensive economic plan, such as a full employment act to elimenate welfare.

Jackson listed as unfinished business of paramount importance the civil rights movement the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. Jackson, a top aide to King, was directly involved in the planning of the March on Washington. He was convicted of conspiracy, the charge was dropped.

"We, who, when, how, and are they perfectly right?" questioned Jackson, referring to current of- ficial co-conspirators. He cited recent revelations concerning CIA and FBI activity and the fact that the suspect was "allowed to escape the city, state, county, and country" as reason enough to continue the investigation. According to Jackson, King's assassination was "an attempt to disrupt, discredit, and destroy the black movement." Jackson noted that the nation has come to a spiritual and moral crisis. "We can't afford for poor people to be poor and without vision," he said.

We must now get ready to hit the streets again," he urged. "Ours is in the beauty of one race, ours is the divinity of one sex," he added, advising an honest analysis of factories contributing to discrimination.

Jackson's analysis stressed the idea that whites are willing to relate to blacks only on a spiritual basis, "in the field of education, and elimination of all forms of discrimination."

"The Negro needs neither a race nor a race," emphasized Jackson. "What he needs is a race and an education." He warned black students against racial identity, adding that he believes they are miseducated "at a high level of maturity or racial unification."

Jackson went on to chronicle the history of black economic influence leading to the present, primary position that black buying power occupies in the civil rights movement.

In the early era of civil rights, the 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education decision handed down by the Supreme Court opened the way for school desegregation. In 1965, the Voting Rights Act was passed and won in the Voting Rights Act."

"Now," commented Jackson. "We want to change civil rights to silver rights." He advocated a comprehensive economic plan, such as a full employment act to elimenate welfare.

Jackson listed as unfinished business of paramount importance the civil rights movement the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. Jackson, a top aide to King, was directly involved in the planning of the March on Washington. He was convicted of conspiracy, the charge was dropped.

"We, who, when, how, and are they perfectly right?" questioned Jackson, referring to current of- ficial co-conspirators. He cited recent revelations concerning CIA and FBI activity and the fact that the suspect was "allowed to escape the city, state, county, and country" as reason enough to continue the investigation. According to Jackson, King's assassination was "an attempt to disrupt, discredit, and destroy the black movement." Jackson noted that the nation has come to a spiritual and moral crisis. "We can't afford for poor people to be poor and without vision," he said.

We must now get ready to hit the streets again," he urged. "Ours is in the beauty of one race, ours is the divinity of one sex," he added, advising an honest analysis of factories contributing to discrimination.

Jackson's analysis stressed the idea that whites are willing to relate to blacks only on a spiritual basis, "in the field of education, and elimination of all forms of discrimination."

"The Negro needs neither a race nor a race," emphasized Jackson. "What he needs is a race and an education." He warned black students against racial identity, adding that he believes they are miseducated "at a high level of maturity or racial unification."

Jackson went on to chronicle the history of black economic influence leading to the present, primary position that black buying power occupies in the civil rights movement.

In the early era of civil rights, the 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education decision handed down by the Supreme Court opened the way for school desegregation. In 1965, the Voting Rights Act was passed and won in the Voting Rights Act."

"Now," commented Jackson. "We want to change civil rights to silver rights." He advocated a comprehensive economic plan, such as a full employment act to elimenate welfare.

Jackson listed as unfinished business of paramount importance the civil rights movement the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. Jackson, a top aide to King, was directly involved in the planning of the March on Washington. He was convicted of conspiracy, the charge was dropped.

"We, who, when, how, and are they perfectly right?" questioned Jackson, referring to current of- ficial co-conspirators. He cited recent revelations concerning CIA and FBI activity and the fact that the suspect was "allowed to escape the city, state, county, and country" as reason enough to continue the investigation. According to Jackson, King's assassination was "an attempt to disrupt, discredit, and destroy the black movement." Jackson noted that the nation has come to a spiritual and moral crisis. "We can't afford for poor people to be poor and without vision," he said.
Panel is to discuss majors and careers at St. Mary’s

For those students interested in learning practical ways of correlating their major with a career, the St. Mary’s Career Development Center and the Freshman Office are jointly sponsoring a panel discussion with three community women tonight.

This discussion, the third in a series, will be held at 6:30 in Habig Lounge, room 290, on the main floor of Moreau Hall, and is open to all majors in all classes.

Human Rights’

studied at CCE

A Symposium on Human Rights and Social Justice will be held April 19 and 20 at Center for Continuing Education.

On Saturday, at 9:40 a.m., Bishop Patricia F. Flores, Auxiliary Bishop of San Antonio, Texas, will speak on “The Ochono and the Church.” Bishop Gilberto E. Chavez, Bishop of San Diego, California, will speak on “The Present: the Church and Social Issues Facing Chicano.” Bishop Robert F. Sanchez, Archbishop of Santa Fe, will then speak on “The Future: The Church and Chicano-Potentials and Prospects.”

On Sunday afternoon the Bishops will take part in a panel discussion at 2:00.

The Symposium will conclude on Sunday with a mass at 9 a.m.

An Tostal lists appointments

The An Tostal Executive Committee has announced the following special appointments to be effective immediately:

Nancy Careen of Walsh Hall, whose name was erroneously omitted from the An Tostal Booklet, has been appointed General Assistant and An Tostal Weathergirl. Her duties will include working wonders with the weather.

Michael Ginzki of Keenan Hall has been appointed Director of the An Tostal Answering Service.

Graduate appointments have been awarded to IN: Brogan, Bob Higgins and former An Tostal Ambassador at Large Gregory T. Monito, three veterans who have returned to assist.

The featured panelists include: Hilda Boner, University of Wisconsin German major who received her M.A. in 1970 from the University of Notre Dame in Counseling Psychology and is now employed by the F.C.C.; Mary Spruill, a 1947 graduate of St. Mary’s and former high school teacher who is now a marketing training manager for Ames Company, a division of Miles Labs., inc.; and Elizabeth J. McGlynn, a 1952 graduate of Washington State University with a double major in Social Science and Secondary Education, and who now serves as Associate Executive Director of the Y.W.C.A. of Greater Milwaukee.

Grace, Tully win in class elections

In yesterday’s Senior Class elections the slate of Grace, Caracci, and Donahue swept to a landslide victory, capturing 74 per cent of the vote.

The slate of Tully, Palma Simmons, and Donahue won a plurality of 38 per cent of the vote in the Junior Class elections in a contest divided among five slates.

The votes of Holy Cross Hall were not counted in the elections of either class, however ballot boxes were turned in an hour and twenty minutes past the deadline.

CAR PROBLEMS?

DON’T GET RIPPIED OFF ON PARTS,
FOR YOUR CAR!

WE HAVE PARTS FOR MOST AMERICAN & FOREIGN CARS AVAILABLE AT WHOLESALE PRICES

HOFFMAN BROS.
1101 E. MADISON
234-0181
Gentle Thursday plans released

Rain, rain go away, don't dare come till the end of May—at least until, for this weekend’s An Tostal festivities.

At least that’s the expressed wish of the Notre Dame An Tostal Committee as they welcome the most beautiful smiles for the residents of Du Lac and the campus. For three months they have worked to prepare three days of laughter and smiles for the residents of St. Mary’s Day School-a beautiful cause for such an ugly event. The whirlwind of An Tostal festivity shifts to the North Quad at seven as the talents of Tailman herald the commencement of Gentle Thursday’s evening activities.

An Tostal Law goes into effect at eight as the most escapist An Tostal Jail ever built opens shops for the evening. For only a quarter, you can point the accusing finger at anyone on the quad and the high, hearty An Tostal Jailer will incarcerate him first and ask questions later. Prisoners will be permitted to bribe their way out for a fee of fifty cents, but the penniless or misers among them must pay for their crimes with a stint in the An Tostal Pie Throwing Booth nearby. The Dunking Booth also opens at eight and it is rumored that former Ombudsman Bill McLean will attempt to reestablish his title as "Most Obnoxious Dunk." For only two bits, anyone can take a turn at sending the likes of Pat McLaughlin, Ed Byrne, Becky Bracken and Mary Ann Grabavoy to Davy Jones Locker.

And they have the nerve to call this Gentle Thursday? The Burlap Sack Race and the Human Pyramid Contest offer proof that Notre Damers can stay out after dark without their mummies and still have good times and pleasant May prevail. Music lovers are never neglected by the An Tostal cadre since Name That Tune made its outstanding debut in the rains of last year Gentle Thursday. The air will be filled with melodies you may or may not remember but are guaranteed enjoyable. Finally, the Miss America Pageant receives its strongest competition ever as representatives from the campus’ more masculine dorms vie for the prestigious title of Mr. Campus within the confines of Rehan Center. A definite must for the non-serious beauty worshipper and all lovers of laughter, the Mr. Campus Contest could make the U.S.A. forget there ever was an Atlantic City. But off the record, even the committee fanatics doubt that the do guarantee you’ll enjoy it!}

TOMORROW: Frivolous Friday and Sunny Saturday

---

Civil Rights Conference is to open in the CCE today

The Second Annual Civil Rights Conference will be held Thursday and Friday this week at the Center for Continuing Education Auditorium. The theme of this year’s conference is "Beyond Civil Rights: The Challenge of Economic Security." The conference is sponsored by the Notre Dame Center for Civil Rights Education and consists of four three-hour panel discussions.

A 5:00 p.m. Thursday, the first panel will discuss "Health Care and Substitution: The Right to Health." The second panel, which begins at 2:00 p.m. Thursday afternoon, is slated to deal with the topic "Urban Education: The Right to Quality Education." The final panelists for this discussion include Dr. Jose Cardenas, director of the Intercultural Development Research Association, and Dr. Myrtle M. Williams, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago.

A 10:30 p.m. Friday, the conference will conclude. The final panel discussion, which will begin at 13:30 p.m. Friday, will concentrate on the topic "Welfare Reform and the Redistribution of Wealth: The Right to an Adequate Income." The panelists for this discussion are: Prof. Joseph W. Scott, Urban Education, and Dr. Lester C. Thurow, economics professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Governor of New Mexico, The Honorable Jerry Apodaca, will deliver an after-dinner address at 9:00 p.m. Thursday night at the Monogram Room of the ACC.

All events are free of charge and the public is invited.

The moderates for the four panel discussions are: Dr. Richard W. Kurtz, Health Care; Prof. Joseph W. Scott, Urban Education; Prof. John W. Houth, The Economy; and Prof. Robert E. Rods, Jr. Welfare.

---

Shula's Nite Club

LOCATION: 4431 N. Ironwood Dr.

ABOUT

Shula's Nite Club, the newest addition to South Bend, is a multi-faceted entertainment complex with a range of amenities designed to cater to the diverse tastes of its patrons. The club features a restaurant, a bar, and a dance floor, providing a vibrant atmosphere for both dining and socializing. Shula's Nite Club is known for its top-notch service,优质的食物, and an energetic ambiance, making it a popular spot for locals and visitors alike.

---

Gordon's Jewelers

DIAMOND SOLITAIRES

- 1/4 CARAT...REG. $499.
- 1/3 CARAT...REG. $499.
- 1/2 CARAT...REG. $899.

GOLD:

- 1/4 CARAT...REG. $699.
- 1/3 CARAT...REG. $899.
- 1/2 CARAT...REG. $1,199.

USE OUR CONVENIENT CREDIT TERMS: Budget Account • Charge Plans

---

Student ID Card

Receive a free gift with your Student ID Card. This offer is good for specially rated items at Shop Gordon's and Inns coast to coast. (Grad. students as well.)

Hilton Hotels

Send for your Student ID Card and receive special rates at Hilton Hotels and Inns coast to coast. (Grad. students as well.)

Use this coupon to Hilton Hotels Fulfillment Dept., Suite 200, 1725 N. S. Beverly Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

Name:

Address:

City:

State:

Zip:

College:

Class of ____________

---

Gordon's Jewelers

Send for your Student ID Card and receive special rates at Hilton Hotels and Inns coast to coast. (Grad. students as well.)

Use this coupon to Hilton Hotels Fulfillment Dept., Suite 200, 1725 N. S. Beverly Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

Name:

Address:

City:

State:

Zip:

College:

Class of ____________

---

Hilton Hotels

IN SOUTH BEND SHOP AT GORDON'S: Scottsdale Mall • Shop Gordon's in South Bend. seriously, folks

Committee is the "separation of the major achievements of the special meeting. The Chief tells his agents, "We have obtained astounding results.

Thirdly, the staff itself is inconsistent with the opinion of Fr. Heuborg, who, in vetoing the SLC's proposed revisions of the sexuality code late January, cited "having a member of the opposite sex in one's room overnight" as an example of "serious sexual misconduct."

Furthermore, if the University honestly regards heterosexuality as not being indicative of sexual misconduct but merely an invasion of privacy, how can it justify allowing student vaccinations for students for parietal violations as in the Dillon Hall incident of 1973 and the Stanford Hall case last summer?

Yesterday's proposal by Student Body President Ed Byrne to extend visitation by two hours each day is no more helpful than the SLC committee's proposals. It is at best a token attempt to express a feeling of support for student dissatisfaction with the present University policy. A survey has shown that 52 percent of the student body wants no visitation restrictions at all.

Twenty-four hour parietals may very well never be approved by Fr. Heuborg. However, it is highly unlikely that the store cannot be expected if the voice of the students is not accurately and strongly represented by its leaders.

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Triangulation, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?

Ironic, Sr. John Miriam Jones, chairperson of the committee, contends that he is the person who is calling the shots in the case of the hallucination on halibut. Is there a better way to enforce it, and several of the rectors who are supposed to supervise it?
Council seeks SMC donors for blood program today

Today between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., all SMC students will have the opportunity to make a donation. It won't cost them a penny, yet it is valuable that it is a lifesaver. The donation is not of money, but of blood.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two coordinated weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year. According to the Council's program, up to 20 donors from such residence hall at Notre Dame or 20 from SMC are asked to give blood on either one Tuesday or Thursday during the semester.

Donations are accepted at the Central Blood Bank in downtown South Bend, as needed facilities are not available yet on campus, said Council Chairman Colleen O'Rourke. Red Cross volunteers provide transportation to and from the blood bank. Rides will leave from in front of Hesburgh Hall, SMC at 9 a.m.

An Tostal course 'Recess' is reinstated

A menagerie of infantile exercisers will rise to the tempos of students, taxilize their repressed natural instincts, and provide alot of fun for all. Recent list, being billed as a return to your childhood night, includes a Gian Twister game, baby powder fight, tricycle races, finger painting, four square, kool-ade, kool-ade, paper plane flying, Mother May I, baby pools, costumes, and others. Appropriate dress depends on whether you plan to play. "Which Way to the Beach" in the baby powder fight, whatever your taste, rich primary colors while creating beautiful houses, trees, animals or whatever. Some kids will be wearing giant diapers, some pre-school outfits, and others costumes of cartoon characters. A prize will be given to the best. Play like Potato Head and change your appearance. Due to the overwhelming response, kool-ade will cost 5 cents a glass.

For freshmen interested in working on the 1976 Sophomore Literary Festival:

Please leave name in English Office, 309 O'Shaughnessy, by Friday, April 18.

Pennies from Heaven' sought

Tony Grasso of the Knights of Columbus, has agreed in conjunction with the Notre Dame-St. Mary's community to a weight contest. Grasso raising project.

The goal of the council is to obtain seven hundred dollars, which is equal to approximately five hundred pounds. The weight of pennies raised to date will be computed each day. Grasso will then lift that weight at 5:30 p.m. each day of the contest on the porch of the ND council building.

The objective of the drive is to raise money for Gibault, a home for juvenile delinquents run by the Indiana Knights of Columbus. Councils all over the state are participating in various projects in order to aid the school in obtaining a "matching grant." The Lilly Foundation will donate a specified amount of money if the council in Indiana can match their donation.

The Notre Dame council will be requesting every student, faculty member, and staff member to donate one penny a day for a week. "One penny a day won't hurt anyone, but every penny donated will make a difference," commented Thomas, Grand Knight of the ND council.

The drive will run from Thursday April 17 through Thursday, April 24. Posters will be put up on the floor of every dorm with the name of the K or C member who will be available to take any pennies from residents of that floor who wish to contribute.

For off-campus students, faculty, and staff members there will be posters in all class room buildings with the name of an individual within that building who will collect the pennies of those wishing to donate.

If anyone is unable to find someone to give their money to, they can either drop in to the council building, located next to the bookstore, or call the council at 2788, and a member will be sent to pick up your donation.

Student union presents the an postal concert

APRIL 18TH, 8 P.M.

TICKETS $5.50, 4.50, 3.00

ACC and Student Union box offices

K. of C. sponsors

Pennies from Heaven' sought

by Martha Fanning

Staff Reporter

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.

Today's donation from St. Mary's is one of two conducted weekly on campus, under the direction of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Blood Council which began this year.
by Kevin Dickerson
Staff Reporter

"The cost of attending college will go up past 8 percent at private institutions," a survey of 300 colleges and universities has found. This quotation, taken from the Chronicle of Higher Education, March 1975 edition, typifies the financial trends of colleges and universities nationwide.

Dr. Jim Bauman, Director of the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey, said that "these figures are arrived at by releasing a budget form to colleges across the country, both private and public. Financial aid officers complete the detailed questionnaire and send it back to us. We use it to determine financial aid for the Parents Confidential Statement form that students are required to submit for financial aid at most institutions.''

He also explained that the budget form was divided into five components: tuition and fees, transportation, personal costs, room and board, and books and supplies. Of the five components, tuition and fees will vary the most, from an average of $2600 to $3600 at private four year institutions, Bauman said.

In the same edition of the Chronicle, the Educational Testing Service released the average charges for more than 1500 colleges and universities for 1975-76 academic year. In the average, Notre Dame tuition and room and board fees are lower than those institutions of comparatively the same caliber.

Notre Dame submitted its budget questionnaire to the Educational Testing Service in October of 1974. Those figures, however, are not necessarily indicative of the final figures to be reached by the Board of Trustees this summer.

The Educational Testing Service Report further pointed out that not only were private college tuition and expenses going up, but public institution's as well.

---

National tuition hikes predicted

Today has been designated Food Day by the National Center for Food Day, a day set aside to direct attention specifically to the production, distribution, and use of food. "The day is modeled after the successful "Earth Day" which a few years ago brought the country's focus on the ecological problems.

Efforts have been in the planning stages for the past year, according to Tom Walrath, Student Director of Special Committee of Food Day. Much of the organization has been coordinated by the National Center for Food Day, which did the overseeing of fund raising efforts consisting of teaching, short-term classes, and various other related activities. Research and political action committees hope to influence national and state Congressmen, Walrath said.

Task forces across the nation have organized short-term projects, such as the Children's Foundation Pilot Program, which is making extra food available to pregnant and nursing mothers, and to infants and children under 4 years old.

"FOOD Day was aimed at worldwide hunger problems. Though the national programs are designed for domestic aid, it is hoped Americans will realize that there is an obligation to fellow men in need of food which will cross international lines, according to Walrath.

Campus activities Thursday will be sponsored by the Notre Dame World Hunger Coalition. Plans include the distribution of information at the dining halls and other points. Films and slides from UNICEF will be shown continuously in the La Fortune theatre from 9 a.m. on dealing with the problem of world hunger.

A mass will be said Thursday evening at 10:30 p.m. in Walsh Hall as well. The Coalition hopes Food Day will be made in part successful by the response at Notre Dame in the concern for this situation in the world.
Following the success of the Ugly man on Campus (UMOC) contest held last year to raise funds for charity, Alpha Phi Omega is once again going to host the event this year. The contest will be held on March 15th with 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The Ugly Man on Campus (UMOC) contest dates back to 1979 and involves the student body dressing up as the ugliest man on campus. The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.

The contest is organized by the student group Alpha Phi Omega and the proceeds are donated to charity. The contest is open to all students and has become a popular event on campus.

Incorporating this year's UMOC contest, the event will maintain its original format of 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.

Incorporating this year's UMOC contest, the event will maintain its original format of 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.

Incorporating this year's UMOC contest, the event will maintain its original format of 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.

Incorporating this year's UMOC contest, the event will maintain its original format of 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.

Incorporating this year's UMOC contest, the event will maintain its original format of 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.

Incorporating this year's UMOC contest, the event will maintain its original format of 100 votes being required for a $100 donation. The individual or group with the most votes will be honored at a special banquet.

The contest is open to all students and the winner is determined by a panel of judges who vote on the contestants based on their appearance. The winner of the contest is then invited to a special banquet where they are presented with a plaque and a $100 donation for charity.
Paul Koprowski: Irish golfers' Mr. Consistency

by Tom Krueger

"Whenever you see a golf bag you have Paul Koprowski tied into a neat package, you always find that your father was his main inspiration, "he introduced me to the game."

After high school, the choice to come to Notre Dame was made "to get a taste of some of the local schools," because he wanted an opportunity to get away from home and see what kind of situation could offer.

At Notre Dame, after making the team his sophomore year, he ranked as one of the best in the country. "That man just has tremendous enthusiasm, and that makes him just great. The way that he has taken the golf program here and keeping up the number of matches that we do, well that's the only way to go."

Koprowski then shifted the talk to this year. "Right now we just haven't gelled as a team. We keep getting good individual performances, but we're not ready as a team yet. We have a chance for the NCAA at-large invitation (to the national tournament) if we get ourselves together as a team.""