The Student Government has launched its co-op membership drive, and will continue until Monday, May 5. Government is in the sign-up stage this week. "If the students who don't want to pay for co-op may not have spare money in their pockets this late in the year, the co-op will be at least 10 to 15 percent and probably more," Shankel stated. He noted that the savings at first will be at least 10 to 15 percent and will probably increase when the volume of sales increases.

"Volume buying is important in passing on a better deal to the consumers," Shanel observed. "The more participation we get from students, the more we will be able to pass on to them in savings." Plans for the co-op include three basic product types: food, clothing, and records.

Shankel pointed out that the low food prices will benefit the on-campus student as well as the off-campus student. He provided a list of representative food prices, which includes snack foods as well as main grocery items. "Clothing and records will be two commodities that will be offered by the co-op for those students not necessarily interested in purchasing food," Shankel stated. He explained that the co-op will be dealing with a manufacturer in Chicago who will provide students with a 30 percent discount on all available clothing. The latest styles for which you pay $14, you will be able to purchase in the co-op for $8.40," Shankel said.

Record albums will be sold at a 30 percent discount. Shankel stated that popular albums which normally sell for $5.20 will sell at the co-op for $4.40, he noted. In order for the co-op to begin to offer these reduced prices, Shankel explained, the initial investment money, in the form of membership fees, must be collected now. Shankel said, "We need about two thousand memberships right now." Shankel noted, adding that this includes faculty, staff members and credit union members as well as students.

Byrne stated, "The purpose of the membership drive is to get the co-op off the ground and to prove that there is student interest in the co-op." Once we get that initial investment, we can go on to work and get the co-op going," Byrne added.

Registration for the co-op will be held in the Huddle and the dining halls at Notre Dame and St. Mary's. Also, registration will be always possible at the student government offices and the desk of the credit union.

Persons interested in working on the co-op should contact Shankel at 368-2756 or Wersching at 8040 or at Student Government at 7660.

This list reflects an average of 15 percent in savings when goods are purchased at the co-op. This means that when a student spends $10 at a local grocery store, it would be equivalent to $8.50 spent in the cooperative. The savings will not remain static, because as volume increases, the savings will increase also.

World record sought as B-ball marathon goes on

by Fred Herbit Staff Reporter

The Muscular Dystrophy Basketball Marathon sponsored jointly by the Circle K Club and the Notre Dame Social Commission is continuing play in Sueno Center on rainy days and behind the Bookstore on other days. The yellow team trailed the green team by a score of 5.5 to 4.5 as the basketball marathon reached the 100-hour mark at 5 p.m. Sunday. As of 3 p.m. Sunday, 101 people had participated.

Organized by Tom Schnellenberger, president of the Circle K Club, and Kevin Saddler, assistant social commissioner, the marathon is designed to break the world record of 204 hours. This should occur at 5 a.m. Tuesday.

Saddler noted that several jerseys and basketballs have been stolen for their return, since the marathon will be forced to pay for any missing equipment.

Saddler mentioned that should the marathon break the existing record, no questions will be asked. Currently, the only sources of income for the marathon are the donations of those watching the game. However, section leaders will soon begin a door to door drive in the various halls seeking donations.

Saddler stated his hopes that students will "donate whatever it makes you feel worthwhile and show that they made an effort.

It is hoped that a number of local merchants will donate to the marathon on hourly basis as of yet no arrangements have been made.

Saddler noted.

Social Commissioner Charles Morton said: "We have been extremely impressed with the numbers of students who have played in the Basketball Marathon. The response has been tremendous with over 500 students involved.

"The only area lacking in donations is for Muscular Dystrophy. Anyone wishing to make contributions or go out and collect contributions should come up to the Student Government offices. It's a very worthy charity, and we're glad to be able to help them," Morton added.

Schnellenberger stressed the need for players, especially between the hours of 7 a.m and 11 p.m. Anyone interested can sign up by calling either 481-7600 or 481-7660. As participant Tony Marino said, "It was a lot of fun playing basketball to help other people out besides that, there's a chance we'll break a world record."

Completion of Provost Evaluation expected soon

by Marianne Schulte Staff Reporter

The Professor Evaluation of the Provost is almost finished, according to Professor James T. Cushing, chairman of the Faculty Senate, which is conducting the evaluation of both the reappointment of its type here at Notre Dame.

The results of the evaluation will be presented to the Academic Policy Review Committee and the Board of Trustees for review open completion. A vote will then be taken to renew or terminate the contract Fr. James T. Burtchall, Ph.D. provost of the university. "All 450 members of the Faculty Senate were invited to participate in the evaluation," Cushing explained yesterday. "Every member was sent an evaluation form to fill out. If they so desired. The form itself is very similar to that used by students to evaluate their teachers."

When questioned about the implementation of the new evaluation, Cushing responded: "We feel that a faculty evaluation which is part of the overall review or on a referendum on governance which was issued a month or two ago. This item on the referendum was aimed specifically at those members of the administration and faculty whose five year terms are just now coming to an end.

"The provost is being appraised on his performance according to his duties as outlined in the Notre Dame Report Number 15," Cushing stated.

In conclusion, Cushing added: "Response to the evaluation of the provost has been encouraging."

Yearbook pickup procedure given by Bob Redwiecz Mail Reporter

The Dome 1975 yearbooks have arrived on campus and will be distributed to the undergraduate student body Tuesday and Wednesday, April 29-30, according to Steve Simpson, Business Manager of the Dome.

Graduate and law students are also entitled to books, so that only suggestions should be forced to pick up their yearbook.

"First, all students must come up to the first floor of LaFortune and pick up Dome IBM cards," Simpson said.

"ID's must be presented at this time in order to be given a card. Then the students take the computer cards to the trailer parked between the Wiltse and Old Football House. Books will be distributed from there," Simpson explained.

Simpson cautioned that students should be sure they are in the correct line for picking up their computer cards in LaFortune. The lines will be divided alphabetically, and "if you are in the wrong line, there's nothing we can do except give you to the back of the correct line," the Dome Business Manager said.

Yearbooks must be picked up on these two days or there will be no guarantee that you will be able to get them this spring.

SAIGON (UPI) — Warplanes bombed Saigon's airport for the first time in the war and Communist ground troops battled to within three miles of Saigon Monday, ignoring new President Duong Van Minh's call for peace.

Members of security and panic in which the government position appeared to crumble at a quickening pace.

Military sources said South Vietnamese Senatorial Committee Chairman Stewart McGuire, said Minh and an unspecified number of other Air Force officers joined the exodus of Vietnamese fleeing the country in the face of the Communist onslaught.

Shooting erupted near the U.S. embassy and the presidential palace touching off panic and confusion. Reports that the Communists had invaded Saigon itself or that a coup was underway to overthrow Minh. Minutes after Minh was sworn in as the nation's third president in a week and called for peace, four American-built A37 jet fighter-bombers were downed over Saigon.

Government pilots in F5 Freedom Fighter chase planes said the A37s fled to a field at the Communists held Phu Rang, 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

The raiders — 12 parked airplanes, and forced a five-hour suspension of the massive U.S. Airlift bringing thousands of Vietnamese to refugee points dotted across the Pacific.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said it was unknown who flew the planes that attacked the airport. The spokesman confirmed that "a couple of dozens" A37s were captured by advancing North Vietnamese troops, but it was not known how many were left behind in working order.

He said there were reports the North Vietnamese were working with the A37s, including taking them up and down the runway at Danang.

The Communists had Saigon all but surrounded with an estimated 150,000 men, tanks, artillery and rockets. They recaptured once strong government strongholds at Binh Hoa and Long Binh 14 miles to the northeast, and launched a commando raid against the Newport dock area three miles north of the capital.

The tightening noose around the capital quickened plans by foreigners, including Americans, to close or trim down official operations. The U.S. Defense Attaché Office was to shut Tuesday, meaning an end soon to the evacuation flights it has been running.

Political sources said the new president likely would ask the United States to remove if not all the 500 official Americans remaining in Vietnam — a move to meet Communist demands for an end to the U.S. presence.

Malaysia and the Philippines closed their embassies Monday. Great Britain, Australia, Canada and the Netherlands shut down their missions last week. Minh's initial appeal to the Communists for a cease-fire ("Let us sit together and negotiate and work out a solution") and to his own people ("be courageous and stay here and accept the fate of God") met little success.

A North Vietnamese spokesman in Paris said Minh's call for peace did not meet Communist conditions for a cease-fire, and a Viet Cong spokesman in Saigon said Minh's remarks were "not in keeping" with Viet Cong demands.

Military sources said Chief of Staff Thoang Van Van was given permission by Minh to leave the country, and that the general departed with other senior officers aboard his personal C13 decorated with the four stars symbolizing his rank. An estimated 500 penniless and frightened civilians, spurred on by a Communist command attack near the Newport dock area three miles north of Saigon, broke into the U.S. consular and stripped the supermarket-like building of everything from beer to toiletries.

The 500 looters were driven off by Vietnamese military police firing above their heads. Shooting broke out in the downtown area after Minh's acceptance speech. UPI correspondent Leon Daniel said he touched off panic — residents diving to the ground and huddling in doorways, drivers abandoning their automobiles, motorcycles and bicycles to race for cover.

The Day of the Locust

Dear Students,

We would like to thank the almost 400 people that turned out for the 2nd Corby-Library picnic. Aside from the weather, we hope everyone had a good time.

We would also like to apologize to those people who bought tickets, but did not brave the weather. We were forced to have the picnic regardless of weather because we had $800 worth of prepared food that would have spoiled if the picnic was postponed. We hope next year Mother Nature will look favorably on the 3rd annual Corby-Library picnic.

Explanation of dismissal

refused by administrators

by Kathy Mills
Staff Reporter

In the wake of expressions of apparent student discontent over the recent decision not to renew the contract of Mr. Fred Pechek, the physical education instructor and physical education department, administrators and faculty said they refused to comment on the case, while Brown could not be reached for comment.

I have no comment. The procedure established in the Faculty Manual was followed. The case is now closed," stated Hofman.

Dave Boyer, ND wrestling who started the petition to reinstate Pechek, reported that he tried to talk to Hofman about the decision, but "he could not get in to me.

In abortion-manslaughter

Defense attorneys ask for verdict change

BOSTON (UPI) - Defense attorneys Monday asked the trial judge to overturn Dr. Kenneth C. Edelein's landmark abortion-manslaughter conviction on grounds the state failed either to claim or to prove the fetus was a human victim.

In a brief outlining oral arguments scheduled to be heard Wednesday, Edelein's attorneys said it was "the crux of the case" that the testimony of the state's star witness supported the defense claim no human victim ever existed.

"The verdict from the all-white, predominantly Roman Catholic juror body shocked the medical community, moving some hospitals to modify their policy on elective abortions," Judge James P. McGuire sentenced the 36-year-old black defendant to one year in probation and stayed the sentence until all appeals are resolved.

Edelein, a former chief resident obstetrician at Boston City Hospital, said racial and religious prejudice made a fair trial in Boston impossible, though many jurors said afterward that Edelein was black.

The defense brief quotes from the judge's charge to the jury in which he said: "a fetus is not a person and not the subject of an indictment for manslaughter.

Defense attorneys argued in the brief that the state's only eyewitness, Eugene J. Jiminez-Jimenez, testified for the prosecution that the body died inside the uterus.

"It is the irony of this case that in retrospect this testimony made him (Jimiinez-Jimenez) a star witness for the defense an eyewitness who could establish that the subject was not born alive outside the uterus," the attorneys said they were "misled into attacking and discrediting his testimony."

Rape seduction issue argued in trial case

NEW YORK (UPI) - The line between rape and seduction was at issue Monday in the trial of cable-TV personality Marvin Evans, accused of raping a 21-year-old coed he allegedly picked up and sweet-talked into a posh West Side apartment.

Evans, 38, moderator of a program called "The Alternative," which provides a dating service as part of his format, has been accused of rape, sodomy and unlawful imprisonment by a coed from Charlotte, N.C.

At Evans' non-jury trial Monday, defense lawyer Howard Meyer of the Legal Aid Society argued that what took place was seduction.

"It's a fine line between seduction and rape," he said. "If there is a conviction in this case, everybody is up for grades.

Meyer said that in New York City engage in seductive activities in bars and in the streets, he said.

The complaint, at the time a Wellesley College coed who now attends Dartmouth, testified that he was assaulted at LaGuardia Airport on the night of July 15.

She said Evans told her he was a psychologist researching singles' bars. He grabbed her, pulled her inside the sofa bed and raped her.

The complainant said she accepted Evans' offer of a ride to Manhattan, where she was to catch a train to White Plains, N.Y. However, the couple went to Maxwell's Plum, a lively East Side singles' bar, and until midnight "the super-funpalable" of singles bars "as part of the research," she said.

The complainant testified that after the two spent an hour in the apartment, Evans suddenly grabbed her, pulled her backward onto the sofa bed and raped her.

The jury is to be deliberating this week.

Numerous rubella cases reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four conservative senators Monday proposed cutting the projected federal deficit by $35 billion — $25 billion below what President Ford is recommending.

They said that while this would lead to a short-term increase in unemployment, in the long term, employment would rebound with "better quality jobs in a smaller number of permanent jobs in the private economy rather than temporary government jobs for the jobless.

Sens. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., William Brock, R-Tenn., James A McClure, R-Idaho, and Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., at a news conference, announced plans to propose federal spending at a level which would produce a deficit of only $34.7 billion. Their plan would require a $7.5 billion tax cut bill, Ford had said he could accept it.

Buckley called the Senate committee proposal "a recipe for economic disaster," and predicted that while initially it might cut into unemployment, ultimately it would lead to more inflation and more recession.

"In the shorter period, you might have somewhat higher unemployment" with the smaller deficit, Buckley said, but within 18 months "not only would it produce as many jobs (as a larger deficit) but it would produce better quality jobs."

The others agreed. McClure said at the moment it was impossible to operate the federal government without a deficit.

But the four disputed the economic theory that a projected deficit as small as one they propose would lead to higher unemployment, and result in such a big shortfall in tax revenues that the deficit would remain large.

The House takes up its own resolution Wednesday. The House Budget Committee called for a $72.2 billion deficit and even deeper cuts in defense spending and more stimulation.

On March 29, signing the tax cut bill, Ford had said he could accept a $60 billion dollar deficit.

The proposal will be offered in the Senate Tuesday as a budget resolution - setting spending guidelines for fiscal year which starts July 1 -is taken up.

The proposed resolution product of the Senate Budget Committee, which the budget deficit by $35 billion, with some spending shifted from defense aid and toward more economic stimulation to speed up recovery.

France, UN appeal to Cambodian Communists

By United Press International

France and the United Nations Monday appealed in the new pro-Communist govern­ment in Cambodia to permit mercy shipments of food and medicine to hundreds of refugees holed up in the French embassy in Phnom Penh. There was no immediate reply.

Phnom Penh radio, in a broadcast monitored in Bang­kok, said the victorious Khmer Rouge had decided to keep medicine to hundreds in Cambodia to permit the new pro­Communist government.

The French government officials at the United Nations said the foreign­ers needed food, medicine and a way to leave the complex.

A French military transport plane was standing by at the Laotian capital of Vientiane with a load of medical and other relief supplies, awaiting an okay from Cambodia for permission to land at Phnom Penh.

A French spokesman said that if the flight could be made the aircraft would try to evacuate at least some of the refugees now inside the embassy compound.

A U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim appealed to both Phnom Penh and to Sihanouk in Cambodia to permit relief missions to the embassy. A U.N. spokesman said Monday no response had been received either from Sihanouk or from the Cambodian capital.

French sources also said the Khmer Rouge took away the embassy’s radio transmitter and that authorities in Phnom Penh had heard nothing since Saturday. It was not clear whether the Communist authorities con­fiscated the transmitter or forbade its use.

There also was no word from Phnom Penh as to the fate of whereabouts of former premier Long Boret and other leaders of the deposed government, some of whom the Khmer Rouge once said were marked for death.

Fourteen dead, two still missing in Washington avalanche

A rescue team Monday reached the bodies of the victims of a weekend avalanche on Mt. St. Helens. Two other members of a college mountaineering class caught in the snow were still missing and presumed dead.

The four were part of a 24-member class from the Universi­ty of Puget Sound that had gone to the area for an overnight stay in tents and snow caves Saturday. The survivors talked of reaching three others and having to leave them behind, on the edge of the area the other two were lost.

The group was struck by the second of two killer avalanches Saturday that swept down from the high Cascades on both sides of the Colombia River. Kam­bium, 28, Corvallis, Ore., a senior in University of Wash­ington, died in an avalanche in the LaFortune lobby (photo by Chris Smith).
The purpose of this column is to outline many of the injustices suffered by Mexican workers. These injustices arise at work, as the result of exploitative and exploitative practices, procedures and enforcement practices of the U.S. Justice Department and other Federal and State agencies. The problem is especially acute for the Mexican workers who are not protected by the Federal and State agencies that are supposed to protect them.

Understanding the reality of the oppression involved requires us to look at Mexican workers through the racist immigration policy and practices of the Federal and State agencies. The Mexican workers are forced to fill out their tax forms and pay these taxes with little or no money. They are trapped in the quest of maintaining or increasing their subjugation and dependence on certain multinational corporations. They are forced to pay high taxes to maintain our system of exploitation and economic domination. I come to the conclusion that the present inequities are not simply a matter of degree nor accident, but are composed of monstrous structures rooted in fundamental attitudes in men of power and prejudice.

The treatment and conditions experienced by Mexican workers are of tragic and sometimes ironic, as the following points strongly illustrate.

Mexican workers without visas pay more taxes than all other residents or workers on the basis of the amount of taxes earned. This is due to the fact that the U.S. Internal Revenue Service fixed the amount of taxes due by Mexican workers without visas the right of legal and illegal residents, despite their legitimate dependents such as spouses, children-parents and younger brothers and sisters, who have much less chance to find American citizens or permanent residents. These groups are even more heavily taxed and to pay taxes as if they were all single.

Mexican workers without visas cannot collect unemployment insurance benefits or social security payments which they have paid for these benefits through the regular, weekly payroll deductions. They are denied these benefits when they need them most, for these benefits are needed for the poorest pay and the hard and long hours for the poorest.

In a span of two weeks, April 14-26, 1975, Notre Dame organizations hosted leaders of national significance for the growth in religious, culture, politics and social actions. They were chosen without the Cynthia tragic and sometimes ironic, as the following points strongly illustrate.

The Bishops took a strong position and sent a message to the Chicano Bishops. The message was strongly supported and endorsed by the Chicano Bishops. The message was strongly supported and endorsed by the Chicano Bishops.

Robert Sanchez Bishop Patrick Flores Bishop Gilbert Chavez

The Bishops were supported by the United Mexican American Congress. The message was strongly supported and endorsed by the Chicano Bishops. The message was strongly supported and endorsed by the Chicano Bishops.

the time. Armando knew that Notre Dame was a Catholic institution. He knew he would be able to identify with the poverty and discrimination of the Irish background as well as the religion of Notre Dame, both much inferior to what he was used to. He also wondered about whether he would be able to fit in and make friends. He was not a Cubano, and therefore he was not a Cubano. He was not a Chicano, but he had been raised in the same culture. He did not know how to speak English, and his only job experience had been in a grocery store in a very poor neighborhood.

Six years later, MECHA has much to show for all her hard work. In 1963, the University of Chicago and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee had started a new organization: MECHA (Multicultural Educational & Community Advocates). MECHA is a Chicano student organization that has been active on the Notre Dame campus since 1969. Its main purpose has been to recruit more Chicano students to Notre Dame.

MECHA has achieved several goals since it was founded. One of its most significant goals has been to help Chicano students become more involved in campus activities and organizations. Through the years, MECHA has worked hard to make the University of Notre Dame more welcoming and inclusive for Chicano students.

MECHA has been successful in recruiting more Chicano students to the University. In fact, the number of Chicano students enrolled at Notre Dame has more than doubled in the past two years. This is a testament to MECHA's efforts in recruiting Chicano students to the University.

Despite these successes, however, there are still many challenges facing MECHA and other Chicano organizations on the campus of Notre Dame. Students still face discrimination and bias, and there is a lack of representation and recognition of Chicano culture.

But MECHA remains committed to its mission. They continue to work hard to make the University of Notre Dame a more inclusive and welcoming place for Chicano students. They believe that education is the key to changing society, and they are committed to helping Chicano students achieve their goals.

In conclusion, MECHA has made significant progress in recruiting Chicano students to the University of Notre Dame. However, there is still much work to be done to make the University a truly inclusive and welcoming place for all students. MECHA remains committed to its mission and continues to work hard to make a difference.

SLC And Parietals

Yesterday's SLC meeting, the last of the year, appropriately capitalized the frustration and promise that have simultaneously gripped that body all year.

First, the frustration. In recom- mending only half of Ed Byrne's parietals proposal to the Board of Trustees, the SLC provided only shadow arguments to retain the parietals' deadline at midnight. The SLC voted to extend visitation hours in the morning from noon to 11 a.m., but rejected Bry- ne's proposal to extend hours from midnight to 1 a.m.

In rejecting the 1 a.m. curfew, the SLC expressed the fear that any parietals change would adversely affect the sleeping habits of students. By having members of the opposite sex in rooms after midnight, students would create more noise and make life less confortable for other students. Alertness in early morning classes would be im- paired.

If the SLC were really concerned about keeping quiet in the halls at night, they should have debated hall "Quiet Hours." And not the time members of the opposite sex should be allowed to visit. B.B.S., the noise level at nights is usually caused by individuals of the same sex, not visitors.

Although the Byrne proposal would have changed very little of substance on the parietals question, it did demonstrate that there exists as much justification for a midnight curfew as for a 1 1 a.m. curfew. When the promise.

Student Govern- ment has produced a program of Judicial Boards to help decide cases involving parietals regulations, and for mulation of hall policies. By creating standards for all halls to follow, Ed Byrne and Judicial Coordinator John Lansberg hope to revive a part of the judicial system that has been shuffling aside or usurped by the individual hall rector.

The Japan Program

An analysis of the recent Japan program controversy shows that a number of misconceptions surround not only that program, but all of the Foreign Studies programs.

The Japan program range from "a High School with ash trays" to "excellent" to "students just wishing to travel on University time." Exactly what the status of the program is, in comparison to an American educational experience is vague, if not totally unknown.

What is needed is a type of an annual evaluation booklet, something like the course evaluations done here, for the various Foreign Programs.

The booklet should not only cover the courses and the educational opportunities abroad, but the variety and quality of the experiences of living in the different cultures. The main body of material should be done by students who have recently returned from the program, and are willing to devote time and energy to giving a true portrait of their experiences.

Such a booklet would be an invaluable service to the students involved in the Foreign Program and for the Ad- ministrators of the Program.

Will Who Answer?

Stephen K. Judge

Several months ago I wrote a letter to the editor explaining why I was opposed to an unconditional amnesty. I now am forced to retract that view. As far as I am concerned they can all return. I don't expect a single apology. I cannot say I believe in what they did but I cannot find any reason for singling out one group as a scapegoat for our nation's humiliation in Southeast Asia. I can remember a time when there was a thing called "personal responsibility." I think that there was something called it. To explain it simply, it meant that if you were wrong you admitted it and took the blame. And if, on the other hand you were right, you stood up for what you believed no matter what the consequences. This sort of Gary Cooper psychology has always been a part of the American myth and I hold it for far more years. To a great extent I still do. Unfortunately, the moral problems of Vietnam and Watergate have largely damaged this principle. What becomes of personal responsibility now? Our nation had no choice but to drop from the sky with 110 million in our gold and blame us.
alice cooper who sleeps with his nine iron

Alice Cooper* Isn’t he that madman of freak-glitter rock who parades around on stage with snakes and guillotines and other tools of sensationalism? Well, yeah. But Alice Cooper-Vince Furnier, the dichotomy between performer and man behind the performer is surrounded by the fantasies of those who refuse to believe. And to the way one views with Alice Cooper began... "People may think it’s been a long thing,” stated Alice-Vince, “I could bring a half inch worm on stage and by the time it got to the press it would be a nine foot python. "I never killed a chicken on stage, that’s just one of many rumors that start somewhere. First of all I hate glitter rock. I don’t know who made that up. I don’t even like shock rock.

This is the first time there has been a real Buzzy Berkeley rock musical I’ve ever seen. Our last show, the Billion Dollar Apple tour was an enormous production show. It was a rock burlesque show and I was there. But I’d say it took about three times as much time doing that tour. It was a big party on the stage.

"This show is the same type of thing, except for the fact that this is done with more personal involvement. This is Steven’s nightmare. Steven is this character that I play on stage.

"Everything in his room that he was secure with, his toys and toy box. If you wake up in the middle of a nightmare, and anything can happen in a nightmare.

"Steven wakes up in the middle of his nightmare and his clothes are all ragged and he has this makeup on. His bed has turned into this great big green Gargoyle thing, with all these things out of his nightmare hanging all over.

"Suddenly his toy box opens and all his terrors are demons and they’re his size. And the demons chase him all over stage. Steven had to cope with everything he was secure with before he went to sleep.

"And he wakes up and the whole show is done in his nightmare. And that’s the concept of the show. It’s really fun. The audience is taken when they see a cyclops on stage or an enormous spider web built on stage.

"I put myself in the audience’s place when I designed the show. If I were going to be paying about seven dollars to see a show and I’m an illusionist, what would I want to see?"

"I got together the best, David Winter’s who did West Side Story. We auditioned dancers, we handpicked Ihe musicians, and Joe Palmer. And he makes the songs more complicated things than I ever thought of."

"The audience never goes away without having seen something, never disappointed. At least when we come to town, it’s an event and I like that idea.

"Everyone makes up their own story about the show and that is part of it. I’m totally into fantasizing. If you took ten kids and asked them what happened on stage, you’d get ten different stories.

"And that’s good. It’s just working on the old imagination.”

The current Alice Cooper show will hit eighty cities for over eighty thousand dollars, more than anything.

"They called it rock music, but it's got to be so surrealism. Those Dali’s paintings surrealism. Those are the first rock musical, really the first one."

"This is Alice’s first nightm are show. I’d rather call it show-biz rock than rock music. And ‘Hair’ and Jesus Christ Superstar. It’s rock.

"I never liked the idea of calling a show anything. That says that if you do something creative, you can’t make money.

"We’re all talking about?"

"I love it, it’s got to be so complicated."

"I have it, it’s got to be so enormous for it to work. This is to my Nightmare as a musical, really the first rock musical, because that you think of it. Hair” and “Jesus Christ Superstar” were rock.

"They called it rock music, but it really wasn’t. It was more middle of the road. And ‘Tommy’ never went on the road as a production.

* I love sensationalism, but I don’t buy that Beatnick mentality that says that if you do something creative, you can’t make money.

"Because why not go out and do something you believe in.

"I walk up and stage and I have to perform. And do I walk around and look at my audience saying wow, that was the greatest thing I ever saw? And make fifty thousand dollars a show, but that isn’t that what we’re all talking about?

"I’m not going out and presenting myself. I know I’m doing a better show than even expected; that’s not out of age, but the show’s good historically. Carol Channing saw the show the other night and said it should be on Broadway.

"When Alice Cooper comes to town, it’s like the circus. It’s a once a year event, like Halloween. The audience never goes away without having seen something, never disappointed. At least when we come to town, it’s an event and I like that idea.

Final evacuation from Saigon begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United States began the final evacuation of Americans from Saigon Tuesday, ending two decades of direct U.S. involvement in South Vietnam.

Helicopters and buses carried Americans to pre-arranged evacuation points. Viet Cong commandos withdrew from the base's perimeter, allowing American troops to land.

Military sources said the exit of American forces was the last of several indications since last Thursday that the American base was secure.

Committee approves gasoline tax increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee approved Monday a gasoline tax increase starting at three cents a gallon but rising to 21 cents if Americans don't reduce gasoline consumption.

The decision was tentative until mandated by Congress, but comprehensive energy tax bill. The latest version of the gasoline tax provision was more complex than an earlier proposal to impose a three-cent tax increase in early 1977 if gasoline use did not drop.

The jump would have been triggered if gasoline consumption was up in 1976 by 3 to 4 per cent over 1973, motorists would pay the maximum tax, 21 cents.

The committee is also working on provisions that would put motorists in gallons of gas a month without the excess-use tax. Some credits available.

Leading economic indicators drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An index that foreshadows future economic trends fell again in March but a top government economist said Monday this doesn't change the outlook for an early end to the recession.

The Commerce Department announced its 13th of Leading Economic Indicators dropped 0.3 percent last month, the seventh decline in the last eight months.

The index rebounded 0.6 percent in February but this has been the only increase since August.

Assistant Commerce Secretary James L. Pate said neither the present nor downward movement means very much.

"The present index has very limited significance," Pate said. "It's not a very reliable indicator." Thus, he said, is because many of the 12 indicators that comprise the composite index are based on price movements.

This tends to distort the index when inflation is unusually heavy, such as has occurred for the past two years.

As a remedy, the department will publish a revised index in May, replacing many of the price indicators with a series that measure volume of production.

Pate added that the March decline is "not inconsistent with bottoming out" (of the recession) in the second quarter and recovery in the second half of the year.

Most economists predict a similar scenario and are at odds only over whether the recovery will be sustained or whether the economy will shoot ahead and then slump again in 1976.

Under normal conditions, an upturn in the index while the overall economy was sagging, would indicate better times ahead.

However, a one-month rise, such as February's, can be a false alarm, and economists

James Earl Ray offers new alibi in King case

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) - James Earl Ray claims he was driving south through Mississippi New Year when he heard Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had been killed, a Nashville newspaper reported Monday.

The Nashville Banner reported, however, that Ray, convicted last year of murder and later acquitted in an interview that he purchased the rifle used in the assassination of the civil rights leader, and admitted to being in the Memphis, Tenn., rooming house from which the fatal shot was fired in 1968, as King stood on the balcony of a motel.

But Hay claimed in the newspaper that he left the rooming house at least an hour before King was slain.

Hay, who is currently serving a 99-year prison term, told the Banner that he did not become involved in smuggling across the border until he heard on his car radio that authorities were looking for a white Mustang, the same kind of car he was driving through Mississippi.

He said he had been involved in smuggling across the borders between Canada and the United States and the U.S. and Mexico, "the newspaper said.

"We'd put the packages inside tires and just drive across the border," Ray was quoted as saying. "If you caught the [border] agents a dollar or two, they'd let you go right on through."

"I decided to go on to Atlanta then instead of New Orleans," the newspaper quoted Ray as saying. "I knew if I was trouble if they stopped the car I was in.

The Runner quoted Ray as saying he pleaded guilty to King's murder to save relations with attorney Percy Foreman, and because he thought he could present enough new evidence "within about a year" to win a new trial.

A petition filed by Ray for a new trial was rejected earlier this year by a Memphis U.S. District Court, and is now on appeal in the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. The petition claims Hay was coerced into pleading guilty by his attorneys and therefore did not receive a fair trial.

The Runner said Hay indicated he was in Memphis in connection with a smuggling operation that may have involved drugs or counterfeit money.

LaCrosse club beats Hillsdale 15-6

by Greg Bang

In LaCrosse circles, the Hillsdale College lacrosse season is better known as spring training for the football team. This year’s team possesses a few good stickhandlers, a few big men and an abundance of interior linemen who seem to be putting the ball away with a good hit. This leads to a rough game with a lot of penalties. If penalties mean to describe the affair in a game. Hillsdale would’ve won Sunday morning 3-1 with LaCrosse club 16-13. Goal wise, it was another story as the Irish took it in their hard-hitting opponents 12-4.

Rich Carson scored the first two goals in what was to be an 11 point first half for Coach Dick Leary’s stickmen. Both of Carson’s unassisted goals came in the first three minutes of the game. Kevin Figgerty would score 5 out of the next 5 Irish goals off of feeds from Bob Thibodeau. Joe Meares and N.D. senior Don Martin would also be responsible for the other half of Hillsdale scores, as Martin picked up 3 and Ernest one. The four remaining ND goals were scored by Figgerty, Carson and Jay Williams. Williams once again had a good day facing off and fighting from inside as he and N.D. goalie Jim Scarola also performed exceptionally.

The club will finish out its 75 year history of lacrosse this coming Sunday. The “A” team will meet Purdue representative Paul Rizzo feed. Martin and Figgerty next weekend will be played on the fields behind Stepan, according to LaCrosse club and no charge and everyone is invited.

He then coached at Western and Eastern Michigan, the Continental Indoor Lacrosse League, and the World Professional League, before taking over as head coach at Notre Dame.

Johnson was extremely happy with the job that his 'Devine' has done as both an assistant coach and, you could say, a school’s athletic director. "It's a great atmosphere to raise a family in and like it."" Johnson points to the Irish's national image as it's distinguishing characteristic in the college lacrosse field.

'There's a wide scope,' he says. "Most schools have young kids on a good section of the country, but Notre Dame has much more national appeal.'

Duffy is handling the specialty teams for Devine and is happy with his experience at the Notre Dame. "I've been satisfied," he says. "Like coaching, the kids are very dedicated, and there's a fine football tradition here. I'm very eager for the fall and the regular season this year."

Trying to maintain a tradition is also a great responsibility you've got to be able to handle pressure to do a good job, and you've got to be able to live with the job, and you've got to be able to handle a team in a very dedicated, and there's a fine football tradition here. The "A" team will meet Purdue representative Paul Rizzo feed. Martin and Figgerty next weekend will be played on the fields behind Stepan, according to LaCrosse club and no charge and everyone is invited.
New coaches feeling at home

When you move into a new neighborhood or town, it's tough to bring some old friends with you. Ask John Devine. He did it, and it seems to be working out just fine.

Ushering in his new regime as Notre Dame football Coach, Devine is undaunted by his four new assistant coaches, seven veteran assistants, southern gentlemen with a down home-simplicity that is refreshing, and a tough, determined coaching attitude that is encouraging.

Not on the blackboard with Devine, are Hank Kuhlman, offensive backfield coach, Johnny Rodland, receivers coach, Mervin Johnson, offensive coordinator, and Ed Hol oste, specialty team coach. All but Hol oste have worked for Devine, and all are happy to be working with him now.

Rodland is probably the best known of the new ND coaches, having made a name for himself in the pro ranks. He played for Devine at Missouri, graduating in 1966 and moving on to the St. Louis Cardinals for 7 years. He had a year with the New York Giants and last year returned to work with Devine in Green Bay.

John says he is satisfied with his decision to return to the college level here at Notre Dame. "Every time I look at it," he says, "it's been a long time since I've been on a college campus, and there's something about coaching in a matter of teaching, on any level. They are three of old friends, and I may be receptive to more than a professional.

Perhaps one of the reasons for Rodland's satisfaction is his belief that the style of football he thinks is something special. "I don't think they can teach us coaching," he says, "it's something that can begin to touch Notre Dame as far as national appeal goes." says Rodland. "It's like a mystique, with the subway alumni, the fans and the players. If you first look at it and say, what is it that makes this place so great? But it's just the people.

On the field, Rodland is the receiver coach, and has an added responsibility to the players on and off the field and is ready to help in any aspect of their collegiate lives.

Kuhlman is having lived in South Africa since 1937 and likes the community and the people. He is married and has one son, and enjoys working with coach Devine and the people he is associated with.
