name to enter into your consideration for the upcoming vice-president elections. Rockefeller said in a letter delivered personally to Ford.

Over the weekend, Rockefeller announced himself happy and optimistic about the outlook for the administration, for U.S. foreign policy and national security, for the campaign, and for his election to a full term in the White House. The broadcast was televised. White House news conference, Ford said repeatedly that his shakeup at the top of the Pentagon, the Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Council was designed to install his own people. "the individuals that I want to work with very, very intimately," and not to satisfy anybody else.

On a day of overhaul for the administration, Ford announced that Elliot L. Richardson, now U.S. attorney-general, would become his secretary of Commerce. He is presently preparing for the World Council of Churches meeting this year for 19 Russian church leaders, action, he added, by challenging corporations to play fair in dealings difficult for the Church to handle. The consumer must take the social visit Wise disagrees. "While color blindness is in the way of some minority, it denies who gets in this country. The Supreme Court tried for 10 years. It was obvious to the Civil Rights: The Right to Economic Security.

Rice is an author of four books on constitutional law and is recognized as the leading authority on the subject.

He is a graduate of Holy Cross College, Boston College and New York University.

Rice said the ideal system is one where the student picks the school he wishes to attend. This system would facilitate the primary responsibility of the parent and would get away from racism, explained Rice.

Rice was appointed by President Ford yesterday officially confirmed reports of a re-shuffling in his administration. (Photo by Chris Smith)
Students teach retarded: use Logan Center gym

The St. Mary's basketball team which practices in various places in South Bend lost the use of the Logan Center gym for one night a week.

In the form of payment, the team has agreed to spend about 1 1/2 hours a week teaching the center's residents, retarded children, the fundamentals of basketball.

Athletic Director Steve Vering explained the trade,"WE NEEDED A GYM. They didn't want to charge us, so we came up with this solution," he said.

All of us really thought it was a great idea—we'd much rather help some kids than just pay the center for the use of the gym," Vering added.

Logan Center Director Bill Lockman confirmed it's a challenge for the girls and it's a great help to us. It gives us the opportunity to give more personal attention to the children.

"It's a plus for us, and to have someone actually involved in the sport teaching adds beauty to the children's appreciation for the sport. I think this helps the volunteers to build confidence, too," said.

Mary's lost their gymnasium earlier this year when Angela Hall, built in 1902 to house commencement exercises, was knocked down.

The college is presently raising money to build a sports and recreation facility. In the meantime, however, more varsity and intramural teams are forced to play in the Regina Hall Student Lounge.

Teach English

Students tutor refugees

by Marty Hogan

Staff Reporter

St. Mary's Campus Ministry and the South Bend Catholic Social Services are directing a tutoring program for 25 Vietnamese families who have lived in the South Bend area since August.

St. Mary's student volunteers were assigned to a specific family to tutor once a week. Some of the adults take English classes at the South Bend campus of Indiana University; the tutors help them "to pronounce words and understand them at the same time," said Annette Jenkins, a St. Mary's tutor.

The tutors also help the children, who are enrolled in area Catholic schools, with their homework.

"The kids are doing surprisingly well for being thrown into a new school where they have to learn a new language," said Linda Tempel, another St. Mary's tutor.

Some of the families have a broader background in the language than others.

"Only use member of the family I tutor speaks any English," said Jenkins, "and he has to translate to the rest of the family.

However, Tempel said, "The mother and father of the family I tutor speak pretty good English." "The kids haven't answered in a complete sentence yet, but some of them have only been speaking English, she added.

Lack of members of the family however, are unwilling to learn the language.

"The grandmother refuses to learn English," Jenkins said. "She is in her room or in the kitchen but won't participate. It's frustrating, but you feel so good," said Jenkins. "Last week when we left, they told us "Thank you for coming."" She really appreciate it," she noted.

Tempel commented, "It's a great personal experience." She also emphasized, "The family really appreciates you." The families are sponsored by Catholic churches in the area.

"These churches pay the rent and supply money and transportation for the families," said Jenkins.

The Catholic Social Services, which is in charge of placing families, also locates jobs for the families.

Opening night nearing for SMC choral groups

by Maureen Flynn

The College Choir and the Women's Choruses of the College will give their first public performance of the 1975-76 academic year Thurs., Nov. 6, at 8 p.m. in O'Laughlin Auditorium.

The annual Fall Choral Concert will consist of music from the 18th to the 18th centuries and will include a variety of choral music, ranging from a Bach Motet to Negro spirituals.

The singers will perform works by Henry Lau, Orlando di Lasso, J.S. Bach, Mebcir Franck, Felix Mendelssohn, Aron Copland, and Leonard Bernstein.

Rick Stubley, instructor in music, will conduct both choral groups. He earned his Master of Science degree in music education from the University of Illinois in 1972. Before joining the St. Mary's College faculty this fall, he taught for three years in the Illinois public school system.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Music Educator's National Conference, and the American Choral Directors Association.

The College Choir includes 60 male and female voices. The choir has toured Europe twice and last year made a tour of the southeastern United States.

The Women's Chorus is a group of 60 women from Saint Mary's. Both groups perform several concerts annually at civic and social functions throughout Indiana.

The Fall Choral Concert is open to the public free of charge.

The observer

Night Editor: Bob Brink
Asst. Night Editor: Maureen Flynn
Layout Staff: Ken Bradford, Al Rutherford
Day Editor: Don Reimer
Copy Reader: Kathy Mills
Editorials: Val Zurbitz, Sports: Bill Brisk, Ernie Torriero
Typists: Mary Tobin, Colleen Hoyle, Hadie Hoyle
Compositor: Chip Spina
Night Controller: Dave Rust

The Observer is published Monday through Friday and weekly during the summer session, excepting holidays. It is published by the Student publications, Inc., a corporation of students.

The Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.

The Observer's full statement regarding solicitation for subscriptions for $10 per year; (1) each copy of the Observer is published by the Students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College.
Nemeth favored in South Bend mayor race

By Kathy Mills
Senior Staff Reporter

Heavily-favored Democrat Peter J. Nemeth will face John P. Slafkosky in the independent Republican Robert J. Kroner's campaign

Municipal elections today

Publicity to his opponents.

Meeting poorly attended

Nemeth has been a city

councilman since 1971. He defeated Mayor Jerry J. Miller in the April Democratic primary. Kroner

Kroner lost unsuccessfully in the Democratic primary.

Meeting poorly attended

Meeting poorly attended

Food co-op benefits explained

Meeting poorly attended

Food co-op benefits explained

Municipal elections today

South Bend mayor race

Nemeth favored in South Bend mayor race

By Kathy Mills
Senior Staff Reporter

Heavily-favored Democrat Peter J. Nemeth will face John P. Slafkosky in the independent Republican Robert J. Kroner's campaign

Municipal elections today

Publicity to his opponents.

Meeting poorly attended

Nemeth has been a city

councilman since 1971. He defeated Mayor Jerry J. Miller in the April Democratic primary. Kroner

Kroner lost unsuccessfully in the Democratic primary.

Meeting poorly attended

Meeting poorly attended

Food co-op benefits explained

Meeting poorly attended

Food co-op benefits explained

Municipal elections today

South Bend mayor race

Nemeth favored in South Bend mayor race

By Kathy Mills
Senior Staff Reporter

Heavily-favored Democrat Peter J. Nemeth will face John P. Slafkosky in the independent Republican Robert J. Kroner's campaign

Municipal elections today

Publicity to his opponents.

Meeting poorly attended

Nemeth has been a city

councilman since 1971. He defeated Mayor Jerry J. Miller in the April Democratic primary. Kroner

Kroner lost unsuccessfully in the Democratic primary.

Meeting poorly attended

Meeting poorly attended

Food co-op benefits explained

Meeting poorly attended

Food co-op benefits explained
"They won't allow us to join here — let's go over to the Little League.

Views

In Thursday's Observer, Joe Corporea wrote an article entitled "Abortion and Women's Lib," to which I would like to respond with a note on the recent publicity given to Corpora's work. In an article entitled "Statements about Corpora's many students' judicious abortion," the author comments on what was said, not to the personalities of the individuals involved.

The article in question was that a book entitled "Abortion and Women's Lib" was published. As stated in the article, "Women who agree to such treatment, is the comment on what was said, not to the personalities of the individuals involved.

The author suggests that the various aspects of abortion — women's lib issue pointed out in Corpora's article — could be broadened and consequently make for a more encompassing discussion of the problem.

The essential ideas in the article were that abortion exploits women; that by submitting to abortion, and using the pill and the abortion, and using the pill and the pill and the pill, all mature and intelligent decisions are made.

What I find immediately disturbing about our discussion is that they neglect to include a large portion of the population, and consequently fail to agree with the facts. The author of which I speak is composed of those adults, men and women, who have made the fact and intelligent decision to avoid an unwanted conception, a large and intelligent decision to avoid an unwanted conception.

I agree with the author's views that the apparent reason for what is written in the article is that they neglect to include a large portion of the population, and consequently fail to agree with the facts. The author of which I speak is composed of those adults, men and women, who have made the fact and intelligent decision to avoid an unwanted conception, a large and intelligent decision to avoid an unwanted conception.

I do not feel it is incorrect to think that men are proposing legalizing abortion in order to facilitate their sexual escapades and promote their emotional immaturity. Nor do I feel it is valid to presume that men are freeing themselves of responsibility for their partners by allowing the woman to practice contraception.

Tom Johnson

Extraordinary Means

Dear Editor:

In the October 30th article on the Quinlain case, I quoted as to do so and they have even in sustained Karen Quinlain's life have a determination that the Quinlains' pastor and the bishop of their diocese to be "extraordinary means" in the meaning of the Church teaching that extraordinary means cannot be used to sustain life. The article then quoted me as saying, "In that case I would be in favor of turning off the machine." I recommend it because I apparently did not make myself sufficiently clear in the oral interview with the reporter.

The means used to support Karen Quinlain's life are extraordinary. It is permissible but not mandatory that the Quinlains' pastor and the bishop of their diocese to be "extraordinary means" in the meaning of the Church teaching that extraordinary means cannot be used to sustain life.

The legal issue arises because the mother of Karen Quinlain has the discretion to withdraw the support measures to be withdrawn in the absence of court permission and not to have the discretion to discontinue the support. The case is a very narrow one, involving the capacity of a medical judgement as to the discontinuance of morally extraneous extraneous means in a hopeless case where the patient himself is not giving consent.

Cosmic issues such as the constitutional right to die, freedom of religion, etc., are not necessary to be decided at the trial or appellate level on broad grounds, involving the "right to die." Any broadly written opinion in the case would be certain to be seized upon by those who favor the legalizability of active euthanasia or who favor passive euthanasia thru the withholding of ordinary as opposed to extraordinary means. They would be aided by the media which have presented a distorted and sensationalized picture of the case.

The best thing that could happen at this stage would be for the judge to decide against the Quinlains and for no appeal to be taken.

Incidently, the Quinlains' attorneys, Paul Armstrong and James Crowley, are 1972 graduates of the Notre Dame Law School. They are highly competent and ethical attorneys. They are doing a commendable job under very difficult circumstances.

Charles E. Rice

Professor of Law

Abortion

The notion I make is that the notion of the aggressive man dominated sexual relationships.

What I find immediately disturbing about our discussion is that they neglect to include a large portion of the population, and consequently fail to agree with the facts. The author of which I speak is composed of those adults, men and women, who have made the fact and intelligent decision to avoid an unwanted conception.

I do not feel it is incorrect to think that men are proposing legalizing abortion in order to facilitate their sexual escapades and promote their emotional immaturity. Nor do I feel it is valid to presume that men are freeing themselves of responsibility for their partners by allowing the woman to practice contraception.

Tom Johnson

Extraordinary Means

Dear Editor:

In the October 30th article on the Quinlain case, I quoted as to do so and they have even in sustained Karen Quinlain's life have a determination that the Quinlains' pastor and the bishop of their diocese to be "extraordinary means" in the meaning of the Church teaching that extraordinary means cannot be used to sustain life. The article then quoted me as saying, "In that case I would be in favor of turning off the machine." I recommend it because I apparently did not make myself sufficiently clear in the oral interview with the reporter.

The means used to support Karen Quinlain's life are extraordinary. It is permissible but not mandatory that the Quinlains' pastor and the bishop of their diocese to be "extraordinary means" in the meaning of the Church teaching that extraordinary means cannot be used to sustain life.

The legal issue arises because the mother of Karen Quinlain has the discretion to withdraw the support measures to be withdrawn in the absence of court permission and not to have the discretion to discontinue the support. The case is a very narrow one, involving the capacity of a medical judgement as to the discontinuance of morally extraneous extraneous means in a hopeless case where the patient himself is not giving consent.

Cosmic issues such as the constitutional right to die, freedom of religion, etc., are not necessary to be decided at the trial or appellate level on broad grounds, involving the "right to die." Any broadly written opinion in the case would be certain to be seized upon by those who favor the legalizability of active euthanasia or who favor passive euthanasia thru the withholding of ordinary as opposed to extraordinary means. They would be aided by the media which have presented a distorted and sensationalized picture of the case.

The best thing that could happen at this stage would be for the judge to decide against the Quinlains and for no appeal to be taken.

Incidently, the Quinlains' attorneys, Paul Armstrong and James Crowley, are 1972 graduates of the Notre Dame Law School. They are highly competent and ethical attorneys. They are doing a commendable job under very difficult circumstances.

Charles E. Rice

Professor of Law

Abortion

The notion I make is that the notion of the aggressive man dominated sexual relationships.

What I find immediately disturbing about our discussion is that they neglect to include a large portion of the population, and consequently fail to agree with the facts. The author of which I speak is composed of those adults, men and women, who have made the fact and intelligent decision to avoid an unwanted conception.

I do not feel it is incorrect to think that men are proposing legalizing abortion in order to facilitate their sexual escapades and promote their emotional immaturity. Nor do I feel it is valid to presume that men are freeing themselves of responsibility for their partners by allowing the woman to practice contraception.

Tom Johnson
Internal feud shakes Bangladesh

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The military-backed Bangladeshi government was shaken by an internal army feud Monday, but Khaleda Zia Musharraf remained as president although many of the officers who brought him to power Aug. 15 were believed arrested, diplomatic sources in New Delhi said.

They discounted an Indian news report that Musharraf Ahmed had been replaced by Brig. Khalid Musharraf, the No. 2 man in the army, and said it was possible that Musharraf would play an important role as one of the main powers behind the government.

According to diplomatic reports from Dacca, the day-long developments revolved around a single mission of senior army officers reasserting their influence over junior officers who overthrew and killed President Mujibur Rahman three months ago.

The reports, which said there was no bloodshed and no shots fired throughout the day, indicated that seven majors and one colonel who led the Aug. 15 coup were believed to have been taken into custody after lengthy negotiations between the feuding factions.

Also reported arrested was the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Ziaur Rahman, who had resisted earlier demands from senior officers that the majors be brought before a court martial for having killed Sheikh Mujib and members of his family.

The key junior officers involved in the coup had lived in the presidential palace since Musharraf took over as head of government.

Monday's developments began, according to diplomatic sources, before dawn when units loyal to the senior officers took up positions around strategic points in Dacca, including the presidential palace.

At the same time, the state radio went off the air, Dacca airport was closed and international communications were severed.

Radio Bangladesh resumed its broadcasts in the evening, more than 12 hours after its normal opening time, but gave no immediate indication of who controlled the government.

The radio mentioned no names of government leaders in its first four hours of resumed transmission.

It broadcast Bengali nationalism songs, and in its initial newscast made no reference to domestic political developments.

Indian intelligence sources, however, reported that many government leaders in its first four hours of resumed transmission.

Internal feud shakes Bangladesh

The government in New Delhi, while there were variations, the answer always came down to the single mission of senior army officers reasserting their influence over junior officers who overthrew and killed President Mujibur Rahman three months ago.

The reports, which said there was no bloodshed and no shots fired throughout the day, indicated that seven majors and one colonel who led the Aug. 15 coup were believed to have been taken into custody after lengthy negotiations between the feuding factions.

Also reported arrested was the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Ziaur Rahman, who had resisted earlier demands from senior officers that the majors be brought before a court martial for having killed Sheikh Mujib and members of his family.

The key junior officers involved in the coup had lived in the presidential palace since Musharraf took over as head of government.

Monday's developments began, according to diplomatic sources, before dawn when units loyal to the senior officers took up positions around strategic points in Dacca, including the presidential palace.

At the same time, the state radio went off the air, Dacca airport was closed and international communications were severed.

Radio Bangladesh resumed its broadcasts in the evening, more than 12 hours after its normal opening time, but gave no immediate indication of who controlled the government. The radio mentioned no names of government leaders in its first four hours of resumed transmission.

It broadcast Bengali nationalism songs, and in its initial newscast made no reference to domestic political developments.

Indian intelligence sources, however, reported that many government leaders...
Some pre-meds use ‘cut-throat’ techniques

by Pat Cuneo
Staff Reporter

For many students, being acccepted to medical school becomes a rat race that produces anxiety, tension and sometimes ulcers, an obsession with grades rather than learning, according to Alton Blakeslee, an associate professor in the science writing department at the University of Chicago.

Blakeslee recently conducted a survey of pre-med programs in major universities.

"Some turn to grinds with the single goal of getting into med school and little interest in the broad world around them," he noted.

Some cheat on exams. And some sabotage fellow students to win a higher relative grade," Blakeslee said.

He described competition for medical school as fierce since 43,000 men and women applied for only 14,303 places in the 114 United States medical schools last year.

Of the 180 pre-professional students from Notre Dame who applied to medical school last year, 24, he said, were accepted.

Blakeslee did not touch on the reasons for the limited number of spaces in medical schools, but several doctors have accused the American Medical Association (AMA) of keeping the medical profession high and dry.

Various physicians elaborated by saying the AMA does this in order to maintain a high demand of physicians and therefore insure top financial benefits.

Low percentage accepted

Whatever the reasons may be, at present only one out of every three pre-med majors will enter medical school compared to the one to two ratio of five years ago.

The Associated Press survey turned up a number of reported instances of student cheating and sabotaging of fellow students' lab experiments and notebooks to eliminate those students from the competitive field.

Medical school admissions committees and other doctors say they explore such unethical conduct and criticism, but the guilty are rarely caught.

Dr. Albert Gellhorn, director of the office for Biomedical Education at City College of New York, recently attended a conference on undergraduate education at the University of Pennsylvania.

At this conference, pre-med students from several universities told him, "We cheat. We try to give wrong information to our colleagues. We take books from the medical libraries and destroy parts of them."

They added, "We don't share information. We sabotage others' chemistry experiments."

"Cut-throat" competition

Gellhorn said that things have become worse since, and termed the present situation "a real cut-throat thing."

"One of the most destructive things is the emphasis on high performance in organic chemistry, which the practicing doctor rarely uses anyhow," said Gellhorn. "It is just a tough screening course."

Up to five years ago, virtually every really well-qualified student did get into med school, said Dr.
Joseph J. Cechiall, dean of, students, division of biomedical sciences at the Pritzker School of Medicine at the University of Chicago.

Describing current conditions, he said, "There is tremendous anxiety, and this is reflected in their (pre-med students') behavior. Sometimes they do things they would not think of otherwise."

"I repeatedly tell them, you don't have to have straight A's to get into medical school," he added.

Blakeslee's opinion poll also noted, "Students who were not premeds, but going to become dentists, were not tampered with.
It was all done with the attitude
"You might be the one who keeps ME out of med school."

Problems at ND

In relation to similar actions at Notre Dame, most students admit the problems of cheating and sabotage are inevitable since it is so difficult to reach med school.

One Arts and Letters student noted, "Some cheat on exam s. And we all know who they are.
Colleagues. We take books from dorms. We do everything we can to stay open!

"Some students stated the problem lies with the limited number of students accepted into med school when more doctors are needed and evidently more people are interested in the medical field.
One student declared, 'What's the use in dealing with the effects of a problem when you can't even get near the source—the AMA.'

"I sold my Leisure Suit through the Observer classifieds!"

S E L L  I T  I N
THE CLASSIFIEDS
- THEY GET RESULTS
10,000 people in the N.D.
community reached daily

Tony Disney presents

'THE SERVANT'
Screenplay by Harold Pinter
8 Tuesday and Wednesday Nov. 4 - 5
10 PM Engineering Auditorium

THE PAN PIZZA PARLOR
The only authentic Italian
Deep Dish Pizza.
watch our ads all this week for an event that you won't believe (Save our valuable coupons.)
277-1221 or 277-1222
for Free Delivery
ANYWHERE ON CAMPUS

A GIFT OF DISTINCTION FOR CHRISTMAS OR FOR ANY OTHER SPECIAL OCCASION . . . . . . . . . . .
FAMILY, ALUMNI, OR SWEETHEARTS.

But by now, these handsome college scenes—skillfully hand-painted in oils on the reverse side of glass—have become an American tradition. Each and every painting is designed to become a unique and cherished heirloom.
With over 1500 scenes to choose from, it is more than likely that your school is included in our growing list. Visit our store or give us a call, we cannot think of a better gift for your favorite graduates—or their dads—at this time of year. Allow ten days for delivery.
Case said she had suffered a tension than at any time since the tensions rose higher in Argentina. Peron had a gall bladder problem, but private doctors close to the couple said she had suffered a nervous attack.

A Peronist congressional assistant said that tensions rose higher in Argentina when the late Juan D. Peron's movement in May 1973. Mrs. Peron became president on the death of her husband.

The 44-year-old Mrs. Peron's political condition was considered serious, whatever the medical prognosis. She has been under heavy fire by disinterested Peronists and opposition politicians demanding

Huisking Chair donor, recipient to be recognized

The builder and the donor of the Charles L. Huisking Chair in Chemistry at the University of Notre Dame will be honored at a donor dinner, Nov. 7, in the Center for Culture and Education. Dr. Anthony M. Tuzolzo, who helped the University of Notre Dame faculty with the Center's staff of National Laboratories. He has been in involved in preparing the practical application of the organic photochemistry.

He has his doctorate from the University of Chicago and has received fellowships from the Museum of Science and the National Science Foundation. That same year, he announced, in 1971, was named for the founder of Charles L. Huisking, Inc., the parent company of Glyco Chemicals, Inc.

It is one of two endowed professorships given to Notre Dame by the Huisking Foundation, which also has supported a scholarship fund at the University since 1947.

Charles Huisking served 17 years as the Science and Engineering Advisory Council at Notre Dame. His son, William, is a member of the University's Science Advisory Council.

The Huisking family and members of the Science Advisory Council will be guests at the dinner.

Dining Room Randall's Inn

The Center for Chemistry in the Center for Culture and Education Continuing Education auditorium

---

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two-dollar bill is coming back next year after a 10-year lay off, but don't expect it to buy what it used to buy. Because of inflation, the new $2 bill will be worth only about the value of the two that were taken out of circulation in 1966.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon announced Monday that the new bill will be placed into circulation by the nation's banks next April 13, the 200th birthday of Thomas Jefferson. The new bill will be on the front of the bill, which is...
Regular IH season ends; playoffs on Wednesday

by Joe Sevirino

The interball football regular season ended yesterday with a 4 game slate. Alumni edg Sorin 7- 6. Flanner blanked Holy Cross 6-0. Stanford beat Cavanaugh 13-6 and Keenan won by forfeit from Zahm.

The South Quad championship will be decided Wednesday night at 9 when Pangborn (4-1-1) meets Dillon (4-1-1) at Cartier Field. The winner of that game will meet Keenan (6-0) for the championship holiday afternoon.

Alumni 7 Sorin 6

Sorin got on the scoreboard first as defensive back Rich Hobman picked off a pass and ran 51 yards for a touchdown. However, Sorin missed the extra-point.

The University of Michigan edged out the Nittany Lions 45-50 in the meet which was held at University Park, Pennsylvania. Penn State's Paul Stemmer covered the 5.3 mile course in 25:02 to finish first. Teammate George Malley placed second. Notre Dame's top performer was Steve Welch in 21st place as the Irish came in seventh among the thirteen teams that took part. Welch was followed by Jim Reinhard, 1st, Jim Hurt, 37th, Dennis Vanderkraats, 47th; and Joe Yates, 50th; for Notre Dame. Notre Dame now looks forward to preparing for the NCAA District 4 meet which is scheduled for November 15 in Bloomington, Indiana.

Bill Brink

The Irish Eye

Something to play for necessarily being for the national championship. It may not offer everybody what they would like, but it's something, and it's something respectable. This doesn't mean that Bauer's or the rest of the teams' standards are any lower than anyone else's, but their the only standards they have because they want to pass the season off as a flop.

This wouldn't have been hard to do considering the unique criterion by which Notre Dame football seasons are judged. Excellent anywhere else becomes mediocre here, a 500 season is a disaster. After the USC game the thinking was that four more victories would complete a fine season, but that one more defeat would certainly mean a poor one. By Notre Dame standards that is.

The campus reflected their adherence to these standards. After the loss to Green Col it lost some confidence in the team, and some of the spirit that accompanied it. The Irish were confronted Saturday by a tough team, and a student body whose allegiance had either slipped a little or been replaced. "After our performance last week against USC," said Bauer incredulously, not believing that anyone could fail to appreciate the desire and determination the Irish put into that game. He was on the field and knows the supreme effort of the Irish against the Trojans, but they didn't light it up on the field, and it wasn't taken into account by many. So though the Irish had nothing to prove to the students in the Navy game, by winning it, they did prove something.

What they proved was that they were winners. Even after a heartbreaking defeat, even with only six days and just 1.9 yards per carry, they were winners. The fact that they haven't been dynamic all season simply means they aren't a dynamic team. You have to go with what you have and hope it's good enough to win. If it isn't, then you have to accept it and go out and try again. Notre Dame did that Saturday afternoon.

They won the Navy game with defense, but if that's their strong point, then who can blame them for relying on it? "It'll be better second guessed for not opening up but win the game," said Dan Devine. Not that the Irish offense can afford to lie dormant for the rest of the season, but it is a credit to the team that should that happen, as in the Navy game, they can absorb it and still win the game.

"This week will be easier to get up for because it's the last home game," said Bauer, who will be playing his last game ever in Notre Dame Stadium. "I know it means a lot to me personally."