Sports changes also Administration restructured

Restructuring in the Administration and in the Athletic department has resulted in a number of changes in key University positions. In addition, several positions left open by retiring personnel have been filled.

In a move to strengthen the impact of its programs serving the Christian ministry, the University has announced the appointment of Magr. John J. Egan, director of its Center for Pastoral and Social Ministry, as special assistant to the president.

Egan will continue to supervise the activities of his own center, which now becomes a single agency of coordination for four other programs: the Murphy Center for Liturgical Research, the Notre Dame Marian Center for Education, the Center for Human Development, and the Religious Leaders Program.

As special assistant to Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh, University president, Egan will represent him in relationships with outside religious organizations. He will also supervise all non-University, Church-related groups which operate on the Notre Dame campus, and encourage fund-raising to sustain all collaborative efforts between the Church and the University.

Regan noted that the "un-merger" with Notre Dame sped up this process considerably.

Coad supervisor praised
Notre Dame Miriam Jones, who joined the University Provost's office in 1972 to supervise the changeover to coeducation on the undergraduate level, has been named assistant provost.

She succeeds Dr. William M. Burke, professor emeritus of English, who is retiring. Burke will remain in the provost's office on a part-time basis.

Fr. James T. Burtchard, University provost, said Jones would continue supervising coeducation at Notre Dame and would take on other responsibilities, including administration of joint programs with St. Mary's College. Jones will continue to teach as an assistant professor of microbiology.

Thomas J. Mason, director for financial affairs at the University of Michigan since 1974, has been appointed vice provost for business affairs at Notre Dame. He succeeds Fr. Jerome Wilson, who is retiring after 29 years in the vice-presidential post but who will remain at Notre Dame in the new position of executive administrator of physical plant.

Wilson's service praised
Mason's appointment was approved by the University's trustees, who also praised Wilson's service to the University. During his tenure the annual operating budget increased from $10 million to $60 million and the endowment from $8 million to $100 million.

Wilson was also concerned with the construction of more than 25 University buildings, the trustees noted.

Mason, a certified public accountant, received his B.S. in accounting and his M.B.A. from the University of Detroit and has taught accounting there and more recently at Eastern Michigan University. For the last two years he has had the basic responsibility for all financial affairs of the University Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Dr. Emil T. Hofman, dean of the Freshman Year of Studies since 1971, will continue in that position. The appointment was made by Hesburgh, on the advice of a provost search committee. Hofman withdrew his resignation as dean, which was submitted last February and led to the formation of the search committee.

Hofman, a professor of chemistry, will continue to teach the general chemistry course in which he has over the years developed a college of students.

Madonna Night, a traditional event for St. Mary's sisters, is leaving the church in a candlelight orientation, took place last night. Here big and little procession.

SMC administration united

by Marjorie Ier
Staff Reporter

Brian C. Regan, new assistant to the president for college relations, said yesterday that he is pleased with the "high degree of professionalism in the new administration."

"Under the leadership of Jack Duggan are people with energy and vision. There is unity in the administration," commented Regan.

Regan is one of four administrators recently appointed to new positions. The others are: Kathleen M. Rice, dean of student affairs; Elisa Brooks, director of admissions; and John D. Linn, comptroller.

Regan, a 1961 graduate of Notre Dame, had been associated with Notre Dame since 1957 as director of development, director, and executive assistant in various capacities.

At St. Mary's, Regan is responsible for public information, development, alumni affairs, publications, and special programs for visitors on campus.

He noted that keeping the alumni informed and aware of "the college as it really is" is important for increasing alumni support. "People should know that St. Mary's has all the class and dignity that has always been characteristic of this school," Regan emphasized.

The top priority in development this year is the Athletic Facility, which is under construction on the north end of the campus. The development office is concerned specifically with financing the facility. According to Regan, $302,000 has been raised and the final figure is $1.8 million. Although no operational date has been set, the facility should be ready by spring or summer, 1977.

Looking objectively at St. Mary's and the changes that the college has experienced in recent years, Regan said that he sees a women's college with a new identity. "St. Mary's has defined its institutional goals. It has a new vision, new goals," he said.

Regan noted that the "un-merge" with Notre Dame sped up this process considerably.

Cynthia Cole died on the same day, from a cerebral hemorrhage, as a result of an aneurism. Cole, a Fadely resident, would have enter­ ned her Junior year as a Biochem­ istry major.

Cole became ill while she and her mother were visiting friends in Indiana. Her family is temporarily residing in Cairo, Egypt.

Services were held in the Kearsa
The following is the final Notre Dame- St. Mary's shuttle bus schedule prepared by the Ombudsman Service, Office of Student Affairs, and the South Bend Public Transportation Co. If you use the shuttle at all, please keep this schedule with you at all times. All express runs marked "c" leave from Notre Dame, all others marked "I" depart from St. Mary's. The shuttle runs from the Library Circle to the bookstore daily at the times shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>From Notre Dame</th>
<th>From St. Mary's</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6:00 AM</td>
<td>6:30 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7:00 AM</td>
<td>7:40 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:00 AM</td>
<td>8:00 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:00 AM</td>
<td>10:30 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:00 AM</td>
<td>11:10 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:00 PM</td>
<td>12:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1:00 PM</td>
<td>1:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2:00 PM</td>
<td>2:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3:00 PM</td>
<td>3:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4:00 PM</td>
<td>4:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00 PM</td>
<td>5:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6:00 PM</td>
<td>6:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7:00 PM</td>
<td>7:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:00 PM</td>
<td>8:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9:00 PM</td>
<td>9:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:00 PM</td>
<td>10:50 PM</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The following is the final Notre Dame-St. Mary's shuttle bus schedule prepared by the Ombudsman Service, Office of Student Affairs, and the South Bend Public Transportation Co. If you use the shuttle at all, please keep this schedule with you at all times. All express runs marked "c" leave from Notre Dame, all others marked "I" depart from St. Mary's. The shuttle runs from the Library Circle to the bookstore daily at the times shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>From Notre Dame</th>
<th>From St. Mary's</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6:00 AM</td>
<td>6:30 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7:00 AM</td>
<td>7:40 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:00 AM</td>
<td>8:00 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:00 AM</td>
<td>10:30 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:00 AM</td>
<td>11:10 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:00 PM</td>
<td>12:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1:00 PM</td>
<td>1:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2:00 PM</td>
<td>2:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3:00 PM</td>
<td>3:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4:00 PM</td>
<td>4:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00 PM</td>
<td>5:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6:00 PM</td>
<td>6:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7:00 PM</td>
<td>7:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:00 PM</td>
<td>8:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9:00 PM</td>
<td>9:50 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:00 PM</td>
<td>10:50 PM</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Accounting firm establishes fund

A faculty development fund of a quarter million dollars has been established for members of the accounting department in the University of Notre Dame's College of Business Administration by Arthur Anderson & Co., international firm of certified public accountants headquartered in Chicago.

"Designed to underwrite research aimed at enhancing the effectiveness of the accounting faculty members, including curriculum development, the gift will be paid in installments of $25,000 annually."

The Anderson firm presently employs more than 150 Notre Dame graduates, including 11 partners and 22 managers.

"Notre Dame's accounting department, with an enrollment of 437 students during the last year, was second in size to the University's pre-professional program in science where 488 students were registered. The department last year placed almost 100 graduates with national accounting firms and a similar number in industry, government, teaching or in graduate programs in business administration or law school."
ND, SMC roommate selection systems vary

by Marsha Fanning
Senior Staff Reporter

Freshman year is full of adjustments, such as learning to share a room with one or more students. Sometimes during that year the question "How did I get this roommate?" will arise.

The processes at Notre Dame and St. Mary's College vary a great deal.

At Notre Dame the procedure is handled by Evelyn Reinbold. Each year Reinbold receives a list from admissions with names of freshmen appearing in the order of completing applications. "This would be when the $100 was sent in along with the card stating what two halls the student desires," explained Reinbold.

Of course everyone can get their choice. Often students request a smoker or non-smoker, a certain floor, or a specific person, remarked Reinbold. In addition, students may also make certain requests due to medical reasons. Feedback from students usually comes via the telephone. "This is mostly from students who did not receive their first or second choice," observed Reinbold. "Of course everyone can get their choice."

She continued, "It would be nice to have additional information about the students, but it would be a more time consuming process. It's good to give the students with different interests together," she concluded.

The selection of housing for freshmen is done in a specific period of time. The list of confirmed students is received by housing around July 1st. The process must be completed and contracts returned to the freshmen by Aug. 1.

At St. Mary’s, the roommate selection process begins in March. Steve Wernig, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, stated, "We send out housing preference forms around Spring break, when more time is available to us."

Each form requests students to state their dormitory preference, and what type of room they would like. Other questions involve whether or not the freshmen prefers a smoker or non-smoker. Then preferred study hours, and how the student keeps a room. These forms are then returned to SMC, and the students’ requests are dealt with on a first come first serve basis.

"We try and match the people up," noted Wernig. "If two students want to room with each other, then they send their housing forms in together."

This year the procedure was handled differently in some cases due to an overacceptance of 100 freshmen. Wernig explained that several lounges, study areas, and classrooms were converted to accommodate the extra freshmen.

"St. Mary’s does not like to force triples," Wernig related. "It's a lot of rooms it is not feasible. It's a choice between furniture and students."

St. Mary’s freshmen class numbers 500 students, 480 on campus residents. This amount allows them to use a more time consuming method, with 1711 freshmen would find difficult.

Wernig remarked that they prefer this system of choosing roommates rather than employing a computer. "We learn a lot about the students and it's more person al," she concluded.

---

Dr. Carmichael, Trustee, dies at 56

Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, Jr., trustee of the University of Notre Dame and Chairman of the Board of FBT Bankcorp, the holding company for First Bank and Trust and Associates First Capitol Corporation, died August 3. He was 56.

Carmichael apparently suffered a heart attack while playing tennis on a private court behind his home. Carmichael received his J.D. degree from Duke University Law School, was Dean of Students at Vanderbilt University, president of Converse College at Spartanburg, South Carolina, trustee of the Independent College Funds of America, and treasurer or the Republican National Committee. He also served as a member of the Advisory Committee on Truth in Campaign Financing, his interest in higher education had an impact down through the years, providing him with no more fitting memorial.

---

Rep. Hayes may resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, whose "personal relationship" with Elizabeth Ray sparked a Capitol Hill sex scandal, is resigning from Congress effective Sept. 8, reliable sources said yesterday.

The House Ethics Committee went into closed session late in the day and there was some speculation it would vote to terminate its pay freeze investigation of the Ohio Democrat if he is no longer a congressman.

Hays' resignation was submitted in a letter to House Speaker Carl Albert that he is too mentally depressed to defend himself.

All the investigations would focus on the accusation by Elizabeth Ray, a 33-year-old platinum blond, that Hays had sex with her on the House Administration Committee payroll to provide her with sexual favors.

Hays was the former chairman of the committee.

Hays immediately asked for the House Ethics Committee investigation, which he said would exonerate him.

Hays admitted having a "personal relationship" with Miss Ray, but insisted she performed the committee work to earn her $14,000 a year salary.

However, Hays said in an interview before he dropped his re-election campaign three weeks ago that one reason was that "I don't want to give that woman a chance to work for me as an ethics investigator."

The pay-freeze charge forced Hays earlier to resign as chairman of the House Administration Committee and of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

---

PLAYLAND GOLF CENTER

"NIGHT LIGHTED" 9 HOLE - PAR 3 GOLF COURSE

1976-1977

33 AT IRONWOOD GOLF COURSE

Call 288-0033
If not ans Call 353-5566
1713 LINCOLN WAY EAST

---

SMC Junior Class Presents

TRIP TO THE DUNES

Saturday Sept. 4 1000 - 4:00pm

BEER & HODDYS

Sold SMC-ND dining halls on Wed. and Thurs.

TIX - $2.00

Maps given out with tickets.

Sponsored by SMC Junior Class

---

HEARTBREAK HOUSE

G.B. Shaw's prophetic comedy.

Oct. 1.2.7.8.9 at 8:00 p.m.

OLAUGHLIN AUDITORIUM

---

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF

The loving theatrical hmvn to the Jewish people诞生 on the Sholem Aleichem stories.

Apr. 29, May 6,7 at 8:00 p.m.

OLAUGHLIN AUDITORIUM

---

SMC THEATRE

Special Rate

- All Four Plays

Special Rate

Student - Faculty

SMC-ND Staff

7.50

1976-1977

Our 11th Joint Season

Phone: 284-1176

---

Records!

Big Daddy's Record Shop

52903 E 71 ST. 52903

1 1/2 miles north of campus

277-2168

---

Maps given out with tickets.

Sponsored by SMC Junior Class

---

Wednesday, September 1, 1976 the observer 3
continued from page 1

innovative instructional methods and techniques in teaching some 1600 students a year.

Personnel, athletic dept. changes

G. Thomas O'Brien, executive director of personnel services for the Troy (Michigan) School District, has been appointed director of personnel at the University of Notre Dame. He replaces Joseph F. O'Brien, who was appointed business manager of athletics at Notre Dame.

O'Brien, former South Bend high school teacher, was president of the American Federation of Teachers local in South Bend for three years and national vice president of the union for two.

After leaving South Bend, he served four years as an employment relations specialist in the Wisconsin state department of administration and at the University of Wisconsin, where he was chief negotiator with several bargaining units. Before coming to Troy in 1975, he spent three years in a similar position for the Warren (Mich.) Consolidated Schools.

Joseph O'Brien, newly appointed business manager of the athletic department, will also serve as an assistant director of athletics, along with Sports Information Director Roger O. Valdiserri.

Fr. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president, also appointed Cal. John J. Stephens, assistant director of athletics since 1968, to the position of associate director of athletics.

"The new designation for Col. Stephens and assistant athletic director status for both our athletic business manager and our director of sports information more clearly reflect the importance of their administrative functions," Joyce said.

O'Brien, personnel director at Notre Dame for over two decades, succeeds retired business manager of athletics Robert Cahill. Stephens joined the athletic department following his retirement from the Army and after serving as professor of military science and commanding officer of the Army ROTC unit at Notre Dame. He has a master's degree in guidance and counselling from Notre Dame and a B.S. degree from Iowa University.

Radiation Lab Expanded

Dr. Robert Schuler, director of the Radiation Research Laboratories at Carnegie-Mellon University, has assumed direction of the Notre Dame Radiation Laboratory.

In a consolidation of the Carnegie-Mellon and Notre Dame research efforts in radiation chemistry, Schuler has been joined by another Carnegie-Mellon researcher, Dr. Richard Fessenden, who will also serve as a professor of chemistry.

Schuler succeeds Dr. John Magor, who resigned to return to teaching and to his research in theoretical radiation chemistry.

Dr. David C. Lege, program director for political science for the National Science Foundation (NSF), has been appointed director of Notre Dame's Center for the Study of Man in Contemporary Society.

Lege, whose doctorate is in political science from Indiana University, managed survey research at the University of Missouri and at the State University of New York at Buffalo before assuming the chairmanship of the Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois Chicago Circle campus in 1972. He has been on leave from that position while working with NSF.

Sr. Marion Ruaidi has been appointed administrator of the Notre Dame Student Infirmary, succeeding Sr. Miriam Dolores, who will join the nursing staff of the convent at St. Mary's College.

Ruidi comes to Notre Dame from the Mount Carmel Medical Center, Columbus, Ohio, where she served during the last year as administrative coordinator of allied education.

Flynn announces

Pat Flynn, president of the senior class has released the following plans for the junior class in the upcoming year.

On Sunday, September 12, members of the class can go to a Chicago White Sox—California Angels baseball game. The price is $10, which included a ticket, bus transportation, and beer on the bus. All juniors interested should contact Pat Flynn at 845 or Mary Lou Mulvihill at 8148 by no later than Sunday, September 5.

Flynn also reminded all juniors who applied for a job last spring through the Employment Placement Program to contact them or Mary Lou Mulvihill.

Junior class trip than Sunday, September 5. Junior Parents Weekend is scheduled for February 25, 26, and 27. Any junior interested in chairing this committee is asked to please call 7208 or 1326. An officer of the class will contact those interested to arrange for an interview.

Flynn also reminded all juniors who applied for a job last spring through the Employment Placement Program to contact him in Mary Lou Mulvihill.
Classes not cancelled

Mondale schedules campaign speech at ND

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, Democratic Party nominee for vice president, will speak at Notre Dame Sept. 10. His address to Notre Dame faculty and students at 10 a.m. in the Stepan Center follows an invitation to the presidential and vice presidential candidates of both major parties extended August 23 by Notre Dame’s president, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C. The University customarily invites campus campaign appearances by Democratic and Republican candidates before each quadrennial national election.

The Minnesota senator’s speech will follow a fund-raising breakfast sponsored by the Third District Democratic Committee at 7:45 a.m. in the counties of Notre Dame’s Athletic and Convocation Center. Appearing with Mondale at the breakfast and talk will be Indiana’s Third District Congressman John F. Anderson. Father Hesburgh will represent the University at the Stepan Center assembly.

Mondale will arrive in South Bend from Detroit by chartered jet aircraft Thursday evening and will depart from Michiana Regional Airport following his talk. It will be his first visit to the campus.

Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter spoke to a student audience on campus April 6 during Indiana primary campaigning. Notre Dame officials have had no response yet from the invitation extended to President Ford or his running mate to address the University community during the campaign. President Ford received an honorary degree and spoke at Notre Dame on March 17, 1975. Kansas Sen. Robert Dole has not previously visited campus.

It is the custom of the University not to release classes for a campaign address.

Harrises will be sentenced today

Los Angeles (AP) — William and Emily Harris, one-time fugitive traveling companions of Patricia Hearst, were sentenced today to an indeterminate term of 11 years to life in prison on convictions of kidnaping, robbery and car theft. Brandler, who had listened to more than an hour of emotional statements from the Harrises and their attorneys, said he felt there was no reason for leniency “considering the gravity of the offenses committed.”

The Harrises were impassive as the sentences were pronounced. They had declared earlier they did not expect justice or understanding for their revolutionary ideals. The couple declined to stand for sentencing, remaining in their seats at the counsel table.

At the end of an angry speech just prior to sentencing, Harris had declared “Judge Brandler, you can bring on the jugglers and the dancing bears and get this charade over with.”

Harris and his wife, Emily, took turns speaking at a lectern in the bulletproof courtroom where they stood trial, assailing Brandler as an unfair judge and deriding the entire judicial system as unfair. The minimum of 11 years and maximum of life results from the Harrises’ five convictions on car theft, kidnaping and robbery, as well as five separate firearms violations attached to the charges.

Although he ordered that the Harrises be committed to state prisons in Southern California— Harris to the men’s prison in Chino and Mrs. Harris to the California Institution for Women at Folsom—it was believed they would not be sent there now.

Authorities said they plan to transfer the Harrises immediately to Alameda County in Northern California where they face trial on charges stemming from the 1974 kidnaping of Miss Hearst.

LOS ANGELES KO-LOS: Plans are made for the final hearing of the Harrises in Los Angeles. They had declared earlier they did not expect justice or understanding for their revolutionary ideals. The couple declined to stand for sentencing, remaining in their seats at the counsel table.

Schedule of campus events

Stepan Center assembly.

Mondale will arrive in South Bend from Detroit by chartered jet aircraft Thursday evening and will depart from Michiana Regional Airport following his talk. It will be his first visit to the campus.

Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter spoke to a student audience on campus April 6 during Indiana primary campaigning. Notre Dame officials have had no response yet from the invitation extended to President Ford or his running mate to address the University community during the campaign. President Ford received an honorary degree and spoke at Notre Dame on March 17, 1975. Kansas Sen. Robert Dole has not previously visited campus.

It is the custom of the University not to release classes for a campaign address.

Harrises will be sentenced today

Los Angeles (AP) — William and Emily Harris, one-time fugitive traveling companions of Patricia Hearst, were sentenced today to an indeterminate term of 11 years to life in prison on convictions of kidnaping, robbery and car theft. Brandler, who had listened to more than an hour of emotional statements from the Harrises and their attorneys, said he felt there was no reason for leniency “considering the gravity of the offenses committed.”

The Harrises were impassive as the sentences were pronounced. They had declared earlier they did not expect justice or understanding for their revolutionary ideals. The couple declined to stand for sentencing, remaining in their seats at the counsel table.

At the end of an angry speech just prior to sentencing, Harris had declared “Judge Brandler, you can bring on the jugglers and the dancing bears and get this charade over with.”

Harris and his wife, Emily, took turns speaking at a lectern in the bulletproof courtroom where they stood trial, assailing Brandler as an unfair judge and deriding the entire judicial system as unfair. The minimum of 11 years and maximum of life results from the Harrises’ five convictions on car theft, kidnaping and robbery, as well as five separate firearms violations attached to the charges.

Although he ordered that the Harrises be committed to state prisons in Southern California— Harris to the men’s prison in Chino and Mrs. Harris to the California Institution for Women at Folsom—it was believed they would not be sent there now.

Authorities said they plan to transfer the Harrises immediately to Alameda County in Northern California where they face trial on charges stemming from the 1974 kidnaping of Miss Hearst.

Welcome Back & GOOD LUCK on a New Semester

Monday & Tuesday BEER Specials

10pm - Midnight $1.25 Pitcher
FRIDAY AFTERNOON FOR LUNCH BUNCH
NOON - 6pm $1.25 Pitcher

Student Union Concerts Presents:

JOHN SEBASTIAN and SILVER
Saturday, September 18
at the Notre Dame ACC
TICKETS $6.50 and $5.50

On Sale Thursday at 9:00 AM at the following locations:
- Student Union Ticket Office
- ACC Ticket Office
- and all ACC outlets

Limit 10 tickets per person
The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of either institution. The news section on the page is invited to contribute: our standard is quality, not conformity, and we are always anxious to see new work. The ideal column is clear, bold, rational, and brief (within three typed pages). It may comment on any political, social, economic or philosophical issue of general interest. It may praise or blame, attack or defend, use humor or logic. An editorial is written by Observer editors, sometimes with an eye for the absurdities of University, college, or national life. Letters are probably the most popular section on the page and we are always pleased to get them. They of course reflect the opinions of their authors and must be signed, though the name may be withhold upon request. Keep them brief; we reserve the right to edit them for length so that we can run as many as possible. We also excuse obscurities and grammatical slips. Letters may be on any topic of current interest. At least passing rationality or humor is appreciated.

P. O. Box Q

- Many Thanks
  - Dear Editor:
    - On behalf of our mother and father, we wish to extend to all our friends the kind deeds, comforting words, mass offerings, prayers, flowers and cards at the time of the loss of our father, Jimmie L. Brown. In special thanks to staff members, Coach Devine, and assistant coach and members of the football team of Notre Dame University, May God bless each and everyone of you.
  - Ross, Jimmy Jr. and Willard Brown

- Moses Needed 0
  - Dear Editor:
    - I was interested to read in Dean Roemer's column last week that the University Community—student, faculty member or administrator—wishing to write on an issue is invited to contribute: our standard is quality, not conformity, and we are always anxious to see new work. The ideal column is clear, bold, rational, and brief (within three typed pages). It may comment on any political, social, economic or philosophical issue of general interest. It may praise or blame, attack or defend, use humor or logic. An editorial is written by Observer editors, sometimes with an eye for the absurdities of University, college, or national life. Letters are probably the most popular section on the page and we are always pleased to get them. They of course reflect the opinions of their authors and must be signed, though the name may be withheld upon request. Keep them brief; we reserve the right to edit them for length so that we can run as many as possible. We also excuse obscurities and grammatical slips. Letters may be on any topic of current interest. At least passing rationality or humor is appreciated.

- Test of Battle
  - The job of The Observer's editorial page is to tell everyone else at the University and the College how to do his job.

  - A newspaper, in addition to reporting the news as fairly and accurately as possible, has the duty to provide a forum for debate about issues concerning the community. This forum is the editorial page and it deals in doubts. Doubts and questions are needed to rip away the illusions of truisms which people, especially those in power, are prone.

  - The core of this page should be controversy. Only relentless debate can test the continuing validity of old ideas. Competition and controversy challenge old doctrines and bring forth new ideas. They tend to face the test of battle—which must be the test of truth until men become infallible. Contro­versy is the test democracy relies on and is the test of truth at this university, insofar as education here transcends rote and mental

- Dear Editor:
  - Roemer's column last week that the University needed only nine commandments. This beats out Moses' ten needed hundred. Of course for the last 3,000 years Jews and Chris­tians have been trying to figure out what Moses' ten really mean. Will it take that long to get Roemer's nine?
  - Name Withheld by Request

- Dear Editor:
  - It has come to our attention that certain members of the Notre Dame Community feel oppressed by their sexual identity in this new era of openness we feel it is time for nosophiles to step out of the shadows. Though we ourselves are straight, we think these people should be accepted for what they are, with Christian compassion and understanding.

  - Contrary to popular myth, these people are quite capable of lasting relationships based on love and personal growth. Unfortunately, society has condemned nosophiles to a life of exploitation and furtive one night stands. Many are tired of the artificiality of the

- Washington:
  - Doubts and questions are needed to rip away the illusions of truisms which people, especially those in power, are prone.

  - The core of this page should be controversy. Only relentless debate can test the continuing validity of old ideas. Competition and controversy challenge old doctrines and bring forth new ideas. They tend to face the test of battle—which must be the test of truth until men become infallible. Contro­versy is the test democracy relies on and is the test of truth at this university, insofar as education here transcends rote and mental

  - The ideal column is clear, bold, rational, and brief (within three typed pages). It may comment on any political, social, economic or philosophical issue of general interest. It may praise or blame, attack or defend, use humor or logic. An editorial is written by Observer editors, sometimes with an eye for the absurdities of University, college, or national life. Letters are probably the most popular section on the page and we are always pleased to get them. They of course reflect the opinions of their authors and must be signed, though the name may be withheld upon request. Keep them brief; we reserve the right to edit them for length so that we can run as many as possible. We also excuse obscurities and grammatical slips. Letters may be on any topic of current interest. At least passing rationality or humor is appreciated.

  - Many people will be speaking out on this issue, so we thought it would be interesting to see how others should do their jobs and how things should be run here. Much of what they say will be wrong, even foolish or disturbing. But taken as a whole, there is value even in error if it leads to seeing or holding on to the truth.

  - The Observer needs only nine commandments. This beats out Moses' ten needed hundred. Of course for the last 3,000 years Jews and Christians have been trying to figure out what Moses' ten really mean. Will it take that long to get Roemer's nine?
  - Name Withheld by Request

- Test of Battle
  - The job of The Observer's editorial page is to tell everyone else at the University and the College how to do his job.

  - A newspaper, in addition to reporting the news as fairly and accurately as possible, has the duty to provide a forum for debate about issues concerning the community. This forum is the editorial page and it deals in doubts. Doubts and questions are needed to rip away the illusions of truisms which people, especially those in power, are prone.

  - The core of this page should be controversy. Only relentless debate can test the continuing validity of old ideas. Competition and controversy challenge old doctrines and bring forth new ideas. They tend to face the test of battle—which must be the test of truth until men become infallible. Contro­versy is the test democracy relies on and is the test of truth at this university, insofar as education here transcends rote and mental number of a majority of the Editorial Board members are the views of their authors. Columns are signed by individual editors, sometimes with an eye for the absurdities of University, college, or national life. Letters are probably the most popular section on the page and we are always pleased to get them. They of course reflect the opinions of their authors and must be signed, though the name may be withheld upon request. Keep them brief; we reserve the right to edit them for length so that we can run as many as possible. We also excuse obscurities and grammatical slips. Letters may be on any topic of current interest. At least passing rationality or humor is appreciated.

  - Many people will be speaking out on this issue, so we thought it would be interesting to see how others should do their jobs and how things should be run here. Much of what they say will be wrong, even foolish or disturbing. But taken as a whole, there is value even in error if it leads to seeing or holding on to the truth.

- Test of Battle
  - The job of The Observer's editorial page is to tell everyone else at the University and the College how to do his job.

  - A newspaper, in addition to reporting the news as fairly and accurately as possible, has the duty to provide a forum for debate about issues concerning the community. This forum is the editorial page and it deals in doubts. Doubts and questions are needed to rip away the illusions of truisms which people, especially those in power, are prone.

  - The core of this page should be controversy. Only relentless debate can test the continuing validity of old ideas. Competition and controversy challenge old doctrines and bring forth new ideas. They tend to face the test of battle—which must be the test of truth until men become infallible. Contro­versy is the test democracy relies on and is the test of truth at this university, insofar as education here transcends rote and mental After graduation, how does in loco parentis fit this idea of a university education?

BURTCHAEL: The idea of in loco parentis for which neither I nor anyone else around here has any use to it. The University of Notre Dame is more a place where influence is exercised through discussion and initiative, not where people drink or at what age it becomes legal, but the character and mood of people drinking. Frankly, I've always said, and it wasn't just fantasy or speed, that I would not just as soon have been available in the dining halls along with milk and Coke. If we could see that it is a beverage that mature people use because they like it, and see it as an unusual thing, we would probably drink more responsibly.

OBSERVER: This is probably the most famous Catholic campus in the world. Do you feel that the spiritual condition of the campus body is good?

BURTCHAEL: By self choice, a large individual for our students are Catholic. Also faculty and administration are predominant Catholic, but the University is not nearly Catholic enough. At the age of 18, one has rarely had the sense of experience coming to terms with what will be done with his or her life. So you could say that 95 percent of our students arrive here perfunctorily Catholic, and it is the work of a lifetime to make that better.

Egan: There are many events in the University's past which show that despite the underlying atheism of all constituent bodies Catholicism is still growing and embodying some of the narrowest, most unsavory features of the Catholic Church, such as racism. The current atmosphere appears to be very useful notion to pursue. Very few of our students at Notre Dame are more a place where influence is exercised through discussion and initiative, not where people drink or at what age it becomes legal, but the character and mood of people drinking. Frankly, I've always said, and it wasn't just fantasy or speed, that I would not just as soon have been available in the dining halls along with milk and Coke. If we could see that it is a beverage that mature people use because they like it, and see it as an unusual thing, we would probably drink more responsibly. I think the two go together.

OBSERVER: Then you've struck an incremental attitude one would over junior high school activity. In other respects, rules are entirely undemocratic. The University insists that students are not in control of the university. The senior people control of the university. The senior people responsible for which neither I nor anyone else around here has any use to it. The more, in my case, deans and directors, who deal directly with the other vice-presidents, deal directly with Fr. Hesburgh. We in turn deal directly with them.

OBSERVER: I believe that where one's responsibility is exercised through discussion and initiative, not where people drink or at what age it becomes legal, but the character and mood of people drinking. Frankly, I've always said, and it wasn't just fantasy or speed, that I would not just as soon have been available in the dining halls along with milk and Coke. If we could see that it is a beverage that mature people use because they like it, and see it as an unusual thing, we would probably drink more responsibly.

OBSERVER: This is probably the most famous Catholic campus in the world. Do you feel that the spiritual condition of the campus body is good?

BURTCHAEL: By self choice, a large individual for our students are Catholic. Also faculty and administration are predominant Catholic, but the University is not nearly Catholic enough. At the age of 18, one has rarely had the sense of experience coming to terms with what will be done with his or her life. So you could say that 95 percent of our students arrive here perfunctorily Catholic, and it is the work of a lifetime to make that better.

Egan: There are many events in the University's past which show that despite the underlying atheism of all constituent bodies Catholicism is still growing and embodying some of the narrowest, most unsavory features of the Catholic Church, such as racism. The current atmosphere appears to be very useful notion to pursue. Very few of our students at Notre Dame are more a place where influence is exercised through discussion and initiative, not where people drink or at what age it becomes legal, but the character and mood of people drinking. Frankly, I've always said, and it wasn't just fantasy or speed, that I would not just as soon have been available in the dining halls along with milk and Coke. If we could see that it is a beverage that mature people use because they like it, and see it as an unusual thing, we would probably drink more responsibly. I think the two go together.

OBSERVER: Then you've struck an incremental attitude one would over junior high school activity. In other respects, rules are entirely undemocratic. The University insists that students are not in control of the university. The senior people control of the university. The senior people
Detroit (AP) — Ford Motor Co. offered a new three-year contract that included an average $3 an hour in new wages, new cost-of-living protection and income security to better align with the present Ford worker, and to avoid a strike when the current three-year pact expires Sept. 14.

"If they're really serious we're headed for the bricks," said union Vice President Ken Bannon.

The Ford proposal offered a regressive proposal to auto workers, increasing several hundreds of dollars a year. The UAW selected the nation's No. 2 automaker last week as its target for setting the industry pattern on new agreements covering some 700,000 auto workers, including 167,000 at Ford.

"Under that strategy, the union would strike Ford if no agreement is reached in two weeks while allowing the other companies to operate normally. Ford was struck for 66 days in 1967, the last time the company was the UAW's target. This proposal is entirely unresponsive to the problems we've posed on the table and, without question, a major take-away proposal," declared a visibly angered Woodcock.

"This proposal is entirely unresponsive to the problems we've posed on the table and, without question, a major take-away proposal," declared a visibly angered Woodcock.

"These proposals would cost the present Ford worker several hundred dollars a year."

Specifically, the company did not reply to a union demand for additional days off at full pay and a beefed up unemployment benefits fund for laid off workers. Woodcock added the two sides are even further away from a settlement at this point in the talks than were bargainers at General Motors in 1970, when the Union staged a 57-day strike—the costliest walkout in the history of the American labor movement.

However, Ford's top bargainer said he remained optimistic that an agreement could be reached before the strike deadline. "There certainly is nothing in this proposal to suggest our objective of averting a strike is any less realistic than it was when we were named the target on opening day," said Vice President Sidney F. McKeena. The Ford proposal offered general wage increases ranging from 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

On top of this, Ford was about to start a new round of negotiations for 66 days in 1967, the last time the company was the UAW's target. This proposal is entirely unresponsive to the problems we've posed on the table and, without question, a major take-away proposal," said Vice President Ken Bannon.

"Under that strategy, the union would strike Ford if no agreement is reached in two weeks while allowing the other companies to operate normally. Ford was struck for 66 days in 1967, the last time the company was the UAW's target. This proposal is entirely unresponsive to the problems we've posed on the table and, without question, a major take-away proposal," declared a visibly angered Woodcock.

"These proposals would cost the present Ford worker several hundred dollars a year."

Specifically, the company did not reply to a union demand for additional days off at full pay and a beefed up unemployment benefits fund for laid off workers. Woodcock added the two sides are even further away from a settlement at this point in the talks than were bargainers at General Motors in 1970, when the Union staged a 57-day strike—the costliest walkout in the history of the American labor movement.

However, Ford's top bargainer said he remained optimistic that an agreement could be reached before the strike deadline. "There certainly is nothing in this proposal to suggest our objective of averting a strike is any less realistic than it was when we were named the target on opening day," said Vice President Sidney F. McKeena. The Ford proposal offered general wage increases ranging from 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.

The company also proposed to continue the present cost-of-living formula, which increased wages by $1.14 cents an hour under the formula, which increased wages by 38 cents to 77 cents an hour over the three years, depending on job classification. For the typical Ford worker, who currently makes $6.88 an hour, the raise would work out to about 175 cents an hour each year.
Swiss army takes a wrong turn

BERN, Switzerland — (AP) — Came the startling noise in the night: Clip-clop, clip-clop, clip-clop.

But the embarrassed soldiers made a sharp U-turn behind their mounted lieutenant and marched back to Swiss territory.

The Swiss Defense Ministry said yesterday it had asked the tiny principality for "understanding" about the incident which occurred just before midnight Thursday.

Residents of the Liechtenstein hamlet of Irdug awakened to the sound of horses and discovered they had been invaded by steel-helmeted foreign troops.

The villagers suggested the 75 Swiss militiamen and their 50 horses were in the wrong country. They then offered the troops some refreshment.

"It's an area where such things can happen," said a Swiss spokesman. "Unlike certain other countries, we are not separated from our neighbors by barbed wire fences or border gates."

Officials said the infantry support unit had taken a wrong path at a junction in the hilly, wooded border region. They marched about 1,600 feet before finding themselves in Irdug.

The horses were mostly pack animals. The troops had full combat gear but carried no ammunition, the ministry said. They were based at Luzernstieg Barracks, a major center for the Swiss army.

Liechtenstein, a 62-square-mile nation of 23,000 people, is sandwiched between Austria and Switzerland on the Upper Rhine. It is the last surviving member state of the Holy Roman Empire of Germany Nations, which broke up in 1806.

With invasions by its two neutral neighbors being infrequent, it gets along with a 40-man police force.

Though Liechtenstein is a sovereign state, it customarily serves as a refreshment unit for "understanding" with its neighbors by barbed wire fences or border gates.

Wednesday, September 1, 1976
burtchaell interview: a new year with great exuberance

continued from page 7

I, think the university stands among the very best ranks who understand that if the Church has any mission, it is to abolish hatred and suspicion between racial and ethnic groups. So our job is, first, to stay away from the Catholic tradition, and second to within the better rather than the worse things in that tradition.

OBSERVER: Do you see any major new controversies arising this year?

BURTCHAELL: Ever since the sixties, years have been identified by major controversies. But in the last two or three years, the abatement of controversy has made it difficult to categorize those years. Most people I talk to think the University began the new year with great exuberance. Though the University faces serious problems, I think we should find a better way to handle the people here show much promise. Resources, our commitments, and our energy to move forward and improve our standards.

OBSERVER: Over your term of the University, what considerations do you think of accomplishments? I don't think of accomplishments. I think many people do. I suppose my major concerns have been renunciation and improvement of the faculty. I feel both are very much improved, but not enough. Second, the character of the University, which is dedicated to freed inquiry on one hand and the Catholic tradition on the other.

OBSERVER: How long do you work per week?

BURTCHAELL: I'm not sure, but about 80-90 hours.

OBSERVER: What do you do when you are not in the office?

BURTCHAELL: I suppose I'm not sure, but about 80-90 hours.

OBSERVER: What do you see as your major accomplishments?

BURTCHAELL: I think we should find a better way to handle the people here show much promise. Resources, our commitments, and our energy to move forward and improve our standards.

OBSERVER: Do you see any long range plans for Notre Dame?

BURTCHAELL: I was much influenced by our work on the Committee on University Priorities. For one thing, we are laying plans for very serious fund raising, which is essential to our continued existence and growth. Also, we are devoting a lot of attention to improvements in the teaching tradition. My own private thought is that independent exorcisms on the part of students can be drawn upon more than they are now.

OBSERVER: What do you see as your future?

BURTCHAELL: Never gave it a thought.

OBSERVER: Never? Do you see yourself continuing as provost?

BURTCHAELL: I want to continue as a priest and live in Dillon Hall, to say Mass there and teach theology, do some writing and publishing. Those things I can aspire to with some sense of permanence. My administrative responsibilities are a wholly other thing. They can come or go.

OBSERVER: Thank you, Fr. Burtchaell.

African bishop charged

Donald Lamont, Roman Catholic bishop of Umtali, Rhodesia, has been charged with failing to report the presence of guerrillas, according to a Washington Post article of Aug. 27, 1976.

Lamont, who has spoken at Notre Dame on three occasions, "was charged less than two weeks after The first in a series of convocations on parish ministry will be held at Notre Dame Sept. 6-9. The isle is open to the public without charge.
Department during the Fall semester, is open to the public without charge.

"Close to Home!" A program planned by the Music accompany Isele.

Sue Henderson
works of Dvorak, J.S. Bach, Gou­

Notre Dame composed the new song cycle, "From the Many song in Sacred Heart Church. The Mayor John J. Egan, director of the Center, said he was looking for parishes where the teachings of Vatican II and liturgical research were being implemented on the local level and across a broad spectrum. More than 50 per cent of the parishes responded, and participants were chosen from among that group.

The convocation will consist of several workshop sessions based on presentations which will include "Forming a Community of Faith," by Drs. Evelyn and Jam es Whiter, priests and sister and lay person and representa­tives of national organizations interested in parish ministry has been invited to observe.

The department aid not disclose the number of parishes interested in parish ministry or the number of those which will be involved.

The session, "Convocation on Parish Ministry," will be a critique and reflec­tion by a panel of the observers.

For this meeting began under the five-year agreem ent. A

Five parish teams, made up of a priest, sister, lay person and representa­tives of national organizations interested in parish ministry has been invited to observe.

The convocation will consist of several workshop sessions based on presentations which will include
"Forming a Community of Faith," by Drs. Evelyn and James White­ ter, priests and sister and lay person and representa­tives of national organizations interested in parish ministry has been invited to observe.

The convocation will consist of several workshop sessions based on presentations which will include
"Forming a Community of Faith," by Drs. Evelyn and James White­ ter, priests and sister and lay person and representa­tives of national organizations interested in parish ministry has been invited to observe.

The convocation will consist of several workshop sessions based on presentations which will include
"Forming a Community of Faith," by Drs. Evelyn and James White­ ter, priests and sister and lay person and representa­tives of national organizations interested in parish ministry has been invited to observe.

The convocation will consist of several workshop sessions based on presentations which will include
"Forming a Community of Faith," by Drs. Evelyn and James White­ ter, priests and sister and lay person and representa­tives of national organizations interested in parish ministry has been invited to observe.
Season football ticket distribution set for students

Student football ticket distribution will begin today. Students will receive their season tickets today from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the student center. All students in their ninth semester or better will receive their tickets. Students in their eighth semester will receive their tickets tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sophomores may pick up the tickets from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday.

Distribution will occur through Windows #1 and #2 on the second floor of the ACC. Students will be given season tickets upon presentation of their athletic certification cards and a $300 Tips punch card.

Students wishing to be seated together must present their certification cards at the time of purchase. No student may present more than four certification cards for adjacent seating.

Crowd control gates and security personnel will be utilized during distribution. Students are asked to go directly to the end of the line when arriving at the ACC and to avoid pushing and shoving. Security personnel will confiscate the certification cards of students acting disorderly. Students having their certification cards confiscated will be issued after other students have been accommodated.

Tickets for the season game will be played on Saturday, Oct. 16, the first full day of the fall semester, and the season ticket will be good for any game during the regular season. Students desiring a season ticket must present the current ID card and a $300 Tips punch card at the ACC Ticket Office.

Students desiring a season ticket are advised to present the ID card at a time and place to be selected by the administration. There will be no charge for this ticket. While there is no charge for tickets to undergraduates, graduate and law students will be charged $12 a season ticket. This ticket does not include the Orange game. Orange game tickets will be available to these students in late September for $33.

Married students cannot procure tickets for the game they wish to attend with the individual's season ticket. The students must present their athletic certification along with evidence of their marriage, the Ticket Office in the ACC between 9:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. today or tomorrow. Turn in the certification card to the ACC Ticket Office (along with the Orange game) for a spouse's ticket for which the student will be charged $12.

Couples wishing seats adjacent must turn in certifications together and advise the ticket clerk accordingly.

Tickets can be picked up on Tuesday, Sept. 7, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Students should bring ID and $12 in cash upon receipt of the ACC Ticket Office.

Attention!

There will be a meeting for anyone, male or female, who is interested in joining The Observer sports staff at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night in The Observer office.

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. When any college football fan hears that, regardless of his feelings toward the school, he immediately thinks of top-flight teams. Students desiring a season ticket are advised to purchase the ticket immediately. All season tickets are underpriced and underpriced and underpriced and underpriced and underpriced. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact the Ticket Office.