In HPC meeting

Casey discusses social space

by Rob Vacareto
Staff Reporter

The use of social space in each dorm, and in LaFortune, was the issue highlighted at last night's meeting in the HPC meeting at St. Edward's hall.

As Casey, student body vice president, read a reply from Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, University president, to a report submitted by the SLC. This report noted the social space available in each dorm. It showed, for example, that Morrissey has had 300 sq. feet of social space for 334 residents.

"I would like to thank the SLC for this good study which brings much of the pertinent facts to the fore," Hesburgh wrote. "There is no question but that we have to give serious attention to this problem."

Casey said SLC members will meet with administration officials after break to come up with some concrete solutions.

Casey also said student government representatives will meet with Ben Just Parezncy, vice president of student affairs, today to discuss proposals for changing LaFortune.

"There are a lot of stories around," commented Casey.

"The past three meetings have been the best we've had as far as discussion," Kane said. "It's up to the committees we've formed to see what's going to be done from here."

Mary Chang, Soyder Union coordinator, also announced the publication of the Social Commis- sion's "Guide to Florida." Charchut said this guide will be helpful to students who are planning to spend their break in Florida. The guide provides information on beaches, bars, restaurants and hotels.

Charchut added that student Union will distribute these booklets by tomorrow.

J.P. Russell, HPC chairman, introduced three new hall presidents to the council last night: Jayne Rizzo of Lyons, Gary Fair of Zahm and Jim Daly of Howard.

Fr. James Bortschaell, University provost, will be guest speaker at the next HPC meeting, scheduled for March 22.

SMC Regents Treasurer P. Jordan Hamel dies

by Jack Pizzolato
Staff Reporter

Editor's Note: This is the last in a three-part series on the nationwide problem of "redlining" in mortgage loan programs, which have been criticized for practicing redlining in the practice in the South Bend area. The first article introduced the problem and some of the arguments advanced for and against the potential clients. The second article dealt with the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act of 1975, which required that the effectiveness of redlining and the potential clients. The third article outlines some of the solutions that have been proposed as well as the possibilities outlined in other sections of the U.S.

Redlining is a subtle art, and difficult, almost impossible to prove. It prompted one South Bend Savings and Loan (5 & L) broker to shrug. "You can't prove it, therefore it doesn't exist!"

But neighborhood community groups, while they have had little access to statistical information, have traditionally relied upon individual cases. "There are a lot of stories around," commented a local resident, "and it makes me sick.

Anti-redlining groups in South Bend have observed that Harter Heights (upper northeast section) and the northwest side appear to be the most recent problem areas.

By: James Langford, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at Notre Dame, was closely involved, with the cooperation of the Holy Cross Church, in a study of that northwest side parish. In conclusion, Serna-Rivera wrote: "We feel, though the data do not directly confirm this, that the most profound negative factor at work in creating parish problems lies in the property devaluation question. If lending agencies could be forced into allowing reasonable arrangements for home purchase throughout the parish, then the problems of absentee landlordism, inadequate landlords, and racial stress. "Lending institutions have to be concerned to protect their investments, but not a mortgage," he emphasized, "is a rational investment. The whole system is geared to maximize social responsibility where you see social responsibility and housing. The victims denied mortgages or home improvement money, a cycle of premature deterioration.

The victims denied mortgages or home improvement money, a cycle of premature deterioration.

The victims denied mortgages or home improvement money, a cycle of premature deterioration.

Two years ago, James Langford, director of Notre Dame's University Press, attempted to purchase a house in the Harter Heights area. The bank refused to give him the required loan and, he charges, underappreciated the house. "They further told us, 'If you take our advice you won't buy in that neighborhood because it has undesirable people and houses and we predict its downfall within five years," Langford recalled. "If you take our advice you won't buy in that neighborhood because it has undesirable people and houses and we predict its downfall within five years."" The victims denied mortgages or home improvement money, a cycle of premature deterioration.

Langford got a loan at another bank without difficulty, but still found that he knew other people who had encountered the same sort of thing.

The Rockne Memorial will open at 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday both week-ends of break. Monday through Friday, hours will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. The ACC will be open 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily, except Sunday, when the hours will be 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The ACC will be closed on Saturday, March 19.

The LaFortune Student Center will only be open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. during break. Regular hours will resume, March 20.
Lab theatre to present "Ravenswood"

The ND-SCM Lab Theatre will present "Ravenswood," a 1975 comedy by Terence McNally, tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Washington Hall.

Directed by Steve Hudock, "Ravenswood" is the story of a live-in country club that is a therapy center for couples with troubled marriages. Admission is free.

Gabriel to deliver Irish art lecture

Prof. A.L. Gabriel, director of the Folger Ambrosiana Microfilm and Photographic Collection, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Irish Art of Illumination and Its Influence on Medieval Manuscript Illumination" Mar. 14 at the University of Toronto.

This talk is one of a series planned for "Irish Week," sponsored by the University's Celtic Arts Society, and will be accompanied by reproduction of several early Irish manuscripts from the Ambrosiana Collection.

The University of Toronto also recently announced Gabriel's appointment as an honorary fellow of its Pontifical Institute of Medieval Studies, where the expert in medieval education was a visiting professor in 1947-48, shortly after his arrival in North America from Hungary.

Applications Wanted!!!!!!

For the Positions of Student Union Director, Associate Director, Comptroller, Ticket Office Manager, Campus Press Manager and all commissioners for the coming year are available at the students' government office.

All interested persons are urged to submit an application.

For further information call 7737.

Put yourself on the map.

That's another way of saying... become a navigator in the Air Force. It's a responsible job with a challenging future.

Think you're interested? Why not sample the Air Force ways by enrolling in Air Force ROTC in college? There are scholarships available. 4-year, 3-year, or 2-year. There's also a monthly allowance of $100. And more important...you'll get the feel of the Air Force and an indication of what's to come.

Chart your course to the future...At the end is a career in law—without law school.

What can you do with only a bachelor's degree? Now there is a way to bridge the gap between an undergraduate education and a challenging, responsible career: The Lawyer's Assistant is able to do work traditionally done by lawyers.

For further information call 7757.

Fast Drive Thru Service

15c Buy 2 singles Get One Free

20c Frosty Free

Expires March 31

Expires March 31

Expires March 31

American Cancer Society

We want to cure cancer in your lifetime.

A career in law—without law school.

What can you do with only a bachelor's degree? Now there is a way to bridge the gap between an undergraduate education and a challenging, responsible career: The Lawyer's Assistant is able to do work traditionally done by lawyers.

For further information call 7757.

Put it all together in Air Force ROTC.

The Observer is published Monday through Friday and weekly during the summer session, except during the exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame and the University of Toronto. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

The Observer is published Monday through Friday and weekly during the summer session, except during the exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame and the University of Toronto. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Personal growth objectives discussed by SLC

by Jake Morrisey

Personal growth of the individual was the main topic of discussion at the Student Life Council (SLC) meeting yesterday afternoon in Lewis Hall.

Mike Casey, student body vice-president, felt that some concrete objectives should be initiated by the open door policy to protect individual growth. Dr. Donald N. Barrett, professor of sociology, felt that "a general all policy would be useful." He went on to say that one of the areas of conflict at Notre Dame was social interaction. Barrett advocated permitting people to grow at their own pace. "There's a certain percentage of students here who are converged-oriented and are not particularly interested in dating. We have to protect these people and their rights." But at the same time, Barrett continues, the University should set up opportunities for informal social interaction.

Stacie Jane Fitz, assistant director of Campus Ministry, felt that the University should provide an education that would create a "structure where they (the students) can develop individually." James Roemer, dean of students, felt the inquiry into the area of personal growth by the SLC was worthwhile, but he questioned the ability of the SLC to really do anything about it.

Frr. Terrance Lally, assistant vice-president for student affairs, concurred with Roemer, adding, that there were many universities around the nation willing to help Notre Dame with this problem. "All we have to do is ask." Lally said.

Boo. Just Pascarey, vice-president for student affairs, said he was reluctant to discuss the matter in the presence of a reporter. He would, he said, help the SLC in this area as much as he could.

Tom Soma, student body vice-president-elect, said he felt that many good ideas had come from the meeting, but questioned the viability of simply issuing a statement. "I just don't want to see those good ideas go to waste."

Casey ended the meeting by setting up a sub-committee to draft a proposal of objectives that the SLC hopes to reach in the area of social and sexual interaction at Notre Dame.
Yesterday, The Observer published an account of several disciplinary cases from 1971 that were recently discovered in student government files. These cases are not of mere historical interest. Because the disciplinary regulations are vague and contain no set penalty provisions, students must rely on the particular case to determine what can really happen if they violate the rules and regulations.

While many violations, though extremely common, are usually not punished severely unless combined with violations of other penalities arbitrarily, as exemplified by the parietals suspensions last semester. But fairness easily demands a consisiting range of possible penalties attached to the rules.

The Administration claims that rules and penalties must be left vague so that students can be dealt with mercifully. Aside from the sometimes questionable quality of this "mercy", ranges of penalties could be attached to each rule. Students should be clearly informed of the rules and the ranges of possible penalties attached to them.

What, however, is the University's attitude toward marijuana? No statement of Roemer's outlook exists. But the case what can really happen if they violate the

Students should not have reason on account of this discovery to make anonymous comments from confidential sources and rumors to find out how the discipline system operates. Penalties may not be set or do not set precedents. Administrators are free to ignore them and decide future cases on a case by case basis.

Students can be dealt with mercifully. Furthermore, the student body's desires now- a-days echo his sentiments. In regard to the parietals system, the Parietals Committee was constituted to determine what things were wrong, and at least studied. We need a reasoned proof that this was so. The survey would have been too burdensome to accomplish. But we do have as visible evidence of the student body's desires now- a-days the fact that you wanted parietals extended: It's not enough.

Could there have been more blatant than the statement, "Your opinion is essential to a fair understanding of this issue"? That's what it said in the cover letter which accompanied the survey. Your opinion was essential. It cannot be assumed that at a college the caliber of St. Mary's that 96% students couldn't bother to contrive the meaning of "essential". Why then didn't 96% students not respond to the survey? It is time to know where we stand.

The Administration claims that rules and penalties must be left vague so that students can be dealt with mercifully. Aside from the sometimes questionable quality of this "mercy", ranges of penalties could be attached to each rule. Students should be clearly informed of the rules and the ranges of possible penalties attached to them.

The Administration claims that rules and penalties must be left vague so that students can be dealt with mercifully. Aside from the sometimes questionable quality of this "mercy", ranges of penalties could be attached to each rule. Students should be clearly informed of the rules and the ranges of possible penalties attached to them.

The Administration claims that rules and penalties must be left vague so that students can be dealt with mercifully. Aside from the sometimes questionable quality of this "mercy", ranges of penalties could be attached to each rule. Students should be clearly informed of the rules and the ranges of possible penalties attached to them.

What, however, is the University's attitude toward marijuana? No statement of Roemer's outlook exists. But the case what can really happen if they violate the

Students should not have reason on account of this discovery to make anonymous comments from confidential sources and rumors to find out how the discipline system operates. Penalties may not be set or do not set precedents. Administrators are free to ignore them and decide future cases on a case by case basis.

Students can be dealt with mercifully. Furthermore, the student body's desires now- a-days echo his sentiments. In regard to the parietals system, the Parietals Committee was constituted to determine what things were wrong, and at least studied. We need a reasoned proof that this was so. The survey would have been too burdensome to accomplish. But we do have as visible evidence of the student body's desires now- a-days the fact that you wanted parietals extended: It's not enough.

Could there have been more blatant than the statement, "Your opinion is essential to a fair understanding of this issue"? That's what it said in the cover letter which accompanied the survey. Your opinion was essential. It cannot be assumed that at a college the caliber of St. Mary's that 96% students couldn't bother to contrive the meaning of "essential". Why then didn't 96% students not respond to the survey? It is time to know where we stand.

The Administration claims that rules and penalties must be left vague so that students can be dealt with mercifully. Aside from the sometimes questionable quality of this "mercy", ranges of penalties could be attached to each rule. Students should be clearly informed of the rules and the ranges of possible penalties attached to them.

The Administration claims that rules and penalties must be left vague so that students can be dealt with mercifully. Aside from the sometimes questionable quality of this "mercy", ranges of penalties could be attached to each rule. Students should be clearly informed of the rules and the ranges of possible penalties attached to them.

What, however, is the University's attitude toward marijuana? No statement of Roemer's outlook exists. But the case what can really happen if they violate the

Students should not have reason on account of this discovery to make anonymous comments from confidential sources and rumors to find out how the discipline system operates. Penalties may not be set or do not set precedents. Administrators are free to ignore them and decide future cases on a case by case basis.

Students can be dealt with mercifully. Furthermore, the student body's desires now- a-days echo his sentiments. In regard to the parietals system, the Parietals Committee was constituted to determine what things were wrong, and at least studied. We need a reasoned proof that this was so. The survey would have been too burdensome to accomplish. But we do have as visible evidence of the student body's desires now- a-days the fact that you wanted parietals extended: It's not enough.

Could there have been more blatant than the statement, "Your opinion is essential to a fair understanding of this issue"? That's what it said in the cover letter which accompanied the survey. Your opinion was essential. It cannot be assumed that at a college the caliber of St. Mary's that 96% students couldn't bother to contrive the meaning of "essential". Why then didn't 96% students not respond to the survey? It is time to know where we stand.
Gassman reveals student government survey

by Ann Gales

Results of a student center survey conducted by Student Government in early February were recently revealed by Mike Gassman, Student Body President. The survey was prepared by Gassman and a committee of five students including: Hal Mungen, Joe Demetron, John Bender and Joan Hanna. This committee was formed to review the existing student center and consider possibilities for renovation.

According to Munger, the committee originally planned to submit a proposal recommending major changes in Washington Hall and the art building, as well as in LaFortune, but for financial reasons these plans were abandoned, and the committee limited itself to ideas for a renovation of LaFortune.

"Structurally the LaFortune building is okay," explained Munger. "But we want to find ways of improving it." The survey they conducted a survey of the entire student body. The survey they conducted was prepared by the "Hall Presidents Association."

According to Gassman, "About 90 percent of those who responded thought the student center should include this type of facility."

In addition, 32 percent said they would like to see a furist shop, while 43 percent thought the student center should have a newspaper stand, and 28 percent indicated interest in a tobacco shop.

Students were also requested to write in additional suggestions for student center facilities. Among those most frequently mentioned were: a bowling alley, a pizza parlor, a grocery store and a liquor store or bar. Other popular suggestions included: change machines, a sit-down restaurant, an after-parietais fist house, a fast food restaurant and a game room with foosball and pinball.

Quite a number of students felt that the student center should have 24-hour facilities. As a follow-up to the survey, Gassman prepared a proposal for renovation, which he presented this morning at a meeting with Brother Joseph P. P. P. and Kieran Ryan, assistant vice-president for business affairs.

The meeting was to be a preliminary discussion on the possibility of renovation, keeping in mind finances and other obstacles. Gassman did not disclose the contents of the proposal presented at the meeting, but he said it included concrete suggestions based on the results of the survey.

"Our goal is to have a statement of the part of the University that they will cooperate in a renovation by the end of the year, hopefully by the end of my term," said Gassman.

Although he mentioned that at least 10 to 15 proposals have been rejected in the last ten years, Gassman was optimistic that his goal would be fulfilled because of the "definite, positive approach" of his proposal, and because of his "constructive ideas and evidence of student support."

Gassman added, "The renovation, if approved, would be something very important for the new administration to continue."

Hesburgh addresses freshmen

by Marlow Ulery
Senior Staff Reporter

"There's no real life without learning what the world is about and what you can do to change it," Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, University president, told freshman and sophomore assembly members yesterday at a convocation in the Center for Continuing Education.

Hesburgh outlined several objectives for the students' future personal development, stressing the importance of intelligence and competence. "There's a difference between intelligence and competence," he stated. "You can really take pride in knowing all about what you're doing with competence. It goes beyond knowing all the areas, no matter what you're preparing to do."

According to Hesburgh, curiosity is necessary to keep one "really alive in the sense of growing." He expressed the hope that every day for the rest of his life he will learn something new.

"If you're not learning you should be dead," he commented. "For that reason, learning doesn't stop outside the classroom."

Noting the acceleration of technological progress through time, Hesburgh remarked, "Who can tell what you're going to be in your future?" He added that today's students would need a keen comprehension of the world into which they were moving.

"It is my guess that there will be more change in your lifetime then in your parents' or your grandparents' lifetimes," he stated. Hesburgh concluded with a hope that students will recognize inner commitments to serve people other than themselves. "Everybody could, but everybody won't," he remarked. "We need some people to do it, or we're in trouble."

Hesburgh described his association with Dr. Tom Dooley who devoted his life to establishing hospitals in Southeast Asia. "He showed how terrific it is to grow up and to be somebody," he added.

SURE OUR VALUES ARE DIFFERENT!

most people value: getting power getting money getting pleasure getting ahead

we value: giving service to others giving love to God giving active concern to the poor giving a good education to today's youth

And because of what we value our lives have become

JOYFUL! PEACEFUL! MEANINGFUL!

How about your life? How do you show it?

We have become Brothers, members of a Roman Catholic Religious Community. We are THE FIRST RANK BROTHERS!

Write and let me know what you think. If you find that your values are similar to ours, maybe you should be with us. WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Brother Lawrence Porretta FSC
President of Vocations
1840 S. Mayfair
Westchester, Ill. 60153.

The Observer is looking for some fast move people to work in ad sales and service next year.

Excellent sales experience and a healthy commission are offered. Stop by the Observer office (3rd floor LaFortune) to fill out an application.

Wednesday, March 9, 1977
the observer

Arby's Student Meal Ticket
For $1.25
1 Reg. Roast Beef 1 Sm. French Fry
1 Cole Slaw

Notre Dame Bookstore
Part three: Redlining solutions outlined

"I went back to a place (a savings institution) where I was turned down a couple of months before," he continued, "and I guess the guy in charge of the loan department had got tired of me because he told me exactly what he could do for me in areas where we used to redline," he said, "and though he didn't do anything about it, I changed some of my situations in such a way that no problems would occur and he would qualify.

Twobrothers, he stated, were dropping out of the business because of the redlining problem, as they too were against similar problems. "They said it to my face," he mused. "That's hard to believe.

Ray Hernandez, a southeast section realtor, said he was forced to renfine his car in order to get a home improvement loan, said there is a strong feeling in his neighborhood that it is difficult to get mortgage loans.

Southfield Restoration Inc., a group interested in preserving the historic West Washington and Park Ave. neighborhoods in South Bend, began a "revolving loan fund" according to its director, Ruth Benedict. "Something must be done to save the inner city because there's nice housing and good housing in those areas.

Another safeguard against redlining has been a so-called "court of appeals" for rejected loans. Lending institutions across the nation have established mortgage review boards which allow applicants a second hearing. In Boston, such a board was formed in cooperation with the banks, the city government and local civil rights groups.

Federal coinurance is one more attempt to cut down the risk for city lenders. The coinsurance program designates certain transitional neighborhoods as "community re-investment areas." In these areas, the federal government will insure 90 percent of the lender's mortgage money against default.

"I assume that businesses take risks," Conrad L. Lavin, a spokesman for South Bend's ad hoc committee on redlining, said, and I'm concerned when businesses say they want no federal regulation because they want federal guarantees against taking risk." He granted, however, that if such a program would encourage banks and S&L's to invest in the inner city, then it could be beneficial.

"It's fine," he concluded, "but I really don't think it should be necessary here, in order to do some of the basic work which needs to be done.

Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and Veterans Administration (VA) loans have often been suggested as a means to circumvent the redlining problem. The St. Joseph Mortgage Co. deals totally with these types of low interest, federally insured loans which require no down payment. According to Meehan at St. Joseph Mortgage, the restrictions on these loans are mild and as a rule, very few homes are rejected. Tom Meehan, head loan officer at the St. Joseph Mortgage Co., judges that 60 percent of the home buying public are eligible for these programs. Damian argues that the FHA requires homeowners to bring property up to certain standards, and this may cost a lot of money. "If they don't follow the rules, that's the law," he added, "but it is trying to be misused in declining neighborhoods.

"Greenlining" as a tactic which some communities have employed against lending institutions, is the term defines the practice of withdrawing loans and transferring them to banks or S&L's who agree to lend money in certain areas. The approach demands a concerted effort on the part of the community and generally has limited effects.

"But it's good for the soul," Damian said. "People feel like they're participating and that they have some control over their own destiny, especially with housing, and banking, which one seems to have no control over."

Presently, the debate over mortgage lending practices has subsided in South Bend. Lending institutions have not responded directly to the challenges and neighborhood groups are sitting back for the moment, collecting data, reviewing cases, and plotting the next move.

Individuals who think they have been victims of redlining should contact either their local neighborhood association, the United Religious Council at 282-2379, or Conrad Damian at 288-0455. Complaints may be filed with the Federal Reserve Board by writing to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington D.C., 20551.
WASHINGTON [AP] — President Carter's first overseas trip, announced for London this week, is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced that Carter would attend the London meeting to help resolve economic discussions with the leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and the United States. Similar summits were held in recent years in Rambouillet, near Paris, and in Palermo, Sicily.

The official announcement said the purpose "is to enable the leaders of the participating countries to discuss in depth problems facing both the developed and the developing nations."

The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.

White in Europe, Carter is also expected to confer with President Hassan, who, in a recent interview with Time magazine, had said he understood "there is not a real peace in the Middle East." Carter has been speculation Carter and Assad will meet in London. The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced that Carter would attend the London meeting to help resolve economic discussions with the leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and the United States. Similar summits were held in recent years in Rambouillet, near Paris, and in Palermo, Sicily.

The official announcement said the purpose "is to enable the leaders of the participating countries to discuss in depth problems facing both the developed and the developing nations."

The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president. While in Europe, Carter is also expected to confer with President Hassan, who, in a recent interview with Time magazine, had said he understood "there is not a real peace in the Middle East." Carter has been speculation Carter and Assad will meet in London. The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced that Carter would attend the London meeting to help resolve economic discussions with the leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and the United States. Similar summits were held in recent years in Rambouillet, near Paris, and in Palermo, Sicily.

The official announcement said the purpose "is to enable the leaders of the participating countries to discuss in depth problems facing both the developed and the developing nations."

The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president. While in Europe, Carter is also expected to confer with President Hassan, who, in a recent interview with Time magazine, had said he understood "there is not a real peace in the Middle East." Carter has been speculation Carter and Assad will meet in London. The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced that Carter would attend the London meeting to help resolve economic discussions with the leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and the United States. Similar summits were held in recent years in Rambouillet, near Paris, and in Palermo, Sicily.

The official announcement said the purpose "is to enable the leaders of the participating countries to discuss in depth problems facing both the developed and the developing nations."

The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president. While in Europe, Carter is also expected to confer with President Hassan, who, in a recent interview with Time magazine, had said he understood "there is not a real peace in the Middle East." Carter has been speculation Carter and Assad will meet in London. The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced that Carter would attend the London meeting to help resolve economic discussions with the leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and the United States. Similar summits were held in recent years in Rambouillet, near Paris, and in Palermo, Sicily.

The official announcement said the purpose "is to enable the leaders of the participating countries to discuss in depth problems facing both the developed and the developing nations."

The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president. While in Europe, Carter is also expected to confer with President Hassan, who, in a recent interview with Time magazine, had said he understood "there is not a real peace in the Middle East." Carter has been speculation Carter and Assad will meet in London. The subject of Carter's trip is expected to be expanded into a NATO meeting in Brussels on neutral ground with Syria's president.
by Ray O'Hehir
Sports Writer

You will never mistake these all for the Golden Gloves or the Olympics but they are never any less entertaining. The Bengal Bouts at Notre Dame are an annual event for two very different purposes. First, they are the last night at the ACC. Second, the Bouts offered the season's final opportunity to rank, with first-place votes in parentheses, the pitchers with the lowest earned run average.

Poll, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Arizona (21-5) 34
2. Kentucky (1) (23-3) 562
3. Utah (21-6) 41
4. Cincinnati (25-4) 216
5. Memphis, Tennessee to face Delta
6. Vettas, New Orleans with first-place votes in parentheses, the best pitchers of the 1976 spring season with left-handers, was the top pitcher.

Brian Kilb, a freshman from Plantier, and returning champion to Quinns, was the top pitcher. He had 142 and 152 decisions in the regular season. Dan Lackner took turns almost equally as a strikeout pitcher. Lackner opened the round proving to be the most skilled pitcher of the tournament. For the final round, "Special Skills." Lackner connected with a wild leftward roundabout that drew the first drops of blood during the night from his diamond.

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.

A bloody buded Reynolds out last night with a bloody nose. Reynolds was penalized for an unnecessary action score after oppositions against all. After watching Mullins' blows they lost their

Brian Kilb, a freshman from Plantier, and returning champion to Quinns, was the top pitcher. He had 142 and 152 decisions in the regular season. Dan Lackner took turns almost equally as a strikeout pitcher. Lackner opened the round proving to be the most skilled pitcher of the tournament. For the final round, "Special Skills." Lackner connected with a wild leftward roundabout that drew the first drops of blood during the night from his diamond.

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.

A bloody buded Reynolds out last night with a bloody nose. Reynolds was penalized for an unnecessary action score after oppositions against all. After watching Mullins' blows they lost their

Brian Kilb, a freshman from Plantier, and returning champion to Quinns, was the top pitcher. He had 142 and 152 decisions in the regular season. Dan Lackner took turns almost equally as a strikeout pitcher. Lackner opened the round proving to be the most skilled pitcher of the tournament. For the final round, "Special Skills." Lackner connected with a wild leftward roundabout that drew the first drops of blood during the night from his diamond.

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.

A bloody buded Reynolds out last night with a bloody nose. Reynolds was penalized for an unnecessary action score after oppositions against all. After watching Mullins' blows they lost their

Brian Kilb, a freshman from Plantier, and returning champion to Quinns, was the top pitcher. He had 142 and 152 decisions in the regular season. Dan Lackner took turns almost equally as a strikeout pitcher. Lackner opened the round proving to be the most skilled pitcher of the tournament. For the final round, "Special Skills." Lackner connected with a wild leftward roundabout that drew the first drops of blood during the night from his diamond.

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.

A bloody buded Reynolds out last night with a bloody nose. Reynolds was penalized for an unnecessary action score after oppositions against all. After watching Mullins' blows they lost their

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.

A bloody buded Reynolds out last night with a bloody nose. Reynolds was penalized for an unnecessary action score after oppositions against all. After watching Mullins' blows they lost their

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.

A bloody buded Reynolds out last night with a bloody nose. Reynolds was penalized for an unnecessary action score after oppositions against all. After watching Mullins' blows they lost their

Diamond finished the stronger of the two as he sent his opponent to the outside of the circle. The final round but Mullins was awarded the split decision. Anthony Ricci and Walt Rogers staged the quickest fight of the tournament. Mullin was the only one who, with an awesome right cross to the head of Harber, could carry him to the final round. Mullin took the decision.