'Riot' causes sleep-out cancellation

by Barb Langhem

The An Tostal sleep-out planned for Friday night has been cancelled by Notre Dame security officials, the result of a night of disturbances, because of an incident which occurred in the area between Keenan and Zahm halls Monday night.

Roemer stated there was a "riot" on campus in which 200 people gathered and "stained a security car and assaulted a Lewis girl." Roemer said he was contacted by security at 1 a.m. and was on campus by 1:15 a.m. He added that it happened which alarmed him. Roemer reiterated his belief that the weather, saying it was a hot summer night. People probably started yelling out windows, and a spontaneous gathering occurred, he continued.

As a result of this new riot concern, which occurred in front of Keenan-Stanford, the staining of a security car and assault of a Lewis girl—-I have decided to cancel the sleep-out by Stepans Center," Roemer asserted. He added his premise was frighted by the collection of a crowd of people, and the Stepans Center was warm summer night.

Another condition, that people might try to throw students in the lake and this was dangerous. Roemer also believes that the lake will not become a pier and with a few beads in them, student swimmers might be in danger if the lake were to be turned out.

It is a "real, real serious thing when a security car gets stained that takes place in a riot situation," he claimed, adding, "It is alarming that a person, a student is out yelling and throwing things."

Noting that the lake is locked at night and pier and with a few beads in them, student swimmers might be in danger if the lake were to be turned out.

The Porsche then became engulfed by the collection of a crowd of people.

The driver reportedly jumped out of the car backfired as it turned down one street.

The 1971 letter to the yearbook attacks the overall lack of "candid pictures of black students." An apology was requested from the yearbook and published in the "gross oversight." Also lacking were color pictures of four people in black suits and bathrobes and this attracted more attention,

The RA's related that students started gathering outside and there were about 200 students, mainly from Zahm, St. Ed's, and Stanford halls, outside yelling and throwing M-60's, bottle rockets and fireworks.

Lenz also noted, however, that 99 percent of the people were standing around watching, while a small group of people were really involved in it.

The RA's said they went around and told Keenan residents individually to return to the dorm, which they did. They stated their hall was not primarily involved in the incident, which in their view, cannot be attributed to any one person or factor.

Richard Thomas, another RA, stated that the annoying thing was that the people in the infirmary were discontented that security was standing around watching, not doing anything to break it up. They were走路 around throwing firework.

Fr. Thomas Talarrida, rector of Zahm, stated there was a lot of shouting and the stage was set. He also noted there was a lot of excitement because some beautiful girls from Lewis came over in night gowns.

He emphasized it was his role to make sure it didn't get out of bounds with the groups. He added that security could not do anything because there were too many people.

Director of Security Arthur Pears stated two cars were sent and both cars had missiles shot at them. They added that they were not damaged, but had many scratches on them. He also said, "A girl came to claim she was picked up by a black car and wanted to "prove" what she wanted to do." He said she was frightened.

The "guys weren't trying to be vicious, but I don't like it one bit. I thought it was dangerous for the guys to be out there," she said.

Tallarida said the incident had died down by 2 a.m., while the RA's noted it was over between 1 a.m. and 1:30 a.m.

The Notre Dame Gospel Choir, which is composed of black students, which is composed of black students, was described as "outright discrimination, racial inclusions and problems when requesting the use of Crowley Hall and only being allowed to play a black cultural song list.

The ticket also provides coupons for other events, including a free concert to be held on Oct. 15.

The cancelled concert was the first concert was given inadequate accommodations in the Library Auditorium.

On one occasion, the Gospel Choir had a room in Crowley Hall for practice, but it was occupied when they arrived, according to the letter addressed to Professor Ronald Bonni, chairman of the music.

Graduation to remain at ACC
by Kathleen Connolly

Father Theodore Hesburgh turned down a proposal last Wed­nesday to change the location of this year's graduation ceremonies from the A.C.C. to the stadium. The proposal was submitted by Marty White on April 4, with a request that it be included in the budget discussion due to the issue.

In addition to a petition containing 850 signatures, were two letters from Senior Class President Rob Tully and from White. In his letter White proposed a seating arrangement for the stadium and gave his reasons for requesting the change. According to White, the ACC will accommodate 12,000 people, while the stadium is capable of holding 22,000.

The petition is the result of dissatisfaction with limited seating due to the appearance of President Jimmy Carter.

The planning for graduation is handled by the Administration's Graduation Committee. At one meeting, eight student representa­tives were informed of plans for using the ACC and of consequent ticket limitations, but they offered no objections. However, White said, "This was going on, and the students didn't know. It's too bad."

In a meeting with White, Hesburgh gave his reasons for turning down the proposal.

First, there would be many technical difficulties for the Secret Service if they were asked to prepare security plans for both the ACC and the stadium in case of rain. Also, if poor weather necessitated moving the ceremonies indoors, the ACC could not be expected to hold the stadium audience.

Hesburgh also expressed his concern that to hold graduation ceremonies in the stadium would only serve to reinforce the football image of Notre Dame and take away from the academic signifi­cance of the University.

Graduation has not been held in the stadium since 1959. Since that time, the ceremonies have been held either in the field house or on the South Quad in front of Father Sorin's statue. Since 1969, ceremon­ies have taken place in the ACC. In that year, tickets were issued because planners were not sure what to expect. No tickets have been issued since then.

"It is too bad Father Hesburgh never gave the graduates a choice as to Carrier or their families. It's too bad, but it's too late," White said.

Human rights forum scheduled

Debate on current human rights policy and American foreign policy will characterize an international symposium to be held April 27-30.

Representatives of Communist and non-Communist countries have been invited to join representatives of world human rights organizations, scholars and politicians at this symposium which is sponsored by the Law School's Center for Civil Rights.

In a letter to The Observer last week, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said two policemen will patrol the four block Corby Edly area. He added that they will arrest students for littering, loitering, disturbing the peace and for carrying alcohol outside tavern buildings.

"You can do anything you want while you're inside the bar," Ungashick said. "But take it easy on the way home, then there won't be any problems." Recently, Ungashick said, police license drove up to a ND student walking back to campus at night. The policeman shone a flashlight in the face of the student, then arrested him for drunkenness since his eyes appeared glassy. They later released the student when they discovered that his eyes weren't glassy, he was just wearing contact lenses.

Ungashick said this indicates the kind of problem students can expect from the new "get tough" policy. He added that he did not blame the students in the area who had complained to the police about the litter and the noise.

"They have a right to their privacy," he said.

Quann appointed Secretary

The HPC also approved the appointment of a new Secretary last night. Kristin Quann, a sophomore from Green-Phillips Hall, will hold this position from now until next May.

J.P. Russell, HPC chairman, re-commended Quann after interviewing nine candidates for the job. Twenty hall presidents approved Russell's choice, and two abstained.

Florencianne Strigle, student government academic commissioner, announced that student government will conduct a poll this week to determine "how students really do feel about a 8 a.m. exams." She said she would like to present the results of this poll at the Academic Council meeting on May 4.

"If we can get an input on this, then we can get results," she said. "If we don't get any input it's just going to be passed over, and next year for sure there will be 8 a.m. exams."

Krisee Montgomery, An Tostal chairman, officially announced that the Sleep Out had been cancelled "because of the trouble last night on the North Quad." Montgomery also went over last minute preparations with many of the hall presidents.

Tom Gryp, the new Student Union director, will speak at next week's HPC meeting in St. Joseph's Hall. This will be the final regular business meeting for the HPC this year.

Bender warns of crackdown by police in tavern area

by Bob Varenton

by Tom Gryp, S. U. Director

Dave Bender, student body pres­ident, warned Hall President's Council (HPC) last night that "the South Bend police are going to make examples of Notre Dame students who are arrested for littering, loitering, disturbing the peace and arresting people who litter or who are publicly intoxicated."

"They're really going to crack down," Bender said. "Already there have been five or six arrests, and there are going to be more coming." Joe Ungashick, student govern­ment chief of police, said two policemen will patrol the four block Corby Edly area. He added that they will arrest students for littering, loitering, disturbing the peace and for carrying alcohol outside tavern buildings.

"You can do anything you want while you're inside the bar," Ungashick said. "But take it easy on the way home, then there won't be any problems." Recently, Ungashick said, police

Names needed for Ombudsman award

The Ombudsman Service is solicting nominations for the third annual Ombudsman Award.

Forms and further details are available in the Student Government office on the second floor of LaFortune. All nominations are due back by Sunday, April 24, 1977. Until the office in order to be judged the same.

The Ombudsman Award is intended to recognize an individual whose efforts and contributions to student welfare exceed the norm and whose work with others is beyond question. In short, the individual most concerned about the development of a common goal which entails and deals with the needs of all of its members.

The nominations will be judged by a committee of faculty and administrators concerned for the welfare of the student body. Members are: William Berry, Professor of Electrical Engineering; Fredericks, Associate Student Government President for Student Affairs and Mr. James Roemer, Associate Director of Student Government.

The Ombudsman Service, hop­ing to find the best candidate in the student body, will accept any nomination for the award. All nominations should be submitted to the Student Government office on the second floor of LaFortune.

It all may depend on how well we work together

In recent weeks this publication has carried a series of messages from Armco. This series of Armco messages has talked about your job—how low profits, scarce energy, overregulation, and lacks of affirmative action for equal rights may hurt your chance of finding the job you want.

Each of these issues will have an impact on Armco’s ability to create high paying jobs. Armco will be making energy plans for the next ten years. We believe it’s important for everybody to think about how we can get Peter’s view. The economics and the politics involved, as well as the policies of the government, are of utmost importance.

The company states that many goals in a vacuum. We isolate one at a time and try to make a decision. Can we find a solution? Are there any other goals that have to be considered? What would have thought that making energy cheaper would lead to a decrease in demand or that eliminating discrimination in one form would create it in another?

We Americans also tend to isolate ourselves at little groups, when it

Plain talk about cooperation
At Armco, we’re working with many people to try to get things done. We’re asking government officials—local, state and national—to help us get the job we’re trying to stop saying: “We can’t”. We hope other people will stop demanding that we do things. We’re whining about the things we want us to do to help them in their work. We’re showing them what we need to keep our plan moving and people at the job. We’re more or less working together:
Let’s work together.

We don’t have all the answers.
But we’re trying to look at each issue thoughtfully, so we can at least deter the pertinent questions.

Next time you hear somebody demand that anybody else do something, maybe you should ask: “Has this idea ever been discussed with whoever will have to carry it out?” Getting those

you. We’ll all go a stake in making American jobs.
Crowded men’s housing situation to continue

by Diane Wilson

Staff Reporter

The crowded on-campus housing that faced the men at Notre Dame this year will remain much the same next year, according to John Mulcahy. Nothing will be done to relieve the housing problems, he stated.

One solution would be to force students off-campus by lottery, but Mulcahy said he did not feel there was enough of a problem to warrant it.

"People would rather live in crowded rooms than live off-campus," he continued. The crowding is all in how one looks at the dorms, he said. Mulcahy explained that six men living in a quad is not that bad when one considers that doubles are two men living in one room the same size as the rooms that make up the quads.

The total number of freshmen expected to enter the University next year is 1625:1225 men and 400 women, according to John T. Goldrick, Director of Admissions. This figure is less than the present freshman class, 1698:1257 men and 371 women. The reason for the decrease next year is that more freshmen elected to attend Notre Dame this year than were expected. The total anticipated undergraduate enrollment for next year is 6,700, 100 less than this year. The decrease is due to the smaller number of incoming freshmen and the large number of seniors graduating this year, Goldrick said.

The decrease in enrollment will help the housing problems some, said Mulcahy, but the housing problems that men have been experiencing this year, will continue next year.

Women are not facing much of a problem, Mulcahy said, although last year at this time they were short 43 beds. Mulcahy does not anticipate this to be too much of a problem, but expects housing for women to come out "right on the money." There will be a few women in the freshman class next year but this is expected to be off-set by the large graduating class he said. Women should not expect any problem with housing next year Mulcahy stated.

ND campaign plan outlined

by Mark Deemo

Editor's Note: This is a four-week series on the campaign for Notre Dame, covering the various aspects of the campaign.

The year of 1967 saw Notre Dame grow by leaps and bounds of growth and change. Not only was it the one hundred twenty-fifth anniversary of the University's establishment, but also it marked a transfer in the governing hierarchy of Notre Dame from an exclusively clerical to a predominantly lay Board of Trustees.

One of the most important agents for the University's future development was the enactment of the program SUMMA. SUMMA, which spanned the years from 1967 to 1972 was a comprehensive program to generate $2 million. With SUMMA, Notre Dame became the first university to ever attempt three capital gift campaigns in a row. The first two campaigns, "Challenge I" and "Challenge II," were moderately successful. The name SUMMA reflects the campaign's high aspirations, and has academic connotations, signifying the "highest of the best." SUMMA accelerated the pace of Notre Dame's progress, producing developments in the five years that many others would have taken fifteen. It became the blueprint for the next five year's development: setting up long range institution planning, establishing goals and priorities, and determining the University's direction.

It also generated resources which made the goals attainable. SUMMA can be broken down into four categories: faculty development, growth of graduate education, special research programs and general development.

The most vigorously pursued category, and the one that received the greatest allotment of money ($20 million), was faculty development. Money was allotted to make full professor of "endowed professorships" to help entice many a reputable professor to the University. Such moves were necessary in order to counteract the strong attraction of business and government jobs, as well as other teaching positions.

Growth in graduate education, to which $13.9 million was allotted, provided for new buildings, programs and equipment, besides adding new faculty members in these areas. Library development was to include improvements in computer techniques applied to operation and expansion and improvement of research collection.

The third category, special research, was allotted $8.5 million to provide additional facilities, programs and faculty members dealing in research areas.

Finally, under the category of faculty development, $3.5 million was allotted for student housing and other facilities.

The program brought in a final total of $62 million: $6 million from the donor, $50 million from the general public, and another $20.5 million from other alumni.

key role in the removal of constitutions. It was used by its advocates for the first time in 1973.

The Rockefeller Foundation, being a successor organization to the Rockefeller Family Interests in the United States, has been involved in population control efforts since 1945. The Rockefeller Foundation has supported various programs for the LMFBR, which can be delivered, but are not used for commercial purposes.

The Rockefeller Foundation has also supported the Association for the Study of Abortion Research Notes. This organization was founded with the primary aim of providing a forum for the exchange of ideas on abortion-related issues.

The Rockefeller Foundation has also provided support for research on the human brain and the nervous system. This support has included funding for the study of brain injuries and the development of new treatments for psychiatric disorders.

Why do we need the LMFBR? Because the supply of usable nuclear energy is not sufficient to support our needs. The Energy Policy of the United States is to ensure that the nation's energy needs are met in a safe, reliable, and environmentally sound manner.

Remember: The 65 degree temperatures in your dorm room or the 40 degree temperatures in your neighborhood, the brownouts in your city. As you know, these are just a couple of the ways in which the energy crisis is hitting home. The winter of 1977 was only a hint of what the future holds. President Carter will present his Energy Policy to Congress on April 30, 1977. Preliminary reports indicate that the Energy Policy will contain provisions for the remainder of the 1977-1978 winter. The Energy Policy will also contain provisions for the remainder of the 1977-1978 winter. The Energy Policy will also contain provisions for the remainder of the 1977-1978 winter. The Energy Policy will also contain provisions for the remainder of the 1977-1978 winter.

Remember: Forty-three years ago, the United States Congress passed the Economic Stabilization Act. This act created the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) which was charged with responsibility for developing a national energy policy.

The FEA was responsible for coordinating efforts between the federal government and the states. The FEA also worked closely with the private sector to develop solutions to the energy crisis.

Today, the Energy Policy is being developed by the Department of Energy (DOE). The DOE is responsible for implementing the Energy Policy and ensuring that it is carried out.

Remember: The Energy Policy is a complex issue that requires input from all stakeholders. The DOE is committed to ensuring that the Energy Policy is fair and equitable for all Americans.

Remember: The Energy Policy is not just about energy. It is about our future. The Energy Policy will guide our country for decades to come. It is important that we get it right.
THE EAGLE HAS LANDED

Directed by John Sturges
Starring Donald Sutherland, Michael Caine, Robert Duvall

It is 1945, and the Second World War is coming to an unhappy end for the Third Reich. Mussolini, Germany's most potent ally, is rescued from his Alpine prison by paratroopers and brought to Berlin. Inspired by this success, the desperate, crazed Fuhrer orders an investigation into the feasibility of kidnapping British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

In that we know that the plan falls before we see the film's final sequence. The Eagle Has Landed is not a movie that rises or falls according to the actor's skill, but to what he or she does to generate and sustain the plot.

The script is interesting but not convincing. The plot, by the way, is a piece of subversion. The Eagle Has Landed is a movie that rises or falls according to the actor's skill, but to what he or she does to generate and sustain the plot.

The prohibition against evening examinations should be lifted, but the $7,110 survey must be open as an alternative, according to a faculty Senate report on the department's examination question.

The report, compiled by an ad hoc committee of four faculty members, was approved by the Senate last night, and will be distributed to Academic Council representatives before they meet.

The committee based its recommendation on the results of two surveys; one of students and one of faculty. Of the 298 students responding, 31.89 percent said they would prefer to take an exam "outside regularly scheduled class periods" in the morning, while 31.34 percent said they would prefer one from an animal source. The committee also noted that over half the students responding do most of their studying for an exam the night before (rather than over a period of days) and sleep less the night before a morning exam than they do before an evening one. Morning tests also interfered with planned activities more often than evening tests.

No strong preference

The results of this study strongly suggest that the opportunity for evening examinations should be restored," the report stated. "But given a lack of a really strong preference for evening exams to 8 a.m. exams, it is worthwhile to continue the prohibition against scheduling classes and laboratories at 8 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

"However," the report continued, "a careful study should be made of the impact of continuing to use the 8 a.m. time slot for examinations."

Students who disapprove of the current early morning exam policy were asked to indicate which of four reasons best represented their reasoning. Over 47 percent of the total respondents said the time of day was too early.

Over twenty-nine percent of the faculty said they opposed the current policy because "it reduces flexibility in scheduling examinations, classes, laboratories, etc." and another 18.35 percent said "it is too early in the day."

Over nineteen percent of the students said they approved of the current policy because "there is less time to feel pressured," and 13.09 percent said "the time of day is better." Only 11.41 percent of the new policy frees up nights for other activities.

Conversely, 16.91 percent of the faculty surveyed said they approved of the current policy because "it avoids interference with planned evening activities for both students and faculty."

Some Senate members questioned the validity of the sample, given the poor response (21.5 percent of 600 faculty surveyed said and 46.33 percent of 600 faculty surveyed returned questionnaires). Commit­tee member Norman Hasser re­marked "When you consider that our TV programs are selected by 100 to 150 people or something like that, this is a pretty big sample. Students who never had a morning exam probably weren't interested and threw it in the trash."

Appoint proxies if unable to attend meetings.

The new proposal extends the recommendation to include elected student members of University bodies and stipulates that the appointed proxies will be other faculty members or students respectively who will have full speaking and voting privileges.

Under current regulations, only administrators may send their de­puties as proxies. The proposal will be voted on by the Academic Council in May.

Food Day menu

Food Day is sponsored by The Center for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI) as a "day of education and action on food issues." CSPI concerns include "ample food, good nutrition, and a fair-priced food supply" for the alleviation of hunger and malnourishment in America and around the world.

Since protein is essential, not only for good nutrition, but for life itself and since it is neither ample nor fair-priced for many, it is used as the focus of a special Food Day menu in the dining halls tomorrow.

The special dining hall menu—though it includes meat as one protein source— also offers several dishes utilizing protein comple­mentary vegetable sources, (e.g. Spaghettis-Fruit Peanuts, Peanut Salad with Peanuts, and Sunflower Seeds, Sesame Dream Bars). Also included are several com­binations in which the vegetable protein is complemented by "sur­plus" amino acids in milk or in eggs, e.g. Scalloped Potatoes Rice Con Queso.

Several posters in each dining hall present charts illustrating pro­tein complementarily. They also list examples of food combinations, which can be selected from the menu and show protein values for each.

Protein is available from many foods, though both quality and quantity vary widely with the source. Protein quality is deter­mined by which amino acids—the building blocks of protein—are present, as well as by their relative proportions (the biological values).

By these standards egg is the most perfect source of protein and meats follow. Vegetable sources also provide protein, though the proteins they provide may not contain all the essential amino acids they may be present in the wrong proportions. Thus they are "incomplete,* or of poorer quality than those of animal sources.

However, an amino acid supplied by vegetable source is as good as one from an animal source. The solution to the problem lies in combining proteins of different kinds so that the strengths of one source counteract the weaknesses of the other. For example, the right combination of beans and rice makes available about 43 percent of the essential amino acids to the body (those two foods were eaten separately).
What to tell your folks when you decide to change your major.

Dear Mom and Dad—

No one was ever very successful at something he didn’t believe in.
I’m no different.
For some time now, I’ve been plugging away at my major. My grades aren’t bad. My teachers aren’t bad. Everything’s not bad. But for me, that’s not good enough.
So I’m changing. I’m starting from scratch in a field that does excite me. I believe in it. And I know deep down, I’ll be better at it. And happier at it.
I hope you’re not disappointed in me.
I rather hope you’re proud of me.
Let’s talk about it when I get home.

ID's to improve next year

by Joe Slovic
Staff Reporter

Our Notre Dame students' ID's will be of a made of a more durable material for the 1977-78 school year, according to Assistant Registrar David Kil. The ID cards may have a magnetic strip and an additional year for the semester of purpose for admitting students to the dining halls. Kil also said that students will continue to use the same New York-based company to produce the ID cards.

"We've gone through a year of experience with a new company," Kil said. "Even though we've had some problems," he added, "the bugs have been worked out and things are starting to start and better start next year." Kil will again be taken at registration and Kil pointed out that the company has already had a year of experience using the cameras.

Kil stated that the University is attempting to put a magnetic strip on, in which will be coded information for admission to the dining hall. This magnetic strip will not be for all cards, but will be effective for the spring term. Kil said "We still have to work out.

The Bookstore Basketball tournament entitled "Sweet Sixteen," and a full slate of contests are scheduled for action late this afternoon. All of the hardcourt battles will be played on the Bookstore Courts.

Competiton throughout the tournament has been intense. Yet, most of the expected finalists have reached their destination with only a few aspects.

Choosing a Bookstore Champion is a matter at the very least, difficult. However, an attempt will be made to conquer the teams. After a great amount of deliberation, here are the picks for tonight's Bookstore battles:

TILCS vs. Stevie Wonder and the Deadeyes
Mike Hahn led Stevie Wonder and the Deadeyes yesterday, hitting seven of 11. Pat Holmes and Steve Orsini respectively for LAW. Snoap, played a fine all around with eleven baskets for the winners, while Tim Shea had 8 scores and Steve Orsini five for the losers.

The Butcher Brothers vs. The Champs
This battle will highlight the day's competition. The Butcher Brothers were defeated in their sectional game last year by this tough Nutmegger team. The Nutmeggers reached the final four in the 1976 tournament, only to be eliminated by Average White Team.

Mike Howard hit nine of 13 to advance The Nutmeggers to the "Sweet Sixteen." Together with Brother combo Mark and Mike Meyer, The Nutmeggers will have Bruce Flowers and company an intense contest. However, the Notre Dame cage star plus Dave Huffman and Bill Seeger will lead The Butcher Brothers onto further Bookstore action. The Nutmeggers "will fall short by five buckets.

The Expecetions lived up to their nickname as they shot 60 percent to defeat Steve Brown and Jim Carr, 17-7. John Vellutato, Chris Fabian, Jim Kelly and Bob Kennedy all had four or more buckets for the scoring nine times and grabbing a tournament record 18 rebounds. Hanflik was five of seventeen on the day, including four tenacious, rim-rattling, one-handed, slam dunks. Paul Peihle had five buckets and 12 rebounds. Bill Seeger and Dave Huffman had five and four scores respectively for the winners.

"Elite Eight" via a 21-15 victory. Dan Frailey and Jim Dragna tied for the losers scoring honors with seven tallies. John Vellutato, Chris Fabian, Jim Kelly and Bob Kennedy all had four or more buckets for the scoring nine times and grabbing a tournament record 18 rebounds. Hanflik was five of seventeen on the day, including four tenacious, rim-rattling, one-handed, slam dunks. Paul Peihle had five buckets and 12 rebounds. Bill Seeger and Dave Huffman had five and four scores respectively for the winners.

Ever think of going into your Father's business?

The Maryknollers...a worldwide mission group of priests, Brothers and Sisters working to alleviate spiritual and material ills in Third World countries.
Performing a range of spiritual and corporal works wherever they are assigned, Maryknoll missioners recognize and try to take care of their peoples' human needs. None is more important than their need to know God and the ultimate meaning this gives to human life on earth.

Just what is your Father's business?

Christians who recognize God as their Father, Jesus His Son as both their Savior and their brother, and people everywhere as their brothers and sisters, know that the happiness and salvation of every human being is their Father's business.

For young Catholic men and women in their college years, one exciting way of going into this business is to become a Maryknoll missioner. Maryknollers labor in 22 developing countries, helping the people in these countries realize their full dignity and potential as children of the one Father, God.

Maryknoll is permanent commitment

Young men and women who become Maryknoll priests, Brothers and Sisters make a lifetime, celibate commitment to serve their fellow human beings as Christ Himself did. There is no limit to the range of personalities and talents involved in overseas mission work, but its ultimate goal is identical for all. Maryknoll missioners strive to promote true happiness through justice, peace and love of neighbor, leading people they serve to the knowledge and love of God in this world, and eternal union with Him hereafter.

This Peruvian Indian child is typical of many served by Maryknoll missioners. Deprived of comforts and luxuries taken for granted by so many children in the United States, he nonetheless has the same yearning to be loved.
How are Maryknollers prepared for their work?

Candidates for the priesthood and most candidates for the Sisterhood must be college graduates. For the Brotherhood, two years of college or experience and skill in a trade are required before entry.

Young men and women admitted for training as Maryknoll missioners have varied preparation depending upon the branch of the mission apostolate they choose. In general, however, all are given the benefit of carefully planned orientation, theological education and overseas mission training to prepare for careers as effective, durable missioners. Length of training time for all candidates averages about five years.

More specific and detailed information about the orientation and education of priests, Brothers and Sisters will be sent in response to the card below.

How can YOU decide whether you should become a Maryknoller?

There are probably as many answers as there are individual Maryknoll missioners. Some are deeply moved when they hear of babies dying in their mothers' arms because of hunger or disease. Others are distressed by the growing antagonism and separation between the rich and the poor nations. More are concerned about the great injustices that have been inflicted upon the poor. Others look to learn from peoples who have grown up with a different mentality than their own.

All feel that the only solution to the crises that threaten to split men asunder is the love of God as shown in the life of His Son, Jesus Christ. This love of God urges us to be missioners so all can come to love one another as children of the same Father.

What could be your reason for joining Maryknoll?

Mail this card for more information about the life and training of Maryknoll Missioners.

Maryknoll Missioners...

will welcome generous new co-workers in Africa, Latin America and the Orient.

Maryknoll priests, Brothers and Sisters already at work are trying to clarify and deepen the sign of Christ’s love in other lands. Their goal is to awaken a hope for Christ in other people—to instill a confidence in local leadership to search for ways of opening up the community to the Holy Spirit by the strength and love they inspire. Their transient role is a symbol of the pilgrim Church moving through the world.

This is not an easy task, and many more generous young Americans are needed to accomplish it. Mission work is varied and changing because it is creative and human. Although it is a work as old as Christianity, the good missioner must be open to new possibilities of carrying it out. A deep faith and a capacity to love are necessary to live the life of a Maryknoller. If you have such faith and love, or feel you can develop them, Maryknoll is interested in you!
