James Burtchaell resigns as University provost

Rev. James T. Burtchaell, C.S.C., announced Thursday his resignation from the position of University provost. Burtchaell has served as provost since 1970, when he moved from chairmanship of the theology department. Burtchaell will resume full-time teaching in the theology department.

Burtchaell entered the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1952, was graduated from Notre Dame in 1956 and was ordained in 1960. Between 1956 and the reception of his Cambridge doctorate, he did graduate study and research in biblical theology at six institutions in this country, Europe and the Middle East.

Hesburgh, said. An advisory committee for selection of a permanent successor, outlined in the Academic Manual and composed of five elected faculty members of the Academic Council and one of its student members, will be formed at the first meeting of the Council.

Burtchaell will be returning to a faculty in theology which he joined in 1966 after receiving his Ph.D. in divinity from Cambridge University in England. He has served as chair of the theology department from 1968 until his appointment as provost in 1970 and was promoted to full professor in 1975. In his nine years as an administrator, he continued to teach and to write, principally in the areas of biblical ethics and sacramental theology. He also lived in a student residence hall, where he served eight years as assistant rector.

He has served on virtually every major University committee and his off-campus professional activities included major roles in the American Academy of Religion, the council on the Study of Religion, the American Council of Learned Societies' Advisory Committee on the Study of Graduate Education in Religion, and the Association of University Affiliated Colleges.' Commission on religion in Higher Education. Burtchaell has also represented Notre Dame in a variety of matters of common concern to Indiana institutions of higher learning.

Hesburgh commented on the resignation, "It is difficult to find words adequate to thank Father Burtchaell for his seven years of superlative service. He has set a standard that will be difficult, if not impossible, to match. The provost's office has been characterized by a style that reflected his high intelligence, broad vision and constantly courageous dedication to academic excellence." "He has attracted many talented scholars to Notre Dame," Hesburgh continued, "and has inaugurated new academic programs and procedures to better the University's educational enterprise. In particular, he has been actively engaged both in the current improvement of faculty salaries and in the amassing of permanent endowment to assure continuing progress in faculty compensation," he said.

A native of Portland, Oregon, Burtchaell entered the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1952, was graduated from Notre Dame in 1956 and was ordained in 1960. Between 1956 and the reception of his Cambridge doctorate, he did graduate study and research in biblical theology at six institutions in this country, Europe and the Middle East.

Why tomorrow's professionals choose Hewlett-Packard's first family of advanced calculators today.

They're proven performers. In space. On Everest. In the labs of Nobel laureates. Since we built the first, back in 1972, our advanced calculators have been tested by millions worldwide, and they've passed.

They have staying power. Today's classroom problems quickly grow into tomorrow's on-the-job problems. HP calculators are designed and built to handle both. They're investments in a future that happens fast.

They're straightforward. "Advanced" doesn't mean "complicated." It means "uncomplicated." HP calculators are, above all, straightforward.

They're personal. Professionals design their own ways to solve their particular problems, and they expect their calculators to be versatile enough to accommodate them. Ours are.

There's a variety. To say we offer a full line is an understatement. We offer a choice. That's why we publish a unique "Selection Guide" that spells out the capabilities of each. Your HP dealer has your free copy.

A look at Notre Dame student government

by Tom Byrne
Campus News Editor

Unlike many centralized high school student councils, several organizations compose Notre Dame's student government, each performing different functions while attempting to work together.

The Student Government organization itself consists of the Student Body President (SBP), Student Body Vice-President (SBVP), and their cabinet. Although its function may vary with the intentions of the officeholders, student government's general purpose is to respond to the needs of Notre Dame students. The SBP and SBVP run on a ticket and are elected each March. Aside from supervising the operation of Student Government, the SBP appoints the Student Government cabinet. Designed to serve specific areas of student concern, the cabinet is a student organization designed to aid any student in areas of social justice, and assists minority students. Patty Dondanville works as Student Government's Ombudsman, a troubleshooting organization designed to aid any student in need. She chairs the Student Government newslet-

Interest, Involvement increase in SMC student government

by Joan Polley
St. Mary's Editor

St. Mary's has always been, up until this year, a school where the student government was heard from very little and seen even less. The trend of student involvement during the past decade has changed all of that, however.

President of the student body is Mary Rukavina, a senior from Minnesota. She chairs the Board of Governance and the Student Assembly. As a member of every student board, she is the student body's official representative to college committees and in general, is responsible for the effective operation of student government.

Cathy Hedges, a junior from Minnesota, is vice president of academic affairs. She is responsible for all academic and co-curricular areas. She chairs the Student Academic Council and is a voting member of several college committees.

Kathy O'Connell, a junior from Virginia, is vice president of student affairs. She is responsible for all areas affecting student co-curricular life. She advises the Hall Presidents' Council and the Freshman Council and works closely with the Social Commissioner.

Social Commissioner is Jo Ann Mignanelli, a senior from New York. She was appointed to coordinate all social activities, working closely with Notre Dame.

Elections Commissioner is Maria Mignanelli. She chairs the elections committee and oversees all campus elections. This will be Mignanelli's second year as elections commissioner. She is a senior from Rhode Island.

Amy Hartwall, a sophomore from Ohio, is sports Commissioner. In this new position, she will be responsible for all sports activities.

The council reports on conditions affecting freshmen and assists in special projects and activities. The chief link between the various student government organizations is provided by the Board of Commissioners which determines all fiscal policies and regulates all campus-wide elections. Funds for the operation of student government are obtained through the student activities fee.
Alumni praise Hesburgh

University President Father Theodore M. Hesburgh has had his share of "hate mail" over the years.

Much of it came during the 15 years he served on the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, but his views on academic freedom, campus unrest, and amnesty for Vietnam offenders also drew periodic caustic mail.

But he's reading many more pleasant messages these days. Alumni replying to an annual direct mail solicitation were invited to add a short greeting to Father Hesburgh, who is observing his 25th anniversary as head of the University.

Here are some of the more interesting notes, penned by alumni:

"At 2:30 one morning four years ago, your open door policy was tested by me and four companions. You welcomed us in your office with wine, Beethoven and conversation. It made a lasting impression.

"Best wishes from a waiter and busboy in Corby Hall."

"You certainly have worked hard to lift Notre Dame to prominence. But female students! Still, anyone fired by Nixon can't be all bad. You're fielding '97."".

"Since you impressed me immensely helping me carry my luggage my first day on campus, I have followed your humble and impressive career..."

"Still remember when you were chaplain for us vets on campus. Still don't agree with many of the 'modern' decisions but know of no one who has tried harder to do an excellent job."

"I admire you most for your Warmth and constructive criticism..."

"From a homesick freshman who once walked back to his room after hours - thank you for inspiration and many others to follow."

"I saw many changes that I like..."

"I'll never forget the day in the back of Sacred Heart Church when you asked me to step into the chapel and serve Mass for you..."

"Your concern and work for the cause of social justice continue to inspire me and many others to remember what it means to be truly Christian."

"I saw many changes that I like as a student, but it is only in retrospect that I am able to appreciate fully your ability to draw the line when the fruits of these changes needed the chance to ripen."

"From an alumnus who helped remove the gum off your shoe in front of the University inn on a football Saturday."

"I talked with you at the (Lourdes) Grotto on campus the night before my graduation..."

"May you and Queen Elizabeth both celebrate your Golden Anniversaries!"

...this card will let you call long distance from your room faster and at less cost than any other way.

If you live in a residence hall, making a long distance call can be a hassle.

You either have to call collect (and that costs extra), or wait in line at a pay phone with a couple of pounds of change in your pocket.

Well, there's a way around all that. Get your free STUDENT BILLING CARD from Indiana Bell. A Student Billing Card lets you make long distance calls from the privacy of your room, and at direct-dial rates. That's a lot easier and more economical than any other way.

Besides, there's no waiting in line, and you keep the change. To get your STUDENT BILLING CARD just call 237-8182.

I'm writing this a little drunk Thursday night, rather Friday morning. The last remnants of the alcohol that I quaffed down on my way home are fading away and it only seemed to blot out the details of a feeling because it's a very serious matter. I don't really know that well, with this word "commitment" is almost nonexistent. When I first came to Notre Dame, like life in general, is some fantasy world. We'd rather start a blue lagoon or on the side of a mountain than the road to becoming the best students. We had the security of a "teen" at the end of your age makes things easier. There is something about 20 that spells responsibility, and with responsibility without driving yourself crazy? It's very confusing, and I think that I will always feel this way as an observer.

Tonight at the bar it finally dawned on me that maybe if it went on, they buy the lot next to the house and start constructing a house next to a renter than an checked I could go on living my life having a certain amount of enjoyment workmen get in the few weeks that renters think you can get a free ride in the summer time and we can really ruin his time.

"As soon as they see someone in a hammock taking a snooze or on the side of a road it's happening all over the country. It's nothing personal," one of the other men said. "We always build houses when people are on vacation. It's the best time of year to hammer; we're bringing in the chain saws to do the shingles of the house and the construction business is being smashed down all the trees. The hills are alive with the sound of wood saws, electric drills and dump trucks full of bricks. Do you think you're special?"

"But I rent," I protested. "I'll have to talk to me. No one said that it wouldn't be bad."

One thing that Notre Dame has allowed me to do is sit around and talk about the few weeks you'll follow me."

Seek New Visions

dave bender

Many years ago, a man by the name of Father Sorin received word from a small school in Indiana that he had founded years earlier. The news was not a pleasant one. It seemed that the University of Notre Dame du Lac, which Father Sorin had founded and had consumed the bulk of his energy over the course of the last four years. Now you come from Notre Dame, and begin all over, start at the bottom where no one really knows who you are or what you have done. It seems to me that you have two choices of how you can spend this first year at Notre Dame: You can rest on your laurels from the past and remain involved in the social and academic life, or here, can be come involved - in your hall, with community services, with student government, etc.

In other words you can accept the challenge of Father Sorin and reach out and expand our vision, our dream. This fire is telling us to reach out and expand our vision, our dream. This fire is telling us to reach out and expand our vision, our dream. This fire is telling us to reach out and expand our vision, our dream.

Father Sorin surprised all of them, however. He told quietly of the steps of the altar and told them, "If all were gone, I would not give up. For I am not exemplifying a true and honest faith unless there are some who will not go to the fire. For I am not exemplifying a true and honest faith unless there are some who will not go to the fire. For I am not exemplifying a true and honest faith unless there are some who will not go to the fire. For I am not exemplifying a true and honest faith unless there are some who will not go to the fire. For I am not exemplifying a true and honest faith unless there are some who will not go to the fire.

"Relax, no big deal." These were the words that Miss Mellon did that because she really was a very nice person: she understood students, she wasn't always surmounted by the pressure of a test. (This scene has a great deal of construction of a new administration building would begin immediately and that upon its completion, the dome would be sheathed with gold and a statue of Our Lady placed atop so that we might know why we have succeeded.

All of you had very successful high school careers or you would not be here. More than likely, you all were considered leaders, athletes, scholars, the great statues of last four years. Now you come to Notre Dame, and begin all over, start at the bottom where no one really knows who you are or what you have done. It seems to me that you have two choices of how you can spend this first year at Notre Dame: You can rest on your laurels from the past and remain involved in the social and academic life, or here, can be come involved - in your hall, with community services, with student government, etc.

All of these decisions will cost us our unassuaged questions and easy judgments, our familiar ways and protective barriers. It will cost complete surrender, but it is the only way to life. And that's the point of it all - the existence of this place and your own personal existence. I promise you: "I have come that you may have life, and it have to life." It's because of that promise that we cannot promise you will try to preserve your faith while you're here. You see, that would be to promise you far too little. Faith is a growing and deepening response to the experience of the living God; and at this point in your life, you (quite understandably) have a long way to go in discovering this God, experiencing His living presence, saying YES to it and to Him. I wish you the adventure of all of these next four years.

All right, Freshman! Come out of the closet and let us see who you are really are!!

"You've earned a chance to develop other sides of yourself. You've come off the road (from Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Miami, Chicago, St. Paul, Dallas, wherever) and found yourself not at the end of a journey, but in the company of many other people who will be joining you for the continuation of movement toward the fullness of life. It's your good fortune you have arrived here at harvest time. This can help focus your attention on the fact that we deal with death and life during these years. The only way we can call ourselves by the name of one who is the Lord of Life, and not to death, is to degrees in life in the signs of the cross.

Hesburgh debates

Rev. Theodore Hesburgh University president, was a member of a three-man United States team debating a three-man team from the Soviet Union on the subject of human rights. The debate was carried live on NBC, June 12.

The other members of the American team were Robert G. Kaiser of the Washington Post, formerly Moscow Bureau chief for the Post, and Prof. Alan M. Dershowitz of Harvard Law School, an authority on international law.

The English-speaking Russian representatives were Prof. Samuel Zies, senior researcher of the Institute of State and Law, Soviet Academy of Sciences, and vice president of the Association of Soviet Lawyers; Prof. August Mishin of the Faculty of Law, Moscow University, and Ghenrih Ghenrih Mishin of the Faculty of Law, Moscow University, and vice president of the Academy of Sciences, and Prof. Alan M. Dershowitz of Harvard Law School, an authority on international law.

The debate was carried live on NBC, June 12.

Hunter suspension

Hunter announced his acceptance of the fall suspension August 15, an hour before a hearing on injunctive relief was to begin in St. Joseph County Circuit Court. He is presently in Seattle trying out for a position as a Seattle Seahawk. If he makes the team, he plans to return to Notre Dame in January.

Recommendation.

Following this decision, Hunter decided to sue the university seeking the opportunity to complete his education and play a final season of football.

Construction projects

Work on a number of construction projects on campus was completed several days before the fall semester began. Among these projects was the Cushing residence hall. Graduating seniors in Carrol Hall also have been moved into the new residence hall.

Remaining construction projects include an addition to the Cushing residence hall, and continuing work on facilities for the Hospital of St. Edward.

Tuition increased

Notre Dame has announced a $250 tuition increase for undergraduates, bringing the total to $3,680 a year.

The increase was approved by the Board of Trustees.

During the summer, freshman year of Studies Dean Emil T. Hofman suffered a mild stroke. He is back to work now, however, and will continue his duties.

Hofman has been a member of Notre Dame's faculty since 1953 and dean of Freshman Year since June 1971. He is originally from Paterson, N.J. After attending the University of Miami in Florida, he received his master's and doctoral degrees at Notre Dame.

Emil continues work

Hofman has been a member of the University faculty in the early 1950's, he was appointed a professor in 1968. He has also served as assistant chairman of the Department of Chemistry, and assistant dean of the College of Science.

Introducing a new Stereo System Specially Designed

We at The Sound Room have found that many of you who are shopping for a new stereo system with a modest budget want a system that will sound good in an average-sized room. With this in mind, we made several evaluations of various component systems in a listening room the size of an apartment room. As a result, we now have matched quality brand-name components together for a stereo system that will play your favorite music effortlessly in all but the largest of listening rooms.

Harman Kardon 330C is the Key

The biggest reason this system sounds so good is the newly engineered Harman Kardon 330C AM/FM stereo receiver. Harman Kardon engineers have been able, with new testing methods, to work towards the elimination of previously unacceptable classified but detectable forms of distortion in the design of the amplifier section of the new 330C. The result of this new technology is a crisp and far more detailed sound than possible with more conventional designs. The FM section of the 330C uses a high quality, five section tuning capacitor, combined with innovative new designs in the RF and

More cops at bars

Students under 21 years of age may want to find some place other than the local bars to greet old friends to or meet incoming freshmen for the next few weeks.

As of last night, additional policemen are patrolling the bar area (including the Library, Notre Dame Center, and Judd's) South Bend Uniform Division Chief Donald Fox told the Observer yesterday.

"Every year we have the same problem for a few weeks after school starts, and we're not going to wait until a problem develops this year," Fox said.

"We're not out to make arrests," Fox explained, "but we want to keep things in line." Fox said that the policemen will issue "a lot of warnings" the first couple weeks of the semester, but added that if necessary, arrests will be made.

Underage drinking is not the only thing police are concerned about though. Anti-noise and anti-littering ordinances are in effect and will be enforced also.

The shuttle bus which runs between the St. Mary's and Notre Dame campuses will run experimentally for the first 90 days of the semester.

Because of financial difficulties, the service, other than during the class hours, may be discontinued.

SMC campain

St. Mary's President John Dugan has announced a campaign to raise money for the construction of a new library.

Three months into its five-year, $330 million development campaign, Notre Dame has slightly more than one-half its goal. Gifts and commitments total $66,250,080, representing 51 percent of the goal.

The University announced The Campaign for Notre Dame April 15 with $57.8 million already pledged. A total of 21,150 donations have thus far been received from individuals, foundations, corporations and estates.

President Theodore Hesburgh earlier said that $92 million of the overall goal is earmarked for increasing the University's $110 million endowment in order to undergird future academic quality.

Notre Dame's drive is the largest in its 135-year history and the 12th largest now underway in American higher education.

Shuttle bus

Toward Vatican II

The shuttle bus which runs between the St. Mary's and Notre Dame campuses will run experimentally for the first 90 days of the semester.

Because of financial difficulties, the service, other than during the class hours, may be discontinued.

SMC campaign

St. Mary's President John Dugan has announced a campaign to raise money for the construction of a new library.

Three months into its five-year, $330 million development campaign, Notre Dame has slightly more than one-half its goal. Gifts and commitments total $66,250,080, representing 51 percent of the goal.

The University announced The Campaign for Notre Dame April 15 with $57.8 million already pledged. A total of 21,150 donations have thus far been received from individuals, foundations, corporations and estates.

President Theodore Hesburgh earlier said that $92 million of the overall goal is earmarked for increasing the University's $110 million endowment in order to undergird future academic quality.

Notre Dame's drive is the largest in its 135-year history and the 12th largest now underway in American higher education.

St. Mary's administrators busy during the summer

by Jean Powley
St. Mary's Editor

St. Mary's campus was not completely deserted this summer, as students returned home to work, went abroad or heard around in the sunshine.

Administration staff members remained on campus for the 1977-78 school year. Of these many administrators, the five senior officers of the college, plus three others of special interest to students should be mentioned.

A member of St. Mary's college community since 1959, Hickey was a member of the biology department until 1972. He was then appointed vice president of academic affairs. During the 1974-75 school year he served as acting president of St. Mary's.

President of the college since 1975 is Jack Duggan. Formerly president of Vassar College, Duggan is responsible for the entire college and must report to St. Mary's Trustees, the Board of Regents.

William A. Hickey is vice president of academic affairs and dean of the faculty. He oversees the entire academic life at St. Mary's. Academic administrators and faculty members all answer to him.

Then, in the fall of 1975 he assumed his present position of vice president of academic affairs and dean of faculty.

The man in charge of St. Mary's fiscal affairs is Jason D. Lindower, controller. He is the college's treasurer, overseeing St. Mary's financial affairs. He left the college for a few years, returning last fall.

When your parents leave, the University takes over

by Kathy Mills
Executive Editor

So, you've made it to college. And you're living away from home and away from your parents' watchful eyes. Naturally, you think you can do anything you want now, right? Guess again...

As you have probably noticed by now, none of Notre Dame's residence halls are coed. Further, each hall has and enforces specific hours for parietals, or visitation by members of the opposite sex, in student dormitory rooms.

According to Du Lac, the student manual, "Individual halls will set their visitation hours within the following limits: Visiting hours for guests of the opposite sex are not to begin before 11 a.m. on any day and are not to extend beyond 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, and midnight on other nights. On home football Saturdays visitation will begin at 10 a.m."

If you break these parietal regulations and get caught doing it, chances are you'll have more done to you than having your hands slapped. Parietal violations, being considered "offenses against the good order of the hall community," are considered within the hall.

This means that you can choose to have your case considered either by your rector, with an appeal to the Dean of Students, or by your hall judiciary board, with an appeal to your rector. However, as Du Lac notes, "If hall authorities decide or if the Dean of Students sees the need for it, cases of a very serious nature against the good order of a hall may be considered as though they were violations of University rules or regulations." In this case, a different disciplinary procedure is taken, which is outlined in Du Lac.

You may drink in your rooms or elsewhere on nonresidential campus buildings. If you are looking for some furniture this semester, many bars in South Bend also stock up furniture delivered safely to your room.

If you do not receive your number when everyone else does, call 237-8182.

Billings numbers due soon

If you ordered a student billing number from the Indiana Bell Telephone Co. for long distance phone calls and are wondering when you will receive yours, the numbers will be delivered in the mail within the next week and a half. To report any problems or if you do not receive your number when everyone else does, call 237-8182.

Furniture available

If you are looking for some furniture this semester, many bars can be found at the Salvation Army store on N. Main, two blocks south of the bus terminal downtown. The Salvation Army offers low prices on chairs, sofas, tables and other furniture.

Goodwill Industries on W. West Street also stocks up on used furniture. Both the Goodwill and Salvation Army deliver, so if you are stuck without a car, for a small fee you can get your furniture delivered safely to your room.

If all you need is a rug or a bookcase, you can go to Stepan Center, where the Student Union is holding their annual sale.

Laverty to direct student activities at SMC

by Jean Powley
St. Mary's Editor

St. Mary's Student Affairs Office has a new face. Mary Laverty, former Regina Hall director, is the college's new director of student activities.

She has, along with Minnie Owens, director of housing and Kathleen Cordes, director of athletics and recreation, replaced former assistant dean of student affairs, Stevie Wernig.

Laverty is responsible for all student activities. She advises student government; coordinates hall, class and all-campus activities; advises the yearbook; coordinates faculty-student activities; is the administrative contact person for volunteer services; and is a member of three standing administrative committees.

She plans to focus on bringing more social and academic activities to St. Mary's campus, instead of having students going off-campus or to Notre Dame for all activities.

"There's nothing wrong at all with our students going to Notre Dame, but they do live here, so their non-academic needs should be met here," Laverty explained.

In order to plan more activities on St. Mary's campus, there must be communication and organization between all groups. Therefore, a master calendar has been drawn up to avoid conflicts.

Laverty's other ideas include distribution of an interest survey, covering 80 to 100 broad topics, to help the college understand students' needs and desires; encouraging halls and classes to sponsor a variety of hall activities; for instance, a Sadie Hawkins picnic or gaslight theatre; a faculty, administration and staff directory listing hobbies and interests which they might be interested in sharing with students; concerts in the new athletic facility; YWCA programs on campus; a fund-raising drive for programs affiliated with St. Mary's; an after-college series on practical everyday life (how to buy furniture, insurance etc.); and an alcohol awareness program.

Volunteer services involvement will be stressed heavily this year. There are 14 volunteer organizations on campus which students may become involved in. Laverty feels such activities are worthwhile from the humanity aspect, as practical career experience and as a relaxed environment for meeting people.

"Students complain that all there is to do socially at St. Mary's is drink and that's simply not true. We're going to make sure that everyone knows there's a lot more to do here," Laverty explained.

On the job since June 8, Laverty says that she has already found her experience as a hall director last year to be invaluable.

"I lived with the students. I know better now what they like and don't like," she said.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Laverty graduated from St. Francis College (Loretto, Pa.) with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. She earned a master of science degree in counseling from Shippensburg State College, specializing in student personnel services.
Michiana area features restaurants, nightlife

by Kevin M. Walsh
Staff Reporter

Chances are good that many students have had second thoughts about attending a school in Indiana on their way to Notre Dame. From almost any direction, travelers are subjected to seemingly endless stretches of cornfields.

However, the South Bend area isn’t as desolate as the miles of cornfields would make one think and the area does have a great deal to offer.

The first stop for many Diners may be one of the many in Michiana. Within a mile of Notre Dame, the beer flows freely at several spots. On Notre Dame Ave., in the Library, but the resemblance between that Library and the one on campus ends with the name. The campus library is where one goes before finals, while the one on Notre Dame Ave. is where one goes after.

Not far from the Library, the nightlife continues with three watering spots clustered around the intersection of Eddy and Escher Streets. Nickie’s combines good spirits with good food and to crunch the munchies. Nearby, Bridget McGuire’s Filling Station, decorated to resemble the roaring twenties, and Celby’s provide a little diversity for the student who desires to waste a weekend.

Freshmen should be warned, however, that Indiana is a “21 state.” The legal drinking age to 19 last year failed so those who prefer to drink without the worry of being nabbed by the police, a short drive north on U.S. 31 takes one into Michigan where the legal age is 18.

Shula’s, located just north of Shula’s, is rumored to have the best seafood in the Midwest (those who live on either coast and are accustomed to good seafood will soon learn, however, that such a reputation is not hard to achieve in the midwest). Macri’s, located on Eddy Way West, has delicious Italian cuisine, and the Beacon Bowl on Lincoln Way West, serves mostly American food and is located on the south side of town.

For the real outdoor types, Bendix Woods offers five-and-a-half miles to the west and can be easily reached by Greyhound Bus, Amtrak, or the South Shore train line. The great number of attractions offered by the city should be experienced at least once before leaving Notre Dame.

SAVE 10 to 50%

The burden of a Freshman is a trying load, however, alternatives are available.

For the real outdoor types, Bendix Woods offers five-and-a-half miles of nature trails as well as camping and fishing in the summer. Tubing, skating and sledding are available in the winter.

Cordes leaves ND to coach at SMC

by Jean Powley
St. Mary's Editor

Athletic programs and facilities cannot run themselves, especially when they're in the process of growing and changing quickly like St. Mary's is.

So the college has hired Kathleen Cordes, former varsity tennis coach and instructor at Notre Dame, to oversee the Angela Athletic Facility, all athletic programs and other sports facilities on campus.

As Director of Athletics and Recreation, Cordes has been responsible this summer for the planning of the Angela Athletic Facility's dedication ceremonies, the hiring of coaches for St. Mary's nine various varsity sports (field hockey, golf, softball, tennis, basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, swimming and fencing), scheduling of the new building, development of varsity and intramural programs and planning of special athletic programs.

She also represents the college in the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) and in the Midwest Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (MAIAW).

Name that team!

St. Mary's students will vote on a name for all of the college's athletic teams. Wednesday, Aug. 31 in the dining hall.

Names on the ballot will be the winning name will be announced on Sept. 10 at the Angela Athletic Facility's dedication ceremony.

SMC athletic building completed

by Jean Powley
St. Mary's Editor

St. Mary's Angela Athletic Facility is completed at last and will be dedicated in ceremonies Sept. 9-11.

According to Kathleen Cordes, St. Mary's new director of athletics and recreation, present policies for use of the building are experimental and will be revised as needed.

The building will be open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1 to 11 p.m. on Sundays. It will be closed on home Notre Dame football afternoons.

Students may schedule courts one or two days in advance, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. by calling the facility.

When courts are unscheduled, players will be allowed to use them on a first-come, first-served basis.

Faculty members will be allowed to schedule courts one day in advance. Only faculty members may schedule courts between noon and 11 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Priority events such as physical education classes, varsity sports, club functions and school functions have priority over private persons' scheduling.

Notre Dame students may use the facility if accompanied by a St. Mary's student. Everyone must show an ID to play.

Comprising 30,000 square feet, the Angela Athletic Facility houses three interchangeable courts floored with resin-guard for tennis, basketball and volleyball; a multi-purpose area for fencing, gymnasdics, tumbling, exercising and dance; two racquetball/handball courts; and a sauna, offices, dressing rooms and storage areas. Reserved seats will accommodate 2,000 spectators.

The vertical surface of the building is covered with a translucent wall material which will ensure low heat consumption during summer and winter alike. Because of its translucence, electrical lighting during daylight hours is not necessary.

The exterior end walls of the complex are designed as panels which can be dismantled and relocated if expansion should ever be undertaken.

The Year of the Irish?

Bone's Briefs

According to most of the collegiate sports "experts," 1977-78 is supposed to be one of the most outstanding athletic seasons in the University of Notre Dame's 136-year history. Not since the fall of 1973 has Notre Dame won more football games and has earned a higher national ranking than it has in the 1977-78 season.

Notre Dame is most definitely a football team. The Fighting Irish will begin its 123rd season on September 29, 1977 at the Orange Bowl versus the University of Southern California. The Irish football team is expected to go undefeated.
