HPC to vote on revised constitution

by Bob Varettil
Senior Staff Reporter

Beginning this week Hall Council members will vote to accept or reject a revised Notre Dame Student Government constitution.

The proposed constitution is the work of a committee of three students appointed by the Hall Presidents’ Council (HPC) in November. The committee members were Tom Byrne, student government press secretary, Tracy Kate, HPC executive coordinator, and Bill McLean, former Undergraduate director.

Byrne noted that the present constitution has been obsolete since October, when the Board of Trustees replaced the student Life Council (SLC) with the Campus Life Council (CLC) and abolished the University J-Board. “The constitution had to be overhauled anyway,” Byrne added. “It was outdated, scanty, and contained loopholes.”

Byrne pointed out the five major changes the proposed constitution would make. “Probably the biggest overall improvement is the wording of the document,” Byrne said. “It’s more specific and less pompous.”

Another change is in the makeup of the student government’s Board of Commissioners. According to the present constitution, three of the seven positions on the Board have to be held by SLC representatives. These positions, in the proposed constitution would be filled by an elected HPC representative, the Judicial Coordinator, and the Student Union Director.

A third change is an entirely revised section on the Student Union. The proposed constitution would abolish the Student Union Board of Directors and replace it with a Student Union Steering Committee. The Steering Committee would consist of three elected Student Union Commissioners, the Director, and the Comptroller.

The proposed constitution would form a Student Advisory Board to provide outside advice and assistance to the Student Union. The constitution would also revise the method of appointing a Director. No longer would there be a Special Appointment Board, but a nomination and interview by the Board of Commissioners.

A fourth change would be in the formation of a Judicial Council, composed of a president, Judicial Board Chairman from each hall, two vice presidents, and a Judicial Coordinator who will serve as Chairman of the Council, and “he or she shall promote efforts that will foster greater student understanding of the University rules.”

Finally, Byrne noted that the proposed would “increase the accountability of Student Government.” A public record would be kept of the decisions made at each meeting of the Council.

Mrs. Humphrey appointed to Senate

by Ellen Budy

The second of a five-part series on Women’s Awareness was presented last night by Marta Brace, a South Bend midwife, who spoke to a small, informal gathering about “Women’s Health.”

Opening the discussion by introducing herself and explaining her job as a midwife, Brace turned the discussion over to the group asking the audience to pose questions dealing with women’s health.

During the next hour the topics discussed ranged from what is a physical to questions concerning breast feeding, RH factor and abortion.

Brace has a B.S. in Nursing, received her certification in midwifery from the University of Illinois and has recently completed studies for her Masters. Brace previously held an administrative position at the Indiana University Medical Center in obstetrics and was at one time the only woman on the staff of the Student Health Center at Purdue.

Her present position as midwife in South Bend includes caring for women during pregnancy, delivering the baby and caring for the baby and the mother after the birth. She also handles many aspects of women’s health such as physicals, birth control and education of young women.

The third segment of the Women’s Awareness series will be presented Feb. 22 with Walter Keller assistant professor of psychology at St. Mary’s discussing the role of women and the changes it has gone through in recent years.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) Muriel Humphrey, who says she wants to “help complete” some of her late husband Hubert’s unfinished legislative business, was appointed yesterday to his vacant seat in the U.S. Senate by Minnesota Gov. Rudy Perpich.

Mrs. Humphrey, who will be 66 next month, becomes the only woman in the Senate. She will serve at least until a special election is held next November to fill the remaining four years of her husband’s term.

Humphrey died of cancer at his lakeside home in Waverly, Minn. on Jan. 13. He was 66. The couple had been married 41 years.

Mrs. Humphrey declined to say whether she would run in the special election. “That’s a long time away. I have no idea,” she told reporters.

She said she had never discussed with her husband the possibility of serving out his term. “I think that Hubert never once said that he was going to do anything but go back to the Senate,” she said.

“I had no guidance, at all from him in the decision,” she said. “I hope that he is guiding me today, along with a good many other people, in this decision, because I feel it was a very, very difficult decision to make and a very responsible one to make. I do not take it lightly, not as a caretaker job.”

Mrs. Humphrey said she was in excellent health and plans to tackle Senate duties “in a vigorous manner.”

Recalling campaigning with her husband for senator, vice president and president, her six trips to the Soviet Union and a visit to China, she said: “I feel I have a good bit of background for this position.”

The appointment was announced at a news conference in the lobby of an apartment complex in Hillsboro Beach, a suburb of Fort Lauderdale, where Mrs. Humphrey is vacationing.

Minnesota law requires the governor to make a temporary appointment until a special election. Perpich had flown to Florida late Tuesday night and spent about two hours conferring privately with Mrs. Humphrey before the announcement.

While earlier speculation suggested that she would be a “wet” candidate...
No satellite radiation found

WASHINGTON, Northwest Territories - U.S. and Canadian planes sweeping the skies for radiation from a fallen Soviet satellite spotted their task yesterday to the Lake Superior area of the United States, but not yet detected, officials of the two countries said. They stressed that air samples were being taken in that corner of the northern United States as a precautionary measure. The planes were specially equipped with gamma-ray detectors, but there is no indication of any radioactivity so far, U.S. State Department spokeswoman Jill Schkor told reporters in Washington.

Cancer study to begin

WASHINGTON - The federal government will conduct a nationwide study of breast cancer victims to see if sarcinosis, alone or with other factors, causes this kind of cancer in humans as it does in rats, it was announced yesterday. The National Cancer Institute and the Food and Drug Administration said their study will look at the cases of 3,000 bladder cancer patients to try to determine which factors contribute to the disease. The lifestyles of the patients will be contrasted with those of 6,000 persons without cancer to see what role such things as drinking, cigarettes, occupational exposures to chemicals, and at the artificial sweeteners saccharin and cyclamate play in the disease.

U.S. mayors discuss budget

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Conference of Mayors says the economic philosophy that underlies President Jimmy Carter's $500.2 billion budget plan is flawed and can't work in today's urban, or any urban, setting. "You cannot develop a national urban policy while cutting back on federal government's share of the Gross National Product. You have to spend more money," Mayor Lee Attwater of Sugar Land, Colo., said yesterday. Alexander, president of the conference, said the nation's big cities may try to help shape Carter's urban policy due in mid-March. But he said he was concerned about the president's expressed desire to hold down federal spending as a percentage of the nation's overall economy.

Social justice workshop planned

This weekend students and faculty from St. Mary's and Notre Dame to participate in a workshop that has been described by Mgr. John J. Egan, director of the Center for Pastoral and Social Ministry, as "one of the most outstanding learning experiences" that he remembers.

Sponsored by CILA in conjunction with student government, the workshop will focus on three basic questions: "How can students and faculty identify powerlessness and oppression on local, national and international levels?" Are students and faculty obligated to do anything about these injustices? and 3) How can they effect change?

Part of the workshop will be reserved for discussion of participants' questions.

The workshop will be given by Sr. Marjorie Tuite and Harry Fagan, two of the country's outspoken leaders in social action ministry. Tuite, a teacher in Chicago, raises challenging questions regarding the Christian's obligation to social ministry. Her insights are frequently based on Scripture.

Fagan, a community organizer in Cleveland, concentrates on strategies and action plans used in social ministry. His insights arise from many years of street experience. "Their combined perspectives offer an exciting way of looking at and helping us work toward social justice," according to Don Murphy, Education officer in CILA.

ERRATUM

Due to a typographical error, National Labor Relations Board field examiner Joseph Duffey was misquoted in Tuesday's Observer as saying that the University "must agree to announce pay increases and other benefits for the purpose of lessening their interest in unionization." Duffey actually stated that the University "must agree not to announce pay increases..." and other benefits for the purpose of lessening their interest in unionization. The error occurred in the eighth paragraph of the article on NLRB unfair labor practices charges on Tuesday's front page.

Students comment on ND Saga food service

by Ed Moran

Students have relatively few complaints about "Saga Food Services," the firm which took over cafeteria operations this semester. Some students even had kind words about the change. Commented one, "It tastes better than last semester." Said another, "the salad bars are an improvement."

Students also don't seem to mind the new meal card checking procedure. "The wait is never more than five minutes," said a student who eats at the South Dining Hall.

Despite the students' acceptance of the new system, local carry-out endure. "The wait is never more than five minutes," said a student who eats at the South Dining Hall.

Carter advised to discourage US investment in South Africa

Washington [AP] - The Carter administration should forcefully discourage U.S. investment in South Africa because of that country's official policy of racial apartheid, a Senate subcommittee said yesterday.

"We're saying that if the South African government wants to continue down the road of legalized repression, this country is not going to support it," said Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on Africa.

The United States has publicly condemned South Africa's racial policies and refused to sell arms to the government of Prime Minister John Vorster.

The present policy is to neither encourage nor discourage trade with South Africa. Washington has imposed sanctions, but the economic and military self-sufficiency of South Africa's apartheid regime, "the panel said. "This," it said, "undermined the fundamental goals and objectives of our foreign policy."

How Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics gives you a competitive edge in school.

School at any level means reading . . . lots of it. Keeping up with thousands of pages can take a heavy toll in time and energy, and grades. If you’re typical, you read 150 to 350 words a minute. But how do you get ahead of the rest?

Evelyn Wood can triple your reading rate and improve your comprehension and study skills.

Hundreds of thousands of students use the Reading Dynamics Method. They find reading less of a chore. Concentration and retention improve, which can lead to better grades. A competitive edge is important . . . too important for you to delay.

Prove it to yourself today!

Whether you’re thinking of grad school or the job market, or if you want to keep up with course reading today, let Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics give you a competitive edge.

In fact Evelyn Wood guarantees that you will triple your reading rate if you follow the course correctly, or your full tuition refunded. That’s our competitive edge.

NOTICE

Yadin was the first senior government official to confirm an exchange of land for peace. In Tel Aviv, deputy Prime Minister Yigal Yadin said Israel made an informal offer to Egypt for an exchange of territory to solve the dispute between the two countries over Jewish settlements in the Sinai peninsula. Yadin was the first senior government official to confirm an exchange of land had been proposed. Yadin said on television the proposal was raised in "hearsay of an informal nature" but Egypt rejected it. Sadat has said Egypt's insistence on keeping Jewish settlements in the Sinai caused him to break off the peace talks last week. Israel has about 20 settlements in the Rafah Salient in northeastern Sinai.

Yadin said the Rafah area covers only half one of 1 percent of Egyptian territory and that if an exchange were agreed upon, Israel could not give up more than one half 1 percent of its territory.

By Yadin's calculation, Israel would lose 40 square miles of a sparsely populated section of the Negev Desert. Prime Minister Menachem Begin has publicly rejected the idea of changing the accepted Israeli-Egyptian boundary.

King Hassan of Morocco called on Arab countries to rally behind Sadat saying such support would put pressure on Western leaders to persuade Israel to withdraw from occupied Arab territory.

Sadat has said Egypt's insistence on keeping Jewish settlements in the Sinai caused him to break off the peace talks last week. Israel has about 20 settlements in the Rafah Salient in northeastern Sinai.

Yadin said the Rafah area covers only half one of 1 percent of Egyptian territory and that if an exchange were agreed upon, Israel could not give up more than one half 1 percent of its territory.

By Yadin's calculation, Israel would lose 40 square miles of a sparsely populated section of the Negev Desert. Prime Minister Menachem Begin has publicly rejected the idea of changing the accepted Israeli-Egyptian boundary.

King Hassan of Morocco called on Arab countries to rally behind Sadat saying such support would put pressure on Western leaders to persuade Israel to withdraw from occupied Arab territory.
The Notre Dame basketball team earned its second victory of the season last night in the ACC, defeating the Mountaineers of West Virginia, 103-82.

The contest was close for the first nine minutes of action, with the teams remaining within 10 points of each other. However, Notre Dame pulled away with a 10-2 run to open the second stanza. The Irish went on a 13-0 run to end the first half, and never looked back.

In the second half, Notre Dame remained dominant, scoring 61 points on 26-of-49 shooting. They also held West Virginia to just 21 points on 12-of-31 shooting.

The Irish out-rebounded the Mountaineers, 38-27, and held them to just 30 percent shooting from the field. They also out-rebounded West Virginia, 20-12, on the offensive glass.

Notre Dame was led in scoring by Senior guard John Paxson, who scored 22 points on 9-of-16 shooting. Senior forward Steve Wohrer added 17 points on 5-of-12 shooting, and Senior center Joe Trapani added 14 points on 5-of-7 shooting.

With the win, Notre Dame improves to 2-1 in the ACC and 2-0 on the season. They will look to continue their strong performance as they prepare for their next game.
