Senate passes resolution

The top priority of Security Audit Inc., which is presently investigating Notre Dame security, is to “assess the security of women,” according to Dean of Students James Roemer.

Security Audit Inc. is a professional firm involved in investigating security systems. Robert Murphy, president of Security Audit Inc., will head the investigation. Murphy is a Notre Dame graduate who worked as a special agent with the FBI for 19 years. Murphy will be assisted by William A. Morrison, an accountant and Security Audit Inc.’s vice president. Also participating will be Frank W. Mathis, who has served as an FBI Special Agent for more than 20 years as well as holding a high security post in private industry.

This audit, which will last approximately six weeks, began the first of February, according to Dean of Students Roemer.

Murphy stated: “As some of my colleagues also know, Notre Dame has an interest in football. In fact, I do not think it would be an exaggeration to say that Notre Dame is probably the most widely known team in college football. Its supporters include not only Notre Dame alumni but many additional suburban alumni whose only qualification is an intense and abiding interest in Notre Dame’s fortune.” Bayh said.

He went on to note that Notre Dame has a “long and rich tradition which has provided America with some of its most colorful sports figures, among them being Notre Dame’s Heisman Trophy winners Knute Rockne, the Gilmore, Frank Leahy and Ara Parsegian, all of whom have become household words across the nation.”

“The Notre Dame football team has continued this attitude and tradition.” Murphy concluded. “I know, this team won the Cotton Bowl, and, moreover, in a remarkably display of the unbiased accuracy which has characterized both the AP and UPI polls recognized Notre Dame as the national college championship team. I feel it is entirely appropriate for the Senate to offer its congratulations on this occasion both to the team and the coaching staff headed by Dan Devine.”

Continuation of oil price freeze predicted by Iranian P.M.

Tohoon, Iran (AP)-Prime Minister Jamshid Amuzegar predicted yesterday that world oil prices would remain frozen through the end of 1978, but that gradual annual increases should be expected beginning next year.

Phased increases during the coming decade would help put the mind of consumers-especially the "gas guzzlers"-in the United States that oil is a "precious and noble resource that must be conserved," Amuzegar told the Associated Press in an interview.

"Price hikes also will provide incentive for investment in alternate means of energy," he said. "Somehow "consumers and producers must get together to discuss this matter and seek alternative sources of energy. It is in the interest of both parties to look far into the future and not just at one government's term or office," he said.

Amuzegar said Congressional opponents of President Carter's energy conservation program did not sufficiently appreciate the precariousness of oil reserves and the devastating effect the drying up of Middle East oil fields would have on Western Europe and Japan.

They would pay more attention to the Carter bill if they realize that should Western Europe now be deprived of oil, any superpower can walk over the continent without firing a shot," Amuzegar said.

"If Japan succumbed to some controversial ideology because of the lack of access to energy, would the United States be able to live in isolation?" he asked.

Iran's current reserves of 67 billion barrels are being depleted by two billion barrels a year and at that pace will dry up completely in 32 years, he said. Iran itself is already consuming one and a half million barrels a day and local consumption is rising by up to 18 percent a year, he added.

In ten years, experts will begin to realize that energy is a "precious and noble resource that must be conserved," Amuzegar said.

The depletion of Iran and other Middle Eastern oil reserves means that "by the mid-1980's, prices will have to be doubled or tripled which is not in the interest of anyone," he said.

Two day long seminars on ethical dilemmas faced by doctors, lawyers and government officials will be sponsored this month by the Notre Dame Alumni Clubs of Los Angeles, Orange County, San Jose and San Francisco.

One meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Feb. 23 at the Sunset Canyon Recreation Center, U.C.L.A., and the other from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Feb. 26 at Stanford University, Palo Alto.

The program is designed for college and university graduates whose work is in the professions. It will be conducted by three Notre Dame theologians who specialize in the study of ethics, Fr. James T. Burtchaell, Stanley M. Hauerwas, and Fr. Edward A. Malloy.

Through panel presentations and group discussion, participants will explore case studies involving ethical dilemmas faced by professionals. The goal will be to clarify the principles and values by which they should organize their professional lives.

The registration fee of $50 ($10 per semester) from The Observer, 476-1829.

SMC ‘Twenty-One Bar’ to open

by Maggie Ir

After nearly a year of planning, the Saint Mary's “Twenty-One Bar” will become a reality when it opens for business two weeks from today.

Open to SMC and Notre Dame students who have reached 21, the bar will open its doors underneath the Saint Mary's “Twenty-One Bar will offer a more relaxed atmosphere, according to Kathleen Rice, dean of student affairs. “I think it will center more social life on campus.” Rice said.

According to Nancy Mogab, senior class President, “it won’t be just a bar to stand around. It will be a place to sit down and relax or dance.”

Budweiser and Miller Lite will be on tap. Burgundy, rose and chablis will also be served, and the usual snack bar fare will be offered. Bar cards, good for free admission, will be sold to SMC and ND students of legal age. Without a card, a $5.00 admission will be charged at the door. The cards will go on sale the week before the opening and will also be available anytie thereafter.

Mogab said administration and faculty members from SMC and ND are also invited, especially to the Friday Happy Hours.

The bar will be operated under the supervision of an advisory board composed of Director of Student Affairs Mary Lavery; student body president Mary Rukan; vice president for academic affairs Kathy Hodges; vice president for student affairs Kathy O'Connell; senior class President Nancy Mough and junior class president Demita Noonan.

This was a positive approach to the security problem. Security is very serious,” he concluded.

According to Roemer, the reason for the audit is the concern with security on campus, especially for women. Roemer explained that there have been many disturbing incidents, which he would not like to see repeated.

The Twenty-One Bar was financed by a $1,500 donation from the SMC Student Assembly which the college matched. The $3,000 has been put toward several necessities and improvements in the dining hall’s lower level.

A four-keg beer cooler was the initial investment. New couches, chairs and tables are being purchased and some of the large tables will be removed. There will also be a dance area and a new stereo system will be installed. Other new additions include pool and football tables and pinball and computer games.

During bars hours, students under twenty one years old will not be admitted. According to a poll conducted last semester, this policy is not expected to cause much dissatisfaction among underclassmen. Charlie Fliam, director of SAGA Food Service at St. Mary’s, reported to the advisory board that businesses at the snack bar is extremely slow on Saturday nights.

SMC sessions to help improve study skills

SMC’s Freshman Office is sponsoring a series of study skills sessions on Monday from six to seven in Regina Auditorium.

The Feb. 13 session on “Making Texts Work for You” will be conducted by Dr. Thomas Selsor of the English Department, who will discuss studying math and science on Feb. 20 and Dr. Richard Levy, psychology department will talk about test anxiety Feb. 27.

Architectural chair named to Century Mall

Professor Ambrose M. Richardson, chairman of the Department of Architecture at Notre Dame, was recently chosen by South Bend Mayor Peter Nemeth to serve as advisor to the Architect Selection Committee for the Century Mall Parking Garage Project.

According to Mayor Nemeth, Prof. Richardson was asked to advise the Committee because of "his expertise in the field of architecture on a national level and previously served in a similar capacity for the original Century Center project.

The purpose of the Committee, in Mayor Nemeth’s words, is "basically to recommend an architect for the job. In order to ensure that all those affected by the project will be represented, the eight members appointed by the Mayor include representatives from the South Bend City Council, the Department of Redevelopment, the South Bend Public Transportation Corporation, St. Joe Bank, and the Historic Preservation Commission.

The Committee will interview all prospective applicants, narrowing the field down to one final choice, which it will then present for approval to the Department of Redevelopment, the Public Transportation Corporation, and the private investors who are financing the project. The final selection should be made by April or May of this year.

Coors awards distributorship to Coach Devine

(AP) - Notre Dame football coach Dan Devine has been awarded one of four new Coors beer distributorships in Missouri by Adolph Coors Co. announced yesterday. Devine, 52, and Drew Carver, 31, of Columbia, Mo. were awarded a distributorship in the Jefferson City, Mo. area.

Coors announced last August that it would add Missouri and Iowa to its 14-state marketing area.

Strong customer demand and increased production capacity were given as reasons for expansion. Coors beer may be available in Missouri as early as July, the company said.
call for percentage curtailments to be triggered when a utility reaches a 4-day supply of coal. The plan is designed to protect against total failure of electric power systems.

Three of the state’s five largest utilities—Public Service Indiana, Indianapolis Power and Light Co. and Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Co.—are at or near the 40-day level now. Indiana and Michigan have about a 45-day stockpile and Northern Indiana Public Service Co. a 60-day supply.

Watt favors an across-the-board curtailment, affecting residential as well as commercial and industrial customers. The residential user who doesn’t conserve is “shafting someone out of a job,” he added.

Regardless of the decision on that point, industries will suffer the most if for no other reason than that’s where most of the power is consumed and where the largest savings can be realized.

It will not be without sacrifice however. Most industries, Watt said, can absorb a 15-percent cutback without feeling severe hardship. A larger cutback could require production adjustments and lead to lay-offs. Therefore, a company might decide to close one or two days a week or run just 75 of 100 machines, laying off the other 25 operators.

The most extreme circumstance would be the shutting of steel plants, in which a utility shuts off power to select service areas for 3 to 6 minutes two hours at a time. That could cause serious disruptions for residential customers, as well as industries.

“That wouldn’t come until after 3 percent curtailment and we’re talking about no more than 25 percent right now,” Watt said. “I think we’ll probably be able to avoid getting to that level.”

Another ticklish question is whether all utilities should be curtailed.

Northern Indiana Public Service Co. has more than an adequate supply of coal now, but if curtailments were ordered state wide NIPSCO might be required to share its wealth with other utilities such as Public Service Indiana. This is similar to the winter of 1977, when natural gas supplies were shifted to the most critically short areas including northern Indiana.

But NIPSCO might ask, “why should we penalize our customers because we were better prepared,” Watt said. “And when you understand that 50 percent of NIPSCO’s total load is in five steel plants, you can understand their predicament.”

Enforcing curtailments is difficult and in some cases impossible. Only major users of electricity can be monitored leaving residential customers on an honor system.

For those who can be monitored the curtailment would be a percentage of a base usage figure, probably an average amount of kilowatts used per week. For example, a utility might tell the customers it could use no more than 65-75 percent of that average. The most likely responsibilities for enforcement, Watt said, are higher prices as a penalty for all power used above the limit of a total cutoff until the next week. Watt said he favors the cutoff because the pricing penalty would not achieve the ultimate objective—to save coal.

B-ball refunds for Holy Cross

’79 Senior Class plans trip to Southern Cal game

by Jean Powell
Saint Mary’s Editor

The ND-SMC Class of ’79’s senior trip will be to the USC game in Los Angeles next Thanksgiving. Andy McKenna and Donna Noonan, Junior Class presidents announced yesterday.

Cost of the trip will be $280, which will include airfare, four nights of accommodations, a ticket to the game, and a rented car for four days. Meals and other activities will be extra.

The charterled planes will depart by noon on Wednesday, Nov. 22, and return very early Monday, Nov. 27 (before classes). “We wanted to give people the longest time possible there,” McKenna said, explaining the early morning return.

At present, two planes are chartered to depart directly from South Bend and others will depart from Chicago. However, the trip’s organizers are still trying to arrange for more planes to fly out of South Bend.

While in California, students will stay at the Sheraton Los Angeles, a higher quality hotel than where students stayed in the past, according to McKenna. This year, for the first time, everyone will have his own bed instead of doubling up as was formerly done. The number of students per room will vary.

During those four days, the hotel will be reserved for ND-SMC students only. In addition, there will be a pep rally, Orange County and Los Angeles Alumni Clubs’ activities, and special trips to places like Disneyland.

According to Forlow Tours, arrangers of the trip, “Go Irish—Beat Trojans” signs will decorate the hotel, airports and students’ bags.

There will be no limit on the number of seniors who may participate in the trip. Noonan stressed, however, that “it will be a senior trip. We won’t open it up campuswide unless absolutely necessary.”

Approximately 700 students went on last year’s USC trip McKenna said they expect at least that many this November. “Southern Cal trips always get the most people. It’s become a university tradition to go to Southern Cal and in a general pull of both schools we found that most kids wanted to go there. That’s why we just went ahead and made the plane. It would have complicated things too much to bring it to a vote,” he explained.

Anyone planning on going to USC next Thanksgiving must submit a $50 nonrefundable deposit by the end of April. At that time you must declare with whom you wish to room and share a car while in California. Although these choices should be final, adjustments may be made in the fall if necessary, McKenna said.

The balance will be due by Sept. 15.

Further information on the paying of deposits will be forthcoming later in the semester.

SMC to offer freshmen retreat

“A Time To Be Me” is the theme of a retreat offered to all St. Mary’s freshmen. The retreat is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 25, in the Regina basement auditorium. Fr. Edward Krause, from Saint Mary’s Campus Ministry, will conduct Mass and conduct a homily-discussion. Sr. Katherine Reichert, chairman of Campus Ministry, will then hold a conference. A buffet dinner will be served afterwards.

“I think it will help the freshmen to take the Lenten season more seriously,” Krause stated. “Hope fully it will be a fruitful experience, and aid them in deciding what sacrifices they should make.”

Freshman Tricia Burke headed the committee responsible for organizing the retreat.

It is impossible to let Mr. Thomas Mason's remarks to the Notre Dame family (Observer, Jan. 31) pass without some comment. First of all, from where Mr. Mason is sitting, it may really seem as if it is the Teamsters who are obstructing progress in the whole issue of unionization at Notre Dame, but in fact there is quite a different perspective.

Mr. Mason suggests that the Teamsters have filed with the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) in order to 'make it clear that the University is not engaging in any illegal activities'. Perhaps from where Mr. Mason is sitting, it may really seem as if it is the Teamsters who are obstructing progress in the whole issue of unionization at Notre Dame, but in fact there is quite a different perspective.

However, the Unions have filed complaints with the NLRB which have not yet been resolved, and the University has not yet engaged in any illegal activities. The Teamsters are simply working to protect the rights of their members and ensure fair treatment for all employees.

In addition, Mr. Mason creates the impression that there is little or no connection between the University's actions and the determination to be made by the NLRB as to whether or not the university is engaged in any illegal activities.

Mr. Mason states that the university's mid-year salary increases to the majority of whom have not raised gains in the past had no relation to the Teamsters' efforts to negotiate fair contracts. Mr. Mason suggests that the university's mid-year salary increases were the only action on the part of the University in its attempt to resolve the dispute.

However, the University had threatened to terminate 21 groundskeepers who were then allowed to have the promised salary increase. Mr. Mason's remarks to the Notre Dame family indicate one of the hangovers from the Texas-ND football game. Mr. Mason's remarks may have been touching on the topic of a new round of salary negotiations, which are likely to be contentious and require careful handling.

In conclusion, Mr. Mason's remarks to the Notre Dame family may have been well-intentioned, but they do not accurately reflect the situation at Notre Dame. The Teamsters are working to protect the rights of their members, and the University is engaging in a process to negotiate fair contracts for its employees.
Little while ago, I found my dog, Darby O’Gill, trying to make love to a wax unicorn. Unicorns are mythical animals, but there is nothing mythical about a wax unicorn. Unicorns are mythical animals, characters should be blushing with put-in its plastic sides, and there is a dog.

Darby, Darby,” I said, taking him on my knee for a talk. “No comfort is to be found in an inanimate object, flesh and blood dog can never find true happiness with a pillow.” I should be ashamed of myself for thinking in such a way, a sensitive soul like myself could believe in silly stories. But Darby is a doughier dog, he is not as sensitive as I am.

Saturday Night Fever, now playing at the River Park, is an entertaining and unpretentious film about the maturation of a young man in a lower middle class society. The name of the young man is Tony Manero and the world he lives in is filled with violence, easy sex, cheap booze and little else. Tony seems content with this life because he commands his surroundings. But this is all a facade; this life is headed nowhere and he knows it. Thus, the Fever. Tony goes on Saturday night is not dancing fever but the restless urge to drop everything and leave it all behind. Yet because Tony isn’t that a flesh and blood dog can never find true happiness with a pillow. Somewhere a baby man is filled with violence, easy sex, cheap booze and little else. Tony seems content with this life because he commands his surroundings. But this is all a facade; this life is headed nowhere and he knows it. Thus, the Fever. Tony goes on Saturday night is not dancing fever but the restless urge to drop everything and leave it all behind. Yet because Tony isn’t that

He simply overpowers the audience with his animal magnetism and vicious intensity. Travolta projects this confusion, this sulking vulnerability, this inarticulate anger, the way his eyes gaze off, I suspect he is an interesting person to talk to, all three of my friends, Nino, Reed, and Luis, would become interested in his story. Travolta is a comer.

The fact that John Travolta can act might not come as a bit of shock to those who have heard his name before, like John Nino from Welcome Back Kotter, but in Saturday Night Fever, Johnny shows he can do more than dance, he can act, and act intelligent. His Tony Manero is not an innocent, unassuming type but rather a determined surgical type. Tony Manero is not an innocent, unassuming type but rather a determined surgical type.

Senate proposal to restrict intelligence tactics

A Senate committee issued a blueprint for U.S. intelligence agencies that would legally bar the use of assassinations and terrorism and prohibit CIA efforts to overthrow "democratic" governments.

The draft proposal is certain to be subjected to months of hearings and debate by the Senate Intelligence Committee in an effort to complete the plan PUDL under new charters with specific guidelines and restraints and prohibit civil and criminal penalties for violations.

Entries due for film contest

The deadline for entries in the fifth annual Academy Student Film Awards competition is Saturday, April 1, 1978, according to Anthony Loebl, regional coordinator.

Loeb, chairman of the film department at Columbia College, urged young filmmakers interested in the competition to write him at 100 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, J 60605, for entry forms. If there are questions, he can be reached at (312) 663-1600.

The Student Film Awards competition, designed to recognize outstanding achievement in film production by college students, is a program of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and the Academy foundation, and is co-sponsored by American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Student filmmakers residing in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan are eligible to enter the regional competition and compete for cash awards and trophies to be awarded by the Academy for outstanding achievement in four categories: documentary, animated, dramatic, and experimental.

To be eligible, films must have been completed after April 1, 1977, in a student-teacher relationship within the curriculum of an accredited college or university. Any length of film, from 12 to 70 minutes, is eligible, but must be submitted at the beginning of competition.

Following regional selections, Loeb said that the semi-finalists will compete against films selected in each region, and will be judged by the Academy's voting membership of film industry professionals. Winners will be announced at the Academy's annual meeting, May 21, 1978, in ceremonies at the Academy's headquarters in Beverly Hills.

Film series to highlight women & law

"Women and the Law," a film series sponsored by the Women's Rights Association, will begin this Monday night with "A Historical Overview (1870-1921.)" The films will be shown from 12:30 to 1 p.m. each Monday through May 16 in Rooms 505, 506 of the Law School.

The series is termed a "Video Course in Color." Future film topics include: women's justice system, marriage, divorce, and welfare.

Reps elected to SMC assembly

Three new members of the St. Mary's Women's Assembly were chosen in special elections held Wednesday night as Julia Roso and Janice Warner represent Holy Cross while Susie Stumpf is from Regina.

Electors were held to fill three vacancies in the assembly. Maria-Lisa Mignanelli, Election Commissioner, commented that turnout was small but this is probably because it was a special election at an unusual time. "She hopes, however, that "there will be a 100 percent turnout for the elections in April."

But its authors immediately acknowledged disagreements and that the draft proposal will be criticized both as too restrictive and too permissive.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the committee, said that introduction of the charter legislation means that Congress wants to give our intelligence agencies a clear mandate to carry out on their essential work under the rules of law. Although the report gave no reason for specifying the illegality of overthrowing "democratic" governments, it was seen as a committee effort to have a loophole in the plan that could allow future action against undemocratically non-democratic countries.

The CIA has in the past been accused of attempting to assassinate Cuban President Fidel Castro and with its involvement in the 1973 overthrow of the democratically elected government of Chilean Marxist Salvador Allende.

The draft bill has the "paid" use by intelligence agencies of journalists, missionaries, or professional students. It does not prohibit voluntary cooperation from such people, however.

It also prohibits activities intended to likely create mass destruction of property, epidemics or shortages of food or water. Written by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-KY, the draft bill reorganizes the intelligence community by law in a manner similar to that laid out by a recent executive order issued by President Carter.

The director of central intelligence, currently Adm. Standish Turner, is promoted to director of national intelligence, a position which makes him in effect chairman of the board of the intelligence community.

Under the proposal, the new national intelligence director would be appointed to a six-year term which would be renewable only once.

He would have final authority for the budgets of all intelligence agencies and responsibility to set the nation's intelligence goals and missions. One of the basic principles of the proposal is that intelligence agencies must have evidence that a U.S. citizen or resident alien has violated the law before an investigation can be opened inside the United States.

It also proposes that an intelligence agency must obtain a warrant before engaging in wiretapping or mail opening. The American Civil Liberties Union hailed these and other provisions of the proposal as they provide a good starting point for further improvements.

Senate proposal to restrict intelligence techniques

A Senate committee issued a blueprint for U.S. intelligence agencies that would legally bar the use of assassinations and terrorism and prohibit CIA efforts to overthrow "democratic" governments.

The draft proposal is certain to be subjected to months of hearings and debate by the Senate Intelligence Committee in an effort to complete the plan

DETROIT [AP] - American Motors Corp. will shut down all three of its auto plants in the United States and Canada next week because of high inventories of unsold cars and lingering weather problems AMC said Thursday.

The one-week AMC shutdown, along with closings by Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co., will idle at least 27,700 hourly auto workers next week. General Motors Corp., meanwhile, expects all its plants to be operating.

AMC, citing poor sales aggravated by severe winter weather will idle 5,000 workers in Milwaukee and Kenosha, WI and 1,100 in Brampton, Ontario.

While AMC has had scattered plant closings in recent months because of its lag in car sales this is the first time in the 1978 model year it has shut down all its car building operations.

The Milwaukee plant makes car bodies and the Kenosha and Brampton plants make Concords, Matadors, Gremlins and Pacers.

Another 8,500 workers will be idled for the next two weeks at Chrysler Corp.'s Brammanack assembly plant, which will close because of high inventories of Plymouth Volare and Dodge Aspen cars, Chrysler said.

Closed for a second straight week because of high inventories will be Chrysler's assembly plants in Newark, DE and St. Louis, MO affecting 10,400 workers.

Ford said a strike-caused parts shortage will force the shutdown next week of the passenger car assembly line at its Louisville, KY plant, which builds Ford ITTs.

A strike at a Connersville IN Ford subsidiary plant ended this week but the plant won't be able to produce air conditioning parts in time to reach all assembly plants by next week, said spokesman Paul Preuss.

At AMC, spokesman Fred Northard said the week long shutdown was partly necessitated by plans to divert more than 100 car-hauling trucks to its Jeep assembly plant in Toledo.

Jeeps have been piling up outside the Toledo plant because railroad cars have been unavailable since the Midwest blizzard in late January, he said.

Heavy inventories of cars, a problem for struggling AMC for months, grew greater when sales were hurt by January blizzards in the East and Midwest, AMC said.

AMC, plagued by shrinking sales of passenger cars, has indefinitely laid off 300 workers in connection with a cutback in assembly line speeds at its Wisconsin plants.

At AMC's annual meeting on Feb.1, President Gerald Meyers had said the adjustment in production output would cancel the needs for any more shut downs or layoffs.

AMC's Jeep and specialty vehicle sales remain strong, but its passenger car sales have shrunk to 2 percent of the U.S. market.

The Irish have not played since last Saturday night when they defeated Davidson. The Wednesday evening contest with Holy Cross was cancelled because of inclement weather in the East. It was fortunate that the game was moved to Thursday, especially in light of the Irish being in bed with the flu. Six Irish players missed some practice time during this week, but all are expected to be ready for the Blue Demons.

Although the Irish have not played well after long lay-offs this year, they need the break at this time to lick their wounds. They needed the break at this time, well after long lay-offs this year, in order to face a strong squad see no end in sight to the grueling schedule as they face Vincennes this afternoon at 4:30 p.m. and St. Mary's Tuesday night at 7:30.

Meyer is an ideal student-athlete

by Frank LaGatta
Sports Writer

Vince Lombardi, called them, "guys with an equal dose of brain and brawn." It is to DePaul, and they're referred to as "scholar athletes." Their greatest performance is always top-notch whether it's in the classroom or in the athletic arena.

Mike Meyer fits the description like a well-tailored suit. A performer for the Irish track team in the discus, discus and shot put events, Meyer's "track record," with the Blue Demons is impressive.

With three years logged under the Golden Dome he's compiled a 3.5 grade point average and is seriously considered for a Rhodes Scholarship. He is not afraid to challenge his academic and athletic pursuits.

"I applied for a Rhodes Scholarship this fall," relates Meyer. "I knew that 25 people had applied and only 12 would be granted interviews. I was interviewed and was one of two students from Indiana selected to compete on the national level in Chicago. I didn't win, but I realize the Rhodes Scholarship is very well contested so it was happy to place as I did."

An honor graduate of Clay High School in South Bend, Indiana, Meyer's slats on the track and the basketball court were equally impressive. A three-year lettermen in both sports, Meyer served as co-captain both senior years, while earning state honors in track and all-city all-conference recognition in basketball.

"I have never had to credit in my high school," points out Clay Athletic Director Thomas Saunders. "He was a leader on the basketball team and will bea great team member. On the basketball court he established himself in the ond Northern Indiana Valley Conference as a real scoring threat and that's certainly the talent we were looking for in our line-up."

Mike Meyer's career at Notre Dame has been marked by both academic and athletic success. "I'm a Notre Dame "Bookstore Basketball" tournament. "Mike's style of play typifies the true spirit of "Bookstore Basketball,"" explains tournament chairman Tim "Bone" Bourret. "He plays tough, hard-nosed basketball and he plays clean."

Meyer's performance in the 1976 spring season led him to being named "Mr. Bookstore," an honor Bourret explains is given to the tournament's best all-around player. That year Meyer led the team, the Nutmeggers, to the tournament's "Final Four" - the only team without a varsity basketball player to reach the elite group.

Meyer's obvious talent led to many offers from Ivy League schools including Cornell University who said they'd let him know his ability to play behind the boards. He turned them right on the nose, opting for Notre Dame and its track program. He is quick to point out that he and junior runner Dennis Van- Kiets and Steve Welch while forecasting that three fine hurdlers in seniors Arnie Gough, Chuck Willis, and Paul Monti will keep Sophomore pole vaulter Perry Stow who holds the Notre Dame school record in this event at 16 foot, will be a solid entry in that contest, while Meyer and junior Tom Ferrin will handle the shot put chores.

The team's attitude, Meyer points out, is "solid. Creditable. No one is anything but professional. Everything is something he is responsible for as he and junior runner Dennis Van- Kiets and Steve Welch while forecasting that three fine hurdlers in seniors Arnie Gough, Chuck Willis, and Paul Monti will keep Sophomore pole vaulter Perry Stow who holds the Notre Dame school record in this event at 16 foot, will be a solid entry in that contest, while Meyer and junior Tom Ferrin will handle the shot put chores.

The team's attitude, Meyer points out, is "solid. Creditable. No one is anything but professional. Everything is serious."

The next game for the Irish women is Saturday at 3:30 p.m. in the ACC. Their opponent will be Northern Illinois University.

Irish await DePaul Demons

by Tim Bourret
Sports Writer

The eleventh ranked DePaul Blue Demons, one of the most improved teams in the country this season, will challenge fourth ranked Notre Dame this Friday afternoon at the Athletic and Convocation Center. Ray Meyer's club is 19-2 after last Thursday's 75-70 victory over Duquesne. This is DePaul's finest regular season in the seven years since they won the NIT tournament in 1970.

The Blue Demons' next challenge comes in a 75-70 DePaul triumph. Last year he scored 16 points in a 76-68 Notre Dame victory over Chicago. The second leading scorer and rebounder for DePaul is Joe Ponsetto. Nicknamed "The Godfather" for his forceful, aggressive style of play, Ponsetto lost 20 points since last season's loss to DePaul and averaged 12.7 points per game.

This year he has improved his scoring average to 16.4 while grabbing 7.0 rebounds per game. Two years in the last meeting in the ACC between the two teams, Ponsetto led DePaul with 20 points and 11 rebounds.

Curtis Watkins is the other starting forward. The 6'6" junior scored almost 13 points per game this season and leads the club in free throw percentage with a 87.0 average. He finished fourth in the country last season when he connected for 91 percent of his charity shots.

With a large range of interests "Getting my PhD, " he explains, "Get my education, politics, the media or the legal profession. These are areas which hold my interest."

With a large range of interests and an overabundance of "brain and brains" it isn't hard to guess that Meyer is something large in Mike Meyer's future.
