Termed ‘success’

Women’s Alumnae Weekend held

by Rosemary Mills

Staff Reporter

Questions raised in the Report on Coordination between the university and the local community for the Notre Dame Women’s Alumnae Weekend held March 4th and 5th. Michele Kelly, coordinator of the weekend, termed it “a huge success.” and commented that the enthusiasm expressed by both the alumnae and the students “was tremendous.” The Advisory Council for Women under the direction of Assistant Provost, St. John Marian Jones has been planning the weekend all semester. The seminar and discussion held on Saturday in the Library Auditorium was the fulfillment of a five year dream, according to Sr. Jones.

Approximately 100 women listened as 13 alumnae, who graduated anywhere between the years of ’74 and ’76, responded candidly to such questions as the women’s role following graduation. Some women expressed that their experiences at Notre Dame had been either a benefit or detriment as you entered into your present occupation?

Other questions centered upon women’s experience and preparation at Notre Dame, such as how well were the decisions ahead made either helped or hindered them in their adjustment to what is still basically a “man’s world.” The women’s role at Notre Dame background has helped them most in the transition into the corporate world.

Peggy Henderson, a Products Designing alumna, and Marge Gamble, was the eighth woman along with 400 men on the staff. “It was a real switch for a lot of women there,” she noted, “but it was just an extension for me.”

Ellen Syburg, assistant director of admissions at Lake Forest College, stated that the biggest help was having so many male friends. “I have to deal with men now, and having had so many male friends at Notre Dame, I can relate to them more easily.”

A community organizer in Covington, Kentucky, Betsy Dwyer found that the predominately male background of Notre Dame also gave her problems. “Sometimes women don’t understand that I have no interest in their husbands other than being a friend.” Dwyer stated that at first she was hurt and confused by this attitude, but now just tries to put herself in that situation.

According to Jones, the point of this particular question was to teach the administration at Notre Dame what they could do to better prepare women for the “real world,” or if they were already doing an adequate job. After the session, Jones noted she was glad it had taken five years for the program to materialize. These women have matured enough to be able to share some of their wisdom and beauty with us.

After some discussion on business experiences and the question of finding jobs, the talk turned to more personal matters, such as marriage and the family. This portion of the afternoon was aimed at helping the students to realize how decisions were reached.

Both the alumnae and the present students showed great interest in listening to others’ experiences. Topics centered around decision-making and if a person was ready to marry, if they wanted children, and how to balance their career. Of the 13 alumnae, four are married and one is engaged to be married soon. None of the four have children.

Bascially, the women agreed that marriage is a decision to be made between two people, but Dwyer said there is no set standard for deciding if a person should get married, that “you have to decide for yourself if you are ready.”

Other factors the alumnae mentioned was the man’s willingness to accept the woman’s fulfillment of her career objectives, and the woman’s decision on how far she wanted to pursue her goals. The emphasis was placed on compromise between the husband and wife.

Morita Vasquez Matthews, a third year student at Notre Dame, is married to another law student. “You don’t have time to be a typical married woman,” she stated. Matthews said that in job interviews she had to convince people that after her graduation she did intend to practice. “Even though questions about children are not asked in interviews,” she warned, “they do get asked.”

Henderson related how she made a conscious decision during her senior year whether she married directly after graduation. Her decision was based partly on the fact that she wanted a career. Her other reason was that during school other people had asked her if she was married. “This was time for me to test myself.”

The attitude of the women was summed up in the statement that “You should be with someone that will support you in your convictions.”

There were reminders, too, that it was not impossible to do something out of the ordinary, such as role reversal in terms of caring for the family. Mary Clemency also noted that a woman should not feel pressured to make the same decision as the men in her family. She cautioned that you could not plan your life for the next five years and expect it to come out perfectly.

The high divorce rate among graduate students and students married directly out of college was also noted.

After the panel discussion, the audience and Carter’s involvement regrouped in the library lounge. Informal and more specific discussion was held between small groups of people.

Carter, chairman of the Advisory Council for Women, also made the prediction that with a real connection between the women in the audience and the men, “it’s a very good sign,” she noted. Frey added that there was nothing “superficial about this event,” in the answers, making it a “valuable experience” for both parties.

(Continued on page 5)

The Neighborhood Roots tour on Sunday ended with a meal at a Parish wedding feast. [Photo by Kevin Walsh]

Carter speaks to college

Inside the Observer today:

The candidates’ final say, p. 6

Report on the candidates’ final forum, p. II

Irish receive NCAA bid, p. 2

Compiled by Marti Hogan

Editor-in-Chief

President Jimmy Carter announced Friday that although the SALT talks with the Soviet Union have made “good and steady progress,” he must have to meet with Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev to work out several differences.

A conference with college newspaper editors, including the editor-in-chief of The Observer, differences involve “twelve highly technical issues, three or four of which are highly significant.”

“My guess is that the negotiators will resolve most of the issues in Geneva and that it will probably require a direct meeting or communication between myself and Premier Brezhnev before we can reach an agreement,” he continued. Should the SALT talks break down, he added, no threat from the Soviets through Cuba.

Carter discussed a variety of topics with 200 editors from colleges and universities around the country. The briefing session was one of the 26 half-hour sessions which Carter allows during the year. The sessions are new to the Carter Administration and appear to be working well, according to Walt Wurfel, deputy press secretary and ex-editor of the Stanford daily.

“You give him questions which don’t come from Washington reporters,” Wurfel told the students, adding that Washington reporters can become isolated.

Before meeting with the President, the editors listened to and questioned Mary Berry, assistant secretary for Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW); Dave Rubenstein, deputy assistant to the President for Domestic Affairs and Policy; Jill Schiker, special assistant to the assistant secretary for public affairs, Department of State; and Midge Costanza, assistant to the President for Public Liaison.

Press Secretary Jody Powell could not attend the bipartisan session because he was speaking in California at the time.

Calling the tax credit proposal “ill-advised,” Carter said the proposal is very expensive and will only help affluent families. He explained that his proposal, however, is designed to aid middle-income families.

More work-study money would also be available through the President’s proposal, Berry said. “The major focus now is to give money to the students,” she said. Wurfel explained that the current proposal is to separate the Education Department from HEW, stating that the office of Management and Budget is looking into the possibility of dividing the departments. Berry stressed that the reason was not to centralize government, but to provide more assistance and financial support.

HEW now has the responsibility under the age discrimination act to write regulations to govern the new plans for moving the mandatory retirement age.

The Education Department has received requests to exempt veterans from the age requirement, but Berry expressed concern that exempting any groups could also be discriminatory. “To let them [professors] hang on forever would wouldn’t help students or anybody else,” she said.

Speaking on the coal strike, Carter said, “I say I am going to impose a settlement on the coal miners that they will honor.” He added that he would step if the new contract is not ratified, probably by invoking the Taft-Hartley act.

“We think we acted at the right time,” Rubenstein said in answer to criticism of Carter’s involvement in the strike. He said a statement from Carter urging the miners to ratify the new contract was a counter-effect, however.

In other domestic areas, Rubenstein said that the Carter administration will reveal a new urban policy at the end of this month and will probably debate a national health insurance program in a year.

Carter announced that he will deliver a speech on a national defense policy Monday March 17 at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

At the close of the question-and-answer period, Carter complimented the editors as leaders of the future, much as they were now. He warned that “independent analysis and deep inequities,” of college-age students. “The voice of those with courage is very important,“ Carter said. “When I’m in office, I need your public expression of support.”

Vol. XII, No. 96

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and st. mary’s

Monday, March 6, 1978
Theatre itinerary announced

Indiana UMW's reject pact

Indiana United Mine Workers followed a national trend yesterday and voted to reject a tentative agreement. The 90-day walkout that has already put almost 10,000 Hoosiers temporarily out of work. With 14 of Indiana's 22 locals reporting last night the pact was being rejected 830-770. The total does not reflect voting by locals.

The pact will be $13 per couple which includes the dance, two memberships to Cinraba's, an open bar, cheese and crackers and boutonnieres for the guys.

"It would normally cost more than that," Donna Noonan, class president, said, "but we have made such a profit on the Junior that we can afford to underwrite this dance."

Plans for a class mass on the island in Lake Merian sometime after spring break, Little Sister's Weekend on April 7 and 8 and the showing of "Gurls of the Beach" in Regina Auditorium on Sunday night were also discussed.

Noonan also announced that the Junior Class Pre-Saint Patrick's Day party is scheduled for Friday night in the clubhouse which will have been cancelled. Due to the energy crisis, the clubhous will be closed until further notice. They will try to arrange another party for sometime after spring break.

Finally, Lisa Merel, Karen Lowery and Maureen Gorden were introduced as the senior class trip chairmen from Saint Mary's. They reviewed the previously announced plans for the trip and stressed that the $50 non-refundable deposit is due by May 1. Saint Mary's students must register for the trip at Saint Mary's, not at Notre Dame. Carsten said. Anyone from Saint Mary's who registers at Notre Dame cannot be guaranteed a seat, she warned. More information will be given after spring break.

WEATHER

Cloudy today with highs in the low to mid 30s. There is a 50 percent chance of snow tonight with more snow expected tomorrow. Lows in upper teens to low 20s and highs tomorrow in the upper 20s to low 30s.

On Campus Today

12:15pm mass everyday during lent, fr. griffin, lafortune hall

12:30pm film tilt VII: litigation, sp. by women's rights assoc. law school, rm. 105

1:30pm career workshop "decision making & values clarification," with jean gorman sp. by career development center, stapleton conf. rm.

4:30pm devries lecture "spectroscopy of ultra cold molecule prof. leonard wharton of james frank institute, u of chicago sp. by chem. dept., 123 niewland science hall

6-7:30pm freshman decision seminar "a major decision," sp. by freshman office & student academic council, regina aud. smc.

7:10pm film "the virgin spring," sp. by college of arts and letters, sp. by speech and drama, in stapleton lounge, lemans hall

7:20pm duplicate bridge ladies of nd, facolys & staff duplicate bridge, univ. club

8pm perspective series in philosophy "punishment," richard wasserstrom, ucla sp. by philosophy dept. public invited, galvin aud.

8pm annual mcavoy lecture "roman catholicism in the american historical canons," marvin carp, unc.

9pm basketball, nd vs. loyola, home

10pm lenten prayer service sp. by campus ministry, confessions will follow the service, sacred heart church.

Tuesdays, 11:45pm, workshop welfare dept. sp. by sociology dept. stapleton lounge.

The Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Theatre announces its season of full length plays entitled "Our Second Scene." All productions are free of charge except A Man for all Seasons. Tickets for this show are $2.50, $2.00 for ND-SMC Students, Faculty, and Staff.

Hosting his recent Broadway success by David Storey, is being directed by seanie Robert Van Tuhrshon. Production dates are March 12 and 13 at 8 p.m. in the Regina Hall Auditorium at SMC. Jean Cocteau's Les Parents Terribles (Intimate Relations) will be an arena production on the O'Loughlin Stage at SMC. This circus spectacle, directed by Mark Amenta, will play on April 2 and 3 at 8 p.m.

On April 6 and 7 at 8 p.m. in Washington Hall (ND), The Maid, by Jean Genet, will be directed by Pat Fanning. The play centers around the conflicts and possible love relationships among three imaginative medieval world, suggesting the battle of Christianity and paganism.

Medieval film to be shown

The College of Arts and Letters, in conjunction with the Medieval Institute, is sponsoring a viewing of Ingmar Bergman's The Virgin Spring, tonight in the Engineering Auditorium. There will be no admission charge.

Bergman's use of highly contrasting black and white evokes an ancient time, a time long ago when men were few and women few, for men and women were few.

The生产日期为2月17日，21日，和22日早上8点。The production will be set in Notre Dame's Library. Tickets go on sale April 3, 1978.

The Observer is published Mon­day through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is mailed to approximately 10,000 students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $20 per year ($15 per semester) from The Observer, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

Espionage Agency, Irish Press. All reproductions rights are reserved.

Sandy Ignacy Wikrowski, The Madman and the Nuisance is being directed by Saint Mary's director, Ann Cebulla. The production, at the SMC Clubhouse, will run April 24 and 25 at 8 p.m.

Also on the 24th and 25th of April at 8 p.m. will be William Saroyan's tale of optimism and hope, The Time of Your Life, at Vegetable Gardens in downtown South Bend.

On May 1 and 2, at 8 p.m. Arthur Miller's tear-stained drama, All My Sons, will also appear at Vegetable Gardens. Senior Jack Campbell is directing.

For information on tickets call 284-4176. Any other information on "Our Second Scene," call 284-4141.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Canal resolutions evoke emotions called for American support and Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and positions as senior advisor to crowd of approximately 75 students foreign service officer in the Department of State, told a small meeting on Friday afternoon in the Law School partment of State, told a small Carter to back work in the 90-day-old strike. Minares voted overwhelmingly against the contract, and 19,885 in favor of it. It was learned that its members were likely to be Carl Wars, a law professor at the University of Louisville, Eva Rhinos, a labor arbitrator from New York, and Jack Gentry, a Washington lawyer. Officials said the administration probably would be ready to go to court within a few days to seek a back-to-work order against the miners.
The administration earlier had been considering asking Congress for special legislation to authorize a federal seizure of the mines or to impose binding arbitration in the case. The Taft-Hartley Act would permit the federal government to seize the mines in more swiftly, however. One official estimated that the government would seek an order by Wednesday. It is widely believed that thou- sands of miners would ignore such an order, complicity efforts to impose at least a temporary end to the strike. Miners have ignored such court injunctions in the past.

RICHARD B. WYROUGH

Miners reject contract Carter to take action

WASHINGTON (AP) - Striking min- ers voted overwhelmingly against a proposed contract yesterday and President Carter made plans to go to work in the 90-day-old strike.
Sources said the president was likely to invoke the striking provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act today, setting in motion a se- quence of events that could lead to a back-to-work court order within a few days.
White House Press Secretary Jody Powell told reporters: "It's clear from the trend in the voting that the president will have to act no later than tomorrow. It will be the primary topic of the Cabinet meeting tomorrow to be followed by a bipartisan meeting of the congressional leadership.
With 482 of the United Mine Workers' (UMW) 784 locals or about 60% reporting, there were 44,666 votes against the contract and 19,885 in favor of it. "It appears now that this con- tract isn't going to make it," said William Esselstyn, UMW secretary-treasurer.
Esselstyn declined to answer questions as to why he had been in touch with USMW President Willard Esse- styn.
Administration officials began a new round of meetings to plan their next step in a strike that has caused power curtailments and job layoffs and triggered serious damage to the economy.
President Carter met with Labor Secretary Ray Marshall and other administration officials at the White House when he returned from a weekend stay at the presidential retreat at Camp David.
Pending final decisions by the president, one source said, the administration's strategy was shap- ing up this way:
Carter would invoke the Taft- Hartley Act tonight, appointing a three member board of inquiry required under the law to make a report.

Friday afternoon in the Law School part- ment of State, told a small
Carter to back work in the 90-day-old strike. Minares voted overwhelmingly against the contract, and 19,885 in favor of it. It was learned that its members were likely to be Carl Wars, a law professor at the University of Louisville, Eva Rhinos, a labor arbitrator from New York, and Jack Gentry, a Washington lawyer. Officials said the administration probably would be ready to go to court within a few days to seek a back-to-work order against the miners.
The administration earlier had been considering asking Congress for special legislation to authorize a federal seizure of the mines or to impose binding arbitration in the case. The Taft-Hartley Act would permit the federal government to seize the mines in more swiftly, however. One official estimated that the government would seek an order by Wednesday. It is widely believed that thou- sands of miners would ignore such an order, complicity efforts to impose at least a temporary end to the strike. Miners have ignored such court injunctions in the past.

It was learned that its members were likely to be Carl Wars, a law professor at the University of Louisville, Eva Rhinos, a labor arbitrator from New York, and Jack Gentry, a Washington lawyer. Officials said the administration probably would be ready to go to court within a few days to seek a back-to-work order against the miners.
The administration earlier had been considering asking Congress for special legislation to authorize a federal seizure of the mines or to impose binding arbitration in the case. The Taft-Hartley Act would permit the federal government to seize the mines in more swiftly, however. One official estimated that the government would seek an order by Wednesday. It is widely believed that thou- sands of miners would ignore such an order, complicity efforts to impose at least a temporary end to the strike. Miners have ignored such court injunctions in the past.

It was learned that its members were likely to be Carl Wars, a law professor at the University of Louisville, Eva Rhinos, a labor arbitrator from New York, and Jack Gentry, a Washington lawyer. Officials said the administration probably would be ready to go to court within a few days to seek a back-to-work order against the miners.
The administration earlier had been considering asking Congress for special legislation to authorize a federal seizure of the mines or to impose binding arbitration in the case. The Taft-Hartley Act would permit the federal government to seize the mines in more swiftly, however. One official estimated that the government would seek an order by Wednesday. It is widely believed that thou- sands of miners would ignore such an order, complicity efforts to impose at least a temporary end to the strike. Miners have ignored such court injunctions in the past.

It was learned that its members were likely to be Carl Wars, a law professor at the University of Louisville, Eva Rhinos, a labor arbitrator from New York, and Jack Gentry, a Washington lawyer. Officials said the administration probably would be ready to go to court within a few days to seek a back-to-work order against the miners.
The administration earlier had been considering asking Congress for special legislation to authorize a federal seizure of the mines or to impose binding arbitration in the case. The Taft-Hartley Act would permit the federal government to seize the mines in more swiftly, however. One official estimated that the government would seek an order by Wednesday. It is widely believed that thou- sands of miners would ignore such an order, complicity efforts to impose at least a temporary end to the strike. Miners have ignored such court injunctions in the past.
Dr. Kenneth Lauer, professor of Civil Engineering at Notre Dame, demonstrates to students techniques of concrete formwork. The concrete base being formed is part of a full scale demonstration model being constructed by the student for new exterior campus lighting. The extensive Campus Planning project being conducted by Esme Bellalta, Department of Architecture. The lighting project is one of several areas being investigated by the students, who submitted their ideas and research to Campus officials last semester. [Photo by Rawbut Howard]

---

Grindstone School for Peace Research, Education and Action is now accepting applications for their third annual summer school program to be held August 5-19, 1978. The school is located on wooded Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, and the program is concerned with the topics of peace, Third World struggles, sexism, structural violence, and the New International Economic Order.

Co-operatively designed for university students, teachers, and activists, the school is an intensive course on major social issues. Twelve resource people include university peace researchers, Native People's organizations, and anti-nuclear power leaders. The cost for the two-week program is $200, which covers tuition, room, and board. There is a 30 student limit for the session and applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

For information and applications, please write: Elizabeth Sewell, Grindstone School, Box 571, Stn. P, Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, MSS 2T1.

---

Grindstone Island in Ontario is available to students interested in peace, environmental issues, and social justice. The school offers a unique opportunity to engage in meaningful discussions and activities with people from diverse backgrounds.

---

Economists call for jobs

Dr. Elizabeth Sewell, visiting professor of English at the University of Notre Dame, demonstrates to students techniques of concrete formwork. Sewell speaks on magic.

---

Sewell speaks on magic

Sewell speaks on magic

---

Economists call for jobs

---

Major undecided?

---

SMC holds program

---

Grindstone School for Peace Research, Education and Action is now accepting applications for their third annual summer school program to be held August 5-19, 1978. The school is located on wooded Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, and the program is concerned with the topics of peace, Third World struggles, sexism, structural violence, and the New International Economic Order.

Co-operatively designed for university students, teachers, and activists, the school is an intensive course on major social issues. Twelve resource people include university peace researchers, Native People's organizations, and anti-nuclear power leaders. The cost for the two-week program is $200, which covers tuition, room, and board. There is a 30 student limit for the session and applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

For information and applications, please write: Elizabeth Sewell, Grindstone School, Box 571, Stn. P, Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, MSS 2T1.

---

Economists call for jobs

---

Major undecided?

---

SMC holds program

---

Grindstone School for Peace Research, Education and Action is now accepting applications for their third annual summer school program to be held August 5-19, 1978. The school is located on wooded Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, and the program is concerned with the topics of peace, Third World struggles, sexism, structural violence, and the New International Economic Order.

Co-operatively designed for university students, teachers, and activists, the school is an intensive course on major social issues. Twelve resource people include university peace researchers, Native People's organizations, and anti-nuclear power leaders. The cost for the two-week program is $200, which covers tuition, room, and board. There is a 30 student limit for the session and applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

For information and applications, please write: Elizabeth Sewell, Grindstone School, Box 571, Stn. P, Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, MSS 2T1.

---

Economists call for jobs

---

Major undecided?

---

SMC holds program

---

Grindstone School for Peace Research, Education and Action is now accepting applications for their third annual summer school program to be held August 5-19, 1978. The school is located on wooded Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, and the program is concerned with the topics of peace, Third World struggles, sexism, structural violence, and the New International Economic Order.

Co-operatively designed for university students, teachers, and activists, the school is an intensive course on major social issues. Twelve resource people include university peace researchers, Native People's organizations, and anti-nuclear power leaders. The cost for the two-week program is $200, which covers tuition, room, and board. There is a 30 student limit for the session and applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

For information and applications, please write: Elizabeth Sewell, Grindstone School, Box 571, Stn. P, Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, MSS 2T1.

---

Economists call for jobs

---

Major undecided?

---

SMC holds program

---

Grindstone School for Peace Research, Education and Action is now accepting applications for their third annual summer school program to be held August 5-19, 1978. The school is located on wooded Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, and the program is concerned with the topics of peace, Third World struggles, sexism, structural violence, and the New International Economic Order. Co-operatively designed for university students, teachers, and activists, the school is an intensive course on major social issues. Twelve resource people include university peace researchers, Native People's organizations, and anti-nuclear power leaders. The cost for the two-week program is $200, which covers tuition, room, and board. There is a 30 student limit for the session and applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

For information and applications, please write: Elizabeth Sewell, Grindstone School, Box 571, Stn. P, Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, MSS 2T1.

---

Economists call for jobs

---

Major undecided?

---

SMC holds program

---

Grindstone School for Peace Research, Education and Action is now accepting applications for their third annual summer school program to be held August 5-19, 1978. The school is located on wooded Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, and the program is concerned with the topics of peace, Third World struggles, sexism, structural violence, and the New International Economic Order. Co-operatively designed for university students, teachers, and activists, the school is an intensive course on major social issues. Twelve resource people include university peace researchers, Native People's organizations, and anti-nuclear power leaders. The cost for the two-week program is $200, which covers tuition, room, and board. There is a 30 student limit for the session and applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

For information and applications, please write: Elizabeth Sewell, Grindstone School, Box 571, Stn. P, Grindstone Island in Ontario, Canada, MSS 2T1.
audience of 175 last night in the Memorial Library Auditorium.

"Lovely grades. It's okay," Jackson claimed. "The jobs go to those who are the most skilled in job finding."

The number one barrier to successful job hunting, Jackson said, is that "we spend all our attention doing things to avoid being rejected."

But rejection, Jackson added, is integral to job competition. He said applicants give up too easily after they get their first few rejections.

"There's no shortage of no's," he said. "You're going to get the same number of no's anyway before you get accepted. The way to get through it is not to be afraid to get no's faster."

Jackson said that often people are willing to settle for something rather than the job they really want.

"Four-fifths of you are not going to make it in the work world in a way that will satisfy you," he warned.

Jackson began by asking the audience to sit back, close their eyes, and define their own "job targets." He asked each person to choose a partner sitting near them to discuss their job objectives.

Although some people left during this part of the lecture, Jackson continued, using slides, to discuss employer psychology: resumes, interviews and salaries.

"In the business world, you have to start looking at what the other person is going to get out of it. You have to convince the employer that he's going to get more than cost," he said.

He added that each person should critique himself, not only for positive qualities, but especially for negative qualities.

"Often friends are just people who agree with each other," he said. "And if one of them is going downhill, the rest are going with him. Then together they complain about the rest of the world."

First know what you want, then try for a specific job in a specific company that has what you want. Jackson said. He claimed that 85 percent of the available jobs are not advertised.

The first thing to know about resumes, he said, "is that nobody cares about your crummy resume." He added that a "perfect" resume might not help much, but that a bad resume would destroy any opportunity that exists.

Jackson advised that every resume be sent out with a cover letter. "It takes the resume out of the junk mail category," he noted. "You will tend to get back from a firm the same level of communication you send out to a firm."

"It's stupid to go into an interview not knowing something about the employer," he continued.

Jackson noted the importance of clothing, during an interview or at work. "Look successful and people start to assume you're already there. Then you start to think you're already there," he said.

"You know how I got to be an expert in this field?" he added. "I told people I was an expert."

In salary negotiations, Jackson said it is important "you make the employer realize that you're a powerful person with other options."

"Mick Jagger gets $175,000 for one performance. You know why? Because he won't work for $174,000," he noted. "It's all a game," he concluded.

Jackson is the author of the book, The Hidden Job Market. He has also published training manuals, workbooks, and articles on manpower and employment. His lecture was sponsored by the Student Union Academic Commit-
Mckenna...Roohan
Banco...Ewing
Schlager...Rizzo

Outsiders encompass a wider range of interests than any of the other candidates' do. The McKenna-Roohan ticket is the only ticket that has a variety of off-campus students, development of leadership workshops, and fresh ideas for improvement. In addition, our platform includes proposals for: Broadening the role of the Campus Life Council (CLC), the inclusion of a Career Development Committee to immediately action on the University security proposals, rather than running another insensitive campaign. These last ideas have been included in the platforms of other candidates, but have not been taken to the extent that they have been by the McKenna-Roohan ticket.

The platform of the McKenna-Roohan ticket is a challenge to the canons of the student government. Our experiences in hall and campus government show that we have many high-ranking members, such as Carey French, who has been active in the campus government. We have been active in the Student Government and the Federation of Student Councils. We have also worked on the du Lac scholarships and have fought to amend the Student Government Constitution. Our platform, encompassing the broadest range of issues of the three tickets, shows that our ideas are original and our proposals unique. Of the sixteen points in our platform, the other two are unique to the Blanco-Ewing ticket. Notre Dame needs a new activities complex to supplement LaFortune. We have begun research, including cost analysis, availability of funds, and probable location, for this long-range proposal. We are also concerned with such ideas as the immediate needs of the students, such as lighting the Stepan basketball courts, resurfacing the tennis courts by Carroll Hall, bringing more cultural films to campus, keeping open the lines of communications between students and Student Government by writing a bi-weekly column for The Observer, and giving students more skating time in the Recreation Center.

We will improve academic life by extending the limit on the pass-fail option to three weeks, and instituting an optional morning-evening exam policy. We will also encourage student interaction and favoritism in determining more student-faculty interaction.

With last semester's offensive, students were taken out of Notre Dame's jurisdictional process. We want to see them put back in. We will work to increase the hall J-board space in examining in second-year hall halls. We will also try to increase the student input, our administration would encourage the students to call in suggestions with the assurance of our cooperation with the Northeast Neighborhood Organization.

We have also confronted the issues with which all the candidates in this race are dealing with. We will provide more social space in campus residence halls and to improve campus security. We will promote awareness of world social problems by working with CILA and the Center for International Understanding to increase student perspective and by forming a University Employee Advisory Council.

The Blanco-Ewing New Perspective offers a comprehensive platform to implement their ideas. Notre Dame demonstrates our understanding of the problems affecting Notre Dame students, and the Blanco-Ewing ticket is for their solutions. We offer not vagueness, but concrete ideas. We offer not only the recognition and boldness to fight for change. We offer not political maneuvering and favoritism, but candid and impartial presentation of all ideas, originality, practicality, and the conviction that, through hard work, changes will be made.

The Blanco-Ewing Endorsement Policy

The New Perspective believes in working closely with all student clubs and organizations. We did not sign on to any endorsements since they cannot possibly reflect the opinions of all the students in the student organization. We have also asked The Observer not to publish the endorsements it receives for the Blanco-Ewing ticket, and to refer the parties wishing to endorse us to our new S tudent G overnm ent C onstitution.

The following groups have endorsed the Schlager-Rizzo ticket by majority vote of their memberships:

Editorial Board of The Observer
Grace Hall Council

"Boma to ND:
Sit-up or shut-up"

Dear Editor:
We are students of the University of Alabama hereby challenge the University of Notre Dame; it is our goal to beat that two number one team at the same time.

In accordance with our misfortune ranking in the polls, and in an effort to conquer the nation's most dreadful disaster, the University of Alabama challenges the University of Notre Dame to "Sit-up for Cancer."

To make the competition fair, the student body will go against five students from Notre Dame in a sit-up or shut-up event. "Five" because that is the number of points Notre Dame has committed to the wrong end of the deal. Notre Dame is the alma mater of Alabama 11-0 during the regular season; however, Notre Dame was awarded the national championship. (2) 1973 Notre Dame slipped past Alabama 24-21. (3) 1974 Notre Dame again slipped past Alabama 13-11. (4) 1976 In a foreign land known as Indiana, Alabama fell 21-18. (5) 1978 Finally, after all the bowl games were played, Notre Dame was voted number one in the nation. Our goal is to beat "the Bama". But deep down in our hearts we still feel the sting of that nation. If you decide to accept the challenge, please contact your local Alabama representative. (6) 1979 The University of Alabama Student Body

False representation

Dear Editor:
I am writing the describing the 140-pound division of the Bengal Bouts in the March 2 Observer, wrote that "our two fighters" were not both fighters were not fighters were not were fully competent as a competitive fighter and as an offensive artist. Tony is a humble brawler who enjoys performing the sport well. And he does well, to say the least, in his hard work and dedication to the sport. He trains as hard as anyone in the program, yet he always finds the time to help those of us who need a partner to spar. Tony is one of the best fighters in the Bouncing Club—and indeed, he is a champ. So if you want to see hard work and good sport, come to the Bouncing Club. You may also want to see this Italian who thinks he can knock a mustard.

Editor's Note: When the author states that one box is the "even the score," that's just a sports expression and a way to generate interest in the event. Nothing evilistic was meant or should be read into the article.
A girl back from the dead
by fr. bill toohety

"God made man because He loves stories." - Elle Wiesel

I received an unusual note from a friend this week. The note was a single sheet, and running along the left-hand margin were the words, "What I'm saying is this: When we are born, we are not, necessarily, already alive. We begin the process of either becoming alive or of being entombed. From the very first moments of our existence, we are affected by other forces and other lives, from the tomb on Easter. In the course of our lives, we are drawn in an ever-increasing number of tombs all the days of our life."

She explained what she meant by this. If I understand correctly, she thought that ultimately I wanted to be, it would mean that I had really cared for other people's lives in a way that they were touched and lifted, freed and from whatever was holding them back from authentic life. So that, consequently, I should be able to observe empty tombs as a testimonial to the fact that people had been raised from the dead, at least in a spiritual sense, through the force of the relationship we feel.

I have thought a lot about what she said, and I am beginning to wonder if we haven't had things changed around in our thinking. We presume that we spend our whole life walking away from the tomb.

What I'm saying is this: When we are born, we are not, necessarily, already alive. We begin the process of either becoming alive or of being entombed. From the very first moments of our existence, we are affected by other forces and other lives, from the tomb on Easter. In the course of our lives, we are drawn in an ever-increasing number of tombs all the days of our life."

She explained what she meant by this. If I understand correctly, she thought that ultimately I wanted to be, it would mean that I had really cared for other people's lives in a way that they were touched and lifted, freed and from whatever was holding them back from authentic life. So that, consequently, I should be able to observe empty tombs as a testimonial to the fact that people had been raised from the dead, at least in a spiritual sense, through the force of the relationship we feel.

I have thought a lot about what she said, and I am beginning to wonder if we haven't had things changed around in our thinking. We presume that we spend our whole life walking away from the tomb.

New Keenan Review: one more time
by rosemary mills

As the lights dimmed and the stage band slid into the opening bars of "Strangers in the Night," the second annual Keenan Review opened. An expectant audience that packed the theater and balcony provided the first jolt of the night as Smith asked that the mobile sign he be observed and then continued with "If oxygen should be necessary ..." Terry Smith kept the show moving smoothly, providing amusement between acts and introducing each act enthusiastically.

Smith, however, was not the only comedian on stage. Mike (Oake) Scott often intervened either during or between acts with his own brand of humor. Scott parodied Shakespeare with a soliloquy on "The Book of Life," and combined his own philosophy with an interpretation of the "Dedication," entitled "Deter- rior." Whenever misfortune is her lot, Scott announced, "remember it could only be worse - except in South Bend!"

Commercial for such products as Mas- sengale (Chesterfield), Jockey Box, and Debby Boone's Greatest Hits from K-Tel were well received by the audience. There was also a true version of the WBER/ commercial with KC Rogers announcing "C'mon! We at K-Love are saying you hear good music and frankly we couldn't care less because we know there are about three radio stations in this area."

The concert was not contained to individuals, but extended into musical acts as well. Joe Gill gave a newer version of "Trouble in River City" transformed into a droning "Waltz of trouble at Notre Dame," "With a capital t" and that that she had never heard! Another song transformed by talented residents of Keenan Hall was "Cradle". "Cradle" noted humorously the horrors of "shoppers all-night studying."

More serious music was presented by the Keenan Orctt: Bill Shaughnessy on the piano; Ron Zierling; the Keen Brothers; Rich Pugliese; and Mike Kammor- di and maraschino. Keenan rector R. Rich Conyers also added his talent to the group.

Smith introduced the Klee Brothers - a celebrity with professional, act I've seen."

In my opinion this compliment could be extended to the entire show presented this past weekend in Washington Hall. This was the theme of the show: the student was as diversified as the students themselves. Keenan students are coming to "Be That," from "A Chorus Line," and Lawrence McCarthy, Bill Straccia, and Eric Bauwens delighted the audience with a juggling act.

For the second year, members of Keenan Hall have thrilled the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community with a collection of talent that is as much a tribute to its originality and ingenuity as it does for its School Dance, maybe?

Years from now, when members of the class of 1978 look back upon this spring Formal with fond memories, they can also recall with pride that "We did it our way." That's the theme this year for the stylish affair to be held at the Conrad-Hilton of Chicago on April 22. The bids, which include favors, dinner and dancing will be on sale at $40 a couple on Wednesday, March 8 and can be purchased from 1-4:30 p.m. in the LaFonette Hall 10 and in LeMans Hall at SMC. A $10 deposit will be accepted. A $50 deposit will be required. Payment will be received no later than April 1umm. An unforgettable evening is in store for all beginning with cocktails served from the cash bar at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8. After delicious chicken repast, a magnifico champagne will open at 9. "After Five" will be one of the two groups entertaining the Formal crowd until 3 a.m.

A taxicab service, flower service, as well as a package photo deal are all available from the Senior Formal Committee. Chairman Mary White welcomes any volunteers and asks that you call her at 8062 or Cathy Harkness at 722-7678.

Observe the features
Chicago: The final fling

For the second year, members of Keenan Hall have thrilled the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community with a collection of talent that is as much a tribute to its originality and ingenuity as it does for its
Hua Kuo-feng re-elected Communist Chairman

TOKYO (AP)—China's parliament re-elected Hua Kuo-feng as premier yesterday, making him the 12th leader of the Peking hierarchy as both political and administrative leader of the world's most populous government, proving himself a wily political and administrative leader day, solidifying his hold at the top.

In the process he has established himself as successor to both Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, the two higher educational standards. He has emphasized the best in the intellectual tradition of the church.

Monsignor Ellis to receive award

The University of Notre Dame announced last Friday that Monsignor John Tracy Ellis, the dean of historians of American Catholic Church of this world's most populous re-elected Communist Chairman government, proving himself a wily political and administrative leader day, solidifying his hold at the top.

Hua began the voting by dropping the first ballot into a red box, followed by Teng and the other two party vice-chairmen. Hsinhua reported. It said the vote ended unanimously, endorsing the party central committee's choice of Hua.

The news agency said the closing session of the working congress, which met for the first time in three years, adopted a new constitution replacing a 1975 document, but few details were revealed.

The congress also adopted a new national anthem. The previous anthem fell into disfavor during the Cultural Revolution of the late 1960's.

Though Teng failed to become premier, he remains No. 3 leader in the country as second vice-chairman of the party, behind Yeh. The other two vice-chairmen are Li Hsien-nien and Wang Tung-hsing.

EARN OVER $650 A MONTH- EARN WHILE YOU EARN!

If you're a junior or a senior majoring in math, physics or engineering, the Navy has a program you should know about. It's called the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate-Collegiate Program (NUPOC-C for short) and if you qualify, you can earn as much as $650 a month right through your senior year. Then after 16 weeks of Officer Candidate School, you'll receive an additional year of advanced technical education. This would cost you thousands in a civilian school, but in the Navy, we pay you. And at the end of the year of training, you'll receive a $3,000 cash bonus.

It isn't easy. There are fewer than 400 openings and only one of every six applicants will be selected. But if you make it, you'll have qualified for an elite engineering training program. With unequaled hands-on responsibility, a $24,000 salary in four years, and gilt-edged qualifications for jobs in private industry should you decide to leave the Navy later. (But we don't think you'll want to.)

Ask your placement officer to set up an interview with a Navy representative when he visits the campus on March 8, or contact your Navy representative at 312-657-2169. If you prefer, send your resume to the Navy Nuclear Officer Program, Code 312-B468, 4015 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, Va. 22203, and a Navy representative will contact you directly. The NUPOC-Collegiate Program. It can do more than help you finish college: it can lead to an exciting career opportunity.
Win a Cessna Airplane Plus Free Flying Lessons

Naturally presents this up-in-the-air contest just for the fun of it. Here's all you do: Fold, Crimp, Lick and Tape this ad or other paper into anything that flies in accordance with the Official Rules. Then, send it to us.

The Grand Prize is a Cessna 152 II Airplane plus free flying lessons (up to 40 hours). Our runner up prize of a free flying lesson will be awarded to all finalists. And, the first 500 entries will receive an official contest patch. Get flying, you could win.

Greatest Distance Wins The Cessna

Special Awards To Most Original, Most Attractive, And Maximum Time Afloat

At The National Fly-Off 100 finalists will be chosen on the basis of farthest distance flown. From these finalists, the Grand Prize Winner will be selected at a National Fly-Off judged by a panel of experts to be named later. Bonus Awards: At the National Fly-Off all finalists will also be judged in such categories as most original design, most attractive and duration of flight. These category winners will receive special recognition awards.

Quick. Get your entries in today. Then relax, take a "Natural Break", we'll notify you if you're a winner.

To Enter Complete The Following And Mail. (See Rule #1 for contest address)

Your Name
Address
City State Zip.

To learn more about learning to fly, call toll free 800-447-4700 (In Illinois call 800-322-4400 and ask for the Cessna Take-Off operator.)

Official Rules

No Purchase Necessary

To Enter Here's All You Do...

1. Construct a fixed wing paper airplane which sustains flight solely by use of aerodynamic forces, with a total length and wing span of no more than 60", clearly print your name and address on a visible part of it, and mail (please wrap securely in a folded, ready to fly condition to:

The Anheuser-Busch Natural Light Paper Airplane Contest
P.O. Box 8044
Blair, Nebraska 68009

2. Winners will be selected solely on the basis of farthest straight line distance achieved between point of launch and point of nose impact. There will be only one launch per entry. Fly as often as you wish, but each entry must be mailed separately.

3. All entries must be received by May 15, 1978.

4. Paper airplanes may have ailerons, rudders, elevator# or tabs, but we will make no adjustments to them. The only acceptable materials to be used in construction are paper and cellulose tape.

5. All airplanes will be launched by hand only. If there are any special instructions regarding launching such as the angle of attack and force (hard, medium or soft) of launch, please print them clearly on a visible portion of your paper airplane and the judges will attempt to follow them.

6. Preliminary judging to select the farthest flying 100 paper airplanes will be conducted in an indoor location by the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION, an independent judging organization.

7. The top 100 farthest flying airplanes (the Finalists) will be flown again indoors to select the farthest flying paper airplane using the same criteria as stated above. Selection of a winner will be made by a distinguished panel of judges who will be named later, under the direction of the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION.

8. Bonus prizes of Special Recognition Awards will be awarded to finalists in the following categories:

A. Most original design
B. Duration of flight (maximum time aloft)
C. Most attractive (overall appearance of design, and color of paper airplane)

Selection of bonus prize winners will be made by a distinguished panel of judges, under the direction of the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION.

9. In the event of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded. DECISION OF THE JUDGES IS FINAL.

10. Contest is open to residents of the contiguous 48 Continental United States who are of legal age for the purchase and consumption of alcoholic beverages. Contest is void where prohibited by law. Entries from members, their families, employees and their families of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., their affiliates, agents, wholesalers, retailers and the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION. Offer is void wherever prohibited by law. Contest is void wherever prohibited by law. Entries from members, their families, employees and their families of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., their affiliates, agents, wholesalers, retailers and the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION.
Ethiopia claims Ogaden victory; Somalis say Soviet troops used battlefront reports from the two sides in the Ogaden has been difficult to obtain.

"I have just been in touch with Mogadishu and they say the Ethiopians claim is not true," Adde said. "The Ethiopians are in the habit of making these claims.

"Official sources in Mogadishu say Russian and Cuban troops and theface of Mike Restivo when Kim Uniacke landed a long rights to Melbinger's head on his twice in the first round of their semifinals.

The rebels captured most of the Ogaden, including Jigjiga, in a drive that started last summer. Most Western observers believe somalia has sent regular troops to help the rebel WSLF. Somalia denies having sent troops, while acknowledging willingness to do so if necessary.

Unfortunately, no further information is available on this page regarding the crosswords and puzzles. The text appears to be a mix of unrelated sentences, possibly due to a mix-up in the page or document. This section does not provide clear information on the crosswords or puzzles.
Commissioiners. This board proposal to revise the membership for plans to install lights at Stepan student funds."

SBVP, are directly elected by the treasurer. Student Union director, judicial courts when lights are needed more specifically. Both McKenna and council and maintain the Student presidential and the student body would be distributed to students at the end of the year. The length, and marketability. Datzman said that the length of the book will probably be around 100 pages.

Although most of the students in the class will be graduating this year, Datzman said if the book sells well, a second edition could be considered printing a second edition.
Bengal opening sees few upsets

David O’Keefe
Sports Writer

Long months of training and fine-tuning finally came to fruition Sunday afternoon for the participants in the 45th Annual Bengal Bouts. The first round saw no knockouts and few upsets, but plenty of action nonetheless.

J.P. Hofbrook won the year’s first flight, scoring a unanimous decision over Mike Rowe in the 132-pound weight class. Doug Borgett, runner-up last year in the 132-pound division, had little trouble dispatching Jamie Shreiner in the same division.

In the 135-pound quarterfinals, all four fights ended in unanimous decisions. Freshman Bob Rivera showed fine style in his victory over veteran Dave Tezza, gliding in and away from Tezza and scoring almost at will.

Last year’s runner-up, Brian Rae, moved on to the second round by winning a first-round decision over Mike Small, of the University of Houston. Rae, who finished third with 44 points, showed fine style in his victory over Mike Small, of the University of Houston.

Marty Dellan, John Stephens, Walt Strasser and Paul DeCelles each won by unanimous decision in the 152-pound class, all by unanimous decision, and four fighters took Bob off-balance.

Sam Baldt, John Stephens, Walt Strasser and Paul DeCelles each won by unanimous decision in the 152-pound class, all by unanimous decision, and four fighters took Bob off-balance.

The Fighting Irish team opened in opening round of the playoffs. Friday and Saturday to meet the number-one ranked Pioneers in the Motor City Invitational this past weekend. Oakland College of Rochester, Michigan, finished third with 44 points. The Fighting Irish team opened in opening round of the playoffs. Friday and Saturday to meet the number-one ranked Pioneers in the Motor City Invitational this past weekend. Oakland College of Rochester, Michigan, finished third with 44 points.