Hussein disrupts triumph of Camp David Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) - The mood of triumph that swept the capital with the successful end of the Camp David summit was shattered yesterday by sharp words from Jordan's King Hussein and the leaders of Egypt and Israel that govern our lives by strengthening the power of the Campus Life Council (CLC)," he stated.

Mckenna's plan calls for a strengthening of the role of which, according to the plan, "shall have, at the end of the week, the powers to pass proposals which will be reviewed and approved by all University regulations, particularly those concerning hall life, and initiate and review actions in all areas of Student Affairs."

The plan states that the Vice-President for Student Affairs must act upon such proposals or veto them. In the event of a veto, he must return to the CLC stating the reasons for his decision. This decision may then be appealed to the Provost and, if necessary, to the President of the University.

"This plan consists of reasonable and constructive actions which are geared to achieve maximum student support on Oct. 13, the day of the Board of Trustee meeting," Mckenna said.

There are four main events which will be held to garner support for the plan, according to Mckenna. The first of these will be a series of articles and columns geared at educating students and stimulating their interest in the history and current states of student rights and alcohol regulations.

"We will also conduct a hall-to-hall campaign where the Student Body Vice-President, Judicial Coordinator and I will go door to door in each of the dorms with the respective

Nicaraguan troops besiege Esteli

Esteli to dislodge rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - Rebel barricades in Esteli yesterday as government troops circled the city in an attempt to smash the last guerrilla stronghold in the violent uprising against President Anastasio Somoza. The rebels, reinforced by companions from the government-controlled towns of Leon and Chinandega, were reported in control of Esteli, but their force was not known.

Residents and reporters leaving town said sandbag and cobblestone barricades were high and stretched across many streets. The Sandinistas also appeared to be better organized that they were in Masaya.

The national guard, Nicaragua's 7,500-man army, straddled the Pan American highway leading into the city, strafed rebel positions from the air and appeared ready to send in ground forces. Troops were airlifted to the north of the city, trying to tighten the noise around the city.

Despite Hussein's reaction, there was no indication the Arab leader, whose support is considered critical to the success of the summit has changed his mind about meeting with Vance. Before the announcement in Amman, Saudi told senators that "if the Arab countries, do not immediately perceive the great importance forward that has been set, they soon will come to perceive it.

An American official, who declined to be identified, said he was not too discouraged by the Jordanian reaction. "They haven't completely repudiated the accords," he said. "I still think they want to hear what we have to say.

Jordan will be Vance's first stop in the Middle East.

As expected, the Syrian reaction was mixed. Pan American officials said they have not discouraged the Jordanian reaction. "They haven't completely repudiated the accords," he said. "I still think they want to hear what we have to say.

Jordan will be Vance's first stop in the Middle East."

Soma and McTaggert outline United Way campaign at HPC

by Dan Leitch

At the Hall President's Council (HPC) meeting last night in Walsh Hall, United Way chairman Tom Soma announced that this year's drive would take place from Oct. 1 through Oct. 5. Soma and Brother Joe McTaggert outlined the campaign and asked the HPC for their support and assistance in the annual drive.

Pointing to last year's drive as a "framework for responsibility," McTaggert would like to see last year's drive emulated in many ways. One example of this would be to again approach every student on campus.

"We speak of being the number one student body and through this drive we can show that we have extended our efforts to athletics and nonathletic space, party policies, "In other business, the HPC selected members for the Budget Committee, which votes on hall money allocations. Members were also elected to the Standard Review Board which evaluates and advises the student body.

Prof. Cacioppo to participate in psychology research conference

by Ed Moran Staff Reporter

John Cacioppo won't be at the Notre Dame-Michigan football game this Saturday. Cacioppo, an assistant professor of psychology at Notre Dame, will travel to New York City to participate in "The Second National Conference on Cognitive, Behavior Therapy Research."

Cacioppo will speak about recent research on stress made at Notre Dame concerning "the electrical-physiological assessment of cognition."

The psychologist explained yesterday, "We plan designs that measure the electrical activity of various places on the body, like the face and hands, to measure the electrical activity generated by the subject's thoughts or cognitions."

"These cognitions are then compared with the findings. What we are doing is measuring the manifestation of these thought processes generated," he continued.

Cacioppo gave an example: "Place your hand flat on a table. Concentrate on your index finger. Tests would show that minute levels of electrical activity were generated in that finger merely by thinking about it."

Ultimately," Cacioppo continued, "we would like to associate various electrical responses with corresponding thoughts or thought processes. For example, we have found that a person in a state of depression emits a unique, detectable level of electrical activity as compared with a person not in a state of depression."

Cacioppo will be one of five panelists speaking on this topic at the conference, which will gather "leading researchers and clinicians" from around the country. It will be held at the Starler-Hilton in New York Saturday and Sunday.

Cacioppo said he majored in Economics as an undergraduate before earning his doctorate in psychology. He took his first psychology course during his senior year. "It was then that I found out how much I live research. I really enjoy doing research. I would do it for the rest of my life," he commented.

Scholarship program accepting applications

by Rick Travers

Applications are now being accepted for those interested in participating in the Luce Scholars Program, a nation-wide program for exceptional students interested in living, working, and studying for exceptional students interested in participating in the Luce Scholars Program, an applicant must be an American citizen who has earned a bachelor's degree and who will be no more than 29 years of age by Sept. 1, 1979.

Scholars will be chosen on the basis of high academic achievement, outstanding leadership ability and strong career interests in a specific field other than Asian affairs or international relations.

Candidates must submit biographical information, a personal statement of interests and career objectives, academic transcripts, and four letters of recommendation to Professor Donald Costello no later than Nov. 27.

Professor Mihajlo Mihajlov, a Yugoslav dissident guest speaker, was in residence at Notre Dame last week discussing his experiences and his work as a Yugoslav dissident. Mihajlov, also a professor of philosophy, now teaches in the United States. He is the author of a book, "Looking at Yugoslavia," which was published last year by the Macmillan Publishing Company. Mihajlov received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

Mihajlov spoke at length concerning his concept of a "religious renaissance." He does not think that all the problems of his country can be solved by military triumph over Communism. But he added, individual struggle and victory are possible through the "safeguarding of spiritual freedom."

The "mighty totalitarian pressures of the external world" control some people, but Mihajlov believes that if one knows everything that outside forces can take away, he feels "a joy ... God."

He also emphasized that a "concept of social awareness" is important both for the individual and a government. Mihajlov suggested that the "laws of the cosmos do not depend on us, but we must acknowledge them." If we do not, he explained, we feel loneliness, and impose it on others.

Mihajlov stated that governments, including that of the United States, should realize that a country's independence does not stop freedom for the citizens. Yugoslavia is an independent country, Mihajlov noted, but freedom is impeded by the Yugoslav government.

Mihajlov's lecture was sponsored by the Student Academic Commission, the Center for Civil Rights, and the Institute of International Studies.

In final proposal

Price resolves Frosh housing

by Neal Patterson

Yesterday afternoon Edmund Price, director of Housing, met with approximately 25 freshmen and the rectors of Planner and Grace to review the University's final proposal for those freshmen who are still living in study lounges in Planner and Grace.

Under the proposal, all study lounges will be vacated by the beginning of next semester. Those freshmen who are still living in study lounges will be allowed to remain for the rest of the semester, if they wish. Any spaces which open up during the rest of the semester in Planner and Grace will be made available to the students. As students begin to move out of the lounges, those remaining may be moved together so that each occupied study lounge contains four people and there are as many vacant lounges as possible.

Those freshmen who want to move out of the study lounges during the first semester must notify the Housing Office by Monday September 25. Once notification is made, the student is obligated to take the first space that is made available to him by the Housing Office, regardless of the location.

"While attempts will be made to see that first choices are given, no assurances can be made." Price said.

If a student does choose to remain in a study lounge for the rest of the semester, he must notify the Housing Office of his dorm choice for next semester sometime during the first semester. Those students who wish to remain in the halls that they are presently in will be considered immediately, Price explained. Those remaining will be allowed to remain there following sufficient space is available.

One of the main objections to the proposal was made by Jack Brassek, a freshman. He felt that since he moved out of Planner two days ago, before the proposal was made, that he should be allowed to return to Planner if he wished.

Price, however, stated that the proposal is not retroactive.

"Any student who has already moved, or does so in the future, is considered a permanent resident of the hall into which he moves. He may then move to another dorm only by following the normal procedure."

Price explained further that attempts are being made to adhere to the same policies regarding moves as in the past, and that by giving preferential treatment to those who have already moved would only increase the pressing problem.

Price also wants to insure that, in addition to placing all the freshmen in permanent housing by the second semester, that other students who desire to move to different dorms will be given a reasonable opportunity to do so.

The proposal was greeted with some mixed reaction, but on the whole most of the freshmen indicated that they were satisfied with it. Doug Tracey, a freshman in Grace said, "The administration made a fair compromise without placing itself in too great a bind."

Free University offers courses for fall semester

by Gregory Solman

Free University, which offers academic and special interest courses to Michiana area residents as well as the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's community, will begin the week of Oct. 9.

Several psychology and health courses highlight this year's program, as well as courses ranging from auto mechanics to ballet. Also included among the semester's offerings are courses in guitar, government and history.

Registration booklets outlining the available courses will be delivered this weekend to each hall.

Bill Caldwell and John Eardley, co-chairmen of the 1978-79 Free University, noted that last year's registration procedure has been changed. This year, registration is in the fall to encourage freshmen to take courses and so that all students would have a better indication of their course loads.

"We hope that if more freshmen take courses in the fall," Eardley added, "they will be encouraged to take more courses in the following spring."

Biology dept.
sponsors lecture

Erich Klinghammer, president of the North American Wildlife Park Foundation and associate professor of psychology at Purdue University, will lecture on "Well Behavior, Research and Conversation" at 7:30 tonight in Carroll Hall at Saint Mary's. His lecture, the fourth presentation in The American Scene Series, is sponsored by the College's biology department.

Walter to speak in Howard

Fr. Joseph Walter will give a lecture and conduct a discussion tonight at 7 in Howard Hall. The talk is being sponsored by Howard's Academic-Cultural Commission. Walter will speak on "How to Prepare for Life and Get into Medical School."

"There will be no class distinctions during the sign-up period," Eardley commented. "Every course-card will be issued on a first-come, first-serve basis."

Although Free University is funded jointly by the Notre Dame Student Union and the Saint Mary's student government, neither students nor area residents are charged.

"A Free University, by definition, is for everyone," Caldwell commented, "and we don't feel that the cost of the program warrants charging anyone for courses."

Registration for Free University will be Wednesday, Sept. 27 and Thursday, Sept. 28 in the LaFortune Ballroom from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

 Castro denies involvement

WASHINGTON (AP-Fidel Castro, in an interview made public yesterday, told House investigators it would have been "insane" for him to have conspired in John F. Kennedy's assassination.

That would have been the most perfect pretext for the United States to invade our country, which is what I have tried to prevent in every possible sense," he said.

In JFK assassination

 Castro also said he suspects that accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald's effort to get into Cuba two months before the assassination was a deliberate attempt to link Cuba to Kennedy's death.

Second City to perform

The Second City will perform at Saint Mary's tomorrow at 8:00 p.m. in O'Laughlin Auditorium.

Tickets may be picked up at the ticket office, Room 229 Monroe Hall, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1-4:30 p.m. General admission tickets are $1. Student tickets are 50 cents.

In his interview with House investigators and committee members last April, Castro contended it would have been insane for him to play a role in Kennedy's murder.

"This idea has become widely accepted," McCormick noted, "and student interest in Free University has been extremely high."
Saint Mary's to issue fines for rule violations
by Anne Hessman

Saint Mary's policy of issuing fines for violations of housing, safety, or security rules is being strictly and consistently enforced this year, according to Sr. Karol Jackowski, director of Residence Life.

Fines imposed on students for violations range from $5 for a lost key to $50 for painting a room without a permit.

"The monetary sanction is the most effective and sensible way of dealing with such violations," Jackowski stated.

An offending student is issued a housing/safety ticket signed by her residence director stating the violation and the amount of the fine. The fine is paid to the Business Office which transfers the money to either finance the repairs of the damages or to a special fund.

The Hall Improvement Fund takes suggestions from students and R.A.'s and with a five member board decides how the money will be spent. Ideas presently under consideration include a dance floor for the Angela Athletic Facility and a heater for the Clubhouse.

Two safety violations punishable by $25 fines this year include sunbathing and/or walking on roofs, as well as not vacating a building during a fire drill.

Jackowski noted that some students were fined for being on dormitory roofs during the recent pantry raid.

Jackowski stressed the importance of adhering to regulations regarding fire drill procedure in accordance with the College's insurance policy.

"We have to be able to assure the fire department that we've done as much as we can," Jackowski added. "That way, in the event of a real fire we can account for all of the students."

Violations are not kept on the student's permanent record but the Business Office does maintain a file on payments. Repeated violations may result in the student losing her campus housing.

Surpasses $100 million
Development drive sets record

Notre Dame has passed the $100 million mark in its current development drive, setting a fund-raising record for the institution, it was announced today.

"The Campaign for Notre Dame," a $130 million program announced in April of 1977, has obtained $100,038,642 in gifts and pledges, according to a report issued by University Trustees John T. Ryan, Pittsburgh, and Ernestine Carmichael Raclin of South Bend, national co-chairmen of the campaign.

Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame commented: "The success of our campaign during a period of economic uncertainty reflects the untiring efforts of our volunteer leadership and the deep loyalty of our alumni, parents, and friends, all of whom share a common goal of providing the resources for continued academic excellence."

Notre Dame is only the twelfth American college or university to raise more than $100 million in one campaign, according to figures on fund-raising efforts now in progress on 107 campuses published recently in the Chronicle for Higher Education.

"This is a milestone in the history of the University," Ryan and Raclin said in a joint statement. "The last $30 million will not be easy to achieve, but we have established a momentum that will carry over into the final phase of the campaign, the national solicitation, next spring." Several cities across the nation will launch local drives March through June.

The goal of the "Campaign for Notre Dame" is to increase Notre Dame's endowment, which now stands at $114 million, the largest among Catholic institutions of higher education and 24th largest in American higher education.

By adding $92 million to endowment, University officials hope to prevent the erosion of resources by inflation, maintain a constant level of scholarship, and Ryan and Raclin pointed out that campaign giving has been spread rather evenly over various priorities of the campaign, which includes product, student assistance, and support for academic and religious programs. With 77 percent of the entire campaign goal realized, the endowment component has 62 percent of its goal. The physical facilities component, which this meeting may appeal the decision to Gal Drarragh, student government president, within ten days of the initial allocation.

Students with questions should stop by the Student Activities office and read Appendix IV of the Student Government Manual or call Sheila Wistest, student government treasurer, at 5329.

Film fest urges awareness

by Ruth Kolcun

The Third World Film Festival opened Monday night with "Black and White In Color," the first of a series of films on Africa. The festival, which will continue through November with showings of films on Latin American and Asian countries, is being sponsored by the Notre Dame student government and the Center for Experimental Learning.

According to Tom Ladiow, promotional director for the film series, the festival was undertaken to create a better understanding of international human relations. Another aim of the series is to help participants gain empathy for these developing countries through knowledge of their situations.

"The third world countries are the poorer countries of the world which suffer in ten sex population pressures and have not yet industrialized," Peter Walsh, associate professor of government and international studies, commented.

First world countries are the United States, Japan and the nations of Europe. Second world countries are the industrialized Communist countries.

"This year we have collaborated with student government in an awareness of the third world problems," Fr. Don McNell, director of the Center for Experimental Learning, stated.

"The films lead into next semester talks between student government and campus leaders," Ladiow explained.

Other year-long activities related to the third world festival include workshops, hall projects, and a conference in March with student government cabinet members, hall officers, class officers, faculty and administration. There will also be a mass celebrated by Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, University president.

Hesburgh made a personal contribution to the Third World Festival, according to literature promoting the films. In addition, financial support was also provided by the College of Business Administration, the physics department, the theology department, and the priests and brothers of Corby Hall.

"Because the films are free, shown at various times, and present a variety of perspectives, students are encouraged to attend and raise questions," McNell said.

"Black and White In Color" won the Oscar for "Best Foreign Film of 1977." Two documentaries on Africa, "Marrakech" and "The Last Grave of Dimbaza," will be shown Sunday and Monday in the Engineering Auditorium.

Sailing Club runs second in regatta

by Mark Perry
Sports Writer

Consistently strong performances helped lead the Notre Dame-St. Mary’s sailing club to a second-place finish at the Notre Dame International held last Saturday and Sunday at Eagle Lake in Edwardsburg, Michigan.

Eleven schools competed at the meet, as Michigan State placed first, followed by the Irish and Michigan.

In the twelve races held over the weekend in two divisions, the Irish placed no lower than fourth. Four races were held on Saturday as Notre Dame pulled into second place and held that position through the eight races held on Sunday.

Phil Reynolds was the skipper for Notre Dame in Division A, aided by Linda Hoy (SMC) on Saturday and Sue Smiggen (SMC) on Sunday. Don Condit headed the Division B crew, with Carol Silva (ND) sailing on Saturday and Jane Brown (ND) on Sunday.

This was the second big meet for the Irish this season, who were ranked 20th in the nation last year and hope to hold or improve that rating this year.

The Irish have several big meets upcoming as they will be traveling nearly every weekend this fall. This Saturday and Sunday they travel to the University of Michigan to compete in the Cary Price Invitational.

The ND-SMC team is also planning two big meets over the upcoming fall breaks. Over the October break they will travel to Long Beach, California to compete in the Collegiate Match Races, the national championships equivalent for sailing.

Over Thanksgiving break the team will be competing in the Timme Angsten Invitational at the Belmont Yacht Club in Chicago.

John Lundgren grabs
1978 Irish Invitational

by Mark Ronatil
Sports Writer

"It was a fun tournament and a chance for the golf team and the other students to compete together." These were the simple, but appropriate words used by Irish Golf Captain Tom Sauers to characterize the events of the 1978 Notre Dame Open held on the Irish White Memorial Golf course.

The tournament, directed by Irish Golf mentor Noel O’Sullivan, is an annual 64-hole affair encompassing two consecutive weekends. It lends an opportunity to all Notre Dame students to exhibit their golfing prowess, as well as, enjoy the pleasures of a fall afternoon.

John Lundgren, this year’s victor, fires rounds of 70-75-69-70 on his way to a phenomenal 64-hole total of 284. Tom Sauers, team captain and second place finisher for the past two years, grabbed second once more with scores of 71-71-73-71 for a total of 286, only two shots behind Lundgren. Mike Waddens rounded out the top three with a respectable four round total of 289.

"It was an honor to win this tournament," said Lundgren. "There are so many good golfers on this campus and all do have a chance to win.

Coach O’Sullivan was thrilled with the tournament’s success and results. All five returning lettermen (Sauers, McCarthy, Lundgren, Knee, and Sacheck) finished within the top ten positions.

"This is an example of the kind of spirit that the golf team has this year," said a jubilant Coach O’Sullivan. "Golf is a highly individualistic sport, but the entire team was pleased with John Lundgren’s winning performance.

"This is a big team spirit! It breeds success and is a quality that just can not miss."

The team will soon have the opportunity to put this spirit to use as it prepares for the Tri-State match to be held this Friday in Angola, Indiana.

On Sunday, the team travels to Lebanon, Indiana for the Indiana State Intercollegiate Championship. This is a crucial 36-hole tournament drawing Indiana’s top golfing powers. The team closes its fall season with the Notre Dame Invitational.

Fourteen fine teams have accepted the invitation. Coach O’Sullivan foresees a very "prosperous golf campaign."

"It’s the first meeting between the two Midwestern powers in 35 years. Michigan holds a 9-2 edge in the series, but the last time they met was in 1943 with Notre Dame winning 35-12."

Both coaches talked to The Chicago Football Writers in telephone interviews Tuesday prior to what could turn out to be a titanic battle in South Bend Saturday."

Michigan vs. N.D.: "Titanic battle" slated for Irish on Saturday

CHICAGO [ap] - What are the advantages or disadvantages of having an extra week off following a loss in preparing for one of the bigger games of the season?

Bo Schenbechler of Michigan said "I don’t know, I’ve never been in that position..."

Dan Devine of Notre Dame is in that position since his Irish lost 3-0 to Missouri and have had an extra week to prepare for Michigan. But Devine isn’t sure what it means.

"Anytime you lose you like to go out and play an hour later and get the loss out of your system," said Devine. "The advantages that we are now a better team than we were two weeks ago. We might have been too vocally confident before the Missouri game."

In making his remarks, Devine insisted he was not distracting from a great victory by Missouri.

"They’ve had an extra week to prepare for us," said Schenbechler. "Of course, their big advantage is playing in their stadium..."

It’s the first meeting between the two Midwestern teams in 35 years. Michigan holds a 9-2 edge in the series, but the last time they met was in 1943 with Notre Dame winning 35-12.

"This is the type of game that probably should be played," said Schenbechler. "between two Midwestern teams who have been strong down through the years."

Schenbechler wasn’t too pleased with Michigan’s 31-0 opening victory against Illinois except for the fact that "it was a shutout and they kicking game was encouraging."

"It was a typical opening game," said Schenbechler who insisted the Wolverines weren’t looking ahead to Notre Dame.
