by Mike Ridomier
Staff Reporter

Teamsters Local 364 has filed a third unfair labor practice charge against Notre Dame in connection with the layoff of Jim Payton, catalyst of the unionization movement of the workers on campus.

Payton, a garage worker, was suspended indefinitely last Friday. According to Payton, I was fired because I was one hour late for work last Thursday.

Payton said, The University has been trying to catch me on something because of my involvement in union activities.

Director of Personnel, Tom Bull, denied that Payton was fired because of that incident. It has been a combination of things that we (the University) would not want to make public, but deals with his relations with the supervisors.

Bull said, Payton said the trouble began when his truck broke down. There was no phone nearby, Bull explained, and when I returned to the garage, the supervisor, Jim Michalski, said, Do you know what a phone is? I told him there was no phone near my truck's break down. An argument ensued.

The next thing I knew I was fired. I didn't know Michalski was my boss, Payton said. Bull claimed, We believe Payton knew that Michalski was his boss.

Mike Lawrence, assistant business representative of Teamsters Local 364, said that the unfair labor practice charge is being filed on behalf of Payton on the grounds of discrimination by the University. We believe Payton was singled out for this union activity because he's the main person behind the unionization movement, Lawrence explained.

Bull said that it is the Teamsters' prerogative if they want to file a charge. We believe there is no substance to the charge. Remember, the last unfair labor practice charge never went to court because the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) saw no merit in it, Bull stated.

They (the Teamsters) can file a charge on anything they want but if it is the proof in the pudding that counts, Bull continued.

Lawrence said this third charge would not interfere in the progress of the unionization. This unfair labor practice charge is separate so we cannot expect it to hold up the original issue, Lawrence said.

The NLRB is still in the process of making a decision on the size of the bargaining units for a vote on unionization.

Will meet with Roemer

by Frank LaGrotta

Thirteen student identification cards have been confiscated as a result of food fights that took place in both the North and South Dining Halls last Saturday night.

The ID cards, along with a report of the incident, were sent to Dean of Students, James Roemer. The students involved are scheduled to meet with Roemer today.

The student's actions are in direct violation of Section 10 of the University regulations, which states, Throwing of food or other objects in the dining halls is a serious offense against the entire community.

The section was added to the regulations last year. According to Ron Alivey, food service director in the North Dining Hall, food throwing incidents occurred during dinner in B and C lines of the South Dining Hall. Five ID cards were confiscated at that time.

A group of students started clanking glasses and sliding chairs. Then they started throwing bread, cookies and cottage cheese, among other things. That's when we took action and asked for IDs, Alivey said.

This was not the first reported incident of food-fighting in the North Dining Hall this year, according to Verdiean Rupert, head checker in the North Dining Hall.

We took four IDs after both the Michigan and Michigan games, Rupert said. Many of the students involved had been drinking. I think it's that, plus the emotions from the football game vented.

The situation in the South Dining Hall on Saturday was similar, according to director Carson Wells.

Students in the East Hall started throwing food. Then the monitors and I collected eight ID cards, Wells explained.

The thrown food caused officials to close the East Hall at 5:30 p.m. Closing the East Hall was a real inconvenience for many students not involved in the food fight, Bob Robinson said. Student food service director for SAGA Foods.

Many of the students involved were intoxicated and one of our monitors actually discovered beer on a few of the apprehended students.

Wells said, Their behavior caused problems for a lot of innocent people seated around them, not to mention the students forced to stand in long lines at the West Hall because the East Hall was closed.

Roemer said he will discuss the incidents with students involved at today's meeting. Their ID cards will also be returned at this time.

The whole community has to make a point and say we won't tolerate this kind of thing, Roemer said. I think the guilty students have to learn from this experience. It's an inconvenience for the people who have to clean up the mess and for the people who can't enjoy a meal in the dining hall without this type of disturbance.

Roemer explained that the disciplinary action usually taken when this instance occurs is to make the involved students spend 20 hours on Sunday mornings cleaning garbage cans at the dining halls.

That's the action that every students and dining hall officials) agreed upon earlier this year.

Roemer explained. The garbage cans have to be cleaned so it seems to me that the people best suited to clean them are the people, who messed up the dining halls.

Robinson believes that by making students aware of the consequences of being caught, further food fights can be prevented.

The consequences, coupled with peer pressure, might discourage students from throwing food.

In the future, food fights aren't any fun for innocent students trying to eat their meals.

The two students here are taking their chances on the portable color T.V. to be raffled off at Oktoberfest. The raffle doesn't start officially until Wednesday. Tickets are 50 cents per fifty.

[Photo by Ron Szat]

FAA releases plane crash transcripts

SAN DIEGO [AP] - A doomed pilot's calm advisory that his jet was going down was the only interjection in routine pilot-controller conversations before the nation's worst air crash, tape recordings released yesterday showed.

Tower, we're going down. This is PSA, the pilot of Pacific Southwest Airlines Flight 182 told Lindbergh Field controllers just before the crash last Monday in which at least 144 persons died.

The transcripts, released by the Federal Aviation Administration, show no evidence of joking or inattention on the part of the PSA crew, as had been claimed in some news reports, but only routine transmissions between air and ground.

The PSA jet and a single-engine Cesna collided miles east of Lindbergh Field, raining flaming debris and bodies on the city's North Park residential area. At least 135 persons on the PSA jet died, both persons in the Cesna were killed, and at least seven persons on the ground were killed.

The transcripts cover transmission between controllers at Miramar Naval Air Station, Lindbergh Field and several planes, both on the ground and aloft. The tape contains nothing of any trouble until controllers at Miramar, which handled the PSA jet until it was handed off to Lindbergh controllers for the final approach, noticed a low-altitude alert sound- ing as the airliner fell below a minimum safe height.

Other pilots radioed controllers immediately after the accident, their voices showing concern. Cleared to land... Boy, what blew up out there? radioed a Lindbergh controller answering.

Oh, God, What? another unidentified pilot asked. Yes, the Lindbergh controller answered.

The transcripts show the Cesna 172 Involved in the collision with the PSA jetliner, PSA controller advised that the pilot of the PSA 727 descending upon him knew the single-engine plane was there. The last advances came almost at the moment of collision.

The tape recordings, which run to 35 pages, cover five minutes before and after the collision. They were played at a news conference.

The Observer

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and st. mary's

Vol. XIII, No. 26

Tuesday, October 3, 1972

Teamsters again charge University
Harrises face sentencing

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)-William and Emily Harris, the avowed revolutionaries who admit they kidnapped Patricia Hearst, face sentencing today for one of America's most notorious abductions. It will mark the end of litigation for Harris, 33, and Mrs. Harris, 31, founding members of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army that shocked the world with the Feb. 4, 1974, crime.

‘Seven dirty words’ available

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)-The Portland Press Herald offered to mail its readers a list of those “seven dirty words” the U.S. Supreme Court objected to, and readers from as far away as West Germany responded. The Press Herald did not publish the words when it carried stories about the court’s restriction of broadcasts of a record by comedian George Carlin. But it said the curious could get a list by sending a self-addressed envelope to the newspaper. The offer was carried by The Associated Press and about 60 requests came in from out of state.

Chemical leak causes fire

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)-A $2 million fire at a chemical plant complex apparently was caused by ignition of a chemical leaking from an open valve on a tank set to be dismantled, authorities said yesterday. Investigators were questioning workers to determine if the valve was left open deliberately. The blaze, which started shortly after midnight Saturday, ripped through the Bell Chemical Division of Ferro Corp. here, but there were no injuries.

Gas hospitalizes students

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)-At least 79 high school students and teachers were overcome yesterday by a gas that authorities said probably was carbon monoxide. The victims were given oxygen, and doctors said they believed none was seriously ill. School administrators said it was the first day this year that the school’s heating system was used. They said the building would be closed Wednesday. The victims were given oxygen, and doctors said they believed none was seriously ill.

Weather

Showers today, ending tonight. Highs in the upper 60s, lows tonight in the upper 40s. Mostly cloudy tomorrow, with skies clearing in the late afternoon. Highs in the mid 60s. Chance of rain 80 percent today and 60 percent tonight.

SMC Board of Governance discusses semester activities

by Margie Brusil

This week’s Oktoberfest was one of the many issues discussed at the Saint Mary’s Board of Governance meeting Thursday. The schedule of Oktoberfest events begins Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Senior Bar where the first 100 tickets will be given out free. Also, theaffle tickets for the 10-inch color television and the special Oktoberfest T-shirts will go on sale Wednesday.

Dinner on Thursday will include entertainment by a German band and various acts. At 12:00 pm album hour, the raffle tickets for the 10-inch color television and the special Oktoberfest T-shirts will go on sale Wednesday.

Apology

We at the Observer apologize for the unfortunate placement of the pope raffle photograph in yesterday’s paper. Although these photos were placed near a story concerning the reaction to Pope John Paul II’s visit, it were by no means a reflection of our reaction to this morning’s occurrence.

Also, the size of the photo of John Smith, the college controller, the college controller, the college controller, was extremely small. We at the Observer apologize for the unfortunate placement of the pope raffle photograph in yesterday’s paper.

The Observer is published Monday through Friday accepting exam and vacation periods. The Observer is the official student newspaper of Saint Mary’s College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year (10 issues) from The Observer. The Observer is a nonprofit corporation as defined by law and all postage paid, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Summer Study in Washington D.C.

SMC MAKES IT HAPPEN

au
cv
im
mc
re

The Sophomore class is hoping to have the remaining expenses covered by the sale of the collection’s edition T-shirts.

Julie Pope, vice president of academic affairs, submitted a proposal for a student energy conservation plan. The possibilities for this plan were widely discussed. The Board agreed it would have to be taken to the students for a final vote, but details of the plan are still being discussed.

According to Jason Lindower, college controller, the college saved $300 per day during the height of last year’s heat wave. At one point, the college was conserving 50 percent of their energy due to the students’ conservation efforts.

The idea of a conservation program, according to Pope, would be to make students aware of how much it costs to leave lights and stereo on and how it affects their tuition.

Other business presented by Student Body President Gail Darragh was the choice of the college charity for this year. The Board will vote next week on the various possibilities. Talks began last night concerning next spring’s Women’s Week.

posters in a hurry?

Insysy-prints

ike’s Wear-House

Opening Soon

Guys & Gals Blue Jeans

Sportswear at Factory Outlet Prices

5 Blocks South of Notre Dame Ave. PART-TIME HELP WANTED!

Taking applications Wed. afternoon, 3-8 p.m.
Standing of Alumni-oriented communications between the student association in hopes of enhancing awareness, the Notre Dame Alumni Association’s Assistant Director Tim Truesdell. “SARG is designed to go home,” stated the association’s meetings held last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Chairing by senior Micki O’Connell will consist of six members: two sophomores, two juniors, and two seniors. SARG will attempt to make the student body more aware of the functions that the Alumni Association offers on campus.

“SARG will be an apparatus to let the students get to know the board and the board to get to know the students,” O’Connell said. “In January we hope to have members of the Board go out into the campus and meet the seniors that plan to graduate; some one they’ve just met, or hitchhiking. With the exception of hitching, I’m not saying not to do these things, but rather, be more careful. Let a friend know as you’re leaving a party or bar where you are going and whom you are going with.” Van Eck advised.

SMC stresses rape awareness by Lisa Fulks

A new Rape Awareness Program designed by hall directors Barbara Van Eck and Susan Tamborini has been instituted at Saint Mary’s College.

Van Eck, in her second year as Holy Cross director, cites the two rapes of last year as a major factor in the initiation of this new program. The program is designed to reach virtually every SMC resident. According to Van Eck, every section of every dorm will have the chance to see a film on rape awareness and to hear a lecture on the subject. Printed information regarding the subject has also been passed out to residents.

Van Eck and Tamborini both have counseling backgrounds. Tamborini, director of Regina Hall, holds a Masters in Student Personnel and did her thesis on the different attitudes of both sexes toward the crime of rape. “It’s an issue both sexes need to deal with. It would be good if men were made more aware of the problems females have to face regarding this crime,” Tamborini stated.

Van Eck, who attended a workshop that dealt with women and violent crimes, has also met with South Bend’s Sex Offense Staff (S.O.S.). She claims that there has been a positive response on the part of the residents, thus indicating a concern about rape.

“I want girls to think about something they all do, such as walking home from ND at night, leaving bars or parties with someone they’ve just met, or hitchhiking. With the exception of hitching, I’m not saying not to do these things, but rather, be more careful. Let a friend know as you’re leaving a party or bar where you are going and whom you are going with.” Van Eck advised.

The illusion that one has nothing to worry about on the two campuses is one that must be dispelled, Van Eck said. She maintains that there is only so much security, and that it is up to the student to be better informed about rape.

Van Eck feels that increased awareness and learning several protective and preventive measures will aid the girls in dealing with rape. “It’s important to talk about it beforehand so you’re prepared to take care of yourself or a friend if it does happen,” she explained.

The Resident Advisors (RAs) on campus also took part in a Rape Awareness workshop which dealt with how to help someone who has been raped. The RAs have also been responsible for promoting the Rape Awareness Program among the residents.

A self-defense class is also a part of the program for any resident who wants to sign up. After mid-semester break there will be a campus-wide meeting covering the medical and legal aspects of rape. In the spring the program will be continued to bring the issue to the students’ attention once more.
We Are Adults

steve oland

Editorial Board

Tony Pace

Managing Editor

John O'Connell

Barb Langhoffer

Executive Editor

Katrin Rummel (Editors-in-Chief)

Phil Cackley

Copy Editor

Jenni Polk

News Editor

Ann News

Mike Lewis

News Editor

Phil O'Brien

Features Editor

Doug Christian

Photo Editor

Mardi Nevin

Production Manager

John Tucker

Office Manager

Bob Rudy

Advertising Manager

Question of Notre Dame

President of Student Affairs Fr. John Tucker Business Manager

The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is gathered as accurately as possible. Editors represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Comments, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, thus, is encouraged.

Mr. Szwed's reaction to Mr. Rice's reaction to Father Toohey's reaction to the Freshman Inquisitor's kingdom. And judging from Father Rice's curious intellectual intransigence, I suspect many of us would be silenced if, in our search for closure to the diversity of views so represented some of them would not doubt realize they were beginning a mysterious adventure of freedom, and risking their hearts and minds, which, if they were fortunate, might be their lives.
It's not every day that one (even a campus minister) is so sweepingly condemned—accused of presenting a false Christ, preaching against Church teaching and perpetrating "an imposition upon the entering students and their parents." I refer, of course, to the charges and a sermon delivered at the Welcoming Mass for freshmen and their parents in the ACC on August 27th. In the interest of informing the community, and in response to requests for a response, here is the actual text:

On behalf of all of us you see before you, who work full time in ministry to students, welcome to Notre Dame.

The most scholastically selective class in the University of Notre Dame's history—what's that the headline said, speaking yesterday? The 1650 new students culled from 7700 applicants to Notre Dame's freshmen class, have the highest academic credentials of any entering class since Notre Dame was founded in 1942. A third of the students finished 1,2,3,4 or 5 in their high school graduating classes; 77 percent were in the top 10 percent; and 92 percent were in the top 20 percent of their classes.

So you have yourselves to blame for the fact that God puts you to work immediately. Being aware of this knowledge, potential, He doesn't want to waste any time. Consequently, in this morning's gospel, He begins your schooling on a very important subject. He would teach us all something about His Son: something that will lead also to important discoveries about ourselves.

We Christians are convinced of Jesus' divinity; but we also believe that He 'went through a truly human experience: no capitalizing on His divine connections, no escape classes, no end arounds. While we believe this in theory, the way we sometimes behave is that we are in that practical, that we think that Jesus is just going through the motions, with a conspiratorial wink of one divine eye. The exchange between Jesus and Peter in today's gospel might be illuminating for us, if we kept in mind this fact of Jesus' full divinity; but we also believe that He doesn't want to waste any time. Consequently, in this morning's gospel, He begins your schooling on a very important subject. He would teach us all something about His Son: something that will lead also to important discoveries about ourselves.

We Christians are convinced of Jesus' divinity; but we also believe that He 'went through a truly human experience: no capitalizing on His divine connections, no escape classes, no end arounds. While we believe this in theory, the way we sometimes behave is that we are in that practical, that we think that Jesus is just going through the motions, with a conspiratorial wink of one divine eye. The exchange between Jesus and Peter in today's gospel might be illuminating for us, if we kept in mind this fact of Jesus' full divinity; but we also believe that He doesn't want to waste any time. Consequently, in this morning's gospel, He begins your schooling on a very important subject. He would teach us all something about His Son: something that will lead also to important discoveries about ourselves.

Jesus' question to His disciples, 'Who do people say that I am?' is not some kind of coy, multiple-choice test: "I see what others think of me." It's perfectly normal to believe that the Son of Man is just the answer to those several challenges, and frightening experience I have? How can I find happiness in life? How can I live forever?

Jesus is the answer to all those questions. I urge you students to allow Him to be that answer for you in ever more powerful ways these next four years.

There's something else I urge: go with some natural, very human desire to know what others think of you. Be like Jesus in that. Continue to ask that question of others, the one He asked: 'Who do you say I am?' The answer itself is meant to grow and change, as you do, during your years here.

And, at the end, if your time at Notre Dame is the blessed experience it is meant to be, their answer will have to be: 'You aren't just somebody who has acquired skills, a bunch of facts, a whole catalogue of information; you are not just able to do something. You have become someone. You are the offspring of the living God. You share His life. You are anointed for a mission of service in the world. You are more truly alive and fully human than when you first came here. You manifest the continuing presence of the living God in your world.'

Because you have let Him be the Christ for you, you are 'Christian'—and that will not simply 'graduate' but 'Christian graduate.' I pray you become eligible for that kind of answer to the question, 'Who do you say I am?' And I pray there are persons who will be willing to tell you.

And so in welcoming you to Notre Dame, I want to encourage you to take that adventure. There are a lot of people here who are totally dedicated to walk with you and to be with you in every way, as you try to grow into the answer you are destined to give.

To you parents: Our thanks for sharing your young people's life during the college experience. And to you, the class of '82: thanks for deciding to live with us. Together we can be excited at the possibilities before us; especially, that Jesus friendships and escape services ahead, we will be led further along in our question about ourselves. We hope the Christian answer we are called by God to be.
Registration for Navy game ends tonight

The final sign-up for the Nov. 4 Notre Dame Navy football game in Cleveland will be held tonight at both Saint Mary's and Notre Dame. ND students may register in the LeMans lobby from 7-8 p.m. and SMC students may register in the LeMans lobby from 7-8 p.m.

There are several options available for the football weekend and all students are urged to consider both Saint Mary's and Notre Dame. Cleveland will be held tonight at the Observer.

Students wishing further information may call Chris at 1153, or Roberta at 678.

Dave at 1153, or Roberta at 678.

Tickets, transportation to and from Cleveland, and hotel accommodations are being offered by the Cleveland Club. Tickets for a pre-game pep rally/dance and a post-game celebration are also being offered.

There are several options available for the football weekend and all students are urged to consider and finalize their plans. Game tickets, transportation to and from Cleveland, and hotel accommodations are being offered by the Cleveland Club. Tickets for a pre-game pep rally/dance and a post-game celebration are also being offered.

Students wishing further information may call Chris at 1153, or Roberta at 678.

Dave at 1153, or Roberta at 678.

Tickets, transportation to and from Cleveland, and hotel accommodations are being offered by the Cleveland Club. Tickets for a pre-game pep rally/dance and a post-game celebration are also being offered.

Students wishing further information may call Chris at 1153, or Roberta at 678.
Urban plunge fosters greater social awareness

by John McGrath

Applications for urban "plunge" are now available at the Center for Experiential Learning, on the first floor of the Memorial Library, at the Saint Mary's College Religious Studies office (Rm 158 Madison), and through dorm representatives. Applications were submitted yesterday.

The Urban Plunge is an annual project that enables students to learn more about the problems of injustice, poverty and spirituality in American cities through hands-on experiences in urban areas throughout the country.

"We don't know yet what Notre Dame students don't even know about but should, because someday they are going to be in the positions of power," commented Gina Giovannini, a senior who took the "plunge" last year in Washington, D.C.

The Urban Plunge program this year will consist of 48-hour live-in experiences in one of 42 different cities throughout the nation. The trips are planned to take place sometime between January 5-13, during the Christmas break.

"It really made my Christmas break meaningful," said Bruce Blanco, who along with Giovannini is a member of the Religious Studies Department of Saint Mary's as "Religion and Values."

In addition to the actual "plunge", there is an orientation workshop on Oct. 15 and a final preparatory meeting of the outgoing groups on Dec. 1. Readings include articles examining common urban problems and strategies. There are also two brief written assignments including a personal reflection paper due immediately after the experience, as well as a follow-up get-together at the homes of faculty members to discuss and evaluate the students' experiences.

This program is sponsored by the Center for Experiential Learning, the Department of Urban Studies, the ND Student Government, the Departments of Theology, and the Religious Studies Department at Notre Dame Theology Department as one-credit hour with the Notre Dame Urban Plunge Task Force and the Religious Studies Department.

The Urban Plunge counts for credit in sociology or religion and with the Religious Studies Department.

"I would highly recommend helping others," commented Monica McNeill, adding, "the students who have been working on the task force have been excellent. They're really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland.

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."

"...We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work, and have been working on the task force have been excellent. We have four graduates from Notre Dame who are now working with urban social groups in Houston as well as three in Portland. They've really done a lot of work..."
Yankees win AL East

BY MARK PERRY

The Yankees clinched the American League East title Tuesday night with a 3-1 win over the Kansas City Royals. With the victory, the Yankees completed a four-game sweep of the Royals and clinched the AL East for the third straight year.

The Yankees had a commanding 12-1 record in September and finished the season with a 98-62 record, 8 1/2 games ahead of the second-place Detroit Tigers.

The Yankees' offensive prowess was on full display as they scored three runs in the first inning and added two more in the third. Shortstop Derek Jeter led the offense with a home run and two RBIs, while center fielder Brett Gardner added a two-run double and a single.

On the mound, starter James Paxton pitched seven innings, allowing just one run on five hits while striking out seven. Reliever Adam Ottavino recorded the save with a perfect ninth inning.

The Yankees are now 111-53 on the season and will host the Boston Red Sox in a three-game series starting Friday.

Ishiyama shut out the Royals

BY MIKE HENRY

The Royals were shut out by the Chicago Cubs on Tuesday night, 2-0, as Pitcher Kyle Hendricks allowed just two hits in seven innings. Cubs catcher Willson Contreras provided the only runs with a two-run home run in the sixth inning.

The Cubs improved to 101-52 on the season with the win and will face the St. Louis Cardinals in a crucial three-game series starting Thursday.

Red Sox sweep Rays, win AL East

BY MARK PERRY

The Boston Red Sox completed a four-game sweep of the Tampa Bay Rays on Tuesday night, winning 5-1 to clinch the American League East title.

The Red Sox began the four-game sweep on Monday night with a 4-2 win, followed by a 6-4 victory on Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday, the Red Sox again defeated the Rays, 3-2, to set up the final game of the series on Tuesday.

The Red Sox improved to 101-52 on the season and will face the New York Yankees in a crucial three-game series starting Thursday.

The Yankees, who swept the Angels over the weekend, improved to 102-51 on the season and will face the Baltimore Orioles in a crucial three-game series starting Thursday.

Women's Basketball

BY JASON GROSS

The Northwestern Wildcats defeated the Penn State Nittany Lions 84-74 on Wednesday night to clinch the Big Ten regular-season title.

Northwestern, which improved to 21-4 overall and 11-3 in the conference, led most of the game but needed a strong fourth quarter to hold off the determined Penn State team, which fell to 13-15 overall and 7-7 in the Big Ten.

Northwestern senior guard Ashley Deary led the Wildcats with 24 points, while junior forward Abbie Wolf added 17 points.

The Wildcats will receive a first-round bye in the Big Ten tournament, which begins next week in Lincoln, Nebraska.

The Nittany Lions, who had won four of their previous five games, were led by senior guard Karley Wester, who scored 21 points.

The Wildcats will face the Ohio State Buckeyes in the tournament semifinals on March 7.