Housing officials advise students about OC security problems

by Kathleen Connolly
Senior Staff Reporter

In the wake of the shooting of Notre Dame senior Joe Camarda on Dec. 17, University officials are advising all students to be more security conscious.

Edmund Price, director of Housing, said that the Administration is aware of the special problems confronting students who live off campus, and that Housing has the responsibility of assuring the safety of off-campus residents.

More routine patrols and enforcing the law is up to the South Bend Police Department, Price said. "We do caution the students and try to work with the police and town people.

The crew was echoed by Fr. John Van Wolvlear, vice president for Student Affairs, who stressed that students cooperate with the neighborhood, that a common sense and a bit of self protection and to find out how they can do to secure their homes.

Shortly after the Camarda shooting, the Student Affairs called a special meeting of University, neighborhood and civic officials to discuss neighborhood and student security. Representatives of the South Bend police, the mayor's office, the campus commissioner, the city council, and the Northeast Neighborhood Association were present. Also attending were Van Wolvlear, James Rosenbaum, dean of Students, Joseph Wall, director of Security, Andy McKenna, student body president, and John Fitzpatrick, off-campus life commissioner.

"Students are special targets because they have little balance, and their movements are fairly predictable," Van Wolvlear commented. He emphasized cooperation with the neighbors noting that students are members of that community.

"Anyone going on vacation can take care of the house," Van Wolvlear said. The police would turn on and off different lights during that time and check all entrances to make certain they are secure.

McKenzie noted that most Notre Dame students aren't familiar with the kinds of problems they'll encounter off campus, because most of them have had no need to seek security of their homes taken care of by someone else. Van Wolvlear also cited the soundlessness of some landlords to equip homes with security devices as a problem.

"All we can do is caution the students!"

Dan D'Antonio, supervisor of Off-Campus Housing, encouraged students to use the off-campus office when selecting a residence.

To make the off-campus housing list, a proprietor must pass a housing inspection. If a student comes in to ask about a particular landlord or house we can check the records.

Despite return of Khomeini

Bakhtar vows never to leave Iran

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP) - Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar vowed yesterday he would not be driven from office by the people's anger. He huddled with security aides to plan for the survival of the charismatic Moslem leader.

"All the nonsense and rumors they (the newspapers) are writing about my resignation are untrue," the 78-year-old Khomeini against "suffocating Marxists" warned yesterday of the Iranian people in a broadcast address. "I am going to remain in the stronghold of the constitution.

"They haven't gotten into the bottom hallway area yet where they want to really pursue the investigation," the Washington Post quoted the Iranian newspapers in a broadcast address. "I am going to remain in the stronghold of the constitution.

"They have been investigating me and arresting people on trumped up charges," he said.

"They have not even bothered to harass the people in the streets," Bakhtiar said.

"To make the off-campus housing list, a landlord or house must pass a housing inspection. If a student comes in to ask about a particular landlord or house we can check the records.

Investigators find 19th

Victim search continues

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) - Yesterday fire investigators searched by hand for more bodies in mounds of rubble caused by the collapse of the building.

More than 200 spectators lined police blockades and others watched the grim spectacle from windows of nearby buildings in the waterfront section of the city late Saturday night.

Two persons were missing and presumed dead from the fire Saturday in the 75-year-old, five-storied building that collapsed in the sunset darkness.

And others watched the grim spectacle from the rooftop and top two stories of the building.

D'Antonio said. Each residence is then graded in various areas, including security.

In cooperation with the South Bend police, a report compiled by the Off-Campus Housing Office will be released later this week containing figures on the four most populous student areas in South Bend. It is hoped that the report will aid the police department in directing patrols to the areas most in need.

In response to charges that the Administration was not doing enough to protect students, D'Antonio pointed to the Off-Campus Night of last semester and to the extensive records and information in the Off-Campus Housing Office.

Another Off-Campus night is tentatively planned for sometime next month and as a series of lunch hour guest speakers in LaFortune. The Northeast Neighborhood Association is also expected to call a follow-up meeting on the one called shortly after the Camarda shooting.

"They haven't gotten into the bottom hallway area yet where they want to really pursue the investigation," the Washington Post quoted the Iranian newspapers in a broadcast address. "I am going to remain in the stronghold of the constitution.

"They have not even bothered to harass the people in the streets," Bakhtiar said.

"To make the off-campus housing list, a landlord or house must pass a housing inspection. If a student comes in to ask about a particular landlord or house we can check the records.

In an apparent reference to communists, he said some troublemakers in the country are "directed from abroad." The 340,000-man Iranian military appears to hold the key to Iran's future. Khomeini must reach an accommodation with the army, which retains considerable loyalty to the shah, in succession.

About 1,000 demonstrators, apparently representing a communist faction, marched through the streets of Tehran yesterday shouting both pro-Khomeini slogans and "Workers and peasants, pull out the roots of exploitation!"

Witnesses told reporters that about 150 men armed with staffs stopped traffic in south Tehran Saturday night and demanded that notorious pro-shah slogans be stopped. The group, one of the several bands of active shah supporters reportedly reported in the city, melted away when anti-shah militants arrived, the witnesses said.

The Iranian People's War- rior Guerrilla Organization, a Marxist group, published an open letter to Khomein warning him of trouble if "you are trying to use Islam to cover any free thinking, suppress ideas, revile brainwashing, e- clare there is only to be one party and suffocate other fre- doms."
News in brief

Caravan stops on way to demonstrate for support

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (AP)—Farmers in a caravan of hundreds of tractors and pickup trucks arrived yesterday on their way to Washington to demonstrate for congressional support. Gerald McGarther of Hereford, TX, a spokesman for the American Agriculture Movement, said yesterday that the group expected to converge Feb. 2 on Washington. He said the farmers want Congress to "mandate to the president that he fully implement the 1977 Farm Act." McGarther said the tractorcade, which began last week in Bushland, TX, has doubled its original 175 vehicles.

Marchers vow to continue to protest abortion laws

FORT WAYNE, IND. Anti-abortion marchers here vowed Saturday to continue demonstrating and protesting until abortion is outlawed by an amendment to the U. S. Constitution. Several hundred pro-life supporters marched through downtown Fort Wayne to mark resistance to the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling to legalize abortion, handed down on January 22, 1973. In that decision, the justices said that states could not interfere with abortions during the first three months of pregnancy and could regulate—but not prohibit—the procedure during the next three months.

Indian employees agree to end strikes, slowdowns

NEW DELHI, INDIA (AP)—Unions representing a half-million Indian bank employees agreed yesterday to end nearly a month of strikes and work slowdowns that have threatened the national economy, the government announced. It said the workers would go back on the job today and resume negotiations a week later with the mostly nationalized banks on their wage and other demands. Dozens of persons have been shot dead by police and hundreds injured or arrested in violence surrounding "work to rule" agitation at banks since the last week of December.

Commerce Dept. expects 7% hike in school costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite a decline in total enrollments, expenditures for public and private schools at all levels are expected to rise 7 percent during the current school year, the Commerce Department has reported. The department said that state and local governments have committed some $12 billion to the current school year. The department said the increase is expected to raise almost $15 billion during the 1978-1979 school year. And while colleges and universities continue to complain about one-third of enrollment, the department said, they will account for one-third of the expenditures.

SU plans concerts

by Michael Omahask

Jim Speier, Student Union concert commissioner, revealed yesterday that the rock group "Heart" will be playing at the ACC. According to Speier, this is the only concert that has been booked but he hopes to fill three more concert dates this semester.

The other dates have not yet been filled because many artists who Speier would like to sign have not finalized their tour schedules for 1979.

Billy Joel, an artist whom Speier feels would draw well at the ACC, is currently "considering" a date at Notre Dame. Speier is "hopeful" that Joel will accept, but says he cannot be sure until Joel works out his upcoming concert schedule.

Although Speier is optimistic about Joel coming to Notre Dame, he is hesitant to commit himself about the Joel concert until he receives definite confirmation. Last semester two Student Union-sponsored concerts were cancelled when rock guitarist Stephen Stills cancelled his tour and an Outlaws concert was found to be in conflict with a Notre Dame basketball game.

Speier hopes the three open concert spots will be filled either by acts who have done well at the ACC in the past, or by newcomers to Notre Dame like Joel or Dan Fogelberg.

Interview with Pat Crail

"It's hard to believe it's already been six years since my first year as a student and the Observer's publisher." Pat Crail, Managing Editor of the Observer, said. "I've enjoyed being part of the Observer family for the past six years and I hope I can continue to be a part of it for many more years to come."

Over 180 Notre Dame and St. Mary's students and 40 faculty members gathered at the library auditorium last night to set out for small group discussions which would complete the official functions of this year's Urban Plunge program.

"You've been an honor to your program," stated Helen Vollkommer, executive director of the University of the Catholic Committee on Urban Ministry.

More students, 195 total, completed the program than ever before.

Fr. Don McNeill, director of the Center for Experiential Learning, and coordinator of the Urban Plunge, sees two goals to be achieved by the students. The first is to "enable the students to be in a place where they do not know anyone to view people working for social justice in the city." The second goal was "to go beyond that level of observation." McNeill said. They went to parishes in groups, and were given classes, both privately and in a follow-up paper, to reflect and discuss what they experienced.

"Students found a variety of situations in the inner-city parishes. John Smith, a senior, was able to take a close look at the criminal court and prison systems while exploring outward from St. Mel's parish in Chicago. David Galdezma, also a senior, stayed in a Houston, TX, parish, with a Mexican family and was shown how the food stamp program works. He and another student also "got involved looking for jobs for transients so they could buy food." The Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students received letters from the people they met saying "Thank you for being willing to be exposed."

Prof. Sayre to continue lecture series

Professor Kenneth Sayre of the Notre Dame Philosophy Department will be this week's lecturer at the department's Perspective in Philosophy colloquium. "Mind's Place in Nature" will be the overall theme of Sayre's lectures with "Beyond Materialism" being his first topic tonight at 8 p.m. in the Biology Auditorium.

Sayre will continue the series on Wednesday night at 8 in the Biology Auditorium entitled "The Dawn of Awareness." His final lecture will discuss "Where the World Begins" on Friday at 3:30 p.m. in the Library Faculty Lounge.

The series is open to all interested persons.

Archbishop Joseph M. Berning dedicated the new "Our Lady of the Good Counsel shrine in the South Bend Catholic Cathedral. The shrine, located in the adoration chapel, will be dedicated to the Immaculate Heart of Mary."

"We have promised to have Our Lady in our church," Berning said. "We want her to be available to us to help us in our life and times." The archbishop also named the Shrine Committee, which will be responsible for the upkeep of the shrine.

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP) - Pope John Paul II inaugurates a conference of bishops here next Saturday that is expected to have crucial meaning for the Roman Catholic Church in Latin America. Some theologians say its repercussions on Christianity could spread throughout the world.

The 350 or so Latin American bishops will try to reconcile the mission of evangelization with social needs. They are seeking to maintain unity in the face of a growing clamp from churchmen and laity for faster social and political change.

This intra-church debate has been particularly strong in Latin America. The experience gathered in the Conference of the Latin American Episcopate, meeting Jan. 27-Feb. 12, may especially influence the thinking of Roman Catholic prelates in the Third World regions of Asia and Africa.

"What happens in Puebla will be important not only for the Latin American church but for the world church as well," wrote theologian Robert McAfee Brown of New York's Lutheran Union Theological Seminary in a recent article.

He argued that if the bishops retreat from the social awareness put forth at the similar confer­ence in Medellin, Colombia, in 1968, it would encourage those who resist change.

He predicts that if the bishops endorse and implement the Medellin decisions, "they will give new energy and hope to groups across the world, as well as Latin America, who look to the church to embrace new alternatives to our tired and oppressive structures."

Many bishops say "the good word" cannot be spread effectively in Latin America, a region of serious poverty and many military governments, unless the church takes an active role in bringing the poor soci­al and economic needs and in liberating the oppressed from authoritarian regimes.

How this can best be brought about will be one of the hottest debates during the 17-day meeting in Puebla, a city of almost one million people about 70 miles southwest of Mexico City.

A survey of the bishops taken by the Latin American Episcopal Council - known by its Spanish acronym CELAM - showed that a majority feel the conference will renew the role of the church to fight for Latin America's poor and oppressed.

Nietzsche and the Absurdity of Life

Chris Stewart, Features Ed.

Meeting of the Minds at the Edge of the Universe

(Two men deep in thought collide.
One is Nietzsche, the other is Homer.)
Nietzsche: That's my man! You almost knocked me off the edge of the universe! What's the matter--you blindingly blind?
Homer: Yes.
(Pause)
N: Uh...sorry about that, old timer.
Can you give me a drink?
H: Yes.
N: C'est la vie, I'm a bit thirsty. My name is Nietzsche, Friedrich Nietzsche, you can call me Nietzsche.
H: I wrote the Iliad and the Odyssey.
Have you read them?
N: Yes.
H: There is even a sequel to these about which people are having a raving for the past decade. It's called Space Odyssey.
N: I've never heard of it.
H: No, it's just a joke. I've been telling for the last decade...a joke.
N: Well, I don't get it.
W: You have been often toured as the premier epic poet for your grand depictions of man battled into a horrible universe, tossed around by fate, blown, flayed, torn from his homeland, tortured by his very soul, yet surviving, emerging triumphant, a hero...
N: That's nice, but I'm rising above the spineless superficiality of his race, those wimpy, weakne...
H: Ha ha "Space Odyssey"--very good, my man. I excuse me, you were saying?
N: (Sigh) What'll you have to drink?
H: Wine?
N: Dark.
H: Stout.
N: Waiter!
N: Who?
H: Who, what I am, from whence I came, and to what end I am going...
In the trances of misbegotten dreams, shattered illusions, crushed hopes and crucified expectations, in the end. In death I sense something within my breast: Is it God or is it Memory?

Pat Byrnes

W: The joke is on you. I'm half Jewish.
N: The half that eats?
W: The joke is on you. I'm half Jewish...that I should recognize day or night. (Pause) I'm still shook up about it all, I guess. This whole dead thing bugging me is what I had heard it cracked up to be. Some ending. And after all the times I said God was dead. Boy, He passed! (He drinks) Excuse me, I'm rambling. It's just that I had to go put it in black and white, didn't I? stupid! Powerful thing, writing is.
H: The pen is mightier than the sword.
N: I'll bet the man who said that didn't die of old age. Care for a seat?
H: Sure.
N: They sit at a table among many others. Many great thinkers are there.
H: Quiet little place. I stop in here every so often. Who would have suspected it? Life is hard. H: You call this living? You should see my life. I close one day, one door: In death

Irish, Jackson can't miss in win

by Ray O'Brien
Sports Editor

Tracy Jackson came off the bench and put on a shooting exhibition at the ACC Saturday, compiling 21 points as Notre Dame held off a stubborn South Carolina, 82-73.

The Irish looked like they might have a chance against the Gamecocks as they scored the first 10 points of the game. However, Frank McGuire's team would not let down, as Zam Frederick took control, scoring eight points in a stretch where USC took the lead, 17-16, as Notre Dame cooperated with a poor shot selection.

Tripucka and Jackson gave the Irish the edge throughout the half, connecting on a scintillating 12-15 first half shots, with Lynn Swann on an 18-yard pass before intermission, scoring an endless barrage that spread his passes all over the field.

Bradshaw's aerial show never missed a beat - not even when Stubbins, who handled the first two TD passes, was forced out of the game because of leg cramps. Terry's show just changed emphasis from one wide receiver to the other, and Swann, most valuable player of Super Bowl X when Pittsburgh beat Dallas 21-17, became Bradshaw's main man.

But the Cowboys refused to let the Steelers run away with the title game after Pittsburgh moved out to a 35-17 lead with 6:51 to play. The Cowboys recovered one touchdown after the Cowboys scored and were silenced Sunday by Pittsburgh's 8-yard pass to Billy Joe Duper with 2:21 left after an 88-yard drive and recovered an onside kick, and Mike Hegman had him spindled and mutilated under an ensuing kickoff, Dennis Winston recovered for PIttsburgh and South Carolina's leading scorer, Cedrick Hordges, came alive to make the score 35-24.

The number one ranked Irish will take on the Fordham Rams Wednesday night at the ACC. Tipoff is set for 8 p.m.

Bradshaw sparks Steeler victory as Terrible Towel cops crown

MEAMI (AP) - Terry Bradshaw fired four touchdown passes and shattered two Super Bowl passing records Sunday, leading the Pittsburgh Steelers to their third National Football League championship in a 35-31 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Bradshaw hit John Stallworth on touchdown passes of 28 and 71 yards, and found Rocky Bleier on a 7-yard pitch and connected with Lynn Swann on an 18-yarder. Franco Harris added a 22-yard touchdown run as the Steelers came from behind, then had to fight off a late Dallas scoring spurt for victory.

Bradshaw, the NFL's most valuable player this season, passed for a career high 318 yards and smashed the super Bowl record of 250 yards, set 13 years ago in the first game of this series by Green Bay's Bart Starr.

The Steelers and Cowboys dazed the near-capacity crowd of 78,636 with a pulsating first half that ended with Pittsburgh leading 21-14 and Bradshaw already in the Super Bowl record book with 253 yards in the air.

Then, after the defenses tightened in the third quarter, Pittsburgh broke open the game in the fourth quarter with two touchdowns in 19 seconds. Harris called the first on a three-and-9 play from the 22. When Dallas fumbled the ensuing kickoff, Dennis Winston recovered for Pittsburgh and Bradshaw struck on the first play from scrimmage, hitting Swann in the back of the end zone.

It was a brilliant personal accomplishment for Bradshaw, who survived weeks of booms from radio to ride as the best quarterback in the world.

He had to battle a proud Dallas defense but left the computerized Cowboys folded, spindled and mutilated under an endless barrage that spread his passes all over the field.

Fourth-place Irish split weekend series

by Mark Perry
Assistant Sports Editor

Attempting to break out of a recent slump, the Notre Dame hockey team split their weekend series without Huskies of Mich­igan Tech at the ACC on Friday and Saturday.

Although the Irish played well on both nights, some lucky bounces helped Tech take the opener, 5-3. The Irish bounced back on Saturday to post a 5-4 win.

The split left the Irish in a tie for fourth place with Wisconsin in the WCHA, four points behind the league leader, Minnesota.

Friday: Rockwell stars for Tech
John Rockwell, a senior goal­tender for Tech, was stand­out­ing in holding a third period charge by the Irish, while his teammates scored three goals in a 5-3 Tech win.

The Irish, who went into the final stanza leading 3-2, fed 21 shots at Rockwell in that period, but could not find an opening.

"We outplayed them," said Irish coach Lefty Smith, "but we couldn't put anything on the board. We had all those opportunities, but Rockwell did a great job of goalstopping."

Rockwell gave no hint of a shutout was to come early in the first period, as Notre Dame scored on its first shot of the game.

From Michael J. Mcinerney from Steve Schneider in front of the net, and flicked a wrist shot past Rockwell to give the Irish the lead in the 1st min.
