Hesburgh declares parietals must stand

by Ann O'Leary
News Editor

University President Theodore Hesburgh rejected the Campus Life Council's proposal to reduce parietals to a hall offense on Friday, saying that such a change would eventually "erode the present regulation to meaninglessness." The rejection came in a letter addressed to Student Body President Andy McKenna, which appears on today's Editorial page.

In his letter, Hesburgh stressed the importance of parietals at Notre Dame, saying, "The present system of parietals is very much a part of what the University stands for: standards that are higher than most universities, but which can create an atmosphere conducive to education and growth, if they are observed."

"One does not grow by eliminating or ignoring reasonable standards, but by observing them," he added.

Hesburgh also commented, "I am not naive enough to imagine there is no hanky panky here. If people really want to get into trouble, they will find a way of doing so, whatever the rules. However, it is a permanent living condition here. Bad situations, when they come to light, are judicable according to a standard system.

In conclusion, Hesburgh said that he believed the present parietals system to be a good one and that it should remain as it is.

The issue of jurisdiction over parietals first surfaced when parietals was thena student topic of discussion at a students' rights forum held Sept. 28. The forum, Dean of Students James Roemer stated, "The rationale behind parietals has nothing to do with sexuality. Rather, he said, "It is a quiet hour type of thing where at certain times that hall is supposed to be quiet and other people are supposed to be out of the hall.

Questioning this rationale, students at the forum asked Roemer why parietals violations could not be dealt with by hall judicial boards if the purpose of parietals was merely to protect the privacy of hall residents. Roemer responded that while hall boards did not then have jurisdiction over parietals, it would be possible for students, using the derogatory system...

LaFortune Center begins full 24-hour service

Starting today the LaFortune Student Center will be open 24 hours daily, except Sunday mornings from 3 a.m. to 10 a.m. This project, sponsored by the Student Government, will improve the access of students to Student Center facilities in the north sunday, inflicting "terrible damage" and causing many civilian casualties. An air raid alert was ordered in Hanoi, 80 miles from the Chinese border. Japan's Kyodo news agency reported, but Vietnam's radio said the capital was calm and that hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese held a rally to denounce the invasion. Chinese forces crossed the border Saturday day along a 450 mile front.

Radio Hanoi said Vietnamese troops had killed about 250 Chinese and destroyed or damaged 66 tanks in fierce battles in Vietnam's northern provinces. It said the Chinese had occupied 11 towns and villages in all five border provinces Quang Ninh, Lang Son, Quang Ninh, Lai Chau and Hoang Lien Son.

The Soviet Union warned China to withdraw its troops "before it is too late" and said it "would honor its obligations" to Hanoi under a treaty of friendship and cooperation signed last year. The Vietnamese and the Chinese were "barbarously shelling border towns" and committing "brutal crimes," resulting in "massive damage and human casualties."

The claims could not be independently verified.

The Vietnamese News Agency said Chinese troops, tanks and planes drove up to six miles into Vietnam, attacking at least one provincial capital and Vietnamese border posts and villages along the length of the front. Vietnam said earlier the Chinese had penetrated as deep as 30 miles into Vietnam but the discrepancy was not explained yesterday.

Peking said it launched the "counterattack" in retaliation for repeated "armed incursions" by Vietnamese forces into China. Peking's official Hsinhua news agency said Chinese forces would return to the frontier "after hitting back at the aggressors as far as possible."

Agents follow 'bundles' arrest five on drug charges

COTULLA, Texas (AP) - Agents followed a trial of bundles on Tuesday, arresting five on federal drug charges, the U.S. Customs Service said. The 70-pound bales - an estimated 10,000 pounds in all - fell from a low-flying, Columbia-registered DC-4 Friday as Customs agents pursued the aircraft, authorities said. Farmers who'd gone into their fields to protect their crops were caught in the crossfire between the agents and the DC-4.

Officials later said 1,000 pounds of marijuana had been recovered along the 100-mile route from Corpus Christi to Cotulla. Three men were arrested and the DC-4 seized when the aircraft landed in Cotulla. Two others were arrested later.

Kemp denies Carter in handling Iranian crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) - A leading conservative congressman yesterday denounced President Carter's handling of the crisis in Iran and what he termed the administration's "accommodation to Soviet provocation." Rep. Jack Kemp, N.Y., said Carter has "secretly accepted serious diplomatic defeats in Iran and elsewhere for fear of disrupting arms control talks with the Soviet Union." He charged the administration was giving a voice to the common sense of the American people that this nation must lead, not follow, step backward and not retreat, in befriending and protecting legitimate governments around the world," Kemp said.

Chicago exhibits weapons in Defense Technology '79

CHICAGO (AP) - "Defense Technology '79," an exhibit of modern-day weaponry expertise and seminars, opened yesterday to a private audience of international "window shoppers" as hundreds of anti-war protesters demonstrated outside the exhibit center. About 90 persons, carrying signs such as "No Nukes In Good Nukes," gathered in the parking lot of the O'Hare Exhibition Center in suburban Rosemont an hour after the exhibit opened. About two dozen helmeted police officers stood shoulder-to-shoulder with clubs thrust forward to separate the demonstrators. Laurie Decky, a member of the organizing committee, said, "We think this will be the largest peace demonstration in Chicago since 1968."

Indianapolis carriers fight for court time

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Newspaper carriers beware! A state legislator is sponsoring a bill to make it easier for young paper carriers to sue customers who don't pay up.

Rep. William Roach, who introduced a bill to waive the $10 filing fee for paper carriers under 18, remembers his own experiences trying to collect from customers on his route.

"I was a newspaper carrier for five years back in the 1940s. I delivered the Cincinnati Enquirer and it was my sole source of income," he said. "When I'd go around to collect, I'd have people peeping behind the curtains. I'd have them slam the door in my face. I've had them put their dogs on me."

'Parents get real incensed.' So the West Terre Haute Democrat decided to do something for the carriers. His position is simple: When a kid grows up at five o'clock in the morning so you can have your paper, he deserves to be paid.

"The way the situation is now, Roach said, "our courts are structured so that truly small claims are just forgotten."

"A kid's got five deadbeat customers who haven't been paying him. He has to come up with $30 on the chance of maybe getting $30 back," Roach explained. "So many haven't filed because they're afraid to file."

Roach said he is concerned that even though the filing fee is returned if the plaintiff is successful in his suit, it is denying youngsters access to the legal system.

And the youngsters aren't the only ones who are upset with customers who don't pay up, "Parents get real incensed," Roach said. "Not only are you gnawing their kids out of their rightful due, but parents have got a lot of time and effort invested, too. They're sure these folding papers, it's a real family property."

One parent who is interested in Roach's bill is former state Rep. Robert Mahowald. His 12-year-old son, John, has a paper route on Indianapolis' northeast side and occasionally has problems with customers who don't pay.

"A small claim court judge came out to talk to John's class right around Christmas," Mahowald said. "He found out all about filing suit. He was all for it."

One of John's problem customers, Mahowald said, was a man named Norman who lived in an apartment complex.

"Not too long after the judge came to his class, John saw Norman," Mahowald said. "John told him, 'If you don't pay up, I'm going to sue you and I've already talked to the judge.' John got his money and now they're friends."
Evolution of a Tradition

Festival focuses on culture

Andrew Segovia, Staff Reporter

Planning has been completed for the annual Black Cultural Arts Festival on the Notre Dame campus beginning this Sunday and lasting to Mar. 3. Focusing on the theme, "The Evolution of a Tradition," the weekend event will include talks by nationally-known leaders, dramatic performances, and talent exhibitions and a discussion of "The State of the African Revolution." The goals of the annual festival are to provide an awareness of the black cultural experience, an understanding of the various aspects of black life and a knowledge of the achievements and talents of black Americans.

The festival seeks to accomplish this through round table discussions, guest speakers, seminars, appearances of entertainers and a display of the various talents of black students within the Notre Dame community.

The schedule of events will open Sunday night at 7 p.m. in the Library Auditorium with a program called "Gospel Soul on Sunday," featuring choirs from black churches in the South Bend area.

This program is an effort to bridge the gap between blacks in South Bend and the blacks on campus and to demonstrate to the protestant churches that they are welcome on campus." Dale Atkins, co-planner of the festival, stated.

On Monday Olympic gold medalist Wilma Rudolph will give a lecture in the Library Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Best known for having been the first American woman to win three gold medals in track and field in a single Olympic, Wilma Rudolph is currently a versatile professional woman whose feats are described as thought-provoking and motivational.

Vinnie Burrow, a noted black dramaticist, will perform at the Saint Mary's Little Theater on Monday at 7:30 p.m. Burrow has received critical acclaim for her solo programs which provide a dramatic study of changing black life in America.

A discussion dealing with the "State of the African Revolution" will be held in the Hayes-Healy Auditorium at 7 p.m. on Wednesday. The discussion will feature various guests in current African politics.

Members of the black community at Notre Dame will display their talent at the Library Auditorium on Friday at 7 p.m.

According to Atkins the show will include "various musical presentations, dramatic readings, exhibition of art work and architecture designs.

Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the NAACP, will lecture on civil rights Saturday in Washington Hall at 7 p.m.

The festival will conclude on Saturday night with the "Student Talent Show" in the Monogram Room of the ACC at 8 p.m.

The fashion show is run entirely by students, Atkins commented. According to Atkins, the show will feature male apparel from J. Riggs and female fashion from Paul Harris. Atkins stated that the festival had received support from the entire University.

"We would like to emphasize that the festival is not for the black community," the co-planner stated, "the speakers and programs will cover a wide range of topics which are of interest to everyone."

Solzhenitsyn predicts WWII , China to emerge as victor

LONDON (AP) - Exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, in a broadcast yesterday, predicted "appropriate measures" to bring about a third world war and that China will be the victor.

Solzhenitsyn, who won the 1970 Nobel Prize for literature, was recalled from the Soviet Union in 1974, spoke in an interview broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corp.'s Russian Service. It was recorded two weeks before China invaded Vietnam on Thursday.

The 60-year-old author said the world's undoing would result from a combination of Soviet "aggression" and western malaise, a recurrent theme in his interviews, speeches and writings since he came to the West. He now lives in Vermont.

"We are clearly moving toward a world war, yet Western statesmen deceive themselves that we are merely going through a crisis," Solzhenitsyn said.

"They surrender several countries a year to communism, and yet they do not tremble... How long will the supply of countries last?" The broadcast coincided with the fifth anniversary of the writer's expulsion from his homeland.

It was the second part of a 60-minute recorded Feb. 3 as his Vermont home.

"The communism cannot survive a race war," he said. "It is in process now. The devilish growth of armaments, guns which begin to face themselves. These madness will clearly succeed in plunging both our country and the whole world into war.

"Like conquerors in the past, Solzhenitsyn said, Vietnam leaders "imagine they are so strong that they can ear the whole known world." "In actual fact they will destroy the whole world, ruin our people and still suffer defeat," the author said.

"But why? Because, ranged on the opposite side will be a billion-strong China. Hence, the victor will again be Communism, but in a different form.

U.S. discusses Vietnam plight

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The U.N. Security Council president Monday called an emergency meeting yesterday with China's U.N. ambassador, as well as several other delegations, to discuss the recent incursion into Vietnam.

"The Chinese incursion threatens "international peace and security." It is the duty of the international community to ensure that the Chinese forces withdraw," said Jan Eliasson, a Swedish diplomat.

"We are concerned about the consequences of continuing aggression," he added.

The meeting occurred one day after China invaded Vietnam, prompting a strong reaction from the United Nations.

"Such consultations are a normal part of our work," said Eliasson.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said today that he was "most complex.

Cavanaugh senior contracts meningitis

A Notre Dame senior is listed in critical condition as St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from a severe case of meningococcal meningitis.

Andrew M. Sowder, a resident of fourth floor Cavanaugh, had been hospitalized yesterday and has been in a coma since late yesterday afternoon.

Sowder reported to the Notre Dame infirmary Saturday afternoon, upon returning from a trip to Swiss Valley, MI, with 28 other students. He died in the night in the infirmary with a high fever and was transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sowder of Jackson, MI, arrived in South Bend last night.

Director of Information Services Richard Conklin said that meningitis is a bacterial disease that causes swelling in the membrane enveloping the brain and spinal cord.

"Contact with the disease is highly contagious," Conklin said. "There is no cause for alarm except in cases where someone has had close and prolonged personal contact with Sowder within the last 48-72 hours."

According to Conklin, "Casual contact such as talking with him in a hallway, eating at the same dining hall table or sitting in a classroom with him would not constitute close personal contact.

Students who were in close contact with Sowder for a period of two hours or more, however, are advised to report to the infirmary today for an interview to determine whether or not they should be given treatment to prevent the contraction.

Influenza personnel who tested Sowder, as well as several students who were in contact with Sowder, have already been given oral medication to prevent their contraction of the disease.

Father Hesburgh’s letter in which he rejects the Campus Life Council’s (CLC) proposal to redefine parietals is four months too late. A similar letter, indicating Hesburgh’s understanding of the purpose of parietals should have been immediately released in the student rights forum for the four months students and the CLC have been under the impression that the Administration regarded parietals as “quiet hours,” and the Administration perpetuated this deceitful misinformation.

The reason the CLC went through the “proper channels” in making its proposal to redefine parietals to a hall offense was because they went to the students parietals are “quiet hours,” and the Dean of Students James Roemer made a statement to that effect at the student rights forum last Sept. 26. Roemer said, “The rationale behind parietals has nothing to do with sexuality. It is a quiet hour type of thing where at certain times, that hall is supposed to be quiet and no entrance is supposed to the hall.”

When students questioned why they could not set their own “quiet hours,” Roemer suggested students use the CLC to present any proposals which they might have for change. At their Oct. 9 meeting, the CLC ratified a proposal to redefine parietals as a hall offense.

This proposal was presented to Father John Van Wolvlear, Vice-President for Student Affairs, who had been at the student rights forum, and refused to comment on the parietal issue, claiming that he was ignorant of its history. Van Wolvlear delayed responding, presumably while he was researching the issue, until just after Thanksgiving break. At that time Van Wolvlear rejected the proposal.

The proposal was immediately resubmitted to University provost, Dr. Timothy O’Meara, who also rejected the proposal, this time over Christmas break. Following O’Meara’s rejection of the proposal that proposal to redefine parietals to a hall offense in four some sort of articulation of why parietals exist. Meanwhile the CLC appealed O’Meara’s decision to Hesburgh.

Hesburgh’s rejection of this proposal is based on an understanding of parietals that is fundamentally different from that of other members of the community, and the free press. Under the present system of parietals, students have the thirty pages of rules and regulations that they must follow. These rules are the essence of the student’s rights forum. The present regulation to meaninglessness.

I do not expect this to be a popular decision, for the common good must take the heat out of this issue, which is one of the most common denominators.

It would be a lot easier just to go along with the patrons of the Dinkham’s fringe. It’s a real good time.

That’s too bad. I thought we’d share ours with them since we have no other uses. We do, in fact, give a lot of good customers. For instance, Zahedi’s got some good, and Brian Hagan to the contrary notwithstanding.

We should not be bashful about doing so.

Mr. Driskin says you’ve nothing if you don’t have a caviar source at the G.A.

Whatever else you want to say about Ambassador Zahedi he certainly was lavish with his country’s edibles. Almost every one of us has had the pleasure of sitting at the Ambassador’s table and having a good time. And there are plenty of caviar stockists in Washington.

I do not expect this to be a popular decision, for the common good must take the heat out of this issue, which is one of the most common denominators.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Iran's new Islamic government announced yesterday it had expelled Israeli officials after eliminating all relations with the Jewish state.

The announcement by Tehran Radio came as Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat met with Iranian leaders.

He conferred with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the new leader of Iran's anti-shah forces, and said the Iranian revolution had turned the strategic balance in the Middle East "upside down."

Tehran Radio, reporting on a statement from the foreign ministry, said support for the Palestinian people was the main principle of the provisional government's foreign policy. Israel once received most of its oil from Iran.

The broadcast said 22 Israeli trade and immigration officials and representatives of El Al Airline along with other Israeli technicians were expelled from Iran yesterday. All Iranian government employees in Israel were ordered to return home, the station said.

Arafat won assurances from Khomeini that Iran will "turn to the issue of victory over Israel" after the nation consolidates its strength, Tehran Radio reported.

The Islamic court continued rounding up officials of the old regime and Khomeini aides predicted more executions would take place.

Tehran Radio said Khomeini's forces were searching for deposed Prime Minister Shahpur Bakhtiar, whose 38-day-old government was swept aside by the safety of Americans still in Iran.

Khomeini instructed a group of U.S. officials to return home, the station said.

Cooman responded that, "Farley had a good point in their letter. The problem lies in the fact that there is not enough student input into administration decision making. They articulated our short-range goals into a long-range campaign for student input. We couldn't agree more with them; it's been our main point all along."

In regards to Carroll Hall's position that more direct student input to the administration was necessary, McKenna replied that input is now "as direct as you can get."

When asked if an organized cross of some sort would be an effective means of affecting the administrative position, McKenna replied negatively and cited the "fifteen-minute rule" as his principal reason. The fifteen-minute rule, according to McKenna, stems from an incident in 1969 when Facher Hesburgh instructed a group of...

China would strike deeply into Vietnam. The United States called for the Chinese to withdraw their forces immediately and said Vietnamese troops should leave Cambodia. In an official explanation to the United Nations, China maintained it launched the attack "to defend the country's borders." It said the Vietnamese had ignored "China's repeated warnings" and had "continually sent armed forces to encroach on Chinese territory."

CLC as a channel, to change parietals to a hall offense. The CLC, at a meeting on Oct. 9, discussed and passed a proposal to redefine parietals as a hall offense in light of the rationale presented by Roemer. Under the CLC proposal, the rector would have the option to refer a parietals violation to the hall judicial board. According to present University procedure, the rector may either use his own discretion in dealing with a violation, or refer the violator to the Dean of Students for disciplinary action.

The proposal was presented to Fr. John Van Wolvelear, vice president for Student Affairs, who issued a statement rejecting the proposal in late November. Van Wolvelear stated that "the present system seems to be working efficiently and justly," stressed that any change "might lessen the importance of parietals," and indicated that the present system was "the most effective in the interests of the University that the importance of parietals not be diminished." As final recourse, the CLC decided to appeal the proposal to Hesburgh. According to McKenna, the CLC "assumed Hesburgh's views would be consistent with those of Van Wolvelear and O'Meara, but waived an elaboration of the Administration's rationale behind parietals."" McKenna commented that he was satisfied with Hesburgh's response to the CLC's appeal. "That's the end of the road for the parietals proposal," he stated, adding, "I have no plan for another response to the CLC's appeal. "That's the end of the road for the parietals proposal," he stated, adding, "I have no plan for another response to the CLC's appeal. O'Meara responded to the parietals proposal, and I don't think anyone else on the CLC does."

Duke stuns Louisville on national television

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Gene Banks scored 23 points and Mike Gminski added 22 as Duke, ranked fifth nationally, rolled over ninth-ranked Louisville, 88-60, and won college basketball game Sunday.

Louisville, which suffered its second loss in two outings, was stunned by the beginning of the game by Duke's zone defense. The Cardinals were down at halftime by 19 points. Banks, who shot 10 of 13, improved their record to 10-3 with the victory, opened up a 27-point lead at one point in the second half. Duke never was able to break away by less than 14 in the game's closing minutes.

Louisville forward Larry Williams was high man for the Cardinals with 16 points. The loss put Louisville's season record at 22-6.

At 14:28 of the middle stanza, just after Banks had scored on an Irish scoring spree that gave the Irish the dent the Minnesota never thought they could match in two minutes and 18 seconds. Michaelle's 14th goal of the campaign, assisted by Tim Humphrey and Jeff Logan, came with 16:03 on the clock checking.

After five minutes, however, it was Janaszak that waned who was serving time. Greg Meredith scored goals at 16:03 and 16:06, assisted on both by Ted Welrhz and Steve Schneider, to put the Irish on top for good and close the scoring.

The relentless third period, a rarity in WCHA play, may look loping in the lore. But the 3,964 partisans at the ACC had no reason to complain. Except perhaps for the goal judge, the period was typical of what was perhaps the most exciting, hard-fought contest of the season at home.

And the action didn't subdue when Saturday rolled around. A second period slump, followed by a 4:287 including the parents of the Notre Dame players, witnessed 15 goals and 15 assists.

Senior Kevin Nagurski and Michael Broten each tallied two and two for the Irish. In fact, Nagurski opened the scoring only 2:26 into the game with the Irish trying to kill Minnesota's slashing penalty. "It was really nice to see Kevin play the way he did," lauded South of Nagurski's performance. "It was very fitting for his last home series and the game." Notre Dame freshman Jeff Perry scored five minutes later, only to have Czesztoff and Broten tie the score with 8:32 remaining in the first period. Dave Poulin's goal at 13:53 gave the Irish a 3-2 advantage, which they held until the first intermission.

Slagglers in the Blue Line Club may have missed a game of scoring at the outset of the second period. Five goals were scored in the first four minutes and two seconds.

Minnesota's Bill Baker and Harrer scored at 0:31 and 0:39 respectively giving the Gophers a 4-3 lead, which they held for and entire 10 minutes. Michaelle knocked the score at 1:09, slapping the puck behind goalie Jim Ireland, whose relief of the ailing Janaszak in the second period couldn't too soon for the Gophers.

Michaelle's first goal of the night and third period game conversion at 3:47, while John Murphy's second goal came at 10:06 of the period, while Broten retaliated at 17:58 to close the period with the Irish on top, 7-5.

Broten's hat trick put 55 seconds into the final period before the Irish could even think about one, but Minnesota's power-play tally at 5:24 cushioned the ND lead and served as the eventual game-winner.

In fact, Michaelle scored the game-winning goal each night, giving him six such occurrences this season. The Junior from Toronto, now tied for second in the WCHA for goals with 26, has at least scored or assisted in each game since Notre Dame's last nine league games.

ND rolls past West Virginia

MORGANTOWN, WV - Bill Hanzlik scored a game-high 14 points and the Notre Dame defense shut down Lowes Moore as the Irish downed West Virginia 70-54 before a record crowd of 15,118 in Morgantown Saturday night.

The game was marred by West Virginia students throwing marshmallows and other objects at several points in the contest.

The Irish after being greeted by a shower of debris jumped out to a 17-9 lead in the first 8 minutes of the game. N.D.'s boards accounted for 11 out of the 17 markers with hot perimeter shooting.

Mountaineer guard Joe Fryz then tallied 3 consecutive points to bring the home club back to within 3, 19-16 at the 7:38 mark. As this point N.D. hit a cold spell marked by cold-shooting and turnovers—particularly on violations. West Virginia scored the final 8 points of the opening 20 minutes, capped by a Dana Woolridge scored on a drive at 18:06 to make it 31-29 and Digger Phelps' squiggle never lost the lead from that point.

Defensively, Notre Dame pulled various combinations (2-3, 1-3 and manupatch zones) to completely baffle the Mountaineers. W.V.U. coach Gale Catlett admitted later that he couldn't keep up with the Irish defense.

"We were confused. Both the players and myself were unable to figure the Notre Dame defense," said Catlett.

The first-year coach also alluded to being outcoached by Phelps in the second half when the Irish with a 5 point lead, and the ball, went to a "motion-defense" against the West Virginia zone. With Catlett content to stay in the zone, the Irish capitalized by leading their side to 51-38 and running the clock down to 6:38.

The Irish went to a "motion-defense" with 50 seconds left. Moore who afterwords said, "I could have scored 40 if I wanted to," left with 9 points on a 4-13 shooting performance.

The Irish used superior free-throw shooting down the stretch, in between official time outs for garbage pickups, to surtech the lead to its final 16 point margin.

Laimbeer, Rich Brunning and Tracy Jackson combined for 14 points during this span as Notre Dame took command. Lower Moore was frustrated frustrated repeatedly by the combination of defenses and finally fouled out with 30 seconds left. Moore who afterwards said, "I could have scored 40 if I wanted to," left with 9 points on a 4-13 shooting performance.

The Irish used superior free-throw shooting down the stretch, in between official time outs for garbage pickups, to surtech the lead to its final 16 point margin.

Laimbeer enjoyed a fine second half showing, finishing with 8 points, 5 rebounds, 3 blocked shots and 2 assists. Hanzlik who hit 5 of 6 from the field led the Irish with 14, while Tracy Jackson added 9 and Brunning dropped in 11. Dana Perno led the Mountaineers with 14. In the game N.D. shot 48 percent, while W.W.U. hit 44 percent. Notre Dame was led by Flowers' 8 caroms, held a 33-25 edge.

"I know the Mountaineers were by far the class of the Western Hockey Association. It was going to win it all," he insisted.

But whatever that "all" included couldn't have been this past weekend's series with Notre Dame at the Athletic and Convocation Center. The surging Irish of Coach Lefty Smith swept the visitors from Minneapolis, winning respective 3-2 and 8-7 thrillers on Friday and Saturday evenings.

The crucial sweep, in Notre Dame's final regular season series at home, vaulted the Irish into an identical tie with Minnesota for second place in the WCHA. But, more importantly, it moved the Gold and Blue closer to gaining home ice advantage for next month's league playoffs. Also, it gave the Irish the upper hand in case of a tie with the Gophers for the season's end. Notre Dame took three of the four contests against Brooks and Company in the season series, including one of the two games played in Minneapolis.

"If there's anything that really pleases me about the weekend,' offered the Irish mentor, 'it's the fact that for the second week in a row we faced a team higher than us in the standings and we beat them.

"To do that in two weeks in a row winning both nights, is a tremendous accomplishment.

The Irish swept Minnesota-Duluth on foreign ice last week-end while UMD was ranked third nationally. The double triumph over the Gophers, ranked second this past week, now gives Notre Dame five straight wins, equaling its longest streak of the year. It also marked the first time in Irish annals that they swept the Gophers in South Bend.

Nevertheless, the Irish looked like the Notre Dame squad that caused many a head to turn at the season's outset, when the young squad took an early position at the top of the league, let alone an earned spot at the top of the national poll.

"It was a total effort on everyone's part," enthused Smith of the latest Notre Dame win. "We gave up a few too many goals Saturday, night, but the fact that we won sort of pushes that to the side. We just hope to keep our momentum going when this weekend we play Denver.

If the Irish will indeed keep up the momentum, they'll need the continued consistency of freshman goalies Dave Laurion. The veteran-looking rookie was particularly amazing on Friday, while stopping all but one of Minnesota's 32 goal-bound shots.

In fact, after Neel Brown and Steve Cichon put the Gophers into a 2-0 lead midway through Friday's initial period, Laurion refused to budge the rest of the way.

The problem for the Irish, however, was that Minnesota's Steve Jansanek was equally up to the task. The senior standout, one of the best glove goalies in the WCHA, had shut out the Irish halfway through the contest. That's when Notre Dame decided..."
