Soviet troops in Cuba slow SALT

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Foreign Relations Committee said yesterday the SALT II treaty will not be ratified as long as Russian troops remain in Cuba.

There is no likelihood whatever that the U.S. and the Soviet Union will ratify the SALT treaty as long as Russian combat troops remain stationed in Cuba," said Sen. Frank Church after a day of closed-door briefings with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and CIA Director William Colby.

Earlier, Vance told a news conference that the administration "will not be satisfied with maintenance of the status quo" in Cuba, while the administration estimates there now are about 3,000 Soviet troops.

In a carefully worded statement, Vance did not rule out the possibility that the Soviet troops in Cuba will be held hostage unless the combat capability of the Soviet troops in Cuba is eliminated.

He said he has asked Soviet ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin to return as soon as possible from home leave for "serious" discussions on the subject.

Before the session with Vance, Church stressed his opposition to linking ratification of the pact to Soviet actions on other issues. But, he said, "This government would be so foolish to do so to home unless the matter is corrected in a manner that is acceptable to the United States." (continued on page 2)

In order to alleviate the problem of inadequate space, caused by expanding radio, television and telecommunication programs, WNDU plans to build a new broadcast facility. The over-crowded studio would be the result of 35 years of technological advancement of WNDU.

The plans for the construction of the complete radio/ television station have been made for new spring, with occupancy of the building hopefully beginning by January of 1980, according to Mr. Ed O'Hagan, vice-president and general manager of WNDU.

Mathews-Purucker-Anella, Inc., the construction company chosen to build the new facility, is operated by three Notre Dame graduates.

"We are happy to be able to select a local firm for the job," commented O'Hagan. He did not comment on the projected cost of the new station.

The location of WNDU's new station is the north-east corner of Dorr Road and U.S. Route 31. Dorr Road runs between Notre Dame golf course and the RUTC Building on campus.

"This location will provide ready access to Notre Dame, St. Mary's and Holy Cross students, and also the business community," said O'Hagan. Visibility is an important factor when competing with other stations, commented Mr. Gregory Price, WNDU's promotion manager.

The reason WNDU is building a new station instead of expanding the original one is because this location will provide the South Bend community with direct access to the station from U.S. 31.

Three issues resolved - Sadat, Begin reach agreements

The Egyptian president and Israeli prime minister, ending two days of meetings, announced agreements "in principle" on an early Israeli evacuation of the area of the biblical Mount Sinai and on the quantity of Sinai oil Egypt will sell Israel once it relinquishes the Suez Gulf wells.

They also worked out a temporary arrangement for Egyptian-Israeli supervision of Israel's return of the Sinai Peninsula to Egypt and inspection of forces, which under the terms of the two countries' peace treaty were to have been the tasks of the U.N. Emergency Force stationed in the Sinai.

The Soviet Union had used its veto power in the U.N. Security Council to force a pull-out of the U.N. troops.

Sadat had tough words for the Soviet Union, saying: "A Soviet veto will never stop or end the peace process. On the contrary, it will give it more momentum."

Sadat, who arrived Wednesday on his third visit to Israel, later went on a driving tour of this Mediterranean port city, stopping his car to the delight of the crowds. "I want to shake hands with well-wishers," he said.

Sadat and his wife, Jihan, also toured an electronics factory before attending a state dinner yesterday evening on three immediate issues - Mount Sinai, peacekeeping patrols and oil.

I expect that all fifteen spaces will be filled by Monday with people from the waiting list.

"I expect that all 15 spaces will be filled by Monday with people from the waiting list," Price stated.

There are also "two or three spaces" in women's residence dorms that have not been filled. Price said that he expects these spaces will be filled by the end of the week, and that the housing office has been trying to contact students on the waiting list a fair shot at getting on campus if they wish," he added.

The openings on campus will be filled by by no later than this Thursday, according to Price.

Price said the problem of contacting students on the waiting list, primarily sophomores and juniors, was not unusual.

The housing office is now requesting that students on the waiting list contact the office and state whether they want a space on the waiting list. If the fifteen spaces are not filled by publication of this story by Monday, the office will open the spaces to any off-campus male student who is on the list, then be distributed on a "first come, first served" basis, according to Price.

Indian Summer has its advantages — its much more pleasant to study outside than in the dull confines of one's room. (photo by John Macor)

Dorm space remains open to students

by Don Schmid

Fifteen residence spaces for Notre Dame men remain unfilled because of the Housing Office's difficulty in contacting students on the waiting list for on-campus housing.

Edmund Price, director of student housing, stated yesterday the housing office has been trying to contact students on the waiting list since the week before classes.

"It is a very time-consuming process. We have to go through the list, one by one, to see if these students have a residence on campus. In some cases, the phone numbers are obsolete or the addresses are incorrect," Price said.

We've got to get those spaces filled as quickly as possible, but we've got to give these students on the waiting list a fair shot at getting on campus if they wish," he added.

The openings on campus will be filled by no later than this Thursday, according to Price.

Price said the problem of contacting students on the waiting list, primarily sophomores and juniors, was not unusual.

The housing office is now requesting that students on the waiting list contact the office and state whether they want a space on the waiting list. If the fifteen spaces are not filled by publication of this story by Monday, the office will open the spaces to any off-campus male student who is on the list, then be distributed on a "first come, first served" basis, according to Price.
European royalty honors

British war hero

Earl Mountbatten of Burma, the British war hero slain by Irish terrorists, was laid to rest yesterday at a 12th century church in the sunlit hills of southern England.

Mountbatten, 64, was killed last week in Northern Ireland when two of the circuitry of his Rolls Royce exploded.

A service will be held today at the Mountbatten home in London, followed by a state funeral in the west of England.

Mountbatten, a great-grandson of Queen Victoria, was a serve in the Royal Navy and later became a leading figure in the defense of the Commonwealth.

Bargaining talks resume for TV and movie workers

Negotiators for 24,000 film craftsmen and technicians resumed bargaining amid tight security yesterday, armed with a strike mandate that could shut down the entire motion picture and television industry for the first time in 31 years.

There was no immediate word on the progress of the talks which were held at the headquarters of the Motion Picture and Television Producers Association in West Hollywood.

But Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., who had threatened to bring the Senate to a standstill if the talks failed, said he could not do so now.

Weather

Partly sunny and warm today. High in the towns mid 80's. Cloudy and cooler tonight. Lows near 50. Mostly sunny and pleasant tomorrow.

David dundles in Carolinas leaves more than 900 dead

The fearsome winds of a storm called David dwindled to a stuff breeze driving heavy rains yesterday in the rolling hills of the Piedmont region of the Carolinas. But in the islands of the Caribbean they were still counting their dead.

Also, aissant's death a sea of people in the islands of the Caribbean.

Campaign

12 1/2 & 8 p.m.-FILM, "The comedy of the oldest," sponsored by educational media for faculty preview, V A THEATRE, CCE

4 p.m.-CONVOCATION, army ruc for all military science students, LIB. AUD.

6:30 p.m.-MEETING, off campus council, OC ROOM, LA FORTUNE

7 p.m.-FILM, "Elie wiesel's jerusalem," sponsored by educational media for faculty preview, A V THEATRE, CCE

7 p.m.-PRESENTATION, summer project presentations, sponsored by cisc, LIB. LOUNGE

7:30 p.m.-FILM, "Annie get your gun," sponsored by phil, WASH. HALL

8 p.m.-LITTLES 1, "the uniqueness of the holocaust," sponsored by provost's, darrant college, sponsored by theology

11 a.m.-MAE, memorial mass for prof. Joe Evans, HOWARD HALL CHAPEL

...SALT

[continued from page 1]

States, then I would think it would produce a situation where even the two from being linked as the Senate takes up the treaty.

Asked whether the problem should be resolved by a change in the strategic arms limitation treaty, Vance did not give the usual standard response that the treaty should be judged independently of Soviet activities elsewhere.

Indeed, he gave a vague statement that he had not reached "almost absolute" on under questioning.

"SALT is a major matter of fundamental importance. I think that hearings on SALT should proceed. However, we will be keeping in close touch with the Senate committee, and members of the Senate as we proceed in our discussions with the Soviets," Administration officials said.

Vance's response reflected the political reality that some senators have said they will link SALT to the Soviet troop presence in Cuba whether the administration likes it or not.

In addition, it was designed to underscore for the Soviets the seriousness of the issue, which the administration views as a priority.

Vance said there is a "clear difference" between the current situation and the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, where nuclear weapons were involved.

He said the best intelligence estimates are that the estimated 2,000 to 3,000 Soviet combat troops have been in Cuba since the mid-1970s, after the Carter administration took office.

Vance denied that there was an intelligence flaw or the situation reflected badly on American ability to monitor Soviet activities relating to SALT verification.

The information has been fragmentary and difficult to put together, like putting a jigsaw puzzle together. One has to continue to examine the various fragments. Sometimes, the fragments all fall into place and you can arrive at a conclusion.

But in what happened, "he said.

He insisted that there was a "clear difference" between the problem of detecting the national good points and the problem of spotting new missile sites in the Soviet Union.

Monitoring ground troops "in much more difficult," he said.

Vance apparently was ready and eager to deliver a blast at Cuban leader Fidel Castro, anticipating that reporters would ask for his reaction to Castro's anti-United States speech to the non-aligned nations' meeting in Havana.

Castro's own policies do not deviate from those of the Soviet Union. The Cubans are dependent on the millions of dollars of Soviet aid they receive every day; they accept the presence of Soviet troops on their territory, and they have deployed their own troops in foreign countries with the assistance of the Soviet Union.

This cannot be called non-alignment," the statement said.

Emerging from the session Senate Democratic Leader Rob Byrd of West Virginia said he did not think the presence of the Soviet troops in Cuba would have any impact on the merits of the SALT II treaty.

But Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., who had threatened to bring the Senate to a standstill if the talks failed, said he could not do so now.

"I think the Russians are thumbing their noses at us," Baker said. He called the Cuban incident one of a series of Soviet provocations aimed at testing the will of the Carter administration.

Observer Open House tonight 7:30 3rd floor LaFortune All Welcome

YES YES YES
TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND WILL BE SHOWN TONIGHT AT 7:30
FOUR DIRECTOR SERIES washington hall series

UNIVERSITY HAIR STYLISTS FULL SERVICE UNISEX CENTER HAIR CUTTING SPECIALISTS 8-5 Mon-Sat. located in Badin Hall 263-4395 on Campus

Senior Class Corn Roast Saturday, 2-8 pm Greenfield Sweet Corn, Beer, Burgers, Dogs, Volleyball, Music and Fireworks
SMC clubhouse receives interior, exterior makeover

by Pam Degnan
Senior Staff Reporter

Extensive interior and exterior renovations on the Saint Mary's clubhouse will be completed within two months, according to Mary Laverty, director of student activities, yesterday.

"Once completed, the clubhouse may be reserved by members of the Saint Mary's community for their own private social gatherings," said Laverty.

Renovations include stripping and replacing the floors, installing exhaust fans and painting the entire building. According to Frank Springer, director of maintenance, renovation of the clubhouse has begun but contractors have yet to bid on redoing the floors. "We are still in the process of purchasing most of the materials but the renovations should be completed within six weeks," said Springer.

In reserving the clubhouse, the college requires from all persons holding social functions a thirty dollar refundable damage deposit. In case of a student violation, the charge will be added to the student account.

Students who reserve the clubhouse for an activity attended only by 21-year-olds may request permission to serve alcohol from the Director of Student Activities. By Indiana law, the students signing the reservation agreement form are responsible for any person who becomes intoxicated and is subsequently harmed or injured.

"The purpose of the clubhouse is to provide an opportunity for students to hold small private parties, therefore only 50 people will be allowed to attend a function at one time," said Laverty.

In previous years, the clubhouse has been the site of repeated destruction. Broken window and battered furniture have been a characteristic of many of the parties held in the past, stated Laverty.

In order to insure public safety and maintain control, Saint Mary's Security will be notified of all clubhouse functions," said Laverty.

Erratum

Anyone wishing to perform at the Nazz should contact Mary Ahern at 4763 or 7757, not as the number given in yesterday's Observer.

[continued from page 10]

approved by the University" as fit for habitation.

Luther said that his office will remain in close contact with citizen groups in the area, primarily the Northeast Neighborhood Center, to improve relations and to respond to any complaints concerning students. The University will also stay abreast of any South Bend Police reports concerning crime in the area, and cooperate with them in any way possible to increase student safety.

... Luther
Holland assumes position as assistant to President

Joan B. Holland has been appointed new assistant to President Duggan at Saint Mary's College. Her position, which she assumed on Aug. 1, involves a variety of duties which she feels will "escalate with time."

Part of her work involves preparation for Board of Regents meetings, coordinating commencement activities and much of the day to day work which flows through the president's office. Holland will also work as a liaison with federal agencies for grants and endowments, filtering through much of the paperwork.

According to Holland, her work at Saint Mary's is very challenging. "Here it is possible to be in touch with the whole campus," she explained, being impressed with the spirit on campus. "People are very willing to help."

Holland is originally from New Jersey, receiving her bachelor of arts degree from the College of Saint Elizabeth there. She has also received a master's degree in communication arts from Notre Dame and a certificate of advanced education specialization from Boston College.

Before coming to Saint Mary's, Holland served as program coordinator at the Notre Dame Center for Pastoral Liturgy. She has taught elementary and high school English and has worked as director of adult education at parishes in Massachusetts and Virginia.

Holland expressed the hope that she will get to know and work with students as well as faculty and administration, and added, "Right now I am just spending time learning who the other people are here at Saint Mary's."

SMC board to accept applications

The St. Mary's Judicial Board is accepting applications until Friday for the following positions: student relations board; community relations board; appellate board; and fiscal board.

Applications may be obtained in the student affairs office in LeMan Hall. For more information, call Martha Boyle 4067.

RIVER CITY RECORDS

Announcing the First Annual

Back to School-In Thru the Out Door-Midnight Madness-

$1.00 OFF and 2nd Anniversary Sale!

This Friday, Saturday and Sunday September 7, 8, and 9th

NOTE: Sale Begins at 6:00 pm Thursday for Notre Dame/St. Mary's Students Only (with student I.D.)

ALL ALBUMS and TAPES $1.00 OFF!!! NO LIMIT

- including blank tapes, imports, cut-outs, picture discs and Discwashers! (NO coupons necessary)

WRBR Remotes

Movie Passes

Checks cashed up to $20 over purchase amount

Double Poly Sleeves with every L.P.

Surprises

T-Shirt Prizes

SALE HOURS: Thursday 6:00-12:00 (ND/SMC) Friday 10:00- Midnight Saturday 10:00 - Midnight Sunday 10:00 - Midnight

50970 U.S. 31 North
3 miles north of campus-next to Al's Supermarket
277-4242
Editoriales

Thursday, September 6, 1979 - page 5

DOONESBURY

by G.B. Trudeau

The DEPENDENT, AIN'T SORRY, SIR, IS COVERED AGAINST GOD AND THE POLICE, SO IN ALL CASES IS DEAD.

The Evidence Is

AND THE GUILTY DIED AS CROOKS!

The Balff

W I N T E R! OKAY, O N L Y A L L I N G !

W A S S U C C E S S !

What Is the Spiritual Commission?

Mary Ryan

"There is a variety of gifts but always the same Spirit, there are all sorts of service to be done, but always the same Lord, working in all sorts of different ways in different people, it is the same God who is working in all of them. The particular way in which the Spirit is given to each person is for a good purpose."

1 Corinthians 12:4-7

When I give a gift to someone I love I am happy when it is received with joy. Seeing my gift used or displayed is exciting, especially when, as the giver, I tried to choose a gift to fit that special person. As a receiver I have at least two routes. C.S. Lewis said somewhere that we don't like being thanked and that often is the reason for the guilt: "Oh, but we are overwhelmed by our friend's kindness and we are all so in debt."

That is often the reason for the guilt: "Oh, but we are overwhelmed by our friend's kindness and we are all so in debt. That is often the reason for the guilt-ridden: "Oh, but I didn't get YOU anything!!" that precedes many a thank you.

The sample we studied also concerned with possible causes that were not always voiced. One factor we considered was the presence of Saint Mary's females. Finally we attempted to determine the effect, if any, of the type of high school a student attended, and whether or not the overall higher intelligence of females made males more apprehensive about dating.

The sample used consisted of a proportion between males and females, with females comprising approximately three to one. Many males said they felt most of the time already had dates.

The response rate was a very high 93 percent. Fifty-four percent of the respondents expressed dissatisfaction with the frequency of their dating. This percentage was large enough to suggest that there was a real problem.

Our results produced a few surprises and dispelled a few myths. For instance, more students who attended a Catholic high school dated once a month or more at Notre Dame than at Saint Mary's. This could be explained by a public high school. The study also found that only 15 percent of the males thought that females were more intelligent overall, while even less thought the reverse. Since 93 percent of the males would date a female even if she were more intelligent, we found no evidence that ND males avoid dating females because of higher intelligence.

Then there was the question of the girls' college across the road. Our results showed that 93 percent of the males dated more females from Saint Mary's than from Notre Dame, and 57 percent had dated a female from Saint Mary's at least once. Comparison of these percentages shows that the presence of Saint Mary's women decreases the amount of dating between Notre Dame men and women.

We believe the expressed complaint expressed to often by ND males, that ND females are unattractive, is perhaps the result of the males said that the problem of more daters previously committed has a significant deterrent effect on the frequency of their dating.

The next complaint we looked at dealt with the lack of social functions both on and off campus. Of the respondents, 70 percent felt there were enough planned activities to attend while on campus. Yet 76 percent felt there were enough things to do off campus, and only 31 percent felt this way concerning on campus. We concluded that students do not believe there are enough social functions on campus, that one can do without social activities.

Finally, from our conclusions and derived several recommendations, aimed at two possible sources of this problem. The University could deal with the problem of dating and what the individual could do to alleviate the problem.

First, steps should be taken by University officials to increase the number of planned activities on campus. Other functions should be provided that will further the interaction between the sexes. Dances and snow parties are fine examples. A relaxed atmosphere would alleviate tensions involved in the dating process.

Also, University officials should concern in their efforts to increase the enrollment of females until the ratio of males to females (including Saint Mary's) is one to one.

The problems with dating are not to be solved by the University alone. Many problems persist that by the present methods cannot be solved individually. First, the male student should rid himself of the attitude that most females are unattractive. Most of the males who think this way go out more often than they possibly should. Lead the ND males (38 percent) find their attempts at arranging dates to be successful more often than male students can have a date if they really want one.

The female student can also increase the amount of dating by asking by a male student. Most female respondents were satisfied they were able to arrange dates, excluding hall dances.

Finally, students should investigate the opportunities that exist for dating that are, such as movies, the Nazz and parties. In conclusion, the reader should note that the solutions are not the responsibility of the University. Neither one can solve the problem alone. Neither should have to.

Observer

Editorial Policy

The Observer welcomes comments on its contents. All letters must be typed, double-spaced, be numbered, address and signature must be included. The Observer reserves the right to edit all material for grammar, length, and libelous statements.

Editorial Board

Features Editor ...................... K. Connely
Photo Editor ...................... Doug Christian

Managing Editor ....................... Matt Cato
Assistant Managing Editor ......... Jerry Baker
Executive Editor ..................... Matt Cato
Assistant Executive Editor ......... Jerry Baker

Sports Editor ...................... Matt Cato
Assistant Sports Editor .......... Jerry Baker

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution.

The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorial represents the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Comments and opinions are letters of the views of its authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

The Observer welcomes comments on its contents. All letters must be typed, double-spaced, be numbered, address and signature must be included. The Observer reserves the right to edit all material for grammar, length, and libelous statements.
Features

Thursday, September 6, 1979 - page 6

Reviewing the Sounds of Summer: '79

by Micko Mancuso

The question of whether or not Joe Jackson is a character who is too cool for school has been asked a few times. But the real question is whether or not he can make cool cool again.

This is the case with his album "State of Shock," which has been met with mixed reviews. Some critics believe that it is a disappointment, while others think it is a return to form.

Jackson's music has always been characterized by its soulful, expressive quality. He is known for his ability to convey the pain and struggles of everyday life through his songs.

On "State of Shock," Jackson continues to explore his roots in soul and R&B. The album features a variety of styles, including soul, funk, and rock.

Some of the standout tracks on the album include "Save It," "State of Shock," and "Is She Really Going Out With Him?"

Jackson's vocals are as strong as ever on "State of Shock," and his musicianship is top-notch. The album is a testament to his talent as a musician and songwriter.

Overall, "State of Shock" is a solid album that showcases Joe Jackson'satural ability to connect with his audience through his music. It is a must-listen for fans of soul and R&B.
I have had the nagging notion of wanting to be a priest, an inescapable desire that somehow seeps into my blood. I have become more open to grace and more receptive to the gentle voice of our Lord from within. In realizing how much our Lord loved me and how much our Lord desires that I love Him, I began to feel, know and believe that our Lord had been present in every minute of my life, that He led me up to this very moment which made me realize how up until then, I had not known how important our Lord is to me. I was astounded and for the life of me could not understand why our Lord would want a literal association. I can be angry, selfish, thoughtless, preoccupied to sexual faults, a glutton, arrogant and on and on. But He would not reflect.

I am the type of person who has no idea what anything was or can be anticipated mapped out before me. But I didn't wait long. In the field were the cucumbers, a little bit of this, a little bit of that. Occasionally we sampled a few.

A typical day began at 7:30 with morning prayer followed by breakfast. Then we would spend the hour and a half at the hour of the nine, we would gather in the dining room for prayer. We would discuss various topics; religious life, prayer, solitude, apostolate, etc. Occasionally we would have guest speakers and work with them, and sometimes we had lunch by lunch.

The rest of the house we lived in was huge and old the entire afternoon was dedicated to innumerable chores. The afternoon was divided into the two afternoons in which we had our apostolates. I visited nursing homes or worked with high-school students. I and three thinking we were late bloomers. Evening prayer at 5:30 was followed by supper and dishes. We all did the cooking. Nights were free for reading, visiting local neighbors, movies or just to sit and listen to that ever so fondness for this vintaged delight, or to meat and potatoes. I have forgotten everything I have just heard, not the heart of man conceived, what God had prepared for those who love Him.

In the fall of '78 until early August, several other young men and myself made out our novice year and have returned to campus for three years to fulfill our theology requirements. My puzzlement over what a novitiate year had been good. I had taken my feet wet, and the option to move further into the religious waters lay ahead.

Succeeding the candidate year is the novitiate year. A typical day could have been more enigmatic to me than the novitiate. Here and there at the Novitiate year, I was still puzzled. As I have understood, the Congregation of the Holy Cross of the Congregation, as one of the "candidates" for the Congregation of the Holy Cross, I have had the nagging notion of wanting to be a priest, an inescapable desire that somehow seeps into my blood. I have become more open to grace and more receptive to the gentle voice of our Lord from within. In realizing how much our Lord loved me and how much our Lord desires that I love Him, I began to feel, know and believe that our Lord had been present in every minute of my life, that He led me up to this very moment which made me realize how up until then, I had not known how important our Lord is to me. I was astounded and for the life of me could not understand why our Lord would want a literal association. I can be angry, selfish, thoughtless, preoccupied to sexual faults, a glutton, arrogant and on and on. But He would not reflect.
The World Hunger Coalition will distribute pledge forms next Wednesday and Thursday for their annual fasting program. Coalition members will pass out the forms in residence hall lobbies from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 4 to 6 p.m. both days, according to Mike Stegman, WHC co-ordinator.

In an effort to increase participation this year, students are being asked to give up their Wednesday lunch meals rather than their dinner meals, as in last year's program.

The fasting nights will begin Wednesday, Sept. 26 and continue each Wednesday, except during mid-semester vacation, until Dec. 12, making a total of 11 fasting days.

Stegman pointed out that pledgees may break their fast at any time during this period. If he should decide to resume the fast, however, the WHC will not receive any money from the dining hall for meals missed after the student has broken the fast.

According to Stegman, the WHC will receive 75 cents per pledgee for the lunch they forfeit on each fast day. He said that last year the WHC raised $2,102 from the fasting program, which is the major source of income for the WHC. Collections in front of the dining halls and proceeds from benefits at the Naz will complete the WHC's fund-raising program this year.

The WHC's funds are distributed to various organizations selected by a WHC committee. Stegman listed Catholic Relief Services, the Justice and Peace Center in South Bend, an Appalachian assistance program, and certain villages in India as some of the recipients of WHC funds last year.

"The groups who receive WHC money are involved in education, and utilize local community resources through self-help development projects," Stegman explained that groups must have "very low overhead and administrative costs" if they are to qualify for WHC funding. The WHC itself does not reserve any money to cover administrative costs.

Stegman described the purpose of the fasting program as two-fold: "First, it is a way of making money to help the hungry. Secondly, it is an effort to raise consciousness about the problem of world hunger."

"Although the faster's hunger on fast days should remind him of the plight of the hungry, the fast is not an attempt to 'find out what a starving person feels like, because that's just not possible in this situation,'" Stegman observed.

Stegman said that he has no specific number of pledges as a goal for this year's fasting drive. Last year 250 students participated in the program. Stegman noted, however, that "a few years ago there were as many as 1,000 pledges." Although he could not confirm a downward trend in the number of fasters in the program, Stegman did mention what he believed to be a recent decline in student interest in the plight of the hungry and poverty-stricken.
Welcome party profits to benefit Andy Sowder Scholarship Fund

by Jane Barber

Barney Voll said yesterday he is organizing a 100-keg party to be held at the South Bend Union Train Station tomorrow. All profits from the $4.00 price of admission will be donated to the Andy Sowder Scholarship Fund established as a memorial to the senior who died of spinal meningitis last April. The scholarship fund already holds approximately $5,000.

Included in the price of $4.00 is transportation, food, entertainment, and live music. Scheduled to play from 8:30 p.m.-12:30 a.m., will be "Lethal" a band from Niles. According to Voll, "Lethal" plays "the kind of rock and roll you can dance to." An extra-admission ticket will be Tim Hanlon, a professional magician and ventriloquist. Hanlon, a South Bend native, will probably perform during a band break.

Beer, potato chips, and pretzels will be served throughout the party and hot dogs will be sold at an additional cost.

There is no charge for transportation and the chartered buses must be used to get to and from the train station. Voll chose to charter buses because in earlier entertainment experiences they worked effectively and smoothly. The buses will leave from the Notre Dame circle and Saint Mary's LeMans circle beginning at 7:30 p.m. and continuing every half-hour after that. A college identification card is required for entrance into the party.

Voll wanted to test his background and organizational skills in the field of management and promotion to see if he should pursue this as a career after graduation. "We hope to raise between $1000 and $5000 for the scholarship fund. The students should identify well with a party that will benefit students just like themselves," Voll said.

Dayan-PLO talks to continue in search of Mideast peace

HAIFA, Israel (AP) - Moshe Dayan has held at least eight meetings with Palestinians in the occupied West Bank and an aide said yesterday the controversial foreign minister would continue to use such meetings in pursuit of Mideast peace.

Leaders of hawkish factions in the coalition government said only the current state visit here yesterday by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was precedent for a wave of meetings Dayan has held with West Bank leaders, most of whom support Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Dayan's personal crusade was in apparent direct conflict with the policies of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who has said only the current state visit here yesterday by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was precedent for a wave of meetings Dayan has held with West Bank leaders, most of whom support Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Dayan's personal crusade was in apparent direct conflict with the policies of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who has said only the current state visit here yesterday by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was precedent for a wave of meetings Dayan has held with West Bank leaders, most of whom support Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Dayan's personal crusade was in apparent direct conflict with the policies of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who has said only the current state visit here yesterday by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was precedent for a wave of meetings Dayan has held with West Bank leaders, most of whom support Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Dayan's personal crusade was in apparent direct conflict with the policies of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who has said only the current state visit here yesterday by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was precedent for a wave of meetings Dayan has held with West Bank leaders, most of whom support Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.
Molarity

by Michael Molinelli

This goes into a warm water bleach; this is not water detergent; this is not water bleach; this is cold water. There are detergent and.para. softeners...

Donnesbury

WHAT IS THE EMESIS OF THE AC- TION? HE MAIN- TAINS HIS THE RCIENT TOURIST.

"THE PEOPLE FURTHER STRUFACT THE MR. DUE ENTERED THE COUNTRY FOR THE EXPRESS PURPOSE OF ESPIONAGE, AND HENCE THE "MIVITY OF MANNER, OR裝 SHORE.

IS THAT CORRECT MRS. DUNBAR ON "SORRY, MR. DUNBAR? I DON'T ASK AQUISE.

THANKS FOR LETTING ME DO MY LAUNDRY, CHILLY.

YOU CAN'T PUT ALL YOUR CLOTHES IN TOGETHER.

WHY NOT? BECAUSE YOU HAVE WRITE'S, PERMANENT PRESS, BRIGHT COLORS, COUNTRY, POLYSTYLES- YOU DON'T WANT THINGS TO FADE, RUN, SHRINK.

LaFortune Lobby

This is your last chance

Br. Luther assumes Housing position

by Tom Haller

Brother Edward Luther has been named Assistant Director of Housing by incoming Housing Director Fr. Michael Heppen. Luther will be responsible for all Off-Campus Housing facilities for the University.

Luther, a native of Baraboo, WI, has held a variety of managerial positions in the Holy Cross Community, the most recent being house manager of Moreau Seminary. "Luther is currently the rector of Morrisey Hall," Fr. Heppen stated that the purpose of the appointment is to improve the efficiency and coordination of both On-Campus and Off-Campus Housing.

"Our main concern is that students have good places to live, whether they be on or off campus," said Luther. "I think that housing should be handled by one central office."

Student Body President Bill Roche, Vice President Bill Vita, and Housing Commissioner Mike Shepardson were all contacted by Heppen prior to his announcement to get their comments. Shepardson was particularly pleased and encouraged by Luther's appointment. "I think it's a great idea to bring off and on campus under one department," he said. "It will make it much more organized, create a situation much more conducive to off-campus students, and hopefully ease some major off-campus problems," citing an example. Prior to Luther's appointment, the Director of Off-Campus Housing had been a part time position with no official contact with the Housing Office. Fr. Heppen hopes that he and Luther can provide more input and aid each other on both phases of student housing.

The duties of the new Assistant Director will include collect- ing a list of all houses and their availability to students. He will also see that the housing office inspects and rates all houses and apartments to ensure their adequacy for student occupancy.

Luther stated that, in the interest of the students, the Housing Office "does not want students to take houses not [continued on page 11].

The orientation program for black freshmen was a tremendous success according to Zena Crenshaw of the Black Cultural Arts Council. "All our events were very well received and attended," Crenshaw said. "Our basic objective was to introduce the freshmen to the black upperclassmen who would aid them in adjusting to Notre Dame life," Crenshaw explained.

During the black freshmen workshop, entering black freshmen were given practical information regarding various facets of the Notre Dame experience. Crenshaw explained, "We wanted them to be aware of the organizations which would aid in the academic and social adjustments."

Although many of the black freshmen come from back-grounds similar to the majority of the Notre Dame community, some still have special adjustment problems. Crenshaw explained. "We try to alleviate these adjustment problems by promoting the unity of the black community so that those facing problems may draw strength from it," she explained. Black organizations, such as the Black Cultural Arts Council, strive to meet the academic and social needs of the black community. Crenshaw said. "We expect the other universities and student organizations to meet these needs effectively."

Crenshaw stressed that the black organizations on campus do not seek to alienate the black students from the rest of the Notre Dame community, but rather to maintain contact with black culture, social concerns, and art.

By promoting awareness of the black culture we seek to enrich the development of all people," Crenshaw stated.

The Office of Black Studies under the direction of Dr. James Stewart helped organize the cultural program. Stewart, who has left on a leave of absence, agreed that black freshmen often have special adjustment problems. "Black freshmen should familiarize themselves with organizations which meet the needs of blacks," Stewart said. According to Stewart, students stem from the signifi- cantly small numbers of blacks enrolled in the University. Currently there are approxi- mately 175 blacks in the undergraduate population, Stewart reported.

"This black-to-white ratio creates serious problems not only for blacks but for the entire Notre Dame community," he commented. "Students are not given the opportunity to be sufficiently exposed to black cul- ture and ideas, thus denying them a learning experience."
Sports

Rebuilding year

Runners prepare for season

By John Smith
Sports Writer

Who are Pat Sullivan, Chuck Aragon, Marc Novak, Pete Burger and Tony Hetherly? "They are just a few of the most dedicated collegiate athletes at Notre Dame," according to Joe Piane. They precipitate in a sport that has always been in the spirit of true Notre Dame athletes. They are not cross-country runners, and Piane is their coach.

The cross-country runner enjoys no off-season, for constant conditioning is a necessity. This training can be broken down into three types: distance, interval, and repetition.

Distances training is just as it sounds-to accomplish a predetermined amount of land, usually between 8 and 15 miles a day. Interval training differs in that it attempts to build up and maintain a pace by setting a distance, a time, and a rest period. For example, they run a quarter mile in 30 seconds, then rest for 45 seconds.

Repetition training is similar in that it sets distances and time, but each interval, before the process will be repeated over and over. The runners then attempt to reduce their times with each effort. Piane's team has to have all the established runners complete approximately 85 per cent of the total.

The 35-man squad is allowed one competition prior to the meet. Of those seven, only the top five finishers contribute to the team scoring. The first place finisher receives one point, second place gets two, and so on down the line. The team with the lowest five man point total is the winner of the particular meet.

The remaining 26-man team members compete in separate heats that are not reflected in the final team totals.

Notre Dame lost four of its top seven runners over the past year, but that does not dull the team's optimism. "I feel this year's team will be as strong not stronger than last year's," he explains. Piane is expecting help from incoming freshmen who "don't come in with as good of credentials as past years but so far look as solid as ever." He feels freshmen have shown at least one of the seven positions. Aldo Bartolini and Carl Biege appear to be the best candidates for those positions.

The Irish have an unusual schedule this season, as they will begin September games without a meet. Except for a time trial on September 21, the Irish face no competition until October 5, when they host the Notre Dame Invitational. The invitational is the largest of its type in the country. The meet will be held at Alabama's competing in the Irish Tourney. That will mark the end of the regular season, with the state tournaments to follow the weekend of October 11-13.

Irish items

Defense copes with injuries

By Mark Hannukela
Sports Writer

Recent Notre Dame football teams have leaned good weight to the theory that the best offense is a good defense. And if the 1979 Fighting Irish hope to point prevention succeed, they'll have to live up to some of those past performances.

"I feel if we can get the girls to take advantage of their own strengths, and exploit their opponent's weaknesses, as well as play intelligent tennis, I think we can return to the states. Whether or not we win the number one singles position is the number one singles position, DePauw performance, because DePauw has one thing going for them, however, and that is an abundance of energy. "I intend to use that, saving four set points. "If I can get the girls to take advantage of their own strengths, and exploit their opponent's weaknesses, as well as play intelligent tennis, I think we can return to the states. Whether or not we win the number one singles position is the number one singles position, DePauw performance, because DePauw has one thing going for them, however, and that is an abundance of energy."

Because the caliber of women's tennis is constantly improving, freshmen have a shot at at least one of the seven positions. Aldo Bartolini and Carl Biege appear to be the best candidates for those positions.

The Irish have an unusual schedule this season, as they will begin September games without a meet. Except for a time trial on September 21, the Irish face no competition until October 5, when they host the Notre Dame Invitational. The invitational is the largest of its type in the country. The meet will be held at Alabama's competing in the Irish Tourney. That will mark the end of the regular season, with the state tournaments to follow the weekend of October 11-13.

Irish items

Defense copes with injuries

By Mark Hannukela
Sports Writer

Recent Notre Dame football teams have leaned good weight to the theory that the best offense is a good defense. And if the 1979 Fighting Irish hope to point prevention succeed, they'll have to live up to some of those past performances.

"I feel if we can get the girls to take advantage of their own strengths, and exploit their opponent's weaknesses, as well as play intelligent tennis, I think we can return to the states. Whether or not we win the number one singles position is the number one singles position, DePauw performance, because DePauw has one thing going for them, however, and that is an abundance of energy. "I intend to use that, saving four set points. "If I can get the girls to take advantage of their own strengths, and exploit their opponent's weaknesses, as well as play intelligent tennis, I think we can return to the states. Whether or not we win the number one singles position is the number one singles position, DePauw performance, because DePauw has one thing going for them, however, and that is an abundance of energy."