Vita discloses funds for hall social space

by Tom Hay Senior Staff Reporter

Student Body Vice President Bill Vita told the Hall Presidents' Council last night that University funds may soon be available for improvement of hall social space.

"We seem to have an avenue of funds from the Administration," Vita said. "This money is already in the University budget." According to Vita, University vice-presidents will be responsible for allocating funds.

Vita expressed doubt that the money would be equally distributed to each of the dorms on campus. He explained that dorms needing the most improvements will be given first consideration.

"The funds will be given out by top priority on down, until we run out of money," Vita said. "Maybe only two or three dorms will get money," he said, "but there are only a certain amount of dollars, giving little money to each is just purely piecemeal."

Vita said that University officials would study existing conditions in most dorms to decide which are most in need of improvement funds.

Vita said he hoped that some halls might contribute money of their own for internal renovation. "When halls try to share costs with the University, students tend to take better care of what they get," he said.

Vita also discussed the matter of 24-hour lounges for both sexes in the residence halls, but conceded that it was a matter to be worked out separately within each hall.

In other matters, the HPC voiced protest over the University's ticket allocation policy for away games and planned to take future action on the matter.

Soviets arm Cubans with submarines

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Soviet Union is arming Cuba with weapons systems that could pose a "major threat to our island neighbors," demonstrating a pattern of behavior that is "hostile to the interests of the United States," Senator Henry M. Jackson said yesterday.

The Democrat from the Senate floor, said the Soviets have given Cuba two submariners, including one that could mine U.S. coastal waters, threatening the nation's defense. The other is a training vessel, Jackson said, leading the presupposition that more attack submarines are anticipated.

"It is feared the submarines represent a "brand new military capability for Cuba,"" Jackson said.

"Certainly, one or two submarines or a dozen or so MiG-23s do not constitute a threat to the United States in an area of threat," the Washington Democrat said. "The point is that this is a beginning. Where shall we draw the line?"

Meanwhile, a censored version of a military intelligence report surfaced that said the Soviets are increasing both the weapons shipments to Cuba.

Jackson's speech marked the latest escalation in the furor over Cuba, which began with a disclosure last March that Moscow might send as many as 5,000 Soviet combat troops and planes to the island nation. In the two weeks since then, the issue has blossomed into a major foreign policy obstacle for the Carter administration.

Frederic to find Mobile

MIAMI (AP) - Hurricane Frederic will wilt ashore tonight near Mobile, Ala., if the storm behaves as expected, a forecaster at the National Hurricane Center said late yesterday. "Mobile looks like the most likely place for the center to cross," said forecaster Miles Lawrence. "Although Penelope (FLA.) MIGHT GET JUST AS MUCH WEATHER." "You realize that our 24-hour forecast error is about 100 miles," Lawrence added, noting that there is some warning in effect from Panama City, Fla., to Grand Isle, La., halfway across Louisiana's Gulf Coast. The warning was posted last night as Frederic's winds increased to 120 mph and its forward speed increased to 10 mph. Residents of coastal and other low areas were warned to prepare to evacuate their homes and businesses Wednesday.

At midnight EDT, Frederic's center was 375 miles southeast of New Orleans near latitude 26.1 north, longitude 86.1 west. The storm was moving northwest at 10 mph and was expected to continue moving on that course and speed.

Many volunteer if Kennedy campaigns

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The coordinator of the Kennedy presidential drive in Indiana said yesterday he has been swamped with volunteers since Sen. Edward Kennedy indicated he may enter the race Robert F. Kennedy's perspective.

A lawyer in an Indianapolis court said there has not been rising steadily since Kennedy's family said they would not stand in the way of a presidential bid by the Massachusetts Democrat. Kennedy also said in an interview with the Boston Globe that he hasn't ruled out a campaign for president next year. "The possibilities are all open," Wagner said. Some of the volunteers, he said include people who tried to convince Kennedy to run four years ago, and have been discouraged until now from hoping that he would challenge President Carter in '84. Wagner said that calls have come from people who were involved in Robert Ken­ ddy's 1968 Indiana presidential campaign. Wagner said the formation of Kennedy committees in Indiana and as many as 30 other states have been a major factor in pushing the senator toward a decision.

H igh in the low 80's, as many as 30 other states have been a major factor in 1980. In addition, Wagner said, the calls have included people who tried to convince Kennedy to run four years ago, and have been discouraged until now from hoping that he would challenge President Carter in '84. Football fans fill local hotels

People who need hotel rooms for football weekends will face a discouraging search, according to a recent hotel manager.

Most of the major hotels along U.S. 31 and U.S. 20 are booked completely and have been filled since this summer. Most have policies for asking room reservations. For instance, the Ramada Inn and the Pick-Motor Inn start accepting room reservations in the summer before the first game of the season. Over the summer, people send letters asking for rooms. The Pick-Motor Inn begins answering the letters after Sept. 1, letting customers know they would not stand in the way of a presidential bid by the Massachusetts Democrat. Kennedy also said in an interview with the Boston Globe that he hasn't ruled out a campaign for president next year. "The possibilities are all open," Wagner said. Oil lurks offshore

BUCHAREST Romania (AP) - Oil to sustain the world's energy-hungry industrial na

In one of several papers presented to a seminar of the 10th World Petroleum Congress, Canadian Oil economist
Neil McNeill estimated Canadu's Labrador Sea alone will underwater oil reserves of oil twice the estimated size of Alberta's oil reserves and four trillion cubic meters of nat-

"The Labrador Sea has many of the earmarks of the North Sea," McNeill told the semi-

due to the North Sea."

Owen D. Thomas, of the American-based Phillips Petro-

tain even more oil than has been tapped to date: a speculation that will only be proven through more exploration.

McNeill, who works for Aquitanine Oil Co. of Canada, Ltd, predicted most of the oil and gas would come from the shelf around Baffin Island.
He said drilling of Greenland had so far been disappointing, but there was evidence future exploration might be successful.

The CLC Keg Proposal
Responsible Drinking

Monday night the Campus Life Council passed a proposal which would allow each hall to determine their own policy regarding the use of kegs in official "party" rooms. This proposal must now be approved or rejected by Vice-President for Student Affairs, F. John Van Wolvlear. The Observer encourages Van Wolvlear to approve the keg proposal and, in doing so, challenge students to prove their responsibility. The University has repeatedly expressed its concern over alcohol abuse. The prevalence of alcohol abuse on the Notre Dame campus has, in the past, been equated with the presence of illegal kegs and uncontrolled parties. By allowing each hall to determine their own policy regarding kegs and party rooms in accordance with guidelines, the University can maintain some degree of control on student drinking habits. At the same time, however, the University will eliminate the temptation faced by students who view kegs as forbidden fruit.

With next month's conference on abortion swiftly approaching, the time is ripe for those who view abortion as morally impermissible to begin working actively on a question which has (to the best of my knowledge) rarely been reckoned with in the past. This question, simply put, is this: Is the question of alcohol abuse so similar to the unjustified taking of innocent human life permitted or even perhaps obligatory to use force if by so doing we can decrease the number of abortions being performed?

To see the urgency of this question, imagine we are confronted with the following situation (let me state, it is not of my own invention). Our nation's highest court declares that the taking of a child less than three years old cannot be prohibited by the state. In the situation in which it is sanctioned by the child's mother. A result of the ruling, some hospitals begin to perform such killings for mothers who desire to lose the use of their excess children, and many clinics are opened which specialize in the termination of motherhood.

As Christians, we are appalled by this state of affairs and begin to protest. After all, the traditional means at our disposal for legally rectifying this sin are still available. However, constitutional amendment are unnecessary. While peaceful demonstrations are held, educational publications distributed, and so on, after seven years, the law permitting child-killing has not been terminated. So long as we try to act only temporally stop or sharply reduce the number of killings taking place in our town, and hence let the evil result, we are being duped into thinking that such action, by itself would hardly solve a nationwide problem, we might reason that we should at least temporarily stop or sharply reduce the number of killings taking place in our town, and hence let the evil result. What is needed is the removal of the killing of children younger than three years old.

For example, we might decide to bomb or burn our local child-killing clinics. Though recognizing that such an action by itself would hardly solve a nationwide problem, we might reason that we would at least temporarily stop or sharply reduce the number of killings taking place in our town, and hence let the evil result. However, what is needed is the removal of the killing of children younger than three years old.

If we really were placed in such a situation, we would begin to reconsider our strategy. More specifically, I think we would begin to at least consider using force to try to decrease the number of innocent lives that are being taken.

For example, we might decide to bomb or burn the local child-killing clinics. Though recognizing that such an action by itself would hardly solve a nationwide problem, we might reason that we would at least temporarily stop or sharply reduce the number of killings taking place in our town, and hence let the evil result. What is needed is not the removal of the killing of children younger than three years old but the complete abolition of child-killing.

The formation of the policies by a combination of the rector, the hall staff, and hall council gives representation to both the Administration and the students. Although the hall staff consists of students, they are employed by the Office of Student Affairs (OSA) and are (subsequently) expected to uphold University policy. This combination of administrative and student interest should result in policies which are amenable to both sides, especially if conflicts of interest result in the need for compromises. Hope for refugees

Sorin Hall to assist ‘boat person’

by Michael Onufreki Senior Copy Editor

Fr. David Porterfield, rector of Sorin hall, yesterday announced that his hall will begin a commitment of work closely with Dr. and Mrs. Albert LeMay when they begin to sponsor a ‘boat person’ in the coming weeks. ‘Boat people’ are homeless refugees from Indochina who are stranded at sea because no other nation will accept them as citizens.

Mrs. Marcia LeMay said yesterday she learned of the diocesan project through her involvement with the Christian Service Commission of Sacred Heart Parish. She expects two male refugees to be arriving at her home in the next few weeks.

According to Sorin Hall President Bart Henderson, ‘Sorin will have a group of volunteers to assist the LeMays by helping to transport, tutor, and generally acclimate the refugees.’ Mrs. LeMay said this assistance would be especially welcome.

Porterfield had originally intended for his hall to provide living space for one of the refugees. Due to anticipated friction from transfer students waiting to get on campus, however, this plan was scrapped.

‘I think this is a worthwhile project, one that will prove to be particularly beneficial experience for those hall residents who choose to participate,’ Porterfield added.

There is already a family of seven living in the basement of Prof. Kevin McDonnell’s. McDonnell is a philosophy professor at Saint Mary’s.

The refugee family is headed by Nguyen Ban Hoc (pronounced Win Van Hoc). They emigrated from a small island coast town in southern Vietnam.

According to McDonnell, ‘The family has been with us for the past four weeks and their adjustment to American life has gone extremely well.

They are all learning English, the husband went for a job interview this morning, and four of the children are already enrolled in South Bend public schools.

Not only has the adjustment gone well for the refugee family, but McDonnell’s family has benefited as well. ‘You don’t realize how the rest of the world looks upon your own culture until you see these people react to their first escalator ride or their first spaghetti dinner,’ he commented.

McDonnell added that their reaction has been one not only of amazement, ‘but also of humor.’ He said his sponsored family will remain in his home for ‘two more weeks at the most.’

If you live in a residence hall, making a long distance call can be a hassle.

You either have to call collect (and that costs extra), or wait in line at a pay phone with a couple of pounds of change in your pocket.

Well, there’s a way around all that. Get your FREE STUDENT BILLING CARD from Indiana Bell. A Student Billing Card lets you make long distance calls from the privacy of your room, and at direct-dial rates. That’s a lot easier and more economical than any other way. Besides, there’s no waiting in line, and you keep the change. To get your STUDENT BILLING CARD just call 237-8182.

St. Mary's Board of Governance meets

by Magie Brassil
Saint Mary's News Editor

At the Board of Governance meeting last night, Martha Boyle, Judicial Commissioner, announced that the Judicial Board application deadline has been changed to 7 p.m. The processing of applications will begin at 9 and announcements of appointments will be made later in the week.

The reason for the change was due to a lack of response from the student body, Boyle said. The response so far with the new deadline is much greater, she added.

Treasurer Sheila Wasted reported that from the Student Government fee, $750 will be allotted to each class and $2.25 per student to each hall and off-campus treasuries. These funds are put toward activities sponsored by each group.

Wasted also reported that forms for clubs and campus organizations for Student Government allocations will be available in the Student Activities office Monday. The deadline for the applications is Sept. 26. Allocations will be made at the first student assembly meeting after that date.

Founder's Day, to be held Oct. 14, is still in the planning stages. Co-chairmen Aditi Tripathi and Katie Conley are planning this year's activities around the theme, "Never underrate the power of a Saint Mary's Woman." Plans are being made for a formal reception in O'Laughlin, helium balloon rides, an audio-visual presentation about Saint Mary's and a late night mass.

This year is the 153rd anniversary of the founding of Saint Mary's. Due to a miscalculation in last year's celebration, the 1978 Founder's Day was also titled the 135th anniversary.

Freshmen Council advisors Katie Conley and Sheila McGahan have received a good response from the Freshmen Class for petitions for the Freshmen Council. Elections have been pushed back to Oct. 3.

Student Government made a substantial profit from "Second City," which performed last Saturday. Mary Ellen Connell Social Commissioner, could not release an exact figure since not all expenses have been received but she termed it "a great success."

It was noted that the Junior Class lost $100 because of cancellations of the "Booze Cruise" scheduled for last Saturday. The cancellation was due to lack of response from the Junior Class; junior class president, calculated they would have lost $180 if they had held the event with the number of students who had bought tickets.

Chip Dornbach, vice-president of Academic Affairs, announced that the University Series will begin Monday in Carroll Hall. Each speaker will be Dave Toma, from whose books the "Toma" and "Barrie" TV series have been taken. All Speaker Series lectures are free and open to the public. Other lectures are being coordinated with the halls for during the year.

Dornbach also reported that yesterday was the last day for students to pick up their books that had been lost and to have them replaced. Other books are still left. Dornbach said the used book sale was successful and will run again next semester.

The only business voted on was whether the Board of Trustees would act as a channel to the Baby-sitting Service. The Career Development Office had asked if the Board could handle the names of students wanting babysitting jobs in the South Bend area.

The unanimous feeling of the Board was it was not their responsibility, not could they respond to the small amount of student negligence in the job.

Reports of continued unrest in Uganda today

by Dan Leitch
Staff Reporter

There is no peace in Uganda yet," Reverend Em­manuol Wamala, the Ugandan Vice General, said recently. According to Wamala, when he left for the United States in June, his country lacked ade­quate security and looting of stores and neighbors was com­mon place.

Wamala, who is at Notre Dame participating in the Reli­gious Leaders Program, noted: "Our government is not yet in full control—it lacks the confi­dence of the people."

The plight of his countrymen remains Wamala's greatest worry. "The behavior of Chris­tians during the critical months of war has shown that the christian message has not yet sunk deep into us," he said. The confused state of affairs greatly disturbs Ugandan Cath­olic Church officials, according to Wamala.

"These officials have been naive enough to believe that in 100 years, a civilization can become wholly christianized."

The view is to the east, with high rise Grace Tower to the left and a portion of the second residence hall in the right foreground. The dormitories will hold 250 students each, enabling an increase of 500 in the University's undergraduate student body of 6,700. The new enrollment places will be for women, who now number about 1,550, but it has not yet been decided whether men or women will occupy the new residences. The results of bids out this month will determine whether both structures will be built simultaneously, but at least one is expected to be for residency next fall. Michauska contractor H. Soccer shoots for notoriety

Michael Orman

The ultimate goal of an NCAA tournament bid had not yet been reached. To gain more recognition for his program, Hunter has scheduled the toughest possible opponents for 1981-82. The Irish are set to open a grueling 29 games in just 60 days, including nationally-ranked Indiana and Notre Dame. Hunter's coaching philosophy combines a close personal relationship with his players along with one of the nation's toughest conditioning programs. His players run their 4,390th lap of the afternoon, Hunter asks, "Are you having fun?

"We love it, Rich," they respond as they gasp for air.

Sunday's game exhibited almost every team the Irish would deal with, for one big exception - a win. The well-conditioned Irish continually outscored the Bearcats, 25-9-3. The ball just didn't go in the net.

Few of the 500-plus fans left disappointed. They had seen tremendous effort by Notre Dame's finely tuned machine. As many of the visiting players admitted, "We were lucky to lose.

The Irish should get right back on their horse this week. They are getting ready to begin the Big Ten tournament. They need to defeat Iowa, Northwestern, and Michigan to stay in the national hunt. The Irish will be in the NCAA tournament.

Purdue, now ranked fifth in the nation, will be in their way. Purdue is leading the Big Ten, but Notre Dame is a very good team, and certainly not at the point we'd like to be," Doane said Tuesday in Los Angeles.

"It's going to be extremely hard for us to compete against Purdue. We're a very strong team, and certainly not at the point we'd like to be," Doane said Tuesday in Los Angeles.

"The game isn't just a victory for us, but also for the Boilermakers Saturday night in Los Angeles.

"It's going to be extremely hard for us to compete against Purdue. We're a very strong team, and certainly not at the point we'd like to be," Doane said Tuesday in Los Angeles.
