Trustees discuss campus issues

by Rosemary Mills
Editor-in-Chief

The Student Affairs Committee of the University Board of Trustees discussed recent campus issues yesterday with student leaders. Among the topics discussed were SG spending on student services, SG fees, and the need for the increase.

Bill Vita, Student Body Vice President, updated the Committee on the SG funding increase of approximately 50 per cent this year, and with the toll of that President Carter acted unconstitutionally in that the need for the increase is necessary.

Sebasky, SG treasurer, noted that the need for the increase was evident during the recent SG budget hearings. According to Sebasky, the number of groups applying for SG funding increased by approximately 50 per cent this year, and with the toll of the need for the increase is necessary. Sebasky also recommended that the Committee review the fee yearly to decide if another increase will be necessary.

Ben Imbriaco, SG Academic Commissioner, revealed the conclusion of SG research into the faculty tenure process. Imbriaco surveyed numerous department chairmen in all of the colleges and she concluded that the criteria for tenure were questionable. Although University provost Dr. Timothy O'Meara outlined the criteria of excellent reaching, distinguished research and compatibility with University goals as the direct criteria for tenure. Imbriaco discovered that these factors are weighted unevenly in the different colleges and different depart-

Gerald Ford to address
SMC-ND students

Gerald Ford, a former president and potential candidate in the 1980 election, visited the Notre Dame/St. Mary's community in the ACC Center Monday at 8 p.m. that the topic of his speech is unspecified at present.

The address will be the final event in a day-long visit, during which Ford will meet with three classes, lunch with student leaders, meet faculty members and dine with University administrators and area civic leaders.

The former president will also participate in a press conference early Monday morning, following his arrival late Sunday night.

Ford visited the campus on St. Patrick's Day in 1975 which was supposed to be the day after students return from Spring Break. He also recommended that the WASHINGON (AP) - The Carter administration is confident there will be no interruption in U.S.-China relations, despite a judge's ruling that President Carter acted unconstitutionally in ending the mutual defense treaty with Taiwan, State Department sources said yesterday.

The officials, asked that they not be identified, said they are still assessing the ruling and that it would be handled in accordance with U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch's declaration that the president, or a majority vote by both houses to end the defense treaty.

The Peking government had made termination of the U.S. treaty a precondition to negotiations with the United States.

State Department officials said the only firm decision the administration has made since the announcement was to seek an expedited appeal before Jan. 1, the termination date for the treaty.

"We think it will be overturned," one official said of the Gasch decision.

The president, according to an administration official, was instructed to say nothing publicly about the case because of the pending appeal, but "Our lawyers advise that a matter under litigation should not be discussed," Carter said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration is confident there will be no interruption in U.S.-China relations, despite a judge's ruling that President Carter acted unconstitutionally in ending the mutual defense treaty with Taiwan, State Department sources said yesterday.

WASHINGON (AP) - The administration has decided that the U.S. government will proceed with the termination of the U.S.-Taiwan treaty last December, announcing that the treaty is threatened and not necessarily to provide compatibility with the United States only to consult with Taiwan if the administration probably will go to Congress and ask for approval of the decision to end the treaty. If that failed, the officials said, the administration probably would try to continue its policy toward the People's Republic of China.

They said much would depend on whether the government in Peking chose to be understanding in the matter. As of midday yesterday, there had been no consultations between the two governments about Gasch's decision, officials said.

If termination of the U.S.-Taiwan treaty is blocked, the administration could try to reassert the Peking government that there would be no actual change in the relationships the United States agreed to last December.

They noted that the defense treaty obligates the United States only to consult with Taiwan if it is threatened and not necessarily to provide the island with military support.

President Carter announced plans to end the treaty with Taiwan last December, announcing that the United States would recognize the Peking government.

HEW considers suing Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) - HEW Secretary Patricia Harris said she notified the Chicago school board that unless an acceptable school desegregation plan is submitted by Oct. 27, the matter will be referred to the Justice Department for legal action.

Regulations in the Civil Rights Act require a 10-day interim period between the time of a government decision to bring suit and the actual filing of that suit.

Harris said she decided to turn the Chicago case over to the Justice Department because "I have concluded that compliance cannot be secured by voluntary means and I cannot in good conscience agree to further delay in the guise of negotiation."

She told a news conference that she still hopes Chicago school officials might submit an acceptable desegregation plan, adding that this is "a real possibility."

In a statement released within two hours of Harris' news conference, however, Chicago school superintendent Joseph Hannon vowed that school officials would fight the government.

"We will not sit down and discuss with anybody when there are preconditions," Hannon said.

"That is not negotiating." He would hope again that we could take the gun off the table and negotiate it without them telling us what to do," he said.

Harrins' actions followed a week by the Chicago Board of Education Wednesday rejecting 1-2 the guidelines set by HEW for reducing segregation in the 475,000-student public school system. Under the guidelines, a about a quarter of the city's students would have to be bused.

If the city had accepted the conditions submitted by HEW last week, it automatically would have been given an extension until Nov. 17 to prepare a desegregation plan. Instead, the board voted 6-3 to ask HEW for an additional 170 days to come up with an acceptable plan.

The plan was immediately rejected by HEW officials.

Harris said HEW collected a vast amount of evidence that showed "a clear pattern, over a period of almost 40 years, of intentional Board of Education action to reinforce and perpetuate segregated conditions and to avoid integration."
Medical officials to unearth
Lee Harvey Oswald's grave

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas County medical officials said yesterday they have asked authorities in neighboring Tarrant County to dig up the body buried in the Lee Harvey Oswald's grave to verify its identity. Oswald was named as the lone assassin of President John F. Kennedy by the Warren Commission. He was gunned down while in police custody two days after Kennedy's assassination in 1963. "Somebody has raised the question as to who is in that grave. The easiest way to find out is to ... run some tests," said Dallas County Medical Examiner Charles S. Perry. A request to dig up Oswald's body was made earlier this year by British author Michael Eddones, but Tarrant County officials turned to him down.

SMC Board of Regents affects daily activities of students

By Charlotte Bradley

The Saint Mary's Board of Regents, as the sole governing body of the college, affects the daily activities of all SMC students.

The 27-member board, established in 1971, is vested with the authority and responsibility for the operation of the college, in accordance with the stated philosophies of the college, the by-laws of the corporation, and the laws of the state of Indiana.

As stated in the by-laws, if the college has a lay president, the chairman of the board must be a C.S.C. nun, and vice versa. One-third of the members must be sisters of the Holy Cross. The Board makes the policy decisions of the college, such as confirming the budget and hiring the college president; although its decisions are based on input from the administration.

The members of the Board include alumnae, college administrators, sisters of the Holy Cross, community business leaders, and one faculty and one student member.

Members are elected for three-year terms and can serve up to six consecutive years.

Roemer chooses assistant director

By Kathy Casey

Rex J. Rakow, director of security at Albion College, Michigan, and a native of Mishawaka, has been named assistant director of Security at Notre Dame by James A. Roemer, Dean of Students. Roemer said that Rakow, a 1973 graduate of Indiana University at Bloomington, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in Room 101 in the Law Building. Turowicz's lecture, sponsored by the Center for the Study of Higher Education at Notre Dame, will be part of the Pope's visit to Poland and Catholic press freedom in Poland.

Turowicz to speak

Jerry Turowicz, editor of the leading Catholic daily newspaper in Poland, who accompanied Pope John Paul II on his American tour, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in Room 101 in the Law Building. Turowicz's lecture, sponsored by the Center for the Study of Higher Education at Notre Dame, will be part of the Pope's visit to Poland and Catholic press freedom in Poland.

The students are represented by Sheila Marie Wexler, the student body treasurer. Mary Jane Ryan Burke, elected this year as president of the SMC Alumni Association, is a Board member.

Nine new members were elected this year, including Burke. Thomas J. Busch is corporate vice president of the Automotive Control Systems and Precision Machine Groups of the Bendix Corporation.
For Archbishop Biskup

Cathedrals to hold services

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Services will be at 11 a.m. Monday in St. Peter and St. Paul Cathedral here for the Most Rev. George J. Biskup, 68, archbishop of the Catholic Archdiocese of Indianapolis for 12 years.

He died Wednesday night in St. Vincent Hospital. Biskup resigned as head of the Indianapolis Archdiocese in March because of a series of health problems during the past several years, including a recurrence of cancer.

The Rev. Msgr. Francis Tuohy, who was named temporary administrator pending the pope's selection of a successor, said, "Archbishop Biskup was a kind and gentle person who dealt with others in a very sensitive manner. He was very understanding of all persons who came to him with problems, always generously giving them much of his time."

"Perhaps his most outstanding quality and one that will continue to have lasting effects on the church here was his ability to share responsibility with persons whom he appointed to various ministries."

Freshman pick officers at SMC

Saint Mary's Freshmen Council chose their officers Wednesday night. Elected to the position of Chairman is Erin Flood. Appointed members are Vice-Chairman Gaynor McCoun, Treasurer Melanie Margiotte, and Secretary Roxanne Rochester.

The two Social Commissioners are Monica Dornbach and Carolyn Birch. Also appointed were Communications Commissioner Mary Zuzikar, and Formals Commissioner Lucy Hanahan.

Seniors complain of losing time

by Stephan Sharp

Some seniors are complaining that they will only have a half day of vacation time in Acapulco next week due to poor flight scheduling. Fr. Mario Pedi, senior class moderator, said, however, that part of the problem has been solved.

Several seniors became upset at Tuesday's "Travel Night" when they discovered that their American Airlines flight will be the last one to arrive in Acapulco and the second one to leave. Normally, flights are staggered so that the last senior tripppers to arrive are the last ones to leave.

"It doesn't seem fair to pay the same price for 12 hours less time in Acapulco," said Clare Streck, a senior from Lyons who was scheduled on the last flight.

The flight schedule handed out to the seniors on Tuesday lists the first group as arriving in Acapulco at 12:00 noon and the last group at 11:59 p.m. (acapulco time). Pedi said that the last flight arrival time has been moved up to 8:59 p.m. "The improved time means that being on the last flight won't shoot Sunday night, and that's what most people were complaining about," Pedi said.

Normally, the trip committee charters flights and therefore has more control over departure and return times. Pedi explained that this year no planes could be chartered because the airlines are losing money on charters. The last flight into Acapulco, filled with 150 Notre Dame and Saint Mary's seniors, was added by American Airlines to its regular schedule of Mexican flights, but only at a group rate. The airline set the times of departure and return.

Pedi also noted that all seniors must fly with the same airline both to and from Acapulco in order to qualify for a group rate. On international routes, the airlines don't fly as regularly as on U.S. routes, and long delays between flights are common.

Andy Barfuss, senior trip coordinator, said that most seniors believe the scheduling could have been done better, but he stated that few people have called him to complain. "I know how those people feel," Barfuss said. "I ended up on the last flight too."

Students to change game before game

As a pre-game psyche move for the U.S.C. game, the students are said to be planning on taking part in a massive change from blue to green as the Notre Dame football team runs onto the field just prior to the kickoff. The change is to be a simple substitution of an article of clothing, such as putting on a green jacket over a blue sweatshirt. After The Change, cheer the Green Machine on to victory over the Trojan of U.S.C.

Costs soar, profits fall with nation's airlines

NEW YORK (AP) - The skies aren't as friendly for the nation's airlines these days. Costs are soaring, profits are almost gone and employees are being laid off.

The airlines are trying to cope with the problem by raising fares and cutting back on discounts, hoping that won't prompt air travelers to stay home.

The signs of trouble are everywhere. The Air Transport Association reported yesterday that air travel in September was only 7.5 percent above levels of a year ago, far below the 13.5 percent boost in August.

The loss came despite a 35 percent decline in third-quarter profits. That was partly because American's DC-10 jetliners, which account for more than 20 percent of its capacity, were grounded for most of July after a DC-10 crash in Chicago that killed 273 persons.

Trans World Corp. said its profits fell only 32 percent, but added that was because its non-airline subsidiaries did well.

Brassil Airlines on Thursday reported a loss of $9.8 million for the quarter, compared to a profit of $15 million a year ago. The loss came despite a 35 percent increase in revenues to $770.7 million. At the heart of the airlines' problems is oil price increases - the same factor that brought increased business, as persons fearful of finding gasoline brought increased business, as persons fearful of finding gasoline.

The airlines are trying to cope with sharp fare increases, but those delayed by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The "de-regulation" of the industry made it easier to lower fares than to raise them.

Many of the fare increases have taken effect and others are pending. "By the end of the year, fares will be up at least 22 percent from last year," said Thomas G. Flaherty, a senior vice-president of American Airlines.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—It probably killed Pharaoh Ramses of Egypt 3,000 years ago. Africans and Indians worshiped him. In 1777, a Sotani cook named Ali Muaw Maalib became the last person known to catch it inside a laboratory.

Over the centuries, smallpox killed, scarred, blinded or permanently scarred hundreds of millions. Smallpox is about to be erased from recognized lists of human afflictions. On Oct. 26, officials of the Geneva-based World Health Organization, which led the final assault on the virus, will travel to Nairobi to declare that smallpox has been eradicated.

The only countries not presently certified smallpox-free are Kenya, Somalia, Ethiopia and Djibouti. Nominative population movements there hindered detection and isolation of virus outbreaks.

But WHO teams have completed intensive surveys in the Horn of Africa region and the four countries will be cleared next week.

According to public health officials, the victory over smallpox marks the first time scientific intervention has eliminated a disease. The campaign cost billions of dollars, with WHO contributing $100 million.

"If you can find another major disease about which all these things are true," Dr. Zaud Islam, WHO’s disease-control officer in eastern Africa, said in an interview.

"It’s a man-to-man infection, with no stage in animals, insect or impure water. There are no human carriers who spread the disease without showing symptoms, as there are for typhoid. When symptoms come, they appear on exposed parts of the body, like the face, and cannot be hidden. And there is an effective vaccine."

"This makes it comparatively easy to deal with," he said. "You won’t find another major disease about which all these things are true."

"If the doctors are right, and they say the probabilities are overwhelming against error, smallpox from now on will exist only in a few laboratories for research purposes."

Yet even there, accidents can occur.

Janet Parker, 40, a medical photographer, last year became Britain’s first smallpox fatality in five years after she apparently came in contact with viruses that escaped through a laboratory ventilation duct to the floor above.

In the subsequent outcry, pathologist Henry Bedson, 49, a world smallpox authority, cut his throats, leaving a note saying he had ignored basic safety precautions in handling the viruses.

Britain later tightened regulations at 11 laboratories where dangerous viruses are held. WHO says a global reserve of 200 million doses of smallpox vaccine is being kept as a safeguard.

The origin of smallpox is unknown. Ramses died at age 40, and his mummy bears what looks like the crusts of smallpox pustules, as Jenner’s vaccine was made.

"That was more effective," Islam said. "In fact, when we were told of the discovery, we were skeptical."

"It is not easy to deal with," he said. "It is a virus that would immunize.

"You won’t find another major disease about which all these things are true."
Over break

Few campus functions to occur

by Mary Fran Callahan

Students remaining on campus over October break have a limited number of campus functions available to them. Student Union is sponsoring no activities over break, so students will have to return to South Bend for entertainment. Vegetable Buddies will be offering a variety of group events over break. Monday evening, the weekly movie will be shown in the TV gymnasium. Tuesday, Night Vision will perform, and junior Walker and the All-Stars will complete the week.

Bridget McGuire's will stick to its regular hours which are 4:00 p.m. to closing, and Corby's will also operate on its usual schedule which is 2:00 to 3:00 a.m. All the local shopping malls will be open, and buses will be running on the usual time-tables. There will be several events planned focusing on the upcoming Halloween. Although buses will be going into town as usual, all shuttle service to and from SMC is cancelled until classes resume.

In the way of theater, the Forum will be offering "The Life of Brian" and "Rocky II" and "Animal House." The Scottsdale Theater will continue to show "Apocalypse Now."

Should students want to work out over break, the Rockne Health Club will continue to be open from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Saturday and 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Sunday. The pool will be closed Saturday but open from noon to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. next weekend. Family swims are from 2 to 4:00 p.m. Friday and Sunday. In addition to the Rock, the ACC will be available for use from 8 to 10:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m., Saturday and 1 to 5:00 p.m. Sunday. Next Saturday, students can utilize the facility from 8:00 a.m. to noon. The ice rink's hours vary slightly. Free daily public skating sessions will still be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. Regular public skating is from 7 till 9 p.m. Saturday the 26th, 1:30-3:30 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Sunday. The weekend of the South Carolina game, the rink will be closed Friday and Saturday, then resume its normal hours Sunday.

Saint Mary's students planning to remain on campus are reminded that they cannot check out of LeMans Hall until Friday the 26th.

Food will be harder to obtain since the last meal served in the dining halls will be lunch before the USC game. The dining halls will open again on Saturday, Oct. 27 for dinner after the South Carolina game. The halls will resume their normal hours with Sunday dinner. Yet, continental breakfast and Sunday brunch are planned.

Some on-campus options for meals are the pay cafeteria and the Huddle. The cafeteria will maintain its regular hours which are from 7:00 a.m. to 7:20 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Sundays. The Huddle has altered its hours over break-opening from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Saturday. Sunday the 28th, the Huddle will resume its regular hours-opening at noon and closing at midnight.

The library will be available from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Sunday. When classes are back in session, normal hours will re-commence.

SMC hours to change

by Kathy Caulley

Due to the upcoming October break, there are several changes in the hours and availability of facilities at Saint Mary's. All students must be out of their dorm rooms by noon on Sunday. Those that are not going away must move to LeMans Hall by the 23rd. The dining halls will reopen the 28th at 3:00. All business offices will be open throughout the week during the usual hours.

The dining hall will serve its usual hours today and will reopen on the 28th for dinner. Students living here through the Thanksgiving break must vacate by 10:00 a.m. on Sunday, November 18. All business offices will be open throughout the week during the usual hours.

As many SMC students stay on campus over break, the dining halls will be open for meals. The Library will remain open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Saturday. The Huddle will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Saturday and 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Sunday.

Women in the priesthood

JP II: Superstar or Super Czar

Christopher Stewart

The world, as any educated and self-respecting individual knows, is an incredibly complicated place to live. Although I decreed my increasing dependence on the authority of academic/government/sectarian "knowledge" and understanding how our society works, I am still befuddled by well-intentioned appraisers of the human condition who knock off the pedestal and make untrue claims about the topics concerning many of us.

Pat Byrne article, "On women in the priesthood", is a case in point. Although I wholeheartedly applaud his honest effort to delineate some of the Catholic realities, such as the non-traditional, non-Catholic with regard to the practices decided by the Church, some of his more eratic and unsubstantiated generalizations deserve further investigation.

#1) He states: The pope reserves the priesthood for men, a reservation defended by tradition and theological insight. Tradition, yes. Theology, no, the author asks, whom? Hans Kung, theologian-priest, or the pope? Tubingen in Germany, is regarded by many in the Church as an "independent" theological insight. In his book, JP II: Superstar, dove into traditional, and advances a persuasive, albeit non-traditional, view on the question of women in the priesthood.

The Church's ministry of leadership is consecrated sexually male; it is tied too to a man's association. Full participation of women in the Church's life, on the basis of equal rights, is something that belongs to a suitably renewed Church today. This means not only the female clergy, but the appointment of women in responsible positions, but also the admission of women to the male ranks of the Church's special ministries and to ordination. Sociocultural reasons have traditionally prevented the ordination of women for a technical reason. The Church needs more of a non-traditional authority of the national, but no declarations of an apostolic nature have been presented. Thank you, Hans Kung.

#2) He boldly asserts: "The pope speaks with words of faith - those who oppose him on this issue use words of logic."" Conroe now. Pat. Words are words. The pope expresses his thoughts only when he is required to, and believing Catholics who disagree do so for reasons of faith, as well as logic. Your simplistic, and dichotomous, concepts are absolute, useless, and serious Catholics, whose faith in one of Jesus' most radical examples of the Church's identity in the present time, is already a fait accompli. There's the truth, and the truth shall set you free. We, as Catholics, are no longer taxed in congruity with that faith. Authoritative dissertations are seeking full ministerial duties, I find, are more closely aligned with the policies of administration of either instance. Up until this season, and perhaps contrary to popular belief, the only thing that the Notre Dame and Norte Dame tennis teams had in common was that they co-hosted two tennis tournaments during the fall season. There seemed to be a friendly rivalry, but nothing more than just tennis. A Saint Mary's tennis player recently refuted the idea of talking to a Norte Dame player, while a Norte Dame player was a sure subject at a Saint Mary's player. Tennis was a sure subject to bring up in the midst of either a Saint Mary's or Norte Dame woman netter.

Coach to player: Go over and tell St. Mary's that they play in ten minutes.

Coach to player: Go over and ask Norte Dame if they need help sweeping the court.

Player: Where? Over there? No way! These are our courts. They're doing a fine job.

Someday, during the course of a year, the tide will change. Suddenly, the tennis players began saying hello, smiling and making small talk with one another.

So, we join ranks with other Christian institutions such as Chicago, Calvin, etc. and prove the excellence we seem so close to achieving, ready to refusing to allow the military on our campus?

I'm sure that everyone here in RTE does have Christian values. If we just think a moment though, one can see the startling realization that the women here at Notre Dame are being trained to enter an army that one looks at the situation, this becomes even more palpable.

I agree that the answer that appeared in The Observer was an excellent one. Unfortunately, I did not advance Fr. Hesburgh's answer any further. I am not advocating any solution to the problem. I do think that the serious thought that this situation demands has been ignored since the end of the Vietnam era.

ROTC demands serious thought

Dear Editor:

The letter which appeared in the Oct. 16 edition of The Observer concerning my comment to Fr. Hesburgh about Christian values in an RTE neocessitates that I clarify my statement. The Jesuit's statement that "the army is the same. The military is the same. The military is the same.

Had he stayed longer, he might have learned something from us. Instead, he rambled jauntily through the country - picking up personality points from the National Catholic Reporter's "Time magazine," sharing the explanation of how America's "defence of the nation" for a week, called "John Paul, Superstar." I'm waiting for an interview with him "John Paul, Superstar." I'm waiting for an interview with him "John Paul, Superstar." He does, sir. But these are their courts. They're doing a fine job.

Personal status is no longer a part of the mass. Loving service to God and human kind is. Besides, who's to say that mass can't be called to the priesthood? According to the saying, why not women. Have we forgotten the significance of his relationships to women? I'm sure Mary Magdalene and Martha? Prayer didn't work out.

#3) He mentions that the gifts in Jesus' are only given, worth, given by God. "Mary...may be characteristically different, and as such, may be subject to divine, particular value assessments in this world." But wait, ladies, equality is just a blink of an eye away.

"However, we are all equal in the eyes of God." (muted sound of applause) The only problem with assent to this world is that this world is subject to an amazing variety of evil apostles, such as racism, ex- ploitation, sexism, greed, lust, power-grabbing and the like. Although we may be equal in eyes of God, we are surely not yet equal in the eyes of men, or women for that matter. No less authority than Jesus once made the trenchant remark: "I am the vine, ye are the branches. He who is bound on earth shall be bound in heaven.

With this in mind, why can't we have a genuine, untiring effort to further the confidence of male-female relativism? We have been fixated on the stereo-archetypically ologized universe, I pose this question: if the hierarchy of male-female value assessments of women relegate them to an inferiority complex, an eternity of heaven, one that is shared only by those same double-standards that bind right on earth?

#4) He mentions: "Now comes the painful part. What if I'm wrong, what if the priests, only?" Wrong again.

The painful part would be for the Vatican and the other intractable agents of the hierarchy to accept the real, uneducated theology of the inadmissibility of women to the priesthood to admit, once and for all, that women are theological tools in seeking entrance to the priesthood. Now that would be painful.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration has broadened its search for a new Hispanic secretary of Education, White House aides said Wednesday.

A day after President Carter signed a bill creating the Department of Education, White House aides said the search for the nation's first Hispanic secretary of Education is under consideration, they indicated.

These sources, who declined to be identified, said at least seven names are on various lists, but that no list has been sent to Carter. No consensus candidate has emerged among the White House staff, they said.

After Apodaca met with Carter, the sources said, the White House started to diversify the list of candidates, even again including Apodaca himself.

The White House was considering at least seven names. However, they declined to be identified. The White House refused to confirm or deny reports that Apodaca was a leading candidate.

Banners need approval

Student Government has announced that all students must have their banners approved prior to the USC game. Banners not approved will not be allowed on the field. Security will be on the field to enforce this policy.

A Student Government task force will review the banners in the LaForme Hall offices today from 3:30 - 5 p.m. and tomorrow from 9:30 - 10:30 a.m. All approved banners will be collected and transported to gate 17 at the stadium where students may pick them up at gate 17. Students will be issued half-price passes allowing them on the field.

None of the approved banners will be on TV.

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN
(AP) — Gren poet Odysseus Elytis, who seeks "true reality" through vivid words strongly rooted in the landscape, life and age-old tradition of his native land, was awarded the 1979 Nobel Prize for literature yesterday.
The 68-year-old Elytis, little known outside the Greek language, edged out a half-dozen internationally acclaimed writers who had been highly touted for the prestigious honor.
Reached by telephone in his small bachelor's flat in Athens, he told a reporter he was surprised and thankful "on my own behalf and my country's" as a poet and a Greek.
The literature prize, awarded by the Swedish Royal Academy of Letters, was the last of the six 1979 Nobels to be awarded.
Each is worth $190,000. Five of the 10 laureates are Americans, including four of seven science prize-winners. The awards cer-cemony will be conducted Dec.
10 in Stockholm.
Elytis's unique name for Odysseus Alexopoulos—in the second Greek to win the Nobel for literature, Georgios Seferis, a fellow poet in the surrealist-fluenced Greek school of the 1930's was the laureate in 1963.
The 18-member Academy said in its citation that Elytis's poetry "depicts with sensuous strength and intellectual clear-sightedness modern man's struggle for freedom and creativeness."
It praised its "sensuality and light" and its portrait of the world around us with a "wealth of freshness; and astonishing experiences."
Elytis' best-known work is a cycle of mythical poems entitled: "To Axios Epos" ("Worth it Be"), which was published in 1959 after more than a decade's work. The academy called it
"one of 20th-century literature's most concentrated and elegantly faceted poems."
Elytis was born to a well-known industrial family on the island of Crete-in 1911, just a few years before it was freed from Turkish rule. He studied law and political science at the logos in Paris.
Last year's Nobel literature laureate was Polish-born short-story writer and novelist Isaac Babtizes Singer, an American citizen who writes in Yiddish.
But the Swedish Academy has frequently chosen aged and relatively obscure poets including Spanish ace Alejandre in 1977, Italian Eugenio
Montale in 1973 and Swede
This considered possibility this year included English novelists Graham Greene and Doris Lennard, and Turkish epic writ-ter Yasar Kemal.
Devine and Robinson anticipate showdown

by Paul Stander

The Notre Dame-Southern California football game was the most glamorous intersectional rivalry in college football, and the attention paid the game is greater than any other regular season contest in the land. Just ask the two coaches for a few minutes of their time and you'll be told to get in the back of a long line behind well-wishers, media, and ticket-seekers, and that "Coach is a film session right now."

It hobbles the mind to think that on top of preparing their teams for the biggest game of the year, both John Robinson of USC and Dan Devine of Notre Dame must also take care of hundreds of extraneous chores. In the midst of all the excitement, however, neither Robinson nor Devine has lost sight of the fact that he has a game to try to win tomorrow.

"I think it's an important game for both teams," Devine says. Southern California is trying to regain national recognition after their tie with Stanford last weekend...and we have a chance to jump up in our national prestige. The important thing to both teams is winning just for their own personal pride."

Without a doubt, both teams boast superlative football traditions, as Robinson infers when he says "Both teams are used to winning. Southern Cal comes into the game with a 3-0-1 record and a fourteen game unbeaten streak that includes 27-25 last-minute victory over the Irish in Los Angeles last November. The Trojans dominated the game for three quarters, and led 24-6 before Notre Dame posted a fourth-quarter point to take a short-lived lead.

The series has been one in which one team tends to dominate the other totally at times," Robinson says, referring to last year's up-and-down affair and citing USC's 49-point domination in 1974.

The Irish have had their days, too, particularly in 1977, when the green-clad team that was to use the game as a springboard to a national title rumbled to a 69-14 win in Notre Dame Stadium.

Notre Dame's game could be just as explosive and unpredictable, since each team's leading back has a shot at the Heisman Trophy. John Krimm, could possibly play a key role in Saturday's game. But Devine and Robinson have lost sight of this factor.

"With my outlook, you just have to put things in God's hands," he explains. "I have to work hard to prepare myself, and then I leave Him in control."
Traditional, the Notre Dame-USC game has had a big hand in deciding the national championship in football. In five of the last seven years, the winner of this intersectional rivalry has gone on to claim at least a share of the national crown. And with USC highly-ranked all season and Notre Dame still clinging to championship hopes, tomorrow's game could be of equal importance.

But in addition to the battle for football supremacy, another post-season honor may be decided on the grid of Notre Dame Stadium tomorrow afternoon. Because Charles White of USC and Vagas Ferguson of Notre Dame have emerged as two of the top contenders to win the Heisman Trophy, the most prestigious award in college football.

Along with defending Heisman winner Billy Sims of Oklahoma, White is a favorite to win the Heisman. The Oklahoma City native opened the season as one of the favorites to win this coveted title. Sims has been hurt by some early-season performances, allowing Ferguson to burst on the scene as another possible candidate.

Both of these players have a couple of things going for them, things that are usually necessary to win the Heisman:
1) They are offensive backs. Only two players, Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Notre Dame's Leon Hart in 1949, have won the Heisman and not played in the offensive backfield (both were ends). The trophy has gone to running backs the last seven years.
2) They go to major schools. Publicity is a key to winning the Heisman, no matter how good you are. Notre Dame and USC are both schools that get extensive media coverage throughout the year. It also helps if your team wins most of its games.
3) They appear on nationally televised games. This also helps the publicity angle, as the writers and broadcasters who vote for the Heisman sometimes get their only exposure to certain players through television.
4) They are very good football players. This is a must if you want to be picked the best in the country. Both players have the proper credentials.

The two coaches would be the first to back up this last point.

"I've said it before, but Vagas has to be regarded as one of the top running backs in the country," says Irish coach Dan Devine. "He has been so consistent week after week that every one of us has had to keep his 100 or so yards, and he usually does. He's an all-everything as far as I'm concerned."

"Ferguson does a great job of finding an open lane and searching out the little crack when there isn't a lot there," praises USC mentor John Robinson.

But Robinson has some high praises for his own back. "I don't know if I've ever been around a man I admire more than Charlie White. He's a fierce competitor, and at the same time, he's a great person."

"White is probably the best of the last four Heisman candidates. A true tailback," Devine echoes. "We know he can't be stopped, so we just have to try and contain him. He's a great competitor and I'm sure he'll win it,"

Both White and Ferguson come into the game with the kind of early-season statistics you need to win the Heisman.

White has gained 740 yards on 110 carries and has scored seven touchdowns. He now ranks sixth in the all-time NCAA rushing list with 4535 yards, and only needs 181 more to move into third behind Tony Dorsett and Archie Griffin.

Ferguson is also chalking in some record numbers as he only needs 21 yards to move past Jerome Heavens as Notre Dame's all-time rushing leader. The senior tri-captain has gained 627 yards, best percent of Notre Dame rushing total on the season) on 142 carries, and has scored six touchdowns.

But trophies and records matter little to these backs at this point in the season. The big worry is the game itself.

"I would be great to win the Heisman," White admits, "but what I want USC to do is keep winning, and honors will take care of themselves."

"I never think about individual performances or records," reveals Ferguson. "The team is the most important thing, and winning is the most important thing for the team. Whatever records or rewards come as a result of that effort will be a bonus after the season is over."

For both White and Ferguson, this is the last of the last time that one of this talented pair will be getting that bonus; a bronze statue that says to everyone "I'm the best there is!"

...Joey Browner

by Craig Chastain

Sports Editor

It's only fitting that Saturday's Notre Dame-Southern Cal classic is Homecoming. Because, in a way, Joey Browner is coming home.

But he's not coming home to stay. Unlike his older brothers -- Ross, Jimmie, and Willard -- Joey wasn't lured to the Northern Indiana wilderness and the Golden Dome. In fact, they're precisely why Joey Browner opted for palm tree and sand instead of Saga and snowflakes.

Browner never considered bringing his talents--all-state at two different positions in two different states -- to Notre Dame, because he didn't want to play in the huge shadow of his three brothers.

"I wanted to go somewhere where I could make a name for myself," says Browner, a freshman defensive back for the Trojans. "I was always being compared to my brothers, especially Ross, because I used to play defensive end."

And before any Notre Dame fans with vivid memories of Ross choking down Tony Dorsett from behind still fresh in their minds begin to chuckle too loud, consider this. Joey didn't even wait until he was a senior to break all of Ross' records at Western Reserve High School in Warren, OH. He did it as a junior.

As a senior, he kept busy by playing five different positions for Southwest High School in Atlanta. In the process, he was named that city's player of the year, and gained all-county, all-state and numerous All-America accolades.

Joey Browner has seen his share of Notre Dame-USC battles, but if you believe him, that's all he ever thought about.

"The games were exciting," Browner remembers. "But I didn't care much about the teams."

When reality finally slapped him in the face, Joey still didn't give much thought to the last time he played Notre Dame's fourth Browner brother.

"I thought we would play at Notre Dame," he says. "And I thought our brothers hadn't come to Notre Dame, I would have considered it."

Although his decision to break with what had almost become a tradition might seem to cast Joey in the role of the family's black sheep, nothing could be further from the truth. "My brothers didn't really say much about the whole thing," Joey insists. "They were just glad that I had the opportunity to play college ball."

As far as Browner is concerned, his decision to Go West couldn't have worked out better.

The six-foot, three-inch, 200-pounder has worked his way into the starting line-up at the all-American形式.

"The team is the most important thing," says Browner. "I think that this will be the toughest test our defense has run up against this fall. No one we've seen has a running-passing combination that matches White and McDonald."

To stop the running of White, an extra burden will be placed on the Notre Dame corners, where "coming home" Browner will be right at home.

Both White and Ferguson come into the game with the kind of early-season statistics you need to win the Heisman.

take care of things. That way there's not nearly as much anxiety.

On paper, the size of Belleville, Ill., is having as an excellent season. But he doesn't measure success or failure on paper.

"When I walk off the field after a game or practice, I ask myself if I was out there for personal success or if I was out there to glorify God," says Lisch. "Using my God-given talents to the fullest every game, that's my goal. That's not always possible because of human nature, but if I can do that, I'm not concerned about stats."

Lisch does feel that he can stick to his philosophy and be a winning quarterback at the same time.

Putting things in that light can only bring out the best in me, and as a result, it will help the team," Lisch says. "I really believe that trying to glorify God brings out the best in me, and as a result, it will help the team."

Although Lisch chooses his words carefully, he discusses his religious outlook freely, almost enthusiastically-as if to create a contrast with his closed-mouth image.

"I never purposely avoid people," he insists. "If somebody asks me a question, I'll answer it, but I'm not going to wait around for them. It's kind of a distraction for me."

"If I were asking the questions, I'd say, 'Hey, you're going to see a difference.'"

Although it's unlikely that Lisch will ever be put in the class of the Huartes, the Hanrattys, the Thieismanns or the Montanas, he'll walk away from Notre Dame with a lot of good feelings.

There's only one thing he won't take with him-bitterness.

Tonyine's rally

Preparations for Saturday's USC game will culminate tonight at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum with a pep rally at the Coliseum Center. Notre Dame fans are urged to arrive early to see Notre Dame players and some surprise guests. The big feature of the evening will be the "Digger's Dance School," where Irish basketball coach Digger Phelps will teach everyone how to do the "Notre Dame Rock." ABC will be there to film the festivities, so everyone should come out early to get the best possible seats (and get close to those cameras).

Democrats hope to see Carter try

The Catholic committee schedules conference

Pope John Paul II's messages during his recent visit to the United States will be examined in the context of ministry for social justice during the annual fall conference of the Catholic Committee on Urban Ministry. Nearly 500 participants are expected to attend the meeting which begins Sunday at the University.

Organized around the theme "Toward a Just Economy for the 80s," the four-day meeting will move from analyzing the problems to assessing the appropriate church and community response and, finally, planning specific strategies for action. The Protestant Committee on Urban Ministry will co-sponsor the conference.

Dr. Helen Volkomener, S.P., executive director of the Notre Dame-based national network of clergy, religious and lay engaged in ministry for social justice, noted this year's successful effort to increase minority representation especially among women, blacks, and Hispanics.

Archbishop Marcos McGrath of Panama will deliver the opening address, entitled, "Economic Justice: A Global Religious Issue," Sunday at 8 p.m. at the University's Athletic and Convocation Center, where all sessions will be held. Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College faculty, students and staff are welcome to attend sessions without paying the registration fee.

NEW YORK (AP)-Half of the nation's Democrats now say they would like to see President Carter try for re-election in 1980, a turnaround for the incumbent in the past month, an Associated Press-NBC News poll says.

With the members of his own party leading the way, Carter's standing with the public strengthened a bit from September's historic lows, the poll found in interviews Monday and Tuesday.

There were no major Carter triumphs in the last five weeks to explain the 5 percentage point rise in his job rating—the largest jump since the 16-point surge following the Camp David Middle East summit in September 1978. This lack of a major event to explain the rise may indicate a possibly significant turnaround in public opinion about Carter.

However, even with this month's jump, Carter's job rating remains at extremely depressed levels compared to other presidents.

The public at large spurns on whether Carter should run for re-election; 43 percent favor a Carter bid and 47 percent oppose one; ten percent of the 1,600 adults interviewed nationwide were not sure.

But 50 percent of the Democrats said they favor a Carter try for another term—an 11 point surge compared to last month. Forty-one percent of the Democrats opposed a Carter bid and nine percent were not sure.

In the critical independent group, Carter also rebounded in the new poll. This month, they opposed a re-election bid by a 29-61 margin. But in September, the same group opposed such a try by a much larger 55-35 edge.

The September poll was taken shortly after the farors trampled over the Soviet brigade in Cuba and after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., indicated he was seriously considering a primary challenge to Carter.

Carter's overall job rating is up from the historic depths found last month. Twenty-four of those interviewed rated Carter's work good or excellent, versus only 15 percent in September.

Fifty percent said his work overall is only fair, about the same as in the previous poll. Another 24 percent rated his work overall as poor, down from 30 percent last month. Two percent were not sure each month.

Democrats again led the way for Carter, lifting their rating of his work from 23 percent excellent or good last month to 31 percent giving him the top marks in this survey.

Among independents, 22 percent gave him high ratings this month, up four points in five weeks. And even Republicans' opinions edged up from 10 percent excellent or good to 14 percent this month.

LETTERS TO A LONELY GOD

Rev. Robert Griffin

I've just finished reading a letter written by a young man in love with a young woman, who has told him she now has another love. His words are so sad, so tender, so true, so selfless, so generous, so sorrowing and self- refluxing, so tender and forgiving because I cannot re-arrange the world for him, bringing these two people together... all of us are so sweethearts.

To feel that you're lost someone you love - someone who once loved you, is a sorrowing, a bitter pain, the truth of what to do about love - an experience that leaves you endlessly on the verge of crying. Sure sadness always hangs around. You can feel in your heart like pecking pins, and in your head as a constant buzzing; in the coldness and temerity of your hands, in the blush that burn your eyes when you think, in your stomach as the fullness of an unfulfilled love meal.

When you have loved truly, and have sadly lost; when you remember, with regret verging on heartbreak, that the one you loved is a piece - an eleven year old happy-go-lucky carrot-topped girl who lacks fancy taste, a style that is gaudy. Upon a stage which borders on the unendearing, an inane plot, an eleven year old happy-go-lucky girl

Annie Meehan and lyricist/director Martin Balsbaugh deserve highest praise for their interpretation of Dy- sart, who questions his professional values in society. Devast is a tragedy whose skilled efforts to aid the troubled Alan Strang leave the psychiatrist with the feeling of being chained.

Annie's problem revolves around her obsessive worship or horses. 'Equus' means 'horse' in Latin, became the title of the play. Alan come to believe that 'Equus', that is, all horses, is Jesus. His horse-banks him indefatigably with pious readings, driving him to equate Jesus with 'Equus' in both that were literally identified with the will of his father. The play reaches its highest intensity when Alan bring a horse to his 'sacred' horse stables. Even though he denies to Alan cannot love the horse as a horse, being a horse is none of these. Equus

Dr. Miller's set design also contributed to the creation of a tension between Alan's fantasy world and the real world. The revolving circular platform at center stage doubled as the examination room and the setting for Alan's reenactment of his biennial ride.

The lighting design by Thomas C. Miller helped immensely to set the mood throughout the performance. The dreamlike quality served to unify each act and as a common ground for the entire play. Miller's set design also contributed to the creation of a tension between Alan's fantasy world and the real world. The revolving circular platform at center stage doubled as the examination room and the setting for Alan's reenactment of his biennial ride.

We’re Fisher Controls Company and as a world leader in the process control industry we are constantly seeking engineers to help us provide answers to our customers’ needs. We have the unique advantage of being a leader in our field while still maintaining a small-company atmosphere. And while the technical demands of an engineering career with Fisher are high, our recruiting interests emphasize a well-rounded individual with good communication skills.

Our products include a complete line of mechanical process control valves, regulators and instrumentation systems manufactured in 19 countries and sold through 110 sales offices world-wide. Our customers represent the Petroleum, Chemical, Pulp & Paper, Food Processing, Mining, Primary Metals and Power Generation industries.

An engineer at Fisher might work with any one of the following problems our customers bring to us:

• What type of control valves and pneumatic control instrumentation do you use on an offshore drilling platform located in the North Sea?
• What special material and design considerations are required for a 15,000 lb. control valve that will determine the electrical power output from a nuclear reactor?

We are looking for Mechanical, Electrical, Industrial and Chemical engineers for career opportunities in Research, Design, Manufacturing Engineering, Sales Engineering, Technical Writing and Marketing areas.

If you are a junior, senior or graduate student in any one of those fields, plan to attend an informal presentation (refreshments provided) scheduled for 7:00 p.m., October 31 in the Shamrock Room at the Morris Inn. Two of our college recruiters, engineers themselves, will be there to answer any questions you might have about a career at Fisher.

Our campus interviews for fall and spring graduates will take place Nov. 1. Please see your placement office for scheduling details.
Volleyball looks for recognition

by Beth Hoffman
Women's Sports Editor

When Beth Larocca came to Notre Dame her freshman year, volleyball was just an interest group. Larocca says that since then she has been "bugging everybody about volleyball.

Chiefsly through Larocca's efforts that interest group is now in its third year as a club sport. One of the many hassles Larocca and the club have encountered in the past three years is the tabling of the club's petition for varsity status. As a club sport volleyball receives just $4000 a year for expenses. The team does not have a paid coach so in the past years it has relied on the volunteer efforts of Sandy Vangleere and Mel and Sue Goralz.

"Most of the club's allotted funds this year have gone toward equipment. The club has purchased a referee's stand, new game balls and many other necessities, but much money must be reserved for paying match officials and traveling expenses. "All of the other teams we play are varsity and it shows," says Larocca of the club's uniform "situation. we look like we've got a pick-up game going on."

Astrid Horwedel, co-ordinator of Women's Athletics at Notre Dame, dug-up some matching jerseys for the club, but Larocca stresses that they are hardly adequate. The team members have purchased shorts on their own and new jerseys are currently on order. "We're playing with the idea of designing a t-shirt to sell.Boy's shirt and girl's shirt, " says Larocca. The club also has plans to rake and various other fund-raisers. Transportation is a major problem for volleyball. Club members must own their own transportation to away matches. In the past, the club has spent some of their funds to rent a van, but Larocca says that this is just too expensive. Another problem with van rental in the past was finding a member old enough (21) to sign the necessary forms.

The newly-purchased equipment has enabled the club to host its first home matches this year. But, facility problems still hamper the club. Practice and match time must rotate around the varsity teams. An added complication for the club is the temperature in the ACC; the hockey ice considerably cuts the arena and visiting teams.

With 6-6 record
Baseball team closes fall slate

by Bill Margward
Sports Writer

"We had a lot of ups and downs in our fall season this year," remarks Notre Dame baseball coach Tom Kelly as he looks back on the last month and a half of baseball.

Yet coach Kelly's words may have been somewhat of an understatement when one considers the 5-1 start the team jumped out to before dipping to its final 6-6 autumn mark.

"We certainly proved to ourselves and to other teams that we can play with the good teams, but we also found that concentration was a key factor when we play those good teams.

"You can't let up for a minute in this game," adds the fifth-year head coach.

One of those good teams was undoubtedly Illinois State, whom the Irish dropped a 6-5 twinbill to on Sunday afternoon at Jerry Zenger Field.

The Irish jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the first inning of the opener. But five quick Illinois State runs in the top of the second frame sealed Notre Dame's fate as the 5-1 score mood at the end of the contest.

In this neighborhood, the Irish fought back from an early 3-0 deficit to take a 4-3 lead in the fourth inning on a Greg Rodeme sacrifice fly and a bases-clearing triple by George Lams.

But Illinois State slipped past the Irish with a three-run outburst of their own in the fifth, and Notre Dame's two rallies in the bottom of that frame came up short as the Irish absorbed a 7-6 defeat.

"A big inning here or there really made the difference this fall," remarks Kelly.

"Overall, I think we played well, but it was those brief lapses that hurt us.

So with the autumn season now over, what does Kelly see as the weak points that will need work this winter?

"We'll be pushing hard about execution," Kelly says.

"You take a calculated risk in the fall because you cannot place adequate emphasis on all aspects of the game because practice time is so short.

"But I can see several bright spots. This fall definitely demonstrated that you are as good as your pitching, and I see the core of a good staff if everyone can stay healthy.

"Offensively, the hits were there, but the power really wasn't. "We got the bar on the ball, but unfortunately we hit it at someone," conceded Kelly.

"We struck out relatively few times, which is encouraging--we just have to get more from our bats.

In the 12 autumn games, Irish batters only struck out 10 times, just over three batters a game.

"Just putting the ball in play puts you at an advantage because it makes your opponent work for them.

With three months off now until the winter workout begins, Kelly closes the scoreboard on another fall season with mixed emotions.

"Naturally I like to finish strong, but our recent performance indicates that our players are going to have to make up their minds to work hard to achieve that success. We have a lot of preparation physically and mentally before next spring.

A closet rab-rah goes public

There he goes again, they're saying, picking USC to beat Notre Dame just to attract attention. Sorry, folks, but that kind of attention I can do without. I got more than enough of it when the USC to beat Notre Dame just to attract attention.

Irish beat Michigan and Michigan State.

There is one thing, though, that people don't seem to understand. The predictions which do well. Probably when you walked into the classroom, you thought you wouldn't do very well. But...
