Two campus groups mobilize in Cambodian refugee aid effort

Two campus organizations have mobilized efforts in an attempt to provide spiritual and financial support for the pitiful Cambodian masses.

One group, the Students Concerned for Cambodia, plans a campus-wide dinner fund and a free Nazir concert to be held on Monday, Nov. 19. The committee has also planned to hold direct collections, both at the dining halls and before the Glessner game.

Another organization, represented by Kremen's Squire Richard Conyers, has coordinated an effort called the "Cambodian Response" which will employ temporary residents in door-to-door solicitation for contributions. Conyers' group has also planned to hold direct collections on campus and a mass to be celebrated by Fr. Hesburgh on Friday, Nov. 10 at 5 p.m. in the Student Center.

The official Iranian statement announced last week by President Carter, that the Iranians will not be freed until Iran's request is returned to Iran to stand trial, has been construed by many as a good sign. General Kurt Waldheim, who conferred with U.N. Secretary of Nations last week condemned the incident.

"It has all happened so quickly, we have barely had time to catch our breath," said Sr. Olivia Marie, who is in charge of the trip.

Abolhassan Bani Sadr, was one of the leaders of the Iranian Revolution. A member of the Islamic, he left Waldheim's town house today.

The Iranian decision to withdraw from the United Nations is not expected to prompt any substantial intervention in the crisis. But the U.S. State Department has offered to mediate the iran crisis.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was checked by an emergency freeze on Iranian funds order blocking Iranian government funds out of U.S. banks and re-deposit them in new banks. He said the Khomeini regime was checked by an emergency freeze on Iranian funds order blocking Iranian government funds out of U.S. banks and re-deposit them in new banks. He said the Khomeini regime was prepared to stage a military intervention in the Persian Gulf, in the Persian Gulf, to Bahrain, in the Persian Gulf,

The tremor was felt in Mashhad, 500 miles east of Tehran, but none of the famous domed mosques, tall minarets or other buildings in the holy city suffered any damage, according to the official Iranian news agency, Iran's foreign affairs chief, Bani Sadr, accused the United Nations of backing Iran's claim to Bahrain, in the Persian Gulf, for a military operation to free the hostages taken by the U.S. military in the Middle East. Bani Sadr said that his group's counteraction is strongly desirable, "We are not inclined to hold a meeting at any Iranian request."

By Mary Lenti

Sisters leave for Thailand

A group of Holy Cross Sisters left early this week for Bangkok, Thailand to work in a refugee camp with victims from Cambodia. The sisters volunteered for the job through Catholic Relief Service and will be working in the camp as nurses for at least three months.

"It has all happened so quickly, we have barely had time to catch our breath," said Sr. Olivia Marie, who is in charge of the trip.

"It is possible the death-toll will exceed 1,000," said Mohammad Ali Shirazi, reached by telephone from Nicosia, Cyprus.

"The quake measured 6.7 on the Richter scale," he said. "It shook a wide area of the province from Tabas, Ferodas and Gonabad and said 280 bodies were recovered in the quake's aftermath."

"It is possible the death-toll will exceed 1,000," said Mohammad Ali Shirazi, reached by telephone from Nicosia, Cyprus.

He said the Khomeini regime had decided to pull what he said was $12 billion in Iranian government funds out of U.S. banks and re-deposit them in banks of nations "friendly" to Iran. U.S. officials later said the amount involved was less than $6 billion.

"The reason for the emigrants' outpouring was to ensure that American financial claims against Iran would be paid," Miller said the freeze took effect before the Iranians could make any substantial transfers of funds.

"It is possible the death-toll will exceed 1,000," said Mohammad Ali Shirazi, reached by telephone from Nicosia, Cyprus.

"The reason for the emigrants' outpouring was to ensure that American financial claims against Iran would be paid," Miller said the freeze took effect before the Iranians could make any substantial transfers of funds.

The official Iranian Parsh news agency said the epicenter of the quake was 150 miles south of Mashhad. The official Iranian Parsh news agency said the epicenter of the quake was 150 miles south of Mashhad. The official Iranian Parsh news agency said the epicenter of the quake was 150 miles south of Mashhad.

"The reason for the emigrants' outpouring was to ensure that American financial claims against Iran would be paid," Miller said the freeze took effect before the Iranians could make any substantial transfers of funds.
News in brief

Oil companies' accounting methods underestimate profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three consumer groups said yesterday that their studies of oil companies' profits are at least 5 percent higher than officially reported. The groups said accounting methods used by the oil companies, although legitimate, end up understating profits in the companies' public reports. Other accounting practices provide more realistic, and much larger, profit figures, they said. The groups also said oil company acquisitions of other companies, both in and out of energy production, show that they are not using all of their available cash to develop additional oil and gas.

Hanson invents varied computerized sandwiches

DRAUT, Mass. (AP) — If you yearn for submarine sandwiches, but dread the lardly gravy spoon, Robert Hanson may have something for you: a computerized sandwich — measured, weighed and built without the touch of human hands. Hanson is working on a prototype of a machine that he says will put together those promotion sandwiches, called variously submarines or grinders, poor boy or hoagies. And the gizmo will respond to such gourmandish subtleties as whether or not the diner wants mayo or green peppers.

NASA proposes space mission to Halley's and Tempel 2 comets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is proposing an international space mission that would send a spacecraft to Halley's comet and then chase another one across the sky. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Monday the four-year mission to Halley's comet and Tempel 2 would return the first close-up pictures of these dazzling bodies — and significantly increase man's knowledge of the phenomena.

Although the project has not yet been approved by Congress, the space agency asked scientists to propose experiments so more detailed planning could begin. The spacecraft would be launched by the space shuttle in July 1985 to coincide with the long-anticipated return of Halley's Comet, last seen by observers on Earth in 1910.

Halley's, the most famous comet, a cold collection of ice, gases and dust which goes around the sun about once every 75 years. As it approaches the sun, it heats up and trailed a tail of dust and gas millions of miles long.

The mission calls for the craft to fly by Halley in November 1985 and launch an instrument-carrying probe to the head of the comet. This vehicle would sample comet material and make close-up pictures as it passed within 936 miles of the dense nucleus in the head.

After passing within 11,000 miles of Halley, the main craft would swing off to rendezvous with Tempel 2, a smaller comet that orbits the sun every 3.2 years. The spacecraft would close in on Tempel 2 a couple of years later and could be brought to within a mile of its nucleus.

If all goes well, the probe would remain with the comet for a year or more, obtaining detailed pictures and measurements on a journey around the sun.

NASA has asked the European Space Agency, a consortium of 11 nations, to build the small probe that would spin off of Halley's Comet.

NASA estimated the cost of the mission at $150 million to $170 million, depending on the experiments chosen. If ESA decides to join the project, it would pay about 20 percent of the mission cost in building the Halley probe, Herman said.

If you are interested in chairing the SENIOR CLASS TRIP for St. Mary's pick up an application form from the Student Activities Office in LeMans. Return by Tuesday, Nov. 20

Any questions call Susie Eckelkamp 264-4871

Weather

Variable cloudiness today, with a high in the upper 40s. Partly cloudy and not so cool tonight, with lows in the mid 30s. The high Friday will be near 60.

The Observer

Night Editor: Margaret Kreze
Asst. Night Editor: Deirdre Murphy
Copy Editor: John Ferroli, Kathy Casey
Layout Editor: Kathy Vix
Danny Tarullo
News Editor: Mark Roz
Editorial Layout: Colleen Shane
Features Layout: Chris Stali
Sports: Layout: Beth Hoffman
Sports Copy Editor: Michael Orman, Kate Huffman
Tyggest, Tina Terlask, Bill Swift, Kim Convey Deirdre Murphy
EMT: Marty Pippins and Mike Galvin
Proof Reader: Bruce Oakley
ND Day Editor: Patsy Campbell
SMC Day Editor: Peggy Schneeman
Ad Design: Joe Murphy
Photographer: Tom Jackson
Guest Apparitions: Ron Jackman
Patricia Tarullo

The Observer (USPS 956 100) is published Mondays by students of the University of Notre Dame. Subscription copy has been purchased for $1.00. Postmaster, Send address changes to The Observer, 322 W. MISHAWAKA 259-2833

BURN’S RENTALS

2 Cu. FT. Refrig. $55 per year

new shipments of refrigerators have just arrived

also TV’s Steamex Carpet Cleaner

10% off with student ID

LARGE BBQ GRILLS AUTO TOOLS

FLOOR CARE EQUIPMENT

332 W. MISHAWAKA 259-2833
GOP presidential candidates attack Carter's foreign policy

(AP) - Republicans Ronald Reagan and John Connally assailed President Carter's handling of U.S.-Soviet relations yesterday, but4d did not distance themselves from the president of making too many concessions to Moscow.

US., said that if elected, he will seek to reverse what he has called the nation's failing policy of "appeasement."

Connally, campaigning in South Carolina, said that if elected, he will seek to reverse what has become the nation's policy of "appeasement."

Connelly said a North Carolina-S.C. town hall audience that the United States should build up its military arsenal with both nuclear and conventional weapons.

"We're going to have to start looking after the interests of our own people, whatever the cost," said the one-time Democrat, a former Texas governor and treasury secretary.

"I am embarrassed and angered," Connally told. "But I don't think I ought to say too much because I don't know all the details and maneuvering that is going on to release the hostages. Once they are free, then I'm going to have to a lot to say about it.

Former CIA Director George Bush, a Republican presidential aspirant, issued a statement in Washington applauding Carter's decision to freeze Iranian government assets.

While the Republicans continued to seek grass-roots support among the people and within the GOP, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., campaigned in Minnesota - home state of Vice President Walter F. Mondale - in an effort to undercut support for a Carter-Mondale ticket next year.

OG students pick up phone directories

Off-Campus and graduate students Concerned for Cambodian refugees.

Students collect pledges for Cambodia

Students Concerned for Cambodia will be collecting signatures for a lunch and/or dinner fast today in both Notre Dame dining halls at dinner.

The fast will raise funds to be sent to Catholic Relief Services administering aid to Cambodian refugee camps.

The Observer Thursday, November 15, 1979 - page 3

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. farmers sold more than $500 million in food and animal feed to Iran over the past year, according to figures released yesterday. The American Farm Bureau Federation, the country's largest farm group, said that $823 million worth of agricultural exports went to Iran in 1979. This is the third year in a row that Iran has been the third largest buyer of U.S. agricultural products.

The Federation's annual report, released yesterday, showed that U.S. farmers exported $1.3 billion worth of agricultural products to Iran, making it the second largest importer of U.S. agricultural products. This is an increase of 33% from the $673 million worth of agricultural products exported to Iran in 1978.

The report noted that the U.S. and Iran have had a long history of agricultural trade, and that the two countries have a strong economic relationship.

The Federation's report also noted that Iran is a major importer of U.S. agricultural products, and that the country is a major market for U.S. farmers.

The report also noted that the U.S. and Iran have had a long history of agricultural trade, and that the two countries have a strong economic relationship.

The Federation's report also noted that Iran is a major importer of U.S. agricultural products, and that the country is a major market for U.S. farmers.

The report also noted that the U.S. and Iran have had a long history of agricultural trade, and that the two countries have a strong economic relationship.

The Federation's report also noted that Iran is a major importer of U.S. agricultural products, and that the country is a major market for U.S. farmers.

The report also noted that the U.S. and Iran have had a long history of agricultural trade, and that the two countries have a strong economic relationship.

The Federation's report also noted that Iran is a major importer of U.S. agricultural products, and that the country is a major market for U.S. farmers.
Sympathetic to PLO terrorism

Israel expels Arab mayor

TEL AVIV - Israel (AP) - The Israeli government reaffirmed its decision to expel the Arab mayor of Nablus, who authorized the mayors council to express sympathy with the Palestine Liberation Organization. The Cabinet decision brought a rash of resignations from Arab officials in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

By the end of the day, a spokesman for the West Bank military government said, all the elected officials of the West Bank's 25 towns had resigned.

Kenney and Lucey lead discussion

Dr. Paul Kenney and Dr. John Lucey will present a movie and discussion entitled "No Act of God" on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Library Auditorium. The Undergraduate Student Council for the College of Science will sponsor the presentation. Admission is free.

and the mayors and town councilmen of Gaza City and Khan Younis in the Gaza Strip had followed suit to express solidarity with the jailed Bassam Shakaa.

Although the occupied territories remained generally calm, police in Nablus discovered a time bomb and Israeli troops exploded it without problem, officials said.

Some youths threw rocks at Israeli cars in Nablus, where shops were closed for the fourth straight day in sympathy with the mayor, jailed Sunday without explanation.

Shakaa's case was considered as the highest level of Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government because of worries of violent protests in the West Bank if the Supreme Court denies Shakaa's pending appeal and he is expelled.

But the government also was concerned that it would appear weak if it rescinded its decision to banish the firebrand mayor. "If it was decided to leave as is the decision regarding the procedures for the expulsion of Bassam Shakaa," Begin's aide, Ephraim Poran, said after a meeting in Jerusalem of the Cabinet ministerial defense committee.

In Cairo, Prime Minister Mustafa Khalid expressed concern the Shakaa case would increase tension in the occupied territories during negotiations on Palestinian autonomy.

"Israel pledged at Camp David to take measures to restore confidence between and the Palestinians living in the West Bank and Gaza, but instead it is taking provocative actions that absolutely do not lead to that," Khalid said after a Cabinet meeting.

Egyptian negotiators met with Israeli and American officials in Tel Aviv for a working session on the autonomy plan for the West Bank and Gaza.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was quoted as saying Tuesday that expected the autonomy question to be solved within three months.

In Beirut, a statement issued by the Palestinian Liberation Organization exhorted West Bank Palestinians to "escalate struggle against the Israeli enemy," and called on the mayors to act collectively.

The case against Shakaa developed last week after the mayor told an Israeli government security official that he understood the reasons for Palestinian terror raids in Israel, including the March 1978 coastal road massacre in which 34 Israelis were killed.

Many Israelis were enraged at Shakaa's remarks, but he said the government twisted his words and he denied making pro-terrorist remarks.

Off campus discusses security

The Off-campus Council will sponsor a crime prevention meeting at the North East Neighborhood Center on the corner of Notre Dame and South Bend Avenues today at 6 p.m. Representatives of the police department will discuss protecting off-campus homes and apartments.

Logan Center needs student tickets

Students, faculty, or staff who wish to donate their football tickets so that children from Logan Center and Big Brother/Big Sisters may attend the Clemson game may drop them off during dinner all this week at the dining halls. Off-campus students who wish to donate their tickets can drop them off at Volunteer Services in LaFortune.

---

INSTY Prints

need printing in a hurry?

100 - 11 x 17 posters only $10.00

203 N. Main South Bend 289-6977

the wiz of the printing biz!

Vegetable buddies

STREAMWINNER

The Stroh Brewery Company, Detroit, Michigan © 1978
Dean of Engineering

Hogan plans resignation

Joseph C. Hogan, who became the University of Notre Dame's seventh dean of engineering in 1967, will resign in 1981. Professor Timothy O'Meara, provost, announced yesterday. Hogan said his faculty, that the most important of his priorities—new facilities for the college that had been accomplished with the dedication last month of the $8.3 million Fitzpatrick Hall of Engineering, which he called "a milestone in the history of engineering at Notre Dame."

In the undergraduate area, the development of a core curriculum has had a major impact, he continued. We now have an excellent undergraduate enrollment base compared to the dangerously low enrollments in the early 1970s. Research activities have increased from $300,000 in 1967 to more than $2 million in new grants in fiscal 1979. During this period we have strengthened the faculty and provided new leadership in each department chairman. The visibility of the college in the industrial world has also grown. I now believe it is time for a change for both me and the college.

Soon after he became dean at Notre Dame, Hogan reorganized the college curriculum to increase efficiency and eliminate duplication of effort. Students now progress from general "core" courses to highly specialized departmental courses. Hogan began his tenure with about 840 engineering majors. The number began falling the next year and reached a low of about 690 in 1972 before beginning to climb again. Today, 1,143 engineering students plus some 840 freshmen who intend to choose an engineering major make up 22 percent of Notre Dame's total undergraduate population of 6,800. In addition, 142 students are working on master's degree programs. The college's 86 faculty members are distributed among six departments: aerospace and mechanical, chemical, civil, electrical, and metallurgical engineering, and architecture.

Hogan has encouraged efforts to increase the numbers of women and minority students in engineering, and during his tenure the college has developed several programs whose target groups range from junior high school to postbaccalaureate students. The dean was instrumental in founding the National Consortium for Graduate Degrees in Minorities in Engineering in 1976, and he serves as a co-chairman and chairman of the Board of Directors of the organization, whose central office is located at Notre Dame.

In my hope that Dean Hogan will remain on the faculty and that he will continue to be of service in the College of Engineering and the University, O'Meara said in a letter to engineering faculty: "He has been a tough and dynamic leader, one who has accomplished essentially all he set out to do and now believes the time has come for new blood in the leadership of the college and new challenges for himself."

Hogan said the new Fitzpatrick Hall dramatically reconfirms the University's commitment to engineering education and research. Nearly twice as large as the contiguous Cushing Hall of Engineering, built in 1913, the new five-level, 35,000-square-foot building brings most of the college's facilities together under one roof for the first time in many years.

O'Meara said a search committee for a new dean would be appointed and begin its work next semester.

Hogan came to Notre Dame from the University of Missouri, where he taught electrical engineering for 15 years before becoming its engineering dean in 1966. The 57-year-old native of St. Louis, Mo., received a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Washington University in 1943, a master's degree from the University of Missouri in 1949, and a doctorate from the University of Wisconsin in 1953.

---

Health Department verifies cleanliness of SMC pool

by Kelly Sullivan

Iron deposits along the Regenstein walkway system have derailed many Saint Mary's students from swimming recently. Apparently, Peterson explained that iron pipes in the pool's circulation system were exposed to air while the pool was repaired over October break. When maintenance refilled the pool, a cloud of iron dust was released into the water. Maintenance used chlorine to treat the water, but apparently, Peterson said, the pool was "overtreated," causing a reaction with the iron that resulted in the deposits along the walls.

Maintenance assured swimmers that the water is not harmful. It's just fine for swimming. Pool water samples are sent to St. Joseph County's Health Dept. every two weeks. So far, we've never had a bad report.

In response to charges of inadequate pool filtering system, Peterson said that filters were not responsible for the mishap. The pool's filtering system is one of the finest on the market," he said. Although the school's pumps own the pool, the college is responsible for maintaining the cleanliness and sanitation of the water.

Local ski areas offer passes

The St. Joseph County Parks and Recreation Department has season passes for downhill skiing and special pre-season discounts are in effect until tomorrow. Season passes are available for children (under 12), adults, and families. Cross country trail season passes are also available for the county parks. Individual passes are $7.50, and family passes are $20.00. Applications and park information are available at the parks office (Benedix Woods and St. Patrick's County Parks), all local ski shops or by calling 654-3155.

ATTENTION OFF-CAMPUS STUDENTS

If your house or apartment has been ripped-off and you don't want to let it happen again or if you haven't been ripped-off and you wouldn't like to keep it that way, please attend a special meeting dealing with this serious problem.

When: Thursday, Nov. 15th, 6:00 pm
Where: North East Neighborhood Association Fire House (corner of N.D. and South Bend Avenues) in the upstairs meeting room.

Housing Administrators and the cops will be there. We got to tell them about the current O.C crime situation because it has got to stop!

---

Sunshine Promotions & Monarch Entertainment Present

THE GRATEFUL DEAD

Friday, December 7 8:00pm
Indianapolis Convention Center

Tickets are now on sale exclusively in South Bend at River City Records, 50970 U.S. 31 North-3 miles north of campus

FOR THE BEST POUR MAKE IT MILLER IN BUCKETS
WASHINGTON (AP) - The House voted Wednesday to prohibit the Federal Trade Commission from compelling the funeral industry to give up their prices over the telephone when asked. It also would make illegal certain practices deemed to be unfair, such as requiring caskets for cremation.

The vote was denounced by consumer groups, which are opposing a tide in Congress running against the FTC. The agency has raised the ire of anti-industry bias and questioned the FTC's legitimacy.

A 49-year-old PLO chief often complained after the Lebanon civil war, which diverted him, for good, from his political moves appear doomed, he adopts the terror-war option, often because the more militant of those around him are pressuring him.

The observer...

VOTE FAVORS MORTICIANS

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House voted Wednesday to prohibit the funeral industry from federal regulation, a step some say will come to a final vote later. The Senate has not acted on any such amendment.

The amendment was attached to an FTC authorization bill that would come to a final vote later. The Senate has not acted on any such amendment.

The Senate has not acted on any such amendment. The American people want less intervention in their daily lives and less of a federal burden on the backs of small business, which most of the funeral industry is," Russo said. "We also criticized the FTC for anti-industry bias and questioned procedures used by the agency.

The proposed FTC regulation, which is awaiting final action by the commission, would require funeral homes to give out their prices over the telephone when asked. It also would make illegal certain practices deemed to be unfair, such as requiring caskets for cremation.

The vote was denounced by consumer groups, which are opposing a tide in Congress running against the FTC. The agency has raised the ire of various industries because of its vigorous consumer protection regulations.

PLO attempts to win support in West; seeks alternative to bloodletting

While Yasser Arafat prepares a new generation of potential martyrs in the guerrilla war against Israel, his Palestine Liberation Organization is going all out to polish its image and win support in the West.

The ultimate aim of this policy may be to seek a political alternative to the incessant bloodletting. Arafat's offer to intercede for American hostages held by Iranian revolutionaries in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran is one more step in his bridge-building campaign to win friends and supporters among Israel's traditional supporters.

In recent months, this policy has forged links in Western Europe and gained some public relations mileage in the United States, stronghold of Israel's international support. Recent history has demonstrated, however, that such bridges can collapse overnight in the wake of a Palestinian terrorist strike. Alternating his roles between guerrilla leader and international mediator has been the hallmark of Arafat's mercurial leadership and the key to his own survival within the diverse Palestinian movement.

A pattern is evident: When Arafat foresees clear rewards on the political front, he does his statesman's cap, as he is doing now. When political moves appear doomed, he adopts the terror-war option, often because the more militant of those around him are pressuring him.

The 49-year-old PLO chief often complained after the Lebanon civil war, which diverted him, for good, from his political moves. He is now laying the groundwork for an organization, which reads itself as a liberation movement. Arafat warmly greeted a delegation of black American leaders in Beirut last month and has been promoting an overall Arab strategy of developing economic and military links with the United States as a hedge against Israeli aggression.

For Governor race

Hillenbrand declares

John A. Hillenbrand got his gubernatorial campaign off the ground today, literally - with a flying tour of Indiana, spread­ ing the news that he is offically a candidate for the 1980 Demo­ cratic nomination.

After more than a year of testing the political waters, Hillenbrand formally declared his candidacy during a Demo­ cratic rally in Indianapolis on Wednesday. He planned simi­ lar announcements over a two-day swing through five Hoosier cities and Louisville.

Today's itinerary called for the Batesville businessman to visit Anderson, Muncie, Kokomo, Fort Wayne, South Bend and Highland. He'll wind up the trip on Friday, traveling to Lafayette, Terre Haute, Louis­ ville and Evansville.

For his or her..
Editorials

The Iranian threat

A modest proposal

Paul Lauer

A MODEST PROPOSAL for preventing the students of Iran from being a threat to America and hence benefiting the public is, I believe, sufficiently obvious. The first step would be to persuade the Iranian government to allow the students to return to their homes. This would have the advantage of weakening the Iranian government by removing a significant portion of its support. It would also help to improve the image of Iran in the world, thereby reducing the risk of another Middle Eastern conflict.

The next step would be to offer the students of Iran a fair, cheap and easy method of making a living. This could be done by offering them a fair share of the profits from the sale of oil. The government of Iran could then use this money to fund educational programs and social services.

In addition to these measures, the United States could also take steps to reduce the demand for oil. This could be done by encouraging the development of alternative energy sources, such as wind and solar power.

In conclusion, I believe that a modest proposal for preventing the students of Iran from being a threat to America would be to persuade the Iranian government to allow the students to return to their homes, to offer them a fair, cheap and easy method of making a living, and to reduce the demand for oil.

The last idealist

Colman McCarthy

In the late 1960s, the United States was embroiled in a war in Vietnam, and the idealism of the time was evident in the anti-war movement. This period was characterized by a sense of idealism and a desire for social change.

However, as the war dragged on, the idealism of the time began to fade. The Vietnam War was a cruel and senseless conflict, and it was clear that the United States was not winning.

In recent years, the idealism of the time has been replaced by a more realistic outlook. The problems facing the world today are complex and difficult, and it is clear that there is no easy solution.

But the idealism of the time was not without its value. It helped to create a sense of community and purpose, and it inspired people to work towards a better future.

In conclusion, I believe that the idealism of the time was not without its value. It helped to create a sense of community and purpose, and it inspired people to work towards a better future.

The Observer

Box Q Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame de la Live and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution in any way. Opinions are expressed as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinions of a majority of the Editor. The Editorial Board Comments opinions and letters are the views of the entire Board.

The last idealist

Colman McCarthy

higher office and many in the media who claim that it means something, has little appeal for Hesburgh. It helps me to express a personal satis- faction. He has a new book out, but I doubt the effect. The book didn't allude to it once in our 1975 conversation.

In Washington, Hesburgh has a reputation among the politicians, or at least the ones who have an ideal or two left, as a man the consultant can rely on to take on the hard ones: civil rights, Vietnam, amnesty, the volunteer army, global hunger, human rights. Every President of the United States has read him for help.

Hesburgh also works on commissions, foundations, and councils, and is a source of encouragement and moral support to others who are working for justice. And he is a man who can be relied upon to speak for what he believes is right.

I would like to make a contribution to the United Way Campaign, the December 17th, rather than wait until next spring, and it has on my conscience that I'm not doing enough to help others.

This year, I have the least personal interest in my country's foreign policy, or in Nicaragua with Somoza, or in the United Nations. Hesburgh has had success as a liberal, because much of it is anonymous. Every President of the United States gets a failure, and it is up to the people to judge how well they have done. Hesburgh has never been a failure.

He has also been a successful liberal because much of it is anonymous. Every President of the United States gets a failure, and it is up to the people to judge how well they have done. Hesburgh has never been a failure.

Hesburgh's work on commissions, foundations, and councils, and is a source of encouragement and moral support to others who are working for justice. And he is a man who can be relied upon to speak for what he believes is right.
The early 1960's on the San Francisco peninsula were years of musical as well as cultural change, out of which emerged MOTHER McCREE'S UPTOWN JUG CHAMPIONS in 1964. The jug band was Jerry Garcia, Ron McKernan, Bob Weir, Bob Mathews (who later formed Aleebe), an electronic equipment development firm which sustains the Grateful Dead sound systems), John Dawson (Marma duke, the New Riders of the Purple Sage), and, on occasion, David Parker on washboard. This jug band played the coffee houses and bars of Palo Alto and the peninsula, but it became increasingly apparent that a jug band wasn't all that exciting to listen to. Pigpen (McKernan) had been involved with Janis Joplin playing in small blues clubs and earlier with Bill Kreutzmann in a rock band call THE ZODIACS. Under Pigpen's influence, the jug band went electric and changed their name to THE WARLOCKS. Kreutzmann replaced Dawson and played drums while Garcia offered the electric bass to Phil Lesh.

Garcia had met Lesh five years earlier. He had a thorough classical musical education, was a jazz trumpeter, violinist and radio engineer involved with composing twelve-tone serial, electronic music. At Garcia's request, Lesh learned to play the bass and two weeks later (his aptness at mastering the bass in two weeks is testimony to his tremendous musical talent) THE WARLOCKS were ready to play some rock and roll.

It was 1965 and THE WARLOCKS had a line-up of: Garcia (guitar, vocals) Weir (rhythm guitar, vocals), Pigpen (keyboards), Lesh (bass, vocals), and Kreutzmann (drums). The band's rock and roll music began to take on less conventional forms: the more they played the more they were in demand at the most prominent of rock festivals. This was to be a very creative year for the band.

The SAN FRANCISCO BAND was formed in 1964. The jug band was playing at the Fillmore East and West, and in 1970 began to play in some of the best of the best of the San Francisco musical scene, the Grateful Dead. The jug band was Jerry Garcia and has been called THE PRINCE OF PARADISE. The San Francisco musical scene was being created by the Grateful Dead. The jug band was Jerry Garcia and has been called THE PRINCE OF PARADISE.

Two albums followed in 1969 as the Dead were the first musicians to use the 16-track recorder producing Aoxomoxoa in the studio, and Live Dead from recent concerts. Live Dead was the band's first attempt at providing recordings of the Dead's full-time live track concerts. The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The period of 1971 through 1974 marked this album which contained the "hit" song "Truckin'." This was a very creative and yet difficult time for the Dead; 'Truckin'' is a musical representation of the Dead's escapades and mishaps throughout the year.

The San Francisco band with the great concert reputation had taken an important step toward building a super recording name in 1970. The period of 1971 through 1974 was one of expansion and experiment for the group. Seeking to bring their music to a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, The Grateful Dead (Skull and Roses), was released in 1971. Composed of free-flowing live tracks, this album is electrified with the very talented Garcia guitar work. This was the band's first gold album despite the objections to its release by Warner Brothers.

Pigpen became seriously ill with a stomach and liver ailment by the end of 1970 and was hospitalized. By the end of 1971 the Dead's long-time friend, was by this time the Dead's full-time lyricist writing the lyrics for the album while Garcia and Lesh composed the music. The end of 1970 drew near as the band released another studio gem, American Beauty. Well written, night tracks marked this album which contained the "hit" song "Truckin'." This was a very creative and yet difficult time for the Dead; 'Truckin'' is a musical representation of the Dead's escapades and mishaps throughout the year. The San Francisco band with the great concert reputation had taken an important step toward building a super recording name in 1970. The period of 1971 through 1974 was one of expansion and experiment for the group. Seeking to bring their music to a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.

The Dead's second live double album, American Beauty, was released in 1970. The band faced a vastly greater number of people, the band incorporated another of their innovations to the tours, the concept of high quality live stereo broadcasts. They still played the small intimate halls but now large concerts were possible with fine sound.
In 1978 the Grateful Dead fulfilled an old personal dream of playing at the Great Pyramid in Egypt. The band had hoped to use one of the large interior chambers of the pyramid as a natural means of reverberation adding a certain mystic element to their already spiritual Blues For Allah songs. The technical difficulties encountered with this natural reverb turned out to be insurmountable, even for Ramrod (Grateful Dead equipment manager), and the idea had to be scrapped once in Egypt: a large portion of the success of the pyramid concerts is due to Ramrod. Every piece of equipment needed to pre-open the show had to be catalogued and flown into the country, including enough electrical generators to power the Dead's substantial amplifiers and lighting equipment. You just can't go to the store in Egypt and buy a new woofer or tweeter with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests.

In April and May 1974, the band played at Madison Square Garden, Chicago, and at the Madison Square Garden concerts where they were the 15th to receive the Garden's Gold Ticket Award for the sale of 100,000 tickets. Keith and Donna Godchaux left the group and the Dead were joined by keyboard player and vocalist Brent Mydland, who had previously played with the Bob Weir Band. Mydland has contributed to their current album, produced by Gary Lyons and due for release shortly on Arista Records.

The almost fantastic musical sounds created by the Dead during the era of the famed Winterland concerts in 1974, which formed the basis for "The Grateful Dead Movie," the photo is taken from the actual footage of the motion picture. There are so many more facts and figures impressive figures at this, but they cannot truly represent the band and its relationship with its fans. The fans have come and gone and yet the Grateful Dead remain, their cult of followers even stronger than before. This magical attraction between the band and their followers is due to the Dead Heads to travel huge distances to experience a concert, to sing along, to inflict allegiance to the band quite remarkable in these times of musical metamorphosis.

The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eights studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesjack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

* * *

"Events like the Oakland Coliseum Benefit Against Environmental Cancer," at favorite theaters like the Capitol and, and at the Madison Square Garden concerts where they were the 15th to receive the Garden's Gold Ticket Award for the sale of 100,000 tickets. Keith and Donna Godchaux left the group and the Dead were joined by keyboard player and vocalist Brent Mydland, who had previously played with the Bob Weir Band. Mydland has contributed to their current album, produced by Gary Lyons and due for release shortly on Arista Records.

"Sometimes we wave no particular way but our own. Sometimes we visit your country and live in your homes. Sometimes we ride horses. Sometimes we walk alone. Sometimes the songs that we hear are just songs of our own."

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Hunters (Garcia)

The almost fantastic musical sounds created by the Grateful Dead during the era of the famed Winterland concerts in 1974, which formed the basis for "The Grateful Dead Movie," the photo is taken from the actual footage of the motion picture. There are so many more facts and figures impressive figures at this, but they cannot truly represent the band and its relationship with its fans. The fans have come and gone and yet the Grateful Dead remain, their cult of followers even stronger than before. This magical attraction between the band and their followers is due to the Dead Heads to travel huge distances to experience a concert, to sing along, to inflict allegiance to the band quite remarkable in these times of musical metamorphosis.

"Events like the Oakland Coliseum Benefit Against Environmental Cancer," at favorite theaters like the Capitol and, and at the Madison Square Garden concerts where they were the 15th to receive the Garden's Gold Ticket Award for the sale of 100,000 tickets. Keith and Donna Godchaux left the group and the Dead were joined by keyboard player and vocalist Brent Mydland, who had previously played with the Bob Weir Band. Mydland has contributed to their current album, produced by Gary Lyons and due for release shortly on Arista Records.

"Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own. The Dead became tired of devoting the necessary time and attention to their own label and in 1976 they signed a recording contract with Arista Records. The move, they hoped, would allow them to avoid the inevitable inflationary hassles associated with a record label and allow more time to pursue creative interests. Their eight studio album, Terrapin Station, released in 1977, was the first Dead album produced by an outside producer, Keith Olsen (who had produced FLEETWOOD MAC's Shakesack Street, the latest Dead album released earlier), was produced by Lowell George (LITTLE FEAT) and released in 1978. It was the first Dead album recorded at the band's own studio and rehearsal hall. Garcia had first used it to record Cars Under The Stars (1977) with the JERRY GARCIA BAND. At this time also the BOB WEIR BAND recorded Heaven Help the Fool (1978) with Keith Olsen.

Eyes of the World
Hunters (Garcia)

Sometimes the songs we hear are just songs of our own.
Students protest

Banners displayed on several Notre Dame buildings yesterday publicize student dissatisfaction with the situation in Iran. [Photos by Tom Jackman]

Hard to find Records?

Go to Just for the Record, whose new specialty record mart (thousands of collectors albums and cutouts) will open SOON at LOEW'S Merchandise Mart. Next to bus station, downtown.

10% OFF all vitamins & health foods

with ND-SMC ID

HEALTH FOODS

NATURAL VITAMINS

SEARS HEALTH FOOD DEPT

UNIVERSITY PARK MALL
6501 GRAPE RD. AT U.S. 23
SOUTH BEND

DO YOU KNOW THESE GIRLS?

Last seen on Friday at the Eminent Victorian Lounge above The Ice House and are expected to be there every Friday entertaining from 5:00 - 7:00, Happy Hour - 4-6 Daily.

HOLY CROSS FATHERS - UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME

A community of faith and friendship where young men prepare to become Holy Cross Priests.

For further information, write Father Andre Lavelle, CSC Box 541 Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

St. Louis Club offers ride

The St. Louis Club is again offering its members a ride line for Thanksgiving here. Drivers and riders should call 753-4 as soon as possible. St. Louisans are reminded that dues should be paid before arrangements can be made.

...Sisters

[continued from page 1]

the sisters will be working will be very primitive. There is no hospital space available in Bangkok. The most the nurses can expect for their patients is a mat on the floor and maybe some sort of roof overhead.

Despite these conditions, the Holy Cross Sisters are excited about their undertaking.

"It is in the tradition of the sisters here to help out in times like these," said Bertrand.

"We volunteered during the Civil War, which is how we got our start in nursing. Helping the Cambodian refugees is simply in keeping with our tradition."

Because of this tradition, volunteering was not a hard choice for the nuns to make.

"The circumstances are far from pleasant, but we feel privileged to be able to help," said Bertrand.

All transportation and expenses for the volunteers are being paid for by the Catholic Relief Service. In addition, the World Hunger Coalition donated $1,500 and Bishop McManus donated $5,000 from a special collection taken up at a Notre Dame mass on Sunday. Money will also be collected at the SMC dining hall the rest of this week to donate to the Catholic Relief Service.

...Quake

[continued from page 1]

near Qaen, about 60 miles west of the border with Afghanistan.

Shirazi said army helicopters rushed relief teams and supplies to the stricken areas as well as troops to help in the rescue operations. Their helicopter flew the injured to hospitals in the nearest towns.

In a Tehran Radio broadcast Khomeini said:

"I have received tragic and frightening reports on the earthquake in Khorasan and the extensive losses in property and lives... I call on it (the nation) to take immediate steps... This tragedy requires everyone's help...

Earthquakes are frequent in Iran, often taking many lives. A quake measuring 6.7 on the Richter scale struck about 270 miles south of Mashhad Jan. 16, killing about 200 persons, injuring many others and leveling hundreds of structures.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. A quake measuring six can cause severe damage. A quake registering seven represents a "major" quake capable of widespread, heavy damage.

MASS followed by supper every Fri.

CANCELLLED BECAUSE OF THE MASS FOR THE CAMBODIAN PEOPLE at 5 P.M......

BULLA SHELF

5:15 pm

St. Louis Club offers ride

The St. Louis Club is again offering its members a ride line for Thanksgiving here. Drivers and riders should call 753-4 as soon as possible. St. Louisans are reminded that dues should be paid before arrangements can be made.

...Sisters

[continued from page 1]

the sisters will be working will be very primitive. There is no hospital space available in Bangkok. The most the nurses can expect for their patients is a mat on the floor and maybe some sort of roof overhead.

Despite these conditions, the Holy Cross Sisters are excited about their undertaking.

"It is in the tradition of the sisters here to help out in times like these," said Bertrand.

"We volunteered during the Civil War, which is how we got our start in nursing. Helping the Cambodian refugees is simply in keeping with our tradition."

Because of this tradition, volunteering was not a hard choice for the nuns to make.

"The circumstances are far from pleasant, but we feel privileged to be able to help," said Bertrand.

All transportation and expenses for the volunteers are being paid for by the Catholic Relief Service. In addition, the World Hunger Coalition donated $1,500 and Bishop McManus donated $5,000 from a special collection taken up at a Notre Dame mass on Sunday. Money will also be collected at the SMC dining hall the rest of this week to donate to the Catholic Relief Service.
Women discuss problems

by Rosie Lawrrence

Seventeen women who are disillusioned with Notre Dame's treatment of women met in the library lounge yesterday afternoon.

Renée Leuchter, a senior in American Studies, called the meeting in order to "confirm my suspicions that I was not alone in my feelings about a woman's position at Notre Dame, an institution dominated by males, women encountering unfamiliar situations which they find frustrating, she said.

Women are the most under-represented minority on campus," said Leuchter. "We are reluctant to express our ideas. At the session progressed, however, the women opened up to each other.

The main concern of the group was maintaining the interest of the women. There have been several attempts in the past to form similar groups, but each has failed for various reasons.

Most of the women favored setting a specific time and place for meeting every week. Leuchter said she would announce the exact time and place as soon as she could determine them.

It was also suggested that Notre Dame women could make use of the program at Saint Mary's in order to make up for the lack of them at Notre Dame. The general opinion, however, was that although the Saint Mary's program is very good, it does not deal with some of the difficulties facing Notre Dame women. These would include problems women encounter in a predominantly male atmosphere, in the classroom or the job situation.

Leuchter pointed out that the Women's Advisory Council deals with the specifics of living at Notre Dame, such as security and housing. The consciousness-raising group would deal with psychological and social problems. One such problem is how to deal with sexist or unflattering remarks made by professors who do not realize that such behavior persists.

Most of the women said they came because they were not happy with the way they are being treated at Notre Dame. They wanted to understand the other side of the story.

Many of the women appeared to agree with Leuchter, when she said, "I'm tired of fighting shot against so many unreachable men. Maybe a group will have a little more power than an individual does."

The group plans to attend a luncheon meeting next Monday with Dean Weggen from 12 to 1 in room 351 of O'Shaughnessy Hall. The tentative chosen. Leuchter said she would announce the exact time and place as soon as she could determine them.

The Observer Thursday, November 15, 1979 - page 11

Registers ready today

Notre Dame students may pick up their copies of the Freshman Register today in the Student Union offices, 2nd floor LaFortune, from 1-5 p.m. The registers were delayed because the company encountered unforeseen production problems.

Several attempts in the past to form similar groups, but each has failed for various reasons. Most of the women favored setting a specific time and place for meeting every week. Leuchter said she would announce the exact time and place as soon as she could determine them.

It was also suggested that Notre Dame women could make use of the program at Saint Mary's in order to make up for the lack of them at Notre Dame. The general opinion, however, was that although the Saint Mary's program is very good, it does not deal with some of the difficulties facing Notre Dame women. These would include problems women encounter in a predominantly male atmosphere, in the classroom or the job situation.

Leuchter pointed out that the Women's Advisory Council deals with the specifics of living at Notre Dame, such as security and housing. The consciousness-raising group would deal with psychological and social problems. One such problem is how to deal with sexist or unflattering remarks made by professors who do not realize that such behavior persists.

Most of the women said they came because they were not happy with the way they are being treated at Notre Dame. They wanted to understand the other side of the story.

Many of the women seemed to agree with Leuchter, when she said, "I'm tired of fighting shot against so many unreachable men. Maybe a group will have a little more power than an individual does."

The group plans to attend a luncheon meeting next Monday with Dean Weggen from 12 to 1 in room 351 of O'Shaughnessy Hall.

The Committee on Public Policy Studies is a formal academic unit of The University of Chicago offering a two year master's degree program* which focuses on preparation of students for a wide variety of professional careers. Major components of the program include Analytic Courses in Economics, Political Science, and Statistics; a range of Applications Courses offered by the Committee and the other departments or professional schools of the University; and a series of Policy Seminars devoted to the scholarly, interdisciplinary investigation of specific public policy issues.

The Committee does not automatically assume that government solutions are the preferred solutions to all public policy problems. Its program presupposes a role for the private sector as well as the public sector in solving public policy problems. The Committee further assumes that public policy leadership requires an understanding of both areas and of the complex economic and social framework within which public policy operates.

The Committee welcomes applications from students in the social sciences, the humanities, and the natural sciences.

*The Committee offers a One Year Master's Degree Program to selected, advanced graduate students from various institutions. Such students are eligible for a flexible, elective-oriented program of study.

For additional information and applications:

Professor Robert Z. Aliber
Committee on Public Policy Studies
The University of Chicago
Wieboldt Hall - Room 301
1050 East 59th Street
Chicago, Illinois 60637

In keeping with its longstanding traditions and policies, the University of Chicago, in admissions, employment, and access to programs, considers students on the basis of individual merit and without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national or ethnic origin, handicap, or other factors irrelevant to fruitful participation in the programs of the University. The Affirmative Action Officer is the University official responsible for coordinating its adherence to this policy, and the related Federal and State laws and regulations (including Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended).
Opium travels through new Middle Eastern channels

MARSEILLE, France (AP) - A growing "Middle Eastern Connection" using laboratories in Turkey to process opium from Iran has all but replaced heroin's famed "French Connection" between Southeast Asia and the West, narcotics agents say.

Western Europe is being inundated with Middle Eastern heroin," said one international narcotics agent. "In 1977, about 75 percent of the heroin in Europe came from Southeast Asia. Today it's nearly 90 percent from the Middle East.

The political upheaval in Iran and resultant lack of law enforcement have allowed illicit opium growers there to double their crop this year to about 600 tons, international narcotics experts here and in Paris estimate.

In the early 1970's, before the "French Connection" was broken, Turkish or Iranian opium was made into a crude morphine base and smuggled, among other places, to this Mediterranean port. Here it was refined into nearly pure "Made in France" heroin that fetched top-dollar in the United States and Europe.

Now, narcotics agents say Turkish traffickers have developed their own laboratories, cutting out the "middle-men" and making it extremely difficult for the remnants of the "French Connection" to find a morphine base.

"We also know now that Iran, too, has the capability of producing its own heroin," one agent said. "A number of Iranians have been arrested in the United States and London with important quantities of heroin.

Most of the opium that enters the so-called "Middle Eastern Connection" comes from Pakistan and Afghanistan, which agents estimate will produce a combined crop this year of 800 to 1,200 tons.

The targets of the refined heroin, which now is found 75 percent to 80 percent pure, are the markers of Opium, Rotterdam and the Hague in the United States, West Germany, and a lesser extent France, Italy and Austria, agents said.

Narcotics agents are concerned about the potential impact of this heroin on U.S. military bases in West Germany.

They claim the huge supply has cut prices there to about $10,000 to $20,000 to a kilogram, compared to $100,000 to $200,000 a kilogram in the United States and only about $12,000 in Turkey, they said.

So far, Middle Eastern heroin has not reached U.S. shores, but "we are seeing the tip of the iceberg," said one international narcotics agent.

"The United States is not flooded with this heroin because we're so far away, but we have the markets of the old "French Connection,"" one agent said.

Kennedy stamps in Minnesota

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) - Edward M. Kennedy is using Waller F. Mondale's home state to test whether the vice president can hold Minnesota's liberal Democratic-Farmer-Laborers behind the Carter-Mondale ticket for the 1980 Democratic nomination.

Kennedy's foray today into Minnesota comes after two days of intensive campaigning in Iowa, where the Massachusetts senator drew enthusiastic responses in union halls, small towns, a seed plant and a cattle feed lot.

Mondale has been hard at work trying to nail down the support of the Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party.

Working to draw support to Kennedy is Rep. Richard G. Nolan, D-Minn., one of the earliest advocates of a Kennedy presidential bid.

Minnesota Democrats have a strong liberal tradition dating to the heyday of the late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Campaigning in Iowa, Kennedy began working crowds of old-fashioned political style for the first time since he launched his presidential bid last week.

Traveling through the Northeast, Midwest and South after declaring his candidacy in Boston, Kennedy avoided close contact with large, outdoor crowds.

But in Iowa, he began lingering among crowds, shaking hands, signing autographs, having his picture taken. And there were traditional Kennedy family touches: sister Eunice saying hello to my sister Eunice. And son Teddy also shaking hands.

"Say hello to my son Teddy," said Kennedy as he moved among crowds at every stop.

Trailing a short distance behind were campaign workers wearing white shirts, having their picture taken. And there were traditional Kennedy family touches: sister Eunice saying hello to my sister Eunice. And son Teddy also shaking hands.

"Say hello to my sister Eunice," said Kennedy as he moved among crowds at every stop.

Trailing a short distance behind were campaign workers wearing white shirts, having their picture taken. And there were traditional Kennedy family touches: sister Eunice saying hello to my sister Eunice. And son Teddy also shaking hands.

"Say hello to my son Teddy," said Kennedy as he moved among crowds at every stop.

Trailing a short distance behind were campaign workers wearing white shirts, having their picture taken. And there were traditional Kennedy family touches: sister Eunice saying hello to my sister Eunice. And son Teddy also shaking hands.

"Say hello to my son Teddy," said Kennedy as he moved among crowds at every stop.

Trailing a short distance behind were campaign workers wearing white shirts, having their picture taken. And there were traditional Kennedy family touches: sister Eunice saying hello to my sister Eunice. And son Teddy also shaking hands.

"Say hello to my son Teddy," said Kennedy as he moved among crowds at every stop.

Every Tuesday Night For Just $1.69

Your Neighborhood Pizza Hut® restaurant brings you a large dinner of delicious artistry for just $1.69. And we're not just whistling Dixie, when we say we make spaghetti the way Mom does. It's our brand new old-fashioned recipe! And from cooking the pasta to tasty perfection...to simmering the rich meat sauce till it's just right...to serving up the hearty garlic bread. Every loving touch is an exercise in the fine art of preparing spaghetti just like Mom's. Tuesday night is Spaghetti Night at Pizza Hut®, when we cook up a very special dish at a very special price. Just $1.69 for a large dinner with meat sauce, $1.39 for a small. It's enough to make even Mom whistle in delighted surprise!

Available at our South Bend, Elkhart, Goshen, Nappanee and Mishawaka restaurants.

CDM S a t c h u s s e s . senator drew enthusiastic responses in union halls, small towns, a seed plant and a cattle feed lot. Midland has been hard at work trying to nail down the support of the Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party.
The Observer

Crime seems inevitable
Construction threatens Utah town

DELTA Utah (AP) - The mayor of Delta, Utah—pop. 2,100—says he cannot recall that the desert village ever had a murder or bank robbery in all its 60 years of existence.

But he fears that will change if two enormous construction projects—the nation's largest coal-fired power plant and the MX missile system—go ahead as planned.

Mayor Leland Roper predicts a tenfold population explosion within a decade.

"Sometime next month, Interior

T he Observer Thursday, November 15, 1979 - page 13

n

jects—the nation's largest coal-grown a humble 6 percent.

within a decade.

fired power plant and the MX village ever had a murder or he cannot recall that the desert

DELTA Utah (AP)--The mayor projects were built. Over available, but Roper estimates and Nevada.

compared to the explosive years.

tenfold population explosion

two enormous construction pro-in 1989, giving rise to fears of a boom-based effect.

The mayor said Air Force

officials had told him they could build barracks at a 4,000-man support base—if one were built nearby—in order to ease the housing crunch in Delta.

"But I can’t see what difference that will make at quitting time," he said, when missile workers came looking for a good time.

"Everyone I’ve talked to objects to a military base in the area," said Roper.

Specific sites for the 200-missile system will not be chosen for a year.

Carter, oil industry battle over windfall-profits tax

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration and the oil industry are beginning their battle in the senate over the proposed "windfall-profits" tax—a trillion-dollar issue with vast impact on national security and foreign policy.

The central question facing the Senate as it opened debate on the tax yesterday was just how much oil producers should be allowed to keep of the $1.1 trillion total increase in the price of U.S. crude oil between now and 1990.

President Carter advocates a relatively stiff tax on the increased revenues. He wants the oil industry to pay a big part of the cost of improving transportation efficiency, developing non-oil fuels and helping lower-income Americans pay for energy.

The industry notes that even without any new windfall tax, federal and state income taxes and corporate income taxes would take the lion's share of the $1.1 trillion. The windfall tax would help oil producers of money badly needed to increase exploration and production, the industry says.

The Senate Finance Committee agreed in large part with the industry arguments. The bill passed in June by the House as much closer to what Carter recommends.

Some amendments awaiting Senate consideration would make the tax more to Carter's liking by eliminating some of the Finance Committee's exceptions for various categories of oil. Others would loosen the tax even further in an effort to improve incentives for increased domestic oil production.

The whole tax question arises from general agreement among government officials, the oil industry and economists that the United States must reduce consumption of imported oil.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter won't officially become a candidate for re-election until next month, but top administration aides already sound eager to tangle with his principal Democratic challenger, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The Massachusetts senator had barely finished making his first speech as a declared presidential contender last week when a White House official remarked anonymously: "The president intends to run on his record. It is our impression that Senator Kennedy intends to run away from his." Kennedy also drew criticism during the first week of his campaign from officials willing to speak for the record, including one member of Carter's Cabinet, his press secretary and his top inflation fighter.

The Massachusetts senator launched his campaign on Wednesday, preceding Carter's expected Dec. 4 announcement by nearly a month.

Also jumping into the Democratic race was California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., who is running a distant third in the polls and so far has drawn little reaction from the Carter White House.

With the president's Democratic challengers already in full pursuit, the Republican party computerizes its field this week when Ronald Reagan makes a formal declaration of candidacy. He will be the 10th and final entry in the field.

Reagan, 68, is making his third try for the White House and is generally acknowledged to be the frontrunner for the GOP nomination. He begins his campaign tomorrow at a fundraising dinner, then embarks on a 12-city, five-day campaign tour.

Thus far, the Republican hopefuls have treated one another gently, apparently by design: "Among the presidential candidates, there has been something of a gentleman's agreement" to avoid knock-down-drag-out fights, said Rep. Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan, chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

The situation among the Democrats is very different. Kennedy and Brown differ on many issues. But they sound similar when they criticize Carter's leadership.

"Government falters," declared Kennedy, a 17-year veteran of the Senate, "and our people and our leaders have not stepped up to the challenge." Brown also took a dig at Kennedy, saying, "I see neither the president nor the senator from Massachusetts as adequate spokesmen for the future.

The Massachusetts senator, speaking at a welcome banquet in South Bend, Indiana Thursday night, also criticized Carter: "I see a president who's in retreat."Kennedy, saying, "I see a president who's in retreat."..." Presidential leadership often seems the exception rather than the rule," said Brown, a 41-year-old, two-term governor making his second try for the Democratic nomination.

Brown also took a dig at Kennedy, saying, "I see neither the president nor the senator from Massachusetts as adequate spokesmen for the future."

South Bend fasts today

Today is a community day of fast in sympathy for the South East Asian refugees in South Bend. The day will culminate in a symbolic refugee meal prepared by the refugees themselves. The evening meal will be held at Little Flower Church, 5419 N. Ironwood, from 4:30 to 7:45 and will include prayers, songs, and slides. Two presentations on local and international efforts will be given by Andre Nickle, a local attorney and John Gilligan, former governor of Ohio, director for the Agency for International Development and law professor. The day's activities are sponsored by the World Hunger Task Force of the United Religious Coalition. Reservations can be made by calling the URC office at 282-2307.

Washington fasts today

"Presidential leadership often seems the exception rather than the rule," said Brown, a 41-year-old, two-term governor making his second try for the Democratic nomination.

Brown also took a dig at Kennedy, saying, "I see neither the president nor the senator from Massachusetts as adequate spokesmen for the future.

South Bend fasts today

Today is a community day of fast in sympathy for the South East Asian refugees in South Bend. The day will culminate in a symbolic refugee meal prepared by the refugees themselves. The evening meal will be held at Little Flower Church, 5419 N. Ironwood, from 4:30 to 7:45 and will include prayers, songs, and slides. Two presentations on local and international efforts will be given by Andre Nickle, a local attorney and John Gilligan, former governor of Ohio, director for the Agency for International Development and law professor. The day's activities are sponsored by the World Hunger Task Force of the United Religious Coalition. Reservations can be made by calling the URC office at 282-2307.

Washington fasts today

"Presidential leadership often seems the exception rather than the rule," said Brown, a 41-year-old, two-term governor making his second try for the Democratic nomination.

Brown also took a dig at Kennedy, saying, "I see neither the president nor the senator from Massachusetts as adequate spokesmen for the future.

South Bend fasts today

Today is a community day of fast in sympathy for the South East Asian refugees in South Bend. The day will culminate in a symbolic refugee meal prepared by the refugees themselves. The evening meal will be held at Little Flower Church, 5419 N. Ironwood, from 4:30 to 7:45 and will include prayers, songs, and slides. Two presentations on local and international efforts will be given by Andre Nickle, a local attorney and John Gilligan, former governor of Ohio, director for the Agency for International Development and law professor. The day's activities are sponsored by the World Hunger Task Force of the United Religious Coalition. Reservations can be made by calling the URC office at 282-2307.
For Rent

- Room for rent. $67/mo. and utilities. Call: John 3588.
- Basketball – Notre Dame vs. Soviet National team WSN&D.
- St. Louis Club Ride Line: Fortune. Nov. 18 at 4:00 P.M., Little Theatre.
- Need ride to Buffalo for Thanksgiving. Pick-up. Phone toll-free 1-800-835-2246.
- Need ride to Madison or Milwaukee area Tuesday. Will share expenses. Call Jim 1161.
- Need ride to Boston for Thanksgiving. Can leave morning of 22-23/30 or return after 3.
- Need ride to Minneapolis for Thanksgiving. Call Mike 3588.
- Need ride to Milwaukee from Buffalo. Call Bob 272-6116.
- Need ride to Louisville airport. Must be used by girl before Dec. 15. Call Peggy 272-6116.
- Need two Clemson tickets. Pete 1863.
- Need ride to Madison. Call Larry 1049/1062.
- Need ride to Charleston on Clemson game. Call 3630.
- Need ride to Charleston for Thanksgiving. Call Mark 4903.

Wanted

- Need 4 EAGLES Tix. Will pay $40/pair or best offer. Call: Joey 2072.
- Need ride to Bloomsburg to attend my football game on Thanksgiving. Will share expenses. Call John 3588.
- I HAVE ROOM, ruger to announce my candidacy for Congress. Will share expenses. Call: Susan 228-4620.
- Need ride to Milwaukee for Thanksgiving. Can leave time after 12:00 on Tuesday. Call Kyle 8412.
- Need ride to Bloomington for Thanksgiving. Will leave time after 12:00 on Tuesday. Call Mike 3588.
- Need a ride to a 0:00 Airport. Call Mike 3588.
- Need ride to Charleston. Call Mark 4903.
- Need ride to Florence for Thanksgiving. Please call Chris 1852.
- Need ride to Minneapolis for Thanksgiving. Call Mike 3588.
- Need ride to Wisconsin. MAD, MIAMI, anywhere possible. Please call Ken 3588.
- Need ride to Pittsburg to/from shared expenses. Call Dave 8583.
- Need ride to Boston for Thanksgiving. Can leave morning of 22-23/30 or return after 3.
- Need ride to Buffalo for Thanksgiving. Call Ray 672-7877.

Classifieds
United States in the 1972 helped the Soviets defeat the Belov, one of the players who Notre Dame, 90-75), but also year's team (which defeated of the first six games on their play thus far in the current 14-game schedule, losing only "but we expect them to begin at 8 p.m. at the ACC.
This marks the third straight year that the Soviet team has to Brigham Young last Satur­
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes, prices ranging from $2,600 to of those to corporations," with member of the Lake Placid agency's president. "We four days, seven days, eight ing to follow. It was Schlichter's for rental.
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)
Even though he is in a quarterback, Rick Leach
for rental.
In contrast, Wangler has 11.2 touchdowns, helping Per-Schlichter and Wangler both in this heated season.
Cornell's Greene led Ohio
State to a 21-14 victory over Michigan when Leach was an error-prone freshman. But the Buckeyes to three successive triumphs over the Buckeyes, leading Michigan to the Rose Bowl every year.
It was Schlichter's turn to learn in 1978 as a freshman. He wiped clean the scoreboard Winning the Big Ten football tournament. Schlichter, an opportunity to follow the same path as Michigan's Rick Leach before adding, managed only 7 of 16 comple­
more and more from Schlichter as a quarterback until 109 yards to break his own single season record of 1,840 towards Ohio State, which scored."
"I just wasn't real sharp," said Schlichter before adding,
"The big play will give Michi-game, we have all types of accompa-50 tickets each for the Games demand than anticipated.
there appears to have been a five surrounding communities
"W e're looking for more and from Schlichter each Schlichter has passed for 1,123 yards and 12 touchdowns, tying for 409 yards and nine more Schlichter could prove key in Saturday's OSU game
He has been able to give us a big play," Coach Earl the 6-6, 200-pound star from Bloom-We're looking for more from Schlichter each week.
Wangler has passed for 1,003 yards and six touchdowns and rushed for 219 yards. Dickey, Michigan's number-one quarterback last season, is expected of him, and that's a bonus at this point.
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,
there says it has more than 1,500
rooms and homes listed. (New York law allows multiple listings, so many property owners
have requested in several places.)
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some
highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to
rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,
there says it has more than 1,500
rooms and homes listed. (New York law allows multiple listings, so many property owners
have requested in several places.)
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some
highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to
rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,
there says it has more than 1,500
rooms and homes listed. (New York law allows multiple listings, so many property owners
have requested in several places.)
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some
highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to
rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,
there says it has more than 1,500
rooms and homes listed. (New York law allows multiple listings, so many property owners
have requested in several places.)
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some
highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to
rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,
there says it has more than 1,500
rooms and homes listed. (New York law allows multiple listings, so many property owners
have requested in several places.)
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some
highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to
rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,
there says it has more than 1,500
rooms and homes listed. (New York law allows multiple listings, so many property owners
have requested in several places.)
"We are resting some for
days, seven days, eight
days," said Philip Feinberg,
the agency's executive director.
"Over many property owners
have offered them at least some
highly prized seats for events
to which they are entitled,
their situation, however.
The victory was softer than we
expected.
For those who want to
rent rooms or who plan to return
the full time, S. Curtis Hayes,