Riehle/Behney top SBP-SBVP election

by Mary Beile Moran
Campus Staff/Reporter

In a strong showing, Paul Riehle and Don Ciancio led the SBP-SBVP with 43 percent of the vote in the campus elec­tion held yesterday. The ticket of Tom Behney and Frank Guilfoyle garnered 22 percent of the vote and will face Riehle-Ciancio in a run-off tomorrow.

Mark Kelley won the Off-Campus Commissioner race outright with a 56 percent majority of all votes cast. Approximately 325 people voted in the election, but according to Bro. Ed Luthers, member of the Campus Council, based on last year's figures there might have been some 1200 students eligible to vote for the position.

The 3,500 votes cast in this election represent a 5 percent turnout of the possible 6,800 student votes. Tom Call, Ombudsman Election Committee Chairman, was unavailable for comment, consequently no means were available to compare this turnout with that of the past years.

The other tickets for SBP-SBVP, Jim "Starks" Slattery, "Uncle" Keith Cooper and Bob Carey, Torsten Marshall, received 16 and 18 percent of the vote respectively.

In the Off-Campus election, John Solari finished second to Kelley with 30 percent of the vote, and Joe Lohmuller received the remaining 14 percent of the ballots. Bro. Ed Luther, member of the Campus Council, based on last year's figures there might have been some 1200 students eligible to vote for the position.

Riehle and Ciancio made a strong showing in Planner, Ciancio's home territory. They received an overwhelming majority in Keenan, Riehle's base, where he garnered 226 of the 254 votes cast. Riehle-Ciancio also carried the North Quad by a large majority.

Behney and Guilfoyle made their strongest showing in Alumni where they received over two-thirds of the votes cast. This did not stop Riehle and Ciancio from winning the South Quad, but by a much smaller margin than on the North.

Carey and Marshall received the highest number of votes from off-campus residents, approximately 55 percent of the total.

Voters ready for primary election

CONCORD, NH (AP) - After months of being buried, radi­gated, lectured and surveyed, the people of New Hampshire take part today in their final poll—the primary election that could reshape the field of presidential contenders.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, though running nearly 2 to 1 be­hind President Carter in some polls, predicted "we're going to make a strong showing" in the Democratic primary. Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. of California, was rated a distant third.

On the Republican side, last minute volleys of verbal shots were exchanged in the final hours of a campaign that turned bitter Saturday night after the exclusion of four candidates from a debate between Ronald Reagan and George Bush, con­sidered the frontrunners.

Former Gov. Hugh Gregg, Bush's New Hampshire campa­ign chairman, accused of "using" the four other candi­dates to em­arrass Bush.

There are many people in our operation who are quite incen­sive to think we've been sandbagged by Mr. Reagan," Gregg told reporters.

"That's ridiculous," counter­ed Reagan. "If anyone was sandbagged, the four gentle­men who were excluded from the debate were, and I probably was to a certain extent."

Immediately after leaving the debate, Reagan said Bush was responsible for their exclusion. The Nashua Telegraph, sponsor of the de­bate, has assumed sole respons­ibility. "This year politically illus­trated," the newspaper exec­utives said they refused to alter the debate format from a one-on-one between Bush and Reagan.

Government breaks down

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) - The Soviet-backed government appeared to have virtually bro­ken down yesterday in the face of strikes and violence protest­ing the Russian presence in Afghanistan. Medical sources said more than 300 civilians were paralyzed for a third day. A general strike of shopkeepers continued into its fifth day.

Heavily armed Soviet and Afghan troops backed by sub­machine gun-toting civilian members of the ruling Kha­ People's) Parry, main­tained patrols throughout the city.

The government's indication the Soviet military commander in Kabul was in, effect, acting as head of the government,而是, Repor­ters indicated fighting that raged in Kabul on Friday had slowed considerably, one re­port reaching New Delhi said gunfire raged through the streets of Kabul through Sun­day.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said "life in Kabul is now gradually coming back to normal," and claimed an "armed sortie of agents trained

Kramer5 tops award nominees

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Breaking Away," a modestly budgeted comedy about four youths reaching maturity in Indiana, was nominated for a surprising five Academy Awards yesterday.

The movie, filmed on location at a small town in southern Indiana, gained Oscar nominations for best picture, best supporting actress, best director, original screenplay and adapted score.

The five nominations were fourth highest for the 52nd Academy Awards. Only "All That Jazz" and "Kramer vs. Kramer" with nine and "Apocalypse Now" with eight had more nominations.

The other four nominations for best picture were "All That Jazz," Bob Fosse's contemporary musical version of his own heart attack, "Kramer vs. Kramer," the much-praised story of a child custody battle, "Apocalypse Now," the mega-budgeted Vietnam War epic, and "Norma Rae," a story of labor organizing at a Southern textile mill.

The Notre Dame Concert Series will present William Kappa, piano, in a recital featuring music written for piano from 1900 to 1917, tomorrow night, in the Library Auditorium.

The 8:15 p.m. recital is open to the public without charge.

An active performer, teacher and administrator, Gerny has been chairman of the Notre Dame music department since 1973. Before coming to South Bend, he was Associate Professor of Music and Humanities at the Eastman School of Music, where he taught piano, musicology and literature, and European and intellectual history. Gerny is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Yale University.

Record crowd enjoys Weekend

by Chip Black

Junior Parents Weekend was held this past weekend and, according to Chairman Jim Riedman, the event went over "much better than expected." A record crowd of over 2,450 people attended the President's Dinner on Saturday. Though the event is not designed to make money, it did generate some revenue, he said.

According to Steve Burgason, financial chairman, the weekend brought in approximately $1,500. "Most of this money was made on the cocktail party," Burgason estimated. The weekend was run on a very strict budget, and because of the unexpectedly large crowd, some money was made, he said.

Junior Parents Weekend went surprisingly well considering the fire at the Ramada Inn and the raid at Goose's. According to Riedman, most of the parents were at the closing breakfast when the fire broke out. Some volunteers did drive over to the motel to check on any parents that may have been affected by the blaze, but few parents were affected. Similarly, most juniors and their parents were at the President's Dinner when Goose's was raided. The weekend began with the cocktail party on Friday night. Saturday started with work shops with the professors of the different colleges and was concluded with the President's Dinner and a concelebrated mass. Rounding out the weekend was the closing breakfast on Sunday morning.

Riedman said that a report will be written so that next year's junior class could learn from this year's program's successes and problems. He advises next year's junior class to "be prepared to do a lot of work, but it is worth the trouble."

WASHINGTON: The Supreme Court said yesterday it will decide whether the parents of young girls have a legal right to be notified before their daughters undergo an abortion.

The justices agreed to review a Utah law that requires doctors to notify parents before performing asked-for abortions on minors.

The case, which likely will not be argued until next fall and decided sometime in 1981, forces the court to weigh the constitutional rights of young women to have abortions against the traditional rights of parents.

The Utah law is being challenged by an 18-year-old girl, identified only as H.L. in court documents, who did not want her parents to be told about her abortion.

The girl, at age 15, went out of state to have an abortion three years ago.

The teen-ager's lawyer contends that the law violates young girls' constitutional right to have an abortion "without undue interference by the state."

The Utah Supreme Court upheld the law, and the state's attorney general's office had urged the court to reject the teen-ager's appeal.

The Supreme Court legalized abortion in its landmark 1973 decision. In 1976, the court struck down a Missouri law that required parents to have "permission" to have an absolute veto over the decision to have an abortion.

Lawyers advise students

by Sal Granata
Senior Staff Reporter

Emphasizing the moral quality of a Notre Dame Law School education and the practical aspects of life for women interested on practicing law, six members of the Notre Dame Law community addressed a predominantly female audience last night in Hayes-Healy Auditorium.

The seminar "Women in Law," was sponsored by the Notre Dame Law Caucus. Local attorneys Joanne O'Hara, visiting professor of law, and three women from the Notre Dame Law Caucus emphasized the moral quality of education at the Notre Dame Law School, according to society president Patricia O'Hara, visiting professor of law.

O'Hara outlined the history of women in American law practice. She stated that today there are triple the number of women in law school than there were in 1970. She said that in the past 20 years, the number of women have a lot more mobility. O'Hara addressed the obstacles to women in law by saying "The field of law is becoming more flexible — women have a lot more mobility if you're a successful lawyer, man or woman, options are open and available to you."

The speakers last night included Professor Patricia O'Hara, visiting professor of law, local attorneys Joanne Schwartz and Carmen Piascik, and three women from the Notre Dame Law Caucus. All the speakers commented favorably on the quality of education at the Notre Dame Law School. O'Hara told her audience that you will not find the same atmosphere here at Notre Dame as you would at other law schools.

Irish swimmers win finale; finish season at 7-5
by Michael Ortman
Sports Writer

Before the start of each swimming season, Mark McGonigle, swimming coach Dunno sets a very realistic goal for his team: improvement.

For Stark's 1979-80 season, the regular season came to a disappointing end with a 7-5 loss. The Irish had hoped to win their first three meets of the season, but lost all three.

The first meet was against the University of Illinois, which Stark's team won 7-5. The second meet was against Western Michigan, which Stark's team also won 7-5. The third meet was against Ohio State, which Stark's team lost 7-5.

Despite the disappointing start, Stark's team continued to improve throughout the season. In their final meet of the season, against Notre Dame, Stark's team won 8-4, finishing the season with a 7-5 record.

Stark praised his team for their hard work and dedication, saying, "I'm proud of my team. They worked hard all season and they deserve the improvement they've shown."
Meyer recalls days at ND

Bill Marquardt

"I'll never forget, I was sitting in the back on my first day of class and this guy was using words 16 letters long," described Coach.

"He kept going and going, and I started to laugh. He wore glasses and was a little unkempt. Meyer was indicated with his left hand a diminutive figure probably bought high to DePaul's current front line."

"This little guy came right down the aisle, stepped in front of me and said 'Even the timid can commit murder.' I'll never forget that."

"You don't have anything like 'pencils up, pens down,' do just three."

"Raymond Murray used to teach sociology. When he walked in you had a paper at your desk with your name on it. He would say The question for today is... but you couldn't write anything at all."

"I was the only one who had permission, but there were two other guys with me. I walked to the desk to sign in—we had to sign a card."

"I walked up the steps, and Brother turns to me and says, 'All right, Ray, I signed the other two in too.'"

"We haven't done much speed—training to come into our own right stated the Irish mentor."

The distance medley team justifying for the championships. The Irish squad's captain his junior and senior years. He told me 'I was the watchful eye of Brother Austin."

"I came from a very poor home," admitted the Hall of Fameer sleepily. "Everyone else complained about the food—I enjoyed it."

"I came from a very poor home," named Francis O'Malley for freshman English. He had graduated with the highest grades ever attained at the liberal arts school.

Meyer professes, "We're playing Wisconsin, and at halftime we were losing—we hadn't played well," admitted the Irish forward, who guided the team to a two-year record of 40-6 under his leadership. Coach Keegan said 'I told you we weren't going to want to listen to the coaching that first year."

"Yet there was time when Meyer and the entire Irish squad had gone home, and it was on that day—December 13, 1937—that the veteran Notre Dame coach, George Keogan, whose picture occupies a prominent place on the wall behind his desk, continued on page 7"
