Parent suggests program

By Mary Agnes Carey

A complete awareness of the total off-campus situation by both Notre Dame students and the administration or South Bend Mayor Roger Parent last night in Moreau Hall at Saint Mary's as part of the SMC Political Week activities.

According to Parent, the "northeast situation," the place where the recent concern of rising off-campus crime, is perceived differently by the students involved, the permanent residents of the area, and by the ND administration. "When the students think about the problem of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College," Riehle said, "adequate forms of recreation" should also be provided for ND-SMC students. "It's appealing to me that Notre Dame forbids those types of activities...when you're surrounded by large gatherings, but looks very lightly on the large parties thrown on the northeast side which create all kinds of problems for not only the permanent residents, but also students as well," Parent stated.

He explained that although police are "attempting to pay particular attention to the vulnerability of students" in the northeast area, many of the programs are limited by the lack of financial resources, adding that off-campus students must be concerned about their own personal welfare.

During the one-hour presentation, Parent also discussed the frustrations of students and the general public with government. According to Parent, people are interested in running for office because they are "frustrated and disappointed" with the "lack of power" of elected officials presently. Parent noted the difficulty of officials to unite different concerns of special interest groups, stating that these concerns must be "reflected and catered to."

Parent also expressed the importance of a voter's total accessibility of a political candidate, stressing that a successful candidate needs not only intelligence and a desire for hard work, but also understanding of people's feelings and emotions. Parent stated that these activities such as Political Week help voters to think about political development and he encouraged students to pursue politics, terming it as "important and difficult" occupation.

In a question and answer period, Parent addressed students' concerns on several issues.

[continued on page 7]

Riehle urges change

By Earl Rix

Citing the "gross inadequacy" of student government, Student Forum President Riehle called on students to vote for the creation of a Student Senate in a referendum to be held Tuesday.

Riehle, speaking at a student forum last night in the basement of Walsh Hall, also announced that the proposed Senate will have 18 members instead of the originally proposed 24.

"Originally, the referendum as it was to be held today, but was postponed so that "we could make sure everybody knew what they were voting for," Riehle said.

Riehle's original proposal involved twice as many off-campus students, permanent area residents, and other ND-SMC students meeting to discuss problems of off-campus students. Parent stated that neither ND administration or South Bend city officials should be members of the organization.

"Students have a right to expect decent and safe housing," Parent explained, "and the prime organizations responsible for that are the 18 members of the CLC have their targets.

Parent suggested an "ongoing program" which involves an organization of off-campus students, permanent area residents, and other ND-SMC students meeting to discuss problems of off-campus students. Parent stated that neither ND administration or South Bend city officials should be members of the organization.

"Students have a right to expect decent and safe housing," Parent explained, "and the prime organizations responsible for that are the Student Forum last night in the basement of Walsh Hall, also announced that the proposed Senate will have 18 members instead of the originally proposed 24.

"Originally, the referendum as it was to be held today, but was postponed so that "we could make sure everybody knew what they were voting for," Riehle said.

Riehle's original proposal involved twice as many off-campus students, permanent area residents, and other ND-SMC students meeting to discuss problems of off-campus students. Parent stated that neither ND administration or South Bend city officials should be members of the organization.

"Students have a right to expect decent and safe housing," Parent explained, "and the prime organizations responsible for that are the Student Forum last night in the basement of Walsh Hall, also announced that the proposed Senate will have 18 members instead of the originally proposed 24.

"Originally, the referendum as it was to be held today, but was postponed so that "we could make sure everybody knew what they were voting for," Riehle said.

Riehle's original proposal involved twice as many off-campus students, permanent area residents, and other ND-SMC students meeting to discuss problems of off-campus students. Parent stated that neither ND administration or South Bend city officials should be members of the organization.

"Students have a right to expect decent and safe housing," Parent explained, "and the prime organizations responsible for that are the

Anderson borrows money for television commercials

WASHINGTON (AP) - John B. Anderson will begin running his first television ads of the fall presidential campaign this week and they will be paid for by money borrowed from his hundred of thousands of supporters nationwide.

The ads, which will emphasize Anderson's stand on various issues, will be aired on network television using $1 million in funds being raised by an unusual direct mail appeal.

Weeks ago, the independent presidential candidate's lawyers began trying to borrow between $10 million and $15 million from a group of banks in New York and Chicago. The money was to be paid back from retroactive federal funding aids which Anderson will be eligible if he receives 5 percent of the vote in the November 4 election.

Five percent of the vote would enable him to $3 million, with the amount going up with the size of the vote.

But banks have been unwilling to commit themselves. Some money—less than $1 million—was promised, but only if other banks would agree to increase the total.

It now appears that at best Anderson will be able to borrow much less than his campaign strategists had hoped. There is some possibility that he will get no bank loans at all.

President Carter's campaign aides circulated a memo questioning the legality of the loans and Anderson campaign officials say the banks were threatened with regulatory retribution if they agreed to the borrowing effort.

Patrick J. Lucey, Anderson's vice presidential running mate, was asked yesterday if any money would be borrowed from the banks, and would say only that "we are hopeful."

Meanwhile, Anderson's campaign sent out 300,000 letters to persons who had previously contributed money.

The letters requested interest free loans to be paid back after election day in loan coupons included in the envelope.

Those who responded loaned Anderson an average of $83 compared to a $30 per average contribution earlier in the campaign.

On Tuesday, the loan program drew $173,000, and it is eventually expected to raise $1 million or more to be paid back after November 4.

[continued on page 7]
Chrysler Corp. officials have agreed to arrange a meeting between board chairman Lee Iacocca and Gov. Otis R. Bowen of Indiana, at the No. 3 automaker's new plant, to sell its New Castle foundry, Bowen aides William J. Watt said yesterday. Bowen sent a strongly worded telegram to Iacocca on Tuesday, demanding "as immediate and detailed response from Chrysler outlining its specific plans for the New Castle installation, which was tied up for 25 minutes, firemen freed Simmons with a strong suit is undeniably campaigning — witness 1980, where they are keeping a candidate afloat even though his record could easily drown him. In 1976, they defeated an incumbent whose record was not nearly as bad, no insignificant feat. As administrators, the Georgians have not been quite as adept. Their communication mixups have hurt the president on several occasions, their in­ fusion with Congress have disabled Carter leg­ islatively, and their public utterance has alienated other world leaders. At least we know what we're getting. So as the grim reality that Ronald Reagan has a very good shot at becoming our next president, and where they may end up in the White House. This is especially significant in view of Reagan's past practices. But it is also a great deal of authority to his aids, and make decisions based on the recommendations of those around him. Edwin Meese III is one of the top aides in the Reagan White House. He was Reagan's Chief of Staff in Sacramento, has kept things running fairly smoothly for the White House, and would probably be one of Reagan's chief White House advisers. Meese, a former criminal prose­ cutor, is highly regarded for his organizational abilities, and he reportedly was behind the move to exile former campaign chief John Sears, who committed the crime of trying to broaden Reagan's political base. Richard V. Allen is Reagan's chief foreign policy­ policy architect. Building upon Reagan's view that the Soviet Union is behind everything. Allen was a member of President Nixon's council for national security, and has also been charged with short time under President Nixon, but was muscled aside by Henry Kissinger shortly after his arrival. The New York Times suggests that his recent statements have come out of a "somber world view," constantly suggesting that his role in this campaign, and a gang of idealistic lawyers. The rest of the people around him. Powell and Pat Caddell, all are familiar names to voters. I want a full accounting of Chrysler's intentions with regard to the facilities and employees at its other installations in the state — AP

Some of the dozens of bystanders laughed and jeered as the man with one arm in a sling frantically tried to climb out of the way of a subway train roaring into the station, no one went to the aid of Stanley Simmons, 32, being unloaded from a railroad tank car onto pressurized tank cars in Xalostoc, an industrial suburb of the Mexican capital. — AP

As an office like the American presidency grown more and more complex, the importance of the men around The Man is increased accordingly. That makes it doubly important that, in this election year, we examine the loyal servants behind this year's models, Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan.

We even think that Anderson not just because his chances of victory are remote, but because his staff consists mainly of media manipulator David Gergen and a gang of idealistic lawyers. The rest of Anderson's aids are, sadly, apparently giving up the ship anyway.

We all know the faces behind Jimmy Carter. Hamilton Jordan, Zbigniew Brzezinski, Jody Powell and Pat Caddell, all familiar names to Americans. After three years in office, we know what they can and cannot do.

Referred to collectively on several occasions by Patrick Lucey as "the Georgians," as if they were a band of medieval European terrorists, this group's strong suit is undeniably campaigning — witness 1980, where they are keeping a candidate afloat even though his record could easily drown him. In 1976, they defeated an incumbent whose record was not nearly as bad, no insignificant feat. As administrators, the Georgians have not been quite as adept. Their communication mixups have hurt the president on several occasions, their infusion with Congress have disabled Carter legislatively, and their public utterance has alienated other world leaders. At least we know what we're getting. So as the grim reality that Ronald Reagan has a very good shot at becoming our next president, and where they may end up in the White House. This is especially significant in view of Reagan's past practices. But it is also a great deal of authority to his aids, and make decisions based on the recommendations of those around him. Edwin Meese III is one of the top aides in the Reagan White House. He was Reagan's Chief of Staff in Sacramento, has kept things running fairly smoothly for the White House, and would probably be one of Reagan's chief White House advisers. Meese, a former criminal prosecutor, is highly regarded for his organizational abilities, and he reportedly was behind the move to exile former campaign chief John Sears, who committed the crime of trying to broaden Reagan's political base. Richard V. Allen is Reagan's chief foreign policy advisor. Allen is a member of President Nixon's council for national security, and has also been charged with short time under President Nixon, but was muscled aside by Henry Kissinger shortly after his arrival. The New York Times suggests that his recent statements have come out of a "somber world view," constantly suggesting that his role in this campaign, and a gang of idealistic lawyers. The rest of the people around him. Powell and Pat Caddell, all are familiar names to voters. I want a full accounting of Chrysler's intentions with regard to the facilities and employees at its other installations in the state — AP

Genetic engineering on humans was performed for the first time, as far as it is known, by a UCLA doctor who tried to cure a patient with an inherited blood disease by adding a gene to the bone marrow of two patients, university officials said yesterday. The historic and controversial procedure was done by Dr. neon E. Cline. It was met with official concern that he was moving too quickly from the animal experiments that were begun last April. The results of the procedure were reportedly inconclusive. After three months there was no indication the new genes, inserted into defective cells of the patients' bone marrow, were producing normal blood cells. Both patients were reported alive and well, although the treatment apparently had no effect on the disease, called beta thalassemia major. Victims are unable to produce normal hemoglobin, a blood molecule that carries the oxygen needed by all tissues. — AP

Sunny and mild today through Friday. Chance of rain 10 percent today, with a high near 72.
Scholarship foundation asks Notre Dame to select candidates

By Mary Fran Callahan
Senior Staff Reporter

The Henry Luce Foundation has asked the University to nominate three scholars for the distinguished Luce Scholars Program, which enables winners to spend a year working and studying in an Asian country. The ironic feature of the scholarships, valued at a minimum of $9,000 apiece, is that they are intended for people with a demonstrated interest in Asian affairs or international relations. The Foundation selects 15 scholars from a crop of national nominees. Eligibility requirements are simply a distinguished record of academic achievement and a well-defined career objective in any field—excepting one which pertains directly to Asian affairs.

According to Donald Costello, chairman of the American Studies department, the rationale behind the Luce program is to improve America's understanding of Asia. Scholars spend one year in an Asian country and are expected to return to the United States with Costello called "potential leaders, whose perceptions—of Asia, America and even themselves—have been significantly sharpened as a result of an Asian experience."

The Foundation anticipates that scholars will always retain the impact of their Asian experiences as they rise within their varied professions. Professional internships or teaching/research positions become available to the scholars selected. The Foundation provides the winners with airfares, stipends, allowances and also secures scholars positions in Asian countries. Positions are arranged according to an individual's background and career interests.

Scholars selected are not expected to speak an Asian language. Once in their respective countries, however, they must be willing to take a course in the region's native language.

Since only 15 scholars are selected on a national level, the process of getting nominated is a competitive procedure. A spokesperson for the American Studies Department, however, said that "quite a few" people have requested the nomination applications.

Students or faculty who wish to apply for the program should obtain all the necessary documents from the American Studies Office, 339 O'Laughlin Hall. Completed materials should be returned to Costello by November 20. The Luce Foundation will select nominees in December.

John Hilenbrand Jr. campaigns for his father

By Lewis Bivens

John Hilenbrand, Jr., son of gubernatorial candidate John Hilenbrand, was on campus yesterday trying to drum up support for his father's faltering campaign.

Recent polls have shown that Hilenbrand, the Democratic candidate, trails his opponent, Lt. Gov. Robert Orr, by as much as 20 points, but this has not dampened his confidence to win. "What the polls have shown is an incredible amount of uncommitted voters, which is unheard of in October for a governor's race," said Hilenbrand Jr. If we can run an effective, hard-hitting campaign in the stretch, then this election is winnable."

"The goal is to be seeing a lot of John Hilenbrand in the next few weeks and a lot of Bob Orr's record. Hopefully that will make up to people's minds," said Hilenbrand Jr.

One of the main issues of the race will be unemployment, according to the younger Hilenbrand, in which the state of Indiana ranks second nationally. "The fact that 215,000 more jobs have been created while Orr has held office is inadequate in light of other statistics," said Hilenbrand Jr. "We have lost our percentage of the Gross National Product every year for the past 8 years. We have an annual net migration of 19,000 people a year out of Indiana. We are below the national average in per capita real income."

Hilenbrand says that his father is committed to the unemployment rate and the migration of Hoosiers out of the state is tied to the lack of industrial growth. The decline in the auto industry has a big part in this he conceded, but there are two causes for this: a lack of leadership and a lack of communication between state government and city and county officials.

Hilenbrand said his father will combat the unemployment problem with a "nine-points" program he came up with a year ago. The program is geared towards bringing industry into Indiana and keeping it in. "We have been following the progress of industrial plants to other states for the past year by some."
Terrorism escalates

By John Cummings
Pacific News Service

EDITOR’S NOTE: As the recent assassination of a UN diplomat in New York suggests, Third World political terrorism is now being played out on an American soil with increased frequency and boldness. Federal efforts to curb the menacing violence have met with uniform failure, reports John Cummings, a New York journalist currently completing a book on Cuban political terrorism in the U.S.

NEW YORK—On Sept. 11, the Cuban exile group that calls itself Omega 7 escalated its level of anti-Castro terrorism in the United States by killing a Cuban diplomat in broad daylight as he drove along a busy street in New York City.

The assassination—the first of a UN diplomat on U.S. soil—was brutal, but it was also symbolic. Anyone who had followed the history of terrorism in the U.S. in the last half dozen years realized that the date was chosen as carefully as the target. The murderer took place on the seventh anniversary of the overthrow of the Ch PLA. 0 CNS president Sad- vardo Allende.

The FBI had made a great deal of the obvious fact that Omega 7 had become emboldened enough to go after a diplomat. But it did not, of course, mention its sad record of failure in trying to stem an escalating g wave of Third World bloodletting on U.S. soil.

The tempo of terrorism has become a rising wave in recent years. The neo-Nazi Croatian nationals have left a bloody wake with their pipe bombs in post offices and airports. And since 1976, there have been two political murders in Washington D.C.—one world capital that always considered itself immune from this kind of messy business.

In that year, Orlando Letelier, the former Chilean ambassador to the U.S., was murdered with a bomb in downtown Wash­ington. And last July, a former Iranian diplomat was killed in the Washington suburb of Bethesda by assassins rev­en­geful in the employ of the Khomeni regime.

But the most endemic terror problem has been the fanatics of the Cuban exile—many of whom enjoyed support from the U.S. government in the early 1960s.

Recent public assertions the FBI is giving “top priority” to rooting out the terrorists has been greeted with what can kindly be described as skepticism. Concerned Cuban exile groups have been critical of the federal policy to consider the federal policy to treat this terror with benign neglect. The killing of a diplomat and the bombing of a Russian mission to the UN last December are but a fraction of the Cuban exile terrorism during the past decade—terrorism that includes nine murders or attempted murders and hundreds of incidents of violence and bombing. Even the FBI office on Miami was bombed and, after four years, that case has not been solved.

The failure to act or the lack of any meaningful federal commitment to stop this kind of violence becomes even more difficult to understand when federal agencies insist they have known for years who is behind Omega 7.

Jerome Sanford, a former federal prosecutor in Miami, tried for three years to get his superiors in Washington to undertake a major effort against a rising wave of terrorism in Miami. His efforts were met with silence and inaction.

Today, Sanford believes that it was more than just the weight of Justice seeking to win re-election that buried his best efforts. There simply had to be complicity involved,” Sanford said early this year after he resigned in disgust. “I was trying to make a concerned effort against terrorist activity in South Florida. In a way, without being too romantic, I was kind of like King Arthur in Camelot. I tried to pull to­gether a lot of good people, a lot of good people in a round table so that we could work for one common end. But in the end, I felt betrayed, because there were others who have the information I have but they are not sharing it.

Street level FBI agents privately tell the same story, as do local law enforcement officers. “We all have trouble with the feds,” says one New York City police officer “And without them we can’t solve cases like this one. We want the information, we have the information, but we don’t have the resources.”

Sanford still believes that New York police are severely limited in this kind of investigation, for the assassins find ready refuge across the Hudson River in New Jersey. There, among large Cuban communities, they can do business with the feds,” says one New York City police officer “And without them we can’t solve cases like this one. We want the information, we have the information, but we don’t have the resources.”

Sanford still believes that New York police are severely limited in this kind of investigation, for the assassins find ready refuge across the Hudson River in New Jersey. There, among large Cuban communities, they can do business with the feds,” says one New York City police officer “And without them we can’t solve cases like this one. We want the information, we have the information, but we don’t have the resources.”

Open til 9:00 Tues. and Thurs.

michael & co.

Health Center accepts donations

Blood donations from Keenan and Sanford will be taken to the Student Health Center from 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday.

Health Center accepts donations

Blood donations from Keenan and Sanford will be taken to the Student Health Center from 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday.

Health Center accepts donations

Blood donations from Keenan and Sanford will be taken to the Student Health Center from 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday.

Health Center accepts donations

Blood donations from Keenan and Sanford will be taken to the Student Health Center from 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday.

Health Center accepts donations

Blood donations from Keenan and Sanford will be taken to the Student Health Center from 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday.
Saint Mary's holds informational meeting for all interested in College Bowl
by Mary Leavitt
Saint Mary's News Editor

Saint Mary's will hold an orientation meeting tonight at 4 for students and faculty wishing to participate in the college's College Bowl, the intercollegiate quiz game. The meeting will be in the Student Affairs Conference Room, LeMans Hall. Applications for College Bowl will be distributed, and the game's rules and regulations will be clarified.

Lisa Schulte, campus College Bowl coordinator, explained that students may sign up in teams or individually. Competition takes place at the intramural, regional and national level. The intramural winner will be the all-star team representing Saint Mary's in regional play. Schulte hopes to send a team to the regionals at Southern Illinois University in February.

Schulte said that Saint Mary's needs not only competitors, but also score and time keepers, publicity workers, and committee members to implement the intramural program. In addition, students and faculty members are invited to submit quiz questions for practice sessions.

"I hope to see more teams this year than the eight we had last year," Schulte commented. "I also hope to see more students and faculty involved in the Bowl, either by coaching a team, working with the set-up of the program or even participating as an audience."

The registration deadline for College Bowl is October 29. At that time, coaches may pick up their guidebooks in the Student Activities office. Practice sessions will be held October 30 through November 4, and competition times and dates will be posted on November 6.

"And it says here airplanes use the Dome to take sights from, so they're paid to keep it so shiny." (Photo by Helen Olesk)

GENE R AL DYN A M ICS

CHICAGO
O'HARE
AIRPORT
EXPRESS
2
TRI-DAILY
SUNDAY THRU FRIDAY
$1.50
OR
$0.50
287-6541
234-2190
INDIANA
MOTOR BUS

THE FUTURE.
MAKE A CAREER OF IT.

GENERAL DYNAMICS' S representatives will be on your campus to talk to you about General Dynamics, a Fortune 100 company and one of America's leading defense contractors. But we have a wide range of programs in aerospace, electronics, telecommunications, data products, shipbuilding, tactical weaponry and other areas, so be sure to pick up one of our brochures at your Placement Office and make an appointment to talk to an interviewer.

And, plan to attend our Corporate Presentation the evening before our on-campus interviews. Details at your Placement Office.

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS
OCTOBER 15 & 16

Or, if you prefer, send your resume to:
BILL COLEMAN, Corporate College Relations Administrator
GENERAL DYNAMICS
Pierre Laclede Center, CN-13
St. Louis, MO 63105
An Equal Opportunity Employer

"...Change"

[continued from page 1]

lines for College Bowl will be distributed, and the game's rules and regulations will be clarified.

Lisa Schulte, campus College Bowl coordinator, explained that students may sign up in teams or individually. Competition takes place at the intramural, regional and national level. The intramural winner will be the all-star team representing Saint Mary's in regional play. Schulte hopes to send a team to the regionals at Southern Illinois University in February.

Schulte said that Saint Mary's needs not only competitors, but also score and time keepers, publicity workers, and committee members to implement the intramural program. In addition, students and faculty members are invited to submit quiz questions for practice sessions.

"I hope to see more teams this year than the eight we had last year," Schulte commented. "I also hope to see more students and faculty involved in the Bowl, either by coaching a team, working with the set-up of the program or even participating as an audience."

The registration deadline for College Bowl is October 29. At that time, coaches may pick up their guidebooks in the Student Activities office. Practice sessions will be held October 30 through November 4, and competition times and dates will be posted on November 6.

"And it says here airplanes use the Dome to take sights from, so they're paid to keep it so shiny." (Photo by Helen Olesk)
American automakers seek import controls

By Glenn Ritt
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—To listen to Japanese automakers these days, American cars are as pokey, as technologically advanced, as mechanically sound as anything Datsun or Toyota.

The high praise from Japanese quarters is actually part of a strategy to try to avert import controls which the United Auto Workers and others in the U.S. have been clamoring for. The Japanese automakers want slapped on Japanese cars and trucks now streaming into the United States.

Japanese vehicles alone would increase domestic sales by 3-9 million to 5.4 million, expand domestic employment, raise car company earnings by exceeded those numbers.

In its petition to the ITC, Japanese automakers say this figure, the qua-86 percent in the first half of 1980. The drop in light truck sales in the United States are closed and more than 900 off, about 85 auto part plants are closed and more than 100.

Detroit’s problems intensified this year when credit controls and a sharp jump in interest rates deterred car sales. Interest on car loans in 1978 averaged about 11 percent; this May, it exceeded 15 percent.

This helped bring on the recession, which in turn cut further into sales. Meanwhile, double-digit inflation persisted, further eroding personal incomes.

Nissan Motor Corp., maker of the Datsun, argues that imports “have not substantially increased their share of the small car market in recent years”. In fact, imports comprised the U.S. small car market in 1975, but 42.9 percent in 1980. The Japanese also argue that Detroit’s new small cars—such as Chevrolet’s Citation, Chrysler’s K-Cars and Ford’s Escort—will make U.S. automakers competitive against im-ports.

Detroit concurs—to a point. U.S. cars will be competitive, agrees Ford, whose front-drive Escort will be rated as 30 miles per gallon in the city, 44 on the highway.

But, Ford adds, conversion to domestic models will take time. Import restrictions would break Japan’s momentum in the U.S. market and give the domestic industry a breathing spell to catch up.

The task before the ITC is to assess the precise impact of Japanese imports on Detroit’s woes.

“If the weak overall demand for autos that has been evident in recent periods fails to recover significantly, tariffs or quotas would be much less effective in restoring the health of the U.S. industry,” the ITC staff report said.

---

Focus

The touchy issue came before the federal International Trade Commission yesterday; its decision could affect Detroit’s shaky future, U.S. joblessness and relations with a steadily Asian ally.

Specifically, Ford is seeking an import limit of 1.7 million cars and 260,000 light trucks annually for five years. In the single year 1979, imports of Japanese vehicles alone exceeded those numbers.

Ford claims such restrictions would increase domestic sales by 1.9 million to 5.4 million, raise car company earnings by 15 billion to 18 billion and expand domestic employment by 170,000 to 240,000.

The panel’s recommendation to President Carter, expected by late November, will be based on powerful statistics: Japan’s share of U.S. auto imports jumped from 3.6 percent in 1975 to 62 percent during the first half of 1980; light truck imports rose from 46.7 percent to 66.7 percent.

Japan’s portion of all car and truck sales in the United States increased from 8.9 percent in 1975 to 15.1 percent last year to 15.3 percent in the first half of 1980.

Japanese car companies, operating at virtually full capacity the last two years, exported 47 percent of their entire production. At the same time, U.S. automakers produced at only 70 percent of capacity in 1979 and even less in 1980. Actual U.S. car production increased 8 percent last year and 29 percent during the first six months of 1980. The drop in light truck production was worse, falling 60 percent in the first half of 1980 from the same period last year.

Detroit claims the onslaught of Japanese vehicles has help- ed decimate the domestic auto industry.

Industrywide, three out of every four auto workers are laid off, about 85 auto part plants are closed and more than 100 car dealers have gone out of business, according to Ford.

“Japanese producers are taking much of the U.S. market for these vehicles and produc- ing on overtime, while U.S. tax payers are paying unemployment benefits to American workers on layoff,” Ford said in its petition to the ITC.

Japanese automakers say this figure, the qua-86 percent in the first half of 1980. The drop in light truck sales in the United States are closed and more than 900 off, about 85 auto part plants are closed and more than 100.

Detroit’s problems intensified this year when credit controls and a sharp jump in interest rates deterred car sales. Interest on car loans in 1978 averaged about 11 percent; this May, it exceeded 15 percent.

This helped bring on the recession, which in turn cut further into sales. Meanwhile, double-digit inflation persisted, further eroding personal incomes.

Nissan Motor Corp., maker of the Datsun, argues that imports “have not substantially increased their share of the small car market in recent years”. In fact, imports comprised the U.S. small car market in 1975, but 42.9 percent in 1980. The Japanese also argue that Detroit’s new small cars—such as Chevrolet’s Citation, Chrysler’s K-Cars and Ford’s Escort—will make U.S. automakers competitive against im-ports.

Detroit concurs—to a point. U.S. cars will be competitive, agrees Ford, whose front-drive Escort will be rated as 30 miles per gallon in the city, 44 on the highway.

But, Ford adds, conversion to domestic models will take time. Import restrictions would break Japan’s momentum in the U.S. market and give the domestic industry a breathing spell to catch up.

The task before the ITC is to assess the precise impact of Japanese imports on Detroit’s woes.

“If the weak overall demand for autos that has been evident in recent periods fails to recover significantly, tariffs or quotas would be much less effective in restoring the health of the U.S. industry,” the ITC staff report said.

---

Campus Interviews

TI Corporate Facilities

What You Need

You should have a BS or MS degree in one of the following:

Architectural Engineering Environmental Engineering Chemical Engineering Industrial Engineering Civil Engineering Mechanical Engineering Electrical Engineering

What We Do

The TI Corporate Facilities organization is a group of professionals responsible for layout, engineering and designing the building and facilities systems necessary for manufacturing and testing TI products around the world.

Areas of Activity

Facilities Engineering, including design of systems such as:

Air conditioning and ventilation; Direction of plant equipment installation, operation, maintenance and control; Efficient and environmental control, waste-handling equipment and systems; Electric power and lighting; Energy management and conservation systems involving computer control and monitoring; thermodynamic analysis of energy systems, computer modeling, boiler heat recovery systems; evaluation of new energy sources; Process manufacturing equipment installations; Special craft. The design and development of distribution facilities such as purified water, exotic gases, high pressure fluids, vacuum, Facilities computer-aided design; Planning plant site acquisition, site occupancy and factory space rearrangement. Responsibility for facility appearance through development of building layouts and detail occupancy plans; Trade-off analyses of capital investments and rearrangement plans; Working with operating groups to develop moving and rearrangement projects to solve space problems due to company growth, improve material flow and manufacturing operations.

Live in Dallas

Enjoy the facilities afforded by the country’s 8th largest city, including 20 colleges and an abundance of entertainment. At the same time, take advantage of Dallas’ low cost of living and no state income tax.

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

October 16-17

If unable to interview at this time, send your resume in confidence to: Helen Metzler, P.O. Box 225474, M.S. 2177, Dallas, TX 75265.
...Hillenbrand

sending people to talk to the companies," said Hillenbrand. The common response that they received was that the companies could not get guarantees in Indiana for location, and other necessities for industry. The nine-points program of the senior Hillenbrand would include a contingency fund, which would return the investment the state makes in new industries just getting started. The program would also include targeting high growth potential industrial areas where Orr is responsible. "Son of Bowen" and Bowen trying to create the image that he lose," said Hillenbrand. "Orr is the obstacle that Hillenbrand must close cooperation between the areas and areas where Orr is located in Indiana and were not using it. My father believes that coal is the answer to our energy problems but Indiana has done nothing to develop this resource. This is Hillenbrand's first bid for an elected office. His son believes that this may be more of a help than a hindrance. "We are finding that, through polls, issues like to enact a fascist, conservative from a small town milieu who has had successful administrative experiences," said Hillenbrand. These findings favor Hillenbrand since he is from a small town and has been very successful in administrative experience, according to his son. He has also been the first and only chairman of the Department of Natural Resources, under four governors. "My father constantly has to have a challenge," said Hillenbrand of his father. "He's a competitor and likes a challenge whether it's in business or sports. He was never satisfied to sit back after an accomplishment. He's a workaholic. He's not necessarily a politically oriented leader in that he will not always take the expedient course. When he's in charge whether it's in a tennis court or in business you're going to see things happen."

...Money

One aide, emphasizing that the candidate Hillenbrand has with the present Bowen administration are in the areas where Orr claims Orr has been responsible, and his positions deal with the economic situation of the state and economic policies. According to Parent, the proposed group must develop strategy for dealing with both off-campus housing and crime problems.

...Terror

"My father constantly has to here along with my dad, ready to meet any in any at any particular meeting means nothing, really." Concerning the allocation of $10,000 to the South Bend police department, Parent explained that the city was unable to replenish the department's overtime fund, in order to encourage officers to work overtime for the city department instead of obtaining another job for additional income. The overtime hours, according to Parent, are used to replace hours lost by officers on vacation or off-duty due to illness, as well as increased patrols in the northeast area. Parent attributes the rise in off-campus student crime to the larger number of students in the area and the higher unemployment rate, now between 11 and 12 percent. "Students are more vulnerable. They're easy targets," Parent stated. In response to Corby's spokesman Harold Rowley's charge that Parent is "conspiring" to close down the "freezeouts" area, Parent termed Rowley's charges as "baloney." "Nothing new, just competing with anybody. I've been trying to get the bars to operate properly there for years. If he thinks that started January 1, he's just not being realistic," Parent said.

...Parent

Regarding the responsibility for the safety of students involved in off-campus crime, Parent stated the student population has been forced off-campus, allowing landowners to jack students into housing, charge higher rates, but offer less service. Concerning the ND Administration, form a corporation to oversee student housing conditions and he offered city assistance in the establishment of such a program. According to Parent, the proposed group must develop strategy for dealing with both off-campus housing and crime problems.

...Fence

There will be a preliminary meeting for all those wishing to join the Saint Mary's fencing team on Monday at 7 p.m. in Angela Athletic Facility. Notice practice will begin Monday 13 at 7 p.m. in Angela. For more information call Sharon Moore at 5145 or Ann Hendrick at 5256.

...Pitt

"I have never been to a Superbowl and I have not been to a Steeler game without my father, and, until he made the trip to January's Super Bowl, he could say the same about me. Since I've been at Notre Dame, I've tested regularly but, providentially, I have never seen his father always seems to be a home game or two scheduled over October break break.

This year Oakland will be in Pittsburgh on Monday night game on October 20, and I'll be here along with my dad, ready to meet any in any at any particular meeting means nothing, really." Concerning the allocation of $10,000 to the South Bend police department, Parent explained that the city was unable to replenish the department's overtime fund, in order to encourage officers to work overtime for the city department instead of obtaining another job for additional income. The overtime hours, according to Parent, are used to replace hours lost by officers on vacation or off-duty due to illness, as well as increased patrols in the northeast area. Parent attributes the rise in off-campus student crime to the larger number of students in the area and the higher unemployment rate, now between 11 and 12 percent. "Students are more vulnerable. They're easy targets," Parent stated.

In response to Corby's spokesman Harold Rowley's charge that Parent is "conspiring" to close down the "freezeouts" area, Parent termed Rowley's charges as "baloney." "Nothing new, just competing with anybody. I've been trying to get the bars to operate properly there for years. If he thinks that started January 1, he's just not being realistic," Parent said.
HPC, CCL, NDSG, BOC, Blah, Blah, Blah.

Perhaps you are not as tired of seeing those abbreviated letters in our headlines as we are of printing them. This is an editor's way of not having to say what you personally can do about it.

In case you do not know what those letters stand for—and none of us do—here is an explanation of some of these curious, and seemingly inexplicable, branches of an incoherently organized student government. These organizations started with a good, though unclear, notion of being a better reflection of the desires of all the students.

Some of the student-government members are in disagreement over which branch of student government has the authority to regulate the others. These organizations started with a good, though unclear, notion of being a better reflection of the desires of all the students.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the new constitution is that it establishes a separate, but related, branch of the student government. This is an action that we have advocated for at least a year. The article has a very poor track record, a fact which is beyond dispute. The very administrators who consistently reject their well-reasoned proposals are also the original editors of this newspaper; this is the height of governmental absurdity.

The Observer has advocated for at least a year. The article has a very poor track record, a fact which is beyond dispute. The very administrators who consistently reject their well-reasoned proposals are also the original editors of this newspaper; this is the height of governmental absurdity.

Who are these people? There are talks of instituting a new voting board, a new campus newspaper, and a new student government. But these are only the symptoms of a deeper, more fundamental problem: the separation of church and state. I've heard the message over that you aren't for God or against anyone running in our elections. There was a time when the TV preachers devoted their programs to telling us how angry God was with the way we were behaving.

But now we're being told that God has a vested interest in who we put in public office, and some fundamentalist sects known as the "Moral Majority" are spending lots of money to defeat anyone who is not on the original voting board; this is the height of governmental absurdity.

The issue is whether Marozsan has a vested interest in who we put in public office, and some fundamentalist sects known as the "Moral Majority" are spending lots of money to defeat anyone who is not on the original voting board; this is the height of governmental absurdity.

BUT STUDENT BODY President Paul Riehle's proposal could and should change this situation. He has inherited an inoperative student government and has failed to change the situation. He has advocated for at least a year. The article has a very poor track record, a fact which is beyond dispute. The very administrators who consistently reject their well-reasoned proposals are also the original editors of this newspaper; this is the height of governmental absurdity.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the new constitution is that it establishes a separate, but related, branch of the student government. This is an action that we have advocated for at least a year. The article has a very poor track record, a fact which is beyond dispute. The very administrators who consistently reject their well-reasoned proposals are also the original editors of this newspaper; this is the height of governmental absurdity.
The Observer

Thursday, October 9, 1980 - page 9

The right not to fight leads to no rights at all

Dear Editor,

Marjie Brassi, in your article entitled "A Forecast of Pessimism," you suggest that the conscientious objector, by disobeying an "unique" civil law to fight, is preserving the right of the individual, the right to live and follow his own beliefs. You suggest that the U.S. should "lay down its arms voluntarily," to start a trend toward peace. You suggest that Americans should eschew refuse to fight in a war, thus creating an incentive to avoid war.

I suggest that you wake up.

Suppose for a minute that the U.S. did as you suggest. Suppose we abandoned our arms. Suppose each individual refused to fight. The result would be that tomorrow morning the Russians would invade the eastern seaboard and "convert" us to Communism. Then, where would be the rights of the individual, "the right to live and follow his own beliefs"?

By asserting your "right" not to fight, you will have lost every single freedom and right that your life is based upon. We would no longer have freedom of speech papers. We would no longer be allowed to go to college if we wanted. (Why, in Moscow, the people were overjoyed when the Olympic Games brought with them an ample supply of soap and toothpaste.) You have the "inalienable" rights to life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness, religious freedom, etc., only because our constitution says you have these rights.

By refusing to stand up and fight for those rights you will lose them. And don't think that the Russians won't attack. Let me give you a glimpse of the real world. We are weak right now. Militarily we are not first. Our country has been held at bay for a year by a mob of Iranian students. We are exceedingly vulnerable to an oil embargo.

Our country is presently filled with people arguing for disarmament and draft evasion. They have taken Afghanistan, the largest buildup of arms ever. Their history is filled with lies to the U.S. In Russia, what is morally right is what is good for the state, even if that means our and our lives.

Nobody likes war. However, the best way to prevent war is not to disarm, but to be too strong for any country to fight us. An analogy: Who is more likely to get mugged while walking across campus, Bob Cradle or Joe Pipesqueak? Might doesn't make right, but if we have the might, we can ensure that everyone has rights.

Discipline brings forth peace and justice

Dear Editor,

I offer a few thoughts concerning the "when is the university going to treat us like grown-ups" debate, referred to in Mr. Anthony Walton's editorial (Sept. 23).

First of all, it occurs to me that the truth of the situation is that "grown-up" is not something that happens to you over the night of your 18th birthday, or 21st either. It is a "becoming" and it takes time, experience, and is best accomplished with some wise guidance. When you are 50, I think you will look back and realize just how much you lacked at 18, 19, or 21.

One must also keep in mind that rules are made for whole groups of people. If we were otherwise, those few who truly are more mature and adult could expect more individual freedoms which would then be prudently used. However, in dealing with large numbers, various needs and stages of development must be taken into consideration. In the end, some may find it too binding, will for others it may be more than they can prudently handle.

But one is expected to bend to the "will of the community," by disobeying an "unique" civil law to fight. The result would be that tomorrow morning the Russians would invade the Eastern seaboard for an apparent "no holds barred" university. Perhaps you incorrectly assume their lack of defiance is apathy. Allow me to close with a quote from one wiser than I: "At the time it is administered, all discipline seems a cause for grief and not for joy, but later it brings forth the fruit of peace and justice... (Heb. 12:11)."

"The truth is that rules are not fetters to freedom but rather guides to Liberty and Happiness."

John Dolan

The world has a right to expect peace

Dear Editor,

I "rant" yet to Marjie Brassi's October 6 editorial on conscientious objection.

If we don't struggle now for peace and justice, we will find ourselves later struggling against violence and injustice. To ignore the former struggle in favor of the latter is not only lazy, it is irresponsible. The world's peoples have a right to expect that peace will someday come.

One society can live at peace with its neighbors only if its individuals live at peace with each other; removing the petty vengances, resentments and cruelties that smear human life.

The peaceful man curses not the neighbor who insults him; the peaceful woman hates not the people around them. They live, they breathe peace, they are peace.

Mike DeWerte
Features

---

Scary Monsters

David Bowie

RCA

Scary Monsters returns the ever-undefinable David Bowie to the people who regard Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars as one of the greatest popular recordings in rock history. Bowie’s bouncing, zigzagging career pushed out the numerous avenues of glitter-heavy metal/soul/progressive/classical rock music has created an aura of uncertainty about the man, who refuses to be defined by either the press or his fans.

Nobody really knows what kind of music Bowie will produce on any one project, or what kind of success the album will achieve. This has proven maddening to recording executives, who want a reliable and predictable product, and to record buyers, who always hope an album to sound pretty much like the last one they recorded.

But for Bowie, the name of the game is experimentation. Not only has the avant-garde composer moved from glitter-rock to soul to progressive rock to jazz rock to neo-disco to God-knows-what-else faster than one can see him, but he has also embraced film and venturing, art exposions, scriptwriting, and presently is starring in the Broadway hit, "The Elephant Man." Truly, here is a multi-talented hipster, an artist who refuses to be bounded by the ties of pop production.

Unfortunately, this freewheeling attack on rock’s numerous styles has, over the years, alienated a great deal of Bowie’s once wide audience generated from his art-rock classic, Ziggy Stardust. On that album, Bowie dealt with the sad isolation of a mythical musician—O n the album, Bowie dealt with the sad isolation of a mythical musician—

---

Tbere and Back

Jeff Beck

Epic

Jeff Beck’s new album, There and Back, proves the theory of the time that music as an art form the future is not worth as much as it is now to other words, There and Back would have meant much more three years ago. After Blow by Blow, Wired, and Live with Lou Reed, Jeff Beck had nowhere to go but down. His work on these albums defined new sounds for jazz guitar but he didn’t take it upon himself to carry on the apocalyptic journey.

After the Hammer album, Beck returned to his birthplace, England, away from the frayed ends of the road and race cars. The Hammer group recording, as an album termned useless by Beck, may have in fact contributed to Jeff’s next year’s "vacation" time left. It’s the original material was written mostly by Hammer, and Beck is backed exclusively by the band’s hand. This album marked the exit of one of rock’s glitter-guitarists. Yet, remarkably enough, three of the eight cuts off There and Back are Hammer compositions, only this time Beck is the headline act.

There and Beck could possibly pass as a combination of Blow by Blow and the percussive drive of Wired. The new album, however, is less mean than the sum of its parts. Discounting them over three years at Beck’s career-long inactivity, I think you and you have the present value of There and Back.

The first cut on the album, "El Becks," harks back to Beck’s days on The Jeff Beck Group album ‘in sum to the tight choppy number "Going Down." "Space Boogie" and "The Pump" are the other number-only in which Beck’s guitar shines through as it should. This lack of definition in the guitar work is often due to Hammer’s prominent role in the mix as perfunctory.

One thing all Beck’s solo albums, including this one, have in common. These are their lack of the human voice (with the exception of a voice box on Blow by Blow). This is a vital part of a Beck production since his guitar talks for itself. As Beck is quoted last year in Rolling Stone, "I like people with real voices, like Otis Redding." This is a musical source from a man who gave Rod Stewart one of his first jobs (along with Ronnie Wood) just about the time the Yardbirds broke up. Let’s just say Jeff Beck was at the top of his profession.

The new album is impelling simply because it’s a Jeff Beck LP and you know that every note is genuine. From a man who was viewed as a neo-disco-style artistationally, and acclaimed criminally as Beck you can’t help but believe that it’s nothing less than a natural phenomenon. By taking his good old time about it, he has tried to make a musically honest album and not just a contractual obligation. At 36 years of age, he has a long way to go before he reaches the life expectancy of your average rock-star.

Considering where the guitar has been taken since Beck put it down (the Talking Heads! David Byrde, Pull Image Limited’s Keith Levene, Robert Fripp, et al.), it evident that he has something up his sleeve. This is not to say that he couldn’t have done the time it takes to do another album. In fact, his absence hopefully has helped him to fit himself in the changing world of pop music.

---

Scoop Sullivan

Gene Zychowicz

Tim Neely

---

Rock Trivia

Round III: Albums

I offered another toughie last week. Here we go. I offer no clue to any of the answers I had many correct entries. The one that wins the $10 the entry submitted by Joe Delaney of Fisher Hall. He will receive his winnings in the mail shortly. (The correct answers from last week’s quiz can be found below this week’s quiz questions.)

As far as my first quiz was concerned, I had no entries with ten correct answers; therefore, I have no winner to announce. Sorry about that.

The usual offer holds this week: if you want to be a winner, write in your correct answer, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

This week’s quiz has to do with albums. So if you can’t get it right, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

The following Stones album was released only a few months after its predecessor, yet contains two songs which were on their previous album.

What was the last Rolling Stones album released?

What was the first album released by the Doors after the death of Jim Morrison?

What was the first album released by any Beatle that was a movie soundtrack?

What is the name of the album that was with Stealers Wheel; (8) Joe Walsh of the Eagles and solo fame came from; (7) Gerry Rafferty was; (6) Sonic Boom; (5) Jerry Jeff Walker was a member of the. Eagles and solo fame came from; (4) Christine McVie (then known as Christine Perfect) sang with Chicken Shack; (3) Keith Emerson of Emerson, Lake, and Palmer came from; (2) No one bothered to shut off the tape recorder. What is the name of the album that won $10 is the entry submitted by Joe Delaney of Fisher Hall. He will receive his winnings in the mail shortly. (The correct answers from last week’s quiz can be found below this week’s quiz questions.)

As far as my first quiz was concerned, I had no entries with ten correct answers; therefore, I have no winner to announce. Sorry about that.

The usual offer holds this week: if you want to be a winner, write in your correct answer, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

This week’s quiz has to do with albums. So if you can’t get it right, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

The following Stones album was released only a few months after its predecessor, yet contains two songs which were on the. Eagles and solo fame came from; (7) Sonic Boom; (6) The Jeff Beck Group album and the now and the name of the orchestra. (I want the name of this album?

What was the name of the album that was a movie soundtrack?

What was the name of the album that won $10 is the entry submitted by Joe Delaney of Fisher Hall. He will receive his winnings in the mail shortly. (The correct answers from last week’s quiz can be found below this week’s quiz questions.)

As far as my first quiz was concerned, I had no entries with ten correct answers; therefore, I have no winner to announce. Sorry about that.

The usual offer holds this week: if you want to be a winner, write in your correct answer, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

This week’s quiz has to do with albums. So if you can’t get it right, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

The following Stones album was released only a few months after its predecessor, yet contains two songs which were on the.

What was the first album released by the Doors after the death of Jim Morrison?

What was the first album released by any Beatle that was a movie soundtrack?

What is the name of the album that was with Stealers Wheel; (8) Joe Walsh of the Eagles and solo fame came from; (7) Gerry Rafferty was; (6) Sonic Boom; (5) Jerry Jeff Walker was a member of the Eagles and solo fame came from; (4) Christine McVie (then known as Christine Perfect) sang with Chicken Shack; (3) Keith Emerson of Emerson, Lake, and Palmer came from; (2) No one bothered to shut off the tape recorder. What is the name of the album that won $10 is the entry submitted by Joe Delaney of Fisher Hall. He will receive his winnings in the mail shortly. (The correct answers from last week’s quiz can be found below this week’s quiz questions.)

As far as my first quiz was concerned, I had no entries with ten correct answers; therefore, I have no winner to announce. Sorry about that.

The usual offer holds this week: if you want to be a winner, write in your correct answer, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!

This week’s quiz has to do with albums. So if you can’t get it right, bring your answers to the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune by noon Friday. Your entry will be put in a drawing with all other correct entries and one draw will win $10. Good luck!
Campus

11 a.m.-12 p.m., suvon show, educational media, all faculty and staff invited, library lounge. •
12 p.m., meeting, italian club, italian speaking profs invited, faculty room, south dining hall. •
1-3:15 p.m., blood donations, keenan and stanford. •
4:15 p.m., speaker, david mcdougough, british conservative authority, business administration, "the history and rise of a new conservatism," 124 hayes-healy. •
4:15 p.m., speaker, christian lawyers' forum, prof. conrad kellenberg, nd, "how to sin socially," 110 christian lawyers' forum, vatism," 124 hayes-healy. •
8 p.m., faculty and staff invited, library lounge. •
9 p.m., greg butler, ad, "a year of course, sure you better?" 206 office, carroll hall. •
10 p.m., workshop, psych, 8 p.m., faculty recital, 9 p.m., speaker, dr. eugene mcmurphy, 9 p.m., speaker, prof. conrad kellenberg, nd, "how to sin socially," •
12 p.m., meeting, Italian speaking profs invited, faculty room, south dining hall. •

Molarity

ARE YOU GOING TO VOTE FOR EUGENE MCMURPHY HUH??

OH...AH...AH...YES, OF COURSE. SURE YOU BETTER!

YOU OK??

YOU ARE WHAT?!

Peanuts

I CAN'T CONCENTRATE
MARGIE...ALL I CAN THINK
OF IS THAT KID CALLING
ME GOLF BALL NOSE?

DON'T LET IT BOther
YOU SIR...READ YOUR
BOOK, AND PUT IT OUT
OF YOUR MIND

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 Howdy — and Thoreau
6 Crony 27 Slump
9 Sea-bound 31 Declarative
14 New Delhi 35 Indonesian
15 Indian 34 Little
16 Acylate 34 Little
17 Metallosome 36 Indonesian
19 Certain 39 United
20 Granary 41 Level of command
21 Continental 43 Fencing
classified
23 Point of 47 Pin-up art
land
25 Sunshine 49 Academy:
26 Longfellow 50 Degrader and Thoreau 54 With
27 Slump 55 Cannabis
28 Dusting 56 Cannabis
30 Declarative 58 Jeneoptes
31 Declarative 59 Jeneoptes
32 Innocent 60 Name in
33 Little 62 Name in
34 Little 63 Floor
35 Indonesian 64 Square
36 Indonesian 65 Landing
37 United 66 Landing
atlas
41 Level of command 67 — to a
classified
43 Fencing 68 Edible
47 Pin-up art 69 Knop works
classified
49 Academy:
50 Degrader
54 With
55 Cannabis
58 Jeneoptes
60 Name in
62 Name in
63 Floor
64 Square
65 Landing
66 Landing
67 — to a
classified
68 Edible
69 Knop works
classified

Yesterdays Puzzle Solved:

Don't let it bother you, sir...read your book, and put it out of your mind.

The Observer
Today
Thursday, October 9, 1980 - page 11

Campus

Molarity

Peanuts

The Daily Crossword

FRESHMAN

If you missed getting your picture in the Freshman Register...

Applications for the Freshman Register will be taken
Oct. 9th from 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm
next to the ticket office, 2nd floor LaFortune

FRESHMAN Register... is now being printed.

Those, other than Freshman,
interested in ordering a Register may do so.
(St. Mary's Freshman will be contacted by the St. Mary's Freshman Council)

Bar-B-Q/Brew Special
5-10 p.m. $100 OFF
Any Pitcher of Beer with Food Purchase
-----------------------
Saturday Open Immediately
Following the Game
Irish field hockey team to defend 3-0 home record

by David Wilson

Sports Writer

Having completed a very successful week of action away from home, the Irish field hockey team boasts a respectable 5-2 record going into today's match against Goshen on Carrier Field. The Goshen game is the first of an important four-game homestand on the Astronaut.

Friday the team meets St. Mary's in the eighth game of the annual rivalry. Compiling a 5-2 record, the Irish have dominated the series since its beginning.

The homestand will be completed with matches against Valparaiso and Marian next Monday and Thursday, respectively. Shoulder Notre Dame defeat Valparaiso, according to team manager Nina Deleone, the Irish will be guaranteed a bye in the first round of the upcoming state tournament, which begins October 30th.

The team rounds out the regular season with its final six games on the road. Recent action included a 4-1 double-overtime win over Taylor.

"Jean Grasso and Pat Crowley were instrumental in the win," said Deleone. "And Debbie Raehl did a super job as goalie."

In last weekend's tournament at Depauw, Notre Dame again stretched a match into double-overtime before finally losing to the host club.

The Irish went on to win the consolation game against Lake Forest 1-0, powered by the fine play of Kathy Rae. Rae scored the lone goal in the game, assisted by Pat Crowley.

And finally, in what Deleone termed a "dull but important game," the team defeated Kalamazoo in Michigan last Monday on a single goal by Diane Tournet.

"We're finally jelling as a team," said first-year coach Jan Galen. "The team has been working hard and we're finally starting to score consistently."

Thus, armed with their recent successes on the road, the Irish bring momentum into the Goshen match today, as they defend their unbeaten 5-0 home record.

---

Sports Staff

Don't forget meeting 6:30 pm

FRANK ZAPPA

in concert

Notre Dame ACC

Friday Nov 14th

Student Lottery

Sunday, Oct.12, 7p.m.

Lafortune Ballroom

bring Student ID

$9.00/$8.00
The Pittsburgh Steeler Religion

My dad introduced me to the game of football many autumns ago when I was much too young to realize all the implications of being a bona fide fan. At first I couldn't understand what it was about the game that held such hypnotic appeal for the old man, who would sooner miss a meal than miss a single play. But I played the role and went along with all of it, tagging behind to high school games and college games and knowing reverently in front of the television during those New Year's Day quadrupleheaders while impatiently counting the "one Mississippi — two Mississippi" seconds that slowly clicked off the scoreboard and never quite figuring why I was doing it or why the hell they stopped the clock every time some idiot ran out of bounds.

And it went on that way until two very significant things occurred that forever changed my outlook on football and, consequently, on life: I turned 12 and the Pittsburgh Steelers drafted Franco Harris. (Looking back on it now, I guess drafting Harris was a little more important than turning 12.)

It was 10 years ago and it is just like yesterday that I was sitting in Scott Petrie's basement watching Franco carry the re-born Steelers to the AFC Central division crown. Darrell Brown was there with his brother, Brad, and Art Monk and Dennis DelBusto and life for all of us was Steeler games on Sunday and talk of nothing else for every day after.

When they won, we were in heaven. Watching Franco run was like doing it yourself. We were all on top of the television, grab your coat and head for home. Thankfully they only lost three games that season. But that was the beginning — or the end — for me. I had become a hopeless football addict, drawing a fix every Sunday and a quick pick-me-up on Monday nights. I don't think about how it was before. In fact, I can't really remember...

Or maybe I just don't want to.

I've held Steeler season tickets these past eight years and I never missed a game until I came to Notre Dame. Sunday mornings before home games were the greatest with breakfast at the Villa Rosa, located right next to the stadium and inevitably jammed with Steeler fans who have but one thing on their collective mind: "We got a war on our hands, fellows, and we're all in this together!"

You see, the brotherhood forged at the stadium is unique. For three or four hours the concerns of the everyday world are left at the turnstiles. Inside there is no talk of inflation or oil prices, Carter's iniquity or Iran. The fans at the stadium have one problem to worry about.

"How's Bradshaw's shoulder?"

"Can Stabler avoid the rush?"

"What's the wet field gonna do to Payton?"

"Are there still lines in the restroom?"

Race barriers are crossed, religious differences are forgotten...

Religion?

Hell, the Packers are a religion!

---

Injuries

(continued from page 10)

but he won't be at full strength,” according to Devine. Duerson, a sophomore from Muncie, Ind., suffered a badly sprained ankle, according to Devine. Duerson, a sophomore from Muncie, Ind., suffered a neck problem, sustained a concussion of his leg in the Michigan game, and missed the MSU contest.

Placem ent holder Tim Koegel, a senior, suffered a neck problem, sustained a concussion of his leg in the Michigan game, and missed the MSU contest.

Frank LaGrotta

BAHAMAS UPDATE

TRAVEL NIGHT Mon Oct 13

8pm O'LAUGHLIN

(flight times, room arrangements, activities, etc.)

REMEMBER THAT YOU NEED

ONE OF THE FOLLOWING TO GET INTO NASSAU:

- passport
- voter registration card
- copy of birth certificate

In UNIVERSITY PARK MALL

Family Hairstyling Center

GREAT STYLES FOR GREAT PEOPLE

$2.50 OFF Any Hair Service

GOOD TRIM V. 10

UNIVERSITY PARK MALL

HOURS: Mon-Sat 10 AM - 9 PM

APPOINTMENTS RECOMMENDED

277-3770

The Observer Thursday, October 9, 1980 - page 13
The last time Sharon Petro took a Notre Dame tennis team to a tournament they walked away with the crown. The year was 1978. The Irish ladies posed a 7-3 slate en route to their Division III title.

Petro took a year’s absence from the courts in 1979. That season she was easy going Notre Dame’s women’s basketball squad to a 20-10 mark, and Indiana’s Division III state championship. That season, the tennis squad rocketed to a sparkling 19-1 record, but fell short of the state title, finishing runner-up instead.

This season, Notre Dame moved up to division II. And Petro moved back to the tennis courts.

Her Irish have amassed 13 victories against only one loss this fall. Her tournament magic appears to be in working order for tomorrow, when she will lead the Irish contingent into Division II state competition as the section favorite.

“I’m a little nervous,” she admits. “We’ve never gone into the state tourney as the top team. But I expect to do very well. This team has given me no reason not to expect that.”

Checking the squad’s 1980 score board, it is easy to see why Petro’s expectations are anything but fanned. Her team’s only loss was a 7-3 fall to Northwestern Illinois in last weekend’s Chicago-Circle tournament, a match played without the services of top Irish players.

Earlier in the season, Notre Dame routed the Huskies 8-1.

Another reason for optimism was evidenced in Tuesday’s convincing victory over perennial power Butler, the Division II defending champion. The Bulldogs, who were tagged as the team that would give Notre Dame its toughest competition in state play, fell victim to the Irish in a dual match, 8-1.

Should anyone begin to wonder why the other eight teams bother with those a few problems to contend with in Indiana’s Division II state tournament magic appears to be in working order for tomorrow, when she will lead the Irish contingent into Division II state competition as the section favorite.

Of course the question mark facing Petro surrounds fifth singles and second doubles star Mary Legeny. The talented junior also suffers from tendon damage in her hand, and has not played for the past couple of weeks.

Legeny boasts a 7-0 and 12-0 record at singles and doubles, respectively, and has nabbed a state crown at number-five singles in each of her first two years at Notre Dame.

For as long as she can remember, people have had an impossible time telling the difference between Cronin and her doubles partner apart. Because for as long as she can remember, Sheila has played with her twin sister Laura.

For what she remembers, there is no other real partner in her life.

This fall, when Laura decided to forgo her senior season, Sheila had to come up with a new partner. So she decided to play with junior Carol Shukis at number-one doubles in her last senior year at St. Mary’s. Sheila has never played number-three singles and number-one doubles.

For as long as she can remember, people have had an impossible time telling the difference between Cronin and her doubles partner apart. Because for as long as she can remember, Sheila has played with her twin sister Laura. Cronin no longer has that problem.

After tryouts were over, people were starting to pick their partners, and Stasia didn’t have one. I knew we were starting to pick their partners, and Stasia didn’t have one. I knew she was a good doubles player, so I asked her if she wanted to give it a try,” explains Cronin, whoneglects to add that her new partner is a statuesque blonde, who towers above her at 5-11.

But you can’t argue with success, and Cronin and Obrumsky certainly have had their share. The pair compiled a 6-1 mark since unseating Cindy Schuster and Carol Shukis at number-three doubles, including a key victory that enabled the Irish to upset the University of Illinois for the first time in last weekend’s University of Illinois-Chicago Circle Classic.

In addition to her doubles success, Cronin has been voted Notre Dame’s captain by her teammates, lacing sparkles at singles for the 13th Irish. Her 13-1 ledger includes fourth singles championships at the Notre Dame, University of Illinois, Mary’s Tournament and the Irish Invitational.

Indiana AIAW Division II
State Tournament
Indianapolis, IN
Friday and Saturday
October 10th and 11th

Irish line-up

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PLAYER</th>
<th>SINGLES</th>
<th>DOUBLES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cindy Schuster, Sr.</td>
<td>17-7</td>
<td>13-5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linda Hoyer, Sr.</td>
<td>39-18</td>
<td>14-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pam Freehafer, Fr.</td>
<td>13-0</td>
<td>15-1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carol Shukis, Jr.</td>
<td>10-6</td>
<td>19-1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mary Legeny, Jr.</td>
<td>7-10</td>
<td>12-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peggie Walsh, Jr.</td>
<td>21-6</td>
<td>17-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tina Stephan, Jr.</td>
<td>7-4</td>
<td>13-5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sheila Cronin, Jr.</td>
<td>15-7</td>
<td>21-1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stasia Obrumsky, Jr.</td>
<td>3-2</td>
<td>11-1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The 1980 Notre Dame women’s tennis team.

She and doubles partner Pam Fischer are the state’s top seeded second doubles pair.

“I’d like to see Mary do well this Friday,” noted Petro. “She’s been the state champion for the past two years and it’d be nice to see that continue.”

The no. 1 doubles Notre Dame’s line-up is composed of veteran tournament players as well. Sophomore sensation Linda Hoyer is the defending state and regional champ at number-two singles, and owns a 10-2 mark this season.

Hoyer and partner Tina Stephan are the top seeded tandem at number-one doubles. They compiled a 13-5 ledger this fall.

Freshman are in play at third singles, while junior Carol Shukis holds down the fourth spot. Shukis’ 13-1 ledger includes second place honors in the Notre Dame record of 34, set by Laura and Stasia Cronin.

Peggy Walsh is Notre Dame’s sixth player. The third doubles team of captain Sheila Cronin and Stasia Obrumsky will aid the Irish in their quest as well.

There is a slight departure from last year’s tournament format. Previously, the top two teams in the tourney advanced to regional play, but this season, only the state champ will go on. Individual players will, however, continue to qualify if they win their flight.

Petro has made her goals quite clear. “We want to win the state championship. Our attitude is in a definite plus. These girls are fighters. They don’t give up. A lot of our wins have been due to our deterred attitude—and I’ll take that over high level skill any day.”

P Petro will not have to make a choice between the two, for her tennis contingent appears to possess both the physical and mental ability needed to earn the Irish yet another state title.

Sheila Cronin
NOTICES

WANTED

INSTANT CASH PAID FOR CLASS
THRUNS—GOALS—NOVICE—
DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIPS

NEED 2 GA MIAMI TIX (or MIAMI
AND GOD SAID: "LET IT ROCK"

FOR FALL BREAK. Will share even the tiniest. Desperate... need two GA or students. Call Jim 1073.

HELP! Need 2 or 4 tix for Army, call Carl 1237-3857 or Carl the Best.

NEED ONE MIAMI STUDENT TIX. CALL
Brockelman-Klug (232-0921) vs. Battle-
Wilkas (1154) vs. Mountain (3368)
Rigali (1654) vs Simonl (3087)
M E N 'S NOVICE— SEMIFINALS

M T E R H A L L FOOTBALL RESULTS

NOTRE DAME 3, BETHELON
Cavanaugh 7, Morrissey 0

THE MEANING OF LIFE III
THURSDAY FROM 9-12 IN THE ZAHM
HALL.
Thursday, October 9, 1980 - page 16

Multiple injuries plague Notre Dame’s line-up

by Clint Needle & Jerry Water

The Notre Dame football team, while acquiring three victories in games so far this season, has also acquired a number of nagging injuries to key players. And as the Irish head into one of their toughest games of the season this Saturday against 13th-ranked Miami (Fla.), these injuries may finally begin to take their toll.

Following is the lengthy casualty list, complete with respective injuries and chances for playing on Saturday:

1. It was announced yesterday that senior strong safety Steve Cichy, who chipped a vertebrae on the opening kickoff against Purdue, has been "redshirted" and will not play for the remainder of the 1980 season, in making the announcement. Head Coach Dan Devine cited "conflicting medical opinions" regarding a possible re-injury to Cichy’s neck as the reason for the decision.

2. Before Steve’s injury, I rated him as one of the three players on our team,” Devine said. “But he was more than a player. He was like an extension of the coaching staff on the field, I know his final two years will be great ones.

3. Cichy, a 6-2, 215-pounder from Fargo, N.D., was under-standably disappointed by yesterday’s turn of events. “Sure, it’s a disappointment, he said,” especially since this is Coach Devine’s last year here. It just seems like they (the doctors who examined him) were playing with my mind. First I was told I couldn’t play, and then the "experts" said that I could. Now they say I can’t again.”

Those "experts" that Cichy referred to were the physicians from the renown Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., who examined him last week and gave him a clean bill of health, thereby allowing him to resume workouts.

Cichy now has two years of eligibility remaining, because NCAA rules permit a player injured in the first two regularly scheduled games to retain the season’s eligibility.

2. Halfback Phil Carter, currently the team’s second leading rusher in the country, suffered a badly bruised thigh and other assorted bruises in last Saturday’s victory over Michigan State’s concrete-hard astroturf. Devine said yesterday that it will be “another day or two” before it is known whether Carter will be in the lineup Saturday.

Carter, a sophomore, has been on crutches and in and out of the infirmary all week long, and has not practiced at all this week.

3. Tight end Dean Mazzausk has sprained his ankle in yesterday’s practice on Carter Field. As of last night, it was not known how serious the sprain is, or Mazzausk’s status for the Miami game.

4. Senior offensive guard Tim Huffman, who had been penciled in as a starter this week after missing the first three contests with a broken foot, remodeled that same foot during practice yesterday, and it is doubtful that he will see action on Saturday.

5. Starting cornerback Dave Duerson “will play for Saturday”

Your mission, Mr. Courey, should you decide to accept it is to quarterback the University of Notre Dame football team until we are able to find a suitable replacement. As always, if you or any members of the Irish are caught, or

K.C., Houston win

Royals---Astr"

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—

Yankee-killer Larry Gura survived consecutive single and double hits and a two-run homer in the second inning and stopped the Royals Monday, 4-2.

The veteran left-hander notched his fourth win in four starts after surrendering a double in the second and a one-out hit to George Brett, the senior circuit’s slugging leader, slammed a solo home run in the fifth inning.

With the 7-2 victory over New York, the Royals, who have the best record in the American League, improved their record to 2-0 in the best-of-five American League Championship Series.

Gura, an ex-Yankee who has won his last seven regular-season decisions from this old club but was only 1-2 against them in playoff action, settled down after surrendering a double in each of the first three innings, as well as home runs by Rickey Henderson and Lou Piniella with one out in the second inning. Gura was the first time consecutive home runs had been hit in AL playoff history.

The veteran left-hander notched his fourth win in four starts after surrendering a double in the second and a one-out hit to George Brett. And he'll do it the same way he's done everything else at Notre Dame, cheering for Blair Kiel. And he'll do it the

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—

Blair Kiel has replaced Courey in the last two Irish wins. It has not been officially announced who Kiel will start the Miami game on Saturday.

Senior quarterback Mike Courey has had a troublesome career at Notre Dame. The 6-2, 200-pounder has rushed 20 times for 73 yards, completed 9 of 36 passes for 261 yards and helped account for three touchdowns thus far in 1980. (Photo by John Macor)

FRESHMAN BLAIR KIEL has replaced Courey in the last two Irish wins. It has not been officially announced who Kiel will start the Miami game on Saturday.

For Courey

Mission Impossible

Craig

Chval

continued on page 13

continued on page 12