New NDSG constitution passes

The student body has passed the new constitution for the Student Government in one of the largest voter turnouts in the last three years.

With the passage of the new constitution, the main active body of the Student Government will be the Student Senate. The Student Senate will consist of nineteen members and will replace the former Board of Commissioners.

The members of the Board of Commissioners will remain as members of the Senate. Added to this are four members from the Hall Presidents Council, all the class presidents, another off-campus representative, and four representatives from four proposed campus districts. The four districts have been chosen so that they are similar in population and location.

The next steps to take this to the Board of Trustees, said Student Body President Paul Riehle. He is hoping that the Trustees will grant the Senate some legislative powers so that it may accomplish more than the existing legislation has. Riehle succinctly stated, "Man, I'm psyched."

The first order of business after the vote will be to decide upon four representatives from the four campus districts. Riehle proposes to hold a meeting for interested candidates and to hold campaigns during the week of November 5 - 12.

After the elections the Senate will hold its first meeting tentatively scheduled for November 17. The meeting will be held in an open-campus format where students can express their ideas to the Senate. Topics of consideration by the Senate will include a complete evaluation of dormitation by the Senate.

The voting, conducted by Osbunshman, showed that 55 percent of the student body had voted. Of that 55 percent, 96 percent voted "yes" for the new constitution. The minimum of students required for voting on the referendum was fifty percent with at least two-thirds needed to ensure passage.

GI fathers leave offsprings

by Seth Miyash
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Asia is crowded with children searching for their roots — roots that go back to the United States, a country they have never seen, where they have fathers most of them will never know.

The Amer-Asian children of U.S. servicemen are growing older, many of them in poverty and in societies that reject them. And they are asking who they are.

"Only in recent years have I thought about my father. I would like to know what kind of person he is. I would like to know where I came from," says Kim Dae Shik, a 22-year-old Korean fathered by an American.

"I feel like killing the people who call me names," says Tom, a half-American Thai teen-ager who was rejected for military service because he could not name his parents. "I have applied to settle in America because I think I can find more warmth there than here."

WEDNESDAY FOCUS

"I only want to meet my father and talk with him. I would like to meet his family if possible," says Kunichi Tokushiki, 50, son of an American GI once stationed in Okinawa.

Like many mixed-blood children, Tokushiki does not know his father's name. He thinks it may have been something like Peterson and that he was a sergeant. "I would like to meet my father again, for Mother is presently waiting his return," he says.

Unless they can prove their parentage, the Amer-Asians (estimates of their number range upward from 60,000) have no claim to U.S. citizenship or aid. And even if an Amer-Asian knows his father's name, the U.S. government will not help him find him.

In Japan, the children can claim Japanese citizenship under a law allowing them to take the nationality of their mothers. A law that grants U.S. citizenship to mixed-blood children born out of wedlock. The minority whose fathers married their mothers before departing are neither Japanese nor American.

Figures on the number of mixed-blood children born in Japan since World War II are not readily available, but the Asahi Shimbun newspaper says 3,500 live in Okinawa alone.

Prejudice against them in Japanese society has often encouraged Japanese and cultural heritage, has been expressed since the days when "occupation babies" were shameful proof that Japan was conquered.

In Korea, an estimated 3,000 to 8,000 Amer-Asian children have been born since the Korean

Arrests on marijuana charges came to 125 in northern Indiana with the charging of a 32-year old Retsof man, the first under a new task force policy, officers said yesterday. Jerry Konuk was being held on $14,000 bond at the Newton County Jail. He was arrested Monday on charges of possession of marijuana in connection with a marijuana intent to sell. Officers said several hundred pounds of marijuana were recovered from Konuk and his home. They said it had an estimated value of $50,000. The task force policy is being conducted by the Lowell State Police post in Newton, Jasper, Starke and Pulaski counties. Konuk is in jail in brown in those counties because it was harvested and used for rope during the past world war. Authorities have been unable to kill it out. AP, Retsof, Ind.

A U.S. Navy amphibious force, including about 1,800 Marines, has left the port tonight and tomorrow, a month cruise, the Pentagonal announced yesterday. At the same time, spokesman Thomas Rosi said, a big Russian amphibious war force is operating 29 ships in the Indian Ocean. The Rogov reportedly had about 400 Soviet naval infantry aboard. There was no indication whether the Marine battalion will be replaced in the Indian Ocean. The battalion, which had made a rest stop in Australia, is traveling aboard four Navy amphibious ships, now in the South China Sea. Currently, the Navy has 35 ships in the Indian Ocean-Arabian Sea-Persian Gulf area. The Russian navy is operating 29 ships in those waters. AP, Washington.

Who is to blame?

For the past couple of weeks now, the "hot" issue of off-campus crime has scorchcd the lives of numerous students and parents living in the Northeast Neighborhood. People have been brutally kicked, stabbed and threatened at gun- point. Stereos, television sets, gold watches and rings have been hacked and pawed. Residents are dead and wounded and students are up in arms, literally. This is life, less than a mile from campus.

The facts of the situation are grim. Fact number one: Students have shown repeatedly that they do not care if their property is bruised, beaten or battered. Fact number two: The Northeast Neighborhood has repeatedly shown that they do not care whether the students are bruised, beaten or battered. Fact number three: The South Bend city administration has been blamed for the gross neglect and inefficiencies of the Notre Dame administration.

Last week Mayor Parent held court at Saint Mary's as part of Political Week. At the end of Parent's program, he gave students the chance to ask questions about the crime situation. The perfect opportunity. I said to myself, for those who have been victimized recently to voice their complaint. Only fifteen students bothered to show up — students who have not been personally affected by the crime problem. Where was Mark Kelley, off-campus commuter? And Paul Riehle, student body president? Iranians continue heavy fighting against Iraq

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iran's American-built jets on Tuesday bombed Baghdad for the first time in more than a week. Iraqi ground units shot their way slowly over marshy terrain in an effort to put the Iranian oil-refining city of Abadan under siege.

Iran claimed to have put down a Kurdish insurrection during two days of fighting along the Iran-Turkey frontier. And the Iranian Parliament was reported to have asked other Islamic and non-aligned nations to put pressure on Iraq to end the fighting as new mediation efforts got under way.

AP correspondent Steve K. Hindy reported from the pontoon bridge that the Iraqis installed on the Karun River last week between Khorraramshahr and Abadan that the invaders appeared to have mounted a siege of both cities.

He reported seeing four large fires burning on one side of the river. He quoted the Iraqi commander in the area as saying his wipers exploded the Abadan-Derful-Ahwaz-Tehran pipeline at those four points. The pipeline normally carries refined oil products to Tehran.

Hindy said the Iraqis were clearly masters of the Khorramshahr-Ahwaz highway and railway on the western side of the river and the Abadan-Ahwarz highway on the eastern side. He said he saw several carriers moving Iraqi troops toward the front.

An Iraqi military communique said 12 civilians were wounded in the air attack on Baghdad. A photographer in the Iraqi capital said a heavy plume of what looked like oil smoke could be seen over the section where oil installations are located.

Iraq's military command said its forces in the southern end of the 100-mile battlefront spread out in three directions from positions north of the embattled port city of Khorraramshahr.

One Iraqi tank force drove southward in the direction of the Persian Gulf in an apparent attempt to surround Abadan and complete its takeover of the vital shipping lanes of the Shatt al-Arab waterway.

The Shatt al-Arab is Iran's only route to the gulf and until the start of the war 23 days ago was the border between the two nations. Abadan is Iran's largest refining center with a capacity for handling 600,000 barrels a day.

Another branch of the Iraqi force pushed northward to attack highways, rail lines and an Iranian oil pipeline. The third push was to the east toward a highway connecting Abadan with Iran's oil fields and its tanker bases along the gulf's eastern shore.

Washington (AP) - After a five-month suspension, Egypt and Israel formally reopened negotiations yesterday on how to give more than 1 million Palestinian Arabs a larger voice in determining their future.

As the talks resumed under U.S. auspices, Egypt offered to give the Palestinians living on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in Gaza a role in determining land policy in the occupied territory, diplomatic sources said.

The sources also said Israel had reaffirmed that it plans no further settlements in the area other than those it previously announced it would build on the West Bank, but the issue of whether existing Israeli settlements may be "thickened" has not been resolved.

The Israeli position was outlined in a document brought from Jerusalem over the weekend by an Israeli Ministry official, Chaim Kupersky. According to the sources, who refused to be identified, it also reaffirmed the Israeli stance that no additional settlements beyond the four are contemplated.

U.S. officials were described as encouraged by the Israeli stand and were said to consider it constructive.

However, as the negotiations began, Josef Burg, head of the Israeli delegation, denied that Israel had made any major concessions.

At the same time, he said he had come to Washington to negotiate and not simply to prepare for a summit meeting President Carter intends to hold sometime after the Nov. 4 elections with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Before the talks opened, American mediators met with the Egyptian side to try to work out a formal Egyptian position. The original draft apparently reflected no substantive change in policy.

The first round of talks was held at Blair House, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1980 Nobel prizes in physics and chemistry were awarded yesterday to four Americans and a British for discoveries that may shed light on the universe of the dim past and could open the door to medical miracles.

The choices continued recent American dominance of the Nobel science prizes. The British chemistry laureate, Frederick Sanger, is only the second person to be awarded a Nobel Prize.

Rev. Henriot expresses ‘Global Justice’ concern

By Marty Masby

Fr. Don McNell, director of Notre Dame’s Center for Experiential Learning, which sponsored the lecture, commented, “This is a very articulate voice in solidarity with people of goodwill.”

Henriot believes that the United States and the United Nations need to engage in a new round of nuclear talks.

In response to a question, Henriot explained that the current state of Soviet-American relations posed a “growing danger.”

He cited specific reports and meetings which have addressed structural issues between wealthy and poor countries within the past year. From one of these reports, “Global 2000,” Henriot inferred, “We’re not going happily toward the year 2000.”

He added, “It isn’t just the poor people’s problem, ultimately global problems affect the rich as well.”

All of these reports were compiled by distinguished panels who, according to Henriot, “said what revolutionary and radicals have been shouting for years.”

Basicall, they call for a fundamental restructuring of institutions which have created a profound imbalance in wealth throughout the world.

There have been three important meetings during 1980 dealing with global justice issues.

The UN Conference on Women, which was held in Copenhagen, looked critically at the position of women in the world. Henriot said, “Promotion of social and economic justice must take seriously the needs of the 51% majority of human kind — women.”

Henriot made reference to the U.N. special sessions of the General Assembly on Economic Issues, commenting that negotiations between rich and poor countries did not accomplish a great deal.

Henriot, a doctor of political science, sketched three scenarios of future possibilities regarding global relations.

The first scenario with the self-explanatory title of “Business As Usual” is unacceptable in Henriot’s opinion. “I think this is a dead end,” business as usual has brought us to where we are today and will lead to a grim future,” he said.

The second scenario presents a “Future of Confrontation” due to the global rich/poor confrontation constituting a profound threat to peace and justice.

The third scenario presents the only workable solution, according to this renowned author and lecturer in social analysis, “We must undergo a conversion of our hearts and of our mind set,” declared Henriot. “To be human today means to be involved in social justice.”

Henriot believes that education is the vehicle through which this conversion can be achieved.

He pointed out that an education for the future must combine vision, vocation, and societal values. “In terms of content and context, an education should prepare students for a commitment to global justice,” he said.

Henriot believes that Notre Dame, as one of the pilot schools in the A.C.C.U. (American Catholic Colleges and Universities) involved in justice education, at least headed in the right direction. As examples of this direction, he cited the establishment of The Chair in Education for Justice presently occupied by Dennis Conklin, and the position of the White Professor of Law presently occupied by John J. Gilligan. He also commented on the value of experiential learning at the university as opposed to the form of such programs as the Urban Plunge.

“Key learning in my life has been experimental,” he said, commenting on how his work with squatters in Colombia influenced him. “I had to learn to treat these people as persons and in the process, I learned what it means to be a person myself.”

Out of that experience, Henriot learned that a commitment to people— not to issues or causes—instills the desire to change structures which violate human dignity.

Student Body President Paul Riche asked the full presidents about participation in yesterday’s student senate vote and was told that “around 60 percent” of the students had picked up ballots.

In response to a question, Riche explained that Saturday’s banner proclaiming “VOTE YES ON STUDENT SENATE” was paid for by a student government advertising fund, and cost $100.

Those present at the meeting seemed to agree that confusion remains about the proposed student senate, since many students think it will replace all existing organizations on campus.

Brezhnev warns U.S. of developing war threat

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev today called on the United States, "before it is too late," to resume "constructive" negotiations with the Soviet Union, particularly on arms control.

According to the official news agency, Brezhnev made the comments in a meeting with Armand Hammer, chairman of the Occidental Petroleum Corp. and long-time friend of Soviet leader.

Brezhnev’s comments came two days before American and Soviet diplomats are to meet in Geneva, Switzerland to begin a new round of nuclear talks.

Tass reported that during his conversation with Hammer, Brezhnev said American moves toward a "constructive interaction" will always find a positive response in the Soviet Union.

The Soviet leader was quoted as saying that the current state of Soviet-American relations posed a "growing danger."

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the student body personally for their overwhelming endorsement of my candidacy in the Student Mock Election.

The time is now for a change. With our economy beset by both high inflation and high unemployment, our future is in doubt. We cannot afford to wait. We must move forward with new, workable solutions. And as the election results show, the student body realizes that the first step is to change America's leadership. Winning the election with 57% was a particularly satisfying vote of confidence and one I would like to carry through to the next election on Tuesday, November 4th.

I welcome your help in ensuring that Indiana's Third District votes for a change...the change we need.

Mock election results 'regrettable'

Dear Editor:

I read with dismay that the majority of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students not only voted against President Carter, but also against Senator Birch Bayh and Representative John Brademas in their mock election on October 2, 1980.

There is little in Carter's record to warrant his return to the White House. Indeed, it might well be dangerous to re-elect a man who changed his policies, as Time quoted one foreign diplomat, "like he changes his shirts." I find myself in agreement, therefore, for the time being, with Leon Jaworski, the Watergate Special Prosecutor; I too would rather have incompetent Ronald Reagan than an incompetent Jimmy Carter.

Bayh and Brademas, however, are a different matter. Twice in the past ten years I have worked for the Congress - first as Chief Counsel to a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, and later as Chief Counsel to the House Select Committee on Assassinations. I have never worked for Bayh or Brademas, but I have had to work with them on a day-to-day basis, and have seen them in countless congressional settings, public as well as private.

My judgment about them, therefore, is based on more than their records or promise of future performance. Quality of service in political life is determined by more than party or ideology. Often the vast majority of issues, breadth of experience, maturity judgment and courage count the most.

From my personal experience, I can attest that it would be a deep regrettable if seasoned legislators of the caliber of Birch Bayh or John Brademas were unhurtingly turned out of office as part of an otherwise justified general dissatisfaction with the national leadership.

Is education a footrace?

Dear Editor,

This morning I was witness to a very inconsiderate act by a member of the Notre Dame faculty.

My 9:00 class hadn't finished a test by 9:55. Usually we are given fifteen minutes between classes to finish the test. My instructor, Prof. Pi Wong told us to finish by 10:10.

Shortly after 10:00, Prof. Thomas Jemielity walked into the classroom and demanded that we finish the test. This year I decided that I would stay home and watch the Notre Dame football games on television. I was not aware of what I was in for.

What I have witnessed is perhaps the most inept and sophisticated display of sports broadcasting I have ever heard.

At the beginning of the season, I brushed off my initial impression, reasoning that I had heard so much professionalism from the likes of Keith Jackson, Dick Enberg and Merlin Olsen. But it did not take long to realize that there are no excuses to be made. Tom Dennon, presumably the play-by-play announcer, utter statements that amuse my 13-year-old sister. He also seems to have a problem reading numbers. Players who are not even on the field are credited with tackles, catches and runs. His knowledge of football does not exceed that of an average fan. I now find myself watching the games with the sound turned down. I receive the same amount of information this way, but avoid the strain on my ears.

What seems even more surprising is to learn that the fact Dennon is the sports director of WNDV TV. As for Jeff Jefferes - he is a suitable partner for Dennin.

Broadcasting strain on ears

Dear Editor,

This year I decided that I would stay home and watch the Notre Dame football games on television. I was not aware of what I was in for. What I have witnessed is perhaps the most inept and sophisticated display of sports broadcasting I have ever heard.

At the beginning of the season, I brushed off my initial impression, reasoning that I had heard so much professionalism from the likes of Keith Jackson, Dick Enberg and Merlin Olsen. But it did not take long to realize that there are no excuses to be made. Tom Dennon, presumably the play-by-play announcer, utter statements that amuse my 13-year-old sister. What seems even more surprising is to learn that the fact Dennon is the sports director of WNDV TV. As for Jeff Jefferes - he is a suitable partner for Dennin.

Friday rally at Stepan 'dangerous'

Dear Editor,

I returned with some friends for the Michigan game and was pleased to see the many unique Notre Dame traditions still being continued. The only area in desperate need of attention is the Friday evening rally in Stepan Center. Without visibility and an adequate sound system there is a dangerous lack of control. Friday rallies were once entertaining and memorable and I hope someone will rectify the situation.

Icers’ hopes run high...

by Mike Monk
Sports Writer

If experience is a forerunner to success, Notre Dame’s hopes this year in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association appear good. The Irish return 17 lettermen from last year’s 18-20-1 squad and coach Lefty Smith, entering his 13th year as Irish mentor, is optimistic about his team’s chances this season.

The Irish open their WCHA campaign Oct. 24-25 at Colorado College. “We did lose some quality players from last year,” says Smith, “but a lot of young skaters picked up valuable experience when they had to fill in for the many injuries we suffered. I hope for us to reap some benefits from that.”

Besides the injuries, an inconsistent defensive unit hurt the Irish last year. So far, though, everyone is healthy and the defense, led by captain Jeff Brownshidle and Don Lucia, appears to be the anchor of the squad. Helping out Lucia and Brownshidle, who last year set school records for assists and points by a defenseman, are fellow senior Scott Lavranos and junior John Schmidt, Jim Brown and John Cox.

An excellent goal tending corps by way of junior Dave Laurion and sophomore Bob McNamara rounds out an experienced and quality defensive unit.

“We have a lot of experience and leadership on the blue line,” says Smith, “and two dependable goalies in Laurion and McNamara. I’m very confident with this part of the team.”

The offense is a bit more suspect due to the loss of three of last year’s top scorers — Greg Meredith, Tom Michalek and Ted Welahan — to graduation. Junior Dave Poulin and sophomores Kirt Bjork and Rex Bellomy undertake the task of filling the skates left empty by Michalek and Welahan at the center position.

Poulin was one of those hampered by injuries last year but still scored four goals in 24 games. He will be flanked by senior left-wing Kevin Humphreys and junior right-wing Jeff Logan. Bjork’s linemates are juniors Bill Rothstein and Jeff Perry.

Bellomy, who Smith feels has been having a great pre-season, is the leading candidate for the third center position. His linemates, however, and the rest of the offense remain to be determined. Top candidates for the spots are junior Dan Collard, sophomores John Higgins, Dave Lucia, Dick Olson and Dan Rentenwald and freshmen Adam Parsons and Joe Bowie.

“We will probably be counting on the first two lines this year,” says Smith. “A few of our forwards are going to have to grow in a hurry to fill the gaps on offense, but I’m very confident in their ability — with a little experience, I think we’ll be fine.”

...as Notre Dame ‘breaks away’ to more solid ice

by Bill Marquard
Sports Writer

University and Athletic Department administrators faced a difficult decision at the end of the past school year: Should they pull the financial plug on a Notre Dame hockey program which could not support itself, or should they make a commitment to establish the expensive varsity sport on its own firm base?

With a few economic concessions, such as the elimination of two scholarships and a proposed move out of the WCHA and into the CCHA, the powers that be elected to make hockey a viable reality at Notre Dame, both financially and competitively.

Marketing became the key to success, and the Athletic Department began a concerted effort to increase the awareness of Notre Dame hockey in the Michiana area.

The Breakaway Campaign was born. “Our first task was to form a committee of students, faculty, staff and local businessmen,” explained Ticket Manager Mike Busick, who is spearheading the Athletic Department’s Breakaway effort.

“Basically we addressed the question of why Notre Dame hockey was or was not an attractive draw for the Michiana entertainment dollar. One of the biggest shortcomings we discovered was that people here in the community did not realize that tickets were actually available for hockey.

“They assumed that since football and basketball were sold out on a season ticket basis, hockey was too,” said Busick.

The result was an extensive program of advertising involving many different media: radio and TV spots, billboards, points of purchase ads, newspaper advertisements in the South Bend Tribune, the South Bend Tribune and The Observer, and a direct mail campaign.

“We believe we have an exciting, entertaining, inexpensive product for the people of Michiana,” offered Busick. “For four or five dollars, a person can see close to three hours of exciting hockey action — and good tickets are available.”

The direct mail campaign reached some 15,000 people, including football and basketball season ticket holders, alumni, members and boosters of the local Michiana and Irish Youth Hockey Leagues, and a number of South Bend businesses.

“The effort could have a snow ball effect, particularly if we sell out. The capacity of the ice arena in the ACC’s north dome is 4,287, and Busick is hopeful that those seats will all be filled up for many games this year. Notre Dame’s best season attendance was in 1972-73, when six of 14 games were sold out and the average attendance was over 3,800.

“Once we sell out a few games, people will begin to clamor for tickets,” Busick said. “The team will respond to all the support and momentum will just keep building.”

The result of Breakaway has been the sale of 1,400 season tickets over two weeks before the home season even opens, already 200 tickets over last year’s total at the beginning of the season.

Busick expects season ticket sales to pick up even more as the October 28 home opener against Bowling Green approaches, with 2,500 season packages as a realistic expectation.

“I can realistically envision us having to turn people away this year.”

Strong defense keys Irish

by Mike Olenik

The Irish Extra

Wednesday, October 15, 1980–page 8

In preparing for this year's WCHA season, Irish hockey coach Charles "Lefty" Smith has most certainly recognized the importance of his team playing sound, defensive hockey in order to successfully compete against perennial powers like Minnesota and North Dakota.

With five of six defensive starters returning to this year's edition, Smith has a firm foundation on which to build this type of a defensive-oriented team. This foundation, which has been the backbone for the Irish defensive corp team captain Jeff Brown and alternates captain Don Fox. Both are more than well versed in playing the style of hockey required of teams that wish to compete at the highest levels in the NCAA's A West.

"It just goes to show that everyone is seeing the big picture," says Bowie, "you can't have your whole end of the ice for a long time. This year's team is going to be a lot more balanced, across each line and along the way made provincial and national champions.

"I can to 'Lefty' and the coaches and to the whole team for displaying their excellent job at both. "Smith did not specify names when he continued, "we've got a good team here, and I hope we can use the defensive talents a lot of hockey as the season progresses."

"There isn't a Greg Meredith on this team," says right wing Jeff Logan, one of Poulin's linemates. "I know the fans will like it." The Irish forwards will be taking a lot of shots this year, scoring with proportionately less frequency but hoping to increase the overall goal production. In other words, shooting more to score more.

Smith has set only two lines to date, but with the first league game just over a week away, the other line combinations are sure to solidify shortly. Poulin will center for Logan and Kevin Humphreys on the first line. The trio had never worked together before this fall's camp, yet is skating together now as if it had been together for years. On the second line, sophomore Kirt Bjork will be skating in the middle with juniors Bill Reinhart and Jeff Perry on his right wing.

"There's much more freedom for the forwards this year," says Poulin, "and less discipline. It used to make a difference who was in which lanes on the ice, but now, as long as someone's there, things are going to click."

With the overall speed and quickness the Irish have among their forwards, the attack is sure to be fast paced. "I think our offense will be more exciting this year," says right wing Jeff Logan, one of Poulin's linemates. "I know the fans will like it."

The Irish forwards are going to be a lot different offensively this year, more so than in years past. "From a defensive standpoint, it has been very disappointing," says Jeff Logan, one of Poulin's linemates. "I know the fans will like it."

"Playing with more experienced guys I see as an advantage," says Bowie, "because the better competition you play against, the better you become yourself."

"The adjustments haven't been too bad," says Greg. "And we've been made easier by the upperclassmen and captains. When we came here we didn't expect them at all to treat us as super as they have. It's a very close unified team which makes the playing all the more fun."

"It just goes to show that everyone is trying their best to win games this year," says Greg. "And I want to contribute in any little way I can to Lefty and the coaches and to Notre Dame toward these wins."

"And we certainly would like a ring," adds Poulin. "Intersects Parens with a smile that turns into stone-faced seriousness when he continues. "We've got a good team here, we could do this year."

"Wish Parens and Bowie were wanted very badly by us," says Smith, the Notre Dame mentor is more happy with the prospects of four freshmen walk-ons.
Laurin, McNameara tend defense

by Bob Hoffman
Sports Editor

When you're hot, you're hot. When you're not, you won't play goalie for the Notre Dame hockey team.

"Basically, we're going to go with the guys who's winning," says assistant coach Mitch McNamara, who concentrates on the goalies.

The two top contenders for Notre Dame's goalie spot are junior Dave Laurin and sophomore Bob McNameara. Laurin, a 5' 7" 165-pounder from International Falls, Minn., compiled a 4.93 goals against average last year while the 5'10" 130 pound McNameara of Toronto, Canada, averaged 5.13. During the 1979-80 campaign the duo platooned in the goal, splitting the ice-time almost equally.

"I hope to be the one who's on," says the 20-year-old Laurin. "It's a better way for us, though. Last year we tended to relax because we knew we'd be playing in one of the games."

"I think it's a better way, playing the winning goalie. It's best for the team," emphasizes the 19-year-old McNamara. I'll understand if I don't play, because that's the way it should be.

Moher, who played goalie for Notre Dame and is in charge of goalie training, has been working with the pair to perfect their individual styles.

"Both are fairly aggressive," says Moher. "They challenge the shooter and they play the angles well. Bob is more of a standup goalie while Dave is more acrobatic. But both are fine goalies and both are experienced.

"We've been working on their quickness, reactions and handling of themselves on skates. I've tried to help them improve on their handling of the puck a little bit better than last year. We are also working on passing the puck and initiating breaks.

"We want to get them very consistent and to prevent we discovered the possibility of me helping out with the coaching duties."

Moher, who will have sole decision as to who will start the first game, is greatly appreciated by his two charges. It's tough for (Leif) Smith to understand," claims McNamara. "It takes another goalie to understand the position and to know what we need to work on.

"He has really helped us and has worked very hard. Last year there was no one there to push us. Now Lenny adds little more incentive to us to do just that much more."
Prognosis: Gophers then?

Four ears will become empty at the Western Collegiate Hockey Association’s 1981 spring meeting when Notre Dame, Michigan, Michigan State and Michigan Tech break away for the economic pastures of the Central Collegiate loop. How much that will affect the WCHA — the nation’s premier collegiate league — remains to be seen.

No one around the league, however, is looking that far ahead. They are all too busy preparing for this season — and it promises to be a dandy.

A few Olympians have returned to the collegiate ranks and, as always, a bonier crop of freshmen have laced up for schools around the league. We should see a new champion, a new cellar dweller, and in between them? Your guess is as good as mine.

Here’s a rundown of the league, and for whatever it’s worth, my projections on where they will wind up.

COLORADO COLLEGE — The Tigers surprised quite a few people last year with a 21-victory season and a third place finish. They boast only four lettermen, but three of them were freshmen — that makes the blue line the only question mark. Senior goalie Tom Frame is one of the league’s best and will anchor the defense. Up front top scorer Bruce Akers (62 points last year) returns along with Alan Makovsky, Ged Seguin and Greg Whyte to give coach Jeff Sauer hope this season. LAST YEAR: Third. THIS YEAR: The same.

DENVER — The Pioneers were hurting last year. How hurting? When injuries left the goalie ranks thin, forward Frank Xavier tended the net. That’s too bad because goalies Scott Robinson and Stu Birkenbaum formed a good tandem. Birkenbaum was forced to call it quits for this season as well because of injury and coach Marshall Johnston received more bad news when top forward Glenn Anderson turned pro in August. He’ll have a brothers act. Ken and Dave Berry, to call upon this year on offense. They finished 10th last year, but will climb last year’s death. 10th. THIS YEAR: Fourth. MICHIGAN — The Wolverines are led by a new coach, Will Sophomore netminder Paul Fricker recorded 20 wins last year and leads the offense this year and will have to be replaced, along with Dan Legg. Sophomore House Bascato leads the defense this year and will get help from seniors Jeff Mars, Gordie Hasek and Roger Bourrie. If Martin can find the right combinations up front, the Wolves will be a strong team. LAST YEAR: Eleventh. THIS YEAR: Ninth.

MICHIGAN STATE — Coach Ron Mason’s distinguished gray hair may become undistinguishable if he can’t find a defense. The Spartans lost their top goalie and best defensemen to graduation Junior Doug Belland has experience in the nets, but his goals against and they’ll have to climb in a hurry this year. Leo Lyntot leads astron offense. Although he has 15 points, but it may be busy playing defense it will not have time to score. LAST YEAR: Eighth. THIS YEAR: Ninth. MICHIGAN TECH — The Huskies’ only losses were on offense, but they were no more important than any other loss anyway, so those gaps may loom bigger than coach John MacInnes thinks. Most of the forwards are still young, but are a talented bunch. On defense captain Tim Watters returns from the Canadian Olympic team and will be the leader. In goal Frank Kreiberg, Darcy Way and Bob Polomansky were mediocre enough last year for some of them to rise above one another heading into this season. LAST YEAR: Seventh. THIS YEAR: Ninth.

MINNESOTA — The Herb Brooks era has officially ended, but that isn’t so bad. Brad Buetow performed magic last year in leading the Gophers to a second place finish while many of his boys were performing their own magic in Madison. Buetow, now secure as coach, loses four players and gains a brothers act second to none with Neal and Aaron Brotten. Aaron won WCHA rookie of the year honors while Neal skated as an Olympian last season and also was key to the Gophers’ NCAA title two years ago. He returns as a sophomore. They highlight a potentially explosively powerful team. In goal, junior Jim Jelran and sophomore Paul Butters are both proven and will have an experienced corps of defensemen skating in front of them. The Gophers are the clear-cut preseason favorites. LAST YEAR: Second. THIS YEAR: First.

MINNESOTA-DULUTH — The Bulldogs came on strong last year — winning eight of their last 13 games — and coach Gus Hendrickson hopes to pick up right where they left off. Graduation, however, dropped off all-time leading scorer Dan Leppe and Glenn Kolyk, last year’s top scorer. Sophomores Bill OlekAuuck and Scott Cardston (27 goals each as rookies) will carry much of the offense this time around. Standout goalie Bert Perkl returns for his senior year, but only one senior, Tom Madsen, returns on the blue line. A year’s growth should be evident as they climb back into the standard. LAST YEAR: Sixth. THIS YEAR: Fourth.

NORTH DAKOTA — Last year’s young team graduated in 1979-80 and 1980-81. Graduation claimed all America center Mark Taylor while the NHL swooped up defender Howard Walker, left winger Doug Small and another goalie Bob Babichuk. The return of only 13 lettermen makes coach Gino Gasparini’s job a lot easier this year. They are still battlin for the final positions on the blue line. The blue line remains strong with four returnees, but the offensive potential, is another question mark on the ice as they prepare for the upcoming season. They set out the playoffs for the first time in their history last year and lost a few keys skaters from that club. All-America goalie Roy Schultz took off for the pros, Jim Schied and Chuck Durocher and defensemen Ron Griffin and Mark Johnson opted for the NHL instead of Wisconsin, but the returning forwards, lead by Andy Rembold, one of the miracle at Lake Placid. All that hurts a lot. Three of the four leading scorers return, but there is no proven goalie. They may be spectating again come playoff time. LAST YEAR: Ninth. THIS YEAR: Don’t tell anyone in Madison, but I’m picking them second. Michigan State is always a threat to upset the pads, and yet the only team to really challenge the WCHA this season. Jan Housing, very close to Brownshude in offensive potential, is another player who can catch the eye of the Montreal Canadians, who drafted him last spring. Schmidt runs a close second to Brownshude as an offensive threat from the blue line. The defensesmen should take an even more active role in the offensive in this season, in an attempt to free up the forwards.

The Irish have some of the best blue-linemen in the business, this year, with senior Jeff Brownshude leading the list. Brownshude could possibly be the best offensive defenseman in the WCHA this season. Junior John Schmidt, very close to Brownshude in offensive potential, is another offensive threat from the blue line. The Irish extra was designed and edited by Brian Beglane.

Poet Davee enlightens

Donald Davie, Professor of English and humanities at Vanderbilt University, will focus on "Enlightenment and Christian Discourse" during the annual Ward-Phillips Lectures taking place this week. The talks at 4:30 p.m. daily in the Memorial Library Auditorium are sponsored by the English Department and are open to the public.

Born in England and educated at Cambridge University, Davie is the author of several volumes of poetry. He has been a member of the faculty at Cambridge, Trinity College of Dublin, University of California at Santa Barbara, Stanford University, and since 1948, Andrew Melton Professor of English at Vanderbilt.

His talks are entitled "Poetry and the English Enlightenment" on Monday; "Enlightenment and Discourse" on Tuesday; "Robert Browning" on Wednesday; "Two of Browning's Heirs" on Thursday; and "A Reading: The Poetry of Donald Davie" on Friday.

The Ward-Phillips Lectures honor two devoted and distinguished former professors of English at Notre Dame, Rev. T. J. Ward, C.S.C., and Charlie Phillips. Fr. Ward began teaching at Notre Dame in 1929 and served for 17 years as chairman of the English Department. Among his books are a collection of short stories, "Men in the Field". Phillips, an established poet, critic and playwright, began teaching in 1924 and helped in the establishment of the present University Theater before his death in 1933.

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court cleared the way yesterday for television broadcast of audio and videotapes played in the first Abscam trial, including one that shows Rep. Michael Myers, D-Pa., accepting a $50,000 payoff.

The tapes were released after the high court refused to overturn a ruling first made by U.S. District Judge George C. Pratt during the August trial. Although the issue was raised only in the Myers trial, the decision is expected to result in the future release of tapes used in the other Abscam trials.

22, 1979, payoff meeting between Myers, a former longshoreman, FBI agent Anthony Amoroso, posing as the sheik’s bungalow, Erichetti, a New Jersey state senator and members of his inner conspiracy, convictions of Myers, codefendant Angelo Erichetti and two others.

The networks and other major television and radio organizations were receiving 3 hours of material — all of the tapes introduced in the trial that ended in the Abscam-conspiracy convictions of Myers, codefendant Angelo Erichetti and two others.

On the tapes, Myers and Erichetti are heard discussing their influence over scores of politicians, members of the Mafia, members of the Philadelphia City Council, dockworkers, unions, port officials and coal mining interests.

‘Bama holds top rank

Unranked Rutgers was anything but easy pickings for top-ranked Alabama, but the Crimson Tide‘ 7-3 victory over the Scarlet Knights was enough to keep Bear Bryant’s team atop The Associated Press college football rankings for the fifth consecutive week.

The Tide, who handed Bryant his 301st career coaching victory, did lose some support among those who vote in the nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters, however.

Alabama, 5-0, was named at the top of 52 of 68 ballots. But erosion of its position was evident in view of the Tide getting 60 of 61 votes prior to Rutgers. The Tide rolled up 1,327 of a possible 1,360 points.

Coming off a 27-10 victory over Arizona, Southern Cal, 5-0, received eight first-place votes to compile 1,224 points and retain its No. 2 ranking. Texas, again ranked third, and UCLA, moving from fifth to fourth, each got four first-place votes.

Texas, 5-0, rolled up 1,201 points after beating Oklahoma, 20-13. UCLA, a 23-21 winner over Stanford got 1,186 points to replace Pittsburgh, which fell to 11th after losing to Florida State, 36-22.

Notre Dame, 4-0, moved up two notches to fifth with 1,052 points on the strength of its 32-14 pasting of previously unbeaten Miami (Fla.). That loss dropped the Hurricanes to 18th.

Tennessee, 5-0, held on to the sixth spot with a 29-21 victory over Mississippi to compile 1,028 points. Florida State, 5-1, advanced from 11th position to seventh with 921 points thanks to its upset of Pitt.

No. 8 North Carolina, 5-0, held its position and received 896 points after whipping Wake Forest, 27-9. Ohio State, 4-1, crushed hapless Northwestern, 63-0 to remain in ninth place with 819 points, eight more than 10th-ranked Nebraska, 4-1, which defeated Kansas State 54-0.

The Second Ten consists of: Pitt, 4-1; Penn State, 4-1; Baylor, 5-0; Arkansas, 4-1; South Carolina, 5-1; Missouri, 4-1; Oklahoma, 2-2; Miami 4-1; Iowa State, 5-0, and Stanford, 4-2.

Iowa State entered the picture for the first time after beating Kansas State, 31-7 to replace SMU, a 32-28 loser to Baylor.

Attorney addresses violence in sports

Rick Horrow, a Miami attorney and author of a current book which would make it a criminal offense for professional athletes to engage in excessive violence, will speak at a Sports Violence Symposium in the University of Notre Dame’s Memorial Library Auditorium at 7 p.m. Thursday (Oct. 16). The program is open to the public.

Horrow received an undergraduate degree in communications studies at Northwestern University in 1976 and a law degree at Harvard University in 1979. During the last year he has served as a clerk in the offices of Federal District Court Judge George H. Hart, Jr., Washington, D.C.

The Sports Law program at Notre Dame is sponsored by noted authorities each year, Grinnell Cleveland of the Law School is coordinator of the program.

The Phillies, following the pattern that had been established in the dramatic five game National League Championship Series against the Astros, quickly wiped out the 4-0 deficit. K ansas City starter Dennis Leonard, who won 20 games this season, was behind in his career, retired the first seven batters he faced on a walk and hit. Then hit Rose on the right knee. That brought in leadoff man L onnie Smith, in left field when Philadelphia Manager Dallas Green decided to use his regular, Greg Luzinski, as the designated hitter. Luzinski smacked a home run into the right field wall. That shot put the 1-1 tie in front of National League logos that decorate the fence just below the scoreboard over the right field wall.

That made the score 5-1, Philadelphia, and the Royals weren't finished. In the fourth, Manny Trillo, their playoff MVP, and Bob Boone took a hit by pitch. Then led off the fourth with a sacrifice hit. Boone saw that he was safe and the Royals had a 2-0 lead, a hold over.

Joyce confirms Corrigan

By Paul Mallory
Editor-in-Chief

Eugene F. Corrigan was officially announced as Notre Dame's athletic director yesterday, confirming reports printed in Saturday's Observer following yesterday's announcement of Edward W. (Moose) Krause, chairman of the search committee.

Corrigan, who has served as athletic director at the University of Virginia since 1971, will assume his new duties on January 5, 1981. At that time Krause will serve in an emeritus role until the end of June.

At Virginia, Corrigan was credited with the rapid development of a solid athletic program which included the addition of 16 women's sports. He also directs a multi-million dollar revenue program which encompassed a new basketball stadium, a surface track, expanded tennis facilities, a new intramural recreation department, and addition of 14,000 seats to Scott (Football Stadium).

The expansion and growth of Virginia's athletic program largely was financed by fund-raising activities directed by Corrigan.

"I am sure to be leaving a great institution," Corrigan said. "But I am thrilled with the opportunity, and an institution," Corrigan said. "But I am thrilled with the opportunity, and the prospect of student-athlete accepted for leadership necessary in maintaining a well-rounded and functionally-sound program.

Corrigan, a 53-year-old graduate of Duke, served as assistant commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference prior to assuming the job as athletic director at Washington and Lee.

He also coached soccer, basketball and baseball during a nine-year stint at Virginia.

Corrigan and his wife, Lena, are parents of seven children.

Knute, athletic director at Notre Dame for the past 13 years, announced his resignation Friday after news of Corrigan's appointment had leaked in Charlottesville, Va.

"I am extremely impressed with the sense of community one feels at Notre Dame, and I have always respected the excellent academic and athletic traditions there. Both Virginia and Notre Dame have a similar philosophy regarding the conduct of intercollegiate athletics and the type of student-athlete accepted for admission," Joyce said.

Joyce noted that Notre Dame feels "very fortunate to be able to continue the tradition of our children."

Corrigan's appointment was announced by Fr. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice-president of the University and chairman of the school's Faculty Board in Control of Athletics.

Phillys tease Royals in close win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Bake McBride hammered a three-run homer and Bob Boose piled up a pair of RBI doubles as the Philadelphia Phillies stormed from behind for a 7-6 victory over the Kansas City Royals last night in the 1980 World Series opener.

A crowd of 65,791, largest to watch a World Series game since 1966, kept up a steady roar as the Phillies won their first Series game in 65 years. The last one was won in 1915 when the pitcher was Hall of Famer Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Last night, the winning pitcher was a 23-year-old rookie, Bob Walk, who began the season in the minors and was pressed into the opening game assignment because of the scrambled condition of the Phillies pitching staff after the grinding National League playoff series against Houston.

Walk, recovering from a rocky start, did a gallant job against the Royals, champions of the American League, until he was shelved out in the eighth inning. He became the first rookie to pitch and win a Series opener since Joe Black did it for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952.

It was a night for newcomers as the expansion team Royals made their first World Series appearance, the Phillies played their first Series game since 1956, and (continued on page 15)

Novice boxers prepare for Bengals

The final of this year's novice boxing tournament will be tomorrow night at 800 at the VCC boxing room.

The novice boxers, who are preparing for this spring's Bengal tour, will be looking to tomorrow's competition.

Among the top fights expected the 187-pound title fight spring, Mike Frawley against Ray Kedano, both of whom recorded second-round TKOs on Monday.

Another top fight should be the 165-pound division of Floyd Ontario and Arthur Roberts. Roberts lost his first punch on Monday, then continued with a flurry late in the fight for a TKO.

In the 147-pound category, Tom Shagunessness of the Bengals will face Kevin Drudek. Shagunness won his fight on Monday with a third-round knockout.

Other fights on tap for tomorrow include:

154-pound: Pete Guiffio vs. Pat Duthie

158-pound: Billy Kane vs. Ed Bullet

170-pound: Greg Brophy vs. Mike Cray

182-pound: Brian Holit vs. Scott Stearny vs. Pete Wuerlck

The novices have been train hard for six weeks now," said Notre Dame Boxing Club President Michael Philippo. "Last year most of the novices did really well in the spring Bengal Bout, and I think we can do the same this year.

And this year's novice look even better," he continued. "I have no reason to doubt talent out there.

A small admission fee for tomorrow's bouts will be collected, and forwarded to the Holy Cross missions in Bangladesh.

The rating game - Sophomore running back Phil Carter did not "lose any ground" in NCAA rushing standings despite watching Saturday's game from the press box. Since rankers are rated on a yards-per-game basis, Carter maintained his 166.3 rushing mark, good for second nationally. However, the nation's third-best rusher, Nebraska's Jarvis Redwine, was also sidelined by injury last weekend and maintained his 2.7 yards per game average.

Since Army is a less-than-formidable opponent and Stone proved to be such a reliable back, it is unlikely that Carter will be pressed into action this weekend with his usually battered thigh. If that is the case, Carter will no longer qualify for NCAA rankings since he must have played in a minimum of 75 percent of the team's games. Should Carter return to the lineup for the Arizona game, he could not qualify again until after Georgia Tech.

The long grey line vs. the big green one - Notre Dame enjoys a 31-8-4 edge in the all-time series with Army, and the Irish have won seven straight contests. Only five games in the series' history, which was contested in the Cotton Bowl from 1925 to 1946, have been played in the Notre Dame Stadium. The Irish have won four of those five, with a 14-2 Army victory in 1958 standing as the last Cadet win in the series.

Taming the wildcats - Looking ahead to break, the Irish will be facing the Arizona Wildcats for the second time ever on October 25th. In their only previous meeting, the Irish prevailed 38-7 here in South Bend.

Out of the mouths of babes - When Gym Smith, the 7-year-old son of Arizona head coach Larry Smith, saw his dad's football schedule for the upcoming season, he asked with wide-eyed amazement, "Dad, is that the real Notre Dame?

Alabama should still try it - NCAA ratings released prior to the weekend revealed that Notre Dame has the 14th toughest schedule in the country this year. Irish fans have amended a .588 winning percentage (10-19-2) when not playing Notre Dame.
