America awaits

Iran's reply

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-man U.S. negotiating team was called home from Algeria Tuesday night after delivering the Carter administration's reply to Iran's terms for freeing the 52 American hostages.

Prospects for opening a diplomatic "diplomatic" through Iranian intermediaries were not clear. Administration officials, not expecting a prompt reaction from Tehran to the U.S. reply, decided to end the airlift to Algiers.

During two days, the U.S. team, headed by Deputy Secretary of State Warren M. Christopher, explained the legal and financial problems facing the United States in meeting the terms set down Nov. 2, by the Malik, the Iranian parliament.

The Americans left with a commitment from Tehran that the 52 hostages will be released on schedule. President Carter and spokesmen on MX were not yet being deployed until 1986, and the MX if he were elected. It was the Carter administration project in a referendum vote awaits.

Demos give Republicans

'opportunity to make good on campaign pledges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Budget Committee ignored Republican protests yesterday and passed a binding federal budget ceiling that would obligate President-elect Ronald Reagan to cut defense spending by 2 percent.

The resolution, which would affect all federal spending except that for defense, was sent to the full House for a vote during the lameduck session that begins today.

Democrats answered criticism by saying they were just giving the incoming president an opportunity to fulfill campaign pledges. "Mr. Reagan has said that a 2 percent cut can be made in 1981 solely through the elimination of — and I quote — "waste, extravagance, abuse and outright fraud," said Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., the committee chairman who offered the plan.

The recent cut was added to a resolution containing a binding federal budget ceiling for fiscal 1981. Reagan would have to decide how to make the cuts after he takes office in January.

Committee Republicans refused to participate in the 14-0 vote approving the cut. Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the committee, voted "present."

Then there was a 14-8 party-line vote approving the full measure. Latta said it was "just unfair...to rush this through."

Before the vote, Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee said Giaimo "is playing political games with us", in pushing the spending cut before Reagan takes office Jan. 20. "I'll go up to the Reagan administration to take the first shot at it, not to Giaimo or any other Democrat," Baker said. "It's Reagan's turn at bat, the country gave him that."

Baker was speaking at a PBS TV program "Good Morning America.

In an opening statement to his panel, Giaimo countered: "I am not attempting to sandbag the new president."

"Mr. Reagan has said that he can make such a (2 percent) cut without harming the American people," Giaimo added. "That will not be simple to do, but it is a challenge that the President-elect has put on himself. We should give him the opportunity to meet that challenge."

Fiscal 1981 began Oct. 1, but Congress, bogged down in election-year politics, has not approved a binding budget resolution, as required by its rules. The 1974 Budget Act calls for congressional passage of the binding budget resolution by mid-September.

A draft of the budget resolution drawn up by the Committee staff called for a $64.7 billion budget with a deficit of $38.4 billion. The plan approved by the committee would reduce spending to $631.7 billion, leaving a deficit of $25 billion.

The signature of the rector of the hall to which the student intends to transfer is required. The rector is willing to have the student live in that hall.

Finally, a statement by the student giving the reason for the transfer is required. The Housing Office notes that students are usually expected to reside in one of the residence halls for undergraduate education, but that there may be valid reason for a transfer. Such a reason would be freshmen who were not assigned to the hall of their choice.

The changes will be made during the Christmas break. Students should check with the offices of Student Residences prior to returning in January for their new assignment.

New women's dorm

'F' Hall to open in spring

Father Michael Heppen, director of student housing, announced yesterday the dates and procedures regarding interhall transfers and room picks for the new women's dorm, Pasquerilla West, to open this spring semester.

The priority for room picks in the new dorm will be, in order, residents of Villa Angela, women in temporary residency in Badin and Walsh halls, women students on the waiting list, and women transfers who will be entering in the spring.

No women students currently residing on campus will be allowed to transfer to the new dorm, Says Heppen, "The reason is that there will only be two floors of that hall open in the spring semester."

Room picks for the new dorm will be decided by lottery on November 17 for students of Villa Angela. The picks will be held in the dining room of Villa Angela at 7:30 p.m.

Those students living in temporary quarters in Badin and Walsh will have the opportunity to pick rooms in Pasquerilla West on November 18 from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. in room 315 of the Administration building.

On November 19 women students on the waiting list may choose rooms in Pasquerilla West. The order of choice will be determined by position on the waiting list. The room picks will be made on a space available basis.

Applications for transfer will be accepted in the Housing Office in the Administration building. Requests made after December 19 will not be honored.

The applications must meet certain requirements. The signature of the rector of the hall to which the student intends to transfer is required, showing that the rector is willing to have the student live in that hall.

Finally, a statement by the student giving the reason for the transfer is required. The Housing Office notes that students are usually expected to reside in one of the residence halls for undergraduate education, but that there may be valid reason for a transfer. Such a reason would be freshmen who were not assigned to the hall of their choice.

An American pastor of Latvian descent jammed plastic needles into his veins yesterday, spilling blood on a Soviet flag "for all the oppressed people of the Soviet Union," observers said of a demonstated crowd of diplomats attending a 35-nation conference on detente and human rights in Madrid, Spain. The event, held to review the 1975 Helsinki agreements on human rights and detente, police said. They were charged with disturbing the peace and with illegal demonstrations. police said. Blood pumping from his veins, Kirsons, 40, pastor of the Latvian Evangelical Lutheran Church, stood on the homemade plastic flag and told those gathered outside the conference hall: "This Latvian blood is being shed in Madrid on a communist flag to protest against Soviet genocide in Latvia and the other Baltic states." After his release, he told reporters: "I feel fine. I would do it again, if I thought this would bring the plight of the Baltic states before the conference. The protest was one of several at the preparatory sessions for the Madrid meeting to review the Helsinki agreements on human rights and detente, detained and released after staying at East-West deadlock over how much time to devote to human rights. — AP

When Erna McIlhinney, director of the history and philosophy of science program at Notre Dame watches a Voyager I flyby of Saturn today he will be thinking of the first man ever to see the planet — Galileo. A specialist on Galileo and author of a definitive study of the 17th century astronomer McMullen recalled in an interview the day in July, 1610, when Galileo turned his telescope on the planet. "Galileo's telescope gave him a magnification of 5x," McMullen said, "and he thought he saw not one but three bodies close together in a straight line. The two small satellites on either side of Saturn were really Kings seen broadside on. Two years later, Galileo was even more astonished when companion bodies appeared, having become edgewise to earth." It was not until the middle of the 17th century that a Dutch astronomer Huygens using a much more powerful telescope, discovered Saturn's ring a prime object of the Voyager flyby. McMullin will view Voyager's photographs as a guest of NASA at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena Calif. — The Observer

Vice President-elect George Bush announced yesterday that retired Adm. Daniel J. Murphy will be his chief of staff after he takes office Jan. 20. Bush also said Peter E. Teelley, who was his press secretary during the presidential campaign, will remain in that job. Jenera A. Fitzgerald will be the new vice president's appointments secretary. Murphy comes to the job on unorthodox terms, but he served in the Navy from 1952 to 1977 when he retired from the Navy. Previously, Murphy had served as Bush's deputy when the vice president-elect was CIA director.

Jury debates Klan, Nazi trial

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The jury in the murder trial of six Ku Klux Klansmen and Nazi ended a third day of deliberations without a verdict yesterday, while police said they were prepared to head off any trouble that might accompany the panel's ultimate decision.

The jurors went home after re-examining in minute detail a videotape of events leading to the shooting deaths of five leftists. The jury was to resume work at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Six Klansmen and Nazis are charged with first-degree murder and felonious rioting in the killings of five Communist Workers Party members at a 1979 rally. CILA begins Christmas fundraising

By Michael Mader

Featuring four new designs along with the popular Grotto card, CILA will begin their annual sale of Christmas cards Monday, November 17, according to CILA fundraiser Mark Sullivan. The group plans to sell 25,000 of the student-sponsored cards, which historically portray scenes of Christmas at Notre Dame, Sullivan said.

CILA will sell the Christmas cards in the Library concourse from 6 to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, until December 5. CILA also plans to sell cards at the St. Mary's Christmas bazaar, later this month, in each dorm, and in the Dining Halls from 5-6:15 p.m. Additionally, Christmas cards will be sold in LaFortune, Holy Cross and Finance Hall, and at the University Housing guidance center. The sale will benefit the student's expenses.

Sen. Baker predicts ‘return to normalcy’

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Howard Baker says he expects Ronald Reagan’s “conservative mandate” to lead to Senate approval of sharply increased defense spending, lower taxes and constitutional amendments to permit prayer in schools and to ban abortions.

Baker, the Tennessee Republican slated to be the Senate’s majority leader in the 97th Congress, said he will support legislation to permit the federal government to pay nonunion wages on government housing projects and to lower the minimum wage for teenagers.

He predicted the Senate will adopt them. "One area this, Baker, in an interview with The Associated Press, predicted that the Senate will consider a budget "in the spirit of the "moral agenda" offered by Reagan’s White House and by the President’s Republican majority will be the degree to which they will work to protect the rights of labor.

On elected majority leader, Baker said, he hopes to "change the nature of the Senate," by "assuring its attention on public policy-making and on the public's functions and leaving the day-to-day administration of the government to the executive branch.

"I am the observer's comment on specific legislative proposals.

ment and that President Reagan will support it. I would expect that Senator (Sister) Harriet’s records in the Judiciary Committee would support it and I would say that it might pass in the Senate and would be good."

School prayer amendment: "The Davis-Bacon Act: Sen. John Garamendi, incoming chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, has called for a repeal of those parts of the act which provide that union wages and work rules be observed in all federally funded housing projects. Baker said Garamendi’s proposal is a good one and he predicted it would pass with a few modifications." (Photo by Bob Press)

Raising funds: "The death penalty: "If the chairman (Thurmond, R-S.C.) of the Judiciary Committee wants that, the chances are he can report that to the Senate floor and I will certainly vote for it."

Reduction of the minimum wage: "If President Reagan decides he wants to abolish it, I will hear his arguments and I will consider it at the time."

"Greenberg has become an example, " he said, "There are people not directly connected by hometowner or state who are in volved and appear to be the main agitators."

Police officers have been stationed on the roof above the third-floor courtroom and around other government buildings. Loveless said the state Highway Patrol and the National Guard would be called if necessary, but he said such steps would be ordered only if the city were threatened by massive civil disorder.

Yesterday morning, jurors re-examined a television news videotape of the moments leading up to the shootings, stopping the tape several times to examine the action.

Once gunfire sounded on the tape, the video image shifted wildly as a WXII-TV cameraman caught in the crossfire dived under a car. During that period on the replay, jurors several times asked that action be stopped.

It showed a racially mixed crowd singing along with a man playing a guitar. Prosecutors, in final arguments, told jurors that the Klansmen-Nazis came "spoiling for a fight." Defense lawyers said the communists started the disturbance.

WSND holds Fall Concert

WSND A M Radio is sponsoring a "Blue Night" 1980 concert. Any college or groups who want to enter should submit a tape of a song about the upcoming Alabama game. The winner will receive $25 and the winning song will be played on a Birmingham Radio Station. All entries must be handed in to WSND studies (4th floor O'Shaugnessy Hall) by noon on Thursday.

APF plans discussion

The American Political Forum will be having a discussion this Wed., Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in room 108 O'Shaughnessy. The title of the discussion will be "What Price the Hostages?" All interested people are invited to come and participate in the discussion. The American Political Forum is a non-partisan political discussion group which meets weekly to discuss the issues of the day.

The Forum provides an opportunity for ND-SMC students to express their ideas on political issues. Our purpose is to converse with people with a variety of ideas in order to better understand an issue by hearing out arguments from many sides. In so doing, we would hope to guide people with the opportunity to formulate their opinions with a stronger basis in fact. For more information about the American Political Forum contact Chris Gould or Dan Gonzales at 277-0651.

Edward "Moose" Krause, athletic director, will speak tonight on his career at 8 p.m. in the Cavanaugh Hall study lounge.

Chorale

The University of Notre Dame Chorale, under the direction of Douglas K. Belland, will present their Fall Concert on Thursday, Nov. 13 at 8:15 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church.

The program will include works by Vivaldi, Granados, and Berceau; two verse anthems by Gibbons, and Samuel Barber's "The Co plin." Featured will be Haydn's "The Organ Mass" for organ, chorus, soprano soloist and strings.

The concert is free and open to the public.

New leadership bound to big bucks, industry?

Colman McCarthy

WASHINGTON—In their savor of victory, right-wing groups should be allowed their indulgences in interpreting the election results. Conservative populism has asserted itself, they are claiming. With the defeat of George McGovern, John Culver, Birch Bayh and Frank Church in the Senate, and John Brademas, Andrew Maguire and Bob Eckhardt in the House, liberalism has been put to rout. "The people" have spoken. In Ronald Reagan and the inwesory of Republicans in the Senate, the dream that Richard Nixon says he worked for is coming true: The creation of a "new leadership class whose values and aspirations (are) truly more reflective of the rest of the country." This high-minded talk is common to victory celebrations. All that's absent is some lockeroom cheering, some campaign pouperage over the heads of the winners.

But is it that simple? In the last weeks of the campaign, the telling hints about the outcome did not come from the polls or the guesses of the experts. They were revealed in the dry statistics of Federal Election Commission data on some 1,200 corporate and 300 union political action campaigns. The distribution of contributions and right-wing groups flowed with such intensity that the results confirmed Mark Twain's comment: "I think I can say, and with pride, that we have legislatures that bring higher prices than any in the world."

In September, about a year before the largest outpouring passed a bill that would have set modest limits: No more than $70,000 could be delivered by one PAC, with $6,000 the maximum from one group. But the bill—which would constrain the flow of money—has been sent to the Senate, stalled there by conservatives perchcd comfortably in the limbs of the ever-growing money tree. In the elections of the Abdoors and Grassleys, did "the people" speak or did money talk? If it was a populist uprising, what about the upris Monica corporations? They have found it so enjoyable to part with so much money that in 1975 less than 140 corporate PACs existed, as against more than 1,100 now. Rather than the defeat of the liberals being seen as a blowing off of steam by the frustrated few, it would seem to be a major industry that needs to be considered. A well-planned and well-funded power play has put into the Senate and House a large number of servants of the big business-special interest complex who were splurged with money not only to create future access but to reward past favors.

A successful political business leads to higher prices for consumers, more breaks for the wealthy, bigger cuts in social services and more despair that the system can be made to work.

Limited reviews

Dear Editor,

Today's Observer (Nov. 5) contained two reviews of Bruce Springsteen's new album. Granted Springsteen is popular on both campuses, but how about some variety? Curiously lacking from your features page was a review of the Michael Stanley Band performance at AMC. Why? For those unfortunates who missed it, the show by Stanley and Co. was beyond compare for a small concert setting. The Stanley band deserves recognition — why not drop one Springsteen review in favor of MSB? (4)

Two outfielders

Rookies grab titles

A pair of outfielders, Joe Charboneau of the Cleveland Indians and Lonnie Smith of the Philadelphia Phillies, have been named the American and National League Rookies of the Year in their respective leagues by The Sporting News.

Charboneau batted .289 in 131 games for the Indians, serving as both a leftfielder and designated hitter. He clubbed 25 home runs and had 87 RBIs, including 8 game-winners, while walking 49 times.

Smith hit for a lofty .339 average in 100 games, legging out 14 doubles and three triples, that he got with three home runs and 20 RBIs. Smith also pilfered 23 bases for the World Champion Phillies.

Joe Charboneau of the Cleveland Indians was awarded the American League Rookie of the Year prize by The Sporting News yesterday.

CLEVELAND (AP) - In recent years, the Cleveland Browns have traveled to Pittsburgh, hoping for a break, wishing something would go wrong for the Steelers to give the Browns a chance, however slim, to win.

This year, with one victory over the Steelers already tucked away, the Browns are heading for Three Rivers Stadium with newfound confidence, says Coach Tony Rutigliano.

"We're going in there not with hopes that we'll play well or with hopes that we'll make a good showing," Rutigliano said. "We beat the Pittsburgh Steelers the last time we played them."

Sure, coach, but those weren't really the Steelers you played. After all, Clff Stoudt was quarterbacking for the injured Terry Bradshaw. Franco Harris watched from the sidelines along with receivers Lynn Swann and John Stallworth, and Jack Lambert wasn't linebacking.

"I don't know how much more Stallworth and Swann can do than Jim Smith is doing," Rutigliano said. "He's a very dominating receiver. Terry Stallworth is a very talented receiver."

"And I just hope Terry Bradshaw doesn't do as well as Clff Stoudt did against us in the first game." Stoudt, filling in while Bradshaw nursed a jammed thumb, threw for more than 100 yards in the game at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, which the Browns won 27-26.

Pittsburgh, however, particularly missed Harris, as Steeler rushers managed only 87 yards rushing in the contest.

Rutigliano admits he expects to see a different Pittsburgh team this Sunday.

It's not the veteran personnel, however, that he fears. Rather, it's the attitude he expects the Steelers to display.

"The challenge of Cleveland, and being in first place and playing in Pittsburgh, you will see them playing their best game they've played all year," Rutigliano said. "And that's good, because that's the kind of game we want to be involved in."

Stallworth is to miss the contest again, this time because of a broken foot suffered in Pittsburgh's victory at Tampa Bay on Sunday. But Swann and Bradshaw are expected to be ready, and Harris, who set out the Tampa game, is also expected back.

The Browns should be at full strength, with the exception of kickoff and punt returner Keith Wright.

AFC Central showdown on Sunday

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — Alabama begins defense of its national college football championship Saturday against Georgia Tech and any coach, Paul (Bear) Bryant included, will tell you that your most important game is your next game.

The Alabama campus is looking past Georgia Tech. Also past Mississippi, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Rutgers, Tennessee, Southern Mississippi, Mississippi State and Louisiana State.

"The only game they're talking about is Notre Dame," says Charlie Thornton, assistant athletic director for public relations. "It's like they don't realize we have nine previous games."

Notre Dame doesn't visit Alabama until Nov. 15. In this part of the country, Notre Dame is a dirty word...two dirty words, in fact.

Notre Dame cost previously undefeated Alabama the 1973 national championship with a 24-23 victory in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The Fighting Irish cost previously undefeated Alabama the 1974 national championship with a 13-11 triumph in the Orange Bowl at Miami. The only other meeting was Notre Dame's 21-18 regular season triumph in 1976 — three Alabama setbacks by a total of six points.

Alabama also feels its 1966 (11-0) and 1977 (11-1) teams deserve the national championships those years which went, of course, to Notre Dame. Winning national titles in 1978 and 1979 hasn't made anyone forget 1966 or 1977.

The anti-Notre Dame feeling runs so high among the populace that one Alabamaan was heard to say, "I'd vote for Iran before I'd vote for Notre Dame."

For the first time, the campus bookstore is selling items with the name of a visiting team. Uncomplimentary items, of course, like green jerseys which read, "Dad Notre Dame" and green shirts bearing a shamrock plus the legend: "Hail Mary, full of grace, Notre Dame is in second place."

"That's never been done before, not even for Auburn," says Bruce Graham, a senior from Albany, Ga. "To say there's a lot of hate for them would be an understatement."

Alabama home games, both here and in Birmingham some 50 miles to the east, sometimes seem to be more of a social function than a sporting event: Signs begin to adorn the sorority houses late in the week and there is a pep rally on Thursday night.

"When they come back to school in the fall, all the girls buy new dresses and try to line up dates," says Graham, "If they can't get a date, they usually don't go."

Bryant is only the crown prince. Football is king.

"Right now," says Graham, "all the talk is about whether Bama can win three national championships in a row. The bars in town are showing videotapes of the last couple of Sugar Bowls. And there's a lot more talk now because we're playing Notre Dame this year."
Purdue's Herrmann QB passes the records

WEST LAFAYETTE IND. (AP) - It's no coincidence that Purdue University's sluggish football program began a dramatic turnaround with the arrival of Mark Herrmann, a strong-armed quarterback who made the forward pass the chief weapon in the Boilermakers' arsenal and is now on the verge of becoming the NCAA major college career leader in total offense.

Herrmann, a lanky, 6'5" senior from Carmel, Ind., arrived at Purdue the same time as Coach Jim Young, who inherited a program that had recorded just one winning season in the previous seven years. Young and Herrmann were suited for each other, and the entire offense was rebuilt around the young quarterback.

"I think that it's pretty obvious that we have built our program around him," says Young. "He is the leader, he makes things happen. He has a great deal of poise and experience."

Purdue is 7-2 this season and tied with Michigan and Ohio State for first place in the Big Ten. Herrmann has been mentioned as a prime candidate for the Heisman Trophy, but he figures his chances are no better than 50-50. In any event, he appears remarkably unaffected by his notoriety.

"Most people don't believe me when I say I'm not concerned with trying to improve." He's tried hardest to show improvement with every game."

Young, who arrived at Purdue the same time as Herrmann, says, "It seems like they have improved, and he's been picked off just 13 times so far this year.

"I did at one time become paranoid about interceptions, but lately I've realized when your offense is designed around the pass, you're going to have those interceptions," Herrmann says. "I really try not to let them get me down as much as they used to.

"I don't mind all the attention any more. That goes with being a quarterback. I guess it has bothered me, because I was afraid of what my teammates might think. But I've been on the other side of the coin. I was booed last year when we played Northwestern, so I guess the badd comes with the good."

Herrmann needs only 44 yards against Michigan Saturday to become the all-time NCAA total offense leader.

Both quarterback Mike Courey and tailback Phil Carter may return to the starting line-up for Saturday's battle with Alabama. Courey had been replaced by freshman Blake Kind as the starting quarterback, but was extensive action as Kind's replacement in the Georgia Tech game. Carter, who sustained a severely bruised thigh against Michigan State on Oct. 3, is fully healed and should battle Jim Stone for the starting position.

CHICAGO (ap) - coaches Bear Bryant of Alabama and Dan Devine of Notre Dame, both of whom have been there, would go anywhere at anytime if it meant a shot at being No. 1 again.

"No. 1 is still possible, yes," Bryant told the Chicago Football Writers in a telephone interview Tuesday prior to Saturday's nationally televised battle against Notre Dame in Birmingham.

"Our only chance would be for Georgia to go to the Sugar Bowl and for us to play them there," said Bryant whose team had been No. 1 before losing to Mississippi State two weeks ago. Devine, whose Irish had taken over the No. 1 spot from Alabama only to lose it to Georgia this week following last Saturday's 3-3 tie with Georgia Tech, also envisioned a possible bowl game against Georgia.

"Our destiny in the polls will be determined by what we do against Alabama and Southern Cal and whenever we play if we play in a bowl game," said Devine.

"If Georgia were No. 1 and we had a chance to play them, we'd put on the molasses and uniforms and jump at the chance to play them," added Devine.

But first there is Saturday's game between No. 5 Alabama and No. 6 Notre Dame and Bryant's chance for his first victory over the Irish who defeated the Crimson Tide 24-23 in the Sugar Bowl in 1973, 13-11 in the Orange Bowl in 1974 and 21-18 in South Bend in 1976. Bryant said "I would have liked to have them beat Georgia Tech because it would have been to our advantage. But that alerted them."

"My biggest worry Saturday is that one of their big line-men might run out of bounds and run over me," said Bryant.

"We can beat 'em on the gridiron, we can beat 'em fair and square, but we haven't got 'em and proper but we haven't got 'em. 'Cause you gotta know for certain that there isn't any hope. When you gotta lick Ohio State and then take on the Pope. Now before the ball game started, we were 3, Irish 5, No. 1 and 2 teams saw their chances a take a dive. The Crimson Tide had rolled a first, even Woody Hayes agreed — That 55-3 was just us solid in the lead."

Well, to make this story simple, we just fell like we've been bad. But you tagged Crimson Tiger really shouldn't feels so bad. What if they said Notre Dame was first, and we were No. 2. We just had football players — They called in You-Know-Who.

"We can beat 'em fit and proper but we haven't got a prayer. Now just ponder this a minute and I'm sure you'll all suspect those Irishmen from Notre Dame are just great at stacking decks."

Byrd said "I'd go anywhere to play them, we're going to do. What we hope to do is to do what they don't think we are doing — to do it with a vengeance."

Abdelkrim Obeiraib, Algeria's ambassador to Iran who took part in the talks with Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, was to fly to Tehran today to submit the U.S. reply, according to informed sources here.

Christopher and his delegation left for Washington at 2:35 p.m. EST, without comment, on a special Air Force plane.

The deputy secretary of state who headed the talks with the U.S. and Iran had arrived in Tehran on Thursday and was to meet with the U.S. secretaries of state and defense.

The talks were to focus on the possibility of direct negotiations with Iran and on ways to carry out the U.S. military embargo on Iran, according to sources.

Bellomy: Irish Mr. Hustle

by Bill Marquard

One of a limited contingent of Irish students from the state of New Mexico, "If you lack experience, you can't have consistency as a team," says Aragon. "We've got 12 players who have never played before."

Aragon's teammates are quick to point out that they handled Parseghian's "500 yard" rushing attempt in the 1973 Sugar Bowl with a quick tackle. "We had a good defensive front seven," Aragon said.

In the end, Aragon's conspicuous efforts on the field have earned him the title of "Irish Mr. Hustle." He is known for his constant pressure on the opposition, his unrelenting effort, and his pursuit of every opportunity to contribute to the team's success.

Spiking the Ball — Irish Leaders
