Hesburgh addresses issues

Many consider Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh the most powerful Catholic in America. Since 1952, the office of President of the University of Notre Dame has been his. His influence extends far beyond the bounds of the University. He has traveled throughout the world as a noted speaker and has served as chairman of the board for as many as 16 organizations at one time. Hesburgh was interviewed twice in two separate interviews by Staff Reporter Daniel Sarphie.

Q: I read in the Chicago Tribune of your scheduled resignation in 1982. How definite is that date, and will the Trustees accept it?

A: I have no way of knowing, because I was not asked to make a completely free decision as to what I want. I have given the decision a resignation every year for the past five or six years. In those cases they have asked me to go on for another year, and so I've only accepted a year at a time. I've just mentioned that date as a convenient date. Nothing is definite until they decide it. They're the ones who have to make it, and I don't make the decision.

Q: What will you resign because on the board, especially with the new football coach and athletic director?

A: I think every school has new people coming in all the time.

Polish labor union calls off strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The 10 million-member independent labor union Solidarity decided yesterday to call off a nationwide, one-shot, warning strike scheduled in support of private farmers demanding their own independent union.

The announcement came during a recess of the union's National Coordinating Commission, which was meeting in special session here. But commission chairman Lech Walesa declared the warning strike, which had been set for Tuesday, would be rescinded "if there is any attack on us or farmers."

Walesa said the job action was shelved because a government commission met in Warsaw late last week to negotiate with private farmers demanding recognition of "Social Solidarity." Some 400 farmers have been occupying the headquarters of the now-defunct labor organization since Jan. 3.

The government commission, headed by Deputy Agriculture Min-ist Andrzej Kacala, was to confer with a worker-farmer panel led by Bogdan Lis, one of Walesa's two deputies.

The farmers' union charter application is pending before the Supreme Court, which is to rule on the matter Feb. 10.

The government of Communist Party leader Stanislaw Kania has 24 hours to respond to the farmers' petition. A decision by the Supreme Court would end the strike in the 15 provinces where farmers are threatening to stage a workers uprising.

The Solidarity national commission, meeting at Warsaw's Polytechnic University, also were reviewing new government-labor talks on the length of the workweek an Solidarity access to state communications media.

Marxist negotiators that ended early Saturday produced agreement that Polish workers would work every fourth Saturday, with the

NEW ORLEANS—From pirates to prohibition to pot, "Louisiana always has been a smuggler's paradise," says one frustrated federal agent. "They ran whisky during prohibition, now they run dope."

Indeed, smugglers run so much dope those days that the intricate maze of inlets and bayous along the coast where the pirate Jean Lafitte once reigned is developing into the nation's biggest drug route.

Florida, of course, is probably still the drug smuggler's chosen land. Guns are the rank dope running as the state's primary industry, surpassing tourism.

Inside Monday

Student elections are once again upon us. The Saint Mary student body will go to the polls in the next few weeks to elect their class and student government officers. Significantly, the elections are being held earlier this year.

The present student government learned how difficult it is to pull together a Board and begin planning for the upcoming year's active right at the end of the academic year. As a result, they've pushed the elections up to give more time for a transition. According to Student Government President Kathleen Kinney, the present officers will finish their ongoing semester activities right at the end of the academic year. The new business will take office on April 1, leaving most of February and all of March for the transition.

Un fortunately, the selection of student government officers is not as simple as students think it should be. Each year most of the candidates are very serious and earnest about wanting to contribute their knowledge and skills to the student government functioning efficiently. Every year brings new people to the office with their own ideas on how student government should be run. The present officers have strengthened the Board of Governance in an efficiently run organization through a self-study and newly created committee.

This meeting was the climax of a year's activity for student government officers. They focused on some plans for this semester and voted to continue and evaluate its role as the governing body for Saint Mary's College.

An interesting development at last week's meeting was the elimination of the Co-Ex Dining Activities Office — which makes more sense. The position could be reinstated if we find there is a greater need for it than the present officers.

The Board has begun some work which will probably not be completed during this term. One of these is a position for a role on the Co-Ex Commission. This would probably involve training six to ten students on the importance of the Co-Ex Commission and its operations.

The present board has been able to build upon the foundation the student government has created in years past. It's important for the new Board to take the initiative to build upon the foundation we have built and continue to develop the student government as the university's student representatives.

Kathleen feels the Board does much more than "just" govern through the student elections. They work on many different projects throughout the year, including the student elections.

SMC discusses student center

By CONNIE COONEY

Suppose you had an old library that wasn’t going to be used. Would you, a) turn it into a student center, b) use it as a counseling center, c) use it as an information center for materials not found in the new library, or d) all of the above?

These questions were faced by the Saint Mary’s Board of Governance, who held their weekly meeting last night in the Student Government office in the basement of Regina Hall.

Some ideas were answered all of the above, among others. Chairman Kathleen Sweeney said, "Saint Mary’s students want to feel as if they are number one. They won’t feel number one unless there is a place where they can be recognized." This discussion was brought up because the new library now under construction will leave an empty building on the Saint Mary’s campus.

"The main objective of renovating the old archive is to ‘create a centralized student center in which the publications departments and other offices would be housed,'" according to Miss Sweeney. The space now occupied in the Regina basement may be used as social areas for section dinners or possibly study lounges. The possibility of moving the bookstore into the old structure, as well as including food sales and creating a student government meeting room were discussed in the 30-minute meeting.

Old business included the sale of tickets to “Second City.” We have sold 100 tickets, and need 500 sold to break even," a board member added. Tickets for “Second City” will be sold in the dining halls and ticket offices at both Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s.

The meeting was adjourned following an announcement of a mandatory meeting for anyone interested in running for student government or class office. This meeting will be held this Wednesday at 6:00 p.m. in the Student Government office in Regina basement.

There's constant turnover — dean, coaches, department chairman. That's a very normal thing. And I put my leaving on into a different category than some of the others.

Q: What was your initial reaction to the hostage situation and, in particular, the torture they underwent?

A: I haven't seen much on the actual torture, except for the psychological problems — being in solitary confinement, not being allowed out, not being allowed to exercise, having the lights taken away, and things like this. Actually, it would be comparable to the kind of torture that prisoners underwent in the Korean War and in the Vietnamese War where many of them died, or even the kind of torture that the secret police in Iran gave to the people that they captured.

Q: I read something about a Hesburgh Letter that you sent to Congress, just what does it say?

A: I am presently preparing a final report for the President and Congress on the whole American policy on immigration and refugees. That will be available on March 1. The Hesburgh Letter is really the preface to my semi-annual report. This commission has been going on for 2 years, and every 6 months I make a report to the Congress, and I assume they're going to the preface to the last report.

Q: Do you look forward to Reagan's administration, and would you accept a role in it, if asked?

A: I always look forward to a new administration, because I think that new people may bring new ideas. It could be good for the country if they bring the right ideas. If they bring the wrong ideas, it could be disastrous, but that's the risk you run with every new administration. As far as being asked, I think I've served 60 or 50 years a day for the federal government during the time I've been president; beginning when I went on the National Science Board in 1954. I served on that for 12 years, and I served on the U.S. Commission on Human Rights for 15 years. I've served on about 10 other commissions. Now whether I'll be asked or not by this administration, I just don't know. I've been open to service when I was asked, and it was in an area where I thought I could make a contribution as a priest or as one involved in education.

Q: Were you pleased with the Council on Jerusalem that was recently completed?

A: I was very pleased. That was a good meeting, and we came out with a good statement. It was called the Notre Dame statement. It will probably be carried in the New York Times and Washington Post. It will certainly be carried in the Jerusalem Post.

Q: Do you think that Notre Dame has a drinking problem?

A: I think every school in America has a drinking problem today. These youngsters are drinking in high school, and that's a very bad habit to bring to college.

Q: Can the administration do anything to relieve the problem?

A: I think we've got to be conscious of it. We have a full-time person to counsel with people who have a problem. It's a destructive habit to have in one's life. I don't know any successful father or mother or businessman who is an alcoholic; it ruins their life completely. It's had to get into that habit early in life, because you're not going to be successful in school, nor in later life.

Trackmen win first meet

By MATT HUFFMAN
Sports Writer

One of the largest crowds ever to attend an indoor track meet at Notre Dame cheered the Irish track squad to its first win of the season Friday night.

"The amount of people there definitely helped us run better," said an exuberant head coach Joe Piane. The final tally for Friday's meet read Notre Dame 95; Bradley 77; University of Illinois-Chicago Circle 49; Loyola 29; Valparaiso 16.

Piane's squad again ran strongly in all events, but the middle and long distance runners led the way. Senior star Chuck Aragon won the mile for the second meet in a row with a time of 4:11. Carl Bicicchi and Andy Dillon also turned strong performances in the mile.

Rick Rogers and Steve Dziabis dominated the half mile, finishing first and second, respectively. In what Piane called an "excellent" performance, in the 1000 yard run, Tim McCauley and Jim Moyar turned the same trick, with McCauley taking first place.

Jacques Eady and Ron Hyde combined to give Notre Dame a third 1-2 finish in the 600 yard run with Eady winning. Eady also grabbed a second place finish in the high jump with a leap of 6'8. Tim Novak turned in a very strong performance while finishing third in the three mile with a time of 14:52.

Dave Bernardis blew by Bradley star Ed Foreman and won the high hurdles in one of the more impressive performances of the night. Jim Christian helped the team cause by finishing third in the 300 yard run.

Irish running back Greg Bell ran a 6.5 sixty-yard dash to lead Irish sprinters. In other field events John Kuzan finished third and Frank Rich fourth in the shot put. Steve Chonnet finished second in the pole vault with a jump of 14 feet six inches and Brian Mcauliffe skipped his way to third place finish in the triple jump.

The mile relay team of Aragon, Eady, Dziabis, and anchor Hyde tallied the sixth Irish first place finish with a time of 3:25. Hyde crossed the line a full eight seconds ahead of the second place team.

The next meet for the Irish track squad is scheduled for Friday night at 6:30 p.m. at the ACC. Notre Dame will take on the Fighting Falcons of Bowling Green State University.

After Saturday night’s game with South Carolina, Digger Phelps raved about his team’s defense, keeping the Irish out of reach in a 94-84 victory over Marquette Jan. 10. Digger’s sixth straight since losing to Florida Southern gave the Associate Sports Editor reason to keep believing in what he’s been saying all season: “Our players get pneumonias from the way we play. We haven’t played as well as we should have been up to that point, but it gave us a lift. Anytime you go out to get a on shot like that is bound to do something for the team.”

When is was 6-6, the Irish defense was held to 12 field goals and 29 points in the second half, while the Irish poured in 28 points in the final two minutes of the game, setting the stage for a final four seconds left to set up a final victory for the Irish.

But when Paxson plays well, it’s an embarrassment to his teammates. On Saturday night, Paxson played as well as he should have, according to Irish coach Bill Foster. “They have an outstanding team,” said Paxson. “We hadn’t played as well as we should have been up to that point, but it gave us a lift. Anytime you go out to get a one-shot like that is bound to do something for the team.”

Paxson added that the Irish defense was held to 12 field goals and 29 points in the second half, while the Irish poured in 28 points in the final two minutes of the game, setting the stage for a final victory for the Irish.

Mary DiStanislao, head coach of the Notre Dame women’s basketball team, was put to the test, slightly depressed Saturday afternoon.

Her team had just been anointed by the 1-2-1-ranked Lady Gamecocks of South Carolina by a score of 124-48.

“Triumph of the season Saturday night,” stated Phelps. “I think the last 10 or 15 minutes of the second — that’s when the game got away from us.”

Red-bearded guard Jared Frick, in a game high 34 points for the visitors, was incarcerated for a 39 point effort last Wednesday against Hofstra. The 6-2 senior was ranked seventh among the nation’s scoring leaders last week, but will probably move up a few notches.

The fact that Frick had no assists Saturday night didn’t bother his coach.

DULUTH, Minn. — The Notre Dame hockey team was about as successful as narrowing the gap between it and eligibility for the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs. The Irish lost 3-2 at Duluth on Saturday night after a five-inch snowfall.

Initiall, the Irish made some headway with an 8-4 victory Friday night over Minnesota-Duluth. But the Bulldogs stopped Notre Dame Saturday with a 6-4 triumph and the Irish slid back down to five points out of conference place, the last qualifying position for the playoffs. Four weeks remain of the regular season.

The sixth place Irish take a 16-13-3 WCHA record (20-16-2 overall) into this week’s showdown at Michigan, one of three teams five points ahead of Notre Dame. Duluth also five points ahead of the Irish (Colorado College is third), if 6-10-in the league and 14-14 in all.

“Friday I thought we got a solid effort from everyone,” said Irish Coach Kelly Smith. “We moved the puck well, especially on the power play, and didn’t want any opportunities for the Irish (goalie) helped a lot. He had a good chance on this game.”
